O impeller, O light, O foremost adorable, you preside over all the three regions (behind the fire on the earth, behind the lightning in midspace, and behind the sun in the celestial region). May you purify us with your powerful skills. 26

May the enlightened persons purify me; may the persons of riches make me pure by their wise blessings; may all the bounties of Nature purify me. O omniscient Lord, may you purify me. 27

O Lord of bliss, nourish us with all care. May you be so pleased with us that all types of loving spiritual saps, worthy as offerings to all enlightened divinities, flow toward us. 28

उप॑ प्रि॒यं पनि॑प्नतं॒ युवा॑नमाहुती॒वृध॑म् । अग॑न्म॒ बिभ्र॑तो॒ नमः॑ ॥२९॥
अ॒लाय्य॑स्य प॒र॒शुर्न॑नाश॒ तमा प॑वस्व देव सोम । आ॒खुं चि॑दे॒व दे॑व सोम ॥३०॥
यः पा॑वमा॒नीर॒ध्येत्यृषि॑भिः॒ संभृ॑तं॒ रस॑म् ।
सर्वं॒ स पू॒तम॑श्नाति स्वदि॒तं मा॑त॒रिश्व॑ना ॥३१॥
पा॒व॒मा॒नीर्यो अ॒ध्येत्यृषि॑भिः॒ संभृ॑तं॒ रस॑म् ।
तस्मै॒ सर॑स्वती दुहे क्षी॒रं स॒र्पिर्मधू॑द॒कम् ॥३२॥ úpa priyám pánipnataṃ yúvānam āhutīvṛídham | áganma bíbhrato námaḥ || 29 || aláyyasya parasúr nanāsa tám á pavasva deva soma | ākhúṃ cid evá deva soma || 30 || yáḥ pāvamānír adhyéty ṛíshibhiḥ sámbhṛitaṃ rásam | sárvaṃ sá pūtám aṣnāti svaditám mātarísvanā || 31 || pāvamānír yó adhyéty ṛíshibhiḥ sámbhṛitaṃ rásam | tásmai sárasvatī duhe kshīrám sarpír mádhūdakám || 32 || 18 ||

[अथ चतुर्थोऽनुवाकः ॥] (६८) अष्टषष्टितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भालन्दनो वत्सप्रिर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१-९) प्रथमादिनवर्चां जगती, (१०) दशम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥ प्र दे॒वमच्छा॒ मधु॑मन्त॒ इन्द॒वोऽसि॑ष्यदन्त॒ गाव॒ आ न धे॒नवः॑ ।
ब॒र्हि॒षदो॑ वच॒नाव॑न्त॒ ऊध॑भिः परि॒स्रुत॑मु॒स्रिया॑ नि॒र्णिजं॑ धिरे ॥१॥
स रोरु॑वद॒भि पूर्वा॑ अचिक्रददुपा॒रुहः॑ श्र॒थय॑न्स्वादते॒ हरिः॑ ।
ति॒रः प॒वित्रं॑ परि॒यन्नु॒रु ज्रयो॒ नि शर्या॑णि दधते दे॒व आ वर॑म् ॥२॥

68.

Prá devám áchā mádhumanta índavó 'sishyadanta gáva á ná dhenávaḥ | barhishádo vacanávanta údhabhiḥ parisrútam usríyā nirṇíjaṃ dhire || 1 || sá róruvad abhí pűrvā acikradad upārúhaḥ srathá yan svādate háriḥ | tiráḥ pavítram pariyánn urú jráyo ní sáryāṇi dadhate devá á váram || 2 ||

That youthful loving lord of bliss we approach, with homage and reverence, who utters the words of wisdom to us, and who is fostered by your offerings. 29

The battle-axe of the aggressor is self-destroyed. Flow to us, divine elixir; (slay) the villain foe alone, O bright elixir. 30

He who reads these Pavamani hymns (dedicated to the effusing spiritual sap), the essence of the Veda, received and preserved by the Vedic seers, enjoys his food purified in every way and first sweetened and tasted by the breathing vital complex. 31

For him who recites these Pavamani hymns, the essence of the Veda, carefully received and preserved by the sages, the divine mother of speech furnishes the spiritual milk, butter and exhilarating sweetened ambrosia. 32

68

The exhilarating divine nectar flows towards the resplendent self, as milch-kine hasten to their calves or just as the pure milk flows forth from the udders of the lowing cows sitting on the sacred grass. 1

The fresh divine nectar repeatedly echoes the holy hymns (of the poets) as if with a shriek; while it separates from the growing herbs in a green tint, it particularly sweetens itself; passing through the ultra-psychic filter with speed, it annihilates the evil demoniac obstacles. The shining elixir bestows wealth upon the worshippers. 2

वि यो म॒मे य॒म्या॑ संय॒ती मदः॑ साकं॒वृधा॒ पय॑सा पिन्व॒दक्षि॑ता ।
म॒ही अ॑पा॒रे रज॑सी वि॒वेवि॑दद॒भिव्र॒जन्नक्षि॑तं॒ पाज॒ आ द॑दे ॥३॥
स मा॒तरा॑ वि॒चर॑न्वा॒जय॑न्न॒पः प्र मेधि॑रः स्व॒धया॑ पिन्वते प॒दम् ।
अं॒शुर्यवे॑न पिपिशे य॒तो नृभिः॒ सं जा॒मिभि॒र्नस॑ते॒ रक्ष॑ते॒ शिरः॑ ॥४॥
सं दक्षे॑ण॒ मन॑सा जायते क॒विर्ऋ॒तस्य॒ गर्भो॒ निहि॑तो य॒मा प॒रः ।
यूना॑ ह॒ सन्ता॑ प्रथ॒मं वि ज॑ज्ञतु॒र्गुहा॑ हि॒तं जनि॑म॒ नेम॒मुद्य॑तम् ॥५॥

ví yó mame yamyā́ saṃyatī́ mádaḥ sākaṃvṛ́dhā páyasā pinvad ákshitā | mahī́ apāré rájasī vivévidad abhivrájann ákshitam pā́ja ā́ dade || 3 || sá mātárā vicáran vājáyann apáḥ prá médhiraḥ svadháyā pinvate padám | aṅṣúr yávena pipiṣe yató nṛ́bhiḥ sáṃ jāmíbhir násate rákshate ṣíraḥ || 4 || sáṃ dákshena mánasā jāyate kavír ṛitásya gárbho níhito yamā́ paráḥ | yū́nā ha sántā prathamáṃ ví jajñatur gúhā hitáṃ jánima némam údyatam || 5 || 19 ||

॥२०॥ म॒न्द्रस्य॑ रू॒पं वि॑विदुर्मनी॒षिणः॑ श्ये॒नो यदन्धो॒ अभ॑रत्परा॒वतः॑ ।
तं म॑र्जयन्त सु॒वृधं॑ न॒दीष्वाँ उ॒शन्त॑मं॒शुं प॑रि॒यन्त॑मृ॒ग्मिय॑म् ॥६॥
त्वां मृ॑जन्ति॒ दश॒ योष॑णः सु॒तं सोम॒ ऋषि॑भिर्म॒तिभि॑र्धी॒तिभि॑र्हि॒तम् ।
अव्यो॒ वारे॑भिरु॒त दे॒वहू॑तिभि॒र्नृभि॑र्य॒तो वाज॒मा द॑र्षि सा॒तये॑ ॥७॥

mandrásya rūpáṃ vividur manīshíṇaḥ ṣyenó yád ándho ábharat parāvátaḥ | tám marjayanta suvṛ́dhaṃ nadíshv ā́ñ uṣántam aṅṣúm pariyántam ṛigmíyam || 6 || tvā́m mṛijanti dáṣa yóshaṇaḥ sutáṃ sóma ṛ́ishibhir matíbhir dhītíbhir hitám | ávyo vā́rebhir utá deváhūtibhir nṛ́bhir yató vā́jam ā́ darshi sātáye || 7 ||

O Lord of exhilarating divine nectar holds in unison, and fills full with milk the eternal, twin-united (regions of heaven and earth). He knows that the two regions are extensively great, and without limits, while moving above them, He assumes imperishable strength. 3

The sage-like nectar wanders through the two worlds; and sends forth the waters. It swells up and strengthens with its own might. The nectar collected by the priests is mixed with extracts of barley. The mixture is stirred skilfully with the compact fingers of the priests. It furnishes protection to all and sundry creatures. 4

The sage-like divine nectar is born with a developed mind. It is the germ of the eternal law. As a rule, it is deposited in the top-region. Both of them (the sun and the moon) were the first to be recognized during the creation. Before the birth, they rested in a secret place, from whence they duly appeared in course of time. 5

The wise worshippers have been knowing the form of the exhilarating divine elixir, ever since the divine falcon brings it from far; they cleanse it in the flowing waters of rivers; the fostering delightful elixir flows around; it deserves our laudation. 6

O life-giving nectar, the ten fingers of the priests cleanse your plants and the priests collect you, when effused in vessels, reciting the songs of praises, and pour you through the ultra-psychic woollen filters. They collect the filtrate in vessels with oblations to Nature. You bestow food to them as gift. 7

परिप्रयन्तं वय्यं सुषंसदं सोमं मनीषा अभ्यनूषत स्तुभः ।
यो धारया मधुमाँ ऊर्मिणा दिव इयर्ति वाचं रयिषाळमर्त्यः ॥८॥
अयं दिव इयर्ति विश्वमा रजः सोमः पुनानः कलशेषु सीदति ।
अद्भिर्गोभिर्मृज्यते अद्रिभिः सुतः पुनान इन्दुर्वरिवो विदत्प्रियम् ॥९॥
एवा नः सोम परिषिच्यमानो वयो दधच्चित्रतमं पवस्व ।
अद्वेषे द्यावापृथिवी हुवेम देवा धत्त रयिमस्मे सुवीरम् ॥१०॥

pariprayántaṃ vayyàṃ sushaṃsádaṃ sómam manīshā́ abhy ànūshata stúbhaḥ | yó dhā́rayā mádhumāñ ūrmíṇā divá íyarti vā́cam rayishā́ḷ ámartyaḥ || 8 || ayáṃ divá iyarti víṣvam ā́ rájaḥ sómaḥ punānáḥ kaláṣeshu sīdati | adbhír góbhir mṛijyate ádribhiḥ sutáḥ punāná índur várivo vidat priyám || 9 || evā́ naḥ soma parishicyámāno váyo dádhac citrátamam pavasva | adveshé dyā́vāpṛithiví huvema dévā dhattá rayím asmé suvíram || 10 || 20 ||

(६९.) एकोनसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो हिरण्यस्तूप ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां जगती, (९-१०) नवमीदशम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२१॥ इषुर्न धन्वन्प्रति धीयते मतिर्वत्सो न मातुरुप सर्ज्यूधनि ।
उरुधारेव दुहे अग्र आयत्यस्य व्रतेष्वपि सोम इष्यते ॥१॥

69.

Íshur ná dhánvan práti dhīyate matír vatsó ná mātúr úpa sarjy ū́dhani | urúdhāreva duhe ágra āyaty ásya vratéshv ápi sóma ishyate || 1 ||

Songs resonate with intelligent praises to invoke the wide-flowing and delightful divine elixir. It rests in good company with associates. As it comes down with its undulating stream of water from the heaven above, it impels people to sing the songs of praise. It is a wealth-conquering immortal. 8

This divine elixir sends from heaven the large quantities of water; being filtered (through the ultra-psychic sieve), it settles in the vessels. The plant is cleansed with water and crushed with stones for effusion and the extract is (finally mixed with) milk. The filtered divine elixir bestows delightful wealth. 9

O blissful elixir, when mixed with water and milk, may you pour on us manifold food and vigour; let us invoke the friendly heaven and earth; O nature's bounties, may you grant us wealth and excellent progeny. 10

69

Our praise is attached (to the resplendent Lord), as an arrow to the bow. The divine elixir has been let loose (to the resplendent self), the fosterer as a calf to the udder of its mother. (The resplendent Lord sheds blessings) as a cow, having a copious stream of milk, yields it at the approach (of the calf); the elixir in the stimulated form is dedicated to the resplendent on all auspicious occasions ·

उपो मतिः पृच्यते सिच्यते मधु मन्द्राजनी चोदते अन्तरासनि ।
पवमानः संतनिः प्रघ्नतामिव मधुमान्द्रप्सः परि वारमर्षति ॥२॥
अव्ये वधूयुः पवते परि त्वचि श्रथ्नीते नप्तीरदितेर्ऋतं यते ।
हरिरक्रान्यजतः संयतो मदो नृम्णा शिशानो महिषो न शोभते ॥३॥

úpo matíḥ pṛicyáte sicyáte mádhu mandrájanī codate antár āsáni | pávamānaḥ saṃtaníḥ praghnatám iva mádhumān drapsáḥ pári váram arshati || 2 || ávye vadhūyúḥ pavate pári tvací śrathnīté naptír áditer ṛitáṃ yaté | hárir akrān yajatáḥ saṃyató mádo nṛimṇá śíśāno mahishó ná śobhate || 3 ||

उक्षा मिमाति प्रति यन्ति धेनवो देवस्य देवीरुप यन्ति निष्कृतम् ।
अत्यक्रमीदर्जुनं वारमव्ययमत्कं न निक्तं परि सोमो अव्यत ॥४॥
अमृक्तेन रुशता वाससा हरिरमर्त्यो निर्णिजानः परि व्यत ।
दिवस्पृष्ठं बर्हणा निर्णिजे कृतोपस्तरणं चम्वोर्नभस्मयम् ॥५॥

ukshá mimāti práti yanti dhenávo devásya devír úpa yanti nishkṛitám | áty akramīd árjunaṃ váram avyáyam átkaṃ ná niktám pári sómo avyata || 4 || ámṛiktena rúśatā vásasā hárir ámartyo nirṇijānáḥ pári vyata | divás pṛishṭhám barháṇā nirṇíje kṛitopastáraṇaṃ camvòr nabhasmáyam || 5 || 21 ||

The resplendent Lord is invoked through songs of praises. The elixir is sprinkled on that occasion; the stream of the pleasant juice is directed towards the mouth, as if, of the resplendent; the effused exhilarating swift-flowing elixir hastens to the ultra-psychic woollen filter like the arrow of the combatants. 2

Seeking its beloved, the stems of the elixir plant are cleansed on the sheep-skin. The plant is the great-grand-daughter of the mother Infinity (from the mother Aditi, the sun; from the sun, the rains; and from rains, the plant or herbs in the fourth generation). It comes to the earth for the sacrifices. The effused elixir is green in colour, adorable, is collected (in ladles); and is exhilarating. It sharpens the vigour and thus enables one to overcome enemies; it shines like one of strength and energy. 3

The showerer roars, the cows flock around him. The divine maidens proceed to the station of the enlightened ones. The radiant elixir passes through the sieve of white sheep-skin. Thereon it clothes itself, as it were, in new shining armour (i.e. the water is mixed with it). 4

The immortal green plant of the elixir puts on a clean and bright garment when washed with water. The filtered elixir, placed in open, shines by the reflection of the sun, standing on the back of the sky, for the destruction (of the sin) and purification. It looks shining when placed in bowls and illumines the two worlds. 5

सूर्यस्येव रश्मयो द्रावयित्नवो मत्सरासः प्रसुपः साकमीरते ।
तन्तुं ततं परि सर्गास आशवो नेन्द्रादृते पवते धाम किं चन ॥६॥
सिन्धोरिव प्रवणे निम्न आशवो वृषच्युता मदासो गातुमाशत ।
शं नो निवेशे द्विपदे चतुष्पदेऽस्मे वाजाः सोम तिष्ठन्तु कृष्टयः ॥७॥

sûryasyeva raṣmáyo drāvayitnávo matsarásaḥ prasúpaḥ sākám īrate | tántum tatám pári sárgāsa āṣávo néndrād ṛité pavate dháma kím caná || 6 || síndhor iva pravaṇé nimná āṣávo vṛíshacyutā mádāso gātúm āṣata | ṣám no niveṣé dvipáde cátushpade 'smé vájāḥ soma tishṭhantu kṛishṭáyaḥ || 7 ||

आ नः पवस्व वसुमद्धिरण्यवदश्ववद्गोमद्यवमत्सुवीर्यम् ।
यूयं हि सोम पितरो मम स्थन दिवो मूर्धानः प्रस्थिता वयस्कृतः ॥८॥
एते सोमाः पवमानास इन्द्रं रथा इव प्र ययुः सातिमच्छ ।
सुताः पवित्रमति यन्त्यव्यं हित्वी वव्रिं हरितो वृष्टिमच्छ ॥९॥
इन्दविन्द्राय बृहते पवस्व सुमृळीको अनवद्यो रिशादाः ।
भरा चन्द्राणि गृणते वसूनि देवैर्द्यावापृथिवी प्रावतं नः ॥१०॥

á naḥ pavasva vásumad dhíraṇyavad áṣvāvad gómad yávamat suvíryam | yūyám hí soma pitáro máma sthána divó mūrdhánaḥ prásthitā vayaskṛítaḥ || 8 || eté sómāḥ pávamānāsa índram ráthā iva prá yayuḥ sātím ácha | sutáḥ pavítram áti yanty ávyam hitví vavrím haríto vṛishṭím ácha || 9 || índav índrāya bṛihaté pavasva sumṛilīkó anavadyó riṣádāḥ | bhárā candráṇi gṛiṇaté vásūni devaír dyāvāpṛithivī právatam naḥ || 10 || 22 ||

The rushing, exhilarating, foe-slaying divine elixirs when let loose are filtered together round through the extended cloth like the sun's rays; they flow to no other spot except where the resplendent self is. 6

As in a waterfall or a river the flowing waters readily find their way along a slope to a low ground, in the same way exhilarating elixir of divine love poured forth by the sprinkless finds its way to the resplendent self. May you bless in our home our men (bipeds) and cattle (quadrupeds). May food and men (offspring) ever abide with us. 7

Pour out upon us wealth consisting of treasure, sheep, horses, cattle, barely and great heroic strength. You, O divine elixirs, are my progenitors, staying high up on the summits of heaven and are providers of food. 8

These filtered divine juices speed forth to the resplendent self, worthy of honour, like chariots advancing to a battle. Expressed (with stones) they pass through the ultra-psychic woollen filter, just as casting off infirmity, everyone goes to the place where it rains. 9

O divine drops of elixir, the blameless, the generous, the destroyer of foes, may you flow on for the mighty resplendent self and bring to your worshipper splendid riches. O heaven and earth, may you protect us with your divine treasures. 10

(७०) सप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रो रेणुर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१–९) प्रथमादिनवर्चां जगती, (१०) दशम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

।२३॥ त्रिरस्मै सप्त धेनवो दुदुह्रे सत्यामाशिरं पूर्व्ये व्योमनि ।
चत्वार्यन्या भुवनानि निर्णिजे चारूणि चक्रे यदृतैरवर्धत ॥१॥
स भिक्षमाणो अमृतस्य चारुण उभे द्यावा काव्येना वि शश्रथे ।
तेजिष्ठा अपो मंहना परि व्यत यदी देवस्य श्रवसा सदो विदुः ॥२॥
ते अस्य सन्तु केतवोऽमृत्यवोऽदाभ्यासो जनुषी उभे अनु ।
येभिर्नृम्णा च देव्या च पुनत आदिद्राजानं मनना अगृभ्णत ॥३॥
स मृज्यमानो दशभिः सुकर्मभिः प्र मध्यमासु मातृषु प्रमे सचा ।
व्रतानि पानो अमृतस्य चारुण उभे नृचक्षा अनु पश्यते विशौ ॥४॥
स मर्मृजान इन्द्रियाय धायस ओभे अन्ता रोदसी हर्षते हितः ।
वृषा शुष्मेण बाधते वि दुर्मतीरादेदिशानः शर्यहेव शुरुधः ॥५॥

70.

Trír asmai saptá dhenávo duduhre sa*t*yám āṣíram pūrvyé vyòmani | catváry anyā́ bhúvanāni nirṇíje cā́rūṇi cakre yád ṛitaír ávardhata || 1 || sá bhíkshamāṇo amṛítasya cā́ruṇa ubhé dyā́vā kā́vyenā ví ṣaṣrathe | téjishṭhā apó maṅhánā pári vyata yádī devásya ṣrávasā sádo vidúḥ || 2 || té asya santu ketávó 'mṛityavó 'dābhyāso janúshī ubhé ánu | yébhir nṛimṇā́ ca devyā̀ ca punatá ā́d íd rā́jānam manánā agṛibhṇata || 3 || sá mṛijyámāno daṣábhiḥ sukármabhiḥ prá madhyamā́su mātṛíshu pramé sácā | vratā́ni pānó amṛítasva cā́ruṇa ubhé nṛicákshā ánu paṣyate víṣau || 4 || sá marmṛijāná indriyā́ya dhāyasa óbhé antá ródasī harshate hitáḥ | vṛíshā ṣúshmeṇa bādhate ví durmatír ādédiṣānaḥ ṣarya-héva ṣurúdhaḥ || 5 || 23 ||

70

For Him, in the eastern sky thrice-seven, i.e. 21 celestial cows (12 months+5 seasons+3 regions+sun) have been pouring the appropriate mixture of sweet milk and cream. He has made four other beauty-regions for His adornment, which continue to grow in accordance to the eternal law. 1

He (the divine elixir) solicits for the auspicious ambrosia (i.e. sacred waters); both heaven and earth are kept aloof by His poetry or design. He wraps the lustrous waters with his greatness, when (the priests) with the oblation find out the resting abode of the radiant (elixir). 2

May, those—his immortal and invisible—rays, protect both classes of creation (men and cattle). His stimulates human strength and divine food. The sovereign Lord of bliss is invoked by songs of praise. 3

Adorned and cleansed by ten working fingers, it, the companion (of the waters) stands amongst the midmost mothers to measure (the worlds); He is the beholder of men and protects the sacred rites. The auspicious ambrosia looks after both types of men (vicious and virtuous). 4

Being filtered for the supreme resplendent Lord's world-supporting strength, stationed in the midst of both worlds, it goes (everywhere); the showerer destroys evil-minded by his vigour, challenging the evil forces like an archer. 5

॥२४॥ स मातरा न ददृशान उस्रियो नानददेति मरुतामिव स्वनः ।
जानन्नृतं प्रथमं यत्स्वर्णरं प्रशस्तये कमवृणीत सुक्रतुः ॥६॥
रुवति भीमो वृषभस्तविष्यया शृङ्गे शिशानो हरिणी विचक्षणः ।
आ योनिं सोमः सुकृतं नि षीदति गव्ययी त्वग्भवति निर्णिगव्ययी ॥७॥
शुचिः पुनानस्तन्वमरेपसमव्ये हरिर्न्यधाविष्ट सानवि ।
जुष्टो मित्राय वरुणाय वायवे त्रिधातु मधु क्रियते सुकर्मभिः ॥८॥

sá mātárā ná dádriṣāna usríyo nánadad eti marútām iva svanáḥ | jānánn ritám prathamám yát svàrṇaram prá-ṣastaye kám avriṇīta sukrátuḥ || 6 || ruváti bhīmó vrisha-bhás tavishyáyā ṣríṅge ṣíṣāno háriṇī vicakshaṇáḥ | ấ yó-nim sómaḥ súkritam ní shīdati gavyáyī tvág bhavati nirṇíg avyáyı || 7 || ṣúciḥ punānás tanvàm arepásam ávye hárir ny àdhāvishṭa sấnavi | júshṭo mitrấya váruṇāya vāyáve tri-dhấtu mádhu kriyate sukármabhiḥ || 8 ||

पवस्व सोम देववीतये वृषेन्द्रस्य हार्दि सोमधानमा विश ।
पुरा नो बाधाद्दुरितानि पारय क्षेत्रविद्धि दिश आहा विपृच्छते ॥९॥
हितो न सप्तिरभि वाजमर्षेन्द्रस्येन्दो जठरमा पवस्व ।
नावा न सिन्धुमति पर्षि विद्वाञ्छूरो न युध्यन्नव नो निदः स्पः ॥१०॥

pávasva soma de-vávītaye vríshéndrasya hárdi somadhánam ấ viṣa | purấ no bādhád duritáti pāraya kshetravíd dhí díṣa ấhā viprichaté || 9 || hitó ná sáptir abhí vấjam arshéndrasyendo jaṭháram ấ pavasva | nāvấ ná síndhum áti parshi vidvấñ chúro ná yúdhyann áva no nidá spaḥ || 10 || 24 ||

He repeatedly beholding his parents (earth and heaven) proceeds with a loud roar, like cows (looking at their calves and lowing) and like thundering clouds. Water has been the best well-wisher of every man, and as such the elixir mixed with it (water). The intelligent and wise (elixir) has chosen man to be the offerer of its praise. 6

The formidable showerer, the far-sighted, sharpening his green-tinted horns, roars with violent force. The elixir settles on his well-prepared station. The stems of plants are first cleansed on the cowhide and filtered through sheep-wool (ultra-psychic woollen filter). 7

The fresh elixir, brilliant, green-tinted, free from blemishes and stains, and the purifier of body, flows down on the ultra-psychic woollen filter placed at a higher level. It is offered by the priests (to the self) to invoke friendliness, venerability, and the virile activity in the sweetened and exhilarated form of triple qualities. 8

Flow on, O divine elixir, the showerer, for the sake of Nature's bounties, enter the ultra-psychic reservoir of the resplendent self. Bear us beyond misfortune before we are oppressed. He alone, who knows the location, can direct someone else to the spot on enquiry. 9 speedily flow (towards the receptacle) as a horse when urged hastens to the battle. Flow, O elixir, into the belly of the resplendent self. O all-knowing, bear us safe across, as boatmen bear people across a river in a boat and fighting like a hero defend us against reviling evil forces. 10

(७१) एकसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्र ऋषभ ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१-८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां जगती, (९) नवम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२५॥ आ दक्षिणा सृज्यते शुष्म्या३सदं वेति द्रुहो रक्षसः पाति जागृविः ।
हरिरोपशं कृणुते नभस्पय उपस्तिरे चम्वो३र्ब्रह्म निर्णिजे ॥१॥
प्र कृष्टिहेव शूष एति रोरुवदसुर्यं१ वर्णं नि रिणीते अस्य तम् ।
जहाति वव्रिं पितुरेति निष्कृतमुपप्रुतं कृणुते निर्णिजं तना ॥२॥

71.

Ā dákshiṇā sṛijyate ṣushmy àsádaṃ véti druhó rakshásaḥ pāti jágṛiviḥ | hárir opaṣáṃ kṛiṇute nábhas páya upastíre camvòr bráhma nirṇíje || 1 || prá krishṭihéva ṣūshá eti róruvad asuryàṃ várṇaṃ ní riṇīte asya tám | jáhāti vavrím pitúr eti nishkṛitám upaprútaṃ kṛiṇute nirṇíjaṃ tánā || 2 ||

अद्रिभिः सुतः पवते गभस्त्योर्वृषायते नभसा वेपते मती ।
स मोदते नसते साधते गिरा नेनिक्ते अप्सु यजते परीमणि ॥३॥
परि द्युक्षं सहसः पर्वतावृधं मध्वः सिञ्चन्ति हर्म्यस्य सक्षणिम् ।
आ यस्मिन्गावः सुहुताद ऊधनि मूर्धञ्छ्रीणन्त्यग्रियं वरीमभिः ॥४॥

ádribhiḥ sutáḥ pavate gábhastyor vṛishāyáte nábhasā vépate matí | sá modate násate sádhate girá nenikté apsú yájate párīmaṇi || 3 || pári dyukshám sáhasaḥ parvatāvṛídham mádhvaḥ siñcanti harmyásya sakshánim | á yásmin gávaḥ suhutáda údhani mūrdháñ chrīṇánty agriyáṃ várīmabhiḥ || 4 || sám ī rátham ná bhuríjor aheshata dáṣa svásāro ádi-

71

The alms and gifts are presented on sacred occasions. The vigour-infusing elixir is stationed on its proper resting-place; the vigilant elixir guards its worshippers against the malignant forces and adverse circumstances. The green-tinted pleasing elixir makes the all-sustaining clouds as its abode. In the midst of heaven and earth, it has placed the sun to give us light. 1

The powerful elixir advances with a roar like a slayer of (malevolent) men; it assumes that colour which dispels darkness; it abandons bodily infirmity. The oblations (of elixir) go to the prepared (altar). It makes its way through the outstretched ultra-psychic woollen filter. 2

Crushed and bruised with stones worked by hands, it flows. It moves with the dignity of a bull. Invoked with prayers, it wanders through the firmament; it rejoices, and is embraced; when praised with a hymn, it fulfils the desire of the worshippers. The plant is cleansed under water, (and then crushed and effused). The elixir is honoured on all sacred occasions. 3

The powerful exhilarating divine elixirs are dedicated to the resplendent self that dwells in heaven (i.e. in the innermost celestial cavity of heart), who is the augmenter of the clouds, and who is the destroyer of the dwelling (of foes). For his sake, on account of his greatness, the cows, the enjoyers of food, furnish the best or the milk in the uplifted udders (to be mixed with the elixirs). 4

समी॒ रथं॒ न भु॒रिजो॑रहेषत॒ दश॒ स्वसा॑रो॒ अदि॑तेरु॒पस्थ॒ आ ।
जिगा॒दुप॑ ज्रयति॒ गोर॑पी॒च्यं॑ प॒दं यद॑स्य म॒तुथा॒ अजी॑जनन् ॥५॥

sám ī rátham ná bhuríjor aheshata dáṣa svásāro áditer upástha ā́ | jígād úpa jrayati gór apīcyàm padám yád asya matúthā ájījanan || 5 || 25 ||

॥२६॥ श्ये॒नो न योनिं॒ सद॑नं धि॒या कृ॒तं हि॑र॒ण्यय॑मा॒सदं॑ दे॒व एष॑ति ।
ए रि॑णन्ति ब॒र्हिषि॑ प्रि॒यं गि॒राश्वो॒ न दे॒वाँ अप्ये॑ति य॒ज्ञियः॑ ॥६॥
परा॒ व्य॑क्तो अरु॒षो दि॒वः क॒विर्वृषा॑ त्रिपृ॒ष्ठो अ॑नविष्ट॒ गा अ॒भि ।
स॒हस्र॑णीति॒र्यतिः॑ परा॒यती॑ रे॒भो न पू॒र्वीरु॒षसो॒ वि रा॑जति ॥७॥

ṣyenó ná yónim sádanam dhiyā́ kritám hiranyáyam āsádam devá éshati | é rinanti barhíshi priyám girā́ṣvo ná devā́ñ ápy eti yajñíyaḥ || 6 || párā vyàkto arushó diváḥ kavír vríshā triprishthó anavishta gā́ abhí | sahásranītir yátiḥ parāyátī rebhó ná pūrvī́r usháso ví rājati || 7 ||

त्वे॒षं रू॒पं कृ॑णुते॒ वर्णो॑ अस्य॒ स यत्राश॑य॒त्समृ॑ता॒ सेध॑ति स्रि॒धः ।
अ॒प्सा या॑ति स्व॒धया॒ दैव्यं॒ जनं॒ सं सु॑ष्टु॒ती नस॑ते॒ सं गोअ॑ग्रया ॥८॥
उ॒क्षेव॑ यू॒था प॑रि॒यन्नरा॑वी॒दधि॒ त्विषी॑रधित॒ सूर्य॑स्य ।
दि॒व्यः सु॑प॒र्णोऽव॑ चक्षत॒ क्षां सोमः॒ परि॒ क्रतु॑ना पश्यते॒ जाः ॥९॥

tveshám rūpám krinute várno asya sá yátrā́ṣayat sámritā sédhati sridháḥ | apsā́ yāti svadháyā daívyam jánam sám sushtutī́ násate sám góagrayā || 8 || ukshéva yūthā́ pariyánn arāvīd ádhi tvíshīr adhita sū́ryasya | divyáḥ suparnó 'va cakshata kshā́m sómaḥ pári krátunā paṣyate jā́ḥ || 9 || 26 ||

The ten fingers of both the hands urge him (the stems of the elixir plant) near to the ground like arms to a chariot. This divine elixir goes to the receptacles, and there it is mixed with cows' milk. The priests effuse the elixir out whilst offering prayers (and carry it to its resting place). 5

The spiritual elixir of joy, shining, occupies its golden seat within our innermost consciousness as a result of the sacred operations just as a falcon coming to rest in his nest. The devotees send their most-beloved (elixir) by their songs of praise to the place of dedicated sacrifice, just as the horse proceeds to divine dignitaries (in an imperial ceremonial). 6

The divine elixir, radiant, wise, the showerer, flowing in numerous streams, descends from a region beyond. It responds to the praises of the worshippers, offered at the three libations (morning, midday and evening). Led in a thousand directions, coming and going (from receptacles to receptacles), it shines splendidly through many dawns, like one who sings the songs of praise. 7

The colour of this spiritual elixir, its radiance, shines. In all the battles, it beats down the adversaries. It is the giver of ambrosial water; it goes with the oblation to the divine people. It is invoked by hymns of praise and when glorified, one demands from it the only boon, a request for kine or divine speech. 8

Like a bull, finding herds of kine all round, it (the elixir) bellows (when effused). And it assumes the brilliance of the sun. Celestial falcon looks down gracefully upon the earth. The spiritual elixir views all living creatures with loving wisdom. 9

(७२) द्विसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो हरिमन्त ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥ हरिं मृजन्त्यरुषो न युज्यते सं धेनुभिः कलशे सोमो अज्यते ।
उद्वाचमीरयति हिन्वते मती पुरुष्टुतस्य कति चित्परिप्रियः ॥१॥
साकं वदन्ति बहवो मनीषिण इन्द्रस्य सोमं जठरे यदादुहुः ।
यदी मृजन्ति सुगभस्तयो नरः सनीळाभिर्दशभिः काम्यं मधु ॥२॥
अरममाणो अत्येति गा अभि सूर्यस्य प्रियं दुहितुस्तिरो रवम् ।
अन्वस्मै जोषमभरद्विनंगृसः सं द्वयीभिः स्वसृभिः क्षेति जामिभिः ॥३॥
नृधूतो अद्रिषुतो बर्हिषि प्रियः पतिर्गवां प्रदिव इन्दुर्ऋत्वियः ।
पुरंधिवान्मनुषो यज्ञसाधनः शुचिर्धिया पवते सोम इन्द्र ते ॥४॥
नृबाहुभ्यां चोदितो धारया सुतोऽनुष्वधं पवते सोम इन्द्र ते ।
आप्राः क्रतून्त्समजैरध्वरे मतीर्वेर्न द्रुषच्चम्वोरासदद्धरिः ॥५॥

72.

Hárim mṛijanty arushó ná yujyate sám dhenúbhiḥ kaláṣe sómo ajyate | úd vácam īráyati hinváte matí purushṭutásya káti cit paripríyaḥ || 1 || sākám vadanti baһávo manīshíṇa índrasya sómam jaṭháre yád āduhúḥ | yádī mṛijánti súgabhastayo náraḥ sánīḷābhir daṣábhiḥ kā́myam mádhu || 2 || áramamāṇo áty eti gā́ abhí sū́ryasya priyám duhitús tiró rávam | ánv asmai jósham abharad vinaṃgṛisáḥ sám dvayíbhiḥ svásṛibhiḥ ksheti jāmíbhiḥ || 3 || nṛídhūto ádrishuto barhíshi priyáḥ pátir gávām pradíva índur ṛitvíyaḥ | púraṃdhivān mánusho yajñasádhanaḥ ṣúcir dhiyā́ pavate sóma indra te || 4 || nṛíbāhúbhyām coditó dhárayā sutò 'nushvadhám pavate sóma indra te | ā́prāḥ krátūn sám ajair adhvaré matír vér ná drushác camvòr ā́sadad dháriḥ || 5 || 27 ||

72

They, the priests, cleanse the elixir of the green tint. It is harnessed in a sacrifice like a swift horse. The shining elixir is mixed with cow's milk in the pitcher. While he utters a sound, the priests send forth the songs of praise. Thereupon, the householder receives charming boons and treasures in unknown measures. 1

Many wise men utter the songs of praise in one tune while they prepare the divine elixir and the resplendent self drinks this milk to his heart's content. (Prior to effusion), the fair-armed men cleanse the plant of the delightful exhilarating juice with their ten fingers. 2

Unresting, on his way, this divine elixir proceeds further and is mixed with cow's milk. When effused and filtered, the juice utters a cry, dear to dawn, the daughter of the sun. The praisers, meanwhile, sing the songs of praise to delight him. The plant is cleansed with the kindred fingers of both the hands. 3

Shaken and cleansed (by fingers of) men, and bruised and crushed between the stones, effuses out the divine elixir, the delighter, the lord of the cattle (or of sense organs), ancient, distilling, (in the vessels), born in due season, adorned in the sacred place of worship. It invokes intelligence and provides material for man's offerings and is pure. Such an elixir flows for you, O resplendent self, of his own accord. 4

Urged by the arms of men, poured forth in a stream; the spiritual stream of elixir flows for you, O resplendent self, for strength. You accomplish the sacred duties assigned, and overcome all hostile hurdles that come in the way. Loving elixir, green-tinted, rests upon the (ultra-psychic) pitchers like a bird perching on a tree. 5

॥२८॥ अंशुं दुहन्ति स्तनयन्तमक्षितं कविं कवयोऽपसो मनीषिणः ।
समी गावो मतयो यन्ति संयत ऋतस्य योना सदने पुनर्भुवः ॥६॥
नाभा पृथिव्या धरुणो महो दिवोऽपामूर्मौ सिन्धुष्वन्तरुक्षितः ।
इन्द्रस्य वज्रो वृषभो विभूवसुः सोमो हृदे पवते चारु मत्सरः ॥७॥
स तू पवस्व परि पार्थिवं रजः स्तोत्रे शिक्षन्नाधून्वते च सुक्रतो ।
मा नो निर्भाग्वसुनः सादनस्पृशो रयिं पिशङ्गं बहुलं वसीमहि ॥८॥
आ तू न इन्दो शतदात्वश्व्यं सहस्रदातु पशुमद्धिरण्यवत् ।
उप मास्व बृहती रेवतीरिषोऽधि स्तोत्रस्य पवमान नो गहि ॥९॥

aṅsúṃ duhanti stanáyantam ákshitaṃ kavíṃ kaváyo 'páso manīshíṇaḥ | sám ī gávo matáyo yanti saṃyáta ṛitásya yónā sádane punarbhúvaḥ || 6 || nábhā pṛithivyā́ dharúṇo mahó divó 'pā́m ūrmaú síndhushv antár ukshitáḥ | índrasya vájro vṛishabhó vibhū́vasuḥ sómo hṛidé pavate cā́ru matsaráḥ || 7 || sá tū́ pavasva pári pā́rthivaṃ rája stotré ṣíkshann ādhūnvaté ca sukrato | mā́ no nír bhāg vásunaḥ sādanaspṛíṣo rayím piṣáṅgam bahuláṃ vasīmahi || 8 || ā́ tū́ na indo ṣatádātv áṣvyaṃ sahásradātu paṣumád dhíraṇyavat | úpa māsva bṛihatī́ revátīr íshó 'dhi stotrásya pavamāna no gahi || 9 || 28 ||

(७३) त्रिसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः पवित्र ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२९॥ स्रक्के द्रप्सस्य धमतः समस्वरन्नृतस्य योना समरन्त नाभयः ।
त्रीन्त्स मूर्ध्नो असुरश्चक्र आरभे सत्यस्य नावः सुकृतमपीपरन् ॥१॥

73.

Srákve drapsásya dhámataḥ sám asvarann ṛitásya yónā sám aranta nā́bhayaḥ | trī́n sá mūrdhnó ásuraṣ cakra ārábhe satyásya nā́vaḥ sukṛítam apīparan || 1 ||

The poet seers, the experienced performers of holy ceremonial rites milk forth the sap of spirituality from the plants, loud-sounding and undecaying.
The cows, bearing calves anew, furnish milk all along, and the wise worshippers, gathering together, effuse out the elixir at the sacred spots of sacrifice. 6

The plant of this elixir of divine love, the supporter of the vast heaven, is placed upon the navel of the earth, and is moistened (and cleansed) amongst the rivers in the wave of the waters. It is like the bolt of justice in the hands of the resplendent self. The elixir is the showerer of benefits and the possessor of wealth. The auspicious elixir distils into the heart (of the resplendent self) and exhilarates. 7

O performer of good deeds, please flow quickly round the terrestrial region, giving riches to the worshipper, and to the shaker of the libation. Please do not deprive us of the wealth that enriches our dwellings. May we be invested with abundant wealth of diverse kinds. 8

O Lord of divine love, bring us without delay wealth of a hundred gifts and horses; award us a thousand blessings of cattle and gold; measure unto us abundant riches and food. Come, O purified one, to hear our songs of praise. 9

73

With a characteristic sound, the streams of the rushing divine love flow to the receptacles placed at the centre of the sacrifice. This powerful elixir has overwhelmed the three worlds with its functions. The boats of ever-true divine love fulfill the aspirations of the accomplishers of noble deeds. 1

सम्यक्सम्यञ्चो महिषा अहेषत सिन्धोरूर्मावधि वेना अवीविपन् ।
मधोर्धाराभिर्जनयन्तो अर्कमित्प्रियामिन्द्रस्य तन्वमवीवृधन् ॥२॥
पवित्रवन्तः परि वाचमासते पितैषां प्रत्नो अभि रक्षति व्रतम् ।
महः समुद्रं वरुणस्तिरो दधे धीरा इच्छेकुर्धरुणेष्वारभम् ॥३॥
सहस्रधारेऽव ते समस्वरन्दिवो नाके मधुजिह्वा असश्चतः ।
अस्य स्पशो न नि मिषन्ति भूर्णयः पदेपदे पाशिनः सन्ति सेतवः ॥४॥
पितुर्मातुरध्या ये समस्वरन्नृचा शोचन्तः संदहन्तो अव्रतान् ।
इन्द्रद्विष्टामप धमन्ति मायया त्वचमसिक्नीं भूमनो दिवस्परि ॥५॥

samyák samyáñco mahishá aheshata síndhor ūrmáv ádhi venā́ avīvipan | mádhor dhā́rābhir janáyanto arkám ít priyā́m índrasya tanvàm avīvṛidhan || 2 || pavítravantaḥ pári vā́cam āsate pitaíshām pratnó abhí rakshati vratám | mahā́ḥ samudrám váruṇas tiró dadhe dhírā íc chekur dharúṇeshv ārábham || 3 || sahásradhāré 'va té sám asvaran divó nā́ke mádhujihvā asaṣcátaḥ | ásya spáṣo ná ní mishanti bhū́rṇayaḥ padé-pade pāṣínaḥ santi sétavaḥ || 4 || pitúr mātúr ádhy ā́ yé samásvarann ṛicā́ ṣócantaḥ saṃdáhanto avratā́n | índradvishṭām ápa dhamanti māyáyā tvácam ásiknīm bhū́mano divás pári || 5 || 29 ||

॥३०॥ प्रत्नान्मानादध्या ये समस्वरञ्छ्लोकयन्त्रासो रभसस्य मन्तवः ।
अपानक्षासो बधिरा अहासत ऋतस्य पन्थां न तरन्ति दुष्कृतः ॥६॥

pratnā́n mā́nād ádhy ā́ yé samásvarañ chlókayantrāso rabhasásya mántavaḥ | ápānakshā́so badhirā́ ahāsata ṛitásya pánthāṃ ná taranti dushkṛítaḥ || 6 ||

The mighty assembled devotees send forth their invocations together; desirous of happiness, they cleanse the plant in the waves of the river (or mix water in the effused juice). Reciting praises, they nourish the splendrous body of the resplendent self with the streams of the exhilarating spiritual elixir. 2

With the potential of purification, (the elixir at the time of effusion) is invoked through the divine words. This elixir, their ancient father, protects their work; the venerable elixir overwhelms the vast firmament with exhilaration. The skilful sages are able to conduct the elixir of bliss to the all-sustaining waters. 3

The rays from the halo of the divine love are coming down to the earth through the firmament in thousand streams. Their abode is at the vault of heaven, from whence they, the sweet tongued, emanate. The emanations from the spiritual elixir are swift-moving, not static. At every place are found the junctions, that join everyone with intimate bonds. 4

The rays from the halo of divine love emanate from the fatherly heaven and come down to the motherly earth, illumined by the hymn of praise. These actinic emanations consume the impious ones, and drive away dark evils despised by the resplendent self, from earth and heaven by their wisdom. 5

The fast-moving bright rays worthy of all praise, emanating from the halo of divine love move in unison across the midspace. They avoid blind, as well as the deaf. The wicked (persons) hesitate to traverse the path of eternal truth. 6

The intelligent sages extol the voice of the firmament in the purifying extended divine love with its thousand streams; the vital elements of the cosmos are their servants swift-moving, inviolable, reverend, splendrous, the beholders of mankind. 7

These waves of divine love are the protectors of the cosmic sacrifice and the doers of good deeds; they cannot be resisted; he places in his heart the three purifiers: he, the all-wise, looks over all worlds; he censures those who are hostile in action, and who do not offer sacrifices and render no public good. 8

The thread of the cosmic sacrifice, spread over the ultra-psychic filter, extends as if, by its act up to the tip of venerable Lord's tongue; the prudent devotees attain it; but he who is incompetent and faithless shall sink into the pit of hell, even whilst he is in this world. 9

74

When it, the powerful and brilliant elixir, born in the cosmic waters wishes to enjoy heaven, it roars like a youngling. It comes from the sky to mix with the water that nourishes the cattle, we invoke this elixir by our praises for opulence and shelter. 1

दिवो यः स्कम्भो धरुणः स्वातत आपूर्णो अंशुः पर्येति विश्वतः ।
सेमे मही रोदसी यक्षदावृता समीचीने दाधार समिषः कविः ॥२॥
महि प्सरः सुकृतं सोम्यं मधूर्वी गव्यूतिरदितेर्ऋतं यते ।
ईशे यो वृष्टेरित उस्रियो वृषापां नेता य इतऊतिर्ऋग्मियः ॥३॥

dıvó yá skambhó dharúṇaḥ svâtata ấpūrṇo aṅṣúḥ paryéti viṣvátaḥ | sémé mahí ródasī yakshad āvṛítā samīcīné dādhāra sám íshaḥ kavíḥ || 2 || máhi psáraḥ súkṛitaṃ somyám mádhūrví gávyūtir áditer ṛitáṃ yaté | íṣe yó vṛishṭér itá usríyo vṛíshāpấṃ netấ yá itáūtir ṛigmíyaḥ || 3 ||

आत्मन्वन्नभो दुह्यते घृतं पय ऋतस्य नाभिरमृतं वि जायते ।
समीचीनाः सुदानवः प्रीणन्ति तं नरो हितमव मेहन्ति पेरवः ॥४॥
अरावीदंशुः सचमान ऊर्मिणा देवाव्यं मनुषे पिन्वति त्वचम् ।
दधाति गर्भमदितेरुपस्थ आ येन तोकं च तनयं च धामहे ॥५॥

ātmanván nábho duhyate ghṛitám páya ṛitásya nábhir amṛítaṃ ví jāyate | samīcīnấḥ sudánavaḥ prīṇanti táṃ náro hitám áva mehanti péravaḥ || 4 || árāvīd aṅṣúḥ sácamāna ūrmíṇā devāvyàm mánushe pinvati tvácam | dádhāti gárbham áditer upástha ấ yéna tokáṃ ca tánayaṃ ca dhấmahe || 5 || 31 ||

This elixir of divine love is the supporter of heaven, and the prop of the earth; it spreads widely and fills the vessels and flows in all directions. May it unite the two great worlds by its own strength; it upholds them combined; may it, the sage, bestow food upon its worshippers. 2

There is abundant and well prepared food, made of this divine elixir and sweetened for (the resplendent one) who is to be invoked at that time of worship. For him, the way to earth is broad. He is the Lord of the rain that falls here; he is the possessor of cattle, the showerer of water, and the leader. He helps us hence and thereby deserves our praises. 3

Water, the life sap, is milked from animated clouds of the firmament. Here is the centre of cosmic creation whence the nectar of immortality (the divine elixir) is generated. The most bounteous ones, ever united, love him. As our friend, as leader, as protector, he (the divine sap of bliss) showers down the accumulated (waters of happiness). 5

Combining with the radiant wave, the elixir of divine love roars loudly; it sprinkles its divine nectar for the benefit of the worshipper. It places the cosmic life germ upon the lap of the mother Infinity, whereby we acquire sons and grandsons. 5

॥३२॥ सहस्रधारेऽव ता असश्चतस्तृतीये सन्तु रजसि प्रजावतीः ।
चतस्रो नाभो निहिता अवो दिवो हविर्भरन्त्यमृतं घृतश्चुतः ॥६॥
श्वेतं रूपं कृणुते यत्सिषासति सोमो मीढ्वाँ असुरो वेद भूमनः ।
धिया शमी सचते सेमभि प्रवद्दिवस्कवन्धमव दर्षदुद्रिणम् ॥७॥
अध श्वेतं कलशं गोभिरक्तं कार्ष्मन्ना वाज्यक्रमीत्ससवान् ।
आ हिन्विरे मनसा देवयन्तः कक्षीवते शतहिमाय गोनाम् ॥८॥
अद्भिः सोम पपृचानस्य ते रसोऽव्यो वारं वि पवमान धावति ।
स मृज्यमानः कविभिर्मदिन्तम स्वदस्वेन्द्राय पवमान पीतये ॥९॥

sahásradhāré 'va ta asaṣcátas tṛitíye santu rájasi prajávatīḥ | cátasro nábho níhitā avó divó havír bharanty amṛítam ghṛitaṣcútaḥ || 6 || ṣvetám rūpám kriṇute yát síshāsati sómo mīḍhváñ ásuro veda bhúmanaḥ | dhiyá ṣámī sacate sém abhí pravád divás kávandham áva darshad udríṇam || 7 || ádha ṣvetám kaláṣam góbhir aktám kárshmann á vājy àkramīt sasaván | á hinvire mánasā devayántaḥ kakshívate ṣatáhimāya gónām || 8 || adbhíḥ soma papṛicānásya te rásó 'vyo váram ví pavamāna dhāvati | sá mṛijyámānaḥ kavíbhir madintama svádasvéndrāya pavamāna pītáye || 9 || 32 ||

(७५) पञ्चसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः कविर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ अभि प्रियाणि पवते चनोहितो नामानि यह्वो अधि येषु वर्धते ।
आ सूर्यस्य बृहतो बृहन्नधि रथं विष्वञ्चमरुहद्विचक्षणः ॥१॥

75.

Abhí priyáṇi pavate cánohito námāni yahvó ádhi yéshu várdhate | á súryasya bṛiható bṛihánn ádhi rátham víshvañcam aruhad vicakshaṇáḥ || 1 ||

May those elixirs, which are in the third world, the celestial, descend with procreating power. The four brilliances have been sent down from heaven. They bear divine water, and bring elixir and sacred oblation. 6

When divine elixir seeks to gain heaven, it assumes a white colour. Powerful as it is, it showers benefits, and knows how to bestow abundant wealth. By its wisdom it is associated with excellent rites. It bursts asunder the rain cloud from heaven. 7

The divine elixir successfully reaches the white-sprinkled cosmic pitcher like a horse reaching the goal. The devout priests stimulate it with their praise. It bestows cattle upon seers rich with sacred love and who have seen a hundred winters. 8

O purified elixir, when you are diluted with the divine water, your juice passes through the ultra-psychic woollen fleece and thus cleansed by the sages. O exhilarating purified elixir, be sweet-flavoured, so that the resplendent self may gladly accept you. 9

75

The divine elixir is flowing to charming waters, with which it gets mingled and is fostered. He, the great, is beholder of all and mounts the mighty sun's chariot which goes everywhere. 1

ऋतस्य जिह्वा पवते मधु प्रियं वक्ता पतिर्धियो अस्या अदाभ्यः ।
दधाति पुत्रः पित्रोरपीच्यं नाम तृतीयमधि रोचने दिवः ॥२॥
अव द्युतानः कलशाँ अचिक्रदन्नृभिर्येमानः कोश आ हिरण्यये ।
अभीमृतस्य दोहना अनूषताधि त्रिपृष्ठ उषसो वि राजति ॥३॥
अद्रिभिः सुतो मतिभिश्चनोहितः प्ररोचयन्रोदसी मातरा शुचिः ।
रोमाण्यव्या समया वि धावति मधोर्धारा पिन्वमाना दिवेदिवे ॥४॥
परि सोम प्र धन्वा स्वस्तये नृभिः पुनानो अभि वासयाशिरम् ।
ये ते मदा आहनसो विहायसस्तेभिरिन्द्रं चोदय दातवे मघम् ॥५॥

ṛitásya jihvā́ pavate mádhu priyáṃ vaktā́ pátir dhiyó asyā́ ádābhyaḥ | dádhāti putráḥ pitrór apīcyàṃ nā́ma tṛitī́yam ádhi rocané diváḥ || 2 || áva dyutānáḥ kaláṣāñ acikradan nṛíbhir yemānáḥ kóṣa ā́ hiraṇyáye | abhī́m ṛitásya dohánā anūshatádhi tripṛishṭhá usháso ví rājati || 3 || ádribhiḥ sutó matíbhiṣ cánohitaḥ prarocáyan ródasī mātárā ṣúciḥ | rómāṇy ávyā samáyā ví dhāvati mádhor dhā́rā pínvamānā divé-dive || 4 || pári soma prá dhanvā svastáye nṛíbhiḥ punānó abhí vāsayāṣíram | yé te mádā āhanáso víhāyasas tébhir índraṃ codaya dā́tave maghám || 5 || 33 ||

(७६) षट्सप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः कविर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ धर्ता दिवः पवते कृत्व्यो रसो दक्षो देवानामनुमाद्यो नृभिः ।
हरिः सृजानो अत्यो न सत्वभिर्वृथा पाजांसि कृणुते नदीष्वा ॥१॥

76.

Dhartā́ diváḥ pavate kṛítvyo ráso dáksho devā́nām anumā́dyo nṛíbhiḥ | háriḥ sṛijānó átyo ná sátvabhir vṛíthā pājā́ṅsi kṛiṇute nadī́shv ā́ || 1 ||

This elixir is the tongue of the cosmic sacrifice, and is unassailable. It distils the delightful exhilarating (juice) within the lustrous region of the heavens; it (the elixir) assumes a third independent name, unknown even to its parents, the earth and heaven. 2

Shining, it roars aloud, descending into the ultra-psychic vessels, and is pressed by the priests into the golden receptacle; the milkers of the worship glorify it. It is the supporter of the three regions and shines brightly through the morning dawns. 3

It comes out effused when pressed through stones, whilst the priests sing the praises. It is fit for food, and illuminates both heaven and earth, the parents. The extract flows between the ultra-psychic woollen filter, and then diluted with water. The stream of the exhilarating beverage thus gets purified day by day. 4

O divine elixir, may you flow forth for our good. Purified by the priests, may you invest yourself with devotional love. May the exhilarating loud-sounding mighty juices, as are yours, inspire the resplendent self and bestow affluence upon us. 5

76

(The divine elixir), sustainer of all, powerful, the invigorator of the sense organs, worthy to be praised by the priests, golden—hued, flows onwards from the firmament (the ultra-psychic region). Like a horse let loose by brave persons, it without any effort, replenishes its vigour in the streams (of water). 1

Like a hero, he carries weapons in his hands, desiring to enjoy felicity. He mounts his chariot in quest of the lost cattle (or wisdom); the elixir of bliss stimulates the strength of the resplendent self; he is invoked by the performers of sacrifice; he (the elixir) is anointed with milk and curds. 2

O divine elixir of bliss, you have been duly purified. With your full exhilarating strength, may you enter the heart of the resplendent self and make both worlds yield milk for us, just as lightning milks the clouds. May you mete out inexhaustible strength into us as a result of our duty-bound performances. 3

Onwards flows (the divine bliss), the sovereign of all the creatures that see the light. He is known as the lord of seers and saints, who sing the praises at the sacrifice where the elixir is effused. He is cleansed by the ray of the sun; he is the burthen of the hymns of praise and his wisdom is beyond our reach. 4

Like a bull in the midst of the herd, you rush to the ultra-psychic receptacle, with a crying sound as you fall upon the water's lap. You effuse and flow for the enjoyment of the resplendent self. May we, under your care and protection, O blissful Lord, be victorious in battle against evils. 5

(७७) सप्तसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः कविर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२॥ एष प्र कोशे मधुमाँ अचिक्रददिन्द्रस्य वज्रो वपुषो वपुष्टरः ।
अभीमृतस्य सुदुघा घृतश्चुतो वाश्रा अर्षन्ति पयसेव धेनवः ॥१॥
स पूर्व्यः पवते यं दिवस्परि श्येनो मथायदिषितस्तिरो रजः ।
स मध्व आ युवते वेविजान इत्कृशानोरस्तुर्मनसाह बिभ्युषा ॥२॥

77.

Eshá prá kóse mádhumāñ acikradad índrasya vájro vápusho vápushtarah | abhím ritásya sudúghā ghritascúto vāsrá arshanti páyaseva dhenávah || 1 || sá pūrvyáh pavate yám divás pári syenó mathāyád ishitás tiró rájah | sá mádhva á yuvate vévijāna ít krisánor ástur mánasáha bibhyúshā || 2 ||

ते नः पूर्वास उपरास इन्दवो महे वाजाय धन्वन्तु गोमते ।
ईक्षेण्यासो अह्यो३ न चारवो ब्रह्मब्रह्म ये जुजुषुर्हविर्हविः ॥३॥
अयं नो विद्वान्वनवद्वनुष्यत इन्दुः सत्राचा मनसा पुरुष्टुतः ।
इनस्य यः सदने गर्भमादधे गवामुरुब्जमभ्यर्षति व्रजम् ॥४॥
चक्रिर्दिवः पवते कृत्व्यो रसो महाँ अदब्धो वरुणो हुरुग्यते ।
असावि मित्रो वृजनेषु यज्ञियोऽत्यो न यूथे वृषयुः कनिक्रदत् ॥५॥

té nah púrvāsa úparāsa índavo mahé vájāya dhanvantu gómate | īkshenyàso ahyò ná cáravo bráhma-brahma yé jujushúr havír-havih || 3 || ayám no vidvấn vanavad vanushyatá índuh satrácā mánasā purushtutáh | inásya yáh sádane gárbham ādadhé gávām urubjám abhy árshati vrajám || 4 || cákrir diváh pavate krítvyo ráso maháñ ádabdho váruno hurúg yaté | ásāvi mitró vrijáneshu yajñíyó 'tyo ná yūthé vrishayúh kánikradat || 5 || 2 ||

77

The sweet-flavoured elixir sounds in the ultra-psychic pitcher. It is like a thunderbolt of the resplendent Lord, more beauteous than the beautiful. The streams of this veracious elixir mix up with water and a good quantity of milk and in the process, make a sound like lowing of kine laden with milk. 1

That ancient elixir effuses out which the hawk, commissioned for the purpose, brings down from heaven passing through the third world, though fully possessed of fear of the bow-armed protector, guarding this stock of bliss with caution. He flies downward, holding fast the blissful elixir, sweet and flavoured, (for the benefit of the resplendent self). 2

May those, first and foremost, fresh streams of divine elixirs flow on their way to give us abundant food and milk. They are pleasing to look upon like beautiful well-adorned women and whom not only our every prayer, even every oblation pleases. 3

May this drop of divine elixir, much lauded with full knowledge, slay them with united mind who desire to slay us. It (the elixir) dwells in the interior of our heart and deposits a germ in the cosmic herds and hastens to fertilize our milk-giving stall of kine. 4

The active, potent juice of heaven is flowing on; the mighty, unassailable and virtuous divine flows from heaven for the sake of him, who in search wanders hither and thither. It is a friend of every one. The adorable divine elixir is effused in affliction, uttering a sound like an ardent horse amidst a herd (of mares). 5

(७८) अष्टसप्ततितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः कविर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ प्र राजा वाचं जनयन्नसिष्यददपो वसानो अभि गा इयक्षति ।
गृभ्णाति रिप्रमविरस्य तान्वा शुद्धो देवानामुप याति निष्कृतम् ॥१॥
इन्द्राय सोम परि षिच्यसे नृभिर्नृचक्षा ऊर्मिः कविरज्यसे वने ।
पूर्वीर्हि ते स्रुतयः सन्ति यातवे सहस्रमश्वा हरयश्चमूषदः ॥२॥
समुद्रिया अप्सरसो मनीषिणमासीना अन्तरभि सोममक्षरन् ।
ता ईं हिन्वन्ति हर्म्यस्य सक्षणिं याचन्ते सुम्नं पवमानमक्षितम् ॥३॥

78.

Prá rā́jā vā́cam janáyann asishyadad apó vásāno abhí gā́ iyakshati | gribhṇā́ti riprám ávir asya tā́nvā ṣuddhó devā́nām úpa yāti nishkritám || 1 || índrāya soma pári shicyase nṛíbhir nṛicákshā ūrmíḥ kavír ajyase váne | pūrvī́r hí te srutáyaḥ sánti yā́tave sahásram áṣvā hárayaṣ camūsháadaḥ || 2 || samudríyā apsaráso manīshíṇam ā́sīnā antár abhí sómam aksharan | tā́ īm hinvanti harmyásya sakshánim yā́cante sumnám pávamānam ákshitam || 3 ||

गोजिन्नः सोमो रथजिद्धिरण्यजित्स्वर्जिदब्जित्पवते सहस्रजित् ।
यं देवासश्चक्रिरे पीतये मदं स्वादिष्ठं द्रप्समरुणं मयोभुवम् ॥४॥
एतानि सोम पवमानो अस्मयुः सत्यानि कृण्वन्द्रविणान्यर्षसि ।
जहि शत्रुमन्तिके दूरके च य उर्वीं गव्यूतिमभयं च नस्कृधि ॥५॥

gojín naḥ sómo rathajíd dhiraṇyajít svarjíd abjít pavate sahasrajít | yám devā́saṣ cakriré pītáye mádam svā́dishṭham drapsám aruṇám mayobhúvam || 4 || etā́ni soma pávamāno asmayúḥ satyā́ni kriṇván dráviṇāny arshasi | jahí ṣátrum antiké dūraké ca yá urvī́m gávyūtim ábhayam ca nas kridhi || 5 || 3 ||

78

This royal divine elixir, raising its voice, flows forth on its way; it clothes itself with water and advances forward whilst the hymns of praises are sung. It then passes to the ultra-psychic woollen filter where its impure residue is retained (and the purified filtrate passes through). Henceforth purified, it passes on to the dwellings of the divine sense-organs. 1

O elixir of devotion, you are expressed by the priests for the resplendent self. You are the observer of men, stimulated, intelligent, and your stems are immersed in water (before effusion). Many are the paths for you to follow and infinite are the spreading green-tinted streams pouring down to the ultra-psychic receptacles. 2

The damsels of the firmament, seated in the midst, flow towards the sagacious elixir; they cherish the one who is the sprinkler of the hall of sacrifice; may, the worshippers, invoke the flowing undecaying elixir, and ask for a boon. 3

The elixir of divine love flows for us. It is the conqueror of cattle, of chariots, of gold, of heaven, of water, of thosand-fold wealth, whom the divinities, the sense organs, greet and accept as their drink for their exhilaration, since it is exceedingly sweet and flavoured. While it drops, it is purple in colour and is the source of happiness. 4

May you bestow all true riches to us. Loving as you are, may you flow on and on, O purified divine elixir of bliss. Destroy our enemy whether he be far or near; grant us a free road and freedom from danger. 5

(७९) एकोनाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवः कविर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ अचोदसो नो धन्वन्त्विन्दवः प्र सुवानासो बृहद्दिवेषु हरयः ।
वि च नशन्न इषो अरातयोऽर्यो नशन्त सनिषन्त नो धियः ॥१॥
प्र णो धन्वन्त्विन्दवो मदच्युतो धना वा येभिरर्वतो जुनीमसि ।
तिरो मर्तस्य कस्य चित्परिह्वृतिं वयं धनानि विश्वधा भरेमहि ॥२॥
उत स्वस्या अरात्या अरिर्हि ष उतान्यस्या अरात्या वृको हि षः ।
धन्वन्न तृष्णा समरीत ताँ अभि सोम जहि पवमान दुराध्यः ॥३॥

79.

Accdáso no dhanvantv índavaḥ prá suvānáso briháddiveshu hárayaḥ | ví ca náṣan na ishó árātayo 'ryó naṣanta sánishanta no dhíyaḥ || 1 || prá ṇo dhanvantv índavo madacyúto dhánā vā yébhir árvato junīmási | tiró mártasya kásya cit párihvṛitim vayám dhánāni viṣvádhā bharemahi || 2 || utá svásyā árātyā arír hí shá utányásyā árātyā vṛíko hí sháḥ | dhánvan ná tṛíshṇā sám arīta táñ abhí sóma jahí pavamāna durādhyàḥ || 3 ||

दिवि ते नाभा परमो य आददे पृथिव्यास्ते रुरुहुः सानवि क्षिपः ।
अद्रयस्त्वा बप्सति गोरधि त्वच्य१प्सु त्वा हस्तैर्दुदुहुर्मनीषिणः ॥४॥
एवा त इन्दो सुभ्वं सुपेशसं रसं तुञ्जन्ति प्रथमा अभिश्रियः ।
निदंनिदं पवमान नि तारिष आविस्ते शुष्मो भवतु प्रियो मदः ॥५॥

diví te nábhā paramó yá ādadé pṛithivyás te ruruhuḥ sánavi kshípaḥ | ádrayas tvā bapsati gór ádhi tvacy àpsú tvā hástair duduhur manīshíṇaḥ || 4 || evá ta indo subhvàṃ supéṣasaṃ rásaṃ tuñjanti prathamá abhiṣríyaḥ | nídam-nidam pavamāna ní tārisha āvís te ṣúshmo bhavatu priyó mádaḥ || 5 || 4 ||

79

May the spontaneously effused, green in hue, and fresh elixir of divine love flow to us during the brilliant (occasions of sacred acts). May they be destroyed who are the with-holders of food from us; may our adversaries be destroyed. May the words of wisdom inspire us for our noble acts. 1

May these honey-dropping elixirs flow to us. May they bring us riches; with their aid, may we encounter the powerful enemy. May we, overcoming everyone who is not friendly to us, deprive the opponent of his precious wealth for our enjoyment. 2

For verily the elixir is the foe of its own enemy and the destroyer of the enemy of another. As thirst overcomes one in a desert, so purified irresistible elixir slays both of them. 3

The best blissful juice, which persons of enlightenment invoke dwells in the navel of heaven. Its stems and offshoots grow upon the summit of the earth; the stones crush you upon the cowhide (or a hard surface of earth); the wise sages milk you with their hands under water. 4

O drops of resplendence, you are effused and pressed out by the leading priest. You when mingled are attractive in form and fully matured. O purified elixir of enlightenment, may you destroy all our reviling thoughts. May your powerful, blissful and rejuvenating (sap) be made available to us. 5

(८०) अशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजो वसुर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

सोमस्य धारा पवते नृचक्षस ऋतेन देवान्हवते दिवस्परि ।
बृहस्पते रवथेना वि दिद्युते समुद्रासो न सवनानि विव्यचुः ॥१॥
यं त्वा वाजिन्नघ्न्या अभ्यनूषतायोहतं योनिमा रोहसि द्युमान् ।
मघोनामायुः प्रतिरन्महि श्रव इन्द्राय सोम पवसे वृषा मदः ॥२॥

80.

Sómasya dhārā pavate nṛicákshasa ṛiténa deván havate divás pári | bṛíhaspáte ravátheṇā ví didyute samudráso ná sávanāni vivyacuḥ || 1 || yáṃ tvā vājinn aghnyá abhy ánūshatáyohataṃ yónim á rohasi dyumán | maghónām áyuḥ pratirán máhi ṣráva índrāya soma pavase vṛíshā mádaḥ || 2 ||

एन्द्रस्य कुक्षा पवते मदिन्तम ऊर्जं वसानः श्रवसे सुमङ्गलः ।
प्रत्यङ् स विश्वा भुवनाभि पप्रथे क्रीळन्हरिरत्यः स्यन्दते वृषा ॥३॥
तं त्वा देवेभ्यो मधुमत्तमं नरः सहस्रधारं दुहते दश क्षिपः ।
नृभिः सोम प्रच्युतो ग्रावभिः सुतो विश्वान्देवाँ आ पवस्वा सहस्रजित् ॥४॥
तं त्वा हस्तिनो मधुमन्तमद्रिभिर्दुहन्त्यप्सु वृषभं दश क्षिपः ।
इन्द्रं सोम मादयन्दैव्यं जनं सिन्धोरिवोर्मिः पवमानो अर्षसि ॥५॥

éndrasya kukshá pavate madíntama úrjaṃ vásānaḥ ṣrávase sumañgálaḥ | pratyáñ sá víṣvā bhúvanābhí paprathe kríḷan hárir átyaḥ syandate vṛíshā || 3 || táṃ tvā devébhyo mádhumattamaṃ náraḥ sahásradhāraṃ duhate dáṣa kshípaḥ | nṛíbhiḥ soma prácyuto grávabhiḥ sutó víṣvān deváñ á pavasvā sahasrajit || 4 || táṃ tvā hastíno mádhumantam ádribhir duhánty apsú vṛishabháṃ dáṣa kshípaḥ | índraṃ soma mādáyan daívyaṃ jánaṃ síndhor ivormíḥ pávamāno arshasi || 5 || 5 ||

80

The stream of this blissful elixir, the dream of man, flows forth. By the eternal truth, it invites the divinities from the region of enlightenment to the place of sacrifice. While it flows out with brilliance, the learned leading worshipper sings the hymns of praise in high pitch. The elixir flows in streams to the reservoirs like the rivers covering the land. 1

O divine elixir, the creative power, you are praised by the inviolable divine speech; you sustain the entire creation· your abode (in the innermost cavity) has been fashioned by golden hands; like the sun in the sky, you shine forth above all. You provide us health, wealth, food, long life and divine exhilaration. You flow forth for the sake of the resplendent self, and are the showerer of all benefits. 2

You, as elixir of life, the creative inspiration and power, flow for the satisfaction of the resplendent self and for his ample nourishment. You are clothed with vigour; you extend fortunes to all the beings. You are pleasingly green-tinted, sporting, swift-moving and showerer of benefits as you flow forth. 3

The ten fingers of the priest milk you forth for gods, the sense-organs; most sweet-flavoured, flowing in a thousand streams, poured out by the devotees, squeezed through stones, you, O divine elixir, the winner of thousand-fold wealth, flow to all the psychic powers. 4

You are skilfully milked by ten fingers; the stems of your plant are crushed between stones; the sap is mingled with water. You are sweet and flavoured, a showerer of benefits. You exhilarate the resplendent self, and all the celestial organs of the body. When squeezed and filtered, you rush forth like a wave of water. 5

(८१) एकाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजो वसुर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१–४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां जगती, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥६॥ प्र सोमस्य पवमानस्योर्मय इन्द्रस्य यन्ति जठरं सुपेशसः ।
दध्ना यदीमुन्नीता यशसा गवां दानाय शूरमुदमन्दिषुः सुताः ॥१॥
अच्छा हि सोमः कलशाँ असिष्यददत्यो न वोळ्हा रघुवर्तनिर्वृषा ।
अथा देवानामुभयस्य जन्मनो विद्वाँ अश्नोत्यमुत इतश्च यत् ॥२॥
आ नः सोम पवमानः किरा वस्विन्दो भव मघवा राधसो महः ।
शिक्षा वयोधो वसवे सु चेतुना मा नो गयमारे अस्मत्परा सिचः ॥३॥

81.

Prá sómasya pávamānasyormáya índrasya yanti jaṭháraṃ supéṣasaḥ | dadhnā́ yád īm únnītā yaṣásā gávāṃ dānáya ṣū́ram udámandishuḥ sutā́ḥ || 1 || ácā hí sómaḥ kaláṣā̆ṅ ásishyadad átyo ná vóḷhā raghúvartanir vṛíshā | áthā devā́nām ubháyasya jánmano vidvā́ṅ aṣnoty amúta itáṣ ca yát || 2 || ā́ naḥ soma pávamānaḥ kirā́ vásv índo bháva maghávā rā́dhaso maháḥ | ṣíkshā vayodho vásave sú cetúnā mā́ no gáyam āré asmát párā sicaḥ || 3 ||

आ नः पूषा पवमानः सुरातयो मित्रो गच्छन्तु वरुणः सजोषसः ।
बृहस्पतिर्मरुतो वायुरश्विना त्वष्टा सविता सुयमा सरस्वती ॥४॥
उभे द्यावापृथिवी विश्वमिन्वे अर्यमा देवो अदितिर्विधाता ।
भगो नृशंसं उर्वन्तरिक्षं विश्वे देवाः पवमानं जुषन्त ॥५॥

ā́ naḥ pūshā́ pávamānaḥ surātáyo mitró gachantu váruṇaḥ sajóshasaḥ | bṛíhaspátir marúto vāyúr aṣvínā tváshṭā savitā́ suyámā sárasvatī || 4 || ubhé dyā́vāpṛithiví viṣvaminvé aryamā́ devó áditir vidhātā́ | bhágo nṛiṣáṅsa urv àntáriksham víṣve devā́ḥ pávamānaṃ jushanta || 5 || 6 ||

81

The graceful waves of the purified spiritual bliss flow in the ultra-psychic region of the complex of the resplendent self. The elixir has been effused, filtered and mixed with milk and curds of kine,—all to exhilarate the hero, the bestower (of gifts to the devotees). 1

The bliss divine, the showerer, flows towards the pitchers of inner consciousness, like a draught horse, moving with sure and steady paces. It knows both, the ambrosia brought from the other world, the exterior, and also the one existing in this world, the interior (observations from the external and experiences from within). 2

The elixir of life, when effused and purified, enriches us with all sorts of wealth. The divine love is the possessor of affluence; may it also provide us with ample richness of divine experience. O dispenser of sustenance, may you bless this embodied soul with prosperity, along with discriminating faculty. Scatter not riches and blessings distant from us. 3

May the effused life-sustenance come to us. May also come venerability and friendliness, bountiful and of one accord come to us. May also come to us men of valour, the twins divine, the sense of superb activity, the divine knowledge, creativity and impulsion, technical skill, and tractable divine speech. 4

The elixir of life is honoured and loved by all bounties of Nature—be they existing in the pervading pair of earth and heaven. It is valued by people, just and kind, by those blessed by mother Infinity, by the possessors of the faculty of sustenance, and of effulgence, and by bounties in spacious firmament. 5

(८२) द्व्यशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजो वसुर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१–४) प्रथमादिचतुरृचां जगती, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥७॥ असावि सोमो अरुषो वृषा हरी राजेव दस्मो अभि गा अचिक्रदत् ।
पुनानो वारं पर्येत्यव्ययं श्येनो न योनिं घृतवन्तमासदम् ॥१॥
कविर्वेधस्या पर्येषि माहिनमत्यो न मृष्टो अभि वाजमर्षसि ।
अपसेधन्दुरिता सोम मृळय घृतं वसानः परि यासि निर्णिजम् ॥२॥
पर्जन्यः पिता महिषस्य पर्णिनो नाभा पृथिव्या गिरिषु क्षयं दधे ।
स्वसार आपो अभि गा उतासरन्त्सं ग्रावभिर्नसते वीते अध्वरे ॥३॥

82.

Ásāvi sómo arushó vríshā hárī rájeva dasmó abhí gá acikradat | punānó váram páry ety avyáyam ṣyenó ná yónim ghritávantam āsádam || 1 || kavír vedhasyá páry eshi máhinam átyo ná mrishtó abhí vájam arshasi | apasédhan duritá soma mrilaya ghritám vásānah pári yāsi nirníjam || 2 || parjányah pitá mahishásya parníno nábhā prithivyá giríshu ksháyam dadhe | svásāra ápo abhí gá utásaran sám grávabhir nasate vīté adhvaré || 3 ||

जायेव पत्यावधि शेव मंहसे पज्राया गर्भ शृणुहि ब्रवीमि ते ।
अन्तर्वाणीषु प्र चरा सु जीवसेऽनिन्द्यो वृजने सोम जागृहि ॥४॥
यथा पूर्वेभ्यः शतसा अमृध्रः सहस्रसाः पर्यया वाजमिन्दो ।
एवा पवस्व सुविताय नव्यसे तव व्रतमन्वापः सचन्ते ॥५॥

jāyéva pátyāv ádhi ṣéva maṅhase pájrāyā garbha ṣrinuhí brávīmi te | antár vánīshu prá carā sú jīváse 'nindyó vrijáne soma jāgrihi || 4 || yáthā púrvebhyah ṣatasá ámridhrah sahasrasáh paryáyā vájam indo | evá pavasva suvitáya návyase táva vratám ánv ápah sacante || 5 || 7 ||

82

The effused elixir of love with all its radiance is a showerer of benefits; green-tinted; is like a king in magnanimity. The divine juice, as it proceeds to waters (to be mixed with) utters a thrilling sound. It passes through an ultra-psychic fleecy sieve for filtration and purification. Just as a hawk (coming back to its nest for rest), it alights on the water-moistened seat. 1

You, the wise one, pass through the adorable filter with the intent desire to participate in the noble sacrifice. Just as a horse, you, cleansed with water, proceed to the battle, i.e. to meet the struggles of life. May you drive away all our evils and troubles, and be kind and considerate to us. Clad with water, you, O elixir, pass through the filtering device. 2

The father of the broad-leafed (plant of divine elixir) is the divine cloud; the plant dwells on the navel of the earth among the mountains. The streams of waters are its sisters. The chants of hymns go on while the juice is squeezed out, and it meets the stones at the beloved sacrifice (which crush the stems of the plant). 3

You give delight to your devotee as wife to her husband. O child of cloud, listen to all that I address to you. Pleased with our adorations, may you favour us with full life. O irreproachable divine elixir, please be vigilant against our foes and miseries. 4

Just as you, the divine bliss, have been providing invulnerable strength and wisdom to our ancient sages hundred-fold and thousand-fold, favour us also with the same, and provide us with the latest prosperity. These sacred waters would bring success to all your pledges and functions. 5

(८३) त्र्यशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः पवित्र ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ प॒वित्रं॑ ते॒ वित॑तं ब्रह्मणस्पते प्र॒भुर्गात्रा॑णि॒ पर्ये॑षि वि॒श्वतः॑ ।
अत॑प्ततनू॒र्न तदा॒मो अ॑श्नुते शृ॒तास॒ इद्वह॑न्त॒स्तत्समा॑शत ॥१॥
तपो॑ष्प॒वित्रं॒ वित॑तं दि॒वस्प॒दे शोच॑न्तो अस्य॒ तन्त॑वो॒ व्य॑स्थिरन् ।
अव॑न्त्यस्य पवी॒तार॑मा॒शवो॑ दि॒वस्पृ॒ष्ठमधि॑ तिष्ठन्ति॒ चेत॑सा ॥२॥

83.

Pavítram te vítatam brahmanas pate prabhúr gấtrāṇi páry eshi viṣvátaḥ | átaptatanūr ná tád āmó aṣnute ṣritása íd váhantas tát sám āṣata || 1 || táposh pavítram vítatam divás padé ṣócanto asya tántavo vy àsthiran | ávantv asya pavītā́ram āṣávo divás prishṭhám ádhi tishṭhanti cétasā || 2 ||

अरू॑रुचदु॒षसः॒ पृश्नि॑रग्रि॒य उ॒क्षा बि॑भर्ति॒ भुव॑नानि वाज॒युः ।
मा॒या॒विनो॑ ममिरे अस्य मा॒यया॑ नृ॒चक्ष॑सः पि॒तरो॒ गर्भ॒मा द॑धुः ॥३॥
ग॒न्ध॒र्व इ॒त्था प॒दम॑स्य रक्षति॒ पाति॑ दे॒वानां॒ जनि॑मा॒न्यद्भु॑तः ।
गृ॒भ्णाति॑ रि॒पुं नि॒धया॑ नि॒धाप॑तिः सु॒कृत्त॑मा॒ मधु॑नो भ॒क्षमा॑शत ॥४॥
ह॒विर्ह॑विष्मो॒ महि॒ सद्म॒ दैव्यं॒ नभो॒ वसा॑नः॒ परि॑ यास्यध्व॒रम् ।
राजा॑ प॒वित्र॑रथो॒ वाज॒मारु॑हः स॒हस्र॑भृष्टिर्जयसि॒ श्रवो॑ बृ॒हत् ॥५॥

árūrucad ushásaḥ pṛ́ṣnir agriyá ukshā́ bibharti bhúvanāni vājayúḥ | māyāvíno mamire asya māyáyā nṛicákshasaḥ pitáro gárbham ā́ dadhuḥ || 3 || gandharvá itthā́ padám asya rakshati pā́ti devā́nām jánimāny ádbhutaḥ | gribhṇā́ti ripúm nidháyā nidhā́patiḥ sukṛ́ttamā mádhuno bhakshám āṣata || 4 || havír havishmo máhi sádma daívyam nábho vásānaḥ pári yāsy adhvarám | rā́jā pavítraratho vā́jam ā́ruhaḥ sahásrabhrishṭir jayasi ṣrávo brihát || 5 || 8 ||

83

O Lord of divine enlightenment, your processes of purification are widely stretched out (in cosmos); you are the sovereign, who rules over the entire creation from all sides; you never get tired (become hot) in your work; your divine bliss is not obtainable to those who are unripened. Only the mature ones receive the graces from you. 1

Your filter of the elixir that blazes all opposition (and destroys adversaries) lies at the summit of heaven. The shining filaments of this filter are separated. The brilliant swift-flowing juices protect the pious ones (or the worshippers). They with their supreme intellect attain the highest summit of aspirations. 2

The associate of dawn, and the sun (i.e. the divine elixir) shines forth; it sprinkles the dew drops to nourish the worlds with food and provisions; by its super—intellect, it supports the entire intelligentsia, the elders, the beholders of men; it supports the germ of entire activity in the world. 3

The sun verily preserves this station. The elixir of life preserves the races of sentient beings. The lord of nooses seizes our enemy with snare. They who are virtuous in actions have a right to enjoy the sweet-juiced elixir of life. 4

O elixir, you are mixed with water, i.e. you are clad in water, and thence you take the sacrifice to the celestial abode. As a king, you ascend to the battle, mounted on the chariot of your ultra— psychic filter and armed with a thousand weapons, you win abundant food for us. 5

(८४) चतुरशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वाच्यः प्रजापतिर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥९॥ पव॑स्व देव॒माद॑नो॒ विच॑र्षणिर॒प्सा इन्द्रा॑य॒ वरु॑णाय वा॒यवे॑ ।
कृ॒धी नो॑ अ॒द्य वरि॑वः स्वस्ति॒मदु॑रुक्षि॒तौ गृ॑णीहि॒ दैव्यं॒ जन॑म् ॥१॥
आ यस्त॒स्थौ भुव॑ना॒न्यम॑र्त्यो॒ विश्वा॑नि॒ सोम॒: परि॒ तान्य॑र्षति ।
कृ॒ण्वन्त्सं॑चृ॒तं वि॒चृतं॑म॒भिष्ट॑य॒ इन्दु॑: सिषक्त्यु॒षसं॒ न सूर्य॑: ॥२॥

84.

Pávasva devamádano vícarshanir apsá índrāya várunāya vāyáve | kridhí no adyá várivah svastimád urukshitaú griṇīhi daívyam jánam || 1 || á yás tasthaú bhúvanāny ámartyo víṣvāni sómah pári tány arshati | krinván samcrítam vicrítam abhíshṭaya índuḥ sishakty ushásam ná sū́ryaḥ || 2 ||

आ यो गोभि॑: सृ॒ज्यत॒ ओष॑धी॒ष्वा दे॒वानां॑ सु॒म्न इ॒षय॒न्नुपा॑वसुः ।
आ वि॒द्युता॑ पवते॒ धार॑या सु॒त इन्द्रं॒ सोमो॑ मा॒दय॒न्दैव्यं॒ जन॑म् ॥३॥
ए॒ष स्य सोम॑: पवते सहस्र॒जिद्धि॑न्वा॒नो वाच॑मिषि॒रामु॑ष॒र्बुध॑म् ।
इन्दु॑: समु॒द्रमुदि॑यर्ति वा॒युभि॒रेन्द्र॑स्य॒ हार्दि॑ क॒लशे॑षु सीदति ॥४॥
अ॒भि त्यं गाव॒: पय॑सा पयो॒वृधं॒ सोमं॑ श्रीणन्ति म॒तिभि॑: स्व॒र्विद॑म् ।
ध॒नं॒ज॒यः प॑वते॒ कृत्व्यो॒ रसो॒ विप्र॑: क॒विः काव्ये॑ना॒ स्व॑र्चनाः ॥५॥

á yó góbhiḥ srijyáta óshadhīshv á devánām sumná isháyann úpāvasuḥ | á vidyútā pavate dhárayā sutá índram sómo mādáyan daívyam jánam || 3 || eshá syá sómaḥ pavate sahasrajíd dhinvānó vácam ishirám usharbúdham | índuḥ samudrám úd iyarti vāyúbhir éndrasya hárdi kaláṣeshu sīdati || 4 || abhí tyám gávaḥ páyasā payovrídham sómam ṣrīṇanti matíbhiḥ svarvídam | dhanamjayáḥ pavate krítvyo ráso vípraḥ kavíḥ kávyenā svárcanāḥ || 5 || ९ ||

84

May you flow forth, the exhilarator of the cosmic bounties, the far-sighted, the giver of life-force to the sun, the ocean and the wind. Grant us this day wealth and health; call the celestial people on the auspicious ground of the sacrifice. 1

The immortal elixir of bliss, which is stationed upon the regions, goes about them all; the divine love brings us closer to divine virtues and takes us away from vices. It comes to the sacrifice for the fulfilment of our desires, like the sun following the dawn. 2

The elixir of life force which is created by the sun's rays, (or when mixed with cow's milk) is placed in the herbs for the gratification of the divine powers. It snatches away the property of the foes (to be given to virtuous people). Poured forth in a stream, it flows with the lightning's flash and gladdens the Lord of the sun and the people of heaven. 3

This is the elixir of divine love, the conqueror of thousands; awakened at dawn, it flows stimulating the priests to chant the divine praises. The elixir sends forth its ocean of divine love with the aid of the breathing winds; for the satisfaction of the resplendent self, it is received in the receptacles of hearts. 4

The milk of the cows, i.e. the wisdom of the sages, augments the exhilarating elixir. Mixed with that milk and invoked by praises, it awards us everything. The elixir of the life-force, the winner of wealth, flows forth, purified with wisdom, sacred acts and mature experience. 5

(८५) पञ्चाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवो वेन ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१-१०) प्रथमादि-दशर्चां जगती. (११-१२) एकादशीद्वादश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१०॥ इन्द्राय सोम सुषुतः परि स्रवापामीवा भवतु रक्षसा सह ।
मा ते रसस्य मत्सत द्वयाविनो द्रविणस्वन्त इह सन्त्विन्दवः ॥१॥
अस्मान्त्समर्ये पवमान चोदय दक्षो देवानामसि हि प्रियो मदः ।
जहि शत्रूँरभ्या भन्दनायतः पिबेन्द्र सोममव नो मृधो जहि ॥२॥

85.

Índrāya soma súshutaḥ pári sravápāmīvā bhavatu rákshasā sahá | mā́ te rásasya matsata dvayāvíno dráviṇasvanta ihá santv índavaḥ || 1 || asmā́n samaryé pavamāna codaya dáksho devā́nām ási hí priyó mádaḥ | jahí ṣátrūn̐r abhy ā́ bhandanāyatáḥ píbendra sómam áva no mṛídho jahi || 2 ||

अदब्ध इन्दो पवसे मदिन्तम आत्मेन्द्रस्य भवसि धासिरुत्तमः ।
अभि स्वरन्ति बहवो मनीषिणो राजानमस्य भुवनस्य निंसते ॥३॥
सहस्रणीथः शतधारो अद्भुत इन्द्रायेन्दुः पवते काम्यं मधु ।
जयन्क्षेत्रमभ्यर्षा जयन्नप उरुं नो गातुं कृणु सोम मीढ्वः ॥४॥
कनिक्रदत्कलशे गोभिरज्यसे व्यव्ययं समया वारमर्षसि ।
मर्मृज्यमानो अत्यो न सानसिरिन्द्रस्य सोम जठरे समक्षरः ॥५॥

ádabdha indo pavase madíntama ātméndrasya bhavasi dhāsír uttamáḥ | abhí svaranti bahávo manīshíṇo rā́jānam asyá bhúvanasya niṅsate || 3 || sahásraṇīthaḥ ṣatádhāro ádbhuta índrāyénduḥ pavate kā́myam mádhu | jáyan kshétram abhy àrshā jáyann apá urúṃ no gātúṃ kṛiṇu soma mīḍhvaḥ || 4 || kánikradat kaláṣe góbhir ajyase vy àvyáyaṃ samáyā vā́ram arshasi | marmṛijyámāno átyo ná sānasír índrasya soma jaṭháre sám aksharaḥ || 5 ||

85

Flow forth, O well-expressed melody of praises, for the resplendent self; may disease and the wicked spirit be kept far off; let not the double-dealers be delighted with your elixir; may your flowing drops be laden with opulence at this (sacrifice). 1

O purified elixir, urge us to victory in battles for you are powerful, dear to the divine powers and the exhilarator. Slay our foes; come to those who chant your praises. O radiant soul, drink the elixir of life-force and destroy the adversaries. 2

May you continue to flow, O elixir of divine love, the inviolable, the most exhilarating, the ruler of the world; you yourself are the best support of the resplendent self; all the sages verily approach and glorify you. 3

The marvellous divine elixir, brought to us in thousands of ways, flowing in a hundred streams, pours forth for the resplendent self, it being his most beloved beverage. May you approach, O elixir, the filter, winning land for us, winning water, and making our path broad and easy. 4

Roaring with thrill you are blended in the pitcher with milk and curds; you pass through the ultra-psychic fleecy filter in the midst. Being cleansed and decked like a prize-winning horse, you flow down, O elixir, (after filtration) in the belly of the resplendent self. 5

स्वादुः पवस्व दिव्याय जन्मने स्वादुरिन्द्राय सुहवीतुनाम्ने ।
स्वादुर्मित्राय वरुणाय वायवे बृहस्पतये मधुमाँ अदाभ्यः ॥६॥

svādúḥ pavasva divyáya
jánmane svādúr índrāya suhávītunāmne | svādúr mitráya
váruṇāya vāyáve bṛíhaspátaye mádhumāñ ádābhyaḥ || 6 || 10 ||

॥११॥ अत्यं मृजन्ति कलशे दश क्षिपः प्र विप्राणां मतयो वाच ईरते ।
पवमाना अभ्यर्षन्ति सुष्टुतिमेन्द्रं विशन्ति मदिरास इन्दवः ॥७॥
पवमानो अभ्यर्षा सुवीर्यमुर्वीं गव्यूतिं महि शर्म सप्रथः ।
माकिर्नो अस्य परिषूतिरीशतेन्दो जयेम त्वया धनंधनम् ॥८॥
अधि द्यामस्थाद्वृषभो विचक्षणोऽरूरुचद्वि दिवो रोचना कविः ।
राजा पवित्रमत्येति रोरुवद्दिवः पीयूषं दुहते नृचक्षसः ॥९॥
दिवो नाके मधुजिह्वा असश्चतो वेना दुहन्त्युक्षणं गिरिष्ठाम् ।
अप्सु द्रप्सं वावृधानं समुद्र आ सिन्धोरूर्मा मधुमन्तं पवित्र आ ॥१०॥
नाके सुपर्णमुपपप्तिवांसं गिरो वेनानामकृपन्त पूर्वीः ।
शिशुं रिहन्ति मतयः पनिप्नतं हिरण्ययं शकुनं क्षामणि स्थाम् ॥११॥

átyam mṛijanti kaláṣe dáṣa kshípaḥ prá víprāṇām matáyo vā́ca īrate | pávamānā abhy àrshanti sushṭutím éndram viṣanti madirā́sa índavaḥ || 7 || pávamāno abhy àrshā suvī́ryam urvī́ṃ gávyūtim máhi ṣárma saprá thaḥ | mā́kir no asyá párishūtir īṣaténdo jáyema tváyā dhánaṃ-dhanam || 8 || ádhi dyā́m asthād vṛishabhó vicakshaṇó 'rūrucad ví divó rocanā́ kavíḥ | rā́jā pavítram áty eti róruvad diváḥ pīyū́shaṃ duhate nṛicákshasaḥ || 9 || divó nā́ke mádhujihvā asaṣcáto venā́ duhanty ukshā́ṇaṃ girishṭhā́m | apsú drapsáṃ vāvṛidhānáṃ samudrá ā́ síndhor ūrmā́ mádhumantam pavítra ā́ || 10 || nā́ke suparṇám upapaptivā́ṅsaṃ gíro venā́nām akṛipanta pūrvī́ḥ | ṣíṣuṃ rihanti matáyaḥ pánipnataṃ hiraṇyáyaṃ ṣakunáṃ kshā́maṇi sthā́m || 11 ||

Flow onwards sweet for the celestial people; flow sweet for the resplendent self, whose name is worthily invoked; flow sweet for the sun, the ocean, the wind and cosmic intelligence; verily you are sweet-flavoured and inviolable. 6

The ten fingers clean the stems of the plant in the cosmic pitcher; the holy singers send forth their praises with hymns; the filtered elixir hastens to the fair praises; the exhilarating saps find their way to the core of the resplendent self. 7

While you are purified, pour on us heroic strengh, extensive pastures, a large and spacious mansion; let no oppressor be lord over us. O elixir, may we gain all opulence through you. 8

The showerer, the beholder has risen above the sky; the seer has illumined the luminaries of heaven; the king is passing through the ultra-psychic filter with a roar. The beholder of men milk forth the ambrosia of heaven. 9

In the heaven of the bright universal sacrifice, the sweet-voiced loving divine powers severally milk forth the mountain-haunting divine elixir; they sprinkle it with waters; it is nourished with waters, become juicy; it is strengthened in the ocean, in the waves of the streams. They sprinkle it sweet-flavoured as it passes through the ultra-psychic filter. 10

The prayers of the enlightened ones of noble desires praise (the divine elixir, which dwells) in heaven, well-winged, falling (to earth); praises give comfort to the crying infant, the golden bird, reposing on the earth. 11

ऊर्ध्वो गन्धर्वो अधि नाके अस्थाद्विश्वा रूपा प्रतिचक्षाणो अस्य ।
भानुः शुक्रेण शोचिषा व्यद्योत्प्रारूरुचद्रोदसी मातरा शुचिः ॥१२॥

ūrdhvó gandharvó ádhi nāke asthād víṣvā rūpā́ praticákshāṇo asya | bhānúḥ ṣukréṇa ṣocíshā vy àdyaut prárūrucad ródasī mātárā ṣúciḥ || 12 || 11 ||

[अथ पञ्चमोऽनुवाकः ॥] (८६) षडशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशदृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-१०) प्रथमादिदशर्चामकृष्टा माषाः, (११-२०) एकादश्यादिदशानां सिकता निवावरी, (२१-३०) एकविंश्यादिदशानां पृश्नयोऽजाः, (३१-४०) एकत्रिंश्यादिदशानामत्रयः, (४१-४५) एकचत्वारिंश्यादिपञ्चानां भौमोऽत्रिः, (४६-४८) षट्चत्वारिंश्यादितृचस्य च भार्गवः शौनको गृत्समद ऋषयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ प्र त आशवः पवमान धीजवो मदा अर्षन्ति रघुजा इव त्मना ।
दिव्याः सुपर्णा मधुमन्त इन्दवो मदिन्तमासः परि कोशमासते ॥१॥
प्र ते मदासो मदिरास आशवोऽसृक्षत रथ्यासो यथा पृथक् ।
धेनुर्न वत्सं पयसाभि वज्रिणमिन्द्रमिन्दवो मधुमन्त ऊर्मयः ॥२॥

86.

Prá ta āṣávaḥ pavamāna dhījávo mádā arshanti raghujá iva tmánā | divyā́ḥ suparṇā́ mádhumanta índavo madíntamāsaḥ pári kóṣam āsate || 1 || prá te mádāso madirā́sa āṣávó 'srikshata ráthyāso yáthā príthak | dhenúr ná vatsám páyasābhí vajríṇam índram índavo mádhumanta ūrmáyaḥ || 2 ||

The divine plant of the elixir, the elevated one, has risen high to heaven's vault. From thence, it beholds all the varieties of forms. The sun shines in white light with gleaming splendour. Radiant, it illumines both the parents, heaven and earth. 12

86

The purified divine elixirs are all-pervading, quick as thoughts, exhilarating and swift like offsprings of mares; the celestial sweet flavoured elixirs, thrilling and exciting, alight in the cosmic receptacles. 1

Your exhilarating all-pervading elixirs are let loose separately like chariot-horses; the sweet-flavoured waves of spiritual thrill go to the resplendent self, the wielder of the thunderbolt, as a cow with her milk to the calf. 2

अत्यो न हियानो अभि वाजमर्ष स्वर्वित्कोशं दिवो अद्रिमातरम् ।
वृषा पवित्रे अधि सानो अव्यये सोमः पुनान इन्द्रियाय धायसे ॥३॥
प्र त आश्विनीः पवमान धीजुवो दिव्या असृग्रन्पयसा धरीमणि ।
प्रान्तर्ऋषयः स्थाविरीरसृक्षत ये त्वा मृजन्त्यृषिषाण वेधसः ॥४॥
विश्वा धामानि विश्वचक्ष ऋभ्वसः प्रभोस्ते सतः परि यन्ति केतवः ।
व्यानशिः पवसे सोम धर्मभिः पतिर्विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजसि ॥५॥

átyo ná hiyānó abhí vájam arsha svarvít kóṣam divó ádrimātaram | vríshā pavítre ádhi sắno avyáye sómaḥ punāná indriyáya dhāyase || 3 || prá ta ắṣvinīḥ pavamāna dhījúvo divyā́ asṛigran páyasā dhárīmaṇi | prántár ṛíshaya stháviriīr asṛikshata yé tvā mṛijánty ṛishishāṇa vedhásaḥ || 4 || víṣvā dhā́māni viṣvacaksha ṛíbhvasaḥ prabhós te satáḥ pári yanti ketávaḥ | vyānaṣíḥ pavase soma dhármabhiḥ pátir víṣvasya bhúvanasya rājasi || 5 || 12 ||

॥१३॥ उभयतः पवमानस्य रश्मयो ध्रुवस्य सतः परि यन्ति केतवः ।
यदी पवित्रे अधि मृज्यते हरिः सत्ता नि योना कलशेषु सीदति ॥६॥
यज्ञस्य केतुः पवते स्वध्वरः सोमो देवानामुप याति निष्कृतम् ।
सहस्रधारः परि कोशमर्षति वृषा पवित्रमत्येति रोरुवत् ॥७॥
राजा समुद्रं नद्यो३ वि गाहतेऽपामूर्मिं सचते सिन्धुषु श्रितः ।
अध्यस्थात्सानु पवमानो अव्ययं नाभा पृथिव्या धरुणो महो दिवः ॥८॥

६ ubhayátaḥ pávamānasya raṣmáyo dhruvásya satáḥ pári yanti ketávaḥ | yádī pavítre ádhi mṛijyáte háriḥ sáttā ní yónā kaláṣeshu sīdati || 6 || yajñásya ketúḥ pavate svadhvaráḥ sómo devā́nām úpa yāti nishkṛitám | sahásradhārah pári kóṣam arshati vríshā pavítram áty eti róruvat || 7 || rā́jā samudrám nadyò ví gāhate 'pā́m ūrmím sacate síndhushu ṣritáḥ | ádhy asthāt sā́nu pávamāno avyáyam nábhā pṛithivyā́ dharúṇo mahó diváḥ || 8 ||

Like a steed urged on to battle, may you, who are all-knowing, speed onward from heaven to the receptacle, as clouds descend from heaven. The elixir, the showerer of benefits, is being purified at the top upon the ultra-cosmic fleecy filter for the strength of the resplendent sun, who supports the world. 3

O purified elixir, your celestial steed-like streams, quick as thoughts, are poured along with the cosmic milk into the cosmic receptacle; the sages, the ordainers of the sacred traditions, cleanse you. O divine elixir, enjoyed by sages, may you pour your continuous streams in the midst (of the vessel). 4

O all-seeing sovereign, your mighty rays encompass all the spheres; pervading all things, you flow, O elixir, through your functions; and as a lord of the whole word, you rule over everyone. 5

The heralding rays of steady, purified, green-tinted elixir, cleansed upon the cosmic filter, circulate from both the sides. It is finally allowed to repose in the pitchers. 6

This elixir of divine love is the signal of cosmic sacrifice and an object of pious worship; it flows filtered; it approaches the abode of Nature's bounties. This thousand-streamed elixir, the showerer of blessings, rushes to the cosmic receptacle and passes roaring through the cosmic filter. 7

The royal elixir plunges into the firmament, and the rivers thereof; mixed with the streams, it associates with the wave of the waters; being filtered it stands upon the up-lifted cosmic fleecy filter on the navel of the earth. It is the upholder of the vast celestial region. 8

दिवो न सानु स्तनयन्नचिक्रदद्द्यौश्च यस्य पृथिवी च धर्मभिः ।
इन्द्रस्य सख्यं पवते विवेविदत्सोमः पुनानः कलशेषु सीदति ॥९॥
ज्योतिर्यज्ञस्य पवते मधु प्रियं पिता देवानां जनिता विभूवसुः ।
दधाति रत्नं स्वधयोरपीच्यं मदिन्तमो मत्सर इन्द्रियो रसः ॥१०॥

divó ná sā́nu stanáyann acikradad dyaúsh ca yásya prithiví́ ca dhármabhiḥ | índrasya sakhyám pavate vivévidat sómaḥ punānáḥ kaláseshu sīdati || 9 || jyótir yajñásya pavate mádhu priyám pitā́ devā́nām janitā́ vibhū́vasuḥ | dádhāti rátnam svadháyor apīcyàm madíntamo matsará indriyó rásaḥ || 10 || 13 ||

॥१४॥ अभिक्रन्दन्कलशं वाज्यर्षति पतिर्दिवः शतधारो विचक्षणः ।
हरिर्मित्रस्य सदनेषु सीदति मर्मृजानोऽविभिः सिन्धुभिर्वृषा ॥११॥
अग्रे सिन्धूनां पवमानो अर्षत्यग्रे वाचो अग्रियो गोषु गच्छति ।
अग्रे वाजस्य भजते महाधनं स्वायुधः सोतृभिः पूयते वृषा ॥१२॥
अयं मतवाञ्छकुनो यथा हितोऽव्ये ससार पवमान ऊर्मिणा ।
तव क्रत्वा रोदसी अन्तरा कवे शुचिर्धिया पवते सोम इन्द्र ते ॥१३॥
द्रापिं वसानो यजतो दिविस्पृशमन्तरिक्षप्रा भुवनेष्वर्पितः ।
स्वर्जज्ञानो नभसाभ्यक्रमीत्प्रत्नमस्य पितरमा विवासति ॥१४॥

abhikrándan kalásham vājy àrshati pátir diváḥ satádhāro vicakshaṇáḥ | hárir mitrásya sádaneshu sīdati marmrijānó 'vibhiḥ síndhubhir vríshā || 11 || ágre síndhūnām pávamāno arshaty ágre vācó agriyó góshu gachati | ágre vā́jasya bhajate mahādhanám svāyudháḥ sotríbhiḥ pūyate vríshā || 12 || ayám matávāñ chakunó yáthā hitó 'vye sasāra pávamāna ūrmíṇā | táva krátvā ródasī antarā́ kave súcir dhiyā́ pavate sóma indra te || 13 || drāpím vásāno yajató divisprísam antarikshaprā́ bhúvaneshv árpitaḥ | svàr jajñānó nábhasābhy àkramīt pratnám asya pitáram ā́ vivāsati || 14 ||

Thundering like the summit of the sky, the elixir, by whose support both heaven and earth are upheld, roars. The elixir flows acquiring friendship of the resplendent sun; purified, it alights upon the cosmic pitchers. 9

It (the elixir) is the light of the cosmic sacrifice; it distils sweet delightful juices. It is the parent of Nature's bounties, the generator of all. and the possessor of ample wealth. This, the most exhilarating, exciting and the nourishing elixir supports the hidden treasures of heaven and earth. 10

The rapid elixir, the lord of heaven, the thousand-streamed, the beholder of all, rushes roaring aloud to the cosmic reservoir; the green-tinted one alights on the place of sacrifice, its own friendly home. Mixed with waters. it is filtered pure through the cosmic fleecy hairs. 11

The filtered divine elixir runs in the forefront of the rivers; in the fore-front of the hymns, it goes amongst the rays; in front, it fights for obtaining food. This well-armed, the showerer of benefits, is purified by the worshippers who offer oblation. 12

This much praised, purified elixir is sent forth with the speed of a flying bird; it flows onward in streams of juices through the cosmic fleecy filter. O resplendent Lord, through your sustaining act, your intelligence, the pure elixir flows, purified through both heaven and earth. 13

The elixir, clad in a defensive armour that reaches heaven, fills the firmament (with rains). When mixed with waters, it generates heavenly bliss. Along with waters, it comes to the place of worship, and it invokes its ancient parent (the resplendent Lord). 14

सो अस्य विशे महि शर्म यच्छति यो अस्य धाम प्रथमं व्यानशे ।
पदं यदस्य परमे व्योमन्यतो विश्वा अभि सं याति संयतः ॥१५॥

só asya visé máhi sárma yachati yó asya dhā́ma prathamám vyānasé | padám yád asya paramé vyòmany áto vísvā abhí sám yāti samyátah || 15 || 14 ||

प्रो अयासीदिन्दुरिन्द्रस्य निष्कृतं सखा सख्युर्न प्र मिनाति संगिरम् ।
मर्य इव युवतिभिः समर्षति सोमः कलशे शतयाम्ना पथा ॥१६॥
प्र वो धियो मन्द्रयुवो विपन्युवः पनस्युवः संवसनेष्वक्रमुः ।
सोमं मनीषा अभ्यनूषत स्तुभोऽभि धेनवः पयसेमशिश्रयुः ॥१७॥
आ नः सोम संयतं पिप्युषीमिषमिन्दो पवस्व पवमानो अस्रिधम् ।
या नो दोहते त्रिरहन्नसश्चुषी क्षुमद्वाजवन्मधुमत्सुवीर्यम् ॥१८॥
वृषा मतीनां पवते विचक्षणः सोमो अह्नः प्रतरीतोषसो दिवः ।
क्राणा सिन्धूनां कलशाँ अवीवशदिन्द्रस्य हार्द्याविशन्मनीषिभिः ॥१९॥
मनीषिभिः पवते पूर्व्यः कविर्नृभिर्यतः परि कोशाँ अचिक्रदत् ।
त्रितस्य नाम जनयन्मधु क्षरदिन्द्रस्य वायोः सख्याय कर्तवे ॥२०॥

pró ayāsīd índur índrasya nishkritám sákhā sákhyur ná prá mināti samgíram | márya iva yuvatíbhih sám arshati sómah kaláse satáyāmnā pathā́ || 16 || prá vo dhíyo mandrayúvo vipanyúvah panasyúvah samvásaneshv akramuh | sómam manīshā́ abhy ànūshata stúbho 'bhí dhenávah páyasem asisrayuh || 17 || ā́ nah soma samyátam pipyúshīm ísham índo pávasva pávamāno asrídham | yā́ no dóhate trír áhann ásascushī kshumád vā́javan mádhumad suvíryam || 18 || vríshā matīnā́m pavate vicakshanáh sómo áhnah pratarītósháso diváh | krānā́ síndhūnām kalásāñ avīvasad índrasya hā́rdy āvisán manīshíbhih || 19 || manīshíbhih pavate pūrvyáh kavír nríbhir yatáh pári kósāñ acikradat | tritásya nā́ma janáyan mádhu ksharad índrasya vāyóh sakhyā́ya kártave || 20 || 15 ||

At first it genetrates the glorious body of the resplendent sun and gives great happiness to the sunshine. From that station, which is in the highest heaven, it comes victorious in all its encounters. 15

The divine elixir goes to the abode of the sun; as a friend, it does not betray the affection of his friend. As a young man meets maidens, so the effused elixir proceeds to meet by a hundred paths the cosmic pitcher. 16

Your exhilarating tuneful praises advance into the halls of worship; the praisers, the lords of intellect, invoke the elixir with their hymns and the milch kine approach it with their loving milk. 17

O radiant elixir, when purified, you pour upon us accumulated unwasting nutritious food, which without any hurdle is milked for us three times a day. Effusing out with sound, it yields for us the healthy strength, enriched with nourishment, sweetness, and virility. 18

The all-observant elixir is the showerer of blessings to its eulogists; it is the furtherer of the day, the dawn, and the sun, mixes with the waters of rivers and roars aloud; it enters the cosmic pitchers, penetrating the core of the sun. The wise invoke it with praises. 19

The ancient sage (the divine elixir) is purified by the wise guided by the priests, and it roars into the receptacles; eulogizing the name of the threefold (the sun or the resplendent Lord), it distils sweet juices to gain the friendship of the sun and wind. 20

॥१६॥ अ॒यं पु॑ना॒न उ॒षसो॒ वि रो॑चयद॒यं सिन्धु॑भ्यो अभवदु लोक॒कृत् ।
अ॒यं त्रिः स॒प्त दु॑दुहा॒न आ॒शिरं॒ सोमो॑ हृ॒दे प॑वते॒ चारु॑ मत्स॒रः ॥२१॥
पव॑स्व सोम दि॒व्येषु॒ धाम॑सु सृजा॒न इ॑न्दो क॒लशे॑ प॒वित्र॒ आ ।
सीद॒न्निन्द्र॑स्य ज॒ठरे॒ कनि॑क्रद॒न्नृभि॑र्य॒तः सूर्य॒मारो॑हयो दि॒वि ॥२२॥
अद्रि॑भिः सु॒तः प॑वसे प॒वित्र॒ आँ इन्द॒विन्द्र॑स्य ज॒ठरे॑ष्वावि॒शन् ।
त्वं नृ॒चक्षा॑ अभवो विचक्षण॒ सोम॑ गो॒त्रमङ्गि॑रोभ्योऽवृणो॒रप॑ ॥२३॥

ayám punāná usháso ví rocayad ayáṃ síndhubhyo abhavad u lokakṛít | ayáṃ tríḥ saptá duduhāná āṣíraṃ sómo hṛidé pavate cáru matsaráḥ || 21 || pávasva soma divyéshu dhámasu sṛijāná indo kaláṣe pavítra á | sídann índrasya jaṭháre kánikradan nṛíbhir yatáḥ sṻryam árohayo diví || 22 || ádribhiḥ sutáḥ pavase pavítra áñ índav índrasya jaṭháreshv āviṣán | tváṃ nṛicákshā abhavo vicakshaṇa sóma gotrám áṅgirobhyo 'vṛiṇor ápa || 23 ||

त्वां सो॑म॒ पव॑मानं स्वा॒ध्यो॒३॒॑ऽनु॒ विप्रा॑सो अमद॒न्नव॒स्यवः॑ ।
त्वां सु॑प॒र्ण आभ॑रद्दि॒वस्परी॑न्दो॒ विश्वा॑भिर्म॒तिभिः॒ परि॑ष्कृतम् ॥२४॥
अव्ये॑ पुना॒नं परि॒ वार॑ ऊ॒र्मिणा॒ हरिं॑ नवन्ते अ॒भि स॒प्त धे॒नवः॑ ।
अ॒पामु॒पस्थे॒ अध्या॒यवः॑ क॒विमृ॒तस्य॒ योना॑ महि॒षा अ॑हेषत ॥२५॥

tváṃ soma pávamānaṃ svādhyó 'nu víprāso amadann avasyávaḥ | tváṃ suparṇá ábharad divás paríndo víṣvābhir matíbhiḥ párishkṛitam || 24 || ávye punānáṃ pári vára ūrmíṇā háriṃ navante abhí saptá dhenávaḥ | apáṃ upásthe ádhy āyávaḥ kavím ṛitásya yónā mahishá aheshata || 25 || 16 ||

When purified, it is he who illumines the dawn; makes the path wide for the rivers to flow; this elixir makes three times seven celestial rivers pour out their curds and milk; it exhilarates and flows pleasantly to the heart. 21

Flow onward, O elixir, to your own heavenly abodes; flow, O sweet elixir, (proceed) to the cosmic pitcher, to the cosmic filter; may you, alighting upon the core of the sun with a roar, and in the midst of the chants of the priests, make the sun ascend the sky. 22

You are pressed out with the help of stones. O elixir, may you flow into the cosmic filter, and enter into the core of the resplendent. O elixir, the contemplator, you look upon mankind with affection, and you release the water (of the clouds) for the sustenance of cows and thus help the sacrificers. 23

O elixir, while being purified, the pious worshippers, desirous of preservation, glorify you (with their chants); the elegant falcon brings you from heaven; O elixir, meanwhile you are adorned with all praises. 24

The seven celestial rivers approach the green-tinted elixir, which flows purified in a stream through the cosmic fleecy filter. The enlightened men urge you, the sage, on the lap of the waters to the place of sacrifice (or mixed with water and milk, they offer your oblations). 25

॥१७॥ इन्दुः पुनानो अति गाहते मृधो विश्वानि कृण्वन्त्सुपथानि यज्यवे ।
गाः कृण्वानो निर्णिजं हर्यतः कविरत्यो न क्रीळन्परि वारमर्षति ॥२६॥
असश्चतः शतधारा अभिश्रियो हरिं नवन्तेऽव ता उदन्युवः ।
क्षिपो मृजन्ति परि गोभिरावृतं तृतीये पृष्ठे अधि रोचने दिवः ॥२७॥
तवेमाः प्रजा दिव्यस्य रेतसस्त्वं विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजसि ।
अथेदं विश्वं पवमान ते वशे त्वमिन्दो प्रथमो धामधा असि ॥२८॥

índuḥ punānó áti gāhate mṛidho víṣvāni kṛiṇván su-pát̄hāni yájyave | gáḥ kṛiṇvānó nirṇíjam haryatáḥ kavír átyo ná krīḷan pári vā́ram arshati || 26 || asaṣcátaḥ ṣatá-dhārā abhiṣríyo hárim navanté 'va tā́ udanyúvaḥ | kshípo mṛijanti pári góbhir ā́vṛitam tṛitī́ye pṛishṭhé ádhi rocané diváḥ || 27 || távemā́ḥ prajā́ divyásya rétasas tvám víṣvasya bhúvanasya rājasi | áthedám víṣvam pavamāna te váṣe tvám indo prathamó dhāmadhā́ asi || 28 ||

त्वं समुद्रो असि विश्ववित्कवे तवेमाः पञ्च प्रदिशो विधर्मणि ।
त्वं द्यां च पृथिवीं चाति जभ्रिषे तव ज्योतींषि पवमान सूर्यः ॥२९॥
त्वं पवित्रे रजसो विधर्मणि देवेभ्यः सोम पवमान पूयसे ।
त्वामुशिजः प्रथमा अगृभ्णत तुभ्येमा विश्वा भुवनानि येमिरे ॥३०॥

tvám samudró asi viṣva-vit kave távemā́ḥ páñca pradíṣo vídharmaṇi | tvám dyā́m ca pṛithivī́m cāti jabhrishe táva jyótī́nshi pavamāna sū́ryaḥ || 29 || tvám pavítre rájaso vídharmaṇi devébhyaḥ soma pavamāna pūyase | tvā́m uṣíjaḥ prathamā́ agṛibhṇata túbhyemā́ víṣvā bhúvanāni yemire || 30 || 17 ||

The divine elixir, purified, goes across all obstructions, making its way easy for all worshippers; with its fluid body, lovable and wise, it rushes through the cosmic filter like a sporting courser. 26

The ceaseless watery fountains with their hundred streams, commingle with the elixir, ever-seeking to mix with water. The sun's rays approach the green-tinted (elixir) and the swift fingers beautify it in the third sphere illumined by the sun. 27

All these are the offspring of your celestial affluence; you are the ruler of the entire world; so, O purified elixir, this universe is in your control; the divine elixir is the foremost, the first establisher of the eternal law. 28

O sage, you are the ocean, you are omniscient; these five regions rest on your support; you sustain both heaven and earth and O pure-flowing elixir, you nourish the sun and other luminaries. 29

O effused elixir, you are purified for the divine forces in the cosmic filter; you are the supporter of the world. The chief priests desiring benefits look to you alone, and all these worlds offer themselves to your service. 30

॥१८॥ प्र रेभ एत्यति वारमव्ययं वृषा वनेष्वव चक्रदुद्धरिः ।
सं धीतयो वावशाना अनूषत शिशुं रिहन्ति मतयः पनिप्नतम् ॥३१॥
स सूर्यस्य रश्मिभिः परि व्यत तन्तुं तन्वानस्त्रिवृतं यथा विदे ।
नयन्नृतस्य प्रशिषो नवीयसीः पतिर्जनीनामुप याति निष्कृतम् ॥३२॥
राजा सिन्धूनां पवते पतिर्दिव ऋतस्य याति पथिभिः कनिक्रदत् ।
सहस्रधारः परि षिच्यते हरिः पुनानो वाचं जनयन्नुपावसुः ॥३३॥

prá rebhá ety áti vā́ram avyáyam vŕishā váneshv áva cakradad dhárih | sám dhītáyo vāvaśānā́ anūshata śíśum rihanti matáyah pánipnatam || 31 || sá sū́ryasya raśmíbhih pári vyata tántum tanvānás trivṛ́tam yáthā vidé | náyann ṛtásya praśísho návīyasīh pátir jánīnām úpa yāti nishkṛtám || 32 || rā́jā síndhūnām pavate pátir divá ṛtásya yāti pathíbhih kánikradat | sahásradhārah pári shicyate hárih punānó vā́cam janáyann úpāvasuh || 33 ||

पवमान मह्यर्णो वि धावसि सूरो न चित्रो अव्ययानि पव्यया ।
गभस्तिपूतो नृभिरद्रिभिः सुतो महे वाजाय धन्याय धन्वसि ॥३४॥
इषमूर्जं पवमानाभ्यर्षसि श्येनो न वंसु कलशेषु सीदसि ।
इन्द्राय मद्वा मद्यो मदः सुतो दिवो विष्टम्भ उपमो विचक्षणः ॥३५॥

pávamāna máhy árno ví dhāvasi sū́ro ná citró ávyayāni pávyayā | gábhastipūto nṛ́bhir ádribhih sutó mahé vā́jāya dhányāya dhanvasi || 34 || ísham ū́rjam pavamānābhy àrshasi śyenó ná váṅsu kaláśeshu sīdasi | índrāya mádvā mádyo mádah sutó divó vishṭambhá upamó vicakshanáh || 35 || 18 ||

The hissing elixir passes through the cosmic fleecy filter; the green-tinted showerer mixes with water with a thrilling sound; hymns are chanted during the process and holy songs soothen the infant, as he cries. 31

It (the elixir) invests itself with the rays of the sun for its robe, stretching out the triple thread as it knows; guiding the recent adorations of the truthful (worshipper), the elixir, the protector of women, passes into the consecrated vessel. 32

The pure elixir, the sovereign of rivers, flows onward; the lord of heaven, it goes with a shout by the paths of the holy law; green-tinted and wealth-giver elixir is poured forth with its hundred streams, lifting up its voice while being filtered and purified. 33

O purified elixir, you pour forth abundant juice like the wonderful sun-rays, you approach the cosmic fleecy filter. Purified by the hands of the priests and expressed with the stones you flow forth for a mighty wealth-yielding struggle. 34

O flowing elixir, you grant abundant food and strength in streams. You alight on the cosmic pitchers like a falcon on its nest. Your exhilarating effused juice gives joy to the resplendent self and support to heaven, beholding (the entire world). 35

॥१९॥ सप्त स्वसारो अभि मातरः शिशुं नवं जज्ञानं जेन्यं विपश्चितम् ।
अपां गन्धर्वं दिव्यं नृचक्षसं सोमं विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजसे ॥३६॥
ईशान इमा भुवनानि वीयसे युजान इन्दो हरितः सुपर्ण्यः ।
तास्ते क्षरन्तु मधुमद्घृतं पयस्तव व्रते सोम तिष्ठन्तु कृष्टयः ॥३७॥

saptá svásāro abhí mātárah̩ śíśum̩ návam̩ jajñānám̩ jényam̩ vipaścítam | apā́m̩ gandharvám̩ divyám̩ nr̩icákshasam̩ sómam̩ víśvasya bhúvanasya rājáse || 36 || īśāná imā́ bhúvanāni víyase yujāná indo harítah̩ suparn̩yàh̩ | tā́s te ksharantu mádhumad ghr̩itám̩ páyas táva vraté soma tishthantu kr̩ishtáyah̩ || 37 ||

त्वं नृचक्षा असि सोम विश्वतः पवमान वृषभ ता वि धावसि ।
स नः पवस्व वसुमद्धिरण्यवद्वयं स्याम भुवनेषु जीवसे ॥३८॥
गोवित्पवस्व वसुविद्धिरण्यविद्रेतोधा इन्दो भुवनेष्वर्पितः ।
त्वं सुवीरो असि सोम विश्ववित्तं त्वा विप्रा उप गिरेम आसते ॥३९॥
उन्मध्व ऊर्मिर्वनना अतिष्ठिपदपो वसानो महिषो वि गाहते ।
राजा पवित्ररथो वाजमारुहत्सहस्रभृष्टिर्जयति श्रवो बृहत् ॥४०॥

tvám̩ nr̩icákshā asi soma viśvátah̩ pávamāna vr̩ishabha tā́ ví dhāvasi | sá nah̩ pavasva vásumad dhíranyavad vayám̩ syāma bhúvaneshu jīváse || 38 || govít pavasva vasuvíd dhiran̩yavíd retodhā́ indo bhúvaneshv árpitah̩ | tvám̩ suvíro asi soma viśvavít tám̩ tvā víprā úpa girémá āsate || 39 || ún mádhva ūrmír vanánā atishthipad apó vásāno mahishó ví gāhate | rā́jā pavítraratho vā́jam áruhat sahásrabhr̩ishtir jayati śrávo br̩ihát || 40 || 19 ||

The seven celestial sister mothers approach the new-born victorious sagacious infant, the spiritual elixir, abiding amidst the waters, supporter of water, divine, the beholder of men, so that he may become the ruler of the whole world. 36

O sovereign Lord, as you pass through these worlds, harnessing your well-winged steeds, let them pour forth sweet-flavoured shining sap; may all men, O spiritual elixir, abide in your decree. 37

O spiritual elixir, being everywhere, you behold men from every side; O purifier, the showerer, you wander through cosmic waters, may you pour forth upon us wealth, comprising various treasures and gold; may we have strength to live long in the worlds. 38

O divine elixir, the winner of cattle, wealth, and gold, the fructifier, may you, dressed with cosmic waters, flow onward. O elixir, you are a hero and omniscient; these sages invoke you with hymns of praises. 39

We are hearing the sound of the waves of sweet-flavoured elixir. Clothed in waters, the mighty one plunges (into the cosmic pitcher); the king, whose chariot is the cosmic filter, gets ready to proceed to battle, and armed with a thousand weapons, he wins ample sustenance (for us). 40

॥२०॥ स भन्दना उदियर्ति प्रजावतीर्विश्वायुर्विश्वाः सुभरा अहर्दिवि ।
ब्रह्म प्रजावद्रयिमश्वपस्त्यं पीत इन्दविन्द्रमस्मभ्यं याचतात् ॥४१॥
सो अग्रे अह्नां हरिर्हर्यतो मदः प्र चेतसा चेतयते अनु द्युभिः ।
द्वा जना यातयन्नन्तरीयते नरा च शंसं दैव्यं च धर्तरि ॥४२॥

sá bhandánā úd iyarti prajávatīr viṣváyür víṣvāḥ subhárā áhardivi | bráhma prajávad rayím áṣvapastyam pītá indav índram asmábhyaṃ yācatāt || 41 || só ágre áhnām hárir haryató mádaḥ prá cétasā cetayate ánu dyúbhiḥ | dvá jána yātáyann antár īyate nárā ca ṣáṅsaṃ daívyaṃ ca dhartári || 42 ||

अञ्जते व्यञ्जते समञ्जते क्रतुं रिहन्ति मधुनाभ्यञ्जते ।
सिन्धोरुच्छ्वासे पतयन्तमुक्षणं हिरण्यपावाः पशुमासु गृभ्णते ॥४३॥
विपश्चिते पवमानाय गायत मही न धारात्यन्धो अर्षति ।
अहिर्न जूर्णामति सर्पति त्वचमत्यो न क्रीळन्नसरद्वृषा हरिः ॥४४॥
अग्रेगो राजाप्यस्तविष्यते विमानो अह्नां भुवनेष्वर्पितः ।
हरिर्घृतस्नुः सुदृशीको अर्णवो ज्योतीरथः पवते राय ओक्यः ॥४५॥

añjáte vy añjate sám añjate krátuṃ rihanti mádhunābhy àñjate | síndhor ucchvāsé patáyantam ukshánaṃ hiraṇyapāváḥ paṣúm āsu gribhṇate || 43 || vipaṣcíte pávamānāya gāyata mahí ná dhárāty ándho arshati | áhir ná jurṇám áti sarpati tvácam átyo ná krīḷann asarad vrísha háriḥ || 44 || agregó rájāpy as tavishyate vimáno áhnām bhúvaneshv árpitaḥ | hárir ghritásnuḥ sudríṣīko arṇavó jyotírathaḥ pavate rāyá okyàḥ || 45 || 20 ||

All the days and all the nights are chanted the glories and praises of this elixir; these praises are easily borne and productive of prosperity; O elixir, when delighted, may you solicit the resplendent Lord to give us food productive of progeny and riches filling our homes. 41

During the early hours of the day, the golden-hued delightful exhilarating elixir is specifically beneficial to intellectuals. It shines during these hours. It elevates to high positions both the participants, the sacrificer and the chanter. 42

They, the priests, smear and grease, and anoint the effused elixir with milk. Nature's bounties enjoy the sweetness of the original invigorating sap. They smear it over with sweetened milk. They filter it through sheepwool, and plunge it into those waters, the sprinkler, the beholder, falling into the seething torrent. 43

Sing forth (O priests) to the intelligent elixir, who sends forth food like a mighty stream; like a snake, he glides out of his old skin. He, the showerer and green-tinted, comes to the receptacle like a sporting horse. 44

The divine elixir, foremost, radiant, dweller in cosmic water, placed in the firmament as the measurer of the days, is glorified; it is golden-hued, shedder of rain, charming, source of moisture, borne as if in a chariot of light. It is friendly and flows giving wealth to all house-holders. 45

॥२१॥ असर्जि स्कम्भो दिव उद्यतो मदः परि त्रिधातुर्भुवनान्यर्षति ।
अंशुं रिहन्ति मतयः पनिप्नतं गिरा यदि निर्णिजमृग्मिणो ययुः ॥४६॥
प्र ते धारा अत्यण्वानि मेष्यः पुनानस्य संयतो यन्ति रंहयः ।
यद्गोभिरिन्दो चम्वोः समज्यस आ सुवानः सोम कलशेषु सीदसि ॥४७॥
पवस्व सोम क्रतुविन्न उक्थ्योऽव्यो वारे परि धाव मधु प्रियम् ।
जहि विश्वान्रक्षस इन्दो अत्रिणो बृहद्वदेम विदथे सुवीराः ॥४८॥

asarji skambhó divá údyato mádaḥ pári tridhátur bhúvanāny arshati | aṅsúṃ rihanti matáyaḥ pánipnatam girá yádi nirṇíjam ṛigmíṇo yayúḥ || 46 || prá te dhárā áty áṇvāni meshyàḥ punānásya saṃyáto yanti ráṅhayaḥ | yád góbhir indo camvòḥ samajyása á suvānáḥ soma kaláseshu sīdasi || 47 || pávasva soma kratuvín na ukthyó 'vyo váre pári dhāva mádhu priyám | jahí vísvān rakshása indo atríṇo bṛihád vadema vidáthe suvíraḥ || 48 || 21 ||

(८७) सप्ताशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काव्य उशना ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२२॥ प्र तु द्रव परि कोशं नि षीद नृभिः पुनानो अभि वाजमर्ष ।
अश्वं न त्वा वाजिनं मर्जयन्तोऽच्छा बर्ही रशनाभिर्नयन्ति ॥१॥
स्वायुधः पवते देव इन्दुरशस्तिहा वृजनं रक्षमाणः ।
पिता देवानां जनिता सुदक्षो विष्टम्भो दिवो धरुणः पृथिव्याः ॥२॥

87.

Prá tú drava pári kóṣaṃ ní shīda nṛíbhiḥ punānó abhí vájam arsha | áṣvaṃ ná tvā vājínam marjáyantó 'cha barhí raṣanábhir nayanti || 1 || svayudháḥ pavate devá índur aṣastihá vṛijánaṃ rákshamāṇaḥ | pitá devánaṃ janitá sudáksho vishṭambhó divó dharúṇaḥ pṛithivyáḥ || 2 ||

This divine exhilarating elixir, the supporter of heaven, has been let loose. The triply-mingled juice rushes to the waters; the intelligent worshippers caress the elixir which comes out with a hissing sound, and recite hymns in his praise. The chanters of verses approach the embodied beverage with songs and prayers. 46

The rapid streams that flow forth are collected together, and allowed to pass through the interstices of the cosmic fleecy filter. After effusion, O elixir, you are mixed with water in the ladles and come down to the pitchers (and stored and stocked there). 47

Flow for us, O elixir of divine love, cognizant of our worship and deserving praise; pour your beloved, sweet-flavoured juice upon the cosmic fleecy texture for filtration, O elixir, destroy all the voracious wicked forces. Blessed with excellent male offsprings, may we offer ample praises at the congregational gathering. 48

87

Flow fast, O elixir, and settle down in the cosmic receptacle. Purified by the priests, come forward to provide us with food. They cleanse you like a strong courser and lead you to the place of worship with fingers as if a horse led with reins. 1

The divine well-armed elixir flows onward, it destroys the wicked and guards us from trecherous onslaught. It is the protector of the divine powers, the progenitor, powerful prop of heaven and earth's support. 2

ऋषिर्विप्रः पुरएता जनानामृभुर्धीर उशना काव्येन ।
स चिद्विवेद निहितं यदासामपीच्यं१ गुह्यं नाम गोनाम् ॥३॥
एष स्य ते मधुमाँ इन्द्र सोमो वृषा वृष्णे परि पवित्रे अक्षाः ।
सहस्रसाः शतसा भूरिदावा शश्वत्तमं बर्हिरा वाज्यस्थात् ॥४॥
एते सोमा अभि गव्या सहस्रा महे वाजायामृताय श्रवांसि ।
पवित्रेभिः पवमाना असृग्रञ्छ्रवस्यवो न पृतनाजो अत्याः ॥५॥

ríshir vípraḥ puraetá jánānām ribhúr dhíra uṣána kávyena | sá cid viveda níhitam yád āsām apīcyàm gúhyam náma gónām || 3 || eshá syá te mádhumāñ indra sómo vríshā vríshṇe pári pavítre akshāḥ | sahasrasáḥ ṣatasá bhūridávā ṣaṣvattamám barhír á vājy àsthāt || 4 || eté sómā abhí gavyá sahásrā mahé vájāyāmrítāya ṣrávāṅsi | pavítrebhiḥ pávamānā asrigrañ chravasyávo ná pritanájo átyāḥ || 5 || 22 ||

॥२३॥ परि हि ष्मा पुरुहूतो जनानां विश्वासरद्भोजना पूयमानः ।
अथा भर श्येनभृत प्रयांसि रयिं तुञ्जानो अभि वाजमर्ष ॥६॥
एष सुवानः परि सोमः पवित्रे सर्गो न सृष्टो अदधावदर्वा ।
तिग्मे शिशानो महिषो न शृङ्गे गा गव्यन्नभि शूरो न सत्वा ॥७॥
एषा ययौ परमादन्तरद्रेः कूचित्सतीरूर्वे गा विवेद ।
दिवो न विद्युत्स्तनयन्त्यभ्रैः सोमस्य ते पवत इन्द्र धारा ॥८॥

pári hí shmā puruhūtó jánānām víṣvásarad bhójanā pūyámānaḥ | áthā bhara ṣyenabhrita práyāṅsi rayím túñjāno abhí vájam arsha || 6 || eshá suvānáḥ pári sómaḥ pavítre sárgo ná srishṭó adadhāvad árvā | tigmé ṣiṣāno mahishó ná ṣríṅge gá gavyánn abhí ṣúro ná sátvā || 7 || eshá yayau paramád antár ádreḥ kúcit satír ūrvé gá viveda | divó ná vidyút stanáyanty abhraíḥ sómasya te pavata indra dhárā || 8 ||

The seer, the sage, the champion of men, deft and sagacious, and brilliantly intelligent, such a poet by his poetic gift, (or a seer by the divine enlightenment) discovers the secret knowledge of those Vedic hymns, the socalled secret milk of those cows, which lies hidden and concealed. 3

For you, O resplendent self, the showerer, this sweet-flavoured elixir, has been poured into the cosmic filter; the giver of thousand-fold wealth, the giver of hundred-fold wealth, the giver of abundant wealth, the liberal and powerful is present at the eternal cosmic sacrifice. 4

These divine elixirs, moving in the direction of thousand viands produced by kine, are purified at the cosmic filter. They are let loose for securing ample food and ambrosia, like horses rushing to the battle for glorious victory. 5

Invoked by many, the elixir under-going purification pours forth all food and sustenance (for everyone of us). Brought on the earth by a divine falcon, may you bring us dainty viands and wealth from all sides. May you send forth such a juice of yours. 6

When effused, this quick-flowing elixir hastens to the cosmic filter, like a steed let loose; whilst alighting, it rushes like a buffalo sharpening his pointed horns, or like a brave warrior in search of cattle. 7

This stream of elixir issues forth from a high region and finds treasure of kine hidden somewhere in the self, the cave within the mountain. The stream of elixir flows for you, O resplendent self, like lightning thundering through the clouds of the midspace. 8

उत स्म राशिं परि यासि गोनामिन्द्रेण सोम सरथं पुनानः ।
पूर्वीरिषो बृहतीर्जीरदानो शिक्षा शचीवस्तव ता उपष्टुत् ॥९॥

utá sma rāṣím pári yāsi gónām índreṇa soma sarátham punānáḥ | pūrvír ísho brihatír jīradāno ṣíkshā ṣacīvas táva tá upashṭút || 9 || 23 ||

(८८) अष्टाशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काव्य उशना ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ अयं सोम इन्द्र तुभ्यं सुन्वे तुभ्यं पवते त्वमस्य पाहि ।
त्वं ह यं चकृषे त्वं ववृष इन्दुं मदाय युज्याय सोमम् ॥१॥
स ईं रथो न भुरिषाळयोजि महः पुरूणि सातये वसूनि ।
आदीं विश्वा नहुष्याणि जाता स्वर्षाता वन ऊर्ध्वा नवन्त ॥२॥
वायुर्न यो नियुत्वाँ इष्टयामा नासत्येव हव आ शंभविष्ठः ।
विश्ववारो द्रविणोदा इव त्मन्पूषेव धीजवनोऽसि सोम ॥३॥
इन्द्रो न यो महा कर्माणि चक्रिर्हन्ता वृत्राणामसि सोम पूर्भित् ।
पैद्वो न हि त्वमहिनाम्नां हन्ता विश्वस्यासि सोम दस्योः ॥४॥

88.

Ayáṃ sóma indra túbhyaṃ sunve túbhyam pavate tvám asya pāhi | tváṃ ha yáṃ cakrishé tváṃ vavrishá índum mádāya yújyāya sómam || 1 || sá īṃ rátho ná bhurisháḷ ayoji maháḥ purúṇi sātáye vásūni | ád īṃ víṣvā nahushyāṇi jatá svàrshātā vána ūrdhvá navanta || 2 || vāyúr ná yó niyútvāñ ishṭáyamā násatyeva háva á ṣámbhavishṭhaḥ | viṣvávaro draviṇodá iva tmán pushéva dhījávano 'si soma || 3 || índro ná yó mahá kármāṇi cákrir hantá vritráṇām asi soma pur-bhít | paidvó ná hí tvám áhinamnāṃ hantá víṣvasyasi soma dásyoḥ || 4 ||

And being purified, O elixir, you go to the herd of cattle. You and the resplendent self are seated in the same chariot. O prompt-giver, give us, when invoked, plentiful and abundant food, as you are the master of all viands. 9

88

The elixir is expressed for you, O resplendent self; for you it is filtered; may you drink it; it is the delightful elixir, which you yourself have prepared; you have chosen for your exhilaration; it is verily your companion. 1

It has been harnessed like a capacious car that bears abundant treasures to be given to us; it helps everyone of us among men to triumph in the great struggles of life; there it helps its votaries. 2

O elixir, like the wind with its steeds, you go to your destination at pleasure, and like evertrue divines, you grant your devotees abundant felicity when invoked. You have been accepted by all of us as the giver of wealth. Like the supreme nourisher, you are always prompt to help the needy with the speed of mind. 3

O elixir, like the resplendent self, you perform mighty acts; you are the slayer of the wicked and the destroyer of their strongholds. Like the horse of an adventure, you are the killer of serpent, the nescience; you are the eliminator of every evil. 4

अग्निर्न यो वन आ सृज्यमानो वृथा पाजांसि कृणुते नदीषु ।
जनो न युध्वा महत उपब्दिरियर्ति सोमः पवमान ऊर्मिम् ॥५॥
एते सोमा अति वाराण्यव्या दिव्या न कोशासो अभ्रवर्षाः ।
वृथा समुद्रं सिन्धवो न नीचीः सुतासो अभि कलशाँ असृग्रन् ॥६॥
शुष्मी शर्धो न मारुतं पवस्वानभिशस्ता दिव्या यथा विट् ।
आपो न मक्षू सुमतिर्भवा नः सहस्राप्साः पृतनाषाण्न यज्ञः ॥७॥
राज्ञो नु ते वरुणस्य व्रतानि बृहद्गभीरं तव सोम धाम ।
शुचिष्ट्वमसि प्रियो न मित्रो दक्षाय्यो अर्यमेवासि सोम ॥८॥

agnír ná yó vána ā́ sṛijyámāno vṛ́ithā pā́jāṅsi kṛiṇute nadī́shu | jáno ná yúdhvā mahatá upabdír íyarti sómaḥ pávamāna ūrmím || 5 || eté sómā áti vā́rāṇy ávyā divyā́ ná kóṣāso abhrávarshāḥ | vṛ́ithā samudrám síndhavo ná nī́cīḥ sutā́so abhí kaláṣāñ asṛigran || 6 || ṣushmī́ ṣárdho ná mā́rutam pavasvā́nabhiṣastā divyā́ yáthā víṭ | ā́po ná makshū́ sumatír bhavā naḥ sahásrāpsāḥ pṛitanāshā́ṇ ná yajñáḥ || 7 || rā́jño nú te váruṇasya vratā́ni — || 8 || २४ ||

(८९) एकोननवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काव्य उशना ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ प्रो स्य वह्निः पथ्याभिरस्यान्दिवो न वृष्टिः पवमानो अक्षाः ।
सहस्रधारो असदन्न्य१स्मे मातुरुपस्थे वन आ च सोमः ॥१॥

89.

Pró syá váhniḥ pathyā̀bhir asyān divó ná vṛishṭíḥ pávamāno akshāḥ | sahásradhāro asadan ny àsmé mātúr upásthe vána ā́ ca sómaḥ || 1 ||

O elixir, you are born in a forest like fire; you easily manifest your might in the running waters; you are like a warrior who fights roaring against his mighty foe; O elixir, you give rise to ripples while being purified and filtered. 5

These elixir-juices pass through the cosmic fleecy filter. Like rains from heaven, they are showered from the height. The effused juices flow promptly to the cosmic pitchers, as rivers running downwards flow into the ocean. 6

O elixir, strong as you are like the army of the cloud-bearing winds, may you flow forth. You are blameless as innocent folk. May you become quickly favourable to us like waters. You are verily of a thousand forms, adorable like the resplendent self and the victor in battle. 7

Your acts are like those of the royal sovereign, vast and profound; nectar is your abode; you are pure as the beloved sun, and munificent, O elixir, like a great ordainer. 8

89

This effused elixir moves forth along the cosmic paths like a horse of burden; when purified, you, O elixir, flow like the rain from heaven; the thousand-streamed elixir rests in the cosmic family as if on its mother's lap in the cosmic water. 1

राजा सिन्धूनामवसिष्ट वास ऋतस्य नावमारुहद्रजिष्ठाम् ।
अप्सु द्रप्सो वावृधे श्येनजूतो दुह ईं पिता दुह ईं पितुर्जाम् ॥२॥
सिंहं नसन्त मध्वो अयासं हरिमरुषं दिवो अस्य पतिम् ।
शूरो युत्सु प्रथमः पृच्छते गा अस्य चक्षसा परि पात्युक्षा ॥३॥
मधुपृष्ठं घोरमयासमश्वं रथे युञ्जन्त्युरुचक्र ऋष्वम् ।
स्वसार ईं जामयो मर्जयन्ति सनाभयो वाजिनमूर्जयन्ति ॥४॥

rā́jā síndhūnām avasishṭa vā́sa ṛitásya nā́vam ā́ruhad rájishṭhām | apsú drapsó vāvṛidhe ṣyenájūto duhá īm pitā́ duhá īm pitúr jā́m || 2 || siṅhám nasanta mádhvo ayā́saṃ hárim arushám divó asyá pátim | ṣū́ro yutsú prathamáḥ pṛichate gā́ ásya cákshasā pári pāty ukshā́ || 3 || mádhupṛishṭham ghorám ayā́sam áṣvaṃ ráthe yuñjanty urucakrá ṛishvám | ṣvásāra īṃ jāmáyo marjayanti sánābhayo vājínam ūrjayanti || 4 ||

चतस्र ईं घृतदुहः सचन्ते समाने अन्तर्धरुणे निषत्ताः ।
ता ईमर्षन्ति नमसा पुनानास्ता ईं विश्वतः परि षन्ति पूर्वीः ॥५॥
विष्टम्भो दिवो धरुणः पृथिव्या विश्वा उत क्षितयो हस्ते अस्य ।
असत्त उत्सो गृणते नियुत्वान्मध्वो अंशुः पवत इन्द्रियाय ॥६॥
वन्वन्नवातो अभि देववीतिमिन्द्राय सोम वृत्रहा पवस्व ।
शग्धि महः पुरुश्चन्द्रस्य रायः सुवीर्यस्य पतयः स्याम ॥७॥

cátasra īṃ ghṛitadúhaḥ sacante samāné antár dharúṇe níshattāḥ | tā́ īm arshanti námasā punānā́s tā́ īṃ viṣvátaḥ pári shanti pūrvī́ḥ || 5 || vishṭambhó divó dharúṇaḥ pṛithivyā́ víṣvā utá kshitáyo háste asya | ásat ta útso gṛiṇaté niyútvān mádhvo aṅṣúḥ pavata indriyā́ya || 6 || vanvánn ávāto abhí devávītim índrāya soma vṛitrahā́ pavasva | ṣagdhí maháḥ puruṣcandrásya rāyáḥ suvī́ryasya pátayaḥ syāma || 7 || 25 ||

The sovereign divine elixir has put on the vestment of the cosmic vapours. The ship it ascends constitutes of eternal truth in matters of sacrifice; the dripping juice, brought by the celestial falcon, mixes with waters; the father, the heavenly Lord, milks him-milks him, the son of the father firmament. 2

The worshippers press out the lion-like elixir, which mixes with water, is green-tinted, shining and the protector of this heaven; it is a foremost hero in battles; among the divinities, it is the first to recover the stolen cows (the lost wisdom); by his might, the showerer, the resplendent Lord, is our protector. 3

The priests harness to the broad-wheeled car of universe, the glossy-backed, terrible, active, graceful courser—the sun; sister fingers, ten in number, cleanse him, and men strengthen this vigorous car of the sun by invocations. 4

The four yielders of butter (the cows) wait upon it, staying in a common shed; being purified, these cows approach the elixir with food and they surround it in numbers from every side. 5

(The elixir is) the prop of heaven, supporter of earth and in its hands, lies the well-being of us all. May you, the fountain (of prosperity) be possessed of energy (or horses), to be awarded to your adorers. The filament of the sweet-flavoured elixir is purified for our winning strength. 6

O elixir, ever victorious, never accepting a defeat, may you approach the congregation of friendship with divine forces; you are the destroyer of evils. May you flow for the satisfaction of the resplendent Lord; grant us abundant and splendid wealth. May we be masters of heroic vigour. 7

(९०) नवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मैत्रावरुणिर्वसिष्ठ ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ प्र हिन्वानो जनिता रोदस्यो रथो न वाजं सनिष्यन्नयासीत् ।
इन्द्रं गच्छन्नायुधा संशिशानो विश्वा वसु हस्तयोरादधानः ॥१॥
अभि त्रिपृष्ठं वृषणं वयोधामाङ्गूषाणामवावशन्त वाणीः ।
वना वसानो वरुणो न सिन्धून्वि रत्नधा दयते वार्याणि ॥२॥
शूरग्रामः सर्ववीरः सहावाञ्जेता पवस्व सनिता धनानि ।
तिग्मायुधः क्षिप्रधन्वा समत्स्वषाळ्हः साह्वान्पृतनासु शत्रून् ॥३॥

90.

Prá hinvānó janitá ródasyo rátho ná vájam sanishyánn ayāsīt | índram gáchann áyudhā samsísano vísvā vásu hástayor ādádhānaḥ || 1 || abhí triprishthám vríshaṇam vayodhám āṅgūshánām avāvaṣanta vánīḥ | vánā vásāno váruṇo ná síndhūn ví ratnadhá dayate váryāṇi || 2 || ṣúragrāmaḥ sárvavīraḥ sáhāvāñ jétā pavasva sánitā dhánāni | tigmáyudhaḥ kshiprádhanvā samátsv áshāḷhaḥ sāhván prítanāsu ṣátrūn || 3 ||

उरुगव्यूतिरभयानि कृण्वन्त्समीचीने आ पवस्वा पुरन्धी ।
अपः सिषासन्नुषसः स्व१र्गाः सं चिक्रदो महो अस्मभ्यं वाजान् ॥४॥
मत्सि सोम वरुणं मत्सि मित्रं मत्सीन्द्रमिन्दो पवमान विष्णुम् ।
मत्सि शर्धो मारुतं मत्सि देवान्मत्सि महामिन्द्रमिन्दो मदाय ॥५॥
एवा राजेव क्रतुमाँ अमेन विश्वा घनिघ्नद्दुरिता पवस्व ।
इन्दो सूक्ताय वचसे वयो धा यूयं पात स्वस्तिभिः सदा नः ॥६॥

urúgavyūtir ábhayāni krinván samīciné á pavasvā púramdhī | apáḥ síshāsann ushásaḥ svàr gáḥ sám cikrado mahó asmábhyam vájān || 4 || mátsi soma váruṇam mátsi mitrám mátsíndram indo pavamāna víshṇum | mátsi ṣárdho márutam mátsi deván mátsi mahám índram indo mádāya || 5 || evá rájeva krátumāñ ámena víṣvā ghánighnad duritá pavasva | índo sūktáya vácase váyo dhā yūyám pāta svastíbhiḥ sádā naḥ || 6 || 26 ||

90

Urged and invoked, the elixir is the generator of heaven andearth; always keen to distribute food, it moves forward. Sharpening its weapons, it takes the control of the entire wealth in its hands, and goes to the resplendent self. 1

The voices of the worshippers resound about this divine, who is triple-backed, is the showerer of benefits and is the giver of food. It is arrayed in waters (i.e. the elixir is mixed with water) as if the rivers meeting the ocean. May the elixir, the possessor of precious gems and jewels, bestow on us much desired riches. 2

Flow on your way as a leader of a host of warriors, all ardent and heroic; the elixir is full of strength, victorious, giver of riches, sharp-weaponed, a bowman efficient and quick, irresistible in battle, and who overthrows the hostile army. 3

Flow on your way as the one whose paths are broad, who gives security and unites heaven and earth. It keeps well in order and discipline the dawns, the sun, the radiations. For this it cries aloud. May he, the elixir, give us ample food. 4

O elixir, may you exhilarate ocean, exhilarate the sun; O flowing elixir, exhilarate lightning and wind, exhilarate the company of clouds, exhilarate all the divines; may you glorify the mighty universal self for his rejoicing. 5

Thus like a king, performing your functions, flow on, O elixir, destroying all evils by your might: O elixlr, give food in response to our well-recited praises; may you cherish us ever with your blessings. 6

(९१) एकनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्डचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मारीचः कश्यप ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

असर्जि वक्वा रथ्ये यथाजौ धिया मनोता प्रथमो मनीषी ।
दश स्वसारो अधि सानो अव्येऽजन्ति वह्निं सदनान्यच्छ ॥१॥
वीती जनस्य दिव्यस्य कव्यैरधि सुवानो नहुष्येभिरिन्दुः ।
प्र यो नृभिरमृतो मर्त्येभिर्मर्मृजानोऽविभिर्गोभिरद्भिः ॥२॥

91.

Asarji vákvā ráthye yáthājaú dhiyá manótā prathamó manīshí | dáṣa svásāro ádhi sā́no ávyé 'janti váhnim sáda nāny ácha || 1 || vītí jánasya divyásya kavyaír ádhi suvānó nahushyèbhir índuḥ | prá yó nṛíbhir amṛíto mártyebhir marmṛijānó 'vibhir góbhir adbhíḥ || 2 ||

वृषा वृष्णे रोरुवदंशुरस्मै पवमानो रुशदीर्ते पयो गोः ।
सहस्रमृक्वा पथिभिर्वचोविदध्वस्मभिः सूरो अण्वं वि याति ॥३॥
रुजा दृळ्हा चिद्रक्षसः सदांसि पुनान इन्द ऊर्णुहि वि वाजान् ।
वृश्चोपरिष्टात्तुजता वधेन ये अन्ति दूरादुपनायमेषाम् ॥४॥
स प्रत्नवन्नव्यसे विश्ववार सूक्ताय पथः कृणुहि प्राचः ।
ये दुष्षहासो वनुषा बृहन्तस्तांस्ते अश्याम पुरुकृत्पुरुक्षो ॥५॥

vṛíshā vṛíshṇe ró-ruvad aṅṣúr asmai pávamāno rúṣad īrte páyo góḥ | sa-hásram ṛíkvā pathíbhir vacovíd adhvasmábhiḥ sū́ro áṇvaṃ ví yāti || 3 || rujá dṛiḷhá cid rakshásaḥ sádāṅsi punāná inda urṇuhi ví vájān | vṛiṣcópárishṭāt tujatá vadhéna yé ánti durád upanāyám eshām || 4 || sá pratnaván návyase viṣva-vara suktáya patháḥ kṛiṇuhi prácaḥ | yé duḥsháhāso va-núshā bṛihántas tā́ṅs te aṣyāma purukṛit puruksho || 5 ||

91

Just as in a race, the chariots are let loose at the signal of a sound, so during the sacrifice, the sap from the stems of the elixir is effused out after the recitation of certain hymns of prayers. The sacrifice is led by a chosen learned priest. The ten fingers cleanse the plant, and the extract of the stems is brought to the fleecy filter, and the purified shining juice is carried to the properly assigned place. 1

The purified juice of the elixir, effused out by enlightened mortals is brought to the place of sacrifice to be used as a nourishing food of the celestial people (i.e. for nourishing the participants in the sacrifice, as well as for sustaining divine natural forces in cosmos). The elixir is divine and immortal though effused and purified by mortal (priests). It has been filtered through the cosmic fleecy filter, mixed with water and strengthened with milk and curds. 2

The divine elixir, the showerer of blessings, while being purified, goes roaring to mix with the shining milk of cow. Greeted with laudation, cognizant of sacred praise, the elixir passes through the filter by a thousand imperishable pathways. 3

O divine elixir, when purified, put on the strength and demolish the strong dwellings of demoniac adversaries, whether they come from above, from near or from far; destroy their leaders as well, destroy all their forces. 4

O universally adorable, may you as of old rennovate old paths on new lines, teach old traditions to your new worshippers. O doer of many acts, praised through numerous hymns, may we obtain such blessings and portions from you as are difficult to defeat, and being mighty, may you inflict injury on our foes. 5

एवा पुनानो अपः स्वर्गा अस्मभ्यं तोका तनयानि भूरि ।
शं नः क्षेत्रमुरु ज्योतींषि सोम ज्योङ्नः सूर्यं दृशये रिरीहि ॥६॥

evá punānó apáḥ svàr gā́ asmábhyam toká tánayāni bhū́ri | śáṃ naḥ kshétram urú jyótīṅshi soma jyóṅ naḥ sū́ryaṃ driśáye rirīhi || 6 || 1 ||

(९२) द्विनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्ृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मारीचः कश्यप ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२॥ परि सुवानो हरिरंशुः पवित्रे रथो न सर्जि सनये हियानः ।
आपच्छ्लोकमिन्द्रियं पूयमानः प्रति देवाँ अजुषत प्रयोभिः ॥१॥
अच्छा नृचक्षा असरत्पवित्रे नाम दधानः कविरस्य योनौ ।
सीदन्होतेव सदने चमूषूपेमग्मन्नृषयः सप्त विप्राः ॥२॥
प्र सुमेधा गातुविद्विश्वदेवः सोमः पुनानः सद एति नित्यम् ।
भुवद्विश्वेषु काव्येषु रन्तानु जनान्यतते पञ्च धीरः ॥३॥
तव त्ये सोम पवमान निण्ये विश्वे देवास्त्रय एकादशासः ।
दश स्वधाभिरधि सानो अव्ये मृजन्ति त्वा नद्यः सप्त यह्वीः ॥४॥

92

Pári suvānó hárir aṅśúḥ pavítre rátho ná sarji sanáye hiyānáḥ | ápac chlókam indriyám pūyámānaḥ práti devā́ñ ajushata práyobhiḥ || 1 || áchā nricákshā asarat pavítre nā́ma dádhānaḥ kavír asya yónau | sī́dan hóteva sádane camū́shū́pem agmann ríshayaḥ saptá víprāḥ || 2 || prá sumedhā́ gātuvíd viśvádevaḥ sómaḥ punānáḥ sáda eti nítyam | bhúvad víśveshu kā́vyeshu rántānu jánān yatate páñca dhī́raḥ || 3 || táva tyé soma pavamāna niṇyé víśve devā́s tráya ekādaśā́saḥ | dáśa svadhā́bhir ádhi sā́no ávye mrijánti tvā nadyàḥ saptá yahvī́ḥ || 4 ||

Thus being purified, bestow upon us the light of heaven and earth, and grant many sons and grandsons; give us health, ample land and bright luminaries and grant us long life to see the sunshine years after years. 6

92

The golden-hued elixir, effused, activated and urged, comes to the cosmic filter as a chariot to the battle-field for the acquisition of riches; being filtered, it listens to the praise of the resplendent self and gratifies Nature's bounties with sustenance. 1

He who beholds men and retains the water, proceeds to his place on the cosmic filter like a ministrant priest sitting at the worship. The elixir flows to its cups; the seven wise seers approach it with praise. 2

The elixir, the intelligent, the knower of the right path, accompanied by all divine forces, goes to its abode (the receptacle) after purification. Let it rejoice in all sacred praises. The sage elixir endeavours to satisfy all the five classes of beings (the intelligentsia, the warriors, the traders, the labour, and the unclassified). 3

O flowing elixir, the thrice eleven (33) universal divine entities live in your secret heaven, the ten fingers cleanse you with the waters upon the elevated cosmic fleecy filter; the seven great rivers provide water (for cleansing purposes). 4

तन्नु सत्यं पवमानस्यास्तु यत्र विश्वे कारवः संनसन्त ।
ज्योतिर्यदह्ने अकृणोदु लोकं प्रावन्मनुं दस्यवे करभीकम् ॥५॥
परि सद्मेव पशुमान्ति होता राजा न सत्यः समितीरियानः ।
सोमः पुनानः कलशाँ अयासीत्सीदन्मृगो न महिषो वनेषु ॥६॥

tán nú satyám pávamānasyāstu yátra víṣve kārávaḥ saṃnásanta | jyótir yád áhne ákriṇod u lokám právan mánuṃ dásyave kar abhíkam || 5 || pári sádmeva paṣumánti hótā rája ná satyáḥ sámitīr iyānáḥ | sómaḥ punānáḥ kaláṣāñ ayāsīt sídan mrigó ná mahishó vánesliu || 6 || २ ||

(९.३) त्रिनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गोतमो नोधा ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ साकमुक्षो मर्जयन्त स्वसारो दश धीरस्य धीतयो धनुत्रीः ।
हरिः पर्यद्रवज्जाः सूर्यस्य द्रोणं ननक्षे अत्यो न वाजी ॥१॥
सं मातृभिर्न शिशुर्वावशानो वृषा दधन्वे पुरुवारो अद्भिः ।
मर्यो न योषामभि निष्कृतं यन्त्सं गच्छते कलश उस्रियाभिः ॥२॥
उत प्र पिप्य ऊधरघ्न्याया इन्दुर्धाराभिः सचते सुमेधाः ।
मूर्धानं गावः पयसा चमूष्वभि श्रीणन्ति वसुभिर्न निक्तैः ॥३॥

93.

Sākamúksho marjayanta svásāro dáṣa dhírasya dhītáyo dhánutrīḥ | háriḥ páry adravaj jáḥ sū́ryasya drónaṃ nanakshe átyo ná vājí || 1 || sám mātríbhir ná ṣíṣur vāvaṣānó vríshā dadhanve puruváro adbhíḥ | máryo ná yóshām abhí nishkritám yán sám gachate kaláṣa usríyābhiḥ || 2 || utá prá pipya ū́dhar ághnyāyā índur dhárābhiḥ sacate sumedháḥ | mūrdhánam gávaḥ páyasā camū́shv abhí ṣrīṇanti vásubhir ná niktaíḥ || 3 ||

May that truthful place (i.e. the sacrifice) of the flowing elixir be quickly ours, where all the worshippers assemble. That very light which brightens the day protects the mankind also. The elixir utilizes its effulgence for the destruction of non-believers and malicious persons. 5

As the ministrant priest proceeds to the house, full of kine and cattle, or just as the king, pledged for truth and justice, comes to parliament, or just as a buffalo comes to waters, so the divine elixir comes to the pitchers. 6

93

Ten sister-like fingers, ten in number, of cosmic hand, sprinkling together, are the cleanser and effuser of this sagacious elixir, which flows round in the entire space (along all the cardinal points). Born of the sun, the elixir hastens to the pitcher like a swift horse. 1

The showerer of blessings (the divine elixir), loved by all and longing to meet divines, is sustained by the consecrated waters as the infant by its mother. Going to its resting place, like a youth to meet his damsel, it mixes in the cosmic reservoir with milk and curds. 2

And it nourishes the milch-cow's udder; the sagacious elixir is poured down in streams; the cows clothe the elevated elixir in the ladles with their milk as with newly washed dresses. 3

स नो॑ दे॒वेभि॑ः पवमान र॒देन्दो॑ र॒यिम॒श्विनं॑ वावशा॒नः ।
र॒थि॒रा॒य॒तामु॑श॒ती पुर॑न्धिरस्म॒द्र्य१॒॑गा दा॒वने॒ वसू॑नाम् ॥४॥
नू नो॑ र॒यिमुप॑ मास्व नृ॒वन्तं॑ पुना॒नो वा॒ताप्यं॑ वि॒श्वश्च॑न्द्रम् ।
प्र व॑न्दि॒तुरि॑न्दो ता॒र्यायु॑ः प्रा॒तर्म॒क्षू धि॒याव॑सुर्जगम्यात् ॥५॥

sá no devébhiḥ pavamāna radéndo rayím aṣvínam vāvaṣānáḥ | rathirāyátām uṣatí púraṃdhir asmadryàg ā́ dāváne vásūnām || 4 || nū́ no rayím úpa māsva nṛivántam punānó vātápyam viṣváṣcandram | prá vanditúr indo tāry ā́yuḥ prātár makshū́ dhiyā́vasur jagamyāt || 5 || 3 ||

(९४) चतुर्नवतितमं सूक्तम्
(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः कण्व ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥

अधि॒ यद॑स्मिन्वा॒जिनी॑व॒ शुभ॒ः स्पर्ध॑न्ते॒ धिय॒ः सूर्ये॒ न विश॑ः ।
अ॒पो वृ॑णा॒नः प॑वते कवी॒यन्व्र॒जं न प॑शु॒वर्ध॑नाय॒ मन्म॑ ॥१॥
द्वि॒ता व्यू॒र्ण्वन्न॒मृत॑स्य॒ धाम॑ स्व॒र्विदे॒ भुव॑नानि प्रथन्त ।
धिय॑ः पिन्वा॒नाः स्वस॑रे॒ न गाव॑ ऋता॒यन्ती॑र॒भि वा॑वश्र॒ इन्दु॑म् ॥२॥

94.

Ádhi yád asmin vājínīva ṣúbha spárdhante dhíyaḥ sū́rye ná víṣaḥ | apó vriṇānáḥ pavate kavīyán vrajám ná paṣuvárdhanāya mánma || 1 || dvitā́ vyūrṇuvánn amṛítasya dhā́ma svarvíde bhúvanāni prathanta | dhíyaḥ pinvānā́ḥ svásare ná gā́va ṛitāyántīr abhí vāvaṣra índum || 2 ||

O flowing elixir, may you, associated with Nature's bounties, our well-wishers, bestow upon us wealth and vigour; may your capacious mind, speeding on cosmic chariots come towards us to give us treasures. 4

O divine elixir, while being sanctified, measure out to us riches and a large family of men and also universally loving waters. O elixir, may the life of your praiser be prolonged; may he, rich in intelligence, flourish every morn from day to day. 5

94

The fingers vie with each other (when they cleanse) the plants of the divine elixir. They look charming as the trappings on a horse or the rays in the sun. The elixir, clothed in the waters, flows eager to meet its worshippers, like a cowherd going to a pleasant cow-stall for the nourishment of his cattle. 1

(The ambrosia is mixed twice with waters), thus the elixir, twice opens the abode of water. During that period, for it, the omniscient, all the worlds expand. The gratifying laudations, appropriate for the worship, invoke the divine elixir, which stays at the place of sacrifice, just as the kine staying and lowing in their stalls. 2

परि यत्कविः काव्या भरते शूरो न रथो भुवनानि विश्वा ।
देवेषु यशो मर्ताय भूषन्दक्षाय रायः पुरुभूषु नव्यः ॥३॥
श्रिये जातः श्रिय आ निरियाय श्रियं वयो जरितृभ्यो दधाति ।
श्रियं वसाना अमृतत्वमायन्भवन्ति सत्या समिथा मितद्रौ ॥४॥
इषमूर्जमभ्य१र्षाश्वं गामुरु ज्योतिः कृणुहि मत्सि देवान् ।
विश्वानि हि सुषहा तानि तुभ्यं पवमान बाधसे सोम शत्रून् ॥५॥

pári yát kavíḥ kā́vyā bhárate ṣū́ro ná rátho bhúvanāni víṣvā | devéshu yáṣo mártāya bhū́shan dákshāya rāyáḥ purubhū́shu návyaḥ || 3 || ṣriyé jātáḥ ṣriyá ā́ nír iyāya ṣríyaṃ váyo ja-ritríbhyo dadhāti | ṣríyaṃ vásānā amṛitatvám āyan bhá-vanti satyā́ samithā́ mitádrau || 4 || ísham ū́rjam abhy àr-shā́ṣvam gā́m ur‘ jyótiḥ kṛiṇuhi mátsi devā́n | víṣvāni hí su-shā́hā tā́ni túbhyam pávamāna bā́dhase soma ṣátrūn || 5 || ४ ||

(९५) पञ्चनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काण्वः प्रस्कण्व ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ कनिक्रन्ति हरिरा सृज्यमानः सीदन्वनस्य जठरे पुनानः ।
नृभिर्यतः कृणुते निर्णिजं गा अतो मतीर्जनयत स्वधाभिः ॥१॥
हरिः सृजानः पथ्यामृतस्येयर्ति वाचमरितेव नावम् ।
देवो देवानां गुह्यानि नामाविष्कृणोति बर्हिषि प्रवाचे ॥२॥

95.

Kánikranti hárir ā́ sṛijyámānaḥ sídan vánasya jaṭháre punānáḥ | nṛíbhir yatáḥ kṛiṇute nirṇíjaṃ gā́ áto matír ja-nayata svadhā́bhiḥ || 1 || háriḥ sṛijānáḥ pathyā̀m ṛitásyéyarti vā́cam aritéva nā́vam | devó devā́nāṃ gúhyāni nā́māvísh kṛiṇoti barhíshi pravā́ce || 2 ||

The enlightened divine cosmic elixir listens to the invocations of the priests. Like a chariot, it goes round all the regions and gains popularity. Whatsoever wealth abides with immortals, it brings to the mortal-man. It is to be glorified at the place of universal sacrifice for the procurement of fresh and the preservation of the riches already bestowed. 3

It is generated for prosperity; it issues forth; it gives prosperity and sustenance to those who praise him. Clothing themselves in its prosperity, they obtain immortality, it moves with measured tread in its course and makes the struggles of life successful and victorious. 4

Bring to us food and fuel, horses and cattle; give us ample light. May all bounties of Nature be endowed with exhilaration. On your accounts, the devils have all been killed. O flowing elixir, subdue all our adversaries. 5

95

The golden-hued elixir roars aloud when it comes out of the plant. After filtration, it rests in the centre of cosmic pitcher; collected by the priests, it is mixed with cow's milk and curds. Chant hymns of praises and give offering of the elixir. 1

The golden-hued elixir, when let loose, sends forth its thrilling voice that indicates the path of truth as the boatman propels his boat; the bright elixir reveals to its worshippers squatting on the green lawns the secret names of the Lord. 2

अपामिवेदूर्मयस्तर्तुराणाः प्र मनीषा ईरते सोममच्छ ।
नमस्यन्तीरुप च यन्ति सं चा च विशन्त्युशतीरुशन्तम् ॥३॥
तं मर्मृजानं महिषं न सानावंशुं दुहन्त्युक्षणं गिरिष्ठाम् ।
तं वावशानं मतयः सचन्ते त्रितो बिभर्ति वरुणं समुद्रे ॥४॥
इष्यन्वाचमुपवक्तेव होतुः पुनान इन्दो वि ष्या मनीषाम् ।
इन्द्रश्च यत्क्षयथः सौभगाय सुवीर्यस्य पतयः स्याम ॥५॥

apā́m ivéd ūrmáyas tárturā-ṇāḥ prá manīshā́ īrate sómam ácha | namasyántīr úpa ca yánti sáṃ cā́ ca viṣanty uṣatír uṣántam || 3 || tám marmṛi-jānám mahishám ná sā́nāv aṅśúṃ duhanty ukshá̄ṇam gi-rishṭhā́m | táṃ vāvaṣānā́m matáyaḥ sacante tritó bibharti váruṇaṃ samudré || 4 || íshyan vā́cam upavaktéva hótuḥ pu-nānā́ indo ví shya manīshā́m | índraṣ ca yát ksháyathaḥ saúbhagāya suvíryasya pátayaḥ syāma || 5 || 5 ||

(९६) षण्णवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–२४) चतुर्विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य दैवोदासिः प्रतर्दन ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

।६॥ प्र सेनानीः शूरो अग्रे रथानां गव्यन्नेति हर्षते अस्य सेना ।
भद्रान्कृण्वन्निन्द्रहवान्त्सखिभ्य आ सोमो वस्त्रा रभसानि दत्ते ॥१॥
समस्य हरिं हरयो मृजन्त्यश्वहयैरनिशितं नमोभिः ।
आ तिष्ठति रथमिन्द्रस्य सखा विद्वाँ एना सुमतिं यात्यच्छ ॥२॥

96.

Prá senānī́ḥ ṣū́ro ágre ráthānāṃ gavyánn eti hárshate asya sénā | bhadrā́n kriṇvánn indrahavā́n sákhibhya ā́ sómo vástrā rabhasā́ni datte || 1 || sám asya hárim hárayo mṛijanty aṣvahayaír ániṣitaṃ námobhiḥ | ā́ tishṭhati rátham índrasya sákhā vidvā́ṅ ena sumatíṃ yāty ácha || 2 ||

It is true that the priests hurrying like the waves of the waters despatch praises towards divine elixir. Adoring it, they, the priests, approach and come up together; they long for him who longs for them (such is the affection between the elixir and the hymns of praise). The praises finally merge in the divine elixir. 3

They, the devotees, milk forth like a buffalo the cleansed divine elixir, who dwells on a high place, who is the showerer, the sprinkler, and is placed between the two hemispheres; hymns follow and attend it as it roars; the sun, who dwells in the three abodes, supports it. The elixir is the defeater of adversaries in the firmament. 4

O elixir, while being purified you encourage us to offer prayers; may you direct us to sacred duties like an invoking priest. May you evoke our intellect, while you and the resplendent Lord, are present together. May we be prosperous; may we become the possessors of heroic vigour. 5

96

In front of the chariots, the brave leader, the general of an army, the divine elixir, advances ahead to catch hold of the lost cattle of enemy. Its army rejoices, as the hero assumes the white robes, The oblations and invocations are for the resplendent self to bring prosperity to friends. 1

The priests, decked with gold, express its green-tinted juice. The elixir mounts the chariot unyoked with horses and proceeds to the place of sacrifice (where hymns are chanted in its praise). The wise elixir is friendly to the resplendent self and meets the worshippers with affection 2

स नो देव देवताते पवस्व महे सोम प्सरस इन्द्रपानः ।
कृण्वन्नपो वर्षयन्द्यामुतेमामुरोरा नो वरिवस्या पुनानः ॥३॥
अजीतयेऽहतये पवस्व स्वस्तये सर्वतातये बृहते ।
तदुशन्ति विश्व इमे सखायस्तदहं वश्मि पवमान सोम ॥४॥
सोमः पवते जनिता मतीनां जनिता दिवो जनिता पृथिव्याः ।
जनिताग्नेर्जनिता सूर्यस्य जनितेन्द्रस्य जनितोत विष्णोः ॥५॥

sá no deva devátāte pavasva mahé soma psárasa indrapánaḥ | kriṇvánn apó varsháyan dyā́m utémā́m urór ā́ no varivasyā punānáḥ || 3 || ájītayé 'hataye pavasva svastáye sarvátātaye brihaté | tád uṣanti víṣva imé sákhāyas tád ahám vaṣmi pavamāna soma || 4 || sómaḥ pavate janitā́ matīnā́m janitā́ divó janitā́ prithivyā́ḥ | janitā́gnér janitā́ sū́ryasya janiténdrasya janitótá víshṇoḥ || 5 || 6 ||

॥७॥

ब्रह्मा देवानां पदवीः कवीनामृषिर्विप्राणां महिषो मृगाणाम् ।
श्येनो गृध्राणां स्वधितिर्वनानां सोमः पवित्रमत्येति रेभन् ॥६॥
प्रावीविपद्वाच ऊर्मिं न सिन्धुर्गिरः सोमः पवमानो मनीषाः ।
अन्तः पश्यन्वृजनेमावराण्या तिष्ठति वृषभो गोषु जानन् ॥७॥

brahmā́ devā́nām padavī́ḥ kavīnā́m ṛ́shir víprāṇām mahishó mrigā́ṇām | ṣyenó grídhrāṇām svádhitir vánānām sómaḥ pavítram áty eti rébhan || 6 || právīvipad vācá ūrmím ná síndhur gíraḥ sómaḥ pávamāno manīshā́ḥ | antáḥ páṣyan vrijánemā́varāṇy ā́ tishṭhati vrishabhó góshu jānán || 7 ||

O divine elixir, the beverage of the resplendent self, flow onward to bless our sacrifice conducted to invoke all Nature's bounties. Activating water, you cause rain to fall across the midspace down upon this earth. May you come from the wide firmament, pure in form, to bestow upon us wealth. 3

Flow onward for our immunity from defeat and slaughter; flow on for our happiness and for the great universal sacrifice invoking Nature's all bounties. This is the wish of these friends assembled; even mine is this wish, O flowing divine elixir. 4

The divine elixir is the generator of discriminating intellect, the generator of heaven, the generator of the earth, the generator of the fire divine, the generator of the sun, the generator of lightning and the generator of the omnipresent life-force. May this divine elixir flow forth. 5

The divine elixir, as it passes with the thrilling sound through the ultra-psychic filter is supreme and superb among Nature's bounties, the foremost guide among the sages, the seer among the pious, the mightiest bull among wild animals, an eagle among the birds, and the hatchet of deadly weapons. 6

The purified elixir, like a river, stirs the wave of sound (i.e., it evokes for a chant of hymns). Beholding the hidden treasure and knowing all about the concealed knowledge, it presides over these irresistible powers. 7

स मत्सरः पृत्सु वन्वन्नवातः सहस्ररेता अभि वाजमर्ष ।
इन्द्रायेन्दो पवमानो मनीष्यं१शोरूर्मिमीरय गा इषण्यन् ॥८॥
परि प्रियः कलशे देववात इन्द्राय सोमो रण्यो मदाय ।
सहस्रधारः शतवाज इन्दुर्वाजी न सप्तिः समना जिगाति ॥९॥
स पूर्व्यो वसुविज्जायमानो मृजानो अप्सु दुदुहानो अद्रौ ।
अभिशस्तिपा भुवनस्य राजा विदद्गातुं ब्रह्मणे पूयमानः ॥१०॥

sá matsaráḥ pritsú vanvánn ávātaḥ sahásraretā abhí vájam arsha | índrāyendo pávamāno manīshy àṅsór ūrmím īraya gá ishaṇyán || 8 || pári priyáḥ kaláṣe devávāta índrāya sómo ráṇyo mádāya | sahásradhāraḥ ṣatávāja índur vājí ná sáptiḥ sámanā jigāti || 9 || sá pūrvyó vasuvíj jáyamāno mṛijānó apsú duduhānó ádrau | abhiṣastipá bhúvanasya rájā vidád gātúm bráhmaṇe pūyámānaḥ || 10 || 7 ||

॥८॥ त्वया हि नः पितरः सोम पूर्वे कर्माणि चक्रुः पवमान धीराः ।
वन्वन्नवातः परिधीँरपोर्णु वीरेभिरश्वैर्मघवा भवा नः ॥११॥
यथापवथा मनवे वयोधा अमित्रहा वरिवोविद्धविष्मान् ।
एवा पवस्व द्रविणं दधान इन्द्रे सं तिष्ठ जनयायुधानि ॥१२॥
पवस्व सोम मधुमाँ ऋतावापो वसानो अधि सानो अव्ये ।
अव द्रोणानि घृतवान्ति सीद मदिन्तमो मत्सर इन्द्रपानः ॥१३॥

tváyā hí naḥ pitáraḥ soma púrve kármāṇi cakrúḥ pavamāna dhírāḥ | vanvánn ávātaḥ paridhíṅr áporṇu vīrébhir áṣvair maghávā bhavā naḥ || 11 || yáthápavathā mánave vayodhá amitrahá varivovíd dhavíshmān | evá pavasva dráviṇaṃ dádhāna índre sáṃ tishṭha janáyáyudhāni || 12 || pávasva soma mádhumāṅ ṛitávāpó vásāno ádhi sáno ávye | áva dróṇāni ghṛitávānti sīda madíntamo matsará indrapáṇaḥ || 13 ||

The elixir is the exhilarator; it harms the foes in battles, and yet itself never harmed. It flows through a thousand streams; it resists strength and vigour of the enemy. Being purified, O sage-like flowing elixir, may you mixed with milk send waves of thrill for the resplendent self. 8

The pleasing delightful elixir approached by divine powers, proceeds to the cosmos to exhilarate the resplendent self; the thousand-streamed and vigorous, the divine elixir proceeds like a strong horse to battle. 9

The eternal divine elixir, from its inception, is the finder of the hidden treasure; it is cleaned in the waters and milked under the pressing stones. It is the defender against enemies, and is the sovereign of the world; when purified for the worship, it leads the worshipper along the right path. 10

O flowing elixir, with your assistance, our ancient and wise sages have been performing their sacred duties; may you, fighting the foes and remaining unvanquished, slay the wicked enemies, open the enclosures and enrich us with large gifts of wealth, vigour and children. 11

As you have been flowing to the earliest man, flow onward now possessing food, slaying enemies, acquiring wealth, having oblations, and bringing riches to us. May you abide yourself in the resplendent self and manifest your power of weapons. 12

Flow onward, O elixir, rich in sweetness, holy and enrobed in the waters; flow across the elevated fleecy filter, then come down to the water-holding vessels. You are exhilarating thought-evoking and gladdening, and as such a special beverage of the resplendent self. 13

वृष्टिं दिवः शतधारः पवस्व सहस्रसा वाजयुर्देववीतौ ।
सं सिन्धुभिः कलशे वावशानः समुस्रियाभिः प्रतिरन्न आयुः ॥१४॥
एष स्य सोमो मतिभिः पुनानोऽत्यो न वाजी तरतीदरातीः ।
पयो न दुग्धमदितेरिषिरमुर्विव गातुः सुयमो न वोळ्हा ॥१५॥

vrishṭím diváḥ ṣatádhāraḥ pavasva sahasrasá vājayúr devávītau | sáṃ síndhubhiḥ kaláṣe vāvaṣānáḥ sám usríyābhiḥ pratirán na áyuḥ || 14 || eshá syá sómo matíbhiḥ punānó 'tyo ná vājí táratíd árātīḥ | páyo ná dugdhám áditer ishirám urv ìva gātúḥ suyámo ná vóḷha || 15 || 8 ||

॥९॥ स्वायुधः सोतृभिः पूयमानोऽभ्यर्ष गुह्यं चारु नाम ।
अभि वाजं सप्तिरिव श्रवस्याभि वायुमभि गा देव सोम ॥१६॥
शिशुं जज्ञानं हर्यतं मृजन्ति शुम्भन्ति वह्निं मरुतो गणेन ।
कविर्गीर्भिः काव्येना कविः सन्त्सोमः पवित्रमत्येति रेभन् ॥१७॥
ऋषिमना य ऋषिकृत्स्वर्षाः सहस्रणीथः पदवीः कवीनाम् ।
तृतीयं धाम महिषः सिषासन्त्सोमो विराजमनु राजति ष्टुप् ॥१८॥

svāyudháḥ sotríbhiḥ pūyámāno 'bhy àrsha gúhyaṃ cáru náma | abhí vájaṃ sáptir iva ṣravasyábhí vayúm abhí gá deva soma || 16 || ṣíṣuṃ jajñānáṃ haryatáṃ mrijanti ṣumbhánti váhnim marúto gaṇéna | kavír gīrbhíḥ kávyena kavíḥ sán sómaḥ pavítram áty eti rébhan || 17 || ríshimanā yá rishikrít svarsháḥ sahásraṇīthaḥ padavíḥ kavīnám | tritíyaṃ dháma mahisháḥ síshāsan sómo virájam ánu rājati shṭúp || 18 ||

It is the one, that flows in a hundred streams, pours rain from the firmament. It is the one, who is the giver of hundred-fold wealth, and the bestower of food at the assembly of the divine powers; it is always eager to mix with the waters in the pitchers and reservoirs, and also with milk and curds. May it prolong our life. 14

This divine elixir, sanctified with praises, moves like a strong horse and overthrows adversities; it is strong like the pure milk freshly taken from the cow; it is enjoyable like a broad road, easily controllable like a docile well-trained horse. 15

O divine elixir, purified by the divine pressers, armed with noble weapons, may you send your secret desirable form (into the pitcher). May you like a horse bring us food in fulfilment of our desire for nourishment; grant us life and bring us wisdom. 16

They cleanse the charming infant elixir at its birth; the vital elements adorn its chariot with their associates. Being wise with songs, wise with wisdom, the elixir passes through the ultra-psychic filter. 17

The mighty divine elixir, with the mind of a seer and with actions of a sage, praised by thousands of hymns, and a leader of the wise, stays in the superlative (i.e. the third) region. Being praised, it adds lustre to the resplendent self. 18

चमूषच्छ्येनः शकुनो विभृत्वा गोविन्दुर्द्रप्स आयुधानि बिभ्रत् ।
अपामूर्मिं सचमानः समुद्रं तुरीयं धाम महिषो विवक्ति ॥१९॥
मर्यो न शुभ्रस्तन्वं मृजानोऽत्यो न सृत्वा सनये धनानाम् ।
वृषेव यूथा परि कोशमर्षन्कनिक्रदच्चम्वोरा विवेश ॥२०॥

camūsháe chyenáḥ ṣakunó vibhrítvā govindúr drapsá áyudhāni bíbhrat | apā́m ūrmíṃ sáeamānaḥ samudráṃ turíyaṃ dháma mahishó vivakti || 19 || máryo ná ṣubhrás tanvàm mṛijānó 'tyo ná sṛítvā sanáye dhánānām | vṛísheva yūthá pári kóṣam árshan kánikradac camvòr ā́ viveṣa || 20 || 9 ||

॥१०॥ पवस्वेन्दो पवमानो महोभिः कनिक्रदत्परि वाराण्यर्ष ।
क्रीळञ्चम्वोरा विश पूयमान इन्द्रं ते रसो मदिरो ममत्तु ॥२१॥
प्रास्य धारा बृहतीरसृग्रन्नक्तो गोभिः कलशाँ आ विवेश ।
साम कृण्वन्त्सामन्यो विपश्चित्क्रन्दन्नेत्यभि सख्युर्न जामिम् ॥२२॥
अपघ्नन्नेषि पवमान शत्रून्प्रियां न जारो अभिगीत इन्दुः ।
सीदन्वनेषु शकुनो न पत्वा सोमः पुनानः कलशेषु सत्ता ॥२३॥
आ ते रुचः पवमानस्य सोम योषेव यन्ति सुदुघाः सुधाराः ।
हरिरानीतः पुरुवारो अप्स्वचिक्रदत्कलशे देवयूनाम् ॥२४॥

pávasvendo pávamāno máhobhiḥ kánikradat pári vā́rāṇy arsha | krílañ camvòr ā́ viṣa pūyámāna índraṃ te ráso madiró mamattu || 21 || prásya dhárā bṛihatír asṛigrann aktó góbhiḥ kalásāñ ā́ viveṣa | sáma kṛiṇván samanyò vipaṣcít krándann ety abhí sákhyur ná jāmím || 22 || apaghnánn eshi pavamāna ṣátrūn priyā́ṃ ná jāró abhígīta índuḥ | sídan váneshu ṣakunó ná pátvā sómaḥ punānáḥ kaláṣeshu sáttā || 23 || ā́ te rúcaḥ pávamānasya soma yósheva yanti sudúghāḥ sudhā́rāḥ | hárir ánītaḥ puruvā́ro apsv ácikradat kaláṣe devayūnā́m || 24 || 10 ||

The mighty elixir, seated on the bowl of universe, is praiseworthy, competent, kept in the sacrificial vessels, ready to mix with milk flowing and staying in utensils. It mixes with the waters and extending its form in the firmament; it adorns the fourth abode (the bliss-sheath). 19

Cleansing its body like a richly-decorated man, flowing to acquire riches like a rapid horse, rushing to the receptacle like a bull to the herd, the elixir repeatedly enters the cosmic reservoir with a roar. 20

O divine elixir, purified by the venerable priests, rush through the cosmic filter, crying repeatedly, may you after purification, sportingly rest in the pitcher. Let your exhilarating ambrosia put the resplendent self into the ecstasy of bliss. 21

Its copious streams are effusing in all their fulness. They are blended with milk and curds. Finally they flow onward and enter the cosmic pitchers; uttering the Saman chants, the elixir, skilful and omniscient, hastens onwards, just as a lover to a friendly beloved. 22

O flowing elixir, eulogized, you come chasing our foes, as a lover to his darling, or as a bird flies back to her nest. You finally settle in the reservoirs, having been mixed with water. 23

O elixir, effused and purified, your lustres emerge out with abundant sweetness and in copious streams like a woman (feeding the child with her breast milk). The golden-hued elixir, loved by all, has been brought to the altar and roars repeatedly in the goblet of the God-loving worshippers. 24

[अथ षष्ठोऽनुवाकः ॥]

(९७) सप्तनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–५८) अष्टपञ्चाशदृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१–३) प्रथमादितृचस्य मैत्रावरुणिर्वसिष्ठः, (४–६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठ इन्द्रप्रमतिः, (७–९) सप्तम्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठो वृषगणः, (१०–१२) दशम्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठो मन्युः, (१३–१५) त्रयोदश्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठ उपमन्युः, (१६–१८) षोडश्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठो व्याघ्रपात्, (१९–२१) एकोनविंश्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठः शक्तिः, (२२–२४) द्वाविंश्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठः कर्णश्रुत्, (२५–२७) पञ्चविंश्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठो मृळीकः, (२८–३०) अष्टाविंश्यादितृचस्य वासिष्ठो वसुक्रः, (३१–४४) एकत्रिंश्यादिचतुर्दशर्चां शाक्त्यः पराशरः, (४५–५८) पञ्चचत्वारिंश्यादिचतुर्दशानामाङ्गिरसः कुत्स ऋषयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ अस्य प्रेषा हेमना पूयमानो देवो देवेभिः समपृक्त रसम् ।
सुतः पवित्रं पर्येति रेभन्मितेव सद्म पशुमान्ति होता ॥१॥
भद्रा वस्त्रा समन्या३ वसानो महान्कविर्निवचनानि शंसन् ।
आ वच्यस्व चम्वोः पूयमानो विचक्षणो जागृविर्देववीतौ ॥२॥
समु प्रियो मृज्यते सानो अव्ये यशस्तरो यशसां क्षैतो अस्मे ।
अभि स्वर धन्वा पूयमानो यूयं पात स्वस्तिभिः सदा नः ॥३॥
प्र गायताभ्यर्चाम देवान्त्सोमं हिनोत महते धनाय ।
स्वादुः पवाते अति वारमव्यमा सीदाति कलशं देवयुर्नः ॥४॥
इन्दुर्देवानामुप सख्यमायन्त्सहस्रधारः पवते मदाय ।
नृभिः स्तवानो अनु धाम पूर्वमगन्निन्द्रं महते सौभगाय ॥५॥

97.

Asyá preshā́ hemánā pūyámāno devó devébhiḥ sám aprikta rásam | sutáḥ pavítram páry eti rébhan mitéva sádma paśumánti hótā || 1 || bhadrā́ vástrā samanyā̀ vásāno mahā́n kavír nivácanāni śáṁsan | ā́ vacyasva camvòḥ pūyámāno vicakshaṇó jā́grivir devávītau || 2 || sám u priyó mrijyate sā́no ávye yaśástaro yaśásāṃ kshaíto asmé | abhí svara dhánvā pūyámāno yūyám pāta svastíbhiḥ sádā naḥ || 3 || prá gāyatābhy àrcāma devā́n sómaṃ hinota mahaté dhánāya | svādúḥ pavāte áti vā́ram ávyam ā́ sīdāti kaláśaṃ devayúr naḥ || 4 || índur devā́nām úpa sakhyám āyán sahásradhāraḥ pavate mádāya | nríbhi stávāno ánu dhā́ma pū́rvam áganm índram mahaté saúbhagāya || 5 || 11 ||

97

The potency of the effused pure shining elixir is further activated by the touch of gold (from the rings in the fingers of priests), and the juice assumes from several contacts other divine characteristics. It then proceeds with a thrilling sound to the ultra-psychic filter, like the ministrant priest moving to the hall where domestic animals are kept with care. 1

O great wise divine elixir, clothed in its auspicious vestments, the inspirer of praises, may you flow on into the cosmic vessels when purified. You are sagacious and vigilant at the divine scarifice. 2

(The elixir is) most famous of the famous, the earth-born, and the conciliator; it is cleansed for us by passing through fleecy filter placed at a high level; it roars aloud in the firmament when clarified; may you protect us now and ever with blessings. 3

We shall now sing praises to Nature's bounties; may you specially pay compliments to the elixir for the acqirement of great wealth. The sweet-flavoured elixir passes through the fleecy cosmic filter. Beloved of Nature's bounties, it alights on and stays in the cosmic pitcher. 4

The divine elixir, desirous of entering into the friendship of Nature's bounties, flows in a thousand streams for their exhilaration. Glorified by the priests, it proceeds to its initial place. It goes to the resplendent self for the prosperity (of the entire family). 5

॥१२॥ स्तोत्रे राये हरिरर्षा पुनान इन्द्रं मदो गच्छतु ते भराय ।
देवैर्याहि सरथं राधो अच्छा यूयं पात स्वस्तिभिः सदा नः ॥६॥
प्र काव्यमुशनेव ब्रुवाणो देवो देवानां जनिमा विवक्ति ।
महिव्रतः शुचिबन्धुः पावकः पदा वराहो अभ्येति रेभन् ॥७॥
प्र हंसासस्तृपलं मन्युमच्छामादस्तं वृषगणा अयासुः ।
आङ्गूष्यं१ पवमानं सखायो दुर्मर्षं साकं प्र वदन्ति वाणम् ॥८॥

stotré rāyé hárir arshā punāná índram mádo gachatu te bhárāya | devaír yāhi sarátham rádho áchā yūyám pāta svastíbhiḥ sádā naḥ || 6 || prá kā́vyam uṣáneva bruvāṇó devó devā́nām jánimā vivakti | máhivrataḥ ṣúcibandhuḥ pāvakáḥ padā́ varāhó abhy èti rébhan || 7 || prá haṅsā́sas tṛipálam manyúm áchāmā́d ástam vṛíshagaṇā ayāsuḥ | āṅgūshyàm pávamānam sákhāyo durmársham sākám prá vadanti vāṇám || 8 ||

स रंहत उरुगायस्य जूतिं वृथा क्रीळन्तं मिमते न गावः ।
परीणसं कृणुते तिग्मशृङ्गो दिवा हरिर्ददृशे नक्तमृज्रः ॥९॥
इन्दुर्वाजी पवते गोन्योघा इन्द्रे सोमः सह इन्वन्मदाय ।
हन्ति रक्षो बाधते पर्यरातीर्वरिवः कृण्वन्वृजनस्य राजा ॥१०॥

sá raṅhata urugāyásya jūtím vṛíthā krīḷantam mimate ná gā́vaḥ | parīṇasám kṛiṇute tigmáṣṛiṅgo dívā hárir dádṛiṣe náktam ṛijráḥ || 9 || índur vājī́ pavate gónyoghā índre sómaḥ sáha ínvan mádāya | hánti ráksho bā́dhate páry árātīr várivaḥ kṛiṇván vṛijánasya rā́jā || 10 || 12 ||

Along with our chant of hymns, O green-tinted and purified, may you flow onward for our riches. May your exhilarating beverage animate the soul to a victory in a battle. May you share the chariot with Nature's other bounties to procure us wealth; may you protect us now and ever with blessing. 6

The divine seer, the chanter and the poet knows the entire geneology of the divine creation, which he proclaims. Assiduous in pious observances, possessor of brilliant radiance and brightened, the elixir of bliss approaches the vessels, making a roar like a wild boar with its foot. 7

Hosts of heroes assailed by enemies come to the divine elixir for final help and protection, for it is swift-shooting and foe-despising. Friends come and play on musical instruments in honour of the praiseworthy irresistible elixir. 8

Praised by many, the elixir moves rapidly on its path; other speedy bodies cannot overtake it; it is moving and smoothly and steadily. The elixir with sharp-horns (or penetrating brilliance) displays manifold radiance; the elixir appears golden-hued by day and shines silvery by night. 9

The powerful flowing elixir, with copious juice flowing down, streams forth, infusing strength into the resplendent soul for exhilaration. It is the conferer of wealth, the king of vigour; it crushes malignities and harasses the enemies. 10

॥१३॥

अध धारया मध्वा पृचानस्तिरो रोम पवते अद्रिदुग्धः ।
इन्दुरिन्द्रस्य सख्यं जुषाणो देवो देवस्य मत्सरो मदाय ॥११॥
अभि प्रियाणि पवते पुनानो देवो देवान्त्स्वेन रसेन पृञ्चन् ।
इन्दुर्धर्माण्यृतुथा वसानो दश क्षिपो अव्यत सानो अव्ये ॥१२॥
वृषा शोणो अभिकनिक्रदद्गा नदयन्नेति पृथिवीमुत द्याम् ।
इन्द्रस्येव वग्नुरा शृण्व आजौ प्रचेतयन्नर्षति वाचमेमाम् ॥१३॥

ádha dhárayā mádhvā pṛicānás tiró róma pavate ádri-dugdhaḥ | índur índrasya sakhyáṃ jushāṇó devó devásya matsaró mádāya || 11 || abhí priyáṇi pavate punānó devó deván svéna rásena pṛiñcán | índur dhármāṇy ṛituthá vásāno dáṣa kshípo avyata sáno ávye || 12 || vṛíshā ṣóṇo abhi-kánikradad gá nadáyann eti pṛithivím utá dyám | índra-syeva vagnúr á ṣṛiṇva ājaú pracetáyann arshati vácam émám || 13 ||

रसाय्यः पयसा पिन्वमान ईरयन्नेषि मधुमन्तमंशुम् ।
पवमानः संतनिमेषि कृण्वन्निन्द्राय सोम परिषिच्यमानः ॥१४॥
एवा पवस्व मदिरो मदायोदग्राभस्य नमयन्वधस्नैः ।
परि वर्णं भरमाणो रुशन्तं गव्युर्नो अर्ष परि सोम सिक्तः ॥१५॥

rasáyyaḥ páyasā pínvamāna īráyann eshi má-dhumantam aṅṣúm | pávamānaḥ saṃtaním eshi kṛiṇvánn índrāya soma parishicyámānaḥ || 14 || evá pavasva madiró mádāyodagrābhásya namáyan vadhasnaíḥ | pári várṇam bháramāṇo rúṣantaṃ gavyúr no arsha pári soma siktáḥ || 15 || 12 ||

Milked forth by the stones, the divine elixir flows through the cosmic filter with its sweet-flavoured streams; the holy exhilarating elixir rejoices in the company of the resplendent self. It gives out the divine sap for the enjoyment of every element that is divine in us. 11

Clad in pleasing radiance, suited to every season, the sportive divine elixir flows brightened; in its own essence, it goes to every easy element divine in us. The ten fingers help it in the fleecy cosmic filter placed at a high level. 12

The red bull, the mighty divine elixir, bellowing after the kine, goes with a roar through heaven and earth; its voice is heard as the voice of the resplendent self engaged in battle; encouraging and manifesting itself, it raises this voice. 13

Sweet and flavoured, and dripping with milk, the elixir, when expressed, purified and brightened, goes onward for the resplendent self in a continuous stream. 14

O divine elixir, may you, the exhilarator, flow on; for smiting the water-holding clouds with weapons, flow to us. Assuming all your brilliant forms, with a desire to mix with milk and curds, may you come to us in the sacrificial vessels. 15

॥१४॥ जुष्टी न इन्दो सुपथा सुगान्युरौ पवस्व वरिवांसि कृण्वन् ।
घनेव विष्वग्दुरितानि विघ्नन्नधि ष्णुना धन्व सानो अव्ये ॥१६॥
वृष्टिं नो अर्ष दिव्यां जिगत्नुमिळावतीं शंगयीं जीरदानुम् ।
स्तुकेव वीता धन्वा विचिन्वन्बन्धूँरिमाँ अवराँ इन्दो वायून् ॥१७॥

jushṭví na indo supáthā sugány uraú pavasva várivāṅsi kriṇván | ghanéva víshvag duritáni vighnánn ádhi shṇúnā dhanva sáno ávye || 16 || vrishṭím no arsha divyám jigatnúm íḷāvatīm ṣaṃgáyīṃ jīrádānum | stúkeva vītá dhanvā vicinván bándhūṅr imáṅ ávarāṅ indo vāyúṅ || 17 ||

ग्रन्थिं न वि ष्य ग्रथितं पुनान ऋजुं च गातुं वृजिनं च सोम ।
अत्यो न क्रदो हरिरा सृजानो मर्यो देव धन्व पस्त्यावान् ॥१८॥
जुष्टो मदाय देवतात इन्दो परि ष्णुना धन्व सानो अव्ये ।
सहस्रधारः सुरभिरदब्धः परि स्रव वाजसातौ नृषह्ये ॥१९॥
अरश्मानो येऽरथा अयुक्ता अत्यासो न ससृजानास आजौ ।
एते शुक्रासो धन्वन्ति सोमा देवासस्ताँ उप याता पिबध्यै ॥२०॥

granthím ná ví shya grathitám punāná rijúm ca gātúm vrijinám ca soma | átyo ná krado hárir á srijānó máryo deva dhanva pastyàvān || 18 || júshṭo mádāya devátāta indo pári shṇúnā dhanva sáno ávye | sahásradhārah surabhír ádabdhaḥ pári srava vájasātau nrisháhye || 19 || araṣmáno yè 'rathá áyuktā átyāso ná sasrijānása ājaú | eté ṣukráso dhanvanti sómā dévāsas táṅ úpa yātā píbadhyai || 20 || 14 ||

Pleased with our invocations, O elixir, flow to us. Granting us riches, may you come by holy paths and be easily acquired; may you beat down the demoniac obstacles on every side as with a club; run over the fleecy filter placed at an elevation. 16

Pour on us celestial rains, quick-falling, food-giving, health-providing, and promptly munificent. O elixir, send these breezes of lower regions which move like a kinsman seeking beloved infants. 17

O divine elixir, while being brightened and filtered, liberate me from knotted tangles of the world; grant me a straight path and strength. O golden-hued divine-elixir, when you flow, you spell out a sound as that of a moving horse. Flow on and on, O elixir, and stay in your receptacle which is your final dwelling. 18

O divine elixir, flow onward in a stream from the fleecy filter placed at an elevated summit for our delight. O inviolate, fragrant, irresistible, flow on for the acquisition of food that causes victory in the battle. 19

These brilliant divine elixirs flow like horses let loose in the battle without reins, without chariots, and unharnessed; (they finally come to the vessels and stored). May you, O Nature's bounties, come near to enjoy them. 20

So, O divine elixir, pour the water from the firmament into the cosmic vessels; may the elixir bestow upon us desirable riches in abundance, brave offspring and strength. 21

The zealous worshippers utter hymns in the praises of the elixir just as a vociferous (crowd) praises a distinguished prince and places the demands for fulfilment. Milk from the aspirant cows is mixed with the elixir in the pitcher for its gratification. 22

The divine elixir is the benefactor of givers; it pours blessings on the liberal givers. The intelligent elixir distils its true beverage for the truth-abiding resplendent self. The radiant elixir is the sustainer of strength; it is carefully handled by the ten fingers (when the herbal plant is cleansed and squeezed for its sap). 23

The elixir is purified through the cosmic filters. It is the observer of man and the sovereign of immortal Nature as well as mortals; it stays both in the organic and inorganic worlds. The elixir mixes completely in a nice form with clear and pleasing waters. 24

Hasten, O divine elixir, to give nourishing food to the self and to our vital organs. Come to us like a horse; brings us food; may we acquire wealth; give us abundant thousand-fold food; O elixir, when adorned, may you become the dispenser of riches. 25

When mixed with waters, may the juices of divine elixir, delightful to natural forces, bring us a dwelling and brave children. The elixir is rich in all boons. They, the juices, guide us like the ministrant priests. These elixirs are the precursors of divine favours; they are ever used in every sacrifice; they are acceptable to all; they are the performers of celestial sacrifice and the givers of superb bliss. 26

Divine elixir is the beverage of Nature's bounties; may it flow at the cosmic sacrifice for our abundant food; urged on by you, may we overcome even mighty adversaries in battle; may you render heaven and earth happy abodes for us. 27

Yoked by priests (strong men), may you, O elixir, neighing like a horse, terrible as a lion, swifter than thought, pour happiness upon us. May you flow forth and be directed hitherward by those paths, which are the most direct, most up to date, for our happiness and concord. 28

O elixir, you are issuing forth through hundred streams for nourishing Nature's bounties. The sages brighten these thousand streams. O elixir, pour wealth upon us from heaven; you are the precursor of abundant riches. 29

The streams of divine elixir descend from heaven as the rays of the sun. Like a prudent king, the elixir does not abandon his friend at all. As a virtuous son engaged in pious acts gives comforts to the family, so may our mankind receive your blessings for success and victory and immunity from defeat. 30

७॥ प्र ते धारा मधुमतीरसृग्रन्वारान्यत्पूतो अत्येष्यव्यान् ।
पवमान पवसे धाम गोनां जज्ञानः सूर्यमपिन्वो अर्कैः ॥३१॥
कनिक्रददनु पन्थामृतस्य शुक्रो वि भास्यमृतस्य धाम ।
स इन्द्राय पवसे मत्सरवान्हिन्वानो वाचं मतिभिः कवीनाम् ॥३२॥
दिव्यः सुपर्णोऽव चक्षि सोम पिन्वन्धाराः कर्मणा देववीतौ ।
एन्दो विश कलशं सोमधानं क्रन्दन्निहि सूर्यस्योप रश्मिम् ॥३३॥

prá te dhā́rā mádhumatīr asṛigran vā́rān yát pūtó atyéshy ávyān | pávamāna pávase dhā́ma gónāṃ jajñānáḥ sū́ryam apinvo arkaíḥ || 31 || kánikradad ánu pánthām ṛitásya ṣukró ví bhāsy amṛítasya dhā́ma | sá índrāya pavase matsarávān hinvānó vā́cam matíbhiḥ kavīnā́m || 32 || divyáḥ suparṇó 'va cakshi soma pínvan dhā́rāḥ kármaṇā devávītau | éndo viṣa kaláṣaṃ somadhā́naṃ krándann ihi sū́ryasyópa raṣmím || 33 ||

तिस्रो वाच ईरयति प्र वह्निर्ऋतस्य धीतिं ब्रह्मणो मनीषाम् ।
गावो यन्ति गोपतिं पृच्छमानाः सोमं यन्ति मतयो वावशानाः ॥३४॥
सोमं गावो धेनवो वावशानाः सोमं विप्रा मतिभिः पृच्छमानाः ।
सोमः सुतः पूयते अज्यमानः सोमे अर्कास्त्रिष्टुभः सं नवन्ते ॥३५॥

tisró vā́ca īrayati prá váhnir ṛitásya dhītím bráhmaṇo manīshā́m | gā́vo yanti gópatim pṛichámānāḥ sómaṃ yanti matáyo vāvaṣānā́ḥ || 34 || sómaṃ gā́vo dhenávo vāvaṣānā́ḥ sómaṃ víprā matíbhiḥ pṛichámānāḥ | sómaḥ sutáḥ pūyate ajyámānaḥ sóme arkā́s trishṭúbhaḥ sáṃ navante || 35 || 17 ||

Your exhilarating streams with all their sweetness are let loose when you pass purified through the cosmic fleecy filter; O divine elixir, may you flow supported by the milk of cattle; as soon as generated, you fill the sun with your radiance. 31

Roaring repeatedly along the path of truth and eternal order, may you shine as the banner of immortality. May you flow, providing exhilaration to the resplendent self. May you send forth your voice while the sages are engaged in chanting hymns of praise. 32

O divine elixir, you are celestial and with attractive leaves (or feathers) you look down upon us from all sides. May you pour forth your streams of bliss during the sacred works of the pious; may you enter into the cosmic reser-vior and roaring aloud approach the rays of the radiant sun. 33

The sage, radiant like fire, utters the triple speech (Rk, Yajus, Saman); he speaks the wisdom of the supreme Lord, who sustains the universal order; the praises, the channels of intellect, come to the divine elixir with eager-ness, as if the cows come to the cowherd, their master. 34

The milch-kine come to this divine elixir with eagerness: sages come to it with inquisitive mind; the elixir, effused and filtered, is brightened and blended with milk; The divine elixir is invoked by chanting hymns in Tristup (and other metres). 35

॥१८॥ एवा नः सोम परिषिच्यमान आ पवस्व पूयमानः स्वस्ति ।
इन्द्रमा विश बृहता रवेण वर्धया वाचं जनया पुरन्धिम् ॥३६॥
आ जागृविर्विप्र ऋता मतीनां सोमः पुनानो असदच्चमूषु ।
सपन्ति यं मिथुनासो निकामा अध्वर्यवो रथिरासः सुहस्ताः ॥३७॥
स पुनान उप सूरे न धातोभे अप्रा रोदसी वि ष आवः ।
प्रिया चिद्यस्य प्रियसास ऊती स तू धनं कारिणे न प्र यंसत् ॥३८॥

evā́ naḥ soma parishicyámāna ā́ pavasva pūyámānaḥ svastí | índram ā́ viṣa brihatā́ rávena vardháyā vā́cam janáyā púramdhim || 36 || ā́ jā́grivir vípra ritā́ matīnā́m sómaḥ punānó asadac camū́shu | sápanti yám mithunā́so níkāmā adhvaryávo rathirā́saḥ suhástāḥ || 37 || sá punāná úpa sū́re ná dhā́tóbhé aprā ródasī ví shá āvaḥ | priyā́ cid yásya priyasā́sa ūtí sá tū́ dhánam kāríṇe ná prá yaṅṣat || 38 ||

स वर्धिता वर्धनः पूयमानः सोमो मीढ्वाँ अभि नो ज्योतिषावीत् ।
येना नः पूर्वे पितरः पदज्ञाः स्वर्विदो अभि गा अद्रिमुष्णन् ॥३९॥
अक्रान्त्समुद्रः प्रथमे विधर्मञ्जनयन्प्रजा भुवनस्य राजा ।
वृषा पवित्रे अधि सानो अव्ये बृहत्सोमो वावृधे सुवान इन्दुः ॥४०॥

sá vardhitā́ várdhanaḥ pūyámānaḥ sómo mīḍhvā́ṅ abhí no jyótishāvīt | yénā naḥ pū́rve pitáraḥ padajñā́ḥ svarvído abhí gā́ ádrim ushṇán || 39 || ákrān samudráḥ prathamé vídharmañ janáyan prajā́ bhúvanasya rā́jā | vríshā pavítre ádhi sā́no ávye brihát sómo vāvridhe suvāná índuḥ || 40 || 18 ||

O elixir of the life-force, while being filtered and purified, may you flow for our welfare. May you enter with a great roar and zeal into the soul; please foster our praise, and generate abundant understanding in us. 36

The vigilant elixir of life force, the knower of true praises, (the possessor of superb intellects) after purification stays in vessels. The auspicious pious priests, the leaders of the worship, working in collaboration, are pleased to touch by their hands this elixir. 37

The purified brightened elixir goes to the resplendent self, as the year approaches the sun; it fills both heaven and earth with radiance; it drives away the darkness with its light; may it, the beloved elixir, whose streams are for our preservation, bestow upon us wealth like wages given to a labourer. 38

May the divine elixir, the augmenter and self-augmenting, the showerer of benefits, being purified protect us with his radiance; through it our forefathers, tracing the foot-marks, cognizant of all things, have been finding the stolen cows concealed in the caves behind the rocks. 39

The divine elixir, the king of all beings, holds water in the outstretched ocean of firmament. Having generated its progeny here, it traverses further across. The brilliant elixir, the showerer of benefits, when effused is mixed with water, where it effervesces to abundance. Then it is made to pass through the cosmic fleecy filter, placed at an elevation. 40

॥१०॥ महत्तत्सोमो महिषश्चकारापां यद्गर्भोऽवृणीत देवान् ।
अदधादिन्द्रे पवमान ओजोऽजनयत्सूर्ये ज्योतिरिन्दुः ॥४१॥
मत्सि वायुमिष्टये राधसे च मत्सि मित्रावरुणा पूयमानः ।
मत्सि शर्धो मारुतं मत्सि देवान्मत्सि द्यावापृथिवी देव सोम ॥४२॥
ऋजुः पवस्व वृजिनस्य हन्तापामीवां बाधमानो मृधश्च ।
अभिश्रीणन्पयः पयसाभि गोनामिन्द्रस्य त्वं तव वयं सखायः ॥४३॥

mahát tát sómo mahishás cakārāpám yád gárbhó 'vriṇīta devā́n | ádadhād índre pávamāna ójó 'janayat sū́rye jyótir índuḥ || 41 || mátsi vāyúm ishṭáye rā́dhase ca mátsi mitrā́váruṇā pūyámānaḥ | mátsi sárdho mā́rutam mátsi devā́n mátsi dyā́vāprithivī́ deva soma || 42 || rijúḥ pavasva vrijinásya hantā́pā́mīvām bā́dhamāno mrídhas ca | abhisrīṇán páyaḥ páyasābhí gónām índrasya tvám táva vayám sákhāyaḥ || 43 ||

मध्वः सूदं पवस्व वस्व उत्सं वीरं च न आ पवस्वा भगं च ।
स्वदस्वेन्द्राय पवमान इन्दो रयिं च न आ पवस्वा समुद्रात् ॥४४॥
सोमः सुतो धारयात्यो न हित्वा सिन्धुर्न निम्नमभि वाज्यक्षाः ।
आ योनिं वन्यमसदत्पुनानः समिन्दुर्गोभिरसरत्समद्भिः ॥४५॥

mádhvaḥ sū́dam pavasva vásva útsam vīrám ca na ā́ pavasvā bhágam ca | svádasvéndrāya pávamāna indo rayím ca na ā́ pavasvā samudrā́t || 44 || sómaḥ sutó dhā́rayā́tyo ná hítvā síndhur ná nimnám abhí vājy àkshāḥ | ā́ yónim ványam asadat punānáḥ sám índur góbhir asarat sám adbhíḥ || 45 || 19 ||

The mighty elixir achieves the mighty work. Being the germ of the waters, it nourishes Nature's bounties. In its pure form, it gives vigour to the resplendent self and generates radiance in the sun. 41

Exhilarate wind for our food and wealth, exhilarate the sun and ocean as soon as you are filtered; exhilarate the troop of the vital principles; exhilarate all the divine powers; exhilarate heaven and earth, O divine elixir. 42

O divine bliss, you flow out straight-way with ease; you are the slayer of the crooked and the wicked; you drive away diseases, ills and malices. May you flow onward; your juice is mixed with the milk of cows. And then you become the friend of the resplendent self, the aspirant, and we are your friends. 43

Pour forth a spring of treasure; provide us sweetness, grant us brave offspring and happy fortune; may sweetness flow for the aspirant, the resplendent self, O elixir, when purified; pour riches upon us from the firmament. 44

The divine elixir of life force, effused in a stream, speeds up like a courser. It flows out forcefully (from a filter) like a river speeding downward; purified, it rests in the wooden vessel; the elixir mixes with the waters, milk and curds. 45

॥२०॥ एष स्य ते पवत इन्द्र सोमश्चमूषु धीर उशते तवस्वान् ।
स्वर्चक्षा रथिरः सत्यशुष्मः कामो न यो देवयतामसर्जि ॥४६॥
एष प्रत्नेन वयसा पुनानस्तिरो वर्पांसि दुहितुर्दधानः ।
वसानः शर्म त्रिवरूथमप्सु होतेव याति समनेषु रेभन् ॥४७॥
नू नस्त्वं रथिरो देव सोम परि स्रव चम्वोः पूयमानः ।
अप्सु स्वादिष्ठो मधुमाँ ऋतावा देवो न यः सविता सत्यमन्मा ॥४८॥

eshá syá te pavata indra sómaṣ camúshu dhíra uṣaté távasvān | svàrcakshā rathiráḥ satyáṣushmaḥ kámo ná yó devayatám ásarji || 46 || eshá pratnéna váyasa punānás tiró várpāṅsi duhitúr dádhanaḥ | vásānaḥ ṣárma trivárūtham apsú hóteva yāti sámaneshu rébhan || 47 || nú nas tvám rathiró deva soma pári srava camvòḥ pūyámanaḥ | apsú svádishṭho mádhumāṅ ṛitávā devó ná yáḥ savitá satyámanmā || 48 ||

अभि वायुं वीत्यर्षा गृणानो३ऽभि मित्रावरुणा पूयमानः ।
अभी नरं धीजवनं रथेष्ठामभीन्द्रं वृषणं वज्रबाहुम् ॥४९॥
अभि वस्त्रा सुवसनान्यर्षाभि धेनूः सुदुघाः पूयमानः ।
अभि चन्द्रा भर्तवे नो हिरण्याभ्यश्वान्रथिनो देव सोम ॥५०॥

abhí vayúm vīty àrshā gṛiṇanò 'bhí mitrávárunā pūyámānaḥ | abhí náraṃ dhījávanaṃ ratheshṭhám abhíndraṃ vṛíshaṇaṃ vájrabahum || 49 || abhí vástra suvasanány arshabhí dhenúḥ sudúghāḥ pūyámanaḥ | abhí candrá bhártave no híranyābhy áṣvān rathíno deva soma || 50 || 20 ||

The filtered sagacious elixir flows into the receptacles for your sake, O aspirant, the resplendent soul, since you crave for it; it is all-seeing, car-borne, truly potent, and has been sent forth to fulfil the wish of true devotees and sacrificers. 46

The divine elixir, that comes to the sacrifice has the following characteristics: from the earliest times, the practice has been to mix it with nutrients and filter; in spite of the land and climatic variations, it remains uninfluenced; it acclimatizes itself in respect to three variations: hot, cold and moisture; with a thrilling sound it mixes with waters. 47

The elixir of divine force in flow is speedy like a chariot, it is filtered through sacrificial strainers, and is instilled into waters with which it mixes; it is sweet, tasting like honey, it is sweet stimulator and impeller; like other divinities, it responds to sincere praises. 48

Being eulogized, may it hasten to the wind: being purified, hasten to the sun and ocean; hasten to the twin divines. The leader, quick as thought and mounted on a car, may you quickly approach the resplendent self, the showerer and the wielder of the thunderbolt. 49

O divine elixir, while being filtered proceed to handsome garments, proceed to cows to be milked; proceed to silver and gold for maintenance; proceed to horses fit for chariots. 50

॥२१॥ अभी नो अर्ष दिव्या वसून्यभि विश्वा पार्थिवा पूयमानः ।
अभि येन द्रविणमश्नवामाभ्यार्षेयं जमदग्निवन्नः ॥५१॥
अया पवा पवस्वैना वसूनि माँश्चत्व इन्दो सरसि प्र धन्व ।
ब्रध्नश्चिदत्र वातो न जूतः पुरुमेधश्चित्तकवे नरं दात् ॥५२॥

abhi no arsha divyá vásuny abhí víṣvá párthivá puyámánaḥ | abhí yéna dráviṇam aṣnávamabhy àrsheyáṃ jamadagniván naḥ || 51 || ayá pavá pavasvainá vásuni maṅṣcatvá indo sárasi prá dhanva | bradhnáṣ cid átra váto ná jutáḥ purumédhaṣ cit tákave náraṃ dat || 52 ||

उत न एना पवया पवस्वाधि श्रुते श्रवाय्यस्य तीर्थे ।
षष्टिं सहस्रा नैगुतो वसूनि वृक्षं न पक्वं धूनवद्रणाय ॥५३॥
महीमे अस्य वृषनाम शूषे माँश्चत्वे वा पृशने वा वधत्रे ।
अस्वापयन्निगुतः स्नेहयच्चापामित्राँ अपाचितो अचेतः ॥५४॥
सं त्री पवित्रा विततान्येष्यन्वेकं धावसि पूयमानः ।
असि भगो असि दात्रस्य दातासि मघवा मघवद्भ्य इन्दो ॥५५॥

utá na ená pavayá pavasvádhi ṣruté ṣraváyyasya tírthé | shashṭíṃ sahásra naigutó vásūni vrikshámṃ ná pakváṃ dhūnavad ráṇāya || 53 || máhimé asya vríshanáma ṣushé maṅṣcatve vá príṣane vā vádhatre | ásvāpayan nigútaḥ snehá yac cápamítrañ ápācíto acetáḥ || 54 || sáṃ trí pavítra vítatāny eshy ánv ékaṃ dhāvasi pūyámānaḥ | ási bhágo ási datrásya dātási maghávā maghávadbhya indo || 55 || 21 ||

While being filtered and purified, bring us celestial treasures; bring us all earthly treasures, so that we may acquire riches and divinity and become brilliantly blazing. 51

O divine elixir, neat and pure, pour on us all these treasures; flow onward and mix with sacred waters; may you grant the house-holder a son, full of enlightenment, speedy like the wind, and distinguished for numerous dedicated services. 52

O worthy of renown, flow on for us, pure and filtered, at this renowned resting place. May this destroyer of evils drop down for us sixty thousand (countless) treasures, as one shakes a tree whose fruit is ripe, so that we may be victorious in the struggles of life against adversaries. 53

Eagerly do we pray for these two great rewards : the rain of arrows and humiliation of foes; these are the givers of happiness; they are deadly either in a fight on horse-back or in a hand-to-hand fight; it puts the foes to sleep and drives them away; may you, O divine elixir, drive away the unfriendly and unbelievers. 54

You flow forth unto three outstretched filters; you hasten to all of them, one by one in turn; you are auspicious; you are donor of gifts, O divine elixir; you are much more liberal and munificient than any other affluent. 55

॥२२॥ एष विश्ववित्पवते मनीषी सोमो विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजा ।
द्रप्साँ ईरयन्विदथेष्विन्दुर्वि वारमव्यं समयाति याति ॥५६॥
इन्दुं रिहन्ति महिषा अदब्धाः पदे रेभन्ति कवयो न गृध्राः ।
हिन्वन्ति धीरा दशभिः क्षिपाभिः समञ्जते रूपमपां रसेन ॥५७॥
त्वया वयं पवमानेन सोम भरे कृतं वि चिनुयाम शश्वत् ।
तन्नो मित्रो वरुणो मामहन्तामदितिः सिन्धुः पृथिवी उत द्यौः ॥५८॥

eshá visvavít pavate manīshí sómo vísvasya bhúvanasya rājā | drapsán īráyan vidátheshv índur ví váram ávyam samáyáti yāti || 56 || índum rihanti mahishá ádabdhāḥ padé rebhanti kaváyo ná grídhrāḥ | hinvánti dhírā daśábhiḥ kshípābhiḥ sám añjate rūpám apáṃ rásena || 57 || tváyā vayáṃ pávamānena soma bháre kritáṃ ví cinuyāma śá-śvat | tán no mitró váruṇo māmahantām áditiḥ síndhuḥ prithiví utá dyaúḥ || 58 || 22 ||

(९८) अष्टनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वार्षागिरोऽम्बरीषो भारद्वाज ऋजिश्वा च ऋषी । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१-१०, १२) प्रथमादिदशर्चां द्वादश्याश्चानुष्टुप्, (११) एकादश्याश्च बृहती छन्दसी ॥

॥२३॥ अभि नो वाजसातमं रयिमर्ष पुरुस्पृहम् ।
इन्दो सहस्रभर्णसं तुविद्युम्नं विभ्वासहम् ॥१॥
परि ष्य सुवानो अव्ययं रथे न वर्माव्यत ।
इन्दुरभि द्रुणा हितो हियानो धाराभिरक्षाः ॥२॥

98.

Abhí no vājasátamaṃ rayím arsha puruspríham | índo sahásrabharṇasaṃ tuvidyumnáṃ vibhvāsáham || 1 || pári shyá suvanó avyáyaṃ ráthe ná vármāvyata | índur abhí drúṇa hitó hiyanó dhárābhir akshāḥ || 2 ||

This all-knowing sage, the elixir of divine life force, the sovereign of the whole world, flows forth; distilling its drops at the holy places this elixir passes to the cosmic fleecy filter from both sides. 56

The adorable, unassailable divine elements sip the divine elixir; they hail it at its station like worshippers coveting for wealth; the skilful priests send forth the elixir after cleansing them with ten fingers : they anoint its body with waters (i.e. the effused elixir is mixed with waters). 57

O elixir, may we ever, with you, effused, pure and filtered, as our ally, win glory and copious wealth in battle; so may the sun, the ocean, our mother Eternity, the lord of rivers, heaven and earth as well enrich us. 58

98

Bring us, O elixir of divine love, strength-bestowing riches, desired by many, supporting thousands, far-celebrated and renowned and overcoming even the mighty foes. 1

When effused, the elixir of divine life force, flows to the cosmic woollen filter, as a well-protected warrior in a chariot covered in mail. In the midst of chants of hymns the wooden casks pour it on the filter and the clear sap flows out in streams. 2

परि ष्य सुवानो अक्षा इन्दुरव्ये मदच्युतः ।
धारा य ऊर्ध्वो अध्वरे भ्राजा नैति गव्ययुः ॥३॥
स हि त्वं देव शश्वते वसु मर्ताय दाशुषे ।
इन्दो सहस्रिणं रयिं शतात्मानं विवाससि ॥४॥
वयं ते अस्य वृत्रहन्वसो वस्वः पुरुस्पृहः ।
नि नेदिष्ठतमा इषः स्याम सुम्नस्याध्रिगो ॥५॥
द्विर्यं पञ्च स्वयशसं स्वसारो अद्रिसंहतम् ।
प्रियमिन्द्रस्य काम्यं प्रस्नापयन्त्यूर्मिणम् ॥६॥

pári shyá suvānó aksha índur ávye mádacyutaḥ | dhárā yá ūrdhvó adhvaré bhrajá naíti gavyayúḥ || 3 || sá hí tvám deva ṣáṣvate vásu mártaya daṣúshe | índo sahasríṇam rayím ṣatátmānam vivasasi || 4 || vayám te asyá vritrahan váso vásvaḥ puruspríhaḥ | ní nédishṭhatamā isháḥ syáma sumnásyādhrigo || 5 || dvír yám páñca sváyaṣasam svásāro ádrisaṃhatam | priyám índrasya kámyam prasnāpáyanty ūrmíṇam || 6 || 21 ||

॥२४॥

परि त्यं हर्यतं हरिं बभ्रुं पुनन्ति वारेण ।
यो देवान्विश्वाँ इत्परि मदेन सह गच्छति ॥७॥
अस्य वो ह्यवसा पान्तो दक्षसाधनम् ।
यः सूरिषु श्रवो बृहद्दधे स्वर्ण हर्यतः ॥८॥
स वां यज्ञेषु मानवी इन्दुर्जनिष्ट रोदसी ।
देवो देवी गिरिष्ठा अस्रेधन्तं तुविष्वणि ॥९॥

pari tyám haryatám hárim babhrúm punanti várena | yó deván víṣvāñ ít pári mádena sahá gáchati || 7 || asyá vo hy ávasā pánto dakshasádhanam | yáḥ sūríshu ṣrávo brihád dadhé svàr ṇá haryatáḥ || 8 || sá vāṃ yajñéshu mānavī índur janishṭa rodasī | devó devī girishṭhá ásredhan táṃ tuvishváṇi || 9 ||

The shining elixir, being effused, flows through the cosmos, i.e. fleecy filter, diffusing exhilaration all around. Being exalted, it goes in streams to the place of sacrifice, for being mixed with milk and curds. 3

O divine elixir, you grant riches, thousand-fold and hundred-fold treasure, to every one who offers libations. 4

O slayer of wicked, O lord of riches, we are yours; may we be very much close to your much-coveted wealth; O irresistible, may we be near happiness and worthy of sustenance. 5

The elixir is such as is expressed under the self-renowned stones with the waves of thrills. It is dear to the self, loved by all, and flows in streams. The twice-five (i.e. ten) sister-fingers give bath to the elixir plant. 6

It is golden-hued and brown (attractive and nutritious) and coveted by all; they purify it and filter across the filters (attractive and nutritious); it goes to Nature's all bounties with exhilaration. 7

May you drink this strengthening elixir which is loved by all and is brilliant like the sun, and which bestows abundant strength upon its worshippers and enlightened persons. 8

O divine heaven and earth, the well-wisher of the mankind, this elixir plant grows at your sacrifice; it is radiant and abides in hilly tracts; priests express it at the ceremony, where hymns are chanted with sweet rhythm. 9

इन्द्राय सोम पातवे वृत्रघ्ने परि षिच्यसे ।
नरे च दक्षिणावते देवाय सदनासदे ॥१०॥
ते प्रत्नासो व्युष्टिषु सोमाः पवित्रे अक्षरन् ।
अपप्रोथन्तः सनुतर्हुरश्चितः प्रातस्ताँ अप्रचेतसः ॥११॥
तं सखायः पुरोरुचं यूयं वयं च सूरयः ।
अश्याम वाजगन्ध्यं सनेम वाजपस्त्यम् ॥१२॥

índrāya soma pátave vṛitraghné pári shicyase | náre ca dákshiṇāvate deváya sadanāsáde || 10 || té pratnáso vyùshṭishu sómāḥ pavítre aksharan | apaprothantaḥ sanutár hurascítaḥ prātás tā́ñ ápracetasaḥ || 11 || tám sakhāyaḥ purorúcam yūyám vayám ca sūráyaḥ | aṣyáma vájagandhyam sanéma vájapastyam || 12 || 24 ||

(९९) नवनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काश्यपौ रेभसूनू ऋषी । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चो बृहती, (२–८) द्वितीयादिसप्तानाञ्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२५॥

आ हर्यताय धृष्णवे धनुस्तन्वन्ति पौंस्यम् ।
शुक्रां वयन्त्यसुराय निर्णिजं विपामग्रे महीयुवः ॥१॥
अध क्षपा परिष्कृतो वाजाँ अभि प्र गाहते ।
यदी विवस्वतो धियो हरिं हिन्वन्ति यातवे ॥२॥

99.

Á haryatáya dhṛishṇáve dhánus tanvanti paúṁsyam | ṣukrám vayanty ásurāya nirṇíjam vipám ágrē mahīyúvaḥ || 1 || ádha kshapá párishkṛito vájāñ abhí prá gāhate | yádī vivásvato dhíyo hárim hinvánti yátave || 2 ||

O elixir, you as a beverage, are poured forth for the aspirant, the resplendent self, the crusher of nescience, and for the exhilaration of the munificent worshipper, who sits in the assembly of worship and offers homage. 10

Those eternal elixirs flow into the cosmos at the morning hours, driving away the evil-minded wicked; these elixirs are filtered at the early dawn. 11

May you and we, O friends, enjoy the bright, fragrant and envigorating elixir; may we have the comforts of boarding and lodging. 12

99

People stretch the bow of manly vigour to obtain the blessings of this beloved courageous elixir and worshippers spread out the bright cosmic filter in front of the enlightened wise persons to clarify the mighty elixir. 1

And (the elixir), consecrated by the end of night, plunges into the strengthening food, while the prayers of the worshippers impel the golden-hued elixir to effuse and proceed (to the receiving pitchers). 2

तम॑स्य मर्जयामसि॒ मदो॒ य इ॑न्द्र॒पात॑मः ।
यं गाव॑ आ॒सभि॑र्द॒धुः पु॒रा नू॒नं च॑ सू॒रयः॑ ॥३॥
तं गाथ॑या पुरा॒ण्या पु॑ना॒नम॒भ्य॑नूषत ।
उ॒तो कृ॑पन्त धी॒तयो॑ दे॒वानां॒ नाम॒ बिभ्र॑तीः ॥४॥
तमु॒क्षमा॑णम॒व्यये॒ वारे॑ पुनन्ति धर्ण॒सिम् ।
दू॒तं न पू॒र्वचि॑त्तय॒ आ शा॑सते मनी॒षिणः॑ ॥५॥

tám asya marjayāmasi mádo yá indrapā́tamaḥ | yám gā́va āsábhir dadhúḥ purā́ nūnám ca sūráyaḥ || 3 || tám gā́thayā purāṇyā́ punānám abhy ànūshata | utó kripanta dhītáyo devā́nām nā́ma bíbhratīḥ || 4 || tám ukshámāṇam avyáye vā́re punanti dharṇasím | dūtám ná pūrvácittaya ā́ ṣāsate manīshíṇaḥ || 5 || 25 ||

॥२६॥

स पु॑ना॒नो म॒दिन्त॑मः॒ सोम॑श्च॒मूषु॑ सीदति ।
प॒शौ न रेत॑ आ॒दध॒त्पति॑र्वचस्यते धि॒यः ॥६॥
स मृ॑ज्यते सु॒कर्म॑भिर्दे॒वो दे॒वेभ्यः॑ सु॒तः ।
वि॒दे यदा॑सु संद॒दिर्म॒हीर॒पो वि गा॑हते ॥७॥
सुत॒ इन्दो॑ प॒वित्र॒ आ नृभि॑र्य॒तो वि नी॑यसे ।
इन्द्रा॑य मत्स॒रिन्त॑मश्च॒मूष्वा नि षी॑दसि ॥८॥

sá punānó madíntamaḥ sómaṣ camū́shu sīdati | paṣaú ná réta ādádhat pátir vacasyate dhiyáḥ || 6 || sá mrijyate sukármabhir devó devébhyaḥ sutáḥ | vidé yád āsu saṃdadír mahī́r apó ví gāhate || 7 || sutá indo pavítra ā́ nríbhir yató ví nīyase | índrāya matsaríntamaṣ camū́shv ā́ ní shīdasi || 8 || 26 ||

We purify the sap of that elixir which is exhilarating and fit for the assimilation of the resplendent self and which the cows and men of wisdom have been now and of old taking up by their mouths (cows provide milk to be mixed with the elixir, and wise men chant hymns of praise). 3

They have been celebrating the purified elixir with the ancient hymn of praise, and the sacred songs, bearing the names of divine powers, supplicate it. 4

They, the men of thinking, purify through the cosmic woollen filter the elixir, supporter of all, and sprinkled with milk and waters. They instruct it in advance, as a fore-thought, as taking it to be a messenger to bear their names in the morning prayers. 5

The most exhilarating elixir, being purified, alights on the cosmic vessels; it puts its seed (in the cosmic vessels) as it were to impregnate the heifer. Placed in the pitchers, as this protector of intellect is invoked by the hymns. 6

Effused for the divines, the Lord elixir is cleansed by the skilful priests; it is recognised amongst the people as the giver of riches, and as such, it plunges into the mighty cosmic waters. 7

When effused, and collected by the priests, O elixir, you are taken to the cosmic filter; you are poured in the cups for the aspirant, giving him the sublimest joy. 8

(१००) शततमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काश्यपौ रेभसूनू ऋषी । पवमानः सोमो देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥

अभी नवन्ते अद्रुहः प्रियमिन्द्रस्य काम्यम् ।
वत्सं न पूर्व आयुनि जातं रिहन्ति मातरः ॥१॥
पुनान इन्दवा भर सोम द्विबर्हसं रयिम् ।
त्वं वसूनि पुष्यसि विश्वानि दाशुषो गृहे ॥२॥

100

Abhí navante adrúhaḥ priyám índrasya kā́myam | vatsáṃ ná pū́rva ā́yuni jātáṃ rihanti mātáraḥ || 1 || punāná indav ā́ bhara sóma dvibárhasaṃ rayíṃ | tváṃ vásūni pushyasi víṣvāni dāṣúsho gṛihé || 2 ||

त्वं धियं मनोयुजं सृजा वृष्टिं न तन्यतुः ।
त्वं वसूनि पार्थिवा दिव्या च सोम पुष्यसि ॥३॥
परि ते जिग्युषो यथा धारा सुतस्य धावति ।
रंहमाणा व्य१व्ययं वारं वाजीव सानसिः ॥४॥
क्रत्वे दक्षाय नः कवे पवस्व सोम धारया ।
इन्द्राय पातवे सुतो मित्राय वरुणाय च ॥५॥

tváṃ dhíyam manoyújaṃ sṛijá vṛishṭíṃ ná tanyatúḥ | tváṃ vásūni pā́rthivā divyā́ ca soma pushyasi || 3 || pári te jigyúsho yathā dhā́rā sutásya dhāvati | ráṅhamāṇā vy àvyáyaṃ vā́raṃ vājíva sāsíḥ || 4 || krátve dákshāya naḥ kave pávasva soma dhā́rayā | índrāya pā́tave sutó mitrā́ya várunāya ca || 5 || 27 ||

100

The faultless cosmic waters approach the elixir, which is dear to the sun and beloved of all; just as the mothers (the cows) like the new-born calf at the early part of the life, similarly, the enlightened persons, free from malice, enjoy the elixir, the favourite of the aspirant and liked by all. 1

O divine elixir, when purified, bring us the riches of both worlds; may you foster all treasures in the house of the donor. 2

May you set free the stream of the elixir, rapid as thought, just as the cloud releases the rain; O elixir, may you foster the treasures, terrestrial and celestial both. 3

Your stream, when effused, is swift-flowing and bountiful; it rushes through the cosmic filter like a swift horse who wins prize on a chariot-race). 4

O sagacious cosmic elixir, flow in a stream for our enlightenment and invigoration; you are poured forth for the joy of lightning, the sun and the ocean. 5

॥२८॥

पव॑स्व वाज॒सात॑मः प॒वित्रे॒ धार॑या सु॒तः ।
इन्द्रा॑य सोम॒ विष्ण॑वे दे॒वेभ्यो॒ मधु॑मत्तमः ॥६॥
त्वां रि॑हन्ति मा॒तरो॒ हरिं॑ प॒वित्रे॑ अ॒द्रुहः॑ ।
व॒त्सं जा॒तं न धे॒नवः॒ पव॑मान॒ विध॑र्मणि ॥७॥
पव॑मान॒ महि॒ श्रव॑श्चि॒त्रेभि॑र्यासि र॒श्मिभिः॑ ।
शर्ध॒न्तमां॑सि जिघ्नसे॒ विश्वा॑नि दा॒शुषो॑ गृ॒हे ॥८॥
त्वं द्यां च॑ महिव्रत पृथि॒वीं चाति॑ जभ्रिषे । प्रति॑ द्रा॒पिम॑मुञ्चथाः॒ पव॑मान महित्व॒ना ॥९॥

pávasva vājasátamaḥ pavítre dhárayā sutáḥ | índrāya soma víshṇave devébhyo mádhumattamaḥ || 6 || tvā́ṃ rihanti mātáro hárim pavítre adrúhaḥ | vatsáṃ jātáṃ ná dhenávaḥ pávamāna vídharmaṇi || 7 || pávamāna máhi ṣrávaṣ citrébhir yāsi raṣmíbhiḥ | ṣárdhan támāṅsi jighnase víṣvāni dāṣúsho gṛihé || 8 || tvā́ṃ dyā́ṃ ca mahivrata pṛithivī́ṃ cáti jabhrishe | práti drāpím amuñcathāḥ pávamāna mahitvanā́ || 9 || 28 ||

(१०१) एकोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य श्यावाश्विरन्धीगुः, (४-६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य नाहुषो ययातिः, (७-९) सप्तम्यादितृचस्य राजर्षिर्मानवो नहुषः, (१०-१२) दशम्यादितृचस्य सांवरणो मनुः, (१३-१६) त्रयोदश्यादिचतुर्ऋचस्य च वैश्वामित्रो वाच्यो वा प्रजापतिर्ऋषयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१, ४-१६) प्रथमर्चश्चतुर्थ्यादित्रयोदशानाञ्चानुष्टुप्, (२-३) द्वितीयातृतीययोश्च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥१॥ पु॒रोजि॑ती वो॒ अन्ध॑सः सु॒ताय॑ मादयि॒त्नवे॑ । अप॒ श्वानं॑ श्नथिष्टन॒ सखा॑यो दीर्घजि॒ह्व्य॑म् ॥१॥

101.

Purójitī vo ándhasaḥ sutā́ya mādayitnáve | ápa ṣvā́naṃ ṣnathishṭana sákhāyo dīrghajihvyàm || 1 ||

Flow onward, O elixir, the giver of food; flow on to the cosmic filter in a stress, when effused; O elixir, you are most sweet for the soul, for the omnipresent Lord and for all other divine powers or men of enlightenment. 6

O golden-hued flowing elixirs, the faultless cosmic mothers caress you upon the cosmic filter at the place of worship, as the milch kine like the new-born calf. 7

O flowing elixir, you traverse the vast firmament with a variety of rays, that surround you; you drive with valour all the glooms away at the house of the liberal donor. 8

O elixir, strong of determinations, you support both heaven and earth; O flowing elixir, endowed with greatness, you put on your coat of mail in majesty. 9

101

O friends, please drive away far from here the long-tongued dog who is looking for an opportunity to share the effused exhilarating divine elixir, the sure granter of victory. 1

The elixir, effused and active, flows in a purifying stream; like a speedy horse, it comes flowing hitherwards. 2

The priests, with all comprehending intelligence, express and squeeze out under stones, the elixir, adorable and unassailable. 3

The expressed and sanctified sweet-flavoured exhilarating juices of divine elixir flow onward for the aspirant, the resplendent self; may you, O exhilarating elixir, proceed to other divine elements also. 4

The devout worshippers say, "O divine elixir, flow forth for the aspirant, the resplendent self"; it is the lord of speech, sovereign of all by its might, and worthy of our adoration. 5

The thousand-streamed ocean of the elixir, the inspirer of hymns, the lord of riches, the devoted friend of the aspirant flows day by day. 6

This divine elixir, being purified, hastens (to the pitcher): it is the provider of nutrition and wealth; it is delightful; it is the lord of the multitude; it illuminates both heaven and earth. 7

The affectionate emulous cows are eager to enjoy the elixir for their exhilaration; the brilliant filtered elixir juices make paths (for themselves to flow). 8

य ओजिष्ठस्तमा भर पवमान श्रवाय्यम् ।
यः पञ्च चर्षणीरभि रयिं येन वनामहे ॥९॥
सोमाः पवन्त इन्दवोऽस्मभ्यं गातुवित्तमाः ।
मित्राः सुवाना अरेपसः स्वाध्यः स्वर्विदः ॥१०॥

yá ójishṭhas tám á bhara pávamāna ṣravayyam | yáḥ páñca carshaṇír abhí rayím yéna vánamahai || 9 || sómāḥ pavanta índavo 'smábhyam gatuvíttamaḥ | mitráḥ suvāná arepásaḥ svadhyàḥ svarvídaḥ || 10 || 2 ||

॥३॥

सुष्वाणासो व्यद्रिभिश्चिताना गोरधि त्वचि ।
इषमस्मभ्यमभितः समस्वरन्वसुविदः ॥११॥
एते पूता विपश्चितः सोमासो दध्याशिरः ।
सूर्यासो न दर्शतासो जिगत्नवो ध्रुवा घृते ॥१२॥
प्र सुन्वानस्यान्धसो मर्तो न वृत तद्वचः ।
अप श्वानमराधसं हता मखं न भृगवः ॥१३॥
आ जामिरत्के अव्यत भुजे न पुत्र ओण्योः ।
सरज्जारो न योषणां वरो न योनिमासदम् ॥१४॥

sushvāṇáso vy ádribhiṣ citāna gór ádhi tvaci | ísham asmábhyam abhítaḥ sám asvaran vasuvídaḥ || 11 || eté putá vipaṣcitaḥ sómaso dádhyāṣiraḥ | súryāso ná darṣatáso jigatnávo dhruvá ghṛité || 12 || prá sunvanásyándhaso márto ná vṛita tád vácaḥ | ápa ṣvánam aradhásaṃ hatá makháṃ ná bhṛígavaḥ || 13 || á jamír átke avyata bhujé ná putrá oṇyóḥ | sáraj jāró ná yóshaṇaṃ varó ná yónim asádam || 14 ||

O filtered elixir, bring to us that celebrated juice, which is most potent, which waits upon the five classes of people and whereby we may obtain riches. 9

The brilliant elixirs flow for us, knowing the right path. They are friendly, sinless, good-intentioned, and enlightened. 10

Effused by placing the plant on the cattle-skin, and pressing with stones, may these elixirs be the acquirers of wealth; may they give nutrient food to us from all sides. 11

These filtered divine elixirs, intelligent, mixed with milk and curds, swift-moving, firm in the waters, are brilliant as the sun. 12

Let no mortal hear the sound of the effused divine elixir; may it drive off the dog, the greedy person, who is not dedicated to the public welfare. May you, the brilliant ones drive off this villain. 13

Divine elixir, the kinsman, is enveloped in the investing filter like a child in the arms of its protecting parents; it hastens like a lover to a beloved; like a bridegroom to the bride, to rest at his own abode (that is, in the pitcher). 14

स वीरो दक्षसाधनो वि यस्तस्तम्भ रोदसी ।
हरिः पवित्रे अव्यत वेधा न योनिमासदम् ॥१५॥
अव्यो वारेभिः पवते सोमो गव्ये अधि त्वचि ।
कनिक्रदद्वृषा हरिरिन्द्रस्याभ्येति निष्कृतम् ॥१६॥

sá vīró dakshasádhano ví yás tastámbha ródasī | hárih pavítre avyata vedhá ná yónim asádam || 15 || ávyo várebhih pavate sómo gávye ádhi tvaci | kánikradad vrísha hárir índrasyābhy ěti nishkritám || 16 || ३ ||

(१०२) द्व्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याप्त्यस्त्रित ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥४॥ क्राणा शिशुर्महीनां हिन्वन्नृतस्य दीधितिम् । विश्वा परि प्रिया भुवदध द्विता ॥१॥
उप त्रितस्य पाष्योरभक्त यद्गुहा पदम् । यज्ञस्य सप्त धामभिरध प्रियम् ॥२॥
त्रीणि त्रितस्य धारया पृष्ठेष्वेरया रयिम् । मिमीते अस्य योजना वि सुक्रतुः ॥३॥
जज्ञानं सप्त मातरो वेधामशासत श्रिये । अयं ध्रुवो रयीणां चिकेत यत् ॥४॥
अस्य व्रते सजोषसो विश्वे देवासो अद्रुहः । स्पार्हा भवन्ति रन्तयो जुषन्त यत् ॥५॥

102.

Krāṇá síṣur mahīnām hinvánn ritásya dídhitim | víṣvā pári priyá bhuvad ádha dvitá || 1 || úpa tritásya pāshyòr ábhakta yád gúha padám | yajñásya saptá dhámabhir ádha priyám || 2 || tríṇi tritásya dháraya prishṭhéshv éraya rayím | mímīte asya yójana ví sukrátuḥ || 3 || jajñānám saptá mātáro vedhám aṣāsata ṣriyé | ayám dhruvó rayīṇám ciketa yát || 4 || asyá vraté sajóshaso víṣve deváso adrúhaḥ | spārhá bhavanti rántayo jushánta yát || 5 || ४ ||

The golden-hued elixir, the implementer of strength, who upholds heaven and earth, is enveloped in the cosmic filter like the pious devotee in his own house. 15

The elixir flows purified by the cosmic fleecy filter, placed at a height; it comes out roaring on the cowhide; the showerer, the green-tinted goes to the abode of the aspirant, the resplendent self. 16

102

Engaged in sacred acts, the divine elixir is the child of the great earth. It casts lustre to the cosmic sacrifice. It has the control over the entire wealth of both the worlds, earth and heaven. 1

When the elixir takes its secret seat in the triangle of the heart (in the triple region of emotion, knowledge and bliss), it is invoked through the hymns of seven metres, since it is known as dear to sacrifice. 2

May you invoke the elixir, flowing in triple streams in the triple region of the heart; may it cause riches to flow to the sacrificial places. The person dedicated to sacred acts knows fully well the measure of his plan. 3

The seven metres (the seven mothers) impel the divine elixir, born of enlightenment, to assure prosperity for the worshipper, since verily the elixir is cognizant of riches. 4

All noble persons, pledged to the divine elixir and devoid of malice, assemble together at the sacred rite to participate in enjoyment of the elixir. They are to be envied, for they are delightfully absorbed in it. 5

॥५॥ यमी गर्भमृतावृधो दृशे चारुमजीजनन् । कविं मंहिष्ठमध्वरे पुरुस्पृहम् ॥६॥
समीचीने अभि त्मना यह्वी ऋतस्य मातरा । तन्वाना यज्ञमानुषग्यदञ्जते ॥७॥
क्रत्वा शुक्रेभिरक्षभिर्ऋणोरप व्रजं दिवः । हिन्वन्नृतस्य दीधितिं प्राध्वरे ॥८॥

yám ı gárbham ritavrídho drisé cárum ájıjanan | kavím máṅhishṭham adhvaré puruspríham || 6 || samıcīné abhí tmánā yahví ritásya mātárā | tanvānā́ yajñám ānushág yád añjaté || 7 || krátvā sukrébhir akshábhir riṇór ápa vrajám diváḥ | hinvánn ritásya dī́dhitim prádhvaré || 8 || 5 ||

(१०३) त्र्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१–६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याप्त्यो द्वित ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ प्र पुनानाय वेधसे सोमाय वच उद्यतम् । भृतिं न भरा मतिभिर्जुजोषते ॥१॥
परि वाराण्यव्यया गोभिरञ्जानो अर्षति । त्री षधस्था पुनानः कृणुते हरिः ॥२॥
परि कोशं मधुश्चुतमव्यये वारे अर्षति । अभि वाणीर्ऋषीणां सप्त नूषत ॥३॥
परि णेता मतीनां विश्वदेवो अदाभ्यः । सोमः पुनानश्चम्वोर्विशद्धरिः ॥४॥

103.

Prá punānā́ya vedháse sómāya váca údyatam | bhritím ná bharā matíbhir jújoshate || 1 || pári vā́rāṇy avyáyā góbhir añjānó arshati | trí shadhástha punānáḥ kriṇute háriḥ || 2 || pári kósam madhuscútam avyáye vā́re arshati | abhí vā́ṇīr ríshīṇāṃ saptá nūshata || 3 || pári ṇetā́ matīnā́ṃ visvá devo ádābhyaḥ | sómaḥ punānás camvòr visad dháriḥ || 4 ||

The germ, which the augmenters of the rite, bring forth at the sacrifice, is lovely to look upon, is intelligent, most adorable, and desired by many. 6

It of its own will goes to the great parents of the sacrifice, the unseparated ones, heaven and earth. At the ceremony, the priests duly anoint it with waters. 7

O elixir, by your act and by your eye-like brilliance, drive away the darkness from the sky and effuse into the sacrifice your juice, the lustre of the rite. 8

103

Sing loudly to the glory of the purified elixir, the institutor (of the rite). Pay homage to it, just as we pay wages to one who serves us. The elixir is verily gratified by praises. 1

Blending with milk and curds, the elixir rushes through the cosmic fleecy filter; the golden-hued elixir, when purified, rests in three regions (in the triangle of the heart—the seat of emotions, enlightenment and bliss). 2

The divine elixir sends forth its juice through the cosmic woollen filter to the honey-dripping receptacle; the seven metres of the hymns praise it. 3

The divine elixir is the evoker of intellect; all Nature's bounties are comprehended; it is unassailable, and is green-tinted. When filtered, may it come to rest in the cups. 4

परि दैवीरनु स्वधा इन्द्रेण याहि सरथम् । पुनानो वाघद्वाघद्भिरमर्त्यः ॥५॥
परि सप्तिर्न वाजयुर्देवो देवेभ्यः सुतः । व्यानशिः पवमानो वि धावति ॥६॥

pári daívīr ánu svadhā́ índreṇa yāhi saráthaṃ | punānó vāghád vāghádbhir ámartyaḥ || 5 || pári sáptir ná vājayúr devó devébhyaḥ sutáḥ | vyānaśíḥ pávamano ví dhāvati || 6 || 6 ||

[अथ सप्तमोऽनुवाकः ॥] (१०४) चतुरुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काण्वौ पर्वतनारदौ काश्यप्यौ शिखण्डिन्यावप्सरसौ वा ऋषिके । पवमानः सोमो देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ सखाय आ नि षीदत पुनानाय प्र गायत । शिशुं न यज्ञैः परि भूषत श्रिये ॥१॥
समी वत्सं न मातृभिः सृजता गयसाधनम् । देवाव्यं मदमभि द्विशवसम् ॥२॥
पुनाता दक्षसाधनं यथा शर्धाय वीतये । यथा मित्राय वरुणाय शंतमः ॥३॥
अस्मभ्यं त्वा वसुविदमभि वाणीरनूषत । गोभिष्टे वर्णमभि वासयामसि ॥४॥
स नो मदानां पत इन्दो देवप्सरा असि । सखेव सख्ये गातुवित्तमो भव ॥५॥
सनेमि कृध्यस्मदा रक्षसं कं चिदत्रिणम् । अपादेवं द्वयुमंहो युयोधि नः ॥६॥

104.

Sákhāya ā́ ní shīdata punānā́ya prá gāyata | śíśum ná yajñaíḥ pári bhūshata śriyé || 1 || sám ī vatsáṃ ná mātṛ́bhiḥ sṛijáta gayasā́dhanam | devavyàm mádam abhí dvíśavasam || 2 || punā́tā dakshasā́dhanaṃ yáthā śárdhāya vītáye | yátha mitrā́ya várunāya śáṃtamaḥ || 3 || asmábhyaṃ tvā vasuvídam abhí vā́ṇīr anūshata | góbhish ṭe várṇam abhí vāsayāmasi || 4 || sá no madānām pata índo devápsarā asi | sákheva sákhye gātuvíttamo bhava || 5 || sánemi kṛidhy àsmád ā́ rakshásaṃ káṃ cid atrínam | ápādevaṃ dvayúm áṅho yuyodhi naḥ || 6 || 7 ||

Proceed, O immortal, in the same chariot (in the same cavity) in which the self is seated to the celestial divine powers. Having been purified by priests, you have become pure and purifier. 5

Like a courser, who shows his strength, the divine elixir, effused for the divine elements; flows when purified and spreads widely in all directions. 6

104

Sit down, O friends, and sing aloud to the glory of the purified elixir, decorate it with offerings to beautify it as parents decorate a baby. 1

Just as the mother cares for her child, you devote yourself to the preparation of the elixir, the protector of the divine elements, the exhilarator. It is endowed with twofold strength, physical and spiritual. 2

Purify and filter (the divine elixir), the bestower of strength, for invigoration and for enjoyment. May it grant excellent happiness to the friend and to the man of distinction. 3

For us, do the hymns glorify you, the giver of wealth; we clothe your form with milk and curds (cow products). 4

O divine elixir, you are the king among all joy-giving elixirs; may you be our true guide as a friend to a friend. 5

May we cherish your friendship as if from the earliest times; drive away from us the voracious, the wicked, the impious, the godless, the double-dealer. Please keep sin and evil also far away from us.

(१०५) पञ्चोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काण्वौ पर्वतनारदावृषी । पवमानः सोमो देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥८॥ तं वः सखायो मदाय पुनानमभि गायत । शिशुं न यज्ञैः स्वदयन्त गूर्तिभिः ॥१॥
सं वत्स इव मातृभिरिन्दुर्हिन्वानो अज्यते । देवावीर्मदो मतिभिः परिष्कृतः ॥२॥

105.

Táṃ vaḥ sakhāyo mádāya punānám abhí gāyata | śíśuṃ ná yajñaíḥ svadayanta gūrtíbhiḥ || 1 || sáṃ vatsá iva mātṛ́bhir índur hinvānó ajyate | devāvī́r mádo matíbhiḥ páriṣhkṛitaḥ || 2 ||

अयं दक्षाय साधनोऽयं शर्धाय वीतये । अयं देवेभ्यो मधुमत्तमः सुतः ॥३॥
गोमन्न इन्दो अश्ववत्सुतः सुदक्ष धन्व । शुचिं ते वर्णमधि गोषु दीधरम् ॥४॥

ayáṃ dákshāya sā́dhano 'yáṃ śárdhāya vītáye | ayáṃ devébhyo mádhumattamaḥ sutáḥ || 3 || gómann indo áśvavat sutáḥ sudaksha dhanva | śúciṃ te várṇam ádhi góshu dīdharam || 4 ||

स नो हरीणां पत इन्दो देवप्सरस्तमः । सखेव सख्ये नर्यो रुचे भव ॥५॥
सनेमि त्वमस्मदाँ अदेवं कं चिदत्रिणम् । साह्वाँ इन्दो परि बाधो अप द्वयुम् ॥६॥

sá no harīṇā́ṃ pata índo devápsarastamaḥ | sákheva sákhye náryo rucé bhava || 5 || sánemi tvám asmád ā́ñ ádevaṃ káṃ cid atríṇam | sāhvā́ñ indo pári bā́dho ápa dvayúm || 6 || 8 ||

105

O friends, loudly chant the hymns while the elixir is being purified. It is a joyful drink for the divine powers. Sweeten the elixir with oblations and sweet words, just as a child is pleased with colourful decorations. 1

The divine elixir is thoroughly mixed with waters as a calf is nourished by its mother; it is the protector of the enlightened one, the exhilarator, and is glorified by our praises. 2

This elixir is a sure means for obtaining invigoration; it is useful for acquiring speed and as a nutrient; it is effused most sweet-flavoured for the divine powers and the enlightened ones. 3

O powerful elixir, while expressed, pour upon us riches, comprising cattle (wealth) and horses (vigour); I shall add pure milk and curds to it. 4

O divine elixir, lord of our vigorous actions, you possess a most brilliant form; may you be kind to priests, and enlighten us as a friend enlightens a friend. 5

May you show us your ancient eternal friendship; drive away the impious voracious demoniac tendencies; O victorious elixir, overcome those who oppress us. and drive off those who are engrossed in sin. 6

(१०६) षडुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–१४) चतुर्दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१–३, १०–१४) प्रथमादितृचस्य दशम्यादिपञ्चानाञ्च चाक्षुषोऽग्निः, (४–६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य मानवश्चक्षुः, (७–९) सप्तम्यादितृचस्य चाप्सवो मनुर्ऋषयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । उष्णिक् छन्दः ॥

॥०॥ इन्द्रमच्छ सुता इमे वृषणं यन्तु हरयः । श्रुष्टी जातास इन्दवः स्वर्विदः ॥१॥
अयं भराय सानसिरिन्द्राय पवते सुतः । सोमो जैत्रस्य चेतति यथा विदे ॥२॥
अस्येदिन्द्रो मदेष्वा ग्राभं गृभ्णीत सानसिम् । वज्रं च वृषणं भरत्समप्सुजित् ॥३॥
प्र धन्वा सोम जागृविरिन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव । द्युमन्तं शुष्ममा भरा स्वर्विदम् ॥४॥
इन्द्राय वृषणं मदं पवस्व विश्वदर्शतः । सहस्रयामा पथिकृद्विचक्षणः ॥५॥

106.

Índram ácha sutá imé vríshaṇam yantu hárayaḥ | ṣrushṭí jātása índavaḥ svarvídaḥ || 1 || ayám bhárāya sānasír índrāya pavate sutáḥ | sómo jaítrasya cetati yáthā vidé || 2 || asyéd índro mádeshv á grābhám gṛibhṇīta sānasím | vájram ca vríshaṇam bharat sám apsujít || 3 || prá dhanvā soma jágṛivir índrāyendo pári srava | dyumántam ṣúshmam á bharā svarvídam || 4 || índrāya vríshaṇam mádam pávasva viṣvádarṣataḥ | sahásrayāmā pathikṛíd vicakshaṇáḥ || 5 || 9 ||

॥१०॥ अस्मभ्यं गातुवित्तमो देवेभ्यो मधुमत्तमः । सहस्रं याहि पथिभिः कनिक्रदत् ॥६॥
पवस्व देववीतय इन्दो धाराभिरोजसा । आ कलशं मधुमान्त्सोम नः सदः ॥७॥
तव द्रप्सा उदप्रुत इन्द्रं मदाय वावृधुः । त्वां देवासो अमृताय कं पपुः ॥८॥

asmábhyam gātuvíttamo devébhyo mádhumattamaḥ | sahásram yāhi pathíbhiḥ kánikradat || 6 || pávasva devávītaya índo dhárābhir ójasā | á kaláṣam mádhumān soma naḥ sadaḥ || 7 || táva drapsá udaprúta índram mádāya vāvṛidhuḥ | tvám deváso amṛítāya kám papuḥ || 8 ||

106

May these effused, all-knowing, golden-hued elixirs be quickly generated; may they proceed to the aspirant, the resplendent self, the showerer of blessings. 1

This effused elixir is an inspirer in putting a fight (against evils and evil doers); it is squeezed and filtered for the aspirant; it thinks of the victorious self, just as it thinks of others. 2

In the exhilaration of the spiritual joy, may the inner self seize hold of the bow with ease, and conquering evils in the world, may he wield the bolt of adamantine will power, the showerer of benefits. 3

Flow on, O stream of vigilant spiritual bliss; may it spread around for the aspirant. May it bless us with brilliant, overpowering and all obtaining strength. 4

Pour forth for the inner self the exhilarating sap of divine bliss; verily, you are charming, a tracer of fresh paths, the finder of the right ones. You are a showerer of blessing and all-beholding. 5

You are the best finder of paths for us, and the sweetest beverage for the divines; may you, roaring loudly, come to us by the thousand paths. 6

O elixir of divine bliss, flow onward in your strength with your streams for the inspiration and exultation of Nature's bounties; may you, fragrant and flavoured, come to stay in our pitchers (of heart). 7

Your drops, proceeding towards waters, have exalted the self to exhilaration; the senses have quaffed you for immortality. 8

आ नः सुतास इन्दवः पुनाना धावता रयिम् । वृष्टिद्यावो रीत्यापः स्वर्विदः ॥९॥
सोमः पुनान ऊर्मिणाव्यो वारं वि धावति । अग्रे वाचः पवमानः कनिक्रदत् ॥१०॥ á naḥ sutāsa

indavaḥ punāná dhāvatā rayím | vṛishṭídyāyo rītyāpaḥ
svarvídaḥ || 9 || sómaḥ punāná ūrmíṇávyo váram ví dhāvati |
ágre vācáḥ pávamānaḥ kánikradat || 10 || 10 ||

॥२१॥ धीभिर्हिन्वन्ति वाजिनं वने क्रीळन्तमत्यविम् । अभि त्रिपृष्ठं मतयः समस्वरन् ॥११॥
असर्जि कलशाँ अभि मीळ्हे सप्तिर्न वाजयुः । पुनानो वाचं जनयन्नसिष्यदत् ॥१२॥

dhībhír hinvanti vājínam váne krílantam átyavim | abhí
triprishṭhám matáyaḥ sám asvaran || 11 || ásarjì kaláṣāñ abhí mīḷhé sáptir ná vājayúḥ | punānó vácam janáyann asishyadat || 12 ||

पवते हर्यतो हरिरति ह्वरांसि रंह्या । अभ्यर्षन्त्स्तोतृभ्यो वीरवद्यशः ॥१३॥
अया पवस्व देवयुर्मधोर्धारा असृक्षत । रेभन्पवित्रं पर्येषि विश्वतः ॥१४॥

pávate haryató hárir áti hvárāṅsi ráṅhyā | abhy-árshan stotṛíbhyo vīrávad yáṣaḥ || 13 || ayá pavasva devayúr mádhor dhárā asṛikshata | rébhan pavítram páry eshi
viṣvátaḥ || 14 || 11 ||

Bring us wealth (of wisdom), O bright blissful spirit, expressed and purified; you fill the sky with rains, and shed water on the earth; you give us everything that we need. 9

The spiritual elixir, while filtered, flows in a stream through the fleecy filter, and roars aloud before the hymns are chanted. 10

With their fingers, the priests send forth the powerful elixir of bliss sporting in the cosmic waters and passing through cosmic fleecy filter. Thereafter the elixir abides in the three receptacles (heaven, midspace and earth; and in the body complex in the physical, mental and spiritual regions). 11

For nourishing (the worshipper) it has been set free into the receptacles like an impetuous courser in battle. While filtered, it raises a cry, and flows (in the vessels). 12

The delightful golden-hued elixir flows with rapidity into the crooked (pitchers). It provides wealth and vigour to the worshippers. 13

For the exhilaration of organs, your streams are set free. May you flow, O elixir, with thrilling sounds and pass through the ultra-psychic filter in all directions. 14

(१०७) सप्तोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–२६) षड्विंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यो भरद्वाजः, मारीचः कश्यपः, राहूगणो गोतमः, भौमोऽत्रिः, गाथिनो विश्वामित्रः, भार्गवो जमदग्निः, मैत्रावरुणिर्वसिष्ठश्च सप्तर्षयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । (१–२, ४–७, १०–१५, १७–२६) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोश्चतुर्थ्यादिचतसृणां दशम्यादिषण्णां सप्तदश्यादिदशानाञ्च प्रगाथः [(१, ४, ६, १०, १२, १४, १७, १९, २१, २३, २५) प्रथमाचतुर्थीषष्ठीदशमीद्वादशीचतुर्दशीसप्तदश्येकोनविंश्येकविंशीत्रयोविंशीपञ्चविंशीनां बृहती, (२, ५, ७, ११, १३, १५, १८, २०, २२, २४, २६) द्वितीयापञ्चमीसप्तम्येकादशीत्रयोदशीपञ्चदश्यष्टादशीविंशीद्वाविंशीचतुर्विंशीषड्विंशीनां सतोबृहती], (३) तृतीयाया भुरिग्विराड् द्विपदा. (८–९) अष्टमीनवम्योर्बृहती. (१६) षोडश्याश्च द्विपदा विराट् छन्दांसि ॥

॥१२॥

परीतो षिञ्चता सुतं सोमो य उत्तमं हविः ।
दधन्वाँ यो नर्यो अप्स्व१न्तरा सुषाव सोममद्रिभिः ॥१॥
नूनं पुनानोऽविभिः परि स्रवादब्धः सुरभिंतरः ।
सुते चित्त्वाप्सु मदामो अन्धसा श्रीणन्तो गोभिरुत्तरम् ॥२॥

107.

Párītó shiñcatā sutáṃ sómo yá uttamáṃ havíḥ | dadhanváñ yó náryo apsv àntár ā́ sushā́va sómam ádribhiḥ || 1 || nūnáṃ punānó 'vibhiḥ pári sravā́dabdhaḥ surabhíntaraḥ | suté cit tvāpsú madāmo ándhasā ṣrīṇánto góbhir úttaram || 2 ||

परि सुवानश्चक्षसे देवमादनः क्रतुरिन्दुर्विचक्षणः ॥३॥
पुनानः सोम धारयापो वसानो अर्षसि ।
आ रत्नधा योनिमृतस्य सीदस्युत्सो देव हिरण्ययः ॥४॥
दुहान ऊधर्दिव्यं मधु प्रियं प्रत्नं सधस्थमासदत् ।
आपृच्छ्यं धरुणं वाज्यर्षति नृभिर्धूतो विचक्षणः ॥५॥

pári suvānáṣ cákshase devamā́danaḥ krátur índur vicakshaṇáḥ || 3 || punānáḥ soma dhā́rayāpó vásāno arshasi | ā́ ratnadhā́ yónim ṛitásya sīdasy útso deva hiraṇyáyaḥ || 4 || duhāná ū́dhar divyáṃ mádhu priyaṃ pratnáṃ sadhástham ā́sadat | āpṛíchyaṃ dharúṇaṃ vājy àrshati nṛíbhir dhūtó vicakshaṇáḥ || 5 || 12 ||

107

Hence sprinkle forth the effused divine elixir from all sides which is the best sacred oblation; it is useful to men as well. It is dressed with waters of firmament; its plant is crushed under stones by the priests. 1

The elixir, filtered through the cosmic fleecy filter, is unassailable, most fragrant, and flows around on effusion. We praise you; you are mixed with cosmic waters and milk and curds as nutrients. 2

After effusion, the elixir flows so as to be seen by every one; it is the exhilarator of Nature's bounties, is active and far-sighted and the source of inspiration. 3

You have been filtered clear, O elixir; you flow in a stream clothed in the consecrated waters; you are the giver of wealth and rest in the place of cosmic rites. It flows forth upwards like a golden fountain. 4

Milking the agreeable celestial exhilarating udder, it rests on its ancient seat, the firmament. The elixir is food-giving. It is washed and cleansed by men and it proceeds to the receiving vessels, worthy of praises. 5

॥१३॥

पुनानः सोम जागृविरव्यो वारे परि प्रियः ।
त्वं विप्रो अभवोऽङ्गिरस्तमो मध्वा यज्ञं मिमिक्ष नः ॥६॥
सोमो मीढ्वान्पवते गातुवित्तम ऋषिर्विप्रो विचक्षणः ।
त्वं कविरभवो देववीतम आ सूर्यं रोहयो दिवि ॥७॥

punānáḥ soma jā́grivir ávyo vā́re pári priyáḥ | tvám̐ vípro abhavó 'ngirastamo mádhvā yajñám mimiksha naḥ || 6 || sómo mīḍhvā́n pavate gātuvíttama ṛíshir vípro vicakshaṇáḥ | tvám̐ kavír abhavo devavítama ā́ sū́ryam̐ rohayo diví || 7 ||

सोम उ षुवाणः सोतृभिरधि ष्णुभिरवीनाम् ।
अश्वयेव हरिता याति धारया मन्द्रया याति धारया ॥८॥
अनूपे गोमान्गोभिरक्षाः सोमो दुग्धाभिरक्षाः ।
समुद्रं न संवरणान्यग्मन्मन्दी मदाय तोशते ॥९॥
आ सोम सुवानो अद्रिभिस्तिरो वाराण्यव्यया ।
जनो न पुरि चम्वोर्विशद्धरिः सदो वनेषु दधिषे ॥१०॥

sóma u shuvāṇáḥ sotṛíbhir ádhi shṇúbhir ávīnām | áṣvayeva haritā yāti dhā́rayā mandráyā yāti dhā́rayā || 8 || anūpé gómān góbhir akshāḥ sómo dugdhā́bhir akshāḥ | samudrám̐ ná sam̐váraṇāny agman mandī́ mádāya toṣate || 9 || ā́ soma suvānó ádribhis tiró vā́rāṇy avyáyā | jáno na purí camvòr viṣad dháriḥ sádo váneshu dadhishe || 10 || 11 ||

The ever-vigilant effused elixir flows and passes through the cosmic fleecy filter. You are intelligent, prominent among all the body-fluids. May you sprinkle your oblations with this exhilarating juice. 6

The elixir, which is the showerer of benefits, best of the path-finders, a seer, a sage, and all-discriminating, flows onward. (O elixir), you are wise, most devoted to the divines; it is on your accounts that the sun mounts the heaven. 7

Pressed out by the cosmic effusers, the elixir comes filtered from the cosmic elevated fleecy filters placed at high levels. It proceeds ahead with its golden-hued stream as a mare; it proceeds ahead with its exhilarating stream. 8

The divine elixir of life, mixed with cow-products, flows into the cosmic reservoir. Mixed with milk, it is filtered, its enjoyable juices go (to pitchers) as rivers go to the cosmic ocean; the exhilarating saps are expressed to invigorate Nature's bounties. 9

Expressed by the stones, the golden-hued, divine elixir, passes through the cosmic fleecy filters to the cups just as a man enters a city. 10

॥१४॥ स मामृजे तिरो अण्वानि मेष्यो मीळ्हे सप्तिर्न वाजयुः ।
अनुमाद्यः पवमानो मनीषिभिः सोमो विप्रेभिर्ऋक्वभिः ॥११॥
प्र सोम देववीतये सिन्धुर्न पिप्ये अर्णसा ।
अंशोः पयसा मदिरो न जागृविरच्छा कोशं मधुश्चुतम् ॥१२॥

sá māmṛije tiró áṇvani meshyò mīḷhé sáptir ná vājayúḥ | anumádyaḥ pávamāno manīshíbhiḥ sómo víprebhir ṛíkvabhiḥ || 11 || prá soma devávītaye síndhur ná pipye árṇasā | aṅsóḥ páyasā madiró ná jágṛivir ácha kóśam madhuścútam || 12 ||

आ हर्यतो अर्जुने अत्के अव्यत प्रियः सूनुर्न मर्ज्यः ।
तमीं हिन्वन्त्यपसो यथा रथं नदीष्वा गभस्त्योः ॥१३॥
अभि सोमास आयवः पवन्ते मद्यं मदम् ।
समुद्रस्याधि विष्टपि मनीषिणो मत्सरासः स्वर्विदः ॥१४॥
तरत्समुद्रं पवमान ऊर्मिणा राजा देव ऋतं बृहत् ।
अर्षन्मित्रस्य वरुणस्य धर्मणा प्र हिन्वान ऋतं बृहत् ॥१५॥

á haryató árjune átke avyata priyáḥ sūnúr ná márjyaḥ | tam īm hinvanty apáso yáthā rátham nadíshv á gábhastyoḥ || 13 || abhí sómāsa āyávaḥ pávante mádyam mádam | samudrásyádhi vishṭápi manīshíṇo matsarásaḥ svarvídaḥ || 14 || tárat samudrám pávamāna ūrmíṇā rájā devá ṛitám bṛihát | árshan mitrásya váruṇasya dhármaṇā prá hinvāná ṛitám bṛihát || 15 || 14 ||

Passing through the interstices of the fleece, the divine elixir is adorned like a horse in the battle; it is to be invoked and praised by everyone by men of wisdom and by the reciters of sacred songs. 11

O divine elixir, like rivers feeding an ocean, you are fed with water for the rejoicing of Nature's bounties; full of joy to the extreme, you move towards the honey-dropping pitcher, meant to stock the spiritual bliss. 12

It is loving and affectionate like a dear son about to be decorated. The divine elixir is clad in a shining robe. Fingers of both the hands compel it to mix with streams of waters just as a warrior drives his chariot into battle. 13

The wise priests send forth the inebriating juices upon the uplifted cosmic fleecy filter of the firmament. The elixir is full of lustre, intelligent, and exhilarating. 14

May the flowing divine royal elixir, vast and true (or mixed with large quantities of water), undergo purification, and traverses the firmament in a stream; vast and true, being sent forth, it flows for the support of the sun and ocean. 15

॥१५॥ नृभिर्येमानो हर्यतो विचक्षणो राजा देवः समुद्रियः ॥१६॥
इन्द्राय पवते मदः सोमो मरुत्वते सुतः ।
सहस्रधारो अत्यव्यमर्षति तमी मृजन्त्यायवः ॥१७॥

nṛíbhir yemānó haryató vicakshaṇó rájā deváḥ samudríyaḥ || 16 || índrāya pavate mádaḥ sómo marútvate sutáḥ | sahásradhāro áty ávyam arshati tám ı mṛijanty āyávaḥ || 17 ||

पुनानश्चमू जनयन्मतिं कविः सोमो देवेषु रण्यति ।
अपो वसानः परि गोभिरुत्तरः सीदन्वनेष्वव्यत ॥१८॥
तवाहं सोम रारण सख्य इन्दो दिवेदिवे ।
पुरूणि बभ्रो नि चरन्ति मामव परिधीँरति ताँ इहि ॥१९॥
उताहं नक्तमुत सोम ते दिवा सख्याय बभ्र ऊधनि ।
घृणा तपन्तमति सूर्यं परः शकुना इव पप्तिम ॥२०॥

punānáṣ camū́ janáyan matím kavíḥ sómo devéshu raṇyati | apó vásanaḥ pári góbhir úttaraḥ sídan váneshv avyata || 18 || távāhám soma rāraṇa sakhyá indo divé-dive | purúṇi babhro ní caranti mám áva paridhī́ṅr áti tā́ṅ ihi || 19 || utáhám náktam utá soma te dívā sakhyāya babhra ū́dhani | ghṛiṇā́ tápantam áti sū́ryam paráḥ ṣakunā́ iva paptima || 20 || 15

Led and disciplined by the priests, the divine royal elixir, intelligent and abiding in the firmament— 16

When effused and expressed, it flows for the aspirant self, attended with the vital breaths. With all its thousand streams, it passes through the fleecy sieve for filtration. It is cleansed by men. 17

Purified in the cosmic bowls, the sagacious elixir, gendering songs, rejoices amongst all divine elements, clothed with the waters and sitting in the wooden bowls, it is surrounded with the sweet milk and curds (the elixir is mixed with milk and curds and then used as a libation or beverage). 18

O divine elixir, in your friendship, I have been rejoicing day by day; many evils assail me. O bright elixir, overcome them who surround me and tease. 19

I am delighted in your presence, O tawny-coloured elixir, both day and night. For the sake of your friendship, may we soar like birds far beyond the sun, refulgent with your glow. 20

॥१६॥

मृज्यमानः सुहस्त्य समुद्रे वाचमिन्वसि ।
रयिं पिशङ्गं बहुलं पुरुस्पृहं पवमानाभ्यर्षसि ॥२१॥
मृजानो वारे पवमानो अव्यये वृषाव चक्रदो वने ।
देवानां सोम पवमान निष्कृतं गोभिरञ्जानो अर्षसि ॥२२॥
पवस्व वाजसातयेऽभि विश्वानि काव्या ।
त्वं समुद्रं प्रथमो वि धारयो देवेभ्यः सोम मत्सरः ॥२३॥
स तू पवस्व परि पार्थिवं रजो दिव्या च सोम धर्मभिः ।
त्वां विप्रासो मतिभिर्विचक्षण शुभ्रं हिन्वन्ति धीतिभिः ॥२४॥

mrijyámanaḥ suhastya samudré vacam invasi | rayím pisaṅgam bahulám purusprího pávamanabhy árshasi ||21|| mrijanó váre pávamano avyaye vrísháva cakrado váne | devánaṃ soma pavamana nishkritáṃ góbhir añjānó arshasi ||22|| pávasva vájasataye 'bhi visvani kavya | tváṃ samudrám prathamó ví dharayo devébhyaḥ soma matsaráḥ ||23|| sá tú pavasva pári parthivaṃ rájo divyá ca soma dhármabhiḥ | tváṃ vípraso matíbhir vicakshaṇa subhráṃ hinvanti dhitíbhiḥ ||24||

पवमाना असृक्षत पवित्रमति धारया ।
मरुत्वन्तो मत्सरा इन्द्रिया हया मेधामभि प्रयांसि च ॥२५॥
अपो वसानः परि कोशमर्षतीन्दुर्हियानः सोतृभिः ।
जनयञ्ज्योतिर्मन्दना अवीवशद्गाः कृण्वानो न निर्णिजम् ॥२६॥

pávamana asrikshata pavítram áti dháraya | marútvanto matsará indriyá háya medhám abhi práyāṅsi ca ||25|| apó vásanaḥ pári kóṣam arshatíndur hiyānáḥ sotríbhiḥ | janáyañ jyótir mandána avivaṣad gáḥ kriṇvanó ná nirṇijam ||26||16||

O elixir, cleansed by beautiful fingers of both the hands, you utter divine words in the process of purification and filtration. You bring, O golden-hued elixir, much-coveted wealth when you flow to us. 21

O flowing elixir, the life-force, the showerer of benefits, when cleansed and filtered through the cosmic fleecy woollen sieve, you come down with a roar (to mix with waters). O effusing elixir, you are mixed with milk and curds for the satisfaction of divine elements, and then you are taken to your proper place. 22

Flow onward, O elixir, full of all praises, to procure food for us; you are the exhilarator of the divine powers and the chief supporter of the firmament. 23

Flow quickly, O far-seeing, radiant, fair coloured, divine elixir with your supports to the terrestrial and celestial worlds. The experienced priests press you out with their fingers. They continue to chant the hymns of praise as the process goes on. 24

Your filtered juices, neat and clean, are let flow through the cosmic filter in a stream for the resplendent self and for the vital elements. They are exhilarating, and swift-moving. They bring us nutrition and fame. 25

The divine elixir, clad in watery robes and effused by the worshippers, rushes to the receptacle, generating light and identifying its form with the cow (i.e. when mixed with milk and curds). This elixir is worth our invocations, and commendations. 26

(१०८) अष्टोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोः शाक्त्यो गौरिवीतिः, (३, १४-१६) तृतीयायाश्चतुर्दश्यादितृचस्य च वासिष्ठः शक्तिः, (४-५) चतुर्थीपञ्चम्योराङ्गिरस ऊरुः, (६-७) षष्ठीसप्तम्योर्भारद्वाज ऋजिश्वा, (८-९) अष्टमीनवम्योराङ्गिरस ऊर्ध्वसद्मा, (१०-११) दशम्येकादश्योराङ्गिरसः कृतयशाः, (१२-१३) द्वादशीत्रयोदश्योश्च राजर्षिर्ऋणञ्चय ऋषयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । काकुभः प्रगाथः [विषमर्चा ककुप्, समर्चा सतोबृहती, (१३) त्रयोदश्या यवमध्या गायत्री] छन्दः ॥

॥१.७॥ पव॑स्व मधु॑मत्तम॒ इन्द्रा॑य सोम क्रतु॒वित्त॑मो॒ मदः॑ । महि॑ द्यु॒क्षत॑मो॒ मदः॑ ॥१॥
यस्य॑ ते पी॒त्वा वृ॑ष॒भो वृ॑षा॒यते॒ऽस्य पी॒ता स्व॒र्विदः॑ ।
स सु॒प्रके॑तो अ॒भ्य॑क्रमी॒दिषो॒ऽच्छा॒ वाजं॒ नैत॑शः ॥२॥

108.

Pávasva mádhumattama índraya soma kratuvíttamo madaḥ | máhi dyukshátamo mádaḥ || 1 || yásya te pītvá vṛishabhó vṛishayáte 'sya pītá svarvídaḥ | sá supráketo abhy ákramīd íshó 'cha vājam naítaṣaḥ || 2 ||

त्वं ह्य१॒ङ्ग दैव्या॒ पव॑मान॒ जनि॑मानि द्यु॒मत्त॑मः । अ॒मृ॒त॒त्वाय॑ घो॒षयः॑ ॥३॥
येना॒ नव॑ग्वो द॒ध्यङ्ङ॑पोर्णु॒ते येन॒ विप्रा॑स आपि॒रे ।
दे॒वानां॑ सु॒म्ने अ॒मृत॑स्य॒ चारु॑णो॒ येन॒ श्रवां॑स्यान॒शुः ॥४॥
ए॒ष स्य धार॑या सु॒तोऽव्यो॒ वारे॑भिः पवते म॒दिन्त॑मः । क्रीळ॑न्नू॒र्मिर॒पामि॑व ॥५॥

tvám hy àṅga daívya pávamana jánimani dyumáttamaḥ | amṛitatvāya ghosháyaḥ || 3 || yéna návagvo dadhyáṅṅ aporṇuté yéna víprasa āpiré | devánāṃ sumné amṛitasya cáruṇo yéna srávaṅsy ānaṣúḥ || 4 || eshá syá dhárayā sutó 'vyo várebhiḥ pavate madíntamaḥ | krílann ūrmír apám iva || 5 || 17 ||

108

O sweet-flavoured, most intelligent, exhilarator, elixir of divine love, flow for the aspirant self, the great, the most brilliant and full of bliss. 1

By drinking whom the mighty aspirant is invigorated and becomes the beholder of everything under its impulsion, the intelligent self reaches the viands (of the enemy) as the horse reaches the battle. 2

O effusing divine love, brilliant and pure, you invoke and evoke all divine elements for the sake of their immortality. 3

Through you, the most realised sages, the offerers of the nine day's rite, have been opening the door of the cave. Again through you the seers recover the lost cows, i.e. the wisdom; through you, under the protection of the divine, the worshippers obtain the sustenance of the delicious ambrosial water. 4

This divine elixir when effused flows most exhilarating through the cosmic woollen fleecy sieve and sporting like a wave of water. 5

॥१८॥ य उस्रिया अप्या अन्तरश्मनो निर्गा अकृन्तदोजसा ।
अभि व्रजं तत्निषे गव्यमश्व्यं वर्मीव धृष्णवा रुज ॥६॥
आ सोता परि षिञ्चताश्वं न स्तोममप्तुरं रजस्तुरम् । वनक्रक्षमुदप्रुतम् ॥७॥
सहस्रधारं वृषभं पयोवृधं प्रियं देवाय जन्मने ।
ऋतेन य ऋतजातो विवावृधे राजा देव ऋतं बृहत् ॥८॥
अभि द्युम्नं बृहद्यश इषस्पते दिदीहि देव देवयुः । वि कोशं मध्यमं युव ॥९॥
आ वच्यस्व सुदक्ष चम्वोः सुतो विशां वह्निर्न विश्पतिः ।
वृष्टिं दिवः पवस्व रीतिमपां जिन्वा गविष्टये धियः ॥१०॥

yá usríyā ápyā antár áṣmano nír gá ákṛintad ójasā | abhí vrajám tatnishe gávyam áṣvyam varmíva dhṛishṇav á ruja || 6 || á sotā pári shiñcatáṣvam ná stómam aptúram rajastúram | vanakrakshám udaprútam || 7 || sahásradhāram vṛishabhám payovṛídham priyám deváya jánmane | ṛiténa yá ṛitájāto vivāvṛidhé rájā devá ṛitám bṛihát || 8 || abhí dyumnám bṛihád yáṣa íshas pate didīhí deva devayúḥ | ví kóṣam madhyamám yuva || 9 || á vacyasva sudaksha camvòḥ sutó viṣám váhnir ná viṣpátiḥ | vṛishṭím diváḥ pavasva rītím apám jínvā gávishṭaye dhíyaḥ || 10 || 18 ||

॥१९॥ एतमु त्यं मदच्युतं सहस्रधारं वृषभं दिवो दुहुः । विश्वा वसूनि बिभ्रतम् ॥११॥
वृषा वि जज्ञे जनयन्नमर्त्यः प्रतपञ्ज्योतिषा तमः ।
स सुष्टुतः कविभिर्निर्णिजं दधे त्रिधात्वस्य दंससा ॥१२॥

etám u tyám madacyútam sahásradhāram vṛishabhám dívo duhuḥ | víṣvā vásūni bíbhratam || 11 || vṛíshā ví jajñe janáyann ámartyaḥ pratápañ jyótishā támaḥ | sá súshṭutaḥ kavíbhir nirṇíjam dadhe tridhátv asya dánsasā || 12 ||

O hero elixir, it is you who by your might have been extricating from the rock the quick-moving kine, abiding in the waters. You have spread out a pasturage for cattle and horses and like a mailed warrior, you have been ever slaying the wicked and cruel. 6

O priests, pour forth and sprinkle the beverage all around, swift in action like a horse, the adorable, dispenser of rain, and active and speedy as light, squeeze out the juice of the plant, mix it with water and further strengthen it (with milk and curds). 7

It filters out in thousand streams; it is the showerer of benefits, augmenter of rain water, and dear to the divine elements. It swells in waters. It is a king, a divine, true and vast. 8

O divine elixir, Lord of viands, devoted to the divine elements, bestow upon us brilliant and abundant food. May you throw open the doors of the mid-region (for rains). 9

Come, O powerful elixir, effused into the bowls like a leader, come to the pitcher like a king for the good of the people and impel the intellects for the procurement of wisdom. Just as it rains from heaven, come filtered to the receptacle. 10

The enlightened priests have been milking from heaven, the elixir, exhilarating, thousand-streamed, the showerer of blessings and the bearer of all treasures. 11

We are acquainted with the mighty elixir, the source of virility and the destroyer of the darkness with his radiance. Praised by men of wisdom, it has assumed its own form. Established in the three regions (physical, mental and spiritual, or heaven, midspaces, and earth); it controls everyone. 12

स सुन्वे यो वसूनां यो रायामानेता य इळानाम् । सोमो यः सुक्षितीनाम् ॥१३॥
यस्य न इन्द्रः पिबाद्यस्य मरुतो यस्य वार्यमणा भगः ।
आ येन मित्रावरुणा करामह एन्द्रमवसे महे ॥१४॥
इन्द्राय सोम पातवे नृभिर्यतः स्वायुधो मदिन्तमः । पवस्व मधुमत्तमः ॥१५॥
इन्द्रस्य हार्दि सोमधानमा विश समुद्रमिव सिन्धवः ।
जुष्टो मित्राय वरुणाय वायवे दिवो विष्टम्भ उत्तमः ॥१६॥ sá sunve yó vásūnām yó rāyā́m ānetā́ yá íḷānām | sómo yáḥ sukshitīnā́m || 13 || yásya na índraḥ píbād yásya marúto yásya vāryamáṇā bhágaḥ | ā́ yéna mitrā́váruṇā kárāmaha éndram ávase mahé || 14 || índrāya soma pā́tave nríbhir yatā́ḥ svāyudhó madíntamaḥ | pávasva mádhumattamaḥ || 15 || índrasya hā́rdi somadhā́nam ā́ viṣa samudrám iva síndhavaḥ | júshṭo mitrā́ya váruṇāya vāyáve divó vishṭambhá uttamáḥ || 16 || 19 ||

(१०९) नवोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-२२) द्वाविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यैश्वर्यो धिष्ण्याग्नय ऋषयः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । द्विपदा विराट् छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ परि प्र धन्वेन्द्राय सोम स्वादुर्मित्राय पूष्णे भगाय । १
इन्द्रस्ते सोम सुतस्य पेयाः क्रत्वे दक्षाय विश्वे च देवाः ॥१॥ २
एवामृताय महे क्षयाय स शुक्रो अर्ष दिव्यः पीयूषः । ३

109.

Pári prá dhanvéndrāya soma svādúr mitrā́ya pūshṇé bhágāya || 1 || índras te soma sutásya peyāḥ krátve dákshāya víṣve ca devā́ḥ || 2 || ẹvā́mrítāya mahé ksháyāya sá ṣukró arsha divyáḥ pīyū́shaḥ || 3 ||

The elixir has been effused, which is the bringer of treasures, the bringer of riches, the bringer of food and the bringer of fair home. 13

Ours is this elixir which the resplendent self enjoys, which the vital elements enjoy and which imparts grace and discipline to creation. Through it, we propitiate the sun, the ocean and lightning to obtain the assured protection. 14

O elixir of divine love, collected by the priests, well-armed, most exhilarating, most sweet-flavoured, flow for the enjoyment of the resplendent self. 15

O elixir, enter the celestial container, the heart of the aspirant self, as the rivers enter the sea. You are the best and the strongest pillar of strength to the sun, the ocean, the cosmic wind, and the heavenly bodies. 16

109

O sweet elixir of divine love, march onward with your flowing stream, with the blessings of the supreme Lord who is resplendent, friendly, nourishing and gracious, and stay on in the cosmic container. 1

O divine elixir, let the aspirant self and all the divine powers relish you when effused for obtaining intelligence and strength. 2

O pure, divine, and celestial elixir, flow for immortality and supreme abode. 3

पवस्व सोम महान्त्समुद्रः पिता देवानां विश्वाभि धाम ॥२॥ ४
शुक्रः पवस्व देवेभ्यः सोम दिवे पृथिव्यै शं च प्रजायै । ५
दिवो धर्तासि शुक्रः पीयूषः सत्ये विधर्मन्वाजी पवस्व ॥३॥ ६
पवस्व सोम द्युम्नी सुधारो महामवीनामनु पूर्व्यः । ७
नृभिर्येमानो जज्ञानः पूतः क्षरद्विश्वानि मन्द्रः स्वर्वित् ॥४॥ ८
इन्दुः पुनानः प्रजामुराणः करद्विश्वानि द्रविणानि नः । ९
पवस्व सोम क्रत्वे दक्षायाश्वो न निक्तो वाजी धनाय ॥५॥ १०

pávasva soma mahán samudráḥ pitá devánām víṣvābhí dháma || 4 || ṣukráḥ pavasva devébhyaḥ soma divé prithivyaí ṣám ca prajáyai || 5 || divó dhartási ṣukráḥ pīyúshaḥ satyé vídharman vājí pavasva || 6 || pávasva soma dyumní sudhāró mahám ávīnām ánu pūrvyáḥ || 7 || nríbhir yemānó jajñānáḥ pūtáḥ ksharad víṣvāni mandráḥ svarvít || 8 || índuḥ punānáḥ prajám urāṇáḥ kárad víṣvāni drávināni naḥ || 9 || pávasva soma krátve dákshāyáṣvo ná niktó vājí dhánāya || 10 || 20 ||

॥२१॥ तं ते सोतारो रसं मदाय पुनन्ति सोमं महे द्युम्नाय । ११
शिशुं जज्ञानं हरिं मृजन्ति पवित्रे सोमं देवेभ्य इन्दुम् ॥६॥ १२

tám te sotáro rásam mádāya punánti sómam mahé dyumnáya || 11 || ṣíṣuṃ jajñānáṃ hárim mrijanti pavítre sómaṃ devébhya índum || 12 ||

O elixir of life, an ocean of divine sap (or the shedder of rains), our protector and preserver, may Nature's entire creation ever remain fully blessed with your constant flow. 4

O brilliant elixir, flow in the filtered form for the benefit of divine elements and give joy to heaven and earth and all creatures. 5

You are the sustainer of heaven, the radiant, superb as a soothing beverage and strong; may you flow pure and neat with all appropriateness. 6

O elixir of divine life, brilliant and shining, may you with your copious streams, flow as ever through the great cosmic fleecy woollen filter. 7

May the elixir, effused and filtered by priests, cured and purified, exhilarating and all-knowing, bring riches of all sorts to everyone of us. 8

May the elixir, filtered and purified through the cosmic fleecy sieve, bestow on us progeny and all kinds of wealth. 9

O elixir of life, you have been cleansed with water like a horse. May you constantly flow to bestow on us intelligence, strength and wealth. 10

The priests, who press you, purify your juice for exhilaration; they filter the elixir of life for attaining your intense brilliancy and glory. 11

Just as a newly born babe is cleansed so the priests clarify the golden-hued shining elixir on the cosmic filter to replenish and rejuvenate Nature's creation. 12

इन्दुः पविष्ट चारुर्मदायापामुपस्थे कविर्भगाय । १३
बिभर्ति चार्विन्द्रस्य नाम येन विश्वानि वृत्रा जघान ॥७॥ १४
पिबन्त्यस्य विश्वे देवासो गोभिः श्रीतस्य नृभिः सुतस्य । १५
प्र सुवानो अक्षाः सहस्रधारस्तिरः पवित्रं वि वारमव्यम् ॥८॥ १६
स वाज्यक्षाः सहस्ररेता अद्भिर्मृजानो गोभिः श्रीणानः । १७

índuḥ pavishṭa cārur mádā-yāpám upásthe kavír bhágāya || 13 || bíbharti cárv índrasya náma yéna víṣvāni vṛitrá jaghána || 14 || píbanty asya víṣve deváso góbhiḥ ṣrītásya nṛíbhiḥ sutásya || 15 || prá suvānó akshāḥ sahásradhāras tiráḥ pavítraṃ ví váram ávyam || 16 || sá vājy àkshāḥ sahásraretā adbhír mṛijānó góbhiḥ ṣrīṇā-náḥ || 17 ||

प्र सोम याहीन्द्रस्य कुक्षा नृभिर्येमानो अद्रिभिः सुतः ॥९॥ १८
असर्जि वाजी तिरः पवित्रमिन्द्राय सोमः सहस्रधारः । १९
अञ्जन्त्येनं मध्वो रसेनेन्द्राय वृष्ण इन्दुं मदाय ॥१०॥ २०
देवेभ्यस्त्वा वृथा पाजसेऽपो वसानं हरिं मृजन्ति । २१
इन्दुरिन्द्राय तोशते नि तोशते श्रीणन्नुग्रो रिणन्नपः ॥११॥ २२

prá soma yāhíndrasya kukshá nṛíbhir yemānó ádribhiḥ sutáḥ || 18 || ásarji vājí tiráḥ pavítram índrāya sómaḥ sahásradhāraḥ || 19 || añjánty enam mádhvo rásenéndrāya vṛíshṇa índum mádāya || 20 || devébhyas tvā vṛíthā pájase 'pó vásānaṃ hárim mṛijanti || 21 || índur índrāya toṣate ní toṣate ṣrīṇánn ugró riṇánn apáḥ || 22 || 21 ||

The experienced sage carries this elixir to the midspace along with cosmic waters for exhilaration and for prosperity. 13

The auspicious elixir bears the beauteous name of the resplendent self by which it overcomes all demoniac forces. 14

The universal divine powers drink of it, effused by the priests of the cosmic rites and mixed with sweet milk and curds. 15

Effused and filtered through the cosmic fleecy filter, it comes out in thousands of streams from all sides. 16

The elixir, giver of thousand-fold virility, is washed with waters. It is then mixed with milk and curds and finally filtered. 17

O elixir, supervised and controlled by the enlightened priests, and pressed and crushed under stones, you go to fill the belly of the aspirant self. 18

The vigorous thousand-streamed elixir has been pressed and filtered through the cosmic filter for the resplendent self. 19

They mix the elixir with sweet milk and curds, to be offered to the aspirant, the showerer of blessings. 20

They (the priests) effuse and filter you readily, O golden-hued elixir, and clothe you with waters. You are to be offered and enjoyed by Nature's divine elements. 21

The strength-bestowing elixir is effused for the aspirant, cleansed and purified well, filtered and finally mixed with torrents of water. 22

(११०) दशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य त्रैवृष्णस्त्र्यरुणः पौरुकुत्स्यस्त्रसदस्युश्चर्षी । पवमानः
सोमो देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य पिपीलिकमध्यानुष्टुप्, (४-९)
चतुर्थ्यादितृचद्वयस्योर्ध्वबृहती, (१०-१२) दशम्यादितृचस्य
च विराट् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२२॥

पर्यू षु प्र धन्व वाजसातये परि वृत्राणि सक्षणिः ।
द्विषस्तरध्या ऋणया न ईयसे ॥१॥
अनु हि त्वा सुतं सोम मदामसि महे समर्यराज्ये ।
वाजाँ अभि पवमान प्र गाहसे ॥२॥
अजीजनो हि पवमान सूर्यं विधारे शक्मना पयः ।
गोजीरया रंहमाणः पुरंध्या ॥३॥
अजीजनो अमृत मर्त्येष्वाँ ऋतस्य धर्मन्नमृतस्य चारुणः ।
सदासरो वाजमच्छा सनिष्यदत् ॥४॥
अभ्यभि हि श्रवसा ततर्दिथोत्सं न कं चिज्जनपानमक्षितम् ।
शर्याभिर्न भरमाणो गभस्त्योः ॥५॥
आदीं के चित्पश्यमानास आप्यं वसुरुचो दिव्या अभ्यनूषत ।
वारं न देवः सविता व्यूर्णुते ॥६॥

110.

Páry ū shú prá dhanva vájasātaye pári vṛitrāṇi sakshá-ṇiḥ | dvishás tarádhyā ṛiṇayá na īyase || 1 || ánu hí tvā su-táṃ soma mádāmasi mahé samaryarájye | vájāñ abhí pava-mana prá gahase || 2 || ájījano hí pavamāna sū́ryaṃ vidháre ṣákmanā páyaḥ | gójīraya ráṅhamāṇaḥ púraṃdhya || 3 || áj-jano amṛita mártyeshv áñ ṛitásya dhármann amṛítasya cá-ruṇaḥ | sádasaro vájam ácha sánishyadat || 4 || abhy-àbhi hí ṣrávasā tatárdithótsaṃ ná káṃ cij janapánam ákshitam | ṣáryābhir ná bháramāṇo gábhastyoḥ || 5 || ád īṃ ké cit páṣyamanāsa ápyaṃ vasurúco divyá abhy ànushata | vá-raṃ ná deváḥ savitá vy ùrṇute || 6 || 22 ||

110

O elixir of divine force, may you flow all-round to bring us sustenance. Gifted with endurance, subdue our opponents and acquit our debts. May you come and disperse our enemies. 1

In turn, we glorify you, O elixir, when effused. May you destroy our evil tendencies, O flowing elixir, and defend your great sovereignity over men. 2

O flowing elixir, by your might, you have generated the sun (in the firmament). You have spread the vast extending moisture in the midspace. Please hasten towards us and bless with abundant wisdom; may you procure cattle and wealth for us. 3

O immortal elixir of life-force, you have generated the sun for us the mortals, above the region which bears the auspicious clouds full of water. You are the support of this truthful ambrosia. Streaming forth, you always go to battle constantly (in our favour). 4

O elixir, combined with food, you come down the cosmic sieve, as one bursts open a never-failing fountain, giving drink to men in general. May we drink you with fingers and palms of our folded hands. 5

This all-beholding self-effulgent celestial star has been chanting hymns to your glory as a kinsman, O elixir, till the sun has not driven away the wide-spread darkness. 6

॥२३॥

त्वे सो॑म प्रथ॒मा वृ॒क्तब॑र्हिषो म॒हे वाजा॑य॒ श्रव॑से॒ धियं॑ दधुः ।
स त्वं नो॑ वीर वी॒र्या॑य चोदय ॥७॥
दि॒वः पी॒यूषं॑ पू॒र्व्यं यदु॒क्थ्यं॑ म॒हो गा॒हाद्दि॒व आ निर॑धुक्षत ।
इन्द्र॑म॒भि जाय॑मानं॒ सम॑स्वरन् ॥८॥
अध॒ यदि॒मे पव॑मान॒ रोद॑सी इ॒मा च॒ विश्वा॒ भुव॑ना॒भि म॒ज्मना॑ ।
यू॒थे न नि॒ष्ठा वृ॑ष॒भो वि ति॑ष्ठसे ॥९॥
सोमः॑ पुना॒नो अ॒व्यये॒ वारे॒ शिशु॒र्न क्रीळ॒न्पव॑मानो अक्षाः ।
स॒हस्र॑धारः श॒तवा॑ज॒ इन्दुः॑ ॥१०॥
ए॒ष पु॑ना॒नो मधु॑माँ ऋ॒तावेन्द्रा॒येन्दुः॑ पवते स्वा॒दुरू॒र्मिः ।
वा॒ज॒सनि॑र्वरिवो॒विद्व॑यो॒धाः ॥११॥
स प॑वस्व॒ सह॑मानः पृत॒न्यून्त्सेध॒न्रक्षां॒स्यप॑ दु॒र्गहा॑णि । स्वा॒यु॒धः सा॑स॒ह्वान्त्सो॑म॒ शत्रू॑न् ॥१२॥

tvé soma prathamá vriktábarhisho mahé vájāya srávase dhíyam dadhuh | sá tvám no vīra vīryàya codaya || 7 || diváh pīyúsham pūrvyám yád ukthyàm mahó gāhád divá á nír adhukshata | índram abhí jáyamānam sám asvaran || 8 || ádha yád imé pavamana ródasī imá ca vísvā bhúvanābhí majmánā | yūthé ná nishthá vrishabhó ví tishthase || 9 || sómah punānó avyáye váre sísur ná krīlan pávamano akshāh | sahásradhārah satávāja índuh || 10 || eshá punānó mádhumāñ ritávéndrāyénduh pavate svādúr ūrmíh | vajasánir varivovíd vayodháh || 11 || sá pavasva sáhamānah pritanyún sédhan rákshāñsy ápa durgáhani | svāyudháh sāsahván soma sátrūn || 12 || 23 ||

The noble men, who have liberated themselves from all wordly bondages, address their prayers to you for abundant strength and renown; may you, O hero, inspire us onward for heroic power. 7

They (the sacrificers) have drained forth from the great depth of the sky the eternal, primeval elixir of divine bliss which is worthy of praise; they raise their voice to the aspirant self at the time of its birth. 8

Since, you, O flowing divine life-elixir, stand pre-eminent and dominating over these two worlds (heaven and earth) and all existences by your own might, you are like a mighty bull amid the herd. 9

The effusing elixir like a playful infant flows when filtered through the cosmic fleecy texture in thousand streams, and with a hundred-fold radiance. 10

This holy elixir undergoing purification is sweet-flavoured. It flows for the enjoyment of the aspirant self in a sweet stream, bestowing food and dispensing wealth and life. 11

O divine elixir, may you flow on, subduing evils and enimosities and chasing the wickedness hard to be encountered. May you flow well-armed for a victory and triumph over our adversaries. 12

(१११) एकादशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य पारुच्छेपिरनानत ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । अत्यष्टिश्छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ अया रुचा हरिण्या पुनानो विश्वा द्वेषांसि तरति स्वयुग्वभिः सूरो न स्वयुग्वभिः ।
धारा सुतस्य रोचते पुनानो अरुषो हरिः ।
विश्वा यद्रूपा परियात्यृक्वभिः सप्तास्येभिर्ऋक्वभिः ॥१॥
त्वं त्यत्पणीनां विदो वसु सं मातृभिर्मर्जयसि स्व आ दम ऋतस्य धीतिभिर्दमे ।
परावतो न साम तद्यत्रा रणन्ति धीतयः ।
त्रिधातुभिररुषीभिर्वयो दधे रोचमानो वयो दधे ॥२॥
पूर्वामनु प्रदिशं याति चेकितत्सं रश्मिभिर्यतते दर्शतो रथो दैव्यो दर्शतो रथः ।
अग्मन्नुक्थानि पौंस्येन्द्रं जैत्राय हर्षयन् ।
वज्रश्च यद्भवथो अनपच्युता समत्स्वनपच्युता ॥३॥

111.

Ayá rucā́ háriṇyā punānó víṣvā dvéshāṅsi tarati svayúgvabhiḥ sū́ro ná svayúgvabhiḥ | dhā́rā sutásya rocate punānó arushó háriḥ | víṣvā yád rūpā́ pariyáty ṛ́kvabhiḥ saptā́syebhir ṛ́kvabhiḥ || 1 || tvám tyát paṇīnā́m vido vásu sám mātṛ́bhir marjayasi svá ā́ dáma ṛtásya dhītíbhir dáme | parāváto ná sā́ma tád yátrā ráṇanti dhītáyaḥ | tridhā́tubhir árushībhir váyo dadhe rócamāno váyo dadhe || 2 || pū́rvām ánu pradíṣam yāti cékitat sám raṣmíbhir yatate darṣató rátho daívyo darṣató ráthaḥ | ágmann ukthā́ni paúṅsyéndram jaítrāya harshayan | vájraṣ ca yád bhávatho ánapacyutā samátsv ánapacyutā || 3 || 24 ||

111

The bright gold-tinted elixir, when filtered, comes out in streams with its juices yoked to it to overcome all enemies. Verily, it is like the sun with rays yoked to it (to dispel darkness). The stream of the effused elixir shines. The filtered green-tinted elixir is resplendent, pervading all constellations with grand splendour; verily, with prayers in seven-metres (or seven-mouthed) high-flown splendour. 1

O elixir, you have been able to procure for us the treasure kept concealed by the miser traders. You in your own abode—you are consecrated, verily, in your own abode by the cosmic waters at the place of sacrifice. The Saman hymns are chanted in your praise and to the sacrificer's enjoyments. The elixir with its brilliance in the three regions bestows upon us food; verily, the shining one gives us food and nutrition. 2

The intelligent elixir proceeds to the eastern quarter. Your beautiful chariot—verily, the celestial beautiful chariot, meets the sun's rays; the hymns of manly praises invoke the resplendent self and stimulate him to victory. The self is replenished with adamantine determination and you thus become invincible; verily, you are invincible in the battle of life. 3

(११२) द्वादशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः शिशुर्ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । पङ्क्तिश्छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ नानानं वा उ नो धियो वि व्रतानि जनानाम् ।
तक्षा रिष्टं रुतं भिषग्ब्रह्मा सुन्वन्तमिच्छतीन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥१॥
जरतीभिरोषधीभिः पर्णेभिः शकुनानाम् ।
कार्मारो अश्मभिर्द्युभिर्हिरण्यवन्तमिच्छतीन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥२॥

112.

Nānānáṃ vá u no dhíyo ví vratáni jánānām | tákshā rishṭáṃ rutám bhishág brahmá sunvántam ichatíndrāyendo pári srava || 1 || járatībhir óshadhībhiḥ parṇébhiḥ ṣakuná-nām | kārmāró áṣmabhir dyúbhir híraṇyavantam ichatíndrāyendo pári srava || 2 ||

कारुरहं ततो भिषगुपलप्रक्षिणी नना ।
नानाधियो वसूयवोऽनु गा इव तस्थिमेन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥३॥
अश्वो वोळ्हा सुखं रथं हसनामुपमन्त्रिणः ।
शेपो रोमण्वन्तौ भेदौ वारिन्मण्डूक इच्छतीन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥४॥

kārúr aháṃ tató bhishág upala-prakshíṇī naná | nánadhiyo vasūyávó 'nu gá iva tasthiméndrāyendo pári srava || 3 || áṣvo vóḷhā sukháṃ ráthaṃ hasanám upamantríṇaḥ | ṣépo rómaṇvantāu bhedaú vár ín maṇḍúka ichatíndrāyendo pári srava || 4 || 25 ||

112

We all have a variety of aspirations and propensities. Also divers are the occupations of men. The carpenter seeks timber, the physician deals with disease, the Brahmana, the divine intellectual, seeks spiritual knowledge and effuses the divine elixir. May you flow, the elixir of bliss, for the sake of the aspirant self. 1

The artisans work with the dried wood; the decorative artists work with plumages of beautiful birds; those who carve deal with glistening stones and a smith seeks a man who has gold. May you flow, O elixir of bliss, for the sake of the aspirant self. 2

I am the singer; papa is the physician; mummy throws the corn upon the grinding stones. Having various occupations, and seeking riches, we remain (in peace and harmony) in the family like cattle in a common stall. May you flow, O elixir of bliss, for the sake of the aspirant self. 3

The draught horse desires a cart easy to draw. A gay guest is good for jest and merriment. The male desires his mate's approach. And the frog desires water. May you flow, O elixir of bliss, for the sake of the aspirant self. 4

(११३) त्रयोदशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मारीचः कश्यप ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । पङ्क्तिश्छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ शर्यणावति सोममिन्द्रः पिबतु वृत्रहा ।
बलं दधान आत्मनि करिष्यन्वीर्यं महदिन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥१॥
आ पवस्व दिशां पत आर्जीकात्सोम मीढ्वः ।
ऋतवाकेन सत्येन श्रद्धया तपसा सुत इन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥२॥

113.

Saryaṇávati sómam índraḥ pibatu vṛitrahá | bálam̐ dádhāna ātmáni karishyán vīryàm mahád índrāyendo pári srava || 1 || á pavasva diṣām pata ārjīkát soma mīḍhvaḥ | ṛitavākéna satyéna ṣraddháyā tápasā sutá índrāyendo pári srava || 2 ||

पर्जन्यवृद्धं महिषं तं सूर्यस्य दुहिताभरत् ।
तं गन्धर्वाः प्रत्यगृभ्णन्तं सोमे रसमादधुरिन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥३॥
ऋतं वदन्नृतद्युम्न सत्यं वदन्त्सत्यकर्मन् ।
श्रद्धां वदन्त्सोम राजन्धात्रा सोम परिष्कृत इन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥४॥
सत्यमुग्रस्य बृहतः सं स्रवन्ति संस्रवाः ।
सं यन्ति रसिनो रसाः पुनानो ब्रह्मणा हर इन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥५॥

parjányavṛiddham mahishám tám sūryasya duhitábharat | tám gandharváḥ práty agṛibhṇan tám sóme rásam ádadhur índrāyendo pári srava || 3 || ṛitám vádann ṛitadyumna satyám vádan satyakarman | ṣraddhám vádan soma rājan dhātrá soma párishkṛita índrāyendo pári srava || 4 || satyámugrasya bṛihatáḥ sám sravanti saṃsraváḥ | sám yanti rasíno rásāḥ punānó bráhmaṇā hara índrāyendo pári srava || 5 || 26 ||

113

The aspirant self, the destroyer of nescience, drinks the elixir of divine life-force in the precincts of a lake, and infuses strength into himself while he is about to show his great prowess. May you flow, O elixir, for the self. 1

O the elixir of the life-force, lord of the four regions, sprinkler of blessings, flow between the banks of a river, flow from a pure heart. You have been invoked and evoked in divine words with truthfulness, austerity and intent intention to adopt truth alone for life. May you flow, O elixir, for the self. 2

The daughter of the sun brings out the elixir in quantity large as a rain-cloud; the divine elements of the mid-region seize upon it and place the juices in the elixir. May you flow, O elixir, for the self. 3

The divine elixir of life-force abides by truth, radiant with truth, truthful in acts and words. O supreme Lord, proclaiming our faith we adorn you, the upholder of sacred rite. May you flow, O elixir, for the self. 4

The united streams of your elixir are vast and truly formidable; may they flow united; the essences of the elixirs flow together. O golden-hued elixir, you are purified by holy prayer. May you flow, O elixir, for the self. 5

॥२७॥ यत्र॑ ब्र॒ह्मा प॑वमान च्छन्द॒स्यां॒३॑ वाचं॒ वद॑न् ।
ग्राव्णा॒ सोमे॑ मही॒यते॒ सोमे॑नान॒न्दं ज॒नय॒न्निन्द्रा॑येन्दो॒ परि॑ स्रव ॥६॥
यत्र॒ ज्योति॒रज॑स्रं॒ यस्मिँ॑ल्लो॒के स्व॑र्हि॒तम् ।
तस्मि॒न्मां धे॑हि पवमाना॒मृते॑ लो॒के अक्षि॑त॒ इन्द्रा॑येन्दो॒ परि॑ स्रव ॥७॥
यत्र॒ राजा॑ वैवस्व॒तो यत्रा॑व॒रोध॑नं दि॒वः ।
यत्रा॒मूर्य॒ह्वती॒राप॒स्तत्र॒ माम॒मृतं॑ कृ॒धीन्द्रा॑येन्दो॒ परि॑ स्रव ॥८॥
यत्रा॑नुका॒मं चर॑णं त्रिना॒के त्रि॑दि॒वे दि॒वः ।
लो॒का यत्र॒ ज्योति॑ष्मन्त॒स्तत्र॒ माम॒मृतं॑ कृ॒धीन्द्रा॑येन्दो॒ परि॑ स्रव ॥९॥
यत्र॒ कामा॑ निका॒माश्च॒ यत्र॑ ब्र॒ध्नस्य॑ वि॒ष्टप॑म् ।
स्व॒धा च॒ यत्र॒ तृप्ति॑श्च॒ तत्र॒ माम॒मृतं॑ कृ॒धीन्द्रा॑येन्दो॒ परि॑ स्रव ॥१०॥
यत्रा॑न॒न्दाश्च॒ मोदा॑श्च॒ मुद॑ः प्र॒मुद॒ आस॑ते ।
काम॑स्य॒ यत्रा॒प्ताः कामा॒स्तत्र॒ माम॒मृतं॑ कृ॒धीन्द्रा॑येन्दो॒ परि॑ स्रव ॥११॥

yátra brahmá pavamāna chandasyàm̥ vácam̥ vádan | grávṇā sóme mahīyáte sómenānandám̥ janáyann índrāyendo pári srava || 6 || yátra jyótir ájasram̥ yásmiñ loké svàr hitám | tásmin mám̥ dhehi pavamānāmríte loké ákshita índrāyendo pári srava || 7 || yátra rájā vaivasvató yátrāvaródhanam̥ diváḥ | yátrāmúr yahvátīr ápas tátra mám amrítam kṛidhíndrāyendo pári srava || 8 || yátrānukāmám̥ cáraṇam̥ trināké tridivé diváḥ | loká yátra jyótishmantas tátra mám amrítam̥ kṛidhíndrāyendo pári srava || 9 || yátra kámā nikāmáṣ ca yátra bradhnásya vishṭápam | svadhá ca yátra tríptiṣ ca tátra mám amrítam̥ kṛidhíndrāyendo pári srava || 10 || yátrānandáṣ ca módāṣ ca múdaḥ pramúda ásate | kámasya yátrāptáḥ kámās tátra mám amrítam̥ kṛidhíndrāyendo pári srava || 11 || 27 ||

O lord of divine love, flow where the priest recites the melodious prayer, and brings forth the spiritual delight, while the plant is pressed under grinding stones with due reverence. May you, O elixir, flow for the self. 6

O Lord of divine love, place me in that immortal undecaying world, where the light is perpetual and where the blissful everlasting lustre keeps shining all the times. May you, O elixir, flow for the self. 7

Make me immortal in that realm where dwells the sovereign who is radiant as the sun, and which is the inner chamber of the sun and where all the cosmic moistures are in abundance. May you, O elixir, flow for the self. 8

Make me immortal in that realm, in the third sphere, in the third heaven where lucid worlds are filled with light. May you, O elixir, flow for the self. 9

Make me immortal in that realm where wishes and desires are left no more, where we have the region of the sun, and where the lasting sustenance and delight are available. May you, O elixir, flow for the self. 10

Make me immortal in that realm, where there is lasting happiness, pleasure and supreme joy, and where the wishes of the wisher have been completely met. May you, O elixir, flow for the self. 11

(११४) चतुर्दशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मारीचः कश्यप ऋषिः । पवमानः सोमो देवता । पङ्क्तिश्छन्दः ॥

॥२८॥ य इन्दोः पवमानस्यानु धामान्यक्रमीत् ।
तमाहुः सुप्रजा इति यस्ते सोमाविधन्मन इन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥१॥
ऋषे मन्त्रकृतां स्तोमैः कश्यपोद्वर्धयन्गिरः ।
सोमं नमस्य राजानं यो जज्ञे वीरुधां पतिरिन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥२॥
सप्त दिशो नानासूर्याः सप्त होतार ऋत्विजः ।
देवा आदित्या ये सप्त तेभिः सोमाभि रक्ष न इन्द्रायेन्दो परि स्रव ॥३॥

114.

Yá índoḥ pávamānasyánu dhámāny ákramīt | tám āhuḥ suprajá íti yás te somávidhan mána índrāyendo pári srava || 1 || ṛíshe mantrakṛítāṃ stómaiḥ káṣyapodvardháyan gíraḥ | sómaṃ namasya rájānaṃ yó jajñé vīrúdhām pátir índrāyendo pári srava || 2 || saptá díṣo nánāsūryāḥ saptá hótāra ṛitvíjaḥ | devá ādityá yé saptá tébhiḥ somābhí raksha na índrayendo pári srava || 3 || yát te rājañ chṛitáṃ havís téna somābhí raksha naḥ | arātīvá mā́ nas tārīn mó ca naḥ kíṃ canámamad índrāyendo pári srava || 4 || 28 ||

114

The sincere seeker, who attends to the inner philosophy of the filtered juices of the elixir plant, him men call "rich in children", verily a real householder. O divine bliss, may you continue to flow for the self. 1

O seer of the innermost truth, please raise your voice along with the chants of seers who have known the sense of the hymns, and adore with respect and humility the royal elixir of bliss, who is born as the lord of herbal plants. O divine bliss, may you continue to flow for the self. 2

Seven are the parameters of the world (six of space and one of time), with numerous suns; seven are the ministrant priests, and seven are the divine sons of the mother Eternity. With all of them, O divine elixir, may you protect us. O divine bliss, may you continue to flow for the self. 3

Protect us, O royal elixir, with the oblations cooked for you. Let no enemy injure or hurt us; let no harm of any sort come to us. O divine bliss, may you continue to flow for the self. 4

NOTES

Book 9

Hymns 1-114

नवमं मण्डलम्

सूक्तानि १-११४

Notes on Book IX

The entire Book IX of the Rgveda is devoted to Pavamanah Soma (पवमान: सोम:), which according to Griffith is "deified" Soma juice, or to Soma, or Indu, the moon, who is containing the celestial nectar, the drink of the gods; is identified with the Soma-plant, and its exhilarating juice. As the Moon-God pours down his ambrosial rain through the sieve of heaven, he is addressed and worshipped as Pavamana (Self-purifying), represented by the Soma juice as it undergoes purification by flowing through the wool which is used as a filter or strainer.

We are traditionally told that Soma was the famous plant which was used for the preparation of libation of Soma made at the Vedic sacrifice. The whole of the Ninth Book of the Rgveda and six hymns in other Books are devoted to its praise. We give here the entire list of the hymns of the Rgveda (or scattered verses), where the devata is Soma.

सोम: — I.43. 4-9; I.91; I.164.43; III.62. 13-15; VI.47. I-5; VII.104.9; 12; 13; VIII.48; VIII.79; X.25; X.85, 1-5.

सोम: पवमान: — IX. 1-4; IX. 6-65; IX. 66. 1-18; 22-30; IX.67, 1-9; 13-22; 28-30; IX.68-114;

सोम: अग्निश्च — I.93; X. 19.1

सोम! अधिषवण चर्म वा — I.28.9.

सोम: अर्कश्च — X.85.18

सोम: आपो वा — X.17. 11-13.

सोम: इन्द्रश्च — II.30.6; IV.28; VI.72; X.89.5.

सोम: इन्द्रश्च रक्षहणौ — VII.104. 1-7; 15; 25.

सोम: इन्द्रश्च अथर्वेन्द्र: — IV.28

सोम: इन्द्रो बृहस्पतिश्च — I.18.4

सोम: निर्ऋतिश्च — X.59.4

सोम: पवमान: पूषा वा — IX.67.10-12

सोम: पूषा च — II.40, 1-6

सोम: पूषाऽदितिश्च — II.40.6

सोम: रुद्रश्च — VI.74

सोम: वरुण: कवचश्च — VI.75.18

सोम: हरिश्चन्द्र: प्रजापतिर्वा — I 28.9

Thus in certain hymns, Soma as the devata occurs conjointly with Agni, Arka, Apah, Indra, Brhaspati, Nirrti, Pusan, Aditi, Rudra, Varuna, Hariscandra and Prajapati also.

Sir Monier Monier Williams in his Sanskrit Dictionary gives; Soma (सोम); from √su, juice, extract; the juice of the Soma plant; also the Soma plant itself (said to be the climbing plant लता, Sarcostema Viminalis, or Asclepias Acida, the stalks (अंशु) of which were pressed between stones (अद्रि), by the priests, then sprinkled with water, and purified in a strainer (पवित्र); whence the acid-juice trinkled into jars (कलश) or larger vessels (द्रोण); after which it was mixed with clarified butter, flour etc., made to ferment, and then offered in libation to the gods (in this respect corresponding to the ritual of the Iranian Avesta); or was drunk by the Brahmans, by both of whom its exhilarating effect was supposed to be prized. It was collected by moon-light on certain mountains सोमस्येव मौजवतस्य भक्षो विभीतको जागृविर्मह्यमच्छान्—X.34.1; the mountain Mujavat is mentioned). It is sometimes described as having been brought from the sky by a falcon (श्येन) and guarded by the Gandharvas. It is personified as one of the most important Vedic gods; to whose praise all the 114 hymns of the Ninth Book of the Ṛgveda, besides six in other Books, and the whole Samaveda are dedicated.

In the post-Vedic mythology and even in a few of the hymns of the Rgveda (although not in the whole of the Ninth Book), as well as some times in the Atharvaveda, or in the Brahmanas, Soma is identified with the moon (as the receptacle of an other beverage of the gods called amrta (अमृत), or as the lord of plants, cf. indu (इन्दु), osadhipati (ओषधिपति), and with the god of the moon, as well as with Visnu, Siva, Yama, and Kubera.

Soma is called rajan (राजन्), and appears among the eight Vasus, and the eight Lokapalas (सोमाग्न्यर्कानिलेन्द्राणां वित्ताप्पत्योर्यमस्य च । अष्टानां लोकपालानां वपुर्धारयते नृप: —Manusmrti, V.96). Soma is the name of one of Rsis of the verses (X.124.1; 5-9; अग्नि-वरुण-सोम: ऋषय:).

Soma (सोम) is variously described in the Nirukta, one of synonyms of Soma is matsara (मत्सर: सोम: । मन्दतेस्तृप्ति कर्मण: —Nir. II.5) since it is derived from √मन्द्, meaning to satisfy; गोभि: श्रीणत मत्सरम् (IX.46.4), mix Soma with milk; here gauh, गौ: , is used in the sense of milk. On one occasion Indra is asked to drink Soma for rapture after food (पिबा सोममनुष्वधं मदाय —III.47.1). Madhu means Soma, since it is derived from √मद्, to exhilarate and is compared with Soma on account of the analogy of exhilaration, (मधुसोममित्यौपमिकं माद्यते: —Nir. IV.8).

The golden juice (or the green-tinted) is the Soma, so called from its golden colour (हरि: सोमो हरितवर्ण: ; आ तू षिञ्च हरिमीं द्रोरुपस्थे वाशीभिस्तक्षताश्मन्मयीभि: —Nir. IV 19; —the untraced quotation; Pour down the golden juice in the lap of the wood; prepare it with chisels made of stone).

Soma, whose greatness neither heaven, nor earth, nor water, nor atmospheres, nor mountains fathomed has flowed; Nirukta, on X.89.6, quoted in V.3).

The word Rdu-udara (ऋदूदर:), means Soma since its inside is soft, or it is soft in the inside of men (ऋदूदर: सोम: । मृदूदर: । मृदूदरेष्विति वा, Nir. VI.4, on ऋदूदरेण सख्या सचेव—VIII.48.10).

The Soma juices are evaporated during day and during night; यो थस्मै घ्रंस उत वा य ऊधनि सोमं सुनोति भवति द्युमाँ अह, V.3.4.3; illustrious indeed becomes that man who presses the Soma juices for him during day and during night. Here in this passage Udhas means the udder of a cow, because it is more raised than the other parts or because it is fastened near the abdomen. From the analogy of giving fatty fluids (like dew) night is called Udhas; also (घ्रंस इति अहर्नाम । ग्रस्यन्तेऽस्मिनसा: —the word ghramsa is a synonym of day becauses juices are evaporated during this period, ग्रोरूध उद्धततर भवति । उपोनद्धमिति वा । स्नेहानुप्रदान सामान्याद्रात्रिरप्यूध उच्यते — Nir. VI.19).

Soma is one among those deities with whom Agni is jointly praised, the others being Indra, Varuna, Parjanya, and Rtavas (Nir. VII.8). Soma is also jointly praised with Indra, and so are the deities Agni, Varuna, Pusan, Brhaspati, Brahmanspati, Parvata, Kutsa, Visnu and Vayu, Soma is also jointly praised with Pusan and Rudra. (Nir. V.II.10).

For the pressing and straining the immortal King, i.e. the Soma, Jatavedas, the fire, shall consume, i.e. he will burn with determination, or reduces the property of the miggard to ashes, for the sake of sacrifice (Nir. VII.20 on जातवेदसे सुनवाम सोममरातीयतो नि दहाति वेद: —I.99.1).

The Nirukta (VIII.3) quotes a passage where the lord of forests, the courageous one, has been asked to drink the Soma from the cup called nestra (नेष्ट्र) together with the seasons, rtavas (त्वं नेष्ट्रात्सोमं द्रविणोद: पिब ऋतुभि: —II.37.3).

One of the verses, while describing the berry, vibhidaka, mentions a draught of Soma that grows on the Mujavat, मूजवत्, mountain—"the ever-wakeful berry of the vibhidaka tree appears to me like a draught of the Soma that grows on the Mujavat mountain (सोमस्येव मौजवतस्य भक्षो विभीदको जागृविर्मह्यमच्छान् —X.34.1. quoted in Nir. IX.8). Some of the mountains are said to be rich in Soma "Let them proclaim, let us proclaim. Address the stones who speak in return, when ye, O unsplit mountains, quick and rich in Soma, together bear; the sound, i.e. invocation for Indra (प्रैते वदन्तु प्र वयं वदाम —X.94.1).

The Nirukta also quotes a verse which refers to the falcon, who having seized Soma bore a thousand, ten thousand libations together. Here in the enjoyment of Soma, the bountiful left the illiberal behind and the wise the dull-witted man (आदाय श्येनो अभरत्सोमं सहस्रं सवाँ अयुतं च साकम्— IV.26.7). The word thousand (सहस्रं) is used with reference tc the sacrifice in which Soma is pressed a thousand times. In the sacrifice there are ten thousand Soma draughts or there are ten thousand Soma draughts or there are ten thousand gifts in connection with the pressing of Soma. (Nir. XI.2).

Here the Nirukta gives the etymology of the word Soma. Soma is a plant; the word is derived from the root su, सु, to press; it is pressed again and again (ओषधि: सोम: सुनोते: । यदेनमभिषुण्वन्ति)

The Nirukta quotes again the well-known verse (स्वादिष्ठया मदिष्ठया पवस्व सोम धारया । इन्द्राय पातवे सुत: —Be pure with thy sweetest and most gladdening stream, O Soma, thou art pressed for Indra to drink— IX.1.1). There is another verse which is either for soma, the elixir plant or for the moon as well—सोमं मन्यते पपिवान्यत्संपिषन्त्योषधिम् । सोमं यं ब्रह्माणो विदुर्न तस्याश्नाति कश्चन् —X.85.3 (Because they grind the herbs together, one thinks that he has drunk the Soma. Of the Soma, which the Brahmanas know, none whatsoever partakes. The uselessly— pressed Soma is not the Soma at all—वृथासुतमसोममाह । सोमं यं ब्रह्माणो विदुरिति । न तस्याश्नाति कश्चनायज्वेत्यधियज्ञम्, one who does not offer sacrifice can partake. The Soma pressed with the Yajus formula is not Soma at all. Of the Soma which Brahmanas know, i.e. the moon, none whatsoever, i.e. no one who is not a god, can partake (अथाधिदैवतम् । सोमं मन्यते पपिवान्यत् संपिषन्त्यो-षधिमिति यजु: सुतम सोममाह सोमं यं ब्रह्माणो विदुश्चन्द्रमसम् । न तस्याश्नाति कश्चनादेव इति— Nir. XI.4).

There is another verse : O god, when they drink thee, forth thence forward, thou thrivest again. Wind is the protector of Soma; the month is maker of years :

यत्वा देव प्रपिबन्ति तत आ प्यायसे पुन: ।
वायु: सोमस्य रक्षिता समानां मास आकृति: ॥ —X.85.5.

This refers to some particular libations or to the first and second fortnights of the lunar month. Here by Soma plant is really meant the moon, which thrives again and again, from new-moon cycle to the full-moon nights. The month is the maker of years, of annual periods, i.e. the plant Soma on account of its assuming particular shapes, or the moon. Soma and Amrta both are conceptual—Many attempts have been made to identify the Soma plant, about which there is so much talk in the Vedic and Iranian literatures (Rgveda, I.93.6; III.48.2; V.36.2; 43.4; 85.2; IX.18.1; 46.1; 71.4; 82.3; Atharvaveda, III.21.10; Avesta Yasna X.4 etc.). It has been held by some to be the Sarcostemma viminale, or the Asclepias acide (=Sarcostemma brevistigma). Roth held that Sarcostemma acidum more nearly met the requirements of the case. Watt suggested the Afghan grape as the real Soma and Rice thought sugar-cane might be meant, while Max Muller and Rajendra Lal Mitra suggested that the juice was used as an ingredient in a kind of beer, i.e., that the Soma plant was a species of hop. Hillebrandt considers that neither hops nor the grape can explain the references to Soma. It is very probable, as A.A. Macdonell and A.B. Keith suggest that the plant cannot now be identified.

In the Satapatha Brahmana, there is a detailed account of the sale and purchase of Soma plant against the cows of different age-group (III.3.1). It grew on mountain, and could not be obtained by ordinary people; perhaps some special tribe or prince owned it, like the Kikatas (III.53.14; किं ते कृण्वन्ति कीकटेषु गावो नाशिरं दुहे न तपन्ति घर्मम्). Owing to the difficulty of obtaining the real plant from a great distance, several substitutes were allowed in the Brahmana period.

The Susruta Samhita devotes a chapter (XXIX) on Soma, which may thus be summarized;

"In the days of yore, the gods such as Brahma, created a kind of Amrta (ambrosia) which is known by the epithet of Soma for the prevention of death and decay of the body. The same divine Soma plant may be classified into 24 species according to the difference in their epithets, potencies, habitats etc. ! Ansuman, Munjavan, candrama, Rajataprabha, Durva-Soma, Kaniyan, Svetaksa, Kanakaprabha, Pratanavan, Talavrnta, Karavira, Amsavan, Svayam-prabha, Mahasoma, Garudahrta, Gayatrak, Traistubha, Pankta, Jagata, Sakvara, Agnistoma, Raivata, Gayatrya, Tripada, Udupati. (XXIX. 2—8). Whatsoever be the species, the Soma plant is furnished with fifteen leaves which wax and wane with the waxing and waning of the moon. Thus one leave grows every day, in the bright-half of the month (Sukla paksa) attaining the greatest number 15 on the Full Moon night, and then leaves begin to decrease in number dropping one by one everyday till the bare stem of the creeper is left on the night of the New Moon (XXIX. 20—22).

The same text further proceeds to describe the details (all conceptual) ! the Ansuman (अंशुमान्) species of the Soma are characterised by a smell like that of clarified butter and has a bulb, while the Rajataprabha (रजतप्रभ:), is possessed of a bulb resembling a plantain in shape. The Munjavan (मुञ्जवान्) puts forth leaves like those of a garlic, whilst the candramas (चन्द्रमस्) species is possessed of a golden colour, and is aquatic in its habitat. The Garudahrta (गरुडहृत:) and Svetaksa (श्वेताक्ष:) species are yellowish and look like the cast-off skins of a snake, and are usually found to be pendent from the boughs of trees. All other species are marked with particoloured circular rings. Possession of 15 leaves of variegated colours, a bulb, a creeper—like appearance, and secretion of milky juice are the general characteristics of all the Soma plants.

The Himalayas, the Arbuda, the Sahya, the Mahendra, the Malaya. the Sri-Parvata, the Deva-giri, the Devasaha, the Pariyatra, the Vindhyas, and the lake Devasunda are the habitats of the Soma plants. Somas of the candramas species are often found to be floating here and there on the mighty stream of the river Sindhu which flows down at the feet of the five large mountains bying to the north bank beyond the Vitasta river. The Munjavan and the Ansuman species may also be likewise found in the same locality while those known as the Gayatrya (गायत्र्य:), Traistubha (त्रैष्टुभ:) Pamkta (पाङ्क्त:), jagata (जागत:), Sakvara (शाक्वर:) and others looking as beautiful as the moon are found to float on the surface of the divine lake known as the little Manasa (क्षुद्रकमानसम्) in Kashmir, XXIX. 27—31).

The description is so vivid, as to appear that the author of the treatise has actually written these details by his personal observation and experienee But this is not so. This is seen from the following passage from the same treatise ;

> यैश्चात्र मन्दभाग्यैस्ते भिषजश्चापमानित: ।
> न तान् पश्यन्त्य धर्मिष्ठा: कृतघ्नाश्चापि मानवा: ।।
> भेषजद्वेषिणश्चापि ब्राह्मणद्वेषिणस्तथा । (XXIX. 32)

(The Soma plants are invisible to the impious or to the ungrateful as well as to the unbeliever in the curative virtues of medicine or to those spiteful to the Brahmana.) This passage clearly shows that the entire description is dramatic, imaginative and conceptual. The author of the Satapatha clearly declared that this king Soma, the food of the gods, is no other than tha Moon (एष वै सोमो राजा देवानामन्नं यच्चन्द्रमा: — Now this King Soma, the food of the gods is no other than the Moon Satapatha Br. 1 6.4.5.)

Soma-rituals and Soma-yajnas. The Amrta and Soma are both conceptual; they have no terrestrial existence. As has been already quoted earlier, the Rgveda verse (X.85.3) itself suggests : "He who has drunk thinks that the herb men crush is the Soma, but which the priests or Brahmanas know to be Soma, no one ever eats—(सोमं यं ब्रह्माणो विदुर्न तस्याश्नाति कश्चन)."

In the ecclesiastical age, the whole drama was enacted, and the Soma was equated with a creeper, a plant bearing juice or sap and having the content of Soma in it in proportion to its curative or exhilarating capacity. That Soma is universally presant in all medicinal herbs is also suggested in one of the lines of the Gita; गामाविश्य च भूतानि धारयाम्यहमोजसा । पुष्णामि चौषधी: सर्वा: सोमोभूत्वा रसात्मक: (And entering the earth, I support all beings by my vital energy, and becoming the sapful Soma, I nourish all herbs)—(Gita, XV. 13). Since Soma was never available, its substitutes were also suggested in Soma sacrifices; Two kinds of Phalguna, the red-flowering and the brown-flowering, Syenahrta, Adara, Durva (brown) and Yellow Kusa in preferential order (द्वयानि वै फाल्गुनानि । लोहितपुष्पाणि चारुण पुष्पाणि च स यान्यरुणपुष्पानि फाल्गुनानि··· यद्यरुण पुष्पाणि न विन्देयु: । श्येनहृतमभिषुणुयात्···यदि श्येनहृतं न विन्देयु: । आदारानभिषुणुयात्··· यद्यादारान् न विन्देयु: । अरुणदूर्वा अभिषुणुयात् ··etc. Satapatha Br. IV.5.10.1-6).

In different localities in India and also in the neighbouring countries. Some substitutes of the Soma plant were always held in esteem and the Soma oblations were prepared from them by crushing them, squeezing their juices, straining them. and mixing milk and curds to them

The conceptual story added to the ceremonial Soma in some of the essential details is as follows :

(a) When the Gayatri flew towards the moon, a footless archer aiming at her while she was carrying him off, severed one of the feathers (पर्ण) either of the Gayatri or of the king soma and on falling down, it became a parna (palasa पलाश) tree, whence its name parna (पर्ण) Satapatha Br, I.7.1.1.

(b) He then spreads the cloth, covers the ox-hide either twofold or fourfold with the fringes towards the east or north. There on he metes out the king (Soma)—ibid. III.3.2.9.

Having gathered the ends of the Soma cloth, he ties them together by means of the headband (उष्णीष)—ibid III.3.2.18.

(c) Then begins the buying of Soma, and bargaining. Finally Soma is bought for ten things; Candra or gold, cloth or skin, she-goat, milch-cow, pair of kine and so on. चन्द्रं ते वस्त्रं ते छागा ते धेनुस्ते मिथुनौ ते गावौ तिस्रस्तेऽन्याऽइति —Satapatha, III.3.3.1-4. Soma is usually purchased against cow, since a variety of preparations are available from cow's milk; गोर्वै प्रतिधुक् । तस्मै शृतं तस्यैशरस्तस्यै दधि तस्यै मस्तु तस्याऽआतञ्चनं तस्यै नवनीतं, तस्यै घृतं, तस्याऽ आमिक्षा, तस्यै वाजिनम् । From the cow, fresh milk, boiled milk, cream, curdled milk, butter, ghee, clotted curds and whey. Satapatha, III.3.3.2.

(d) The Soma is then placed on the black deer-skin in the closed space of a cart, which stands to the south of the place where the purchase of Soma took place, with the shafts towards the east, fitted with all appliances and yoked with a pair of oxen. The antelop skin is spread with the hairy side upwards, and the neck part towards the east (III.3.4.1).

(e) Then he wraps the Soma up in the Soma wrapper. If there are two deer's skins, he then puts up the other by way of a flag. They now drive Soma about on as a safe cart (nastra, नाष्ट्र) unmolested by evil spirits. (III.3.4.8).

(f) Soma is then brought to the front of the hall. Adhvaryu then removes the Soma-wrapper. Then four men take up the King's throne (four for a royalty and two for commoners) which is of udumbara wood; there upon the king Soma is made to enter the hall. Soma is verily the guest of the sacrificer. (III.3.4.26, 27).

(g) Soma is pressed for juice eight times, then eleven times, twelve times and so on (IV.1.1.8, 10, 12). The juice is collected in cups or vessels (graha). It is cleansed or purified first by hand (गभस्तिपूत, gabhasti-puta). Having drawn the graha, the vessel is wiped all round, lest any Soma juice should trickle down. The great pressing ceremony (Mahabhisava, महाभिषव) is described in details in the Satapatha Brahmana IV.1.2.

Soma and Dayananda—The enigmatic term Soma occurs in all the four Vedas. The other words derived from it, as occuring in the Rgveda, are :

सोमऽमद: (X.94.9); सोमऽआहुत: (IX.94.14), सोमक: (IV.15.9),

सोमकामम् (I.104.9); सोमगोपा: (X.45.5);

सोमजामय: (X 92.10); सोमधान: (VI.69.6);

सोमऽपतिम् (I.76.3); सोमऽपरिबाध: (I.43.8);

सोमपर्वभि: (I.9.1); सोमपा (I.21.3);

सोमपातम: (I.8.7); सोमपावन् (I.55.7);

सोमपीतये (I.2.3.); सोमपीथम् (X.15.8);

सोमपृष्ठास: (VIII.63.2); सोमपेयम् (I.120.11);

सोममाद: (VII.21.2); सोमरभस्तरेभ्य: (X.76,5);

सोमराज्ञी: (X.97.18); सोमवत्या (X.113.8);

सोमवतीम् X.97.7); सोमवृद्ध: (VI.19.5);

सोमशितम् (VII.104.19); सोमसुत: (I.89.4);

सौम सुतिम् (VIII.93.6); सोमापूषणा (II.40.1);

सोमारुद्रा (VI.74.1-8); सोमिन: (I.22.4);

सोम्य: (VIII.93.8); सोम्या: (VIII.59.4).

Swami Dayananda in his Vedic writings has explained the word Soma varyingly. He drives the term from √su, सु thus : सुवति चराचरं जगत् तत्सम्बुद्धो जगदीश्वर, Lord, the creator of the word; अथवा सूयन्ते रसा यस्मात् स सोमोषधिराज:, a medicinal herb from which flows the sap; also सोमविद्यासम्पादक विद्वन् the one adept in the herbal knowledge (Yv. IV.37); चन्द्र इव वर्तमान राजपुरुष विद्वज्जन वा, one like a moon; an enlightened person or a prince (Yv. XII.112); ऐश्वर्य सम्पन्न. the one with glory, like Indra (IV.28.1); सर्वजगदुत्पादक: ईश्वर:, the creator of the universe (Aryabhivinaya I.38); सोमवल्लीव सर्वरोग विनाशक राजन्, a king resembling Soma creaper in cures; (Yv. XXXIV.22); वीर्यवत्तम विद्वज्जन, an enlightened person with virility (I.91.6); सर्वविद्यायुक्त, learned in all disciplines (I.91.23); सौम्यगुणसम्पन्न, one with loving temper; आरोग्य बल प्रापक, or one who cures ills and provides health (I.91.22); शुभकर्मगुणेषु प्रेरक:, one who inspires for good qualities and noble actions (I.91.3); यवाद्योषधि रस-व्यापिन:, one who is present in all plant saps as of barley etc. I.187.9); सुखैश्वर्यप्रद ईश्वर, Lord who provides all pleasures and comforts (I.43.9); प्रशस्तगुणशिष्य, a desciple with excellent qualities (Yv.VII.14); प्रशस्तैश्वर्य युक्त सभाध्यक्ष राजन्, king or the head of a state with noble qualities (Yv, VI.26); सकलैश्वर्य प्रेरक सभापते the head of a council or assembly with excellent qualities (Yv. VI.33).

In the material sense, any preparation with nutritive and curative qualities is Soma, सोमरसान्वितं पाकम् (Yv. XII.55); सर्वपदार्थाऽभिषवम् (I.16.7); सर्वरोगनाशकं महौषधरसम् (III.53.6); ऐश्वर्यकारकम् (ओषधिम्) (III.51.7); ओषधिजन्यं घृतदुग्धादिकं रसम् (III.47.4); सोमलताद्योषधि सारपातारं वैद्यम् (II.11.11); सोम वल्ल्यादि निष्पन्नमाह्लादकमासव-विशेषम्, an exhilarating liquor (Yv. VIII.10); बलपुष्टिबुद्धि-वर्धकमुत्तमौषध्यभिषवम् (I.28.9) महौषधि विशिष्टमन्नम् (III.40.5); जलम्, water (V.34.3); सोमद्योषधिगणम् (Yv. XXVIII.26); सोमवल्ल्या द्योषधिरसान्वितं पाकम् (Yv.XV.60); अमृताख्यं रसम् ambrosia of immortality (Yv.IV.31). Similarly we have सोम: ओषधिराज: (Yv XXIX.49); महौषधिरस ऐश्वर्य वा (V.43.5); वैद्यक शिल्प क्रियया ससाधित ओषधीरस:, medicinal preparations accomplished in pharmaceutical concerns (I.47 1) Also the creator Lord, य: सुनोति स: (VI.34.4); य: सर्वजगत् स: चराचर: परमात्मा (VI.44.24); सोमा: ये सुन्वन्ति सूयन्ते वा ते पदार्था: (III.36.2); सूयन्त उत्पद्यन्ते ये ते पदार्था: (I.2.1); also moon as (सोमेन चन्द्रेण प्रकाशमानेन वाऽऽह्लाद-करत्वेन (Yv.X.30).

Analogical Interpretation of Soma—In the Vedic literature. Soma has numerous connotations, based on analogies. We shell quote here a few:

(a) Now as to why he is called Soma. When he first became sacrificial food for the gods, he thought within him, 'I must not become sacrificial food for the gods with my whole self!' That form of his, which was most pleasing, he accordingly put aside. There upon the gods were victorious; they said, 'Draw into thee, for therewith shalt thou become our food? He drew it to him even from a far, saying, verily, that is mine own, he was called Soma. (स्वा वै मऽएषेति तस्मात् सोमो नाम—Satapatha III.9.4.22).

(b) Some is differedt from Sura, the alcoholic be*u*erage—He (the Adhvaryu) then draws seventeen other cups of Soma, and (the Nestri) seventeen cups of Sura (spirituous liquor) for to Prajapati belong these two saps of plants, to wit the Soma and Sura (सप्तदश सुराग्रहान् प्रजापतेर्वाऽएतेऽन्धसी यत्सोमश्च सुरा च); —and these two the Soma is truth, prosperity, light (सत्यं वै श्रीर्ज्योतिः सोमः); and the Sura untruth, misery, darkness (अनृत पाप्मा तमः सुरैते —Satapatha V.1.2.10).

(c) Sri or eminence is Soma; contrary to it is disease which means meanness श्रीर्वैसोमः , पाप्मा यक्ष्मः —IV.1.3,9; Soma is antithesis of Yaksma or disease).

(d) The king Soma is moon (सोमा राजा चन्द्रमाः , सः स्वयमेवात्मान प्रोचे यज्ञवचसे राजस्तम्बायनाय यावन्ति वाव मे ज्योती षि तावत्यो मऽइष्टकाऽइति, he himself, indeed, proclaimed his own self to Yajnavacos Rajastamba, saying, "As many lights as there are of mine, so many are my bricks." Satapatha, X 4 2.1).

(e) Soma forsooth was Vrtra; Soma is a god, since Soma (the moon) is in the sky, 'Soma forsooth was Vrtra; his body is the same as the mountains and rocks; thereon grows that plant called Usana (उशान); they fetch it hither and press it, and by means of the consecration and the Upasads, by Tanunaptra, तानूनप्त्र, and the strengthening they make it into Soma. (वृत्रो वै सोम आसीत्, तच्छरीरं यद्गिरयो यदश्मानस्तदेषो उशानानामौषधिर्जायते —Satpatha, III.4.3.13).

(f) Soma is Prajapati (सोमो हि प्रजापतिः —Satapatha, V.I.5.26); Soma is Pavamana (सोमो वै पवमानः —II.2.3.22); Soma is all the deities (सोमः सर्वा देवता—I.6.3.21); Soma is Indra (सोमो वा इन्द्रः —II.2.3.23); Soma is night (सोमो रात्रिः —III.4.4.15); Soma is parna or palasa (सोमो वै पर्णः —VI.5.1.1; सोमो वै पलाशः —Kausitiki II.2); Pasu or animal is verily Soma (पशुर्वै प्रत्यक्ष सोमः —V.1.3.7); fame is Soma (यशो वै सोमः —IV.2.4.9).

Special feature of the Soma Pavamana hymns : The Book IX of the Rgveda has 114 hymns and in all, 1108 verses. As we have said, Soma verily means the moon in the cosmic creation, which is imagined to sustain a conceptual plant Soma, which on cleansing, crushing and squeezing yields an exhilarating juice, very tasty, sweet, health-promoting and energizing. This drink is primarely meant for Indra, the Lord Supreme. He is the highest and the most primary source of Soma, and He alone is offered the oblations of Soma, so much so that Indra and Soma become identical. Indra is Lord of Bliss, He is Bliss-personified;

He is identical with Love, which is purest form with all its lustre and devoid of lust, is the personified Soma, Soma is Ananda (आनन्द) personified-the supreme bliss of ectasy, par excellence.

Soma as an oblation goes to Indra, and through Him to other deities, the bounties of Nature. It exhilarate them also, and energizes them, and they play their due and assigned role in creation and maintenance, Whatever divine beauty exists in the world is due to Soma, and thus the benign creation is the manifestation of Indra, the Lord Supreme.

In the Soma Pavamana hymn, Indra is the central figure, the only supreme recipient of our homage and oblations. In the cosmic creation, our supreme Lord is Indra, and Nature's forces are the Devas, the gods. In our body complex, the little self, the individual consciousness, the soul is Indra, whilst the sense organs are the gods. Here the soul is the enjoyer of the Soma, and through this soul, the Soma is shared by the sense organs. The Soma is cleansed and filtered through the strainers of mental complex, the internal organ in particular, and then it is stored in the vijnanmaya sheath (विज्ञानमय कोश) as enlightenment and in the anandamaya sheath (आनन्दमय कोश) as bliss or supreme happiness. To the extent Soma has been cleansed and filtered, depends the integral personality of the devotee, the yogin; this Soma makes a person a deva, a pitr, a man, a gandharva (a man with worldly sense of aesthetics, a poet, a dancer, a musician, a lover, a man of refined tastes, or a devil, or raksas.

The society has also an Indra, the head of a state, the chief of an organisation; all the invocations are addressed to him; all the tributes go to him; he is the custodian of all the revenue and wealth; Soma is this tribute and revenue; through him, the other officers in charge, the head of the sub-offices, get the share of the total finances to be spent for the welfare of the society. The Soma Pavamana hymns have massages for such organizations also.

A young diciple, a Brahmacarin, is also known sometimes as Soma; he is addressed as saumya (सौम्य). His personal integrity depends upon his preserving the elixir of youth or virility the virya, the ojas. The essense of life is the Soma-elixir. The Soma reflects through the eyes, the cheeks, the lips, the muscles in fact, through everything that glorifies the youth. Soma also become the Saurya (शौर्य) or valour of a soldier; it becomes the serenity of a young intellectual in an academy; Soma glitters through the eyes of a Brahmacarin, preparing himself for any walk of life.

Soma is the quintessence of any herb, used as a cure of maladies and diseases. It is the finally refined essence of a medicine that leads to amelioration and better health. Whatever is curative in a herb or medicine is Soma : it is, as if, present in micro-quantities in every dose of medicine, and the cure is supposed to be proportional to its content.

Dayananda in his commentary on the Vedic mantras gives the following meanings of the word Soma.

(i) Supreme Lord, the impaller of the universe ! सुवति चराचर जगत्, तत्सम्बुद्धौ जगदीश्वर:

(ii) the supreme medicine! सूयन्ते रसा यस्मात् स सोमौषधिराज: ।

(iii) One adept in Soma-knowlege! सोमविद्या-सम्पादक विद्वन्.

(iv) An enlightened person or a government official bright as moon (चन्द्र इव वर्तमान राजपुरुष विद्वज्जन वा ।)

(v) The cure of all diseases like the conceptual Soma-plant (सोमवल्लीव सर्वरोगविनाशक).

(vi) A young with superb virility, वीर्यवत्तम.

(vii) A person of divine humility, सोम्यगुणसम्पन्न.

(viii) Friend and well-wisher of every one, सर्वसुहृद् सोहार्द प्रद वा.

(ix) The democratic head of a state, सर्वगुणप्रापक सभाध्यक्ष, सकलैश्वर्य प्रेरक सभापति:

(x) A deciple with noble qualities, प्रशस्तगुणशिष्य.

(xi) Any preparation mixed with the Soma juice, सोमरसान्वितं पाकम्, सोमवल्ल्यादि निष्पन्नमाह्लादकमासव विशेषम् an asava, or an exhilarating extract, derived from Soma plant.

(xii) One desirous of good reputation, the member of the court of justice, ऐश्वर्यमिच्छु: न्यायाधीश: .

(xiii) A friend, सखा.

(xiv) Moon, चन्द्रमा.

(xv) Soma plant or some plant like this of medicinal properties, सोमलताद्योषधिगण.

(xvi) Newly married tender, smart and humble young man, सौकुमार्यादि गुणयुक्तत्वाद् विवाहित: प्रथम: पति: .

(xvii) Members of an assembly or parliament of a state, or people of a state, राजसभाया: सभासन् प्रजाजनो वा.

Aurobindo and Soma: Aurobindo in "The Secret of the Veda" (p 342) writes: Soma is the Lord of the wine of delight: the wine of immortality. Like Agni, he is found in the plants, the growths of earth and in the waters. The Soma wine used in the external sacrifice in the symbol of this wine of delight. It is pressed out by the pressing stone (adri, अद्रि, gravan, ग्रावण्, which has a close symbolic connection with the thunderbolt, the formed electric force of Indra also called adri. The Vedic hymns speak of the luminous thunders of this stone, as they speak of light and sound of Indra's weapon. Once pressed out as delight of existence, Soma has to be purified through a strainer (पवित्र) and through the strainer he streams in his purity into the wine-bowl, चमू, in which he is brought to the sacrifice, or he is kept in jars (कलश) for Indra's drinking, or, sometimes the symbol of the bowl or the jar is neglected and Soma is simply described as flowing in a river of delight to the seat of the Gods, to the home of Immortality. That these things are symbols is very clear in most of the hymns of the Ninth Mandala which are devoted to the God Soma. Here, for instance, the physical system of the human being is imaged as the jar of the Soma-wine and the strainer through which it is purified is said to be spread out in the seat of heaven, दिवस्पदे, "(Vol X.p.343).

Thus evidently the entire human system, the body complex, is Kalasa or the jar of storing the Soma. The mind enlightened by knowledge (चेतस्) is the strainer or divine filter made of fleecy-wool. We have called it ultrapsychic fleecy-filter in our translation of the Soma-Pavaman hymns. Aurobindo says :

"The hymns begins with an imagery which closely follows the physical facts of the purifying of the wine and its pouring into the jar. The strainer or purifying instrument spread out in the seat of Heaven seems to be the mind enlightened by knowledge (Cetas); the hymn hymn system is the jar (पवित्रं ते विततं ब्रह्मणस्पते, the strainer is spread wide for thee, O Master of the soul; प्रभुर्गात्राणि पर्येषि विश्वतः, becoming manifest thou pervadest or goest about the limbs everywhere. Soma is addressed here as Brahmanaspati, a word sometimes applied to other gods, but usually reserved for Brhaspati, master of the creative World. Brahman in the Veda is the soul or soul-consciousness, emerging from the secret heart of things, but more often the thought, inspired, creative, full of the secret truth, which emerges from that consciousness and becomes thought of the mind, manma, Here, however, it seams to mean the soul itself. Soma, the Lord of the Ananda, is the true creator who possesses the soul and brings out of it a divine creation. For him, the mind and heart, enlightened, have been formed into a purifying instrument, freed from all narrowness and duality, the consciousness in it has been extended widely to receive the full flow of the sense-life and mind-life, and turn it into pure delight of the true existence, the divine, the immortal Ananda;"

Aurobindo further says;

"So received, sifted and strained, the Some-wine of life turned into Ananda, comes pouring into all the members of the human system as into a wine-jar and flows through all of them completely in their every part. As the body of a man becomes full of the touch and exultation of strong wine, so all the physical system becomes full of the touch and exultation of this divine Ananda. The words prabhu (प्रभु) and vibhu (विभु) in the Veda are used not in the later sense, "lord, but in a fixed psychological significance like pracetas, प्रचेतस and vicetas, विचेतस, or like prajnana, प्रज्ञान and vijnana, विज्ञान in the later language, vibhu means becoming, or coming into existence pervasively, Prabhu, becoming and coming into existence in front of the consciousness, at a particular point as a particular object or experience, Soma comes out like the wine dropping from the strainer and then pervading the jar; it emerges into the consciousness, concentrated at some particular point, prabhu, or as some particular experience, and then pervades the whole being as Ananda, vibhu (p. 344).

Every human system is not capable of holding this Soma. We would again quote Aurobindo in this connection :

"But it is not every human system that can hold, sustain and enjoy the potent and often violent ecstasy of that divine delight, अतप्ततनूर्न तद् आमो अश्नुते (IX.83 1), he who is raw and his body not heated does not taste and enjoy that; शृतास इद्वहन्तस्तत् समाशत, only those who have been baked in the fire bear and entirely enjoy that. The wine of that divine Life poured into the system is a strong, overflooding and violent ecs.a , it cannot be held in the system, unprepared for it by strong endurance of the utmost fires of life and suffering and experience. (p. 344).

About the strainer, Aurobindo further says;

"This strong and fiery wine has to be purified and the strainer for its purifying has been spread out wide to receive it in the seat of heaven; तपोष्पवित्रं विततं दिवस्पदे—IX.83.2; its thread or fibres are all of pure light and stand out like rays. (शोचन्तो अस्य तन्तवो व्यस्थिरन्—IX.83.2). Through these fibres, the wine has to come streaming The image evidently refers to the purified mental and emotional conscious heart, cetas, whose thoughts and emotions are the threads or fibres." (p. 345)

"Thus received and purified these keen and violent juices, these swift and intoxic eating powers of the wine no longer disturb the mind or hurt the body, are no longer spilled and lost but foster and increase, avanti, mind and body of their purifier, अवन्त्यस्य पवीतारमाशवः (IX 83.2). So increasing him in all delight of his mental emotional, sensational, and physical being, they rise with him through the purified and blissful heart to the highest level or surface of heaven, that is, to the luminous world of Svar (स्वर्) where the mind capable of intuition inspiration, revelation is bathed in the splendours of the Truth (rtam), liberated into the infinity of the vast (brhat): दिवस्पृष्ठमधि तिष्ठन्ति चेतसा.

The Vedic tradition takes us by and by to higher and higher connotations of Soma; any medicinal plant is a Soma plant; moon is also Soma; every thing charming is Soma; the Ananda or delight of divine existence in the human being's conscious experience is Soma. From divine manifestation, we go up to the divine Person, and at once Soma appears as the Supreme Personality, the highest univeral Deva (not only visve devah, or all Nature's Bounties, but finally the Devadhi-deva, the Supreme Lord).

Soma is regarded as the dappled Bull also (अरूरुचद् उषसः पृश्निरग्रिय उक्षा बिभर्ति भुवनानि वाजयुः —IX.83.3). The word prsnih, पृश्निः, dappled, is used both of the Bull, the supreme Male, and of the Cow, the female energy. Like all words of colour, sveta, sukra, hari, harit, krsna, hiranyaya in the Veda, the word prsnih is also symbolic Colour, varna, has always denoted quality, temperament etc. (guna, karma, svabhava) in the language of the Vedic mysticism. The dappled Bull is the Deva in the variety of his manifestations; many-hued Soma is that first dappled Bull, generator of the world of becoming, for, from the Ananda, from the all-blissful one, they all proceed; Soma is this Bull (uksan उक्षन्), a word like vrsan, वृषन्, means diffusing, generating, impregnating, the father of abundance, the Bull, the Male; it is he who fertilizes force of consciousness (उक्ष् सेचने; उक्षन् सेचन्ते —Daya. ; उक्षन् महन्नाम—Nigh. III.3); वृषा वर्षकः वीर्यसेचकः —Daya.).

Soma is the Ghandharva, the Lord of the hosts of delight, and guards the true seat of the Deva, the level or plane of the Ananda. He is the Supreme, standing out from all other beings, and over them, other than they and wonderful (adbhutah). For we have the verse: गन्धर्व इत्था पदस्य क्षिति पाति देवानां जनिमान्यद्भुत: —IX.83.4.

In the yajna-karma or the sacrificial rituals, Soma becomes an offering (havih). As the wine of delight, he flows about and enters into the great march of the sacrifice, which is the progress of man from the physical to the super-conscient. He enters into it and encompasses it wearing the cloud of the heavenly ether, nabhas, नभस्, the mental principle, as his robe and veil (हविर्हविष्मो महि सद्म दैव्यम् —IX.83.5). The divine delight comes to us wearing the luminous-cloudy veil of the forms mental experience.

In that march of sacrificial ascent, the all-blissful Deva bemes the king, Soma Rajan, of all our activities, master of our divinised nature and its energies, and with the enlightened conscious heart as his chariot ascends into the plenitude of the infinite, and immortal state (Aurobindo, p. 348).

Reference to the Samaveda

The Book Nine of the Rgveda deals with the Hymns devoted to the Soma Pavamana, and the verses in large number (often with minor alterations) occur in the Samaveda also. This concordance has been indicated by us in each hymn on two styles:

(i) The Samaveda is divided into two Arcikas, the Purvarcika, पूर्वार्चिक, which we have indicated as I, and the Uttaracika, उत्तरार्चिक, indicated as II. Each Arcika is further divided into Prapathakas, प्रपाठका:, each Prapathaka into the Ardhas, the First-half, प्रथमोऽर्द्ध:, and the Second-half, द्वितीयोऽर्द्ध:; and these Ardhas are further sub-divided into Dasakas, दशका:, or groups of ten verses (the number of verses in each Dasaka, however, is not restricted to ten only), and finally each Dasaka into a number of verses.

(ii) The modern trend is to assign a continuous number to all the verses of the Samaveda, from 1 to 1875. This has been indicated in parenthesis or round brackets, ( ), after referring to in the first style.

Hymn-1

For verse 1, see Nir. XI.3.

For verse 1, Samaveda, 1.5.2.4.2 (468) and II.1.1.15.1 (689), verse 2, 3, Samaveda, II.1.1.15.2, 3, (689, 690).

1. Be pure with thy sweetest and most gladdening stream. O Soma, thou art pressed for Indra to drink (इन्द्राय पातवे सुतः). The verse is explained by the mere reading of it (इति सा निगदव्याख्याता—Nir. XI.3).

Indra* is the resplendent self, the soul, who drinks Soma, not in the literal sense; Soma is neither a fluid, nor Indra, a human who drinks in the literal sense. Soma is the elixir of divine love which flows out to the Anandamaya and Vijnanamaya sheaths and enjoyed by the self seated in the innermost cavity of heart. Soma is pleasing and exhilarating, leading to truth and enlightenment, and not to drunkenness leading to falsehood and wretched life. (हे सोम, इन्द्राय पातवे पातुं सुतः अभिसुतः त्वं स्वादिष्ठया स्वादुतमया मदिष्ठया अतिशयेन मादयित्र्या धारयपवस्व क्षर —Sayana).

Pavasva, flow (पवस्व क्षर —Sayana; पवित्री भव, be pure; प्रापको भव — Daya.).

Sutam, सुतं, expressed, effused (Wilson); सुसंस्कारै-निष्पादितं —Daya on III.40.2; अन्तःकरणाभिगतं विज्ञानम् —Daya. on I.3.8).

2. Ayohatam yonim, made strong by fitting iron-nails (अयोहतं योनिं

—gold-smitten birth place—Wilson; हिरण्येन हतं —Sayana). The word ayas stands for any metal in general and hence iron or gold even. (Ayas=hiranya=gold—Nigh. I.2).

Druna, द्रुणा ; it is a wooden cask (द्रोणकलशेन; अधिषवण-फलकाभ्यां; the planks of the Soma-press—Sayana; द्रुणा गन्तारौ इन्द्राग्नी सेनापत्यध्यक्षौ —Daya. on V.86.3).

For Ayohatam yonim, see also IX.80.2, i.e. fashioned by a golden hand, or pressed by the priest, having gold rings in their fingers. It is so said, that the Brahmins who perform these ceremonies must all wear a kind of flattened gold ring. (Stevenson).

Mahindhara in Yv. XXVI.26, takes it as "fabricated by a carpenter with an iron tool."

4. Vajam, वाजं, strengh (वाजं बलम् --Sayana). (वाजः=श्रवः=अन्ननाम —Nigh. II.7).

Sravah, श्रवः , fame or food (श्रवः अन्न —Sayana).

6. Varena, वारेण, through the cloth, the ultra-psychic fleecy filter; the universally-stretched out cloth, the cosmic filter, spread in the firmament through which the rains filter out; the extensive psychic filter through which pass all our ideas, thinkings, emotions and feelings before they reach our consciousness to become a part and portion of our Anandamaya and Vijnanamaya sheaths. (वारेण वालेन, woollen, hairy—Sayana).

The hair, वार or वाल, is the hair-sieve used for straining the Soma juice. In the Soma ceremonies, the herbal juice is filtered through a stretched woollen cloth.

Sasvata tana. eternally outstretched (शश्वता शाश्वतेन तना विस्तृतेन —Sayana).

Suryasya duhita, the daughter of the Sun i.e. dawn; according to Sayana, the Sradhadevi, श्रद्धादेवी. Sradha, the faith, the instinct which impels the enlightened soul to accept truth and truth alone, is the daughter of the Sun According to the Vajasaneyins, "श्रद्धा वै सूर्यस्य दुहिता श्रद्धा ह्येनं पुनाति"—Sradha, verily, is the daughter of the Sun; she purifies him."

7. Parye divi, पार्ये दिवि, on the auspicious day; on the final day (सौत्येऽह्नि —on the day of the Soma effusion—Sayana).

Dasa yosanah svasarah anvih, दशयोषण: स्वसार: अण्वी: the ten sister fingers (योषण: स्त्रिय: स्वसार: स्वय सरन्त्यो दशसंख्याका: अण्वी: अण्व्यो: अंगुल्य: —Sayana).

Anvyah, अण्व्य:=स्वसार: =अंगुलिनामानि —Nigh. II.5.

There are twenty-two synonyms of anguli, finger. From what root is angulayah (fingers) derived ? They are so called because they go foremost, or they drip foremost, or they set foremost; or they move foremost, or they mark, or they bend, or may be so called from decorating (अङ्गुल्य: कस्मात्? अग्रगामिन्यो भवन्तीति वा। अग्रगालिन्यो भवन्तीति वा। अग्रकारिण्यो भवन्तीति वा। अग्रसारिण्यो भवन्तीति वा। अङ्कना भवन्तीति वा। अञ्चना भवन्तीति वा। अपि वाभ्यञ्जनादेव स्यु: —Nir. II.8).

8. Tridhatu, त्रिधातु, the sap is imbibed with three qualities of invigorating body (शरीर) mind (मनस्) and intellect (बुद्धि). In the Soma ceremony, the Soma juice becomes threefold, as filling the three vessels, the dronakalasa, the adhavaniya and the putabhrta (त्रिधातु त्रिस्थानम्। द्रोणकलश आधवनीय: पूतभृदिति त्रिधातव: —Sayana).

Hymn-2

For verse 1—8, Samaveda II.4.1.3.1-8 (1037-1044)

For verse 9, Samaveda II.4.1.3.10 (1046)

For verse 10, Samaveda II.4.1.3.9 (1045).

1. Deva' vih, देवऽवी: —dear to Nature's bounties; dear to five sense-organs and five organs of actions (देववी देवकामस्त्वम् —Sayana).

3. Apah-vasista, mingled with waters (अप: वसतीवरी: वसिष्ठ आच्छादयति —Sayana).

Ṣukratuh, rich in qualities and actions (सुक्रतु: सुकर्मा —Sayana).

7. Ojasa apasyuvah, increase our vigour and encourage us for the right conduct (ओजसा बलेन अपस्युव: कर्मेच्छा सम्बन्धिन्य: ता: —Sayana).

Marmrjyante, they cleanse (our hearts) (मर्मृज्यन्ते शोध्यन्ते —Sayana).

Girah, words of praise (गिर: स्तुतय: —Sayana)

Madaya sumbhase, add to our exhilaration (मदाय क्षरन् शुम्भसे अलङ्क्रियसे —Sayana); which adorn thee as thou droppest for our exhilaration—Wilson.

Hymn-3

For verse 5, see Nir. VI.28

verse 1, Samaveda, II.5.2.2.1 (1256)

verse 2, Samaveda, II.5.2.2.6 (1261)

verse 3, Samaveda, II.5.2.2.5 (1260)

verse, 4-5, Samaveda, II.5.2.2.4; 5, (1258, 1259)

verse 6, Samaveda, II.5.2.2.3 (1257)

verses 7-10, Samaveda, II.5.2.2.7-10 (1262-65)

verse 9, also Samaveda, II.1.2.17.1 (758)

1. Dronani, द्रोणानि, towards or on the sacrificial vessels. Dronas are the large troughs called drona-kalasa (दोणानि द्रोणकलशानि —Sayana).

2. Hvaransi ati-dhavati, Hvaransi, ह्वरांसि अतिधावति, rushes forward or hastenes down the declivities (Benfey); Hvaransi=enemies or obstacles and oppositions (ह्वरांसि शत्रून् अति धावति, rushes on to crush, हन्तुमभिगच्छति —Sayana).

Vipa-Krtah, विपाकृत:, worked with fingers (विपा=fingers, Nigh. II.5, विपा अंगुल्या: कृत: अभिषुत:, crushed, squeezed).

5. Ratharyati, longing for a chariot, one desirous of something accomplished, or one who desires a chariot (रथर्यतीति सिद्धिस्तत्प्रेप्सु: रथं कामयत इति वा —Nir. VI.28).

Esa devo ratharyati, this god desires a chariot; this Soma, the love divine hastens to ride on a chariot; it longs for a chariot, or it longs or is desirous of some thing already accomplished.

10. Puruvratah, multi-functional (पुरुव्रत: बहुकर्मा —Sayana).

Hymn-4

For verses 1-10, Samaveda, II.4.1.4. 1-10 (1047-1056)

1. Athano vasyasah krdhi, make us happy and prosperous make us happy—Wilson; नः अस्मान् वस्यसः श्रेयः कृधि कुरु —Sayana; also make us prosperous with food.

7. Dvibarhasan rayim, riches abundant for both worlds (द्विबर्हसं द्वयोः द्यावा पृथिव्योः स्थानयोः परिवृढं रयिं धनम् —Sayana; dvi means double or abundant.

9. Vidharmani, विधर्मणि, for their own upholding (विधर्मणि आत्मनो विधारणार्थम् —Sayana); but he translates the same as "they glorify thee with the hymns in the sacrifice.

Hymn-5

This is one of the Apri-suktas, refering to samiddhah, tanunapat, ila, barhih, devir-dvarah, usasanakta, devyau hotarau, tisrodevyah, sarasvati-ila-bharati trio, tvastr, vanaspati and svahakrti, the eleven. For other Apri-hymns, see X.110 of the Rgveda, V 12 of the Atharva, and chapter XXIX.25-36, and numerous other references.

These are the names of Agni usually; here of soma.

2. Tanunapat, never decaying in body (तनूनपात् अत्र सोमो भवति — Sayana) beamsari, born of waters, and from these beams, the Soma, and hence the Soma is taunnapat.

4. Harih, हरिः, green-hued, golden, golden-hued (हरिः हरितवर्णः —Sayana)

6. Susilpe, handsome in built (सुशिल्पे सुरूपे —Sayana).

11. Vayu, cosmic wind; Brhaspati, cosmic intelligence, Suryah, the Sun or the cosmic light, Agnih, the cosmic fire, Indrah, the cosmic lightning.

Hymn-6

For verse 1, Samaveda I.6.1.2.10 (506) with avya varebhih.

2. Indra iti, O Soma thou art Indra, or a sovereign, you act as a sovereign.

Indo, इन्दो, O Soma, O moon, or O drops of Soma. (इन्दो साम, त्वमिन्द्र: ईश्वर: —Sayana).

5. Yosano dasa, योषणो दश, the ten sisters, the ten fingers, as in IX.1.7, दश संख्याका: स्त्रिय: , अङ्गुल्य इत्यर्थ: ; the ten ladies, that is the ten fingers —Sayana).

7. Pipa yat, flattens, its milk swells (Wilson); one which sustains Indra, (पय: पीपयत् इन्द्रमाप्यायितवत् । तस्माद् धारया पवत इत्यर्थ: —Sayana).

9. Guha cid-dadhise girah, (thou storest praises in secret), it resounds with a thrill when it flows from the filters. Alternatively, when the Soma has been placed in the sacrificial place (guha), the priest start chanting hymns of praise (girah). This might also refer to uparavas (उपरव) or "sounding holes", which are dug in the ground and over which the two boards used for pressing Soma are placed. These holes are said to deepen the sound of the stones with which the boards and the Soma-shoots are beaten. (see Katyayane Sutras VIII.4.28; अभिषववेलायामुपरवेषु धारयसि । करोषीत्यर्थ: —Sayana).

Hymn-7

The entire hymn is repeated in the Samaveda with several verbal alterations : II.4.3.2. 1-9 (1028-1036).

1. Vidana asya yojanam, विदाना अस्य योजनम्, knowing that they have a relation with Indra, the resplendent self Here asya means with or of Indra, इन्द्रस्य (Sayana).

2. Apah, of waters (vasativari waters); of divine elixir (अप: वसतीवरी: —Sayana).

See Aitareya Brahmane for vasativari Agriyah dharah madhva pra vi gahate, the streams of this sweet bliss flow forth pre-eminent (अग्रिय: मुख्या: , pre-eminent; प्र वि गाहते पतन्तीत्यर्थ: —Sayana).

Hymn-8

The entire hymn is repeated in the Samaveda, II.5.1.2. 1-9 (with 8 and 9 transposed). (1178-1186)

3. Rtasya yonim, ऋतस्य योनिम् in the place of benevolent works, in the place of sacrifice. (देवानां योनिम् in the Samaveda).

Asadam codaya, may you impel him, (the resplendent self) to sit (or to participate) in the sacrifice

Hardi, हार्दि, provide gratification: "Soma, pure-flowing for Indra's gratification, do thou stir his heart to sit in the place of sacrifice" (cf. VIII.79.8) (Sayana's translation of hardi as अभिलषितत्वम् is wrong – Wilson).

4. Sapta dhitayah, सप्त-धीतय: , the seven participating priests धीतय: होतका: —Sayana). (cf. IX.9.4. ; but IX.62.17, metres, धीतभि: छन्दोभि· —Sayana.

Viprah anu amadisu, विप्रा: अनु अमादिषु: , the sages gladden you. Also worshippers follow thee exulting (Wilson).

5. Kam, कम्, water (कं उदकं—Sayana); kam is an adverb here; "Surely" with a very weakened force, (Wilson).

7. Indo, O divine love (इन्दो सोम —Sayana).

Sakhayam a visa, enter thy friend (i.e. Indra) सखायं प्रियमिन्द्रं आविश आप्नुहि —Sayana); may you enter in the heart of the resplendent self, your real friend.

9. Nrcaksam, नृचक्षसम्, the conlemplator of men, (नृणां द्रष्टारं — Sayana).

Svarvidam, the knower of all things (स्वर्विदं सर्वज्ञं —Sayana; also the knower of heaven—Wilson).

Hymn-9

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.5.2.4.10 (476); II.3.1.16.1 (935) for सुवानः, read स्वानैः).

verse 2, Samaveda, II.3.1.16.3 (937) (For वनिष्ठया, read पनिष्ठये).

verse 3, Samaveda, II.3.1.16.2 (936).

1. Naptyoh, नप्त्योः, between the two grand-daughters; at the source where the effusion takes place; between the two boards (used in pressing the Soma, अधिषवण-फलकयोः —Sayana).

Kavih, कविः, wise (कविः मेधावी).

Kavikratuh, one working with penetrating wisdom,—used for Soma (कविक्रतुः क्रान्तप्रज्ञः क्रान्तकर्मा वा सोमः —Sayana).

Vayansi, highest statures; the birds (used for stones: वयांसि ग्रावाणः, तथा च मंत्रवर्णः —"वयांसि श्येना अतिथयः पर्वतानां ककुभः" इति —Sayana).

Yati, proceeds to; is raised to (याति गच्छति).

3. "That pure son (the Soma) illumined his mothers, he the born them too born, he the great them the great, the augmenters of sacrifice" —Wilson, literal translation).

4. Sapta dhitibhih, seven guileless streams of sensation; seven fingers, धीतिभिः अंगुलिभिः, Nigh. II.5); see IX.8.4—सप्तधीतयः.

7. Kalpesu, कल्पेषु, in the days of sacrifice; in functions (कल्पेषु कल्पनीयेष्वहःसु in the days which have to be reckoned —Sayana).

Hymn-10

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.4.2.1. 4-6 (1119-1121)

verse 4, Samaveda, I.5.2.5.9 (485) II.4.2.1.7 (1122)

verse 5-9, Samaveda, II.4 2.1.8-12 (1123-1127), (with verabal alterations).

1. Sravasyavah, श्रवस्यवः, longing for food and strength (श्रवः as अन्ननाम Nigh, II.7); desiring to seize food from their enemies, शत्रुभ्योऽन्नमिच्छन्तः —Sayana.

5. Vivasvat, here it stands for Indra; cosmic brilliance (विवस्वतः इन्द्रस्य भागानासः भागानभूताः उषसः भगं जनन्तः जनयन्तः —Sayana).

Surah, the Soma elixirs which issue forth (सूराः सरन्तः सोमाः —Sayana). Wilson proposes a rendering of the verse 5 as thus : "Having obtained the glory of Vivasvat, and producing that of the dawn, the sun-bright juices distend the interstices (of the cloth)".

Anvam vi tanvate, the small holes of the filtering cloth are anva, but here Sayana renders the phrase as spreading the sound (अण्वं वि तन्वते अभिषववेलायामुपरवेषु शब्दं कुर्वन्ति —Sayana). Whilst they issue forth and spread, they do so with a thrilling sound.

6. Apa dvara matinam, अप द्वारा मतीनां, throw open the doors of cosmic sacrifice. If one takes 'dvara' with 'matinam', "the ancient poets throw open the doors of their hymns."—Wilson.

Pratna matinam karavah, प्रत्ना मतीनां कारव:, ancient singers of hymns.

Vrsnah, वृष्ण:, the offerer of divine love (सेचक: सोमस्य —Sayana).

8. Nabhim, the navel; Soma is regarded as the navel of sacrifice, (cf. IX.73.1, ऋतस्य योना नाभय: समस्वरन्).

Kaveh apatyam, कवे: अपत्यं, the offspring of the sage; in rituals, the graha or the Soma-vessel is the offspring; it is called ansu (अंशु). In fact, the stem of the plant is the parent sage, and its juice is the offspring.

Caksuscit surye saca, चक्षु: चित् सूर्ये सचा, my eyes become associated with the sun (literal translation) (सचा संगतं भवति —Sayana).

9. Sayana seems to interpret this verse as meaning that Indra views the Soma with affection even after it has been drunk by the priests (सूर: सुवीर्य इन्द्र: चक्षसा चक्षुषा दिव: दीप्तस्यात्मन: प्रिया प्रियं पदं अध्वर्युभि: गुहा गुहायां हृदये हितं निहितं पीतं सोममपि अभि पश्यति —Sayana).

Benfey's translation; "The sun looks with his eye towards that beloved quarter of heaven, placed by the priests in the sacred cell".

दिवस् (दिव्)=द्युलोक, identified with the dronakalasa, द्रोणकलश or large Soma-trough.

The sense appears to be that the Sun looks towards the place where the Soma lies while it is pressed.

Hymn-11

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II 1.1.1 1-3 (651-653), verses 4-9, Samaveda, II.6.3.3.1-6 (1444-1449) (with verbal alterations).

2. Atharvanah. अथर्वाणः , the priests, the celebrated sages.

Devam devaya deva'yu, देवं देवाय देवयु, divine and favourite of all divinities (देवं देवनशीलं देवयु देवयुं देवकामं रसं देवाय देवनशीलायेन्द्राय —Sayana).

Hymn-12

For verses 1-9, see Samaveda, II.5.1.4.1-9 (1196-1204) with the transposition of verses 8 and 9, and several verbal alterat

3. Vipascit somah, the wise Soma; Soma the promoter of wisdom (विपश्चित सोमः विद्वान् सोमः —Sayana).

Sindhoh urma, in water taken from rive तरङ्गे वसतीवरीष्वित्यर्थः —Sayana, mixed with the waves of ... with the vasatīvari waters.

Sadane kseti, dwells in its own station. i.e. at the summit of snowing mountains (सादने=सवने; संहितायां ... ने क्षिति निवसति —Sayana).

Gauri, speech (गौरी=वाङ्नाम Nigh. 1.11).

Also resting on an ox-hide (Benfey). See गोरधि त्वचि गो: त्वचि अधि—IX.101.11).

4. Avyah vare, through a fleecy filter; through a filter or strainer consisting of woollen network. (Avi. अवि, sheep or wool of sheep)

5. Pavitre, पवित्रे, the filter or strainer (ultrapsychic fleecy filters in the context of the spiritual Soma that passes to the innermost consciousness).

Tam induh pari sasvaje, तम् इन्दु: परि षस्वजे, Indu has embraced that (Soma). Indu is also Soma, and hence Soma is mixed Soma, that is, the Soma which is stored in the vats or pots, is mixed with the freshly filtered Soma (तं स्वांशभूतं सोमं इन्दु: सोमो देव: परि षस्वजे प्रविशति —Sayana).

6. Madhuscutam kosam jinvvan, मधुश्चुतं कोशं जिन्वन्, delights the nectar shedding cloud (कोशं मेघं. —cloud, Nigh I.10). (It is more probable that samudra and Kosa mean here, as often elsewhere, the water into which the Soma drops and the drona-kalasa, द्रोणकलश, a vessel, i.e. समुद्र=water; कोश=दोणकलश, vat or pot, (Wilson).

7. Manusa yuga, मानुषां युगा, many generations of men (also, the various sacrificial seasons, whether occupying one or many days: मानुषा मानुषाणि युगा युगानि अहीनैकाहात्मकानि —Sayana).

Hymn-13

For the entire hymn, see Samaveda, II 5.1.3. 1-9 (1187-1195); verses 5 and 6 are transposed.

2. Whilst the Soma juices are effused and filtered in the ceremonial rites, the priests carry on the chant of hymns. eulogizing Soma.

Abhi pra gayata, sing praises aloud.

3. Vajasataye, for the attainment of nourishment (also for battle, cf. verse 6).

Devavitaye, for securing affection from Nature's bounties. According to Sayana, they become the beverage of gods in the sacrifice, and by that means, the sacrificer obtains food, देववीतये देवानां वीतिर्गतिः प्राप्तिर्भक्षणं वा यस्मिन् स देववीतिर्यज्ञः। तदर्थम्। यज्ञसिद्धिः साक्षात्प्रयोजनं तद् द्वारा अन्नलाभ इत्यर्थः। —Sayana).

6. Vajasataye (for battle) hiyana (urged or impelled) atyah na (like horses) (अत्याः न अश्वा इव हियानः प्रेर्यमाणाः वाजसातये संग्रामाय —Sayana).

Hymn-14

1. Also see Samaveda. I.5.2.5.10 (486).

Kavih, the Soma with penetrating wisdom or insight, (कविः मेधावी सोमः).

Sindhoh urmau adhi sritah, taken to the waves of the river, i.e. mixed with water of rivers; the vasativari waters, (सिन्धोः ऊर्मौ तरङ्गे वसतीवर्यु-दकरसे अधि श्रितः आश्रितः —Sayana).

Puru sprham karam bibhrat, uttering a thrilling sound, pleasing to all, or bearing a hymn beloved of many (पुरुस्पृहं बहुभिः स्पृहणीयं कारं शब्दं बिभ्रत धारयन् —Sayana).

2. Sabandhavah panca vrata apasyavah, all the five types of men, full of zeal and faith, and desirous of accomplishing sacred acts. The five types of men; पञ्चजनाः, are people of the four varnas, Brahmana, Ksattriya, Vaisya and Sudra, and the fifth the unclassified ones, not guided by the rules and conducts of the society, may be nisadas (निषाद). (सबन्धवः समान बन्धवाः पञ्च व्राताः पञ्च जना मनुष्या यजमानाः अपस्यवः कर्मेच्छव: —Sayana); अपस: कर्माणि । अप इति कर्मनामसु पठितम्, Nigh II.1.

5. Naptibhih vivasvatah, the grandchildren of the sacrificer, i.e. the fingers of the sacrificer or Yajamana. Hand is the son of the sacrificer and hence the fingers, born of hands, are the grand-children. विवस्वत: परिचरणवतो यजमानः नप्तीभि: पौत्रस्थानीयाभि: । तस्य हस्तः पुत्रोऽङ्गुलय: पौत्रस्थानीया: । इत्यभिप्राय: —Sayana),

7. Isaspatim, इषस्पतिम्, lord of food and hence Soma (अन्नानां स्वामिनं सोमम् —Sayana).

Ksipah. fingers (क्षिप: अङ्गुलय: , Nigh. II.5).

Hymn-15

For verses 1-8, Samaveda, II.5.2.3. 1-8 (1266-1273) with several transpositions 1,2,4,6,5,7,3,8, and verbal alterations; all the verse start with the word एष: or एतम्, standing for Soma.

3. Bhurnayah, the sacrificial i.e. priests (भूर्णय: भरणशीला: अध्वर्य्वादय: —Sayana).

Hitah vi niyate, placed, placed in the cart (हित: निहित: हविर्धाने वि नीयते तस्मात् स्थाना दाहवनीयं प्रति, i.e. placed in the havirdhana. he is brought to the Ahavaniya —Sayana).

The effused elixir is brought to the place of Sacrifice by a path hat shines with brilliant light (शुभ्रावता पथा)."

5. Rukmabhih subhrebhih amisubhih—he (the divine elixir) proceeds along with enthusiasm and vigour adorned with brilliant golden rays.

Alteratively, "he proceeds along impetuous with golden brilliant rays" —or "he proceeds alongwith the priests, vigorous with briliiant rays. (रश्मिभि: अध्वर्य्वादिभि: सह शुभ्रेभि: शुभ्रं दीप्तै: अंशुभि: विशिष्ट: । अथवा रश्मिभिरित्येतदप्यशु विशेषणम् —Sayana).

6. According to Wilson, an obscure line: "at the juncture of time passing beyond the solid treasures (of heaven and earth), he descends upon the young Soma plants. (St. Petersb. Dict.).

8. Su-ayudham, स्वायुधम्, well-weaponed, since the Soma has the power of slaying Raksasas.

Hymn-16

4 Sadhastham asadat, सधस्थं आसदत्, settles in the place; settles at a worthy place. According to Sayana, the place refered to is drona-kalasa (सधस्थं सहस्थानं द्रोणकलशे आसदत् आसीदति —Sayana).

6. Gosu tisthati in the midst of kine (Soma being mixed with milk, is here called by metonymy "kine" The Soma stays in the vessel, like a brave soldier in the midst of battle (शूरो न शूर इव स यथा संग्रामे तिष्ठति तद्वदसौ तिष्ठति पात्रे —Sayana)

8 ' Avyo varam vi dhavas, may your stream of Soma flow through the ultrapsychic woollen filter. (अव्योवारं अवेर्बालं वि धावसि विविधं गच्छसि; अव्यो= of sheep, वारं=hair, i e. to the fleecy filter, or to the woollen strainer).

Hymn-17

1. Bhurnayah Somah, prevading or rapid streams of divine love (Soma) भूर्णय: क्षिप्रगमना: ; भुरण्यु: - क्षिप्र, rapid, Nigh, II.15).

3. Pavitre, पवित्रे, in the filter or strainer.

6. Karavah, कारव:, performers of pious ceremonies ((कारव: कर्तार: परिचर्याया यागानुष्ठातारो वा – Sayana).

Murdhan Yajnasya, at the time of worship; at a time when the process of worship is at its height. According to Sayana, "on the last day of expressing the Soma" (यज्ञस्य मूर्धन् मूर्धनि शिरोवदुत्तमेऽभिषव दिवसे – Sayana) (cf. II.3 2).

Caksasi priyam dadhanah, entertaining affection for the one all-beholding (चक्षसि द्रष्टरि सोमे प्रियं दधाना: अभ्यनूषत Sayana). The word caksu is usually applied to the Sun as the eye of the world.

Hymn-18

For verses 1, 2 and 3, Samaveda, II.4.1.17.1-3 (1093-1095) with verbal alterations.

Verse 1, Samaveda I.5.2.4.9. (475) (सुवानो=स्वानो; मद:=मत्सरत्).

Hymn-19

For verses 1, 2, 3, Samaveda II.3.2.13, 1, 3 and 2 (999, 1001, 1000) (transposed), (for भ्रांसदत्, read भासद: -3).

Verse 6, Samaveda, II.1.2.18.1 (761) (for वनुष्, read वनवे)

4. Sunoh vatsasya mataran, like the mothers of the born children; like mothers fondling their children; "The mothers of the calf", according to Sayana, refers to Vasativari waters which are mixed with the Soma. सूनो: स्वपुत्रस्थानीयस्य वत्सस्य सोमस्य मातर: निर्मात्र्य: प्रवृद्धिकामा मातृस्थानीया अवावशन्त पुन: कामयन्ते).

Dhitayah, धीतय:, fingers; also the utensils used in Yajna (धीतय: धीयमाना: सोमाख्येन वत्सेन पीयमाना वसतीवर्य: –Sayana).

Wilson gives an alternative rendering of the verse: 'The sacred rites, the mothers of the male calf, long for the full-grown vigour of the bull."

5. Kuvit, कुवित्, many, of numerous kinds,

Sukram payah, शुक्रं पयः, bright water and/or milk.

Garbham adadhat, गर्भं आदधत्, stays under water and implants numerous germs (ferments) of activity. Or stays in the womb of water, गर्भं स्वगर्भं स्थानीयं सम् आदधत् करोति —Sayana).

Hymn-20

For verses 1-7, Samaveda II.3.2 4 1-7 (968-974).

1. Avyah varebhih, अव्ययः वारेभिः, through the texture of the ultrapsychic fleecy sieve (अव्यः, derived from sheep, वारेभिः through the hairs).

2. Sahasrinam gomantam vajam, सहस्रिणं गोमन्तं वाजं, thousand fold treasure in the shape of cattle, cow-products (गोमन्तं) and food (वाजम्)

3. Cetasa, चेतसा, by your intuition; by your favour (चेतसा विश्वानि परिमृशसे —you give us all kinds of wealth with your intuition (चेतसा स्वीयेन अनुकूलेन चित्तेन —Sayana).

Mati pavase, मती पवसे, you flow for us at our praises. (मती मत्यास्मत् स्तुत्या पवसे क्षरसि रसम् —Sayana).

Avah vidah, अवः विदः, grant us sustenance (अवः अन्नं विदः देहि —Sayana).

6. Camusu, चमूषु, in the sacrificial vessels (चमूषु पात्रेषु —Sayana); may mean "between the boards which press it" – Wilson. (चमू अदने; चमूषु भक्षयित्रीषु सेनासु in the armies, causing destruction, Daya. on III 48.4).

7. Makhah na, मखः न, like a sacrifice; like a gift (मखः दानमिव—Sayana); makhah, a synonym of a Yajna or sacred act – Nigh. III.17; यज्ञ इव सुखकर्त्ता – Daya. on VI.71.1) makhah and manhayuh both are derived obrived √magh, √मघ्; मंहतिर्दान कर्मा (cf. IX.61 27 मखस्यसे अस्मभ्यं धन दातुमिच्छसि — Sayana; मखस्यन् आत्मनो मखं यज्ञमिच्छन् —Daya " on III.38.7)

Hymn-21

3. Sindhorma vyaksaran. (सिन्धोः ऊर्मा व्यक्षरन्) fall in or received in a receptacle containing water of rivers (सिन्धोः ऊर्मा), i e. the vasativari waters.

Kridantah, क्रीडन्तः, sporting.

5. Pisangam venam, many fold blessings of wealth etc (पिशङ्ग बहुरूपं मणिमुक्ताहिरण्यादि भेदेन नानारूपं वेनं कामयन्तं बहुविधं कामम् – Sayana; वेनः कमनीयः. काममयानः —Daya. on V.36.4 etc. ; वेनः मेधाविनाम Nigh. —III.185; यज्ञनाम — III.17.

Adise, at our indication (आदिशे अस्मभ्यमादेशनाय – Sayana).

The sense of the verse may be—"the sacrificer only bestows gifts on his officiating priests when he has obtained his desire" (Wilson).

Hymn-22

3. Vipascitah, sagacious विपश्चितः प्राज्ञाः —Sayana).

Vipa, with intelligence —Sayana.

The St. Petersb. Dict. explains vip as the twigs (cf. vepres) which form the bottom of the funnel and support the filtering-cloth. (Wilson).

6. Tantum tanvanam, as if spreads out our sacred works (i.e. the yajna); (तन्तुं यज्ञं तन्वानम् Sayana); also descending rivers fill the out-spread threads;

Uttamam, threads excellent (used for Soma, ambrosia) (उत्तमं उत्कृष्टं सोमम् —Sayana).

Hymn-23

For verse 2, Samaveda, I.6.1.2.6 (502).

2. Pratnasah ayavah, प्रत्नास: आयव:, cosmic horses, since the eternal past; Benfey takes pratnasah ayavah as "ewigen lebendigen",— the new field is the arranged place of sacrifice.

Alternatively, — The old horses attack a new field; and generate the sun to give light. Similar to them is the Soma

3. Aryah adasusah gayam, the house (गयं) of our enemy (अर्य:); the property and possessions (गयं) of such a miser (अदाशुष:) (अर्य: अरे: अदाशुष:) अप्रयच्छत: गयं गृहं गृहोपलक्षितं धनम् —Sayana). Gayam really is "house" but by metonymy, it may mean "wealth".

4. Madhuscutam kosam, the honey-storing receptacle; the honey-shedding receptacle. Sayana takes it to be "the unmixed portion of the liquor", (मधुश्चुतं मधुस्राविणं कोशम् । रसधारेण कोशशब्देन तत्रामिश्रितो रसो लक्ष्यते, तम् —Sayana).

6. Sadhamadyah, सधमाद्य:, worthy of the sacrifice; worthy of worship (सधमादो यज्ञ: तदर्हं स्तवम् —Sayana).

Hymn-24

For the entire hymn (i.e. verses 1-7), Samaveda, II.3.2.3.1-7 (961-967) with transposition of 4 and 5.

3. Pra dhanvasi, thou proceedest (प्र धान्वसि प्रगच्छस्याहवनीयं प्रति हविर्धानात्, thou proceedest from the waggon whence they are taken by the priests to the Ahavaniya fire or to the vessel –Sayana).

Vi niyase, वि नीयसे, हविर्धानात् । अथवा । पवमान प्र धन्वसि पात्रं प्रतीन्द्रपानाय तदर्थं हविर्धानाद् वि नीयसे —Sayana; you have been prepared and conveyed by them (to Indra, the self).

4. Nr-madanah, नृऽमादन: , exhilarator of man; the giver of joy to man (नृणां मादयिता त्वं —Sayana).

Carsanisahe, चर्षणी सहे, for Indra, the self, the conqueror of adversaries (चर्षणयो मनुष्या द्वेष्टार: —Sayana). (In the Samaveda, we have चर्षणीधृत: , carsanidhrtih, i e. an epithat of Soma "laid hold of by men", or "the protection of men." (Wilson).

5. Indrasya dhamne aram, इन्द्रस्य धाम्ने अरम्, you are worthy of acceptance by Indra, the resplendent self (इन्द्रस्य धाम्ने स्थानायाधारकायोदराय वा अरं पर्याप्तो भवसि, thou art an ample portion for Indra's belly—Sayana).

7. Sutasya madhvah, सुतस्य मध्व: सुत: स मधुमान्, Samaveda II.3.2.3.7) (967) the yielder of the exhilarating effusion.

Hymn-25

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.5 .2.4.8 (474); II.3.1.10.1 (919), verses 2 and 3, Samaveda, II 3.1 10.3 (921) and 2 (920) 3. (transposition, with verbal alterations).

1 Marudbhyah vayave madah, मरुद्भ्य: वायवे मद: , flow for the enjoyment of divine powers such as vital principles (मरुद्भ्य: and vital winds (वायवे)

2 Vayum, वायुम् (come in contact) with wind; "the vessel associated with, or set apart for vayu, वायुसम्बन्धि पात्रमित्यर्थ: —Sayana).

Hymn-26

1. Aditeh upasthe, अदिते: उपस्थे, on the lap of the mother earth (अदिते: पृथिव्या: उपस्थे उत्संगे —Sayana).

Anvya dhiya, with utmost care, or with tender fingers (अण्व्या अंगुल्या धिया प्रज्ञया स्तुत्या वा अथवा अण्व्या सूक्ष्मया धियाङ्गुल्येति विशेष्य-विशेषण भाव: , with hymns or with delicate fingers. —Sayana),

2. Gavah. गाव: , sacred hymns (गाव: गन्त्र्य: स्तुतय: —Sayana); chants; it may refer as well to the cows, as contributing their milk. (Wilson).

3. Bhuridhayasan, the upholder of all; the maker of many (भूरिधायसं बहूनां कर्तारम्).

Dharnasim, the sustainer of all (धर्णसिं सर्वस्य धारकम् —Sayana).

4. Bhurijoh, of arms; by their arms (भुरिजो: बाह्वो: —Sayana).

Dhiva, by fingers (धिया अंगुल्या —Sayana), [भुरिजो: धिया, by the fingers of their arms—Wilson].

Hymn-27

For verses 1-4, Samaveda, II.5.2.6.1-4, (1286-1289),

verse 6, Samaveda, II.5.2.6.5 (1290).

3. Vanesu visvavit, prominent and all-knowing among forest produces. Sayana takes vanesu as desirable or wooden vessels (वनेषु वननीयेषु वनसंभूतद्रुमविकारेषु वा पात्रेषु —Sayana).

4. Gavyuh-hiranyayuh, cattle (गव्युः) and gold (हिरण्ययुः).

5. The sun performs on a grand scale the same office of diffusing Soma-juice which the priests perform on a small scale in the filtering cloth, which is sometimes metaphorically called the sky (सूर्येण देवेन अधि अधि द्युलोकेऽन्तरिक्षे पवित्रे ह्रासते परित्यज्यते। मत्सरः मदकरः, मदः सोमः। यद्यप्यध्वर्युहस्ताद् दशापवित्रे परित्यज्यते सोमस्तथाप्यन्तरिक्षे सूर्येण पवित्रे त्यज्यत इति भावना वीर्यवत्त्वाय। सत्स्वप्यन्य देवेषु सोमस्रावणे सूर्यस्य कः प्रसङ्ग इति न वाच्यं सूर्यरश्मिभिरेव सोमस्यात्यावगात् —Sayana).

Also, This exhilarating Soma, as it drops on the filtering cloth rises with the sun into the heaven. (Wilson)

6. Antarikise, अन्तरिक्षे, through the firmament (or through the filter) (अन्तरिक्षे दशापवित्रे —Sayana).

Hymn-28

For verses 1-5, Samaveda, II.5.2.5.1-5 (1280-1284)

verse 6, Samaveda, II.5.2,6.6 (1291).

1. Manasaspatih, Lord of mental complex, lord of praises (मनसः स्तोत्रस्य पतिः —Sayana translates as Lord of mind alluding to Soma being moon is related to mind (अथवा सोमस्य मनोभिमानित्वात् मनसः स्वामित्वं— "चन्द्रमा मनोभूत्वा हृदये प्राविशत् —Ait Aradyaka, II.4.2).

Hymn-29

For verses 1-3. Samaveda. II.9.1.1.1-3 (1765-1767).

1. Anu prabhusatah, seeks to surpass (अनु प्रभूषतः प्रभवितुमिच्छवः — Sayana).

Hymn-30

1. Punanah vacam isyati, during filtration, the elixir is gladdened to listen to the chants of praises. Also he excites praise, or he utters a sound. (पुनानः पूयमानः सोमः वाचं स्तुतिं स्वीयं ध्वनिं वा इष्यति प्रेरयति—Sayana).

2. Kanikradat, कनिक्रदत्, utters a characteristic voice of thrill.

4. Dronani, the pitchers of the innermost consciousness (द्रोणानि द्रोणकलशादीनि —Sayana).

Ati, अति, अतिक्रम्य दशापवित्रं, having flown out (of the ultrapsychic filter).

Hymn-31

1. Rayim krnvanti cetanam, they confer life-giving wealth and intelligence. Also, they confer intellectual wealth (रयिं धनं चेतनं प्रज्ञापनं कृण्वन्ति कुर्वन्त्यस्माकम् —Sayana).

Hymn-32

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.5.2 5.1 (477) and II.1.2.21.1 (769).

verses 2 and 3, Samaveda, II.1.2.21.3 (771); 2 (770).

3. At im hamsah yatha ganam, and like a swan entering its own flock (आत् अपि च ईम् अयं सोम: हंसो यथा गणं जनसंघं स्वगति विशेषण स्वनेन वा प्रविशति —Sayana). As a swan, by its peculiar gait or voice excites the admiration of its flock as it enters it (Wilson).

Atyah na, like a horse (अत्यो न अश्व इव —Sayana).

Gobhih, with water, milk and curds (गोभि: गव्यैश्चदकैर्वा —Sayana).

4. Taktah. तक्त:, mixed with milk (तक्त: गव्यै: पय आदिभिर्मिश्रित: सन्, "दध्नाऽऽतनक्ति (Tait. Samhita II.5.3.5).

Hymn-33

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.5.2.5.2. (478) II.1.2.19.1 (764)

verse 2, 3, Samaveda, II.1.2.19.2.3 (765, 766)

verse 4, Samaveda, I,5.2.4.5. (471); II.2.2.14.1 (869)

verse 5, 6 Samaveda. II.2.2.14.2 and 3 (870, 871).

4. Tisrovacah. तिस्रोवाच: , the three Vedas, Rk, Yajus and Saman; or the verses, prose, and lyrics.

5. Brahmih, ब्रह्मी: , impelled or uttered by the Brahmanas (ब्राह्मण-प्रेरिता: —Sayana).

Yahvih, यह्वी: , supreme and sacred (महत्य: । यह्वीरिति महन्नाम Nigh. III.3).

Hymn-34

1. Tana, तना, to the filter (or filtering cloth). (तना पवित्रम्—Sayana); continuously (Wilson) (cf IX 16.8; तना पुनान:).

4. Rupaih sam ajyate, रूपै: सं मज्यते, is mixed with the ingredients (like milk and curds).

Harih, हरि: , golden or green-tinted elixir (i.e. Soma).

6. Dhenuh. milch-kine; here probably praises (धेनू: प्रीणयित्री स्तुती:).

Girah, our praises (गिर: अस्मदीया स्तुतय:).

Hymn-35

1. Yaya jyotih nah vidasi (यया ज्योति: न विदासि) you give us enlightenment; thou bestowes upon us light (Wilson). According to Sayana, jyotih is heaven or sacrifice (ज्योति: द्योतमानं यज्ञं स्वर्गं वा —Sayana).

Vacam im khayam punanam vasayamasi, we clothe with pleasure that ambrosia of divine love who is the inspirer of praises (वाचंऽईह् खयम् पुनानं वासयामसि, वाच: प्रेरयितारं पूयमानं तं सोम वासयामसि वासयाम श्रयण-द्रव्यै:).

Alternatively, I address him with praises; we cover (with milk etc.) Soma who is the purified inspirer, the cow-keeper of men (जनस्य गोपतिम्; the shepherd of men).

Hymn-36

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6 1.1.4 (490).

1. Yatha karsman rathyah vaji nyakramit, like letting loose of a chariot-horse, stepping out on the battle-field. (The courses steps out to the goal).

Camvoh, of the two wooden boards (चम्वोः अधिषवण फलकयोः — Sayana).

Karsman, attractive battle-field; (or god-attracting battle-field; called of sacrifice, काष्मंन् । काष्मंयुद्धमितरेतर कर्षणात् । अत्र देवानामाकर्षण वति यज्ञाख्ये संग्रामे —Sayana); the furrow drawn as the goal of a race (St. Petersburg Dict.); a piece of wood serving for a goal (Sayana on आ वां रथं दुहिता सूर्यस्य काष्मेंवातिष्ठदर्वता जयन्ती —I.116.17).

Hymn-37

For verses 1-6, Sumaveda, II.5.2.7. 1-6, (1292-1297).

3. Rocana divah, रोचना दिवः (रोचनं दिवः—Sv). The elixir of love, the illumer of heaven.

Savaji...varamavyayam, (fleet as) a horse, the pure Soma, the destroyer of the demon of evils, hastens towards the light of heaven through the woollen fleece (the ultrapsychic fleece filter).

Varam avyayam, fleece or woollen hair. (अव्ययं वार दशापवित्रम् — Sayana).

4. Jamibhih suryam saha, जामिभिः सूर्यं सह, the sun together with other relations, i.e. with other luminary bodies (जामिभिः बन्धुभूतैर्वा स्वतेजोभिः सह सहितः सन् सूर्यम् —Sayana).

Tritasya, त्रितस्य, of the triply-functioning priest (or the person or priest free from triple bondage). The three functions of the priest are chant of hymns, the supervision of sacrifice, and often active or actual participation in the sacrifice. The triple bondages are physical, mental, and social.

6. Manhana, मंहना (=महयन् in Sv.) in all its dignity; in his might (Wilson) मंहना=महान् —Sayana); it may also be महत्त्वेन cf. Sayana on IV.17.1; मनुषत मंहना मन्यत: द्यौ:).

Hymn-38

For verses 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6, Samaveda, II.5.2.4. [1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 3] (1274, 1275, 1279, 1276, 1277, 1278) (with a transposition of one verse).

1. Vrsa rathah, the showerer of benefits, swift as a chariot (रथ: रंहण-स्वभाव: —Sayana=; रथो रंहतेर्गतिकर्मण: स्थिरतेर्वा स्याद् विपरीतस्य । रमाणोऽस्मिं तिष्ठतीति वा, रपतेर्वा रसतेर्वा); the word rathah (chariot) is derived from √रंह्, meaning to speed, or from Sthira, स्थिर, by metathesis; one sits in chariot with joy or from रप्, to chatter, or from रस्, to make a sound. Nir. IX.11).

3. Dasa haritah, दशहरित: , ten fingers (Nigh II.5, हरित: =अंगुलिनाम; हरित: हरणस्वभावा अंगुलय:—Sayana); fingers are "grasping" and hence haritah.

Hymn-39

For verses 1-6, Samaveda, II.3.1.4. 1-6 (898-903) (with the transposition of verses 3 and 4=901 and 900, and verbal changes).

2. Janaya, for the offerer; the yajamana engaged in yajna (जनाय यागकर्त्रे —Sayana).

Hymn-40

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.1.1.2 (295); II.3.1.12.1 (924)

verse 2, Samaveda, II.3.1.12.2 (925)

verse 3, Samaveda, II.3.1.12.3 (926)

Hymn-41

For verses 1-6, Samaveda, II.3.1.3. 1-6 (892-897) with verbal variations.

1. Krsnam tavacam apaghnantah, कृष्णां त्वचं अपघ्नन्तः, drives off the dark evils, (lit., the black skin=कृष्णं त्वचं, also black cover, or darkness, or the darkness of night (कृष्णा-त्वग् रक्षः, the black-skinned Raksas—Sayana).

2. Avratam dasyum sahvamsah, अव्रतं दस्युं साह्वांसः, with its assistance, we triumph over hostile people (दस्यु) who do not submit to the Vedic or virtuous disciplines (अव्रतम्).

6. Sara raseva vistapam, सरा रसेव विष्टपम्, like a river down a plateau (or down a steep place), or as the earth (is surrounded) with water (सर परिसर रसा-इव रसेनेव विष्टपं भूलोकम्। यद्वा रसा नदी स्थानं सा प्रवणरूपमिव — Sayana).

Hymn-42

For verse 2, Samaveda, II.1.2.17.2 (759) (for धारया पवते सुतः, read कविर्विप्रेण वावृधे).

verse 4, Samaveda, II.1.2.17 3 (760) (with verbal changes).

1. Apah gah vasanah, clothing himself with the descending waters and milk (गाः अधोगन्त्रीः अपः वसानः भूमिमात्मानं वाच्छादयन्, as the earth (is surrounded) with water.

Gah, गाः, decending (अधोगन्त्री —Sayana).

Harih, हरि:, the green-tinted Soma or ambrosia.

4. Krandan devan ajijanat, with a roar, it generates divine virtues; (crying out generates the Gods—Wilson (क्रन्दन् शब्दं कुर्वन् देवान् जीजनत् जनयति स्व समीपे । यत्र सोमोऽभिषूयते तत्र देवा: नियतं प्रादुर्भवन्ति मतो जनयतीत्युपचर्यते —i.e. gods appear invariably where-so-ever the Soma is pressed or poured forth—Sayana).

Hymn-43

1. Girbhih tam vasayamasi, glority or invest with praises (गीर्भि: स्तुतिभि: वासयामसि वासयाम: —Sayana).

1. Gobhih. with milk; with milk and curds, as well as water (vasativari) (गोभि: वसतीवरीभिरद्भिर्गो विकारै: पय प्रादिभिर्वा —Sayana).

Mrjyate, cleansed, or mixed (मृज्यते मिश्र्यते —Sayana).

2. Avasyuvah, desiring protection (अवस्युव: । अवो रक्षणम् । तदिच्छन्त्य: —Sayana).

3. Viprasya medhyatitheh, of the respectable or intelligent mendicants (अतिथे: , of mendicants, मेध्य, participating in sacrifice; विप्रस्य —of the sage, or intelligent; मेधाविन: —Sayana).

Hymn-44

For verse 1 Samaveda, I.6.1.2.13 (509).

1. Nah mahe tane pra arsasi, may you flow to us to provide abundance (न: अस्माकं महे महते तने धनाय प्र अर्षसि प्रगच्छसि).

Ayasyah, अयास्य: , the internal organ (अयास्य: अन्त:करण:).

Devan abhi, देवान् अभि, towards sense organs.

5. Devesu, in the gods; in all the faculties of the human complex.

Sada-vrdhah, सदावृधः, ever-prospering.

6. Brhat Sravah, बृहत् श्रवः, the immense wealth, the wealth of enlightenment.

Vajam, वाजं, strength, vigour and wisdom.

Hymn-45

1. Kam, pleasantly (कं सुखं यथा भवति तथा—Sayana). Some times Kam is used as a particle meaning nothing, inserted merely metri gratia (Wilson)

3 Induh devesu patyate, इन्दुः देवेषु पत्यते, The Soma, the elixir, conveys the exhilaration to the sense organs (Indu proceeds to the midst of the gods).

Hymn-46

For verse 4, see Nir, II.5.

1. Parvatavrdhah, पर्वतावृधः, पर्वतऽवृधः, growing on the hills, or on the lofty mountains; growing on the mountain slopes (पर्वतावृधः पर्वतैरभिषव ग्रावभिर्वृद्धाः पर्वतेषु जाता वा —Sayana).

Deva vitaya देववीतये, for sustaining the sense-organs; for the banquet of the gods; for the yajna (देववीतये यज्ञाय —Sayana).

Atyasah krtvyaiva, with the speed of swift-moving courser (अत्यास: अश्वा: कृत्या इव यथा कर्मण्या अश्वा: तद्वत् —Sayana).

4. Gobhih srinita matsaram, mix Soma with milk i.e. gauh गौ: is used in the sense of milk (गोभि: पयस:). Matsarah means Soma (मत्सर: सोम:). It is derived from √मन्द्, meaning to satisfy (मन्दतेस्तृप्तिकर्मण: मत्सर इति सोमनाम —Nir. II.5).

Hymn-47

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.1.1.II (507) with variations.

1. Sukrtyaya, सुकृत्यया, by the sacred solemnity (सुकृत्यया सोम इति अभिषवादि लक्षणया —Sayana).

Mandanah udvrsayate, मन्दान: उद्वृषायते joyous (or exulting), it moves like a mighty bull, or roars like a bull, i.e on the sounding holes. (इद् वृषायते —Samaveda) (वृषवदाचरित । यथा मोदमानो वृषभ: शब्दं करोति, तथाभिषव वेलायामुपरवेषु शब्द करोति —Sayana).

2. Dasyutarhana, दस्युतर्हणा, work of crushing wicked tendencies.

Krtani it, कृतानि इत्, task having been done with certainty (Sayana is silent on this word; they publish his exploits (Wilson).

Kartva, कर्त्वा (कर्माणि), work or actions.

4. Vidhartari vidhata, etc. provider of wealth to sages (विधर्तरि कामानां विधातरीन्द्रे रत्नं रमणीय धनं इच्छति । इन्द्रेण धनं दापयितुमिच्छति —Sayana); he desires to cause Indra to give wealth. Vidhartari, most likely an infinitive (Wilson)

5. Rayinam sisasatuh, you desire to give wealth. (सिषासतु: संभक्तुमिच्छु: रयीणा धनानाम्—Sayana).

Hvmn-48

For verse 1, Samaveda, II 2.2.3.1 (836).

3. Suparnan avyathih bharat, the un veared hawk brings you here (सुपर्णः श्येनः अव्यथि· व्यथा रहितः भरत् आहरत् —Sayana). See आदाय श्येनो अभरत् सोमं IV.26.7 (श्येनं यः शीघ्र धावित्वाऽन्यान् पक्षिणो हन्ति तं पक्षि-विशेषम् —Daya. on Yv XIX.10: श्येन —श्यायति विज्ञापयतीति श्येनो विद्वान् —Daya. on Yv. XXI.35; श्येन इव शीघ्रगन्ता अव्यभिचारिपुरुषः—Daya. on IV.18.13; सुपर्णः —शोभनानि पर्णानि लक्षणानि यस्य च, शोभनपतनशीलो वा; सुन्दर शाखा पत्र पुष्पफल मूलो वृक्ष इव वेदादिशास्त्राध्येताऽध्यापकः पक्षी वा —Daya, on Yv. XII.41; शोभनानि पर्णानि पालनानि पूर्णानि कर्माणि यस्य स ईश्वरः — Daya).

Hymn-50

For verse 1-5, Samaveda, II.5.1.5.1-5 (1205-1209).

In verse 5, read इन्द्रस्य जठरं विश in the Samaveda for इन्दविन्द्राय पीतये.

1. Vanasya codaya pavim—वाणस्य चोदया पविम्, may you provide impulsion to your sound like that of a rushing arrow (वाणस्य विसृष्टस्य वाणस्य नालस्य वा वादित्र-विशेषस्य पविं शब्दम् --Sayana; पविः वाङ्नाम, Nigh I.11). Vana is an arrow or a reed or a particular musical instrument

2. Tisro Vacah, तिस्रो वाचः , the three voices, RK (poems), yajuḥ (prose formulae) and Saman (lyrics); or the hymns of the three Vedas.

4 See IX.25.6 (a repetition),

Hymn-51

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.1.2.3 (499) and II.5.1.11.1 (1225)

verse 2, Samaveda, II.5.1.11.3 (1227)

verse 3, Samnveda, II.5 1.11.2. (1226).

Hymn-52

For verse 1, see Samaveda, I.6.1.1.10 (496).

1. Suvanah=Svanah (metri gratia?) (सुवान: अभिषूयमाण: —Sayana).

Bharat-vajam, bestow upon us strength. (भरद्वाज; वाजंबलम्; भरत् परिभरतु —Sayana).

3. Caruh na, like a caru or pot (pot-bellied; full bellied: पूर्णोदक:) (चरु. न चरुरिव य: पूर्णोदने/पूर्णोदनो भवति —Sayana). A doubtful reading in Sayana's commentary.

Hymn-53

For verses 1-4, Samaveda, II.8,3.2.1-4 (1714-1717).

1. Adrivah, O elixir, crushed through stones (अद्रिव: ग्राववन् सोम —Sayana). Here we have a reference to stone used for crushing the Soma).

Hymn-54

2. Saramsi, सरांसि, to the lakes (hastens to the lakes of the brain).

Sapta a pravata, सप्त आ प्रवत, unites with the seven down-descending currents from the region of enlightenment (दिवम्)

Also, the Soma fluid is mixed with the water of seven rivers for the Soma-yajna.

Hymn-55

For verses 1-4, Samaveda, II.3.2.5. 1-4 (975-978).

1. Yavam-yavam, यवंयवम्, juices of all kinds mixed (पुनः पुनर्युतं रसम् —Sayana); abundant of soft-collected (Wilson).

Andhasa, by food grains, (अन्धसा अन्नात्मना —Sayana).

Go'vit, asva'vit, गोवित् (granter of wisdom, giver of cattle or cows; अश्ववित्, giver of vigour (or of horses), —गोप्रदः अश्वप्रदः Sayana).

Maksutamebhih ahabhih, through days that fly most rapidly; by reason (or by means) of the days quickly passing (मक्षूतमेभिः मक्षुतमैरतिशयेन शीघ्रैः अहभिः अहोभिर्हेतुभिः —Sayana). As the days quickly pass (Wilson).

Hymn-56

2. Apaasyuvah satam dharah, hundreds of ever-active streams of spiritual elixir (the hundred rite-loving streams of the Soma (अपस्युवः कर्मकामाः शतं धाराः सोमस्य धाराः —Sayana).

"When Soma brings us food, his hundred rite-loving streams obtain Indra's friendship." (Wilson).

Hymn-57

For verses 1-4, Samaveda, II.8.3 18 I-4 (1761-1764).

3. Ibhah raja'iva, king of elephants; also fearless as a king (इभ: गतभय: , one free from fear राजेव यथाराजा, as a king—Sayana; cf. राजेवामवां इभेन, IV.4.1, like a king (राजेव), accompanied by his minister (अमवान्) on an elephant (इभेन) Also इभाय=महते, for the great, Nir XIII.39 on I 84.17.

Vansu, in waters (उदकेषु वसतीवरीषु —Sayana; वा: उदक नाम, Nigh. I.12).

Hymn-58

For verses 1-4, Samaveda, II.4 1.5.1-4 (1057-1060).

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.1.2.4 (500).

3. Dhvasrayoh, ध्वस्रयो: , of the assaulting one; of the devastating (ध्वस्रा: ध्वंसिका: सेना: , Daya. on IV.19.7; ध्वंसु अवस्रंसने—भ्वा०; धातोरौणादिको रक् प्रत्ययो बाहुलकाद) See also :

ध्वस्रा —X.40.3; ध्वस्रा: IV.19.7.

Purusantyoh, पुरुषन्त्यो: , the distributer or giver to many, all and sundry (पुरुषन्तिम्, पुरूणां बहूनां सन्ति विभाजितारम्—विद्वांसं जनम् —Daya. on I.112.23; पुरुसन्तिम्, I.112.23; पुरुसन्त्यो: IX.58.3.

In mythology, Dhvasra and Purusanti are two kings who conferred wealth on Taranta and Purumilha, the two Rsis belonging to the family of Vidadasva.

Hymn-59

2. Adabhyah, through the filaments (of the ultrapsychic woollen filters); also unassailable; inviolable (Wilson, "is properly n. sing.) (अदाभ्य: अंशुभ्य: —Venkata; Sayana)

Adbhyah, with waters; with vasatIvara waters (अद्भ्य: वसतीवरीभ्य: —Venkata; Sayana).

Dhisanabhyah, while crushed between the stones (धिषणाभ्य: ग्रावभ्य: —Venkata; Sayana).

3. Durita, दुरिता=दु:गता; all hindrances; obstacles by wicked persons or demons.

(विश्वानि सर्वाणि दुरितानि राक्षसै: कृतान्युपद्रवाणि —Sayana).

Hymn-61

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.1.1.9 (495) and II.5.1.6.1 (1210)

verses 2, 3, Samaveda, II.5.1.6.2; 3 (1211, 1212)

verses 4, 5, 6, Samaveda, II.2.1.5. 1-3 (787-789)

verse 10, Samaveda, I.5.2.4.1 (467) and II.1.1.8.1 (672)

verse 11, Samaveda, I.6.3.1 8 (593); II.1.1.8.3. (674)

verse 12, Samaveda, I.6.3.1.7 (592); II.1.1.8.2 (673)

verses 13, Samaveda, I 6.1.1.1 (487) II.1.1.18.2 (762) and II,5.2.20.1 (1335)

verses 14-15, Samaveda, II.5 2.20. 2-3 (1336, 1337)

verses 16-18, Samaveda, II.3.1.2. 1-3 (889-891)

verse 16, Samaveda, I.5.2.5.8 (484)

verses 20-21, Samaveda, II.2.1.15. 2-3 (816-817)

verse 22, Samaveda, I.6 1.1.8 (494)

verse 25, Samaveda, I.6.1.2.14 (510) and II.5.1.7.1 (1213) with variations.

verses 26-27, Samaveda, II.5.1.7. 2-3 (1214-1215).

verse 28, Samaveda, I.5.2.5.3 (479) and II.2.1.2.1 (778)

verse 30, Samaveda, II.2.1.2.3 (780)

1. Aya viti pari srava, flow with that nourishing spiritulality (अया वीती अनेन रसेन भक्षणाय परिस्रव —Venkata; अया अनेन रसेन वीती वीत्या इन्द्रस्य भक्षणाय परिस्रव परिक्षर —Sayana).

10. Bhumya dade=भूमिः+आ+ददे, bhumih adade (भूमि आददे)—The pade text which Sayana follows takes bhumya as two words=भूमिः आ, the visaga being elided in the Samhita text (भूम्या ददे भूमिः आ ददे भूमिष्ठैरादीयते —Venkata).

27. Makhasyase, मखस्यसे, propose to give wealth to us benevolently inclined) यत पुनान: मखस्यसे यदा त्वं पूयमान: मघं दातुमिच्छसि —Venkata; मखस्यसे ग्रस्मभ्यं धनं दातुमिच्छसि —Sayana) Makhah, मख, is yajnam (यज्ञ, sacrifice, Nigh. III.17, dhanam (धन, wealth), or danam (दानं, gift), derived from मघ, meaning great (मखो न दानमिव, IX.20.7; मखस्युवं धनकामां, IX.64.26; मखस्यते स्तुतिभिः पूजामिच्छति । लाक्षसायां सुगागम: —Sayana on IX. 101.5).

Hymn-62

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.2.2.1.1-3 (830-832).

verses 4-6, Samaveda, II.3.2.16. 1-3 (1008-1010)

verse 4, Samaveda, I.5.2.4.7 (473)

verses 7-9, Samaveda, II.3.2.6. 1-3 (979-981)

verse 10, Samaveda, I.6.1.2.12 (508)

verse 19, Samaveda, I.6.1.1.3 (489)

verse 22, Samaveda, II.4.1.6.1 (1061)

verses 25-27, Samaveda, II.2.1.1. 1-3 (775-777).

3. Apsu giristhah amsuh, गिरिष्ठाय ग्रंशु, mountain-born stream of water (Soma) (गिरिष्ठा: पर्वते जात: —Venkata, Sayana; ग्रंशु सोम: । ग्रप्सु वसतीवरीषु, in vasativari waters—सुत: ग्रंशु: मदार्थं वसतीवरीषु प्रवृद्ध. पर्वते जात: —Venkata) [ग्रंशु व्याप्तिमान् सूर्य: —Yv. XVIII.19; किरण: —V 43.4; ग्रोषधिसार: —III.36.6:—Daya.].

Andhah, food (अन्ध: अन्नम् —Venkata).

Payobhih, with milk (पयोभि: आशिरे: —Sayana, Venkata).

6. Sadhamade, in the Yajna (सधमादे यज्ञे —Sayana).

8. Avyaya, with woollen (अव्यया अव्ययानि अविमयानि —Venkata)

Romani, fleecy (psychic woollen fleecy filter); hairs (रोमाणि वालानि —Venkata).

Vanesu, in wooden vessels (वनेषु पात्रेषु —Sayana); वनमिति रश्मिनामसु पठितम्, Nigh. I.5; IV.31 उदकनाम —Nigh. I.12; वनानि अरण्यानि —Daya. on I.165.4.

9 Angirobhyah, to Angiras, to the fire-technicians (अंगिर:भ्य:).

Varivovit, वरिव:ऽइत्, the bestower of riches (वरिवोवित् अस्मदभिलषितस्य धनस्य लम्भकश्च — Savana; धनस्य लम्भक: —Venkata).

13 Ayubhih, by people or men (आयुभि: मनुष्यै: —Venkata).

Urugayah, worthy of many praises (उरुगाय: बहुस्तुत: —Sayana).

15. Yona Vasataviva vih, योना वसतोऽइव वि: , like a bird sheltering in its nest (योना योनौ स्वस्थाने वसताविव वि: यथा स्ववासे पक्षी —Sayana, Venkata).

Triprsthe, three-benched (त्रिपृष्ठे त्रिवषण पृष्ठे —Venkata, Sayana).

The three Savanas are the morning, mid day and evening oblations).

Trivandhure, triple-seated (त्रि-वन्धुरे त्रिवेद वन्धुरे, the three Vedas—Venkata, Sayana)—Rk, Yajuh and Saman.

Sapta dhitibhih, the seven sages or seers, seven ceremonies, or seven metres (सप्त धीतिभि: सप्तभि: छन्दोभि: —Sayana).

They attach him by seven ceremonies (or seven hymns) to the three-backed-chariot of the Rsis to go to the gods —Wilson.

18. Sotarah. सोतार: , O effures of Soma (सोतार: अभिषव-कर्तार: ऋत्विज: —Sayana).

21. Pavitre, पवित्रे-दशापवित्रे, in the filter.

14. Jamadagnina, जमद्‌ऽअग्निना, by jamadagni, by a person or spiritual blaze. (जमदग्नय: प्रजमिताग्नयो वा । प्रज्वलिताग्नयो वा)—Nir. VII.24—sacrificed with blazing fire, blazing fires, profusedly generated fires, or burning fires, See Asva. Srauta Sutra VIII.9; जमद् ज्वलतो नाम, Nigh. I.17.

Hymn-63

For verse 1, Samaveda, I 6.1.2.5 (501)

verses 7-9, Samaveda, II.5.1.8. 1-3 (1216-1218).

verse 7, Samaveda, I.6.1.1.7 (493)

verses 22-24, Samaveda, II.5.1.15. 1-3 (1235-1237)

verse 22, Samaveda, I.5.2.5.7 (483)

verse 25, Samaveda, II.8.2.16.1 (1699)

verse 26, Samaveda, II.8.2.16.3 (1701)

verse 27, Samaveda, II.8.2.16.2 (1700)

4. Babhravah ete asavah Somah, बभ्रव: एते आशव: सोमा: , swift flowing (एते आशव:) saps of elixir (सोमा:), brown in hue (बभ्रव:), (cf. : बभ्रव: सुता इन्दव: —IX.63.6).

8. The Soma goes to the mid-region through the sun's rays or horses of the sun. For ten horses (दश हरित: see verse 9).

13. Crushed with stones, the Soma juice is stored in pitchers (the cosmic bowl or Kalasa of universe).

14. Rtasya dharaya, with the stream of eternal truths (or of water).

15. Dadhyasirah, mixed with milk and curds.

16. Hiranya'vat, wealth of sheep; (or gold) asva'vat wealth of horses; vira'vat, possessed with horses or young men, go-mantam, wealth of cows.

Hymn-64

For verse Samaveda, I.6.1.2.8 (504)

verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.2.1.3.1-3. (781-783)

verses 7-9, Samaveda, II.3.2.2.1-3 (958-960) with variations in verse 9.

verse 10, Samaveda, I.5.2.5.5 (481)

verses 13-15, Samaveda, II.2.2.4 1-3 (841-843)

verse 13, Samaveda, I.6.1.2.9 (505)

verses 22-24, Samaveda, II.4.1.11. 1-3 (1076-1078)

verse 22, Samaveda. I.5.2.4.6 (472)

verse 28, Samaveda, II.1.1.2.1 (654)

7. Visva rupani abhi arsasi, bestows to all our various forms (Sayana confines to this much only; he would have completed it; "hastenest or flowest from heaven to bring us various forms of wealth—Wilson).

13. Ruca gah abhi ihi, go to cows with your lustre; with fodder, go to the cattle. We have translated rucabhi as "with fodder"; Sayana translates it as "with food" (रुचा अभि रोचमानेनान्धसा गा : पशून् —Sayana);

The word रुचा is derived from √रुच्, to shine; it is difficult to say, how it means "food", Sayana's usual interpretation of gah (गाः , i.e. "milk and curds" would be more appropriate here : "with thy brightness approach (i e. mix with) the milk" (Wilson).

16. Dhiya, by the fingers (धिया अंगुल्या —Venkata; Sayana).

Jutah, expressed, effused (जूताः कृष्टाः —Venkata).

Samudram, to firmament (समुद्रं अन्तरिक्षम् —Venkata, Sayana; Nigh. I.3. It may mean Vasativari waters in this verse as in the verse 19 (समुद्रे आहितः) Wilson.

17. Samudram, firmament. water, lake.

Rtasya, ऋतस्य, of eternal truth; of water (ऋतस्य योनिम्, abode of eternal truth; abode of waters).

18. Sarma, शर्म, shelter-giving home.

19. Yat=yada (यत्=यदा).

Yat Samudra ahitah, यत् समुद्र आहितः —when placed in the ocean; it (the horse) moves well-guarded to the sea (lake or reservoir). Also it is mixed with waters (Vasativari). Soma when mixed with water utters a thrilling sound, like neighing of a horse.

Vahni etasah, वह्निर्न एतशः, horse of burden (मिमाति शब्दं करोति वह्निर्नः वहनशीलः एतशः कश्चिदश्वः पदं युजानः निदधद् यत्रे ऋक्वभिः स्तोतृभिः। स्तोत्रश्रवणार्थमागच्छन् यदा स समुद्रे उदके प्र आहितः भवति —Venkata).

24. Mitrah, मित्रः, supra-instinct of friendliness.

Aryama, अर्यमा, supra-instinct of justice.

Varunah, वरुणः, supra-instinct of venerability.

Marutah, मरुतः, supra-instinct of humanity.

30. Rdhak, ऋधक्=पृथक् (Nir. IV.25), separate; also mighty and prosperous (ऋधगिति पृथग्भावस्य प्रवचनं भवति। अथाप्यृध्नोत्यर्थे दृश्यते Nir. IV.25).

For (r dhag, see ऋधगया ऋधगुताशमिष्ठाः —Yv. VIII.20, and ऋधक् सा वो मरुतः —VII.57 4; —ऋधग् द्वेषः कृणुत —VIII.18.11 and ऋधक् कृषे दासम् —X.49.7). Rdhak is a Vedic form of prthak.

Hymn-65

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.3.1.5. 1-3 (904-906)

verses 4-6, Samaveda, II.2.1.4.1-3 (784, 786, 785) with inversions and variations.

verse 4, Samaveda, I.5.2.5 4 (480)

verses 10-12, Samaveda, II.2.1.10. 1-3 (803-805)

verse 10, Samaveda. I.5 2.4.3 (469)

verses 16-18. Samaveda, II.2 2.2. 1-3 (833, 835, 834)

1. Suram, सूरं, all-impeller (सूरं सुवीर्यं सोमे पीते वीर्यं भवतीति शोभनवीर्यकारणं वा सर्वेषां कर्मणि प्रेरकं वा तादृशम् —Sayana).

Svasarah jamayah, fingers born of hands (स्वसार: । अंगुलिनामैतत् — Nigh. II.5, सुष्टु कर्मसु प्रेर्यन्त ऋत्वाभिरिति स्वसार: । जामय: एकस्मात् पाणेरुत्पन्नत्वात् परस्परं बन्धु भूता: —Sayana).

11. Onyoh dhartaram, ओण्यो: धर्तारम् —the sustainer of earth and heaven both (ओण्यो: द्यावा पृथिव्यो: धर्तारम् —Venkata)

12. Aya citto vipa anaya, effused and expressed by our tender fingers (अया । 'अय पय गतौ' कर्मार्थमितस्ततो गच्छन्तीभिरनया विपा, विप प्रेरणे । हवींष्यग्नौ प्रेरयन्तीति विपोऽङ्गुलय: । एकवचनं छान्दसम् —Sayana, since oblations are offered or impelled to the fire by fingers, finger is called vipa. •For vipah, see IX.3.2.

22. Saryanavati, शर्यणावति, ultra-conscious cavity of heart (the name of a lake later on in the Kuruksetra country).

The Soma is procured from distant lands (परावति) and also from theneighbourhood (अर्वावति). Saryanavat, means possessing sweet juice

23. Janesu pancasu, among the five categories of people. Brahmana. Ksattriya. Vaisye, Sudra and Nisadas (outcasts) or devas, pitrs. man. gandharva and raksas).

24. Suvanah, सुवाना: , for expressing the juice.

25. Goh tvaci adhi, filter made of cow-hide. (गो: त्वचि अधि आनडुहे चर्मणि —Sayana).

26. Saptayah, horses (सप्तय: अश्वनामैतत्, Nigh. I.14).

Srinanah, श्रीणाना: , mixed with milk and curds (श्रीणाना: दधिक्षीरादिभि: श्रीयमाणा: सन्त: —Sayana; श्रीणन्ति परिपक्वं कुर्वन्ति —Yv. XII.55; पचन्ति —I.84.11; श्रीणातु परिपचतु —Yv. VI.18; from श्रीञ् पाके —Daya.; श्रीणान: आश्रयं कुर्वाण: — Daya. on Yv. XXXIII.85.).

Hymn-66

For verses 10-12, Samaveda, I.6.3.5.1 (627) II.1.1.3.1-3 (657-659)

verse 19, Samaveda, II.6.3.10.3 (1464) and II.7.1.12.1 (1518)

verse 20, Samaveda, II.7.1.12 2 (1519)

verse, 21, Samaveda, II.7 1.12.3 (1520)

verses 25-27, Samaveda, II.5.2.11. 1-3 (1310-1312)

2. Dhamani, धामनी, by the two abodes; those two halves (the northern and southern solstices). Sayana explains dhamani as either purvadipaksau, पूर्वादिपक्षौ, the first and second fortnights of the lunar month, the "sides" or "halves" of the month resembling in their increase and decrease the sides of a creeper, whose leaves alternate (Soma being mythologically regarded here as a creeper) पूर्वपक्षापरपक्षयो-लताकृपस्य सोमस्य तवैकैक पर्णवृद्धिह्रासाभ्यां तव स्वभूतो पूर्वादि पक्षौ); or the two names (अंशु and सोम) (यद्वा वै धामनी नामनी अंशुसोमात्मके अपि). Sayana further adds "on earth under the name amsu (अंशु) by granting the desires of all mankind Soma rules this world. In heaven, by giving the gods thy lunar digits, thou art the winner of their affections. The gods drink the digits of the moon (कलादानेन) or Soma by means of their growth and diminution one by one (i.e. as the moon waxes and wanes). The word dhamani means the two abodes (or stations) of (the Soma). —Wilson.

3. Rtubhih, ऋतुभिः, associated with seasons. The Soma, whose attributes are the seasons (spring, summer etc.) exists wherever day and night spread; because day and night are dependent on the Soma, (here Soma means moon).

5. Prsthe, पृष्ठे, on the lofty ridge of heaven (or on the surface of heaven—Wilson). Sayana says prstha means the lower part of heaven, i.e. the earth, (पृष्ठे अधर भागे । पृथिव्यामित्यर्थः —Sayana).

9. Agruvah, अग्रुवः, fingers (Nigh. II.5).

Avye jirau svani adhi, अव्ये जीरौ स्वनि अधि, in quickly improvised loud-sounding supra-psychic woollen filter.

Vane, वने, in water.

15. Mahe gavistaye, महे गविष्टये, for the sake of mighty speech and wisdom. Also for Indra, the protector of cows (गविष्टये अंगिरसां गवामन्वेष्ट्रे, for the one who went in the search of cows of angirasas, —Sayana).

20. Panca-janyah, see IX.65.23 also, classification of five types of people is also (i) gods (ii) mankind (iii) gandharvas, and apsarasas, (iv) serpents and (v) pitrs (देवमनुष्यागन्धर्वाप्सरसः सर्पाः पितर इति; and also गन्धर्वाः पितरो देवा असुरा रक्षांसीति —Sayana).

Hymn-67

In this hymn, the devatas are not only पवमान सोम (Pavamana Soma), but also Pavamanah Pusan, Pavamana Agnih, Pavamanah Savita, Pavamana Agni-Savitr, and Pavamani-Adhyeta (31-32).

For verse 1, Samaveda, II.5.2.16.1 (1323)

verse 2, Samaveda, II.5 2.16.2 (1324) (with a variation)

verse 3, Samaveda, II.5.2.16.3 (1325)

verses 16-18, Samaveda, II.9.1.17. (1, 3, 2) (1810, 1812, 1811)

verses 31-32, Samaveda, II.5.2.8. 1-2 (1298, 1299)

Here follows a long khila of 19 verses in praise of the Pavamana hymns (of modern date). The sins to be expiated by the Pavamana hymns, according to the author of the khila, e.g. killing cows and Brahmins, having intercourse with Sudra women, point to a later polluted age of civilization.

2. Surih, intelligent associate, (सूरिः प्राज्ञः —Sayana)

5. Gomatah vajan, गोमतः वाजान् , strength of speech and wisdom गोमतः पशुमन्ति वाजान् बलानि च —Sayana; strength of flocks —Wilson

6. Gomantam asvinam, wisdom and vigour; also cows and horses (गोमन्तं अश्विनं—आहर अस्मभ्य इन्दो ! बहुपशुं रयिं प्रशस्तपशुं अश्वयुक्तं सहस्रसङ्ख्यम् —Venkata).

8. Kakuhah, ककुहः , Soma sap; excellent sap (ककुहः समुच्छ्रितः —Venkata; ककुहः सोमः सर्वकर्मकारयितृत्वेन सर्वेषां समुच्छ्रितोऽतिशयितो भवति, सोऽयं —Sayana).

9. Suram pavamanam, heroic Soma (since Soma is the impeller of sacrificial actions) (सूरं सुवीर्यं सर्वस्य यागादिकर्मणि प्रेरकं पवमानं सोमम् —Sayana).

Usrayah, fingers (उस्रयः अंगुलयः —Venkata; उस्रयः कर्मकरणार्थमितस्ततः संचरन्त्योऽङ्गुलयः —Sayana).

10. Ajasvah Pusan, अजाश्वः पूषन् , goat-borne Pusan; the automation-borne (अजाश्व) nourisher (पूषन्) (In mythology, Pusan rides on goat).

11. Kapardine, decorated with a tiara, (कपर्दिने कल्याण-मुकुटवते सोमाय पूष्णे वा —Sayana) having hairs braided like a cowrie, shell (कपर्द)—Wilson.

14. Kanikradat, कनिक्रदत्, with a shrill, shreik or scream.

18. Vayum, वायुं, virile activity.

21. Panipnatam, loud sounding; to him who utters the words of wisdom. (पनिप्नतं अत्यन्तं शब्दायमानम् —Sayana).

30. Parasuh, परशुः , battle-axe (परशुः छेदकः पवमानः —Sayana).

31. Matarisvam, मातरिश्वान्, breathing vital complex.

According to Sayana, matarisvan means Vayu, because it breaths in the atmosphere (अन्तरिक्षे श्वसिति); the food is sweetened and purified by the purifying wind and the man eats it—Wilson.

Hymn-68

For verse 1, see Samaveda, I.6.2.2.10 (563).

4. Svadhaya pinvate padam, fastens his stations with food; strengthens with its own might (according to Sayana padam is the uttara vedi, the northern altar, स्वस्थानं उत्तरवेदि रूपम्; पिन्वते प्रकर्षेणाप्याययति).

Ansuh, अंशु:=सोम: , Soma, the divine elixir.

Yavena pipise, strengthened with the flow of fried barley (यवेन पिपिशे 'पिश अवयव'। अवयवत्वेन कृत:। मिश्रित इत्यर्थ:। सोमस्तु यव-सक्तुभि: श्रीयते खलु —Sayana).

Jamibhih, by fingers born of palm of hand (जामिभि। एकस्मात्पाणेरुत्पन्नाभिरङ्गुलीभि: —Sayana).

For jami, जामि, (X. 10 10) —जाम्यतिरेकनाम, बालिशस्य वा। समानजातीयस्य योषजन: —jami is a synonym of tautology, food, and one born in the same caste. (Nir. IV.20). For jami, tautology, see Nir. X.16 also.

For fingers, जामय:, Nigh. II. 5. (जामि जलं, जम्यतेऽद्यते भोजनं याभिस्ता जामयोऽङ्गुलय: —Brahmamuni on Nir. IV. 20).

5. Sayana thinks that this refers to the fact that rain is caused by the sun, with which Soma is here identified. The last part of the verse refers to the sun, which appears in the day time, and the moon, which appears at night. "Even when young, these two were distinct; the birth (of one-half) was placed in secret, the other (half) was visible." —(Wilson).

6. Syenah paravatah abharat, the falcon brought it from across or from a distance. (a bird in the form of Gayatri brought Soma from heaven).

Hymn-69

For verse 6, see Nir. VII. 2.

For verse 2, Samaveda, II. 6. 1. 9. 2 (1371)

1. Vatsah metuh udhani upasarji, वत्स: मातु: ऊधनि उपसर्जि, the fosterer as a calf to the udder of its mother, (Sayana takes udhani, ऊधनि, twice over, it is used for Indra, because he is the nourisher of everything, (i) ऊधनि सर्वस्य पोषयितृत्वेनोधः स्थानीय इन्द्रे सोमो मदार्थमस्माभिः; (ii) ऊधनि पयोधारके —Sayana).

2. Santarih, diffused ; also arrows (ग्रहादि सम्यग् विस्तृतः —Sayana)

Praghnatam iva, of the combatants (प्रघ्नतं इव प्रकर्षेण हन्तॄणां योद्धॄणां सन्तनिः सम्यग् विसृष्टः शरो यथा शीघ्रं प्राप्यमभितो गच्छति तद्वत् —Sayana)

Sayana takes Santanih twice over; first as an adjective agreeing with Somah understood, "diffused in the ladles". etc. and second, as a noun "the arrow discharged (by the foe)." (Wilson).

3. Vadhuyuh avye tvaci pari pavate, seeking its beloved (or spouse, वधूयुः) (the stems of the plant) are cleansed (परिणवते) on the sheep—skin (अव्ये त्वचि).

In the respect to vadhuyuh, spouse, Sayana refers to Vasativari waters together with the Ekadhana waters (वधूयुः । वधूभूता वसतीवर्य एकधना सहिता आपः —Saayana).

The words vasativari and ekadhana do not occur in Rgveda; the terms are innovation of the Brahmanic period.

Avye, pertaining to sheep (अव्ये अवेः स्वभूते, tvaci, skin (त्वचि चर्मणि).

Naptih, नप्तीः, denotes the offspring in the fourth generation, grand daughter. the herbs (नप्ती नपत्रीः । नप्तृशब्दश्चतुर्थापत्यवाची । सोमस्य नप्तीः । सोमो ह्योषधीनामग्रे रेतो निषञ्चति । प्रजापते रेतो देवा, देवानां रेतो वर्षः, वर्षस्य रेत ओषधयः —Ait. Aran. II. 1.3.

इति श्रुतेः—Prajapati begets the gods, the gods beget the rain ; the rain begets the herbs

Prajapati (i) gods (ii) rain (iii) herbs like Soma (iv) or, Aditi (mother infinity) the Aditya, the sun rains herbs.

Or, it may simply mean the offspring of Soma. Soma (the moon) nourishes the herbs with his rays srathnite, श्रथ्नीते, Soma "separates" the herbs at the lip to make them fruitful (श्रथ्नीते अग्रभागे फलिनीः कर्तुं विश्लेषयति —Sayana)

Venkata's translation of this verse 3 is अवे! त्वयि सोम: परि पवते। अवयति ओषधी भूमेर्जाता यजमानाय। सोमो ह्योषधीनामग्रे निषञ्चति रेत:। हरि: कामति यष्टव्य: सङ्गृहीत:। सोम: वनानि तीक्ष्णीकुर्वन् महिष: इव शोभते।

Rtam yate, for the Yajamana (ऋतं सत्य रूपं यज्ञम्; यते गच्छते यजमानाय: Rta means truth or satya; yajna is the personified satya).

We have rendered it as it comes to the earth for sacrifices

4. Arjunam avyayam varam, अर्जुनं वारं अव्ययं, through the sieve of white sheep—skin, or cloth of white wool.

Sayana says that the first half of this verse recounts the praise of Soma; Soma at the time of entering the wooden vessels makes a noise: the cows, i.e., the propitiating hymns of praise (धेनव:) gather round him; the hymns of praise (देवी:) approach (उपयन्ति) the god's station (देवस्य निष्कृतं).

6. Na indrat-rte pavata dhama kin can, without Indra, no place what-so-ever is pure. —This line is quoted by Nir. VII. 2, as an example of the indirectly addressed verses, joined of nouns, but verb of the third person. परोक्षकृत: सर्वाभिनमि-विभक्तिभियुज्यन्ते। प्रथम पुरुषैश्चाख्यातस्य).

9. Satim, सातिं, battle (like शूरसातौ, वाजसातौ, Nir II. 17.), Sayana take satim twice over, first as epithet of Indra, सर्वै: संभजनीयं, second as meaning battle, from सो, to kill.

Hymn-70

For verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6. 2. 2. 7 (560)
and II. 6. 2. 17. 1 (1423)

verse 2, Samaveda, II. 6. 2. 17. 2 (1424)

verse 3, Samaveda, II. 6. 2. 17. 3 (1425)

1. Trih sapta dhenavah, thrice seven milch-kine, (12 months+5 seasons+3 regions+1 sun=21 —Wilson: द्वादशमासा: पञ्चर्तवस्त्रय इमे लोका असावादित्य एकविंश: —Taitt, Sam, V. 4 12. 2)

Catvari, चत्वारि, four beauty regions, four beautiful waters (चत्वारि भुवनानि उदकानि वसतीवरी स्तिस्रश्चैकधना इति तानि चतुःसङ्ख्याकानि —Sayana)

Catvari anya bhuvanani nirnije, he makes (निर्णिजे) four other (चत्वारि अन्य) beautiful waters (भुवनानि) (भुवनम्=उदक=water, Nigh. I. 12). The four waters are the Vasativari waters and three ekadhana waters.

2. Ubhe dyava kavyena vi sasrathe, उभे द्यावा काव्येन वि शश्रथे, both heaven and earth are kept aloof (विशश्रथे) by His poetry or design.

Or vi sasrathe, opens i e. fills them with water. Also (काव्येन कवि-कर्मणा विशश्रथे विवृते करोति । यज्ञनिमित्तेन उदकेन संपूरयति —Sayana) ; opens both heaven and earth by his intelligence.

3. Nrmna human strength (नृम्णा नृम्णानि बलानि —Sayana), Devya ca, divine food (देव्या देवार्हाणि च अन्नानि), He strengthens human strength and divine food.

4. Dasabhih sukarmabhih, by ten working fingers (दशभि: अङ्गुलिभि: सुकर्मभि: —Venkata ; शोभनकर्मयुक्ताभि: दशसंख्याकाभिरंगुलीभि: —Sayana)

Madhyamasu Matrsu Prame, amongst the midmost mothers to measure or amongst the midmost mothers, Sayana does not explain मातृषु. By midmost, he seems to mean "placed in atmosphere" (मध्यमासु अन्तरिक्ष स्थितासु) Ubhe visau nrcaksa, उभे विशौ नृचक्षा, looks after both races (the two races being gods, देवान् and men मनुष्यान्, men by granting desires and gods by bestowing oblations upon them —Sayana.

Carunah amrtasya, of auspicious waters or ambrosia (अमृतस्य चारुण: उदकस्य कल्याणस्य वृष्ट्यर्थम् —Venkata ; Sayana)

5. Saryaha, शर्यहा ; the brave person, or an archer, killing with a weapon like arrow

Sarya may also mean an enemy (हनन साधनै: इषुभिर्हन्ता वीर: प्रतिभटान् यथा हिनस्ति तद्वत् —Sayana).

6. Marutam iva svanah, like thundering (or noise—making) clouds (मरुतां, of clouds).

Svarnaram, स्वर्णर, best well-wisher of men Water has been the best well-wisher of every man, and as such the Soma mixes with it.

7. Gavyayi, गव्ययी, cowhide (गव्ययी गव्या त्वक् भवति —Venkata : गोमय+त्वक् —Sayana).

Avyayi, अव्ययी, sheep—wool (अव्ययी अविमयी —Venkata, अविमयी त्वक् (गव्ययी गोमयी त्वग्भवति । आनडुहं हि चर्मणि सोमाभिषवः । एवम् अव्ययी अविमयी त्वक् च निर्नक्ती भवति । तद्धि दशापवित्रापेक्ष्यमभिहितम् —Sayana.)

Harini Srnge sisanah, हरिणी श्रृंगे शिशानः, Sharpening the green—tinted horns, i.e the streams of the Soma juice (शब्दायते भीमः वृषभः बलेच्छया शृङ्गे तीक्ष्णी कुर्वन् हरितवर्णे विद्रष्टा —Venkata : हरिणी हरितवर्णे द्वे श्रृंगे शिशानः तीक्ष्णी कुर्वन् द्रोणकलशं प्रति द्वाभ्यां धाराभ्यां स्थाल्याग्रयणं गृह्णाति । ते धारारूप श्रृंगे तीक्ष्णीकुर्वन् —Sayana).

8. Sukarmabhih, सुकर्मभिः, by priests of excellent actions (शोभनकर्म युक्तैर्ऋत्विग्भिः —Sayana).

Hymn-71

1. Druhah raksasah pati, द्रुहः रक्षसः पाति, guards its worshippers against malignant forces and adverse circumstances.

Jagrvih, जागृविः —vigilant (elixir or Soma).

Opasam, ओपशं, all—sustaining (ओपशं आसमन्तादुपशेत इत्योपशमः । सर्वस्य धारकम् —Sayana).

Harih, हरिः, green—tinted elixir or Soma.

The green—tinted Soma produces the all—sustaining water of the sun (Wilson).

4. Nabhah, नभः, atmosphere, also the sun — (नभः नभस आदित्यस्य स्वभूतं —Sayana).

Nabhah opasam payah, नभः ओपशं पयः, all—sustaining water of the sun.

Camvoh, चम्वोः, the two worlds, heaven and earth (Nigh. III. 30, द्यावा पृथिवी चमन्ति भक्षयन्ति मनुष्यदेवाः —Sayana).

Brahma, the mighty sun (ब्रह्म बृहद्युतं तमांसि विनाशयन्तं यद्वा परिवृढं सूर्यं द्युलोके करोति —Sayana, the mighty uplifted one that destroys darkness to the supreme Sun "(परिवृढं, as if deriving brahma from vrmh or brmh, बृंह्, बृंह् — Wilsan).

2. Asuryam asya tam varnam, that asura—slaying tint; the colour that dispels darkness. It might refer to green tint; or varnam means "protecting strength". (वर्णं हरितमावरकं बलं वा; असुर्यं असुराणां बाधकम् —Sayana).

Vavrim, infirmity, the old age (वव्रिं वृणोति शरीरमिति वव्रिर्जरा —Sayana)

Pituh, पितुः, Soma, the food (पितुः अन्नं सोमः —Sayana); pituh means juice or food.

Tana, तना, outstretched; passive particle of तन् in the locative; "in the filter outstretched by the sheep—skin." (अवि वालेन तते विस्तृते दशापवित्रे —Sayana)

5. Bhurijoh, भुरिजोः, of both the arms. (बाहुनामैतत् । बिभ्रति पदार्थानाभ्यामिति । तयो बह्वो. —Sayana.

Dasa—svasarah, ten fingers (दश सहयाका: स्वसारः सर्वत्र शरणशीला अङ्गुलयः —Sayana).

Matuthah, the praisers; the invoking priests (मतुथाः मननीय गाथावन्तः स्तोतारः —Sayana)

7. Gah abhi anavista गः अभि अनविष्ट, responses to the praises or mixes with the milk of cow. (गाः स्तोतृभिः क्रियमाणाः स्तुतीरभिलक्ष्य अनविष्ट शब्दायते —Sayana).

8. Go'agraya sam nasate, गोऽ अग्रया सं नसते the only boon it demands is of kind (speech) (गो अग्रया गवादिमुख्यया यया वाचा स्तोतारः पशून् याचन्ते तया वाच सं नसते संगतो भवति । नसतिर्गत्यर्थः —Nigh. II. 14; —Sayana.

Hymn-72

1. Parih priyah, (the yajamana receives) charming boons in unknown measures, also, abundantly delighting (परिप्रियः), how many (कतिचित्) (boons) the itterer of many praises (पुरुष्टुतस्य) (does Soma bestow. —Wilson).

2. Indrasya somam jathare yad aduhuh, Indra drinks to his heart's content; or they have milked the soma into Indra's belly, i.e. into the drona kalasa (द्रोणकलशा) (इन्द्रस्य जठरे द्रोणकलशे सोमं आदुहुः ऋत्विज दुदुहुः तदाभिष्टुवन्तीति —Sayana).

Dasabhih sa'nilabhih, ten fingers (सऽनीळाभिः अंगुलीभिः दशभिः —Venkata : Sayana).

In fact, nida. नीड, is nest; and hence सनीळभिः means having a common or one nest. (सनीड means समानस्थान, समान निवास —Wilson). The Nighantu does not give this term as a synonym of fingers.

3. Suryasy duhituh, सूर्यस्य दुहितुः, the daughter of sun, i.e. the dawn. At the time of dawn, the only noise (रवं तिरः) one hears is of the effusion or dropping of Soma. A cry dear to dawn, the daughter of the sun.

Vinangrsah, विनंगृसः, the arm (Nigh. II. 4; विनंगृसो-बाहुनाम); here the word means praisers (विनं कमनीयं स्तोत्रं गृह्णातीति विनंगृसः स्तोता —Sayana).

Dvayibhih svasrbhih jamibhih, fingers belonging to two palms (द्वयीभिः द्वाभ्यां पाणिभ्यामुत्पन्नाभिः, जामिभिः परस्परं बन्धुभिः स्वसृभिः कर्मकरणार्थमितस्ततो गच्छन्तीभिरङ्गुलीभिः

5. Matih samajaih, मतिः समजैः, overcome all hostile hurdles that come in the way. Sayana explains matih as अभिमन्यमानान् शत्रून्.

Samajaih, समजैः, wins over completely, समजैः सम्यग् जितवानसि । 'जि जये', i.e. from the root ji.

6. Rtasya yona sadane, at the place of the birth of the sacrifice, at the Uttara Vedi. (ऋतस्य सत्यभूतस्य यज्ञस्य योना योनौ योनि स्थानीय उत्पत्तिभूते सदने उत्तरवेद्याख्ये —Sayana).

8. Adhunvate siksan, आधून्वते, giving riches to the shaker of libations, Adhunyate means making the adhavana (shaking) with three filaments of the Soma after the adabhya libation. (आधून्वते अदाभ्यग्रहे त्रिभिरंशुभिराधावनं, कुर्वते —Sayana, for this see Apastamba Sutra "तैरेनं चतुराधुनोति पञ्चकृत्वः सप्तकृत्वो वा"),

Hymn-73

For verse 3, See Nir. XII. 32.

1. Srakve, स्रक्वे, in the receptacles placed at the centre of the sacrifice (सक्वे यज्ञस्य हनुस्थानीये । सक्व ओष्ठप्रान्तो हनुरुच्यते —Venkata) ; at the jaw of the sacrifice (सक्वे ओष्ठप्रान्तो हनुरुच्यते । 'हनुरधिषवण फलक :' इत्याम्नात् हनुस्थानीये अधिषवण फलके —Sayana).

Drapsasya, of Soma, of the amsu (अंशु द्रप्सस्य सोमस्यांशवः —Sayana).

Navah, नावः, boats. In the Karmakanda, the word refers to the four pots, aditya, agrayana, ukthya and dhruva libations, (नावः नौका इव स्थिताश्चतस्रः स्थाल्यः—आदित्याग्रयणोक्थ्यध्रुवस्थाल्य इति —Sayana)

3. Having a purified instrument, they sit round speech, their ancient father preserves the ordinance. Varuna placed the mighty ocean across ; the wise were able to begin in the water". (lit. transl.)

Having a purifying instrument, having a ray, the groups of atmospheric gods sit round (atmospheric speech). Their ancient, i.e. old and atmospheric father preserves the ordinance, i.e. the course of action. Varuna places the mighty ocean across, i.e. within. Now the wise are able to begin, i.e. to commence the work. In the dharuna, i e. in the waters".

(पवित्रवन्तो रश्मिवन्तो माध्यमिका देवगणाः पर्यासते (माध्यमिकां वाचम्) । मध्यमः पितैषां प्रत्नः पुराणोऽभिरक्षति व्रतं कर्म । महः समुद्रं वरुणा स्तिरोऽन्तर्दधाति । अथ धीराः शक्नुवन्ति धरुणेष्वुदकेषु कर्मण आरभमारब्धुम् —Nir, XII. 32).

Pavitravantah, पवित्रवन्तः, with the potential of purification.

Dharanesu, in all the sustaining waters like Vasativari (धरणेषु सर्वस्य धारकेषु वसतीवर्याख्येषूदकेषु —Sayana).

Pavitramantah vacam pariasate, the voice of firmament (vacam, वाचं), which means thunder and the rays of the Soma refer either to moon or to the Soma juice identified with rain.

Whilst Soma juice being cleansed filtered and purified, the priests continue to recite verses of praises in respect to Soma.

4. Na ni misanti, न नि मिषन्ति, not static, do not close the eyes. Sayana adds "but always keep watch to know the evil and the good, or always keep on the alert, as kings to do guard against enemies."

Spasah, स्पशः, rays, the emanations, his spies or warders —Wilson; स्पशः सारभूता रश्मयः —Sayana).

Bhurnayah, भूर्णयः, fast-moving ; swift-moving.

6. Anaksasah, अनक्षासः, those who are blind. (चक्षुर्वर्जिताः साधुपदार्थ-नामदृष्टारो नरा: —Sayana).

Bdhirasah, बधिरास:, those who are deaf. (देवता स्तुति श्रवण वर्जिता: —Sayana).

That is, those who do not see good objects, and those who do not hear the praises of the gods.

7. Spasah, स्पश:, servants faithfulling working (मध्यमया वाचा वर्जितो भवन्ति; कीदृशा: — इषिरा: गमनशीला: —Sayana). Rudras are their servants, swift-moving —Wilson, verse 4 also.

8. Hrdi antah adadhe, हृदि अन्त: आदधे, places in his heart, i.e. combines in himself; the three purifiers.

Tri pavitra, त्री पवित्रा, the three purifiers are Agni, Vayu and the Sun (पवित्रा अग्निवायुसूर्यात्मकानि त्रीणि पवित्राणि —Sayana).

9. Jihvaya agre varunasya, जिह्वाया अग्रे वरुणस्य, on the tip of the tongue of Varuna. This refers to Vasativari waters on the tip of Varuna's tongue. (Sayana).

Hymn-74

The Rsi or Seer of the hymn is Kaksivan Dairgha tamasah (कक्षीवान् दैर्घतमस:). Dirghtamas is so well known for his work on the Vedic era. The word Soma in verses of this hymn may well apply to the Sun as well.

3. Aditeh, of the Aditi, of the sun or of the earth.

Gavyuti, path; way (गव्यूति: मार्ग: —Sayana).

Aditeth gavyuti urvi, the way to the earth is broad (उर्वी विस्तीर्णा भवति —Sayana) · उर्वी गव्यूति: विस्तीर्ण: मार्ग: —Venkata.

h itah vrsteh ise usriyah, one, who sends rains here, benefits the cattle He is the Lord of the rain that falls here; he is the possessor of the cattle, (ईशेयो वृष्टे: ईश्वरो भवति य: वृष्टे: – Venkata).

Usriyah, उस्रिय:, kine, cattle (Nigh II 11).

4. Peravah, पेरव:, from 'पा' to protect (पा रक्षणे): the solar rays

(rays from Soma) who give protection to every one (पेरवः सर्वस्य रक्षकः सोमरश्मयः —Sayana).

Nabhah, नभः, Soma in the form of Aditya, the sun (नभः नभस आदित्य रूपात्सोमः —Sayana).

Rtasya nabhih, navel of the sacrifice. (ऋतस्य यज्ञस्य । नाभिः 'णह बन्धने from √णह. √nah, to bind, यज्ञस्य बन्धकम् —Sayana).

5. Aravit, अरावीत्, makes the noise : roars loudly (अरावीत् शब्दं करोति —Sayana).

Urmina, ऊर्मिणा, with the wave, with the mixture of Vasativari and other waters, (ऊर्मिणा वसतीवर्या दीनामुदकानां संघेन —Sayana).

Whilst Soma mixes with water, it produces roaring sounds, or whilst it is mixed with water, priests loudly chant verses in its praise.

6. Trtiye rajasi, in the third world, i e. in the celestial region (तृतीये रजसि लोके स्वर्गे वर्तमानाः —Sayana)

Asascatah, mixed up together (असश्चतः परस्परमसक्ताः —Sayana).

Catasrah nabhah, four brilliances associated with Soma (चतस्रो नाभः: नभसो बाधिकाः सोमस्य सम्बन्धिन्यश्चतस्रो दीप्तयः कलाः —Sayana).

Sayana explains nabhat as the rays (दीप्तयः) or digits (कलाः) of the Soma, and derives it in a confused way both from नभस्, heaven, and the the root √णह., √nah, to bind (नाभः नभसो बाधिकाः, "obstructing heaven" —Wilson.

8. Svetam kalam gobhih aktam, श्वेतं कलां गोभिः अक्तम्, white milk or the white (water) besprinkled cosmic pitcher (श्वेतं संप्रति सोमसंसर्गात् श्वेतवर्णं गोभिः उदकैः अक्तं संपृक्तं द्रोणकलशम् —Sayana).

Gobhih, गोभिः, with water ; or with milk (गोभिः उदकैः —Venkata, Sayana).

Sata' himaya for hundred winters, i.e. for one hundred years. Sayana, however translates it as "for one who attains many things शतहिमाय बहुगमनाय", at other places, he translates the word as अपरिमित काल, lasting for an endless time —Wilson.

Satam himaya has also been translated as to one who praises in hundreds of ways Kaksivatc, कक्षीवते, to a seer, rich in sacred lore.

9. Avyah varam, ultrapsychic woollen fleece (अव्यः अवेः वारं वालं, wool of sheep —Venkata).

Hymn-75

For verse 5, see Nir; IV. 15

For verses 1, 2 and 3, Samaveda, II. 1. 1. 19, 1-3 (700, 701,702)

For verse 1. Samaveda I. 6. 2. 2. 1 (554)

2. Vakta, वक्ता, Yajamana, the praiser; speaking; replying to the praises of worshippers (वक्ता शब्दकृत् । यद्वा, स्तोतृभिः क्रियमाणाः स्तुतयः)

Rtasya jihva, ऋतस्य जिह्वा, tongue of sacrifices, i.e. the Soma, (ऋतस्य सत्यभूतस्य यज्ञस्य, जिह्वा मुख्यत्वेन जिह्वा स्थानीयः सोमः —Sayana).

Pitroh apicyam nama trtiyam, पित्रोः अपीच्यं नाम तृतीयं, the third name, not known to the parents (पित्रोः मातापित्रोः अपीच्यं अन्तर्हितं यत् तृतीयं नाम —Sayana); it means a name not given at birth at the time of naming ceremony (नामकरण संस्कार).

In the Baudhayana Grhya Sesa, (I. II. 4-7) the third name suggested is Somayajin (नक्षत्र व्यावहारिक नाम्नी प्रमाप्य सोमयाजीति तृतीयमस्य नाम: —Sayana).

3. Hiranyaye Kose, हिरण्यये कोशे, into the golden receptacle (हिरण्यये हिरण्मये कोशे अभिषवणि चर्मणे —Sayana).

Tri prsthe, त्रिपृष्ठे, in the three Savanas, morning, midday and the evening rites.

4. Romani avyaya, रोमाणि अव्यया, through the ultra—psychic woollen filters (अव्यानि अविमयानि रोमाणि तैः कृतानि पवित्राणि—Sayana).

5. Ye te mada ahanaso etc.—Incite Indra, in order to give us wealth, with those gladdening, foaming and exhilarating draughts, which thou hast.

Incite Indra, so that he may give us wealth, with those draughts of thine which are gladdening, which foam, and which are accompanied with songs of praise (ये ते मदा आहनवन्त वचनवन्तस्तैरिन्द्रं चोदय दानाय मघम् —Nir. IV. 15).

Hymn-76

For verses 1, 2, 3 (with slight variations), Samaveda, II. 5. 1. 12. 1-3 (1228, 1229, 1230),

Verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6. 2. 2. 5 (558).

1. Devanam, देवानां, of gods; of sense organs, Divah दिवः from firmament, from the ultrapsychic region.

Dhiya धिया, with intelligence; with rites, with good actions, (धिया कर्मणा – Venkata ; Sayana), i.e. at the very time, the rite is being performed —Wilson

4. Pita matinam, protector of those who offer rational and sensible praises ; father of praises.

Hymn-77

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6 2.2.3 (556).

1. Vapuso vapustarah, वपुषो वपुष्टरः more beanteous than the beautiful. According to Sayana "Sowing seed more than any other sower of seed." (वपुषः बीजानां वप्तुः अन्यस्मात् वपुष्टरः अतिशयेन वप्ता । बीजावापस्य सोम कर्तृकत्वात् 'सोमो वै रेतोधाः' —Tait. Sam, II. 1.1.6) इति श्रुतेः.

Kose, कोशे, the ultra psychic filter; the anandamaya sheath in the body-complex.

2. Krsanoh, becomes of the krsanu, the archer. See the legend, Ait Br. III. 26. Krsanu protects the Soma.

Astu, अस्तु, bow armed, शरणांक्षेप्तुः, an archer —Venkata.

Vevijana it, वेविजान इत्, flowing downwards Rajah tirah sah madhvah a yuvate, रजः तिरः सः मध्वः आ युवते, detaches the Soma brought from the heaven which was sweet.

Vibhyusa manasa ha, विभ्युषामनसा ह with mind full of fear.

The Gayatri metre became a hawk and brought Soma from heaven; on the way, the archer Krsanu shot an arrow to snatch the Soma.

A yuvate, detaches, (श्रायुवते यौति पृथक्करोति द्युलोकात् —Sayana).

4. Urubjam, plenty-milk-giving; also plenty-water-giving (उरुब्जम् प्रभूतानामपां पयसां जनकम् uru=in abundance+up=milk or water+jan= producing,

Vrajam, व्रजम्, herd of cattle Abhyarsati, hastens to; goes with speed (श्रभ्यर्षति गच्छति —Sayana).

Hymn-78

1. Avih, अवि:, sheep; here the word refers to woollen filter, (अवि: अविमयेन वस्त्रेण —Venkata; अविरोमनिर्मितं दशापवित्रम् —Sayana).

Ripram, cover, impure form; the waste or non-purposeful form (रिप्रं अनुपादेयत्वेन पापरूपं अभिषुत वल्लीशकलादि-रूपम् —Sayana).

Gah, praises (गा: स्तुती: Sayana).

2. Asvah, spreading (अश्वा: व्याप्ता: —Sayana).

Harayah, the green—tinted rays or the Soma (हरय: हरितवर्णा अंशव: सन्ति —Sayana).

Camusadah, alighting on the cups (चमूषद: अभिषवण फलकयो: सीदत; —Sayana).

Srutayah, paths, the holes of the sieve or filter (स्रुतय: मार्गाश्छिद्राणि —Sayana)

3. Samudriyah, of the sea; of the firmament—(समुद्रिया: । समुद्र साधनत्वात् समुद्रं अन्तरिक्षम् —Sayana).

Apsarsah, nymphs, अप्सरस: ; waters.

Harmyasya, हर्म्यस्य, of the comfortable hall of sacrifice (हर्म्यस्य सुखकरस्य यागगृहस्य —Sayana).

Saksanim, of the sprinkler (सक्षणिं सेचनशीलं —Sayana)

5. Urvi gavyutim, the wide path (उर्वी गव्यूतिं विस्तीर्णं मार्गम् —Sayana).

Hymn-79

For verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.2.2.2 (555).

3. Duh 'adhyah, दुरध्य:, irresistible

(i) Svasyah aratyah, of his own enemy (स्वस्या: अरात्या: स्वीयस्य शत्रो: —Sayana).

(ii) Anyasyah aratyah, enemy of another (अन्यस्या: अस्मदीयाया: अरात्या: अस्मच्छत्रो: —Sayana).

(Apparently, the word arati, अराति is feminine also).

Dhanvan, in a desert (धन्व निरुदको देश: —Sayana).

4. Adrayah tva vapsanti, अद्रय: त्वा बप्सति, the stones crush (or devour) you.

Goh adhi tvaci, गो: अधि त्वचि, on the cowhide (Sayana says that although in his time, people poured the Soma out upon a black antelope's skin, and not cowhide, the Soma was measured on a cow-hide for the purpose of selling.

Hastaih, हस्तै:, with their hands; the word hastah, हस्त:, is derived from √हन्, to strike (हस्तो हन्ते: Nir. I. 7).

Hymn-80

2. Yam tva aghnyah abhyanusata, यं त्वा अघ्न्या अभ्यनूषत, O vajin, nutrition—giving Soma, you whom the kine praise.

Aghnya means a cow, who is not killed (i.e. is inviolable). Kine are brought to the sacrifice and milked for the curds etc. and the Soma is mixed with these cowproducts—curds and milk). (अघ्न्या: अहननीया: गाव: —Sayana).

Abhi yonim ayah' hatam, अभि योनिं अय ऽहतम्, (See IX. 1.2 also: अयोहतं हिरण्येन हतम्, fashioned by golden hands.

4. Ksipah, fingers (क्षिप: अङ्गुलय: —Nigh. II. 5).

Gravabhih srtah, ग्रावभि: सृत: crushed by the stones, squeezed through the stones.

Hymn-81

1. Indrasya jatharam praynti, flow into Indra's belly, i.e. flow in the ultrapsychic region of the complex of the resplendent self.

Suram, शूरं, to the brave, i.e. to Indra; the resplendent self.

2. Vidvan asnoti amutah itah, ca yat, विद्वान् अश्नोति अमुत: इत: च यत्, he acquires what is in the world above and what is in this world. Or, he knows both, the ambrosia brought from the other world, the exterior, and also the one existing in the world, the interior (observations from the external and experiences from within).

Amutah, अमुत:, from heaven, from above; from the exterior.

Itah, इत:, from this world, from the earth, from within.

Raghuvartanih, रघुवर्तनि:, lightly moving लघुगमन:) moving with sure paces

Vodha, वोढा, वोल्हा, like a horse Vrsa, वृषा, showerer (used for Soma).

Kalasan, कलशान्, pitchers of inner consciousness.

3. Ma no gayam are asmat para sicah,मा नो गयं आरे अस्मत् परा सिच:, scatter not riches and blessings distant from us.

Gayam, गयं, wealth, riches and blessings (गयं धनं Sayana Venkata wealth to be bestowed on us.

Vasuh, वसु:, wealth, the place of stay, the shelter, cattle and property.

Radhasah, राधस:, of wealth

Vayodhah, possessor of food, the Soma. (वयोध: अन्नस्य धात: सोम:),

4. Suayama Sarasvati, Goddess of learning, abiding by discipline; beautiful sarasvati; suyama is also one having a fair body (सुयमा, यम्यते नियम्यत इति यमो विग्रहः। सुविग्रहा सरस्वती —Sayana); suyama, tractable.

Pusa, पूषा, life—sustenance,

Mitrah, मित्र, friendliness,

Varunah, वरुणः, venerability; sajosasah, of one accord.

Brhaspatih, giver of divine knowledge.

Marutah, मरुतः, man of valour; brave soldiers.

Asvinau, the twin divines, physicians and surgeons.

Vayuh, वायुः, the life – principle.

Tvasta, त्वष्टा, giver of technical skill.

Savita, सविता, creativity and impulsion.

Sarasvati, सरस्वती, divine speech, the inner experience,

Hymn-82

For verses 1, 2, 3, Samaveda, II. 5.2.13. 1-3 (1316, 1318, 1317)

verse 1. Samaveda, I. 6.2 2.9 (562) (with some variations).

3. Prajanyah, पर्जन्यः, the rain, Sayana takes Somah, implied in महिषस्य पर्णिनः, as the subject of दधे (dadhe). The mountains are grinding stones; the navel of the earth the oblation. He explains स्वसारः as fingers which makes no sense (Wilson).

Svasarah apah, the sisters of this Soma are the streams of water.

Prthivya nabha girisu ksyam dadhe, on this earth, the Soma resides on the top of hills; it grows on mountain summits.

Gah abhi asaran, praises of Soma are recited in the Yajna; also the Soma is always mixed with milk; it stays with milk.

Vite adhvare gravabhi samnasate, in the yajna, the Soma plant is crushed with stones, and its juices squeezed out.

4. Jaya patyai iva seva adhi mamhase, just as a wife gives love and affection to her husband, in the same way, the Soma loves the Yajamana.

Vanisu antah su pracara, may you rest in your praises along with your good attributes.

Jivase Jagrhi, be vigilant for our good life.

Anindyah vrjane jagrhi, O the irreproachable, be vigilant against our enemies.

Pajraya garbha, पज्राया गर्भ, O the son of clouds (Soma is an offspring of clouds).

Hymn-83

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II. 2.2.16. 1-3 (876-877)

verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.2 2 12 (565).

1. Brahmanaspate, ब्रह्मणस्पते, Lord of divine enlightenment.

Atapt-tanuh, अतप्ततनूः, you never get tired (become hot) in your work; the rain raw (liquid) whose mass is heated (this refers to Soma extract; अतप्ततनूः पयोव्रतादिना असंतप्त गात्रः —Sayana; विविधैस्तपो विशेषैः, अतप्ततनूः अतएव अमः अपरिपक्वः, raw —Venkata.

Amah, आमः, raw, unripened (आमः अपक्वाः —Venkata; अपरिपक्वः —Sayana).

2. Tapoh, that blazes ail opposition; destroyer of adversaries (तपोः शत्रूणां तापकस्य —Sayana).

Divah prstham cetasa adhi tisthanti, They with their supreme intellect (चेतसा) attain the highest summit (दिवः पृष्ठं) of aspirations, or they rest or dwell on the backpart of the heaven or sky along with their wish (दिव: द्युलोकस्य पृष्ठं पृष्ठभागमुन्नतदेशं चेतसा बुद्ध्या देवगमनेच्छावत्या अधितिष्ठन्ति आश्रयन्ते —(Sayana).

4. Gandhurvah, the sun, the sustainer, of waters or praises (गन्धर्व: उदकानां स्तुतीनां धारक आदित्य: —Venkata, —Sayana).

Grbhnati nidhaya nidhapatih, the Lord of nooses seizes with a snare (निधया निधां पाश्या। पाशसमूहेन गृभ्णाति गृह्णाति निधापति: पाशसमूह स्वामी —Sayana; nidhapatih may mean lord of treasure, the word पाशसमूह by mistake has been understood as पशुसमूह in Sayana's version, and then translated as lord of cattle, —Wilson).

5. Havismah, हविष्म:, O water—mixed Soma (हवि: उदकनाम Nigh. I. 12) (हविष्म: उदकवन् सोम हविर्भूतम् —Sayana).

Nabhah, नभ:, a synonym of udaka, water; Soma's extract in water (नभ: उदकनामैतत् —Nigh I. 12; उदकरसमित्यर्थ: Sayana takes havih and nabhah in apposition, havih nabhah=liquid water, —Wilson.

Hymn-84

1. Indraya, इन्द्राय, to the sun.

Varunaya, वरुणाय, to the ocean

Vayave, वायवे, to the wind.

Varivah, svastimat, वरिव: स्वस्तिमत् health and wealth (वरिव: धनं, स्वस्तिमत् स्वस्तीत्यविनाशनाम, तद्वद् धनम् —Sayana).

Daivyam janam, celestial people (दैव्यं जनं देवसम्बन्धिनं संघम्। जन-शब्द: संघवाची —Sayana)

2. Tani visvani pari arsati तानि विश्वानि परि अर्षति, goes about them all; i.e. protects all the yajnas and the sacrificers both.

4. A indrasya hardi, आ इन्द्रस्य हार्दि, for the heart's satisfaction of the respledent self. Soma juice, which is favourite of Indra, according to Sayana, "in such a way, that Indra's heart is friendly" (इन्द्रस्य हार्दि हार्दं प्रियम्).

Hymn-85

For verse 1, Samaveda I. 6.2.2.8 (561).

1. Susutah, सुषुतः, well-expressed,

Parisravah, परिस्रवः, flows forth; flows on all sides.

Dvayavinah, द्वयाविनः, double-dealers; indulging in good and evil both — good in exterior, whilst evil inherently.

3. Adabdhah, the inviolable (अदब्धः अहिंसितः —Venkata).

Uttamah dhasi, best support; also food (उत्तमः धासि अन्नं उत्तमम् —Venkata, Sayana).

4. Midhvah gatum, गातुं, path; मीढ्वः, broad and easy; comfortable.

5. Kanikradat kalase gobhih ajyase, कनिक्रदत् कलशे गोभिः अज्यसे, roaring with thrill, you are blended in the pitcher with milk and curds.

Avyayam varam samaya arsasi, अव्ययं वारं समया अर्षसि, at the right time, you pass through the ultra-psychic fleecy filter in the midst.

6. Divyaya janmane, दिव्याय जन्मने, to the celestial people, i.e. to Indra, Mitra, Varuna and Vayu, they are divya or celestial, since they function in the celestial or heavenly region or, they are born there, or they are the source of enlightenment.

7. Atyam kalase dasa ksipah mrjanti, the ten (दश) fingers (क्षिपः) clean (मृजन्ति) the stems of the plant (अत्यं) in the cosmic pitcher (कलशे) [अत्यमतन्वन्तमश्वस्थानीयं वा सोमम्, atyam stands for Soma; literally, it means horse i.e. horse-like Soma.]

8. Mahih saprathah sarma, महिः सप्रथः शर्म, a large and spacious mansion (may we get from you).

Urvim gavyutim, उर्वीं गव्यूतिं, extensive pastures, or broad paths for cattle (विस्तीर्णं गोमार्गम् —Venkata).

10. Venah duhanti uksanam giristham, वेनाः दुहन्ति उक्षाणं गिरिष्ठां, loving divine powers severally milk forth the sprinkler, the mountain-haunting divine elixir (वेना: वेन नामधेया ऋषय: प्रसश्चत: प्रसंसक्ता: शीघ्रमपि घृण्वन्त: उक्षणं सेक्तारं गिरिष्ठां पर्वतेस्थितं दुहन्ति —Venkata).

12. Bhanuh sukrena socisa vyadyaut, भानु: शुक्रेण शोचिषा व्यद्यौत्, the sun shines in white light with gleaming splendour.

Sucih matara rodasi prarurucat, शुचि: मातरा रोदसी प्रारूरुचत्, radiant, he illumines both the parents heaven and earth. (matara=creative, Wilson; मातरा निर्मात्र्यौ —Sayana).

Hymn-86

For verse 41, see Nir. V. 2.

The Rsis of the hymn are many, अकृष्टा माषा; 1-10; सिकता निवावरी 11-20; पृश्निनोऽजा: 21-30; अकृष्टमाषादयस्त्रय: 31-40; भौमोऽत्रि: 41-45; and गृत्समद: शौनक: 46-48.

For verse 4, Samaveda, II. 3.1.1.1 (886).

verse 5, Samaveda, II. 3.1.1.3 (888).

verse 6, Samaveda, II. 3.1.1.2. (887).

verses 10-12, Samaveda, II. 4.1.1. 1-3 (1031, 1032, 1033).

verses 16-18, Samaveda, II. 4.2.7. 1-3 (1152-1154).

verse 16, Samaveda, I. 6.2.2.4. (557).

verses 19-21, Samaveda, II. 2.1.17. 1-3 (821, 822, 823).

verse 19, Samaveda, I 6.2.2.6 (559).

verses 37, 38,39, Samaveda, II. 3.2 1. 3; 2; 1; (957, 956, 955)

verses 43-45, Samaveda, II. 7.3 21 1-3 (1614, 1615, 1616)

verse 43, Samaveda, I. 6 2.2.11 (564).

1. Dhi'javah=manojavah, quick as thought or mind, (धीऽजव: मनसा तुल्यवेगा: —Venkata; मनोवेगा; —Sayana).

3. Indri yaya dhayase, for Indra's strength which supports the world.

Atyah na hiyanah, like a steed urged on (अत्य: अश्व: न इव हियान: प्रेर्यमाण: —Venkata).

5. Dharmabhih, through they functions; through your supporting streams of juice धर्मभि: धाराभि: —Venkata; धारकै: रसनिस्यन्दै: —Sayana).

8. Samudram, firmament (समुन्द्रं अन्तरिक्षं — Nigh I. B; Venkata). Royal elixir (राजा) plunges (वि गाहते) waters (नद्य:) into the firmament (समुद्रं).

Nadyah, rivers, here waters (नद्य तत्रत्या अप: —Sayana).

Apam urmim sacate, associates with the waves of waters (सचते सेवते —Venkata; उदकपूरं सवति —Sayana).

According to Sayana, this may be intended to express the effect of the Soma in producing rain by combining in the clouds with the solar rays —Wilson, (सिन्धुषु उदकेषु ग्रहेषु वा, श्रित: सम् । हूयमान: सन् रश्मिद्वारा सूर्यंप्राप्य अन्तरिक्षे मेघेषु वर्तते, अस्यैव वृष्टिसाधनत्वार्य —Sayana).

Sayana gives another interpretation; लुप्तोपममेतत् । समुद्र नद्यु इव सिन्धुषु वसतीवरीषु श्रित आश्रित: सन् समुद्रम् अभिषुत सोमरसाधार पात्रं वि गाहते अभिषवात् पूर्वम्.

Avyayam, अव्ययं, fleecy woollen filter.

14. Drapim vasanah yajatah divisprsam—the elixir clad in a defensive armour (द्रापि) that reaches heaven (दिविस्पृशं); or wearing a coat of mail (द्रापि) reaching to heaven, i.e. clothed in light, (Wilson), (द्रापिं कवचं तेजोरूपम् —Sayana).

21. Sindhubhyah abhavat lokakrt, makes the path wide for the rivers to flow (अप सिन्धुभ्य: अभवत् जायते लोककृत् लोकस्य कर्त्ता— Venkata, Abhavat, becomes prosperous (अभवत् समृद्धो भवति —Sayana).

Lokakrt, लोककृत्, creater or maker of the regions or worlds.

He, the maker of the world is (prosperous) for the rivers, (Wilson).

Trih-sapta duduhanah asiram, the elixir makes three times seven (21) celestial rivers pour out their curds and milk (त्रिःसप्त एकविंशति गाः आशिरं दुदुहानः —Venkata.

22. Divyesu sthanesu, दिव्येषु स्थानेषु, to your own heavenly abodes (i.e. to the bellies of the gods — Wilson).

23. Gotram angirobhyah avrnoh ap—release the waters (of the clouds) for the sustenance of cows. (गोत्रं मेघं अंगिरोभ्यः अंगिरसामर्थाय अप अवृणोः —Venkata); गोत्रंमेघमुदकं क्षारयितुं पणिभिरपहृतानां गवामावरकं पर्वतं वा अप अवृणोः —Sayana); it may thus point out to well-known Pani episode).

25. Sapta dhenavah, the seven milchkine; the seven celestial rivers; the seven channels of sensation ; two eyes, two ears, two nostrils, one mouth), or seven metres, Gayatri etc., or the rivers

Rtasya yona, ऋतस्य योना, water (ऋतं । योनिः । ऋतस्य योनिः; all the three terms are synonyms of water —Nigh. I. 12).

26. Gah, गाः; fluids, liquids, juices (गाः कृण्वानः रसमयान् कुर्वाणः —Sayana).

27. Satadharah, शतधाराः, the ceaseless watery fountains, (धाराशब्देन सोमधारा).

Asascatah, ceaseless; separate (असश्चतः परस्पर संगतः; also असम्बद्धा —Sayana).

Satadharah may refer to Soma and juices; harim (हरिं) to Indra; abhi'sriyah अभिश्रियः, would mean mixed with milk (गोभिः श्रितास्ताः) and udanyuvah; उदन्युवः, desiring (Indra's rain), and harim, हरिं, to Indra (इन्द्रं), —Sayana.

34. Dhanyaya dhanvasi, goes for wealth (धन्याय धनेभ्यो हिताय धन्वसि गच्छसि —Sayana) thou flowest for a mighty wealth—yielding conflict (Wilson).

36. Sapta-svasarah-matarah; seven sister mothers i.e. seven rivers (गंगा-यमुना etc.) clothe Soma with that water).

Sapta, सप्त, may also mean सर्पण-स्वभावाः, one goes everywhere is an extended number,(सप्त सृप्ता संख्या —*Nir.*IV. 26.).

41. Rayim asvapastyam, रयिं प्रश्वपस्त्यं, riches filling our homes, also having horses in the home (stable), i.e. wealth consisting of horses. (प्रश्वपस्त्यं व्याप्त गृहम् –Sayana; from root √प्रश्. to pervade).

Sah bhandanah ut iyarti prajavatih, स: भन्दना: उत् इयर्ति प्रजावती:, he utters forth praises which are rich in offspring.

The word bhandana, भन्दना, (applause) is derived from √भन्द्, meaning to praise (भन्दता भन्दते: स्तुतिकर्मण: —Nir. V. 2; see also भन्दते, III. 3.4.

43. Anjate, अञ्जते, smear vyanjate, व्यञ्जते, grease and Samanjate, समञ्जते, anoint (अञ्जते यंञ्जते विविधमञ्जन्ति and समञ्जते सम्यगजन्ति, स्तुत्यर्थत्वाद् प्रणुनरुक्ति: –Sayana).

The repetition of the same word is avoided because it is considered more complimentary to use different words. Of course, all the three words have shades of difference in connotation.

Sindhoh ut' svase, सिन्धो: उत्ऽश्वासे, into the seething torrent (सिन्धो: उदकस्य रसस्याधार भूते उच्छ्वसि उच्छ्रिते देशे, "in the breathing of the river"; or going to an elevated place, the receptacle of the juice.

Pasum, पशुं, to the one that sees (पशुं द्रष्टारम् । पशु: पश्यते:, from पश to see –Nir. III. 16, यद्, पश्यत् तस्मादेते पशवस्तेष्वेतमपश्यत्तस्मादेवै ते पशव:—Satapatha VI. 2.1.4).

It appears that Yaska recognized √पश् as an independent root, and not ordinary form of √दृश्, √drs.

45. Vimanah ahnam, a measurer of days (विमान: निर्मिता चन्द्रकला ह्रासवृद्ध्यधीनत्वादहर्व्यवहारस्य; अह्नां दिनानाम् —Sayana).

The rule as to the length of day depends in the increase and decrease of the moon's digits, Soma being here regarded as the moon.

46. Tridhatuh, त्रिधातु, the triple liquor or three vessels; द्रोणकलश, dronakalasa, आधवनीय, adhavaniya; and पूतभृत्, putabhrt.

48. Suvirah, सुवीरा:, excellent male offspring.

Vidathe, विदथे, at the congregational gathering.

Atrinah rakasah, अत्रिण: रक्षस:, voracious wicked forces (अत्रिण: भक्षकान् —Sayana).

Hymn-87

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II. 1.1.10. 1-3 (677-679).

verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.4.1 (523).

verse 4 Samaveda, I. 6.1.4.9 (531).

Hymn-88

For 1, Samaveda, II.6.3.13.1 (1471).

verse 2, Samaveda, II. 6.3.13.2. (1472).

verse 7, Samaveda. II. 6.3.13.3. (1473).

2. Sa im bhurisat rathah na ayoji, It has been harnessed like a capacious car that bears abundant treasures to be given to us (स ईं रथ: स अयं रथ: न इव अयोजि युज्यते भूरिषट् भूरेर्भारस्य सोढा महः महान् पुरूणि बहूनि धनानि दातुम् —Venkata).

Visva nahusya jatani, everyone of us among men, (विश्वा सर्वाणि नहुष्या नहुष्याणि मनुष्यजातानि —Venkata).

Svarsata, स्वर्षाता=स्व:ऽसाता=स्वषतौ, in the struggles of life, संग्रामवामैतत् —Sayana; like शूरसातौ=वाजसातौ-संग्रामनाम (Nigh. V.17).

Urdhva, ऊर्ध्वा, is explained as अस्मद् विरोधाद् उन्मुखानि —Sayana.

3. Dhi'javanah, धीऽजवन:, with the speed of mind (मनोवेग: —Sayana) also an impeller towards actions (कर्मणां प्रवर्तयिता —Venkata).

4. Pedu, पेदु, see I. 116. 6.

Paidvah na, पैद्व. न, like a horse; like a horse of adventure (पैद्व: अश्व: न इव —Venkata).

7. Susmi sardhah na marutam, शुष्मी शर्ध: न मारुतं, strong as you are like the army of maruts (cloud-bearing winds).

Maruts are the people of gods (मरुतो वै देवानां विशः —Tait. Sam. II. 2.5.7).

Sardhah, शर्धः, strength (शर्धः बलनाम —Nigh. II. 9).

Susmi, शुष्मी, the one with strength (शुष्मं=बलं, from शोषणात्, Nigh. II. 9).

8. Varunasya, of Varuna; of the coverer (वरुणस्य वारकस्य —Sayana): or the Varuna Raja, the royal Sovereign, the Venerable Lord.

Hymn-89

2. Duhe im pita, दुहे ईं पिता, father milks him.

Duhe im pituh jam, दुहे ईं पितुः जाम्, milks him the son of the father.

The father, the heavenly Lord milks and milks him the son of the father firmament. According to Sayana, pita, is the protector of regions (पिता पालको लोकः, पितुः पालकात् पितृस्थानीयात् द्युलोकात्) an he is adhvaryu; who extracts the juice of the Soma which is born from heaven as from a father.

Or, the first milker may be the Yajamana, and the second, the adhvaryu; duhe, or दुहे, may be repeated out of respect.

5. Samane dharune, समाने धारुणे, in a common shed; in a common asylum.

7. Sayana does not comment on this verse,

Hymn-90

For verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.4 (536).

verse 2, Samaveda, I. 6.1.4.6 (528).

verses 2-4, Samaveda, II. 6.2.11. 1-3 (1408, 1409, 1410).

1. Rodasyoh janita, रोदस्योः जनिता, producer of heaven and earth. Soma is the generator of earth by giving rain and of heaven by obtaining the oblation, (तयोः जनयितृत्वं वृष्टिप्रदानहविष्प्रापणाभ्याम् —Sayana).

2. Varuno na sindhun, वरुणो न सिन्धून् as if the rivers meeting the ocean.

Hymn-91

For verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.11 (543).

1. Dhiya manoto prathamo manisi, the sacrifice is led by a chosen (प्रथम:) learned (मनोता) priest (मनीषी) (on whom the minds of the gods are fixed, chief (of the gods), recepient of praise, (मनोता यस्मिन् देवानां मनांस्योतानि प्रोतानि स:—तथा च ब्राह्मणं "तस्मिन्हि तेषां मनांस्योतानि —Ait. Br. II.10) इति । प्रथम: सर्वेषां देवानां: मुख्य: —the chosen one; the chief; मनीषी । मनस ईषा मनीषा स्तुति:, तद्वान —Sayana).

Manisa, मनीषा, praise; मनीषी, manisi, worthy of praise; the priest (मनीषी मेधाविनामानि —Nigh. III. 15).

5. Visvavara, विश्वस्वार, O universally adorable (विश्वै: सर्वैर्वरणीय —Sayana); worthy to be chosen by all.

6. Uru jyotimsi, उरु ज्योतींषि, brighten the luminaries (stars and constellations); diffuse the luminaries widely.

Sayana takes Uru (for uruni), with jyotimsi (उरु उरूणि अन्तरिक्षे विस्तीर्णानि कुरु, ज्योतींषि नक्षत्राणि —Sayana).

Hymn-92

2. Sapta viprah rsayah, सप्त विप्रा: ऋषय:, the seven wise seers (the names are Bharadvaja, भरद्वाज and Kasyapa, कश्यप; Gotama, गोतम and Atri, अत्रि; Visvamitra, विश्वामित्र and Jamadagni, जमदग्नि; and Vasistha, वसिष्ठ, (Venkata and Sayana).

3. Panca dhirah, पञ्चधीर:, five categories of people, पञ्चजनान् —Venkata.

4. Sapta nadyah yahvih, सप्त नद्य: यह्वी:, the seven mighty rivers.

Hymn-93

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II. 6.2.15 1 3 (1418-1420)

verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.6 (538).

1. Jah, जा:, जाया:, wives. The quarters of the horizons are known as sun's wives, because they are made manifest by the light of the sun, (सूर्यस्य जा: प्रादुर्भूता जाया दिशास्ता: —Sayana).

2. Vavasanah, वावशान:, loved by all and longing for the most divine (वावशान: देवान् कामयमान: —Sayana; कामयमान:, Venkata). Also, singing with mothers —Ludwig. An infant longs its mother and is sustained by her milk.

Samdadhanve, संदधन्वे, sustained has flowed with (lit.).

3. Aghnyayah udhah pra pisye, अघ्न्याया: ऊध: प्रपिप्ये, nourishes the cow's udder (अघ्न्या इति गोनाम, a cow, अहन्तव्याया: गो: ; ऊध:,the container of milk, i e. the Soma, प्रपिप्ये प्रकर्षेण आप्याययति, nourishes). The Soma, entering the herbs, nourishes the cow who eats them —Wilson.

4. Purandhih, the capacious mind (पुरन्धि: त्वदीया बहुविधा धी: —Sayana).

Usati, longing for those (उशती कामयमाना).

Rathirayatam, those who possess chariots (रथिरायताम्, रथो येषामस्तीति रथिरा: —Sayana).

May thy capacious mind longing for those who possess chariots come towards me (रथिरायतां उशती पुरन्धि: अस्मद्र्यक् आ दावने वसूनाम्)=may your capacious mind, speeding on cosmic chariots come towards us to bestow treasures on us, (वसूनां धनानां दावने दानाय).

Hymn-94

For verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.7 (539).

1. Spardhante, vies with each other (स्पर्धन्ते अहं पुरस्ताच्छोधयाम्यहं पुर: शोधयामीत्यहम हमिकयोप तिष्ठन्ति । ततोऽयं सोम:—each finger as if competes with the other, i e. accomplishing the work first (in the work of cleansing the Soma plant), each saying as if ! 'I would cleanse it first'; 'I would cleanse it first.'

2. Amrtasya dhama, अमृतस्य धाम, the abode of waters; the firmament.

Svasare, स्वसरे, at the place of sacrifice; the cow—stall; used in two senses (i) of the laudations on the day of sacrifice; (ii) of the kine towards their stall.

(स्वसरे । सुष्ठु अस्यन्ते प्रेर्यन्ते गावोऽत्रेति स्वसरो गोष्ठम् । तस्मिन्नच्छाभिलक्ष्य शब्दं कुर्वन्ति, तद्वत् —Sayana).

See I. 34.4; and II. 34.5

Hymn-95

For verse 3, See Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.12. (544).

2. Guhyani nama, the secret names (गुह्यानि अन्तर्हितानि नाम नामानि शरीराणि — Sayana); the secret forms of gods.

4. Duhanti, milks forth; the priests milk forth (दुहन्ति ऋत्विजो दुहते । "ग्रावाणो वासा ऋत्विजो दुहन्ति, Taitt. Sam. VI. 2.11.4).

Tritah, त्रितः, one who stays in three abodes, i.e. Indra.

Hymn-96

For verses 5 and 6, see Nir. (Appendix) XIII. 25 and 26 respectively.

For 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.1 (533).

verses 5-7, Samaveda, II. 3.1.19. 1-3 (943-945).

verse 5, Samaveda, I. 6.1.4.5 (527).

verse 13, Samaveda, I. 6.1.4.10. (532).

verses 17-19 Samaveda, II. 5.1.1. 1-3. (1175-1177).

1. Rabhasani, रभसानि, hastily made robes of Indra (आदत्ते सोमः वस्त्राणि पयांसि रभसानि वेगनिमित्तानि इन्द्रस्य --Venkata; रभसानि इन्द्रस्य वेगेनागमने निमित्तानि वस्त्राण्याच्छादकानि पयः प्रभृतीन्याश्रयणानि आ दत्ते आगृह्णाति —Sayana; here is a reference of mixing milk and curds to the Soma.

6. Devanam Brahma, the head or the King of gods or Brahama of the rtviks, i.e. the head priest (Brahmin) (देवानां ऋत्विजां ब्रह्मा —Venkata)

Padavih Kavinam, guide of the sages (कवीनां पदवी: पदानि स्खलितानि या गमयति स पदवी: —Venkata; कान्त प्रज्ञानां पदवी: स्खलित पदानि साधुत्वेन यो योजयति स पदवी: —Sayana; one who corrects the misguided or wrong—tracted ones.)

11. Vanvan avatah paridhin apa urnu hi, harming the foes (thyself) unharmed slay the Raksasas (वन्वन् अवात: अप ऊर्णु रक्षांसि सम्भजन् तैरनभिगतः रक्षांसि अप ऊर्णुहि —Venkata) (वन्वन् स्तोतॄन् संभजन्। यद्वा। वनति हिंसार्थ:। शत्रून् हिंसन्। अवात: नैरभिगतस्त्वं परिधीन् परिधीयत एभि: सर्वमिति परिधयो राक्षसा: तान् अपोर्णु हि अपच्छादय —Sayana).

14. Devavitau, in the Yajna or sacrifice (वीति:=भक्षणात्) (देव वीतौ देवानां वीति भक्षणं यस्मिन् स देववीतिर्यज्ञ:).

Vajayuh, desirous of food (वाजयु) । तेषामन्नं कामयमानस्त्वन् —Sayana).

Usriyabhih, with milk and milk products (उस्रियाभि: गोविकारै: क्षीरदधिभिश्च —Sayana).

17. Kavih gih'bhi kavyana kavih, secret seer or post with words of wisdom; poet with his poem. The word kavi means wise, seer or a poet. Soma passes through the filter whilst the songs of praises continue. The Soma itself is the kavi, (सोऽयं कवि कर्मणैव कवि सन् सोम: पवित्रं प्रति गच्छति रेभन् शब्दायमान: —Venkata).

19. Turiyam, dhama, the fourth region, the svah loka; the region of Soma or moon (the region of the moon has been wrongly supposed to be above that of the Sun" (तुरीयं चतुर्थं धाम चान्द्रमसं स्थानं विवक्ति सेवते। सूर्यलोकस्योपरि चन्द्रमसो लोक विद्यत इति+यम: पृथिव्यामधिपति: स मावतु इत्यादिभि चन्द्रमा नक्षत्राणामधिपति: स मावतु) —Tait Sam. III. 4.5.1.

20. Maryo na subhrah, मर्यो न शुभ्र:, like a highly brightened (neat and clean, and decorated man).

Camvoh, चम्वो:, planks or ladles (चम्वो: अधिषवण फलकयो: —Venkata)— see also the next verse 21.

23. Vanesu, among trees (वनेषु वृक्षषु —Venkaia)

24. Yoseva, योषेव, like a lady (स्त्री इव —Venkata).

Hymn-97

For verses, 34, 35, 40 and 41 see Nir. (appendix) XIII. 27; 28; 29; and 30 respectively.

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II. 6.2.8. 1-3 (1399, 1400, 1401).

verse 1, Samavda, I, 6.1,4.4 (526).

verse 4, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5 3 (535).

verses 7-9, Samaveda, II. 4.2.1. 1-3 (1116-1118).

verse 1, Samaveda, I. 6.1.4.2 (524).

verses 10-12, Samaveda, II. 3 2.20. 1-3 (1019-1021).

verse 10, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.8 (540).

verses 13-15, Samaveda, II, 2.1.11. 1-3 (806-808) (with the 2nd person instead of the 3rd).

verse 22, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.5. (537).

verse 31, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.2. (534).

verses 34-36, Samaveda, II. 2.2.10. 1-3 (859-861).

verse 34, Samaveda, I. 6.1.4,3. (523).

verses 37-39, Samaveda, II. 6.1.4. 1-3 (1357-1359).

verses 40-42, Samaveda, II. 5.2.1. 1-3 (1253, 1255, 1254).

verse 40, Samaved, I. 6.1.4.7, (529).

verses 49-51. Samaveda, II. 6.2.18. 1-3 (1426, 1427, 1428).

verses 52-54, Samareda, II. 4.1.21. 1-3 (1104-1106).

verse 52, Samaveda, I. 6.1.5.9. (541).

3. Dhanva, धन्वा=धन्व, in the firmament. (धन्व=अन्तरिक्षं, Nigh. I. 3, Venkata).

Abhi svar dhanva puyamanah, sound aloud in the firmament when purified (अभिस्वर शब्दस्य धन्वा अन्तरिक्षे पूयमानः —Venkata; अभि स्वर अभितः शब्दय —Sayana).

Yuyam pata svastibhih sada nah, may you protect us now and ever with your blessings (यूयं पूजार्थं बहुवचनम् । हे सोम, त्वं न : अस्मान् स्वस्तिभिः कल्याणतमैः पालनैः सदा सर्वदा पात रक्षत पालयत —Sayana).

7. Pada varahah achi eti rebhan, पदा वराहः अभि एति रेहम्, making a roar like a wild boar with the foot, (Venkata and Sayana both refer to another etymology of varaha, वराहारः* (effused on a good day, vara—good; ahan—day), which is an epithet of Soma (cf. Nir. V. 4); in that case, पदा (pada) is for पदानि (padani), meaning the abodes, i.e. the filters." (वराहः वरं च तदहश्च वराहः । पदा पदानि स्थानानि पात्राणि —Sayana).

See Nir. V. 4 for varaha.

8. Vrsaganas, वृषगणः, posts of heroes.

Trpalam, तृपलं, assailed by or readily assailing enemies, (तृपलंन् । तृपललशब्दः क्षिप्र वाची । "तृप प्रहारी । क्षिप्र प्रहारी" । सृप्र प्रहारी । सोमो वेन्द्रो वा । —Nir. V. 12 on तृपल प्रभर्मा —X. 89.5) —Soma or Indra is so called whose anger is roused and who rushes to attack, who is quick to attack or who attacks while moving.

Amat, अमात्, terrified by the strength of the enemies (अमात् शत्रूणां बलात् त्रासितः सन्तः —Sayana).

Hunsasah, swans; also wounded by the enemy (हंसासः शत्रुभिर्हन्यमाना हंसा हरन्तो वा —Sayana).

9. Diva harih dadrse, The Soma (elixir) appears golden-hued (or young) by day. (दिवा अहनि हरिः हरितवर्णः ददृशे दृश्यते न प्रकाशत इत्यर्थः —Sayana).

Varahah, means a cloud; it brings √hr, हृ, the best means of livelihood. There is a Brahamana passage; वरमाहारमहार्षीः (untraced), —Nir. V. 4.

Sayana explains this to mean that the Soma is not visible in the day light; the word ऋज्रः (rjrah) which he interprets straight-going (ऋजुगामी विस्पष्टः प्रकाशयुक्तो दृश्यते), i.e. clearly visible; red or brown; the Soma is visible in the night (नक्तं) only.

17. Sam'gayim, शम्‌ग्‍यीम्, inhabiting happiness (शंगयीं सुखस्य निवासभूता —Sayana); health-giving.

Idavattm, इळावतीं, one rich in food; food-giving.

Stukena vita kantani —Move like kinsmen seeking infants or seeking these lower winds (अवरान् वायून्) thy kinsmen (इमान् बन्धून्) as (one seeking his) beloved infant (स्तुकेव वीता) (स्तुक शब्दो अपत्यवचनः। अपत्यानि यथा विचिनोषि तद्वत् —Sayana).

Vicinvan, seeking (विचिन्वन् धनादिप्रदानार्थम् गवेषणामानः सन् —Sayana) (स्तुक like तुक् तोकम्—अपत्यनाम —Nigh. II. 2).

Indra and the winds are in the relation of praised and praiser, and thus they are bandhu (kinsmen).

22. Ksoh, क्षोः, of the sounding one; vociferous, noisy (क्षोः शब्दायमानस्य —Sayana).

Anike, in front of (अनीके मुखे).

Dharmani, धर्मणि, reason of the praise (धर्मणि निमित्तात्कर्म संयोगे, Panini II. 3.36.6 इति सप्तमी। धारकं योगक्षेम विषयं कर्मोद्दिश्य —Sayana)—the duty of acqu sition (योग) and preservation (क्षेम).

24. Dvita, द्विता, the Soma is two-fold. i.e. abides amongst men and gods both (द्विता द्विधा देवेष्वपि मनुष्येषु—Venkata, Sayana).

34. Tisrovacah, तिस्रोवाचः, the triple speech. the three texts (Rk, Yajuh and the Saman, poem, prose and lyric).

Vahnih, वह्निः, yajama, the bearer of oblations; also Aditya, the sun (   ); also.

Brahmanah, the supreme, i.e. the Soma. In the adhidaivata context, vahni is the sun but in the Adhyatmika, it is the self (वह्निरात्मा भवति; the three speeches (वाक्) are Vidya, Mati, and Buddhi, (Nir. XIII. 27—an appendex)

35. The Nirukta in the appendix (XIII. 28) gives both the types of meaning, the adhidivat, and then adhyatma; in the former, gavah dhenavah, गाव: धेनव:, the milch—kine are the sun's rays (रश्मय:); in the latter, they are the sense organs (इन्द्रियाणि). They long for the Soma, which in the former case is the sun, (सोमं आदित्यं), and in the latter, the self (सोमं आत्मनम्). In both the cases, the wise men (विप्रा:) are inquiring for him (i.e. for rays or for sense organs) with praises (मतिभि:).

In the former case, our adorations in the Tristubh metre are united in the Soma and in the latter, the adorations are united in Atman and the seven seers (Nir. Appendix XIII. 28).

(एत एव सोमं गावो धेनवो रश्मयो वावश्यमाना: आदित्यं यन्ति । एवमेव सोमं विप्रा रश्मयो मतिभि: पृच्छमाना कामयमाना : आदित्यं यन्ति—अधिदैवत; एतएव सोमं गावो धेनव इन्द्रियाणि वावश्यमानानि कामयमनान्यात्मानं यन्ति—अध्यात्मम्; एतमेवार्काश्च त्रिष्टुभश्च संनवन्ते—अधिदैवत; इममेवात्मा च सप्त ऋषयश्च संनवन्ते—अध्यात्म).

39. Padaynah, पदज्ञा:, knower of the hiding places of cattle, stolen by Panis (पणिभिरपहृतानां गवां पदानि जानन्त: —Sayana).

Svarvidah, the all-knowing; the knower of the sun of enlightenment (स्वर्विद: सर्वज्ञा: सूर्यं जानन्तो वा —Sayana).

Gah adrim usnan, गा: अद्रिं उष्णान्, stole the cattle from rock; found the stolen cows concealed in the caves behind the rocks (उष्=मुष्=इष्णान् in the Samaveda).

47. Trivarutham, three-fold protection (from heat, cold and rains, त्रय: शीतातपवर्षा: । तेषां निवारकं त्रिवरूथयम् —Sayana).

48. Camvoh, चम्वो:, into the cups or the pressing boards (चम्वो: अधिषवण फलकयो: —Sayana).

52. Pava, पवा, neat and pure; with pure stream (पवा पवमानया धारया).

Sarasi, in waters known as the Vasativari (सरसि उदके वसतीवर्याख्ये)

Note :—The word Vasativari nowhere occurs in the Rgveda. It is a term coined in the Brahmanic period.

Vato na jutah, speedy like the wind (वात: न इव जूत: वेगित: —Sayana).

Puru'medhah cit, पुरुमेध: चित्, full of enlightenment ; the object of many sacrifices (पुरमेधश्चित् बहुविधयज्ञ इन्द्रश्चिद् इन्द्रोऽपि).

Takave, तकवे, approaching (Soma) ; moving towards the Soma (तकवे । तकतिर्गति कर्मसु पठित: —Nigh. II.14 ; अस्मादौणादिक उन्प्रत्यय: । सोममभिगच्छते स्तुतिभि: —Sayana).

54. Manscatve, मांश्चत्वे, in a fight on horse-back ; (अश्वै क्रियामाणयुद्धे —Venkata); synonym of horse, मांश्चत्व:=horse, —Nigh. I.14 ; a battle (मांश्चत्वे । अश्वनामैतत् मक्षु चरतीति । अश्वै: क्रियमाणयुद्धे । तत्साध्यत्वाद्युद्धमिह गृह्यते —Sayana).

Prsane पृशने, a personal combat : an arm-fight (पृशने स्पर्शनसाध्ये बाहुयुद्धे —Venkata ; Sayana).

55. Sam tri pavitra vitatani, सं त्री पवित्रा विततानि, three out-stretched filters ; these filters are agni (fire), vayu (wind) and surya (the sun) — Venkata.

Ekam, the fleecy or woollen filter (एकं आविकं – Venkata ; अविवालकृतं पवित्रं —Sayana).

56. Drapsan, drops of sap (द्रप्सान् रसकणान् —Sayana).

Avyam varam, अव्यं वारम्, the filter of sheep wool.

57. Kavayo na grdhrah, worshippers of praisers greedy of wealth like a vulture, (कवयो न गृध्रा: धनमभिकांक्षमाणा: स्तोतार:).

Hymn-98

For verse 1, Samaveda, 1.6.2.1.5 (549) and (II.5.1.16.1 (1238) अभि changed to अभी).

verse 3, Samaveda, II.5.1.16.3 (1240).

verse 5, Samaveda, II.5.1.16.2 (1239).

verse 6, Samaveda. II.5.2.18.2 (1330).

verse 7, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.8 (552); II.5.2.18.1 (1329) and II.8.2.8.3 (1681).

verse 10, Samaveda. II 5.2.18.3 (1331) and II.8.2 8.1 (1679) with viraya for devaya.

verse 12, Samaveda, II.8.2,8.2 (1680).

2. Druna hitah, while poured (हित:) through the pot (द्रुणा, द्रोणकलशेन).

Druna has been taken by Sayana with हियान: hiyanah (तेन पूयमाण:), and hitah is explained as "sent forth on all sides", or "praised by the worshippers." (द्रुणा द्रुममयेन द्रोणकलशेन हियान: । तेन पूयमाण: सन् "हि गतौ वृद्धौ च".

Varma. mail, cover for body (वर्म कवचं —Sayana).

Avyayam, अव्ययं, woollen filter (अविमयं पवित्रम्).

12. Surayah sakhayah, intelligent friends or praisers (सूरय: प्राज्ञ: ; सखाय: स्तोतार: —Sayana).

Vajagandhyam, food or Soma with flavour and fragrance (वाजगन्ध्यं बलकर साधुगन्धोपेतं सोमम् —Sayana).

Hymn-99

The Rsis (seers) are the two Rebhasunus of the family of Kasyapa (रेभसूनौ काश्यपौ), Rebhasunu means the son of Rebha.

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.7 (551)

verse 2, Samaveda, II.8.1.6.1 (1631).

verse 3, Samaveda, II.8.1.6.2 (1632).

verse 4, Samaveda, II.8.1.6.3 (1633).

1. Nirnijam vayanti, निर्णिजं वयन्ति, spread out the bright (or white) cosmic filter ; they weave a garment (Wilson).

3. Gavah, गाव: , cows ; pura nunam surayah, पुरा नूनं सूरय: , men of wisdom, now and of old, Sayana gives another fanciful interpretation of gavah—"which the cows take up in their mouths, "eating it in the form of grass (गाव: गन्तार: सूरय: स्तोतार: पुरा च नूनं इदानीं च यं सोमरसं आसभि: आस्यै:दधु: धारयन्ति । पिबन्तीति यावत् । यद्वा । गावो धेनवो यं सोमं तृणादिष्ववस्थितमासभिरास्यैर्दधुर्धारयन्ति तृणरूपेण भक्षयन्ति —Sayana).

Hymn-100

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.6 (550).

verse 6, Samaveda, II.3.2.19.1 (1016) with vajasataye.

verse 7, Samaveda, II.3.2.19.2 (1017).

verse 9, Samaveda, II.3.2.19.3 (1018).

Hymn-101

For verses 1-3 (with variations), Samaveda, II.1.1.18.1-3 (697, 698, 699).

verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.2.2.1 (545).

verses 4-6, Samaveda, II.2.2.15.1-3 (872-874).

verse 4, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.3 (547).

verses 7-9, Samaveda, II.2.1.16.1-3 (818-820).

verse 7, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.2 (546).

verses 10-12, Samaveda, II.4.1.20.1-3 (1101-1103).

verse 10, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.4 (548).

verse 13-15, Samaveda, II.6.2.3. 1-3 (1386-1388).

verse 13, Samaveda, I.6.2.1.9 (553) and II.2.1.2.22.3 (774).

13. Bhrgavah, भृगव: , brilliant ones.

Makham, मखं, villain.

Aradhasam svanam apahata, अराधसं श्वानं अपहता, drive off the dog, the greedy (अराधसं संसाधककर्मरहितम् —Sayana).

Martah na vrta tat vacah, मर्त: न वृत तत् वच: , let no mortal hear the sound (let no mortal come to know it) (तत् वच: वचनं घोषं मर्त: मारक: कर्मभंजनकारी श्वा —Sayana, dog, obstructing in the sacred rites).

Hymn-102

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.3.2.18, 1-3 (1013-1015) (with prana for krana)

verse 1, Samaveda, I.6 2.3.5 (570).

verse 4, Samaveda, I 2.1.1 5 (101) with variations.

2. Sapta dhamam, seven abodes or supports (of Yajna), i.e., seven metres (Gayatri) etc.), or Sapta may mean Sarpanasilah (सप्त सर्पणशील:) derived from √सृप्, "they effused the Soma with the Vasativari water." (सप्तसर्पणशीलैर्वसतीवर्यादिभिरुदकै: सोममभिषुण्वन्ति —Sayana ; यज्ञस्य सप्तभि: धारकैश्छन्दोभि: प्रियं सोमं अभिष्टुवन्ति, or सप्तभि: उदकै: अभिषुण्वन्ति, they praise the Soma with seven metres or effuse it with seven waters — Venkata).

3. Yojana, योजना, measures out hymns ; Yojanani, means "roads" or stages. See I.18 5. where Sayana says Yojana is "a means for inducing the gods to yoke their horses. i.e., a hymn (योजना योजनानि योजन-कारीणि स्तोत्राणि —Sayana).

4. Seven mothers, सप्त मातर: , may be seven waters of seven rivers, or seven rivers.

8. Rtasya didhitim, ऋतस्य दीधितिम्, lustre of the rite (दीधतिं धारकं रसं ; ऋतस्य: यज्ञस्य —Sayana).

Hymn-103

For verse 1, Samaveda, I 6.2.3 8 (573).

2. Tri sadhastha, त्री सधस्था, three stations, i.e., the drona-kalasa (the wooden cask), a adhavaniya, (that into which the Soma may run) and the putabhrt, —द्रोणकलश, आधवनीय, पूतभृत, "holding the filtered Soma".

3. Sapta rsinam vanih, सप्तऋषीणां वाणी: , the speech of seven rsis.

4. Camvoh, चम्वो: , cups (IX 97.48)

5. Vaghadbhih vaghat, वाघद्भिः वाघत्, praised by the praisers or priests ; or carried by the priests or fetching wealth for the worshippers. (पुनान: पूयमान: वाघत् उह्यमान: वाघद्भि: ऋत्विग्भि· —Venkata ; वाघद्भि: ऋत्विग्भि: पुनान: पूयमान: वाघत् स्तोतॄणां यतॄणां धनादीनि प्रापयन् परिगच्छ —Sayana); [वाघात इति ऋत्विङ्नाम; वाघत्=priest ; Nigh. III 18].

Hymn-104

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.4.2.9.1-3.

verse 1, Samaveda, I.6 2.3.3.

Hymn-105

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.4.1.9.1-3 (1157-1159.)

verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.4 (569).

verses 4-6, Samaveda, II.7.3.20.1-3 (1611-1613) with variations.

verse 4, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.10 (575).

Hymn-106

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.1.1.17.1-3 (694-696).

verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.1 (566).

verse 4, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.2 (567).

verses 7-9, Samaveda, II.5.2.17.1-3 (1326-1328).

verse 7, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.6 (571).

verses 10-12, Samaveda, II.3.1.18.1-3 (940-942).

verse 10, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.7 (572).

verse 13, Samaveda, I.6.2.3.11 (576) and II.1.2.22.2 (773).

verse 14, Samaveda, II.1.2.22.1 (772).

2. Sutah ayam somah indrasya pavate, it, the effused elixir, is squeezed and filtered for the resplendent self, or, this munificient effused Soma is filtered for Indra's sustenance (Wilson).

Bharaya sanasi, inspirer in putting a fight (against evils and evil-doers); worthy of being invoked at the time of battle (भराय संग्रामाय तदर्थं सानसि भजनीयः —Sayana).

3. Apsujit, conquering in waters (अप्सुजित् उदकार्थं वृत्रस्य नेता, conquering the Vrtra in waters or for the sake of waters; or conquering ahi in the firmament.

Apah, आप: =antariksa, firmament, Nigh. I.3).

11. Dhibhih, धीभि: , by the praises ; by the fingers (धीभि: स्तुतिभि: ; वर्णलोपश्छान्दस: । धीभि:=धीतिभि: अङ्गुलीभि: —Venkata ; also Scyana).

13. Harih ati, हरि: अति, the green tinted elixir proceeds (हरि: हरितवर्ण: अति गच्छति —Venkata).

Devayuh, desirous of or desired by gods or Nature's bounties (देवयु: देवकाम: —Venkata. देवान् कामयमान: —Sayana).

Hymn-107

For verse 9, see Nir. V.3.

For verse 2, Samaveda, II.5.2.12.2 (1314).

verse 3, Samaveda, II.5.2.12.3 (1315).

verses 4-5, Samaveda, II.1.1.9.1-2 (675, 676)

verse 4, Samaveda, I 6.1.3.1 (511).

verse 6, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.9 (519).

verses 8 and 9, Samaveda, II.3.2.12.1-2 (997-998).

verse 8, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.5 (515).

verses 10 and 11, Samaveda, II.8.2.12.1-2 (1689, 1690).

verse 10, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.3 (513).

verses 12 and 13, Samaveda, II.1.2.20.1-2 (767, 768).

verse 12, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.4 (514).

verses 14-16, Samaveda, II.2.2.9.1-3 (856-858).

verse 14, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.8 (518).

verse 17, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.10 (520).

verse 19, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.6 (516) and II.3.1.11.1 (922).

verse 20, Samaveda, II.3.1.11.2 (923) (with variations).

verses 21 and 22, Samaveda, II.4.1-12.1-2 (1079, 1080), with variations).

verse 23, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.11 (521) with several variations.

verse 25, Samaveda, I.6.1.3.12 (522).

6. Angirastamah, अंगरिस्तम: , most prominent among body fluids. (अंगिरसां वरिष्ठ: पितृणां नेता —Sayana).

9. Anupe aksah, अनूपे अक्षा: , goes to the reservoir placed at a lower level (अनूपे निम्ने देशे कलशे —Sayana).

When the cowherd dwells with kine in a watery place, Soma flows from the milked cows.

Aksah, अक्षा: , is formed from √अश्, to go (अश्नोतेरित्येवमेके), (X.89.6 सोमो अक्षा:). Soma scholars think that the word aksah, means to dwell in the former and to flow in the latter quotation. When the cowherd dwells with kine in a watery place, then Soma flows from the milked kine. According to Sakapuni, in all quotations, the word aksah means 'to dwell'. (क्षियतिनिगम: पूर्व: क्षरति निगम उत्तर इत्येके । अनूपे गोमान् गोभिर्यदा क्षियत्यथ सोमो दुग्धाभ्य: क्षरति । सर्वे क्षियति निगमा इति शाकपूणि: —Nir. V 3).

Somah dugdhabhih aksah, Soma is mixed with milk and curds in the pitcher.

Tosate, तोशते, is beaten (तोशतिर्वधकर्मा —Venkata ; नितोशते=वधकर्माणः —Nigh. II.19).

14. Ayavah somasah, आयवः सोमासः , swift (आयवः गमनशीलाः —Sayana).
Samudrasya adhivistapi, filter placed on the water vessel ; (समुद्रस्य अन्तरिक्षस्य, of the firmament, अधिविष्टपि अधिकं समुच्छ्रिते पवित्रे, upon the uplifted filter —Sayana).

Hymn–108

For verses 1 and 2, Samaveda, II.1.1.16.1-2 (692, 693).

verse 1, Samaveda, I.6.2.4.1 (578).

verses 3 and 4, Samaveda, II.3.1.17.1-2 (938, 939).

verse 3, Samaveda, I.6 2.4.6 (583).

verses 5 and 6, Samaveda, I.6.2.4.7-8 (584, 585).

verses 7 and 8, Samaveda, II.6.2.6.1-2 (1394, 1395).

verse 7, Samaveda, I.6.2.4.3 (580).

verses 9 and 10, Samaveda, II.3,2.17.1-2 (1011, 1012).

verse 9, Samaveda, I.6.2.4.2 (579).

verse 11, Samaveda, I.6.2.4.4 (581).

verses 13 and 14, Samaveda, II.4.1.18.1-2 (1096, 1097).

verse 13, Samaveda, I.6.2.4.5 (582).

8. Rtena ya rtajata viva' vrdha raja deva rtam brhat—Soma is devartam, देवऋतं, divine and embodiment of eternal truth ; brhat, बृहत्, extensive and great or true and vast rtajatah, ऋतजातः , brought to the cosmic sacrifice ; rtena vivrdhe, ऋतेन विवृधे, mixed, dressed, fostered by or increased with water. Or, (pour it fourth) for the race of the gods, which water-born is fostered by the water, the king, the gods, the true, the great—Wilson.

Payovrdham, पयोवृधं, mixed with milk, dressed with milk ; augmenter of water.

Hymn-109

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.6.1.8.1-3 (1367, 1369, 1368).

verse 1, Samaveda, I.5.1.5.1 (427).

verses 4-6. Samaveda, II.5.1.17.1-3 (1241, 1242, 1243).

verse 4, Samaveda, I.5 1.5.3 (429)

verse 7, Samaveda, I.5.1.5.10 (436)

verses 10-12, Samaveda, II.5-2.19.1-3 (1332, 1333, 1334).

verse 10, Samaveda, I.5.1.5.4 (430).

verse 13, Samaveda, I.5.1.5.5 (431).

verses 16-18, Samaveda, II.4.2.10.1-3 (1160, 1161, 1162) (with variations).

Hymn-110

For verse 5, see Nir. V.4.

For verses 1-3, Samaveda, II.6.1.7.1-3 (1364, 1366, 1365).

verse 1, Samaveda, I.5.1.5.2 (428).

verse 4. Samaveda. II.7.1.7.3 (1508).

verse 5, Samaveda, II.7.1.7.2 (1507).

verse 6, Samaveda, II.7.1.3.2 (1495).

verse 7, Samaveda, II.7.1.7.1 (1506).

verse 8, Samaveda, II.5.1 11.3 (1227).

verse 9, Samaveda, II.7.1.3.3 (1496) (with variations).

5. Saryabhih, with fingers (saryah, शर्याः means fingers : they create works ; saryah, means arrows ; they are made of saccharum sara (शर). Sara (arrow) is derived from √शॄ, to rend.

(शर्या अंगुलयो भवन्ति, सृजन्ति कर्माणि । शर्या इषवःशरमय्यः । शर श्रृणातेः —Nir. V.4; Nigh. II.5.

Saryabhih na bharamanah gabhastyoh, शर्याभिः न भरमाणः गभस्त्योः, as with arrows one (pierces), supporting (a bow) with two arms.

Hymn-111

For verse 1, Samaveda, I.5.2.3.7 (463).

verses 1, 2, 3, Samaveda, II.7.3.10 (1590, 1592, 1591) with some variations.

1. Rkvibhih, with the Rkvans, with grand splendours ; with encomiastic splendours (the word at two places has two meanings. According to Sayana, the first one means स्तुतिमद्भिः, or praises and the second तेजोभिः. The seven mouths (सप्तास्येभिः) are for taking Soma juices.

Hymn-112

For verse 3, see Nir. VI.6.

3. I am a bard (कारुः), my father (तत) is physician (भिषक्), my mother (नना) a stone-grinder (उपलप्रक्षिणी), planning in various ways, desirous of wealth, we live, following (others) like cattle ; flow Some ; flow for Indra's sake.

I am a bard, i.e., composer of hymns (कर्ता स्तोमानां). My father is a physician. The word ततः, tatah, is a synonym of offspring ; it means father or son (तत इति सन्तानानाम । पितुर्वा । पुत्रस्य वा ।). Stone-grinder, i.e., one who prepares barley meal (उपलप्रक्षिणीसक्तुकारिका).

Nana, नना, derived from √नम्, means either mother or daughter (नना नमतेः । माता वा । दुहिता वा ।) Planning in various ways, i.e., working in various ways (नानाधिया नाना कर्माणः). Desirous of wealth, lovers of wealth (वसूयवो वसुकामाः). We follow the world like kine. —Nir. VI.6.

4. Sepah romanvantau bhedau, शेपो रोमण्वन्तो भेदौ, The masculine is attracted towards the pleasure of the feminine grace. (शेपः । शेपो वैतस इति पुंस्प्रजननस्य —Nir. III 21 ; यथा शेपः रोमण्वन्तौ भेदौ इच्छति —Sayana ; शेपः शपतेः स्पृशतिकर्मणः । वैतसो वितस्त भवति.

Sepah, शेप., and Vaitasah, वैतसः, are synonyms of penis. Sepah is derived from √शप्, meaning to touch. Vaitasah ; it is faded — Nir. III.21).
X.85. 37 ; and for वैतस —"Thrice during the day, hast thou embraced me ; त्रिः स्म माह्नः श्नथयो वैतसेन —X.95.5.

Hymn-113

1. Saryanavati, शर्यणावति, see earlier references ; (I.84.14 ; VIII.6 39 ; 7.29 ; 64.11 , IX.65.22) ; in the Saryanavat i e., at the seat of the innermost consciousness. (In the vicinity of the lake, saryanavat, of the Kuruksetra country Jaimini Brahmana, III 64).

2 Arjikat, आर्जीकात्, on the bank of a river (the Vedic name, later on given to a region along the river, known as Beas in the Punjab; the country of Rjikas, (ऋजीकानाम दूरभव आर्जीको जनपदः —Sayana) ; also from a straight or plain, and hence sacred region rju, straight ; not crooked; आर्जीकात् ऋजोरकुटिलात् पवित्रात् क्षरं —Sayana ; आर्जीकीयां विपाडित्या ऋजीकप्रभवा वा । ऋजुगामिनी वा —Nir. IX.26 ; Arjikiya is called Vipas, विपाश्, so called because it rises in rjuka, or it flows in straight line).

6. Gravna some mahiyate somena anandam janayan, engendering the delight (सोमेन आनन्द जनयन्) shows his prowess (महीयते) with the grinding stone (ग्राव्ण) upon the Soma (सोमे) —Wilson (पवमान ! यत्र ब्रह्मा ब्राह्मणः छन्दस्यां छन्दसे हितां छन्दस्कृतां वाचं वदन् अभिषवग्राव्णा युक्तःसोमे देवैः पूज्यते, सोमेन देवाना आनन्दं जनयत् । तत्र इन्द्राय इन्दो ! परि स्रव —Venkata).

10. Kamah, wishes (कामा: काम्यमाना देवा: —Sayana).

Nikamah, निकामा: , desires (निकामा: नितरामवश्यं प्रार्थ्यमाना इन्द्रादय: —Sayana).

Bradhnasya vistapam, abode of the sun (ब्रध्नस्य सूर्यस्य आदित्यस्य विष्टपं स्थानम् —Venkata ; (ब्रध्नस्य सर्वेषां प्रज्ञापकस्य, the revealer of every one, यद्वा सूर्येण विना कर्माणि न घटन्त इति सर्वेषां कर्मणा मूलभूतस्यादित्यस्य विष्टपं महस्थान यत्र विद्यते तत्र लोके—Sayana ; because nothing is done in absence of daylight, hence, the root cause of daylight, is known as the sun.

11. Ananda, moda, muda and pramuda, आनन्दाश्च मोदाश्च मुद: प्रमुद: , shades of differences as in bliss, joy, happiness and pleasure. (अल्पभेदो द्रष्टव्य: —Sayana; आनन्दादीनां सूक्ष्मो भेद: —Venkata).

Hymn-114

1. Rse, O rsi, the one with penetrating vision (ऋषे सूक्ष्मदृष्टर्हे ! —Sayana).

Kasyapah, कश्यप: = पश्यक: the seer.

Girah, गिर: , words of praise, स्तुतिरूपा वाच: .

Namasya, offer obeisance ; adore (नमस्य पूजय ; नमस: पूजायां "नमो वरिव" इति क्यच् —Sayana).

Mantra' krtam, मंत्रकृताम्, hymn-makers ; the seers ; the interpreters of the divine speech.

3. Nanasuryah, नानासूर्या: , the numerous suns, since they cause numerous seasons (नानालिंगत्वाद् ऋतूनां नाना सूर्यत्वम् —Tait. Ar. I.7.6 —Nanasuryah, may be qualifying disah or numerous quarters (नाना सूर्या इति दिग्विशेषणम् —Sayana).

Sapta hotarah, सप्त होतार: , the seven invokers or priests.

Sapta disah, सप्तदिश: seven cardinal points or quarters.

Sapta adityes, the seven suns, born of mother Aditi, (सप्त अदितेः पुत्राः, सप्त आदित्याः —Venkata), cf. अष्टौ पुत्रासो अदितेः —X.72.8 (सप्त आदित्याः अदितेः पुत्रा धात्रादयो मार्तण्ड वर्जिताः =Sayana, Dhatr etc. eight Adityas minus Martanda).
ओ३म्

RIG VEDA

॥ ऋग्वेद ॥

VOL. XII खण्ड

Complete in 12 vols.

Mantras in Sanskrit with English Translation and Transliteration

Translated by

Swami Satya Prakash Saraswati
Satyakam Vidyalankar

The enduring teachings of the Vedas are not a relic of the past, nor are they the exclusive preserve or the sole inheritance of Indians and Indo-Aryans. They belong to the common heritage of humanity and are relevant in our contemporary world and in our age. We owe it to ourselves and to the peoples and the nations of the world to share this precious heritage and to disseminate its message and meaning.

The Vedas have been translated into several languages. Scholars like Griffith, Wilson and Max Muller have written commentaries on the Vedas in English. But the need for bringing out an authentic and standard translation of the Vedas has been felt for quite sometime.

To meet the need of a modern, easy to understand English translation of the Vedas, the Veda Pratishthan of DAV College Managing Committee, New Delhi had been publishing complete translation of the four Vedas in twenty-two volumes since 1977.

This new 2008 edition has far superior production values and is priced at less then one-fourth of the price it was being sold so far.

❑

RIG VEDA

ऋग्वेद

Volume XII
[Book X, Hymns 87–191]

English Translation
by Swami Satya Prakash Saraswati
and Satyakam Vidyalankar

द्वादशो भागः
[दशमं मण्डलम्, सूक्तानि 87—191]

DAV Publication Division
(Veda Pratishthan)
Arya Samaj Building, UP Block,
Pitampura, Delhi-110034

Contents

Epilogue

by

Swami Satya Prakash Saraswati

In 1967, I retired from the University Professorial Chair, and for a few years I continued in my University of Allahabad as a research professor. In 1971, I entered into the holy discipline of Sannyāsa. As a devotee of Maharshi Dayananda Saraswati, I was deeply interested in the study of the Vedas, the Upanishads and the Upangas. In the early months of 1974, my friend, an eminent figure, Shri Prakash Vir Shastry, whom I had known for the past several years, sounded me if I could help the Veda Pratishthana, New Delhi, (of which another friend of mine. Dr. Govardhan Lal Datta was the Chairman) in editing and translating the four Vedic Samhitas, the Rik, the Yajur, the Sama and the Atharva, and he promised that he would arrange with a number of Sanskrit scholars to help me in the project. I assured Shri Prakash Vir (a unique and distinguished Parliamentarian, and a person richly endowed with human qualities) that I would be able to undertake the task, if I could be assured of a decent and neat printing.

In the meanwhile, we had to face all types of difficulties. We decided among ourselves to work on the Rig Veda first which, if completed, would mean half of the entire Job finished (since out of the total mantras 20,416, the Rig Veda alone has 10,589 mantras). I am thankful to my colleague, Pandit Satyakama Vidyalankar, a scholar, writer and an editor of repute; he worked with me incessantly for about ten years on the Rig Veda. For days together, we sat at different centres — New Delhi, Bombay, Khapoli, Hyderabad, Hardwar, Chandigarh, Kanpur, Allahabad and Meerut, thankfully enjoyed the hospitality of our numerous hosts and patiently discussed each and every verse. On the Rig Veda, the commentaries of Skandasvami, Udgitha, Venkata Madhava and Sayana are available. Swami Dayananda (1824-83) gave us a new insight into the meanings of the Vedas, but his life was cut short, and as such, his translation on the Rig Veda could proceed up to Book VII, Hymn 61, verse 2 only.

Our task was much more difficult than of Griffith and of Wilson. Wilson completed his translation near about 1857-58. W.F. Webster who revised and edited Wilson's translation before print writes in his Preface (1868) thus: "The distinguishing feature of Prof. Wilson's translation, whether for good, or for evil, is its adherence to Sayana, and this, so far from modifying, I have, if anything, intensified." He further says: "Professor Wilson has, it seems to me, translated Sayana's paraphrase, rather than the original text, and has often used a stilted or a prosaic word instead of the homely, quaint or a poetic word, which the original suggests."

Both Venkata Madhava and Sayana represented post-Mahabharata traditions of scholarship, when the Vedic texts were taken out of their real contexts, and were forced upon to be utilized for ritual-ridden traditions. By this time, they had ceased to inspire and arouse the static lifeless society of India. Both Dayananda and Aurobindo could see deeper meanings into the lines of the Vedic mantras. Long long ago, much before the currency of traditional rituals, they inspired the Aryan society to develop its culture, its philosophy and its sciences; it inspired the Risis of the Upanishads in the spiritual parameter as well.

The Vedas have come down to us in a language, which was original, most natural, and which had to be interpreted on the etymological principles outlined by Yaska, and which have been further elaborated by Dayananda and Aurobindo. In this context, Aurobindo says: "It was the curiosity of a foreign culture that broke after many centuries the seal of final authoritativeness which Sayana had fixed "on the ritualistic interpretation of the Veda." While even Western scholars were feeling shy of breaking this seal of ritualistic interpretation (in fact, they further tightened it up), it goes to the credit of Dayananda in freeing the Vedic mantras from the ritualistic viniyoga. These Vedas, in our earliest human history, inspired mankind with dynamism in all walks of life—they inspired a farmer, a labourer, a soldier, a businessman and a householder in his daily routine life, and on the other hand inspired a mystic, a sage, a devotee, a seer in spiritual parameters and as such, they encouraged the Arya of our ancient times to evolve a theistic benevolent dynamic society based on morality and high values of life.

And, therefore, I say, our task was much more difficult than of Griffith, Max Muller, Wilson and others who translated the Vedic hymns mainly on the basis of Sayana's interpretations. Vedas do not constitute a text for anthropolgical, archaelogical or mythological (history and culture) studies. Aurobindo has very ably discussed all these themes in his The Secret of the Veda. Dayananda has clearly worked on these lines when he wrote his inspiring unique book The Ṛigveddādi-Bhashya-Bhumika. He has shown lacuna in Sayana's interpretations. Nobody would deny Sayana's unique position as one of our greatest commentators on the Vedic Texts; he is our distinguished Acharya, but he followed the rotten traditions of his times. Dayananda had the insight of a Risi, and he very clearly said that the viniyogas are the impositions on the Vedic verses. Dayananda was the greatest living authority on the Vedic language, next to Yaska, Patanjali and Panini only, and he gave us a new vision, quite in line with the vision possessed by the Risis of the Upanishadic, the Vedanga and the Upanga periods.

Since Dayananda wrote his commentary on the Vedas, our Vedic scholars rightly popularized the Nirukta and the Nighantu of Yaska. Today in market, we have about half-a-dozen excellent commentāries on the Nirukta in Hindi and Sanskrit. Among the classical commentators on the Nirukta and the Nighantu are Skandasvamin, Devarājayajvan, and the most notable Durgā (13th-14th century). Among the recent ones are Svami Brahmamuni, Bhagavatdatta, Chandramani, Aryamuni and Rajarama. Dr. Lakshman Swarup has extensively worked on the Nirukta, and translated it into English also. In my critical notes, I have tried to accomodate the commentary of Yaska as much as I could; Yaska's renderings of the Vedic verses would be a help to our critical scholars. On certain topics, I have given detailed notes as on the Vālakhilya Suktas, and on Soma Pavamana Suktas.

In the earliest stage, we tried to have our transliteration of the Vedic text in Roman script with our latest diacritical marks and the work was assigned to Dr. (Km) Usha Jyotishmati. But later on, since we could procure Theodor Aufrecht's excellent transliteration into the Roman script, we thought it more convenient to accept it for our purpose. Of course, the diacritical marks adopted these days are slightly different from those adopted by T. Aufrecht. Our printers also showed reluctancy in providing diacritical marks in their entire printing, and thus we had no other recourse left. For this, we offer regrets and apologize to our readers. In our critical notes also, we could not provide diacritical marks, but the deficiency has been well compensated by reproducing Sanskrit quotations in the Devanagari script. For Aufrecht's key to diacritical marks, see our Introductory Volume (Vol.1, p. 81). We hope to provide the diacritical marks in our volumes on the Yaj'uh and other Vedas.

We are obliged to our colleague Shri Udaivir Viraj for his labour on the complete index given at the end of the Volume XII. We are also reproducing the Devatā and Rishi indexes (in Devanagari script). We offer our profused apologies for numerous misprints and negligences which should not have been there in a project like this. We are thankful to Shri Jagannatha Vidyalankar who laboured hard while going through press-proofs in spite of his physical handicaps.

So far as printing and other details are concerned, we had the advantage of the matured experience of Shri Vishwa Nath of Messrs. Rajpal & Sons, who supervised the printing.

New Delhi
August 24,1986

Prayerful Thanksgiving

by

Dr. L.M. Singhvi

I

With the publication of this, the last volume of the Rig Veda Samhita, my colleagues in Veda Pratishthan and I have the satisfaction of seeing the completion of an important and substantial phase of the project of publishing an annotated English translation of the Vedas based on Indian and international perspectives and expositions. We began some eight years ago with a firm resolve in our hearts, with a sense of sublime purpose, and in sincere humility. We knew that the journey of a thousand miles must begin with one step and that even mighty rivers may have modest beginnings. Our resolve of more than eight years ago could at that time be described only as an act of faith. The fabric of our faith was woven with the warp of prayerful aspiration and woof of consecrated effort.

II

I take this opportunity to offer our prayerful thanksgiving on behalf of all my colleagues and on my own behalf. We rejoice in the completion of the most important phase of our project which was in the nature of a pilgrimage of the spirit, uplifting, ennobling and fulfilling. We celebrate not only our arrival, but also our joyous journey. Predictably and understandably, there were in this journey transient travails and triumphs, swift and slow phases, alternating anxiety and enthusiasm, passing disappointments and a residual sense of abiding satisfaction. There was always an inspiring, introspective awareness of that perennial striving and prayer which found expression in the Rig Veda in which the very first Sukta invokes cosmic inspiration. We asked ourselves in all humility as the great seers of yore taught us: "How may the mind draw near you to please you, O foremost divine? What hymn of praise shall bring us greater blessings? Who were the illustrious ones who gained your favour through worship? How shall we pay you our reverent homage?" Trusting in that fundamental divine principle and its eternal immanence, we sought and found inspiration and guidance in the message of Vedas. In that perspective, our modest but meaningful project assumed the aspect of a Vedic yajna in the workaday world of the householder and in the manner and tradition of cosmic worship at the threshold of cosmic consciousness on the altar of creativity and realization. To go back to the Rigvedic imagery, the Vedic — hymns are like the weaving shuttles of cosmic threads, the great sages, seers and samhitakarakas weaving forth and weaving back, extending them and unbending them.

III

Sri Aurobindo described the chants of the Rig Veda as episodes of the lyrical epic of the soul in its immortal ascension. Rig Veda is truly the high aspiring song of humanity in which, to adapt the words of the great poet Kalidasa, meaning and expression are indivisibly integrated. Profoundly humane and compassionate, untrammelled and emancipated in its universality, deeply spiritual in its mystical depths, sincere and upright in its ethical rectitude, evocative and affirmative in the ardent enjoyment of life and its gifts, spontaneous in its sense of human togetherness, and cosmic in its reach and its world-view, the Vedic literature is undoubtedly mankind's most precious treasure. It is a treasure of the Experience of Reality and the Reality of Experience. We find in the Vedic experience the Nature of Harmony and discover the Harmony of Nature.

In the world in which we live today, the Vedas have a uniquely harmonising relevance. The Vedic vision is neither archaic nor archival. The Vedic heritage proves that the primeval is not primitive and the old is not otiose. The Vedas enshrine an inherited remembrance of the primordial revelations, the inner experience of the sages and seers. Indeed each Vedic hymn is a landmark in the spiritual odyssey of Man, celebrating at every step humanity's ceaseless quest for the True, the Good and the Beautiful. The Vedic hymns exude the glowing awareness of pure consciousness and the elevating effulgence of bliss. The reason for the ageless veneration for the Vedas is not mere scriptural authority or some sacerdotal sanctity or an awe for the esoteric. We venerate the Vedas not merely because the Vedas are the oldest books known to man; nor because we collect and are connoisseurs of the "relics of former ages." There are profounder, more transcendental reasons. We venerate the Vedas above all because they enshrine the eternal verity of cosmic harmony and the enduring quality of universal humanity, because the Vedas give us a vision beyond Time and beyond artificial, man-made barriers and frontiers, because the Vedas convoke and unite all the elements of terrestrial and transcendental life and proclaim the reign of peace, rule of Rita and charter of justice. That is why the message of the Vedas remains a living legacy for our age and time. The indestructible spoken word of Vedic seers "stands untouched by time or the elements" and has continued to travel through countless centuries "like a great wave through the living substance of mind."

IV

We embarked on this simple venture of publishing an English translation of Vedas because we felt that we owed it to ourselves and to the world to imbibe and share the Vedic vision more widely and because the many nineteenth century western translations, some of them extensive and others fragmentary, notable and pioneering in their own ways, were far from being quite satisfactory. We cannot be oblivious of the fact that in the nineteenth century, western Vedic scholarship, though original and erudite, was still insufficiently aided by deeper and more sensitive exposition of the Vedas and that the western discovery of the Vedic lore and literature came in an age when unrepentant colonialism and self-opinionated missionary activity were in the ascendant. The traditional indigenous repositories of the Vedic heritage in its Indian homeland were in a state of intellectual decline and social disarray. The Vedic vision was somewhat eclipsed by an ethnic amnesia and isolation of centuries. There was an overpowering sense of the devastation of our identity and dignity and a denuding loss of self-respect and self-confidence. In that state of decay and disillusionment and of penury and paralysis of critical Indian scholarship, Swami Dayanand Saraswati's interpretation of the Vedas came as a breath of fresh air, creating a new ambiance for understanding, a new striving of resurgence and a new equation of independence. Swami Dayananda naturally saw the Vedas as an Indian, steeped in that tradition, as a living and universal scripture of mankind containing "a plenary revelation of religious, ethical and scientific truth." Shri Aurobindo's poetic, philosophical, psychological, mystical and spiritual approach to Vedas represents the flowering of that renaissance. Western translators and commentators whose contribution to Vedic learning is, in a historical sense, monumental and memorable, however, lacked that temperamental empathy to enable them to identify themselves with Vedic culture which enabled Swami Dayanand and Shri Aurobindo to give an integrated interpretation of the social ethos, religious spirit and spiritual values of the Vedas. As Shri Aurobindo put it:

"It was the curiosity of a foreign culture that broke after many centuries the seal of final authoritativeness which Sayana had fixed on the ritualistic interpretation of the Veda. The Ancient scripture was delivered over to a scholarship laborious, bold in speculation, ingenious in its flights of fancy, conscientious according to its own lights, but ill-fitted to understand the method of the old mystic poets; for it was void of any sympathy with that ancient temperament, unprovided with any clue in its own intellectual or spiritual environment to the ideas hidden in the Vedic figures and parables. The result has been of a double character, on the one side the beginning of a more minute, thorough, careful as well as a freer handling of the problems of Vedic interpretation, on the other hand, a final exaggeration of its apparent material sense and the complete obscuration of its true and inner secret."

V

Not surprisingly, Wilson, who followed Sayana closely, found most of the verses of the Vedas "singularly prosaic." Cowell found the poetry of Rig Veda" singularly deficient in that simplicity and natural pathos or sublimity which we naturally look for in the songs of an early period of civilization." Another notable translator and commentator, Griffith, pointed out the "intolerable monotony of the great number of the hymns." Griffith regarded the study of Sanskrit as central to the science of comparative philology and the study of Veda as indispensable for the comparative history of religions of the world," but that homage was more philological and historical than holistic. Roth, in St. Petersburg Lexicon, preferred the philological path to the translation and interpretation of Vedas. Even Max Muller, whose admiration and appreciation for the Vedic heritage was no doubt genuine and many-splendoured, was also somewhat apologetic. He was constrained not only by his own objective and legitimate critical scholarship but also by what I discern to be a trace of a compulsive concession to the overriding denominational claims of Christianity, an encounter with which would make us uneasy. Among his contemporaries, Max Muller was one of the most respectful and sympathetic in his approach to Indian thought and traditions but in some of his writings he too refers to Christianity as "that faith which we hold to be the only true one." I may be forgiven if I confess to a sense of dismay in what that observation of that scholar extrordinary unravels and implies. Nor was that observation a solitary flourish or a casual lapse of thought or expression. For instance, he advocated the elaboration of the science of Religion by a comparison of Christianity and other religions so as to help towards confirming that Christianity was better and superior. Apparently, with contemporary European Christians in mind, and perhaps to enthuse them, Max Muller added (and I quote verbatim):

"But this is not the only advantage of a comparative study of religions. The Science of Religion will for the first time assign to Christianity its right place among the religions of the world; it will show for the first time fully what was meant by the fulness of time; it will restore to the whole history of the world, in its unconscious progress towards Christanity, its true and sacred character."

VI

In another passage Max Muller argued persuasively how a comparative study of the religions of mankind would be of the greatest assistance to the missionary and footnoted the statement of a native Indian convert to Christianity who said: "Now I am not going to India to injure their feelings by saying your scripture is all nonsense, is good for nothing; anything outside the old and New Testament is a humbug. No, I tell you I will appeal to the Hindu philosophers, and moralists, and poets, at the same time bringing to them my light, and reasoning with them in the spirit of Christ." In a letter Max Muller is believed to have written to his wife in 1868, he wrote...." yet this edition of mine and the translation of the Vedas will hereafter tell to a great extent on the fate of India and on the growth of millions of souls in that country. It is the root of their religion, and to show them what the root is, is, I feel sure, the only way of uprooting all that has been sprung from it during the last three thousand years." In the context, I find the attitudinal stance of Max Muller's intimate epistolary expression baffling, and his "chips from a German workshop" somewhat wanting in that standard of objectivity and empathy which we have been accustomed to associate with him and some of the leading nineteenth century western scholars of ancient oriental heritage.

All this is neither to question the undoubted contribution of Christian religion to world culture, nor to raise a polemical debate about missionary precepts and practices, nor to detract from the epoch-making scholarly work of Max Muller and other Western scholars in the field of Vedic studies. We need, however, to put ourselves on guard against denominational or colonial imposition in any guise. We must endeavour in all humility to achieve a more complete and comprehensive understanding of the Vedic traditions, culture and literature in a holistic perspective.

VII

There are no doubt many unanswered questions in Vedic scholarship. What we know in our limited understanding of the Vedas is perhaps no more than a fraction of the totality of the Vedic universe , of ideas, values, institutions, culture and language. We do know, however, that the subtle and sophisticated philosophical efflorescence of Upanishads and Buddhist and Jain philosophies was intimately intertwined with the Vedic roots. As Shri Aurobindo put it:

"Such profound and ultimate thoughts, such systems of subtle and elaborate psychology as are found in the substance of the Upanishads, do not spring out of a previous void. The human mind in its progress marches from knowledge to knowledge, or it renews and enlarges previous knowledge that has been obscured and overlaid, or it seizes on old imperfect clues and is led by them to new discoveries. The thought of the Upanishads supposes great origins anterior to itself....... ."

There is eloquent awareness and acknowledgement of that Vedic "anterior" throughout the history of Indian thought but its radiant richness was lost on those who either saw the Vedas only as pristine pastoral poetry or as a sourcebook of ritual incantation of elemental gods. Interestingly, Max Muller came to the conclusion that "the authors of the Brahmanas were blinded by theology, the authors of the still later Niruktas were deceived by etymological fictions, and both conspired to mislead by their authority later and more sensible commentators such as Sayana". Adding that Sayana's scholastic notions did not allow him to accept "the free interpretation which comparative study of these venerable documents forces upon the unprejudiced scholar", Max Muller said meaningfully: "We must therefore discover ourselves the real vestiges of these ancient poets". And that is truly the task to which we should address ourselves in the best traditions or the Vedic heritage, always remembering that to commune with the Vedas is to share in a cosmic vision and a universal faith, that what we do know of the Vedas at present may only be a small part of what we may yet discover, and that we are nowhere near the end of the road.

VIII

To revered Swamiji, and the intrepid team of translators including Pandit Satyakam Vidyalankar and Shri Udaivir Viraj Vidyalankar, who have assisted Swamiji, we owe the quality and the steady progress of this work. To my colleagues, Shri Shiv Kumar Shastri, Professor Ved Vyasji, Shri Vishwa Nathji, Shri Naunitlal advocate, Shri Subhash Vidyalankar, I convey my cordial thanks for their unfailing support in our labour of love. There are many other friends and workers of the project who have quietly and unobtrusively extended a helping hand and to whom I owe a word of appreciation. On this occasion my thoughts go to the late Dr. G.L. Datta and the late Dr. Suraj Bhan who were associated with the project closely. An affectionate homage is due in particular to the everlasting memory of my dearest friend, the late Shri Prakash Vir Shastri who was the principal architect and prime mover of this project.

I close my prayerful thanksgiving on this happy occasion by invoking the luminous vastness of Truth in the form of Saraswati, the goddess of learning and inspiration, who awakens our consciousness, enlightens our understanding of the universe, and showers her bountiful blessings on noble pursuits.

"Kamlalaya"
B-8, South Extension-11,
New Delhi-110049.
Pitrismriti, June 21, 1986.

L.M. SINGHVI

ṚGVEDA SAMHITA

ऋग्वेद संहिता

ऋग्वेद संहिता

दशमं मण्डलम्

---

(८७) सप्ताशीतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–२५) पञ्चविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः पायुर्ऋषिः । रक्षोहाग्निर्देवता । (१–२१) प्रथमाद्येकविंशत्यृचां त्रिष्टुप्, (२२–२५) द्वाविंश्यादिचतसृणाञ्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥

रक्षोहणं वाजिनमा जिघर्मि मित्रं प्रथिष्ठमुप यामि शर्म ।
शिशानो अग्निः क्रतुभिः समिद्धः स नो दिवा स रिषः पातु नक्तम् ॥१॥
अयोदंष्ट्रो अर्चिषा यातुधानानुप स्पृश जातवेदः समिद्धः ।
आ जिह्वया मूरदेवान्रभस्व क्रव्यादो वृक्त्व्यपि धत्स्वासन् ॥२॥
उभोभयाविन्नुप धेहि दंष्ट्रा हिंस्रः शिशानोऽवरं परं च ।
उतान्तरिक्षे परि याहि राजञ्जम्भैः सं धेह्यभि यातुधानान् ॥३॥

87.

Rakshohaṇam vājinamājigharmi mitram prathishṭhamupa yāmi ṣarma | ṣiṣāno agniḥ kratubhiḥ samiddhaḥ sa no divā sa rishaḥ pātu naktam ||1|| ayodaṁshṭro arcishā yātudhānānupa spṛiṣa jātavedaḥ samiddhaḥ | ā jihvayā mūradevānrabhasva kravyādo vṛikt-vyapi dhatsvāsan ||2|| ubhobhayā vinnupa dhehi daṁshṭra hiṃsraḥ ṣiṣāno'varam param ca | utāntarikshe pari yāhi rā-mbhaiḥ sam dhehyabhi yatudhānān ||3||

ṚGVEDA SAMHITĀ

BOOK TEN

87

I offer clarified butter to the powerful fire-divine, the destroyer of the wicked. I approach the friendly (fire-divine) for obtaining comfort. Enkindled, sharpened (and thus aroused) by our pious devotees, may the fire divine guard us from evils, by day and by night. 1

O all-knowing, the one with the teeth, as if, of iron, consume with your kindled flame, the malignant germs of diseases; destroy the destructive elements with your tongue; cut up the eaters of flesh and put them within your mouth. 2

The fire-divine is the destroyer of the wicked; it has two rows of teeth. May it sharpen them both, apply them to the wicked elements; and thereby, preserve both the upper and the lower worlds. May you, the radiant fire-divine, march against the wicked in the firmament, and seize the malignant germs of disease with your jaws. 3

यज्ञैरिषूः संनमंमानो अग्ने वाचा शल्यौं अशनिभिर्दिहानः ।
ताभिर्विध्य हृदये यातुधानान्प्रतीचो बाहून्प्रति भङ्ग्ध्येषाम् ॥४॥
अग्ने त्वचं यातुधानस्य भिन्धि हिंस्राशनिर्हरसा हन्त्वेनम् ।
प्र पर्वाणि जातवेदः शृणीहि क्रव्यात्क्रविष्णुर्वि चिनोतु वृक्णम् ॥५॥

yajnairishūḥ samnamamāno agne vācā ṣalyām aṣanibhirdihānaḥ | tābhir vidhya hridaye yātudhānān pratīco bāhūnprati bhañ dhyeshām ||4|| agne tvacam yātudhānasya bhindhi himsrāṣanir harasā hantvenam | pra parvāṇi jātavedaḥ ṣriṇīhi kravyāt kravishṇur vi cinotu vrikṇam ||5||

॥६॥ यत्रेदानीं पश्यसि जातवेदस्तिष्ठन्तमग्न उत वा चरन्तम् ।
यद्वान्तरिक्षे पथिभिः पतन्तं तमस्ता विध्य शर्वा शिशानः ॥६॥
उतालब्धं स्पृणुहि जातवेद आलेभानादृष्टिभिर्यातुधानात् ।
अग्ने पूर्वो नि जहि शोशुचान आमादः क्ष्विङ्कास्तमदन्त्वेनीः ॥७॥
इह प्र ब्रूहि यतमः सो अग्ने यो यातुधानो य इदं कृणोति ।
तमा रभस्व समिधा यविष्ठ नृचक्षसश्चक्षुषे रन्धयैनम् ॥८॥
तीक्ष्णेनाग्ने चक्षुषा रक्ष यज्ञं प्राञ्चं वसुभ्यः प्र णय प्रचेतः ।
हिंस्रं रक्षांस्यभि शोशुचानं मा त्वा दभन्यातुधाना नृचक्षः ॥९॥
नृचक्षा रक्षः परि पश्य विक्षु तस्य त्रीणि प्रति शृणीह्यग्रा ।
तस्याग्ने पृष्टीर्हरसा शृणीहि त्रेधा मूलं यातुधानस्य वृश्च ॥१०॥

yatredānīm paṣyasi jātavedas tishṭhanta magna uta vā carantam | yadvāntarikshe pathibhiḥ patantam tamastā vidhya ṣarvā ṣiṣānaḥ ||6|| ut-ālabdham spriṇuhi jātaveda ālebhānā drishṭibhir yātudhānāt | agne pūrvo ni jahi ṣoṣucāna āmādaḥ kshviṅkās tamadantve-nīḥ ||7|| iha pra brūhi yatamah so agne yo yātudhāno ya idam kriṇoti | tamā rabhasva samidhā yavishṭha nricakshasas cakshushe randhayainam ||8|| tīkshṇenāgne cakshushā raksha yajñam prāñcam vasubhyaḥ pra ṇaya pracetaḥ | himsram rakshāmsyabhi ṣoṣucānam mā tvā dabhanyātudh-ānā nricakshaḥ ||9|| nricakshā rakshaḥ pari paṣya vikshu tasya triṇi prati ṣriṇīhyagrā | tasyāgne prishṭīrharasā ṣriṇīhi tredhā mūlam yātudhānasya vriṣca ||10||

O fire-divine, may you, bending your arrows by means of our offerings at the sacrifices and by our praises, and sharpening the javelins with your splendour, pierce with them the hearts of the malignant elements and break their arms when raised against you. 4

O fire-divine, knower of all, may you cut through the skin of the malignant elements; let your thunder-bolt consume them with its flames; may you sever their joints. May the flesh-desiring, flesh-eater devour their mutilated body. 5

O all-knowing fire-divine, wherever and whenever, whether standing or moving, or traversing along the paths in midregion, you behold a malignant and wicked, may you, like an archer, sharpen your weapon and transfix him with your shaft. 6

And defend me, O all-knowing, with your darts when I am seized. Defend me from malignant germs of disease, who so often seize me. May you, O fire-divine, blazing fiercely, slay the wicked elements. May the swift-flying vultures, the flesh-eaters, devour the wicked element. 7

O fire-divine, youngest of Nature's bounties, may you at this place of worship, tell me which that malignant element is that seizes me. Catch hold of him and destroy him with your kindled flame; O beholder of men, consume him with your brilliance. 8

Protect this place of worship, O sage, with your keen insight; lead it forward to the acquisition of riches; let not the evil spirit, O beholder of men, O destroyer of wicked, harm you while you blaze fiercely. 9

O beholder of men, take due cognition of the wicked element in the surroundings; cut off his three heads; demolish with your flames his flanks; cut off his triple foot. 10

॥७॥ त्रिर्यातुधानः प्रसितिं त एत्वृतं यो अग्ने अनृतेन हन्ति ।
तमर्चिषा स्फूर्जयञ्जातवेदः समक्षमेनं गृणते नि वृङ्धि ॥११॥
तदग्ने चक्षुः प्रति धेहि रेभे शफारुजं येन पश्यसि यातुधानम् ।
अथर्ववज्ज्योतिषा दैव्येन सत्यं धूर्वन्तमचितं न्योष ॥१२॥
यदग्ने अद्य मिथुना शपातो यद्वाचस्तृष्टं जनयन्त रेभाः ।
मन्योर्मनसः शरव्या३ जायते या तया विध्य हृदये यातुधानान् ॥१३॥
परा शृणीहि तपसा यातुधानान्पराग्ने रक्षो हरसा शृणीहि ।
परार्चिषा मूरदेवाञ्छृणीहि परासुतृपो अभि शोशुचानः ॥१४॥
पराद्य देवा वृजिनं शृणन्तु प्रत्यगेनं शपथा यन्तु तृष्टाः ।
वाचास्तेनं शरव ऋच्छन्तु मर्मन्विश्वस्यैतु प्रसितिं यातुधानः ॥१५॥

trir yātudhānaḥ prasitiṃ ta etvṛitaṃ yo agne anritena hanti | tamarcishā sphūrjayañjātavedaḥ samakshamenaṃ grinate ni vrindhi ||11|| tadagne cakshuḥ prati dhehi rebhe ṣaphārujaṃ yena paṣyasi yātudhānam | atharvavajjyotishā daivyena satyaṃ dhūrvantamacitaṃ nyosha ||12||yadagne adya mithunā ṣapāto yadvācas trishṭaṃ janayanta rebhāḥ | manyormanasaḥ ṣaravyā jāyate yā tayā vidhya hṛidaye yātudhānān ||13|| parā ṣṛṇīhi tapasā yātudhānān parāgne raksho harasā ṣriṇīhi | parārcishā mūradevāñ chriṇīhi parāsutripo abhi ṣoṣucānaḥ ||14|| parādya devā vṛijinaṃ ṣriṇantu pratyagenam ṣapathā yantu trishṭaḥ | vācāstenam ṣarava ṛicchantu marman viṣvasyaitu prasitiṃ yātudhānaḥ ||15||

॥८॥ यः पौरुषेयेण क्रविषा समङ्क्ते यो अश्व्येन पशुना यातुधानः ।
यो अघ्न्याया भरति क्षीरमग्ने तेषां शीर्षाणि हरसापि वृश्च ॥१६॥
संवत्सरीणं पय उस्रियायास्तस्य माशीद्यातुधानो नृचक्षः ।
पीयूषमग्ने यतमस्तितृप्सात्तं प्रत्यञ्चमर्चिषा विध्य मर्मन् ॥१७॥

yáḥ paúrusheyeṇa kravíshā samaṅkté yó áṣveyena paṣúnā yātudhánaḥ | yó aghnyáyā bhárati kshīrám agne téshāṃ ṣīrsháṇi hárasápi vṛiṣca || 16 || saṃvatsarīṇam páya usríyāyās tásya másīd yātudháno nṛicakshaḥ | pīyúsham agne yatamás títṛipsāt tám pratyáñcam arcíshā vidhya márman || 17 ||

O all-knowing fire-divine, let the evil spirit, who defeats your truth (health) with falsehood (i.e. poison), come thrice into the confinement of your flames; you crush him with your might, and cast him down in presence of your worshipper. 11

O fire-divine, may you cast upon the two roaring demons (the wicked biting creatures, worms or insects) that eye, wherewith you behold that evil creature who strikes you with hoofs or nails. May you, like the physician with celestial radiance burn down the fool, who assails truth (or peace) with falsehood (wickedness). 12

May you, O fire-divine, pierce the heart of the wicked with your arrow, as to give that pain which is experienced by a married couple, when in discord, start quarelling and cursing each other, or when the praisers (or singers) in annoyance address to each other while in a wrathful mood. 13

Destroy the evil-spirited creatures with your scorching fire; exterminate the wicked, O fire-divine, with your heat; destroy with your blazing flame those who believe in vain gods, and fiercely blazing destroy the insatiable (monsters). 14

Let all the divine forces (or your heat radiations) today destroy the wicked worms and germs; may our bitter feelings blast him; may the arrows hit the person of undependable words in his vital part; may the evil-doer be caught into the trap of the all-pervading fire-divine. 15

O fire-divine, may you tear off the heads of the evil-spirited cannibal who lives on the flesh of men and who satisfies himself with the flesh of horses and cattle and who steals for himself the milk of milch-cow. 16

O fire-divine, the beholder of men, let not the devil, the wicked, consume the milk of the cow, which she gives all the year round. Whosoever usurps this embrosia to satiate himself, may you, O fire-divine, pierce his vital parts with your flames. 17

विषं गवां यातुधानाः पिबन्त्वा वृश्च्यन्तामदितये दुरेवाः ।
परैनान्देवः सविता ददातु परा भागमोषधीनां जयन्ताम् ॥१८॥
सनादग्ने मृणसि यातुधानान्न त्वा रक्षांसि पृतनासु जिग्युः ।
अनु दह सहमूरान्क्रव्यादो मा ते हेत्या मुक्षत दैव्यायाः ॥१९॥
त्वं नो अग्ने अधरादुदक्तात्त्वं पश्चादुत रक्षा पुरस्तात् ।
प्रति ते ते अजरासस्तपिष्ठा अघशंसं शोशुचतो दहन्तु ॥२०॥

vishám gávām yātudhā́nāḥ pibantv á vriṣcyantām áditaye durévāḥ | párainān deváḥ savitá dadātu párā bhāgám óshadhīnām jayantām || 18 || sā́nād agne mriṇasi yātudhā́nān ná tvā rákshāṅsi prítanāsu jigyuḥ | ánu daha sahámūrān kravyā́do mā́ te hetyā́ mukshata daívyāyāḥ || 19 || tvám no agne adharā́d údaktāt tvám paṣcā́d utá rakshā purástāt | práti té te ajárāsas tápishṭhā aghásaṅsam sóṣucato dahantu || 20 || 8 ||

॥९॥ पश्चात्पुरस्तादधरादुदक्तात्कविः काव्येन परि पाहि राजन् ।
सखे सखायमजरो जरिम्णेऽग्ने मर्ताँ अमर्त्यस्त्वं नः ॥२१॥
परि त्वाग्ने पुरं वयं विप्रं सहस्य धीमहि ।
धृषद्वर्णं दिवेदिवे हन्तारं भङ्गुरावताम् ॥२२॥
विषेण भङ्गुरावतः प्रति ष्म रक्षसो दह ।
अग्ने तिग्मेन शोचिषा तपुरग्राभिर्ऋष्टिभिः ॥२३॥

paṣcā́t purástād adharā́d údaktāt kavíḥ kā́vyena pári pāhi rājan | sákhe sákhāyam ajáro jarimné 'gne mártāñ ámartyas tvám naḥ || 21 || pári tvāgne púram vayám vípram sahasya dhīmahi | dhrishádvarṇam divé-dive hantā́ram bhaṅgurā́vatām || 22 || vishéṇa bhaṅgurā́vataḥ práti shma rakshá́so daha | ágne tigména ṣocíshā tápuragrābhir rishṭíbhiḥ || 23 ||

Let the fiends drink poison from the cattle; may you cast off the evil-doers, difficult to be brought into control, for the sake of mother eternity; may the divine creator give them over to destruction; may they be deprived of the food of herbs. 18

O fire-divine, from the days of yore, you have been destroying the evil-doers; these wicked ones have never overcome you in fight; burn the murderous flesh-eating creatures one by one; let none of them escape your divine weapons. 19

May you, O fire-divine, protect us from below, from above, from behind us and from the front. May your fervent heat, undecaying, scorching and glowing consume the perpetuator of wickedness. 20

O royal fire-divine, sagacious and wise, protect us by your wisdom on the west, on the east, on the south, and on the north; may you, O our undecaying friend, preserve us, your friends, for a long long period, to our old age; O immortal, protect us who are mortals. 21

O fire-divine, the strength born, the accomplisher (of sacred works), the sage, possessor of fearful form, the day-to-day destroyer of the treacherous beings, we accept you with full reliance. 22

O fire-divine, consume the treacherous crooked devils with your all-pervading sharp flame, with your flame-pointed darts. 23

प्रत्य॑ग्ने मिथु॒ना द॑ह यातु॒धाना॑ किमी॒दिना॑ ।
सं त्वा॑ शिशामि जागृ॒ह्यद॑ब्धं विप्र॒ मन्म॑भिः ॥२४॥
प्रत्य॑ग्ने॒ हर॑सा॒ हरः॑ शृणी॒हि वि॒श्वतः॒ प्रति॑ ।
या॒तु॒धान॑स्य र॒क्षसो॒ बलं॒ वि रु॑ज वी॒र्य॑म् ॥२५॥

práty agne mithuná daha yātudhánā kimīdínā | sáṃ tvā śiśāmi jāgrihy ádabdhaṃ vipra mánmabhiḥ || 24 || práty agne hárasā háraḥ śriṇīhí viśvátaḥ práti | yātudhánasya rakshásо bálaṃ ví ruja vīryàm || 25 || 9 ||

(८८) अष्टाशीतितमं सूक्तम्
(१-१९) एकोनविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो वामदेव्यो वा मूर्धन्वानृषिः ।
सूर्यो वैश्वानरोऽग्निश्च देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ ह॒वि॒ष्पान्त॑म॒जरं॑ स्व॒र्विदि॑ दिवि॒स्पृश्याहु॑तं॒ जुष्ट॑म॒ग्नौ ।
तस्य॒ भर्म॑णे॒ भुव॑नाय दे॒वा धर्म॑णे॒ कं स्व॒धया॑ पप्रथन्त ॥१॥
गी॒र्णं भुव॑नं॒ तम॒साप॑गूळ्हमा॒विः स्व॑रभवज्जा॒ते अ॒ग्नौ ।
तस्य॑ दे॒वाः पृ॑थि॒वी द्यौरु॒तापोऽर॑णय॒न्नोष॑धीः स॒ख्ये अ॑स्य ॥२॥
दे॒वेभि॒र्न्वि॑षि॒तो य॒ज्ञिये॑भिर॒ग्निं स्तो॑षाण्य॒जरं॑ बृ॒हन्त॑म् ।
यो भा॒नुना॑ पृथि॒वीं द्यामु॒तेमामा॑तता॒न रोद॑सी अ॒न्तरि॑क्षम् ॥३॥
यो होता॒सीत्प्र॑थ॒मो दे॒वजु॑ष्टो॒ यं स॒माञ्ज॒न्नाज्ये॑ना वृणा॒नाः ।
स प॑त॒त्रीत्व॒रं स्था जग॒द्यच्छ्वा॒त्रम॒ग्निर॑कृणोज्जा॒तवे॑दाः ॥४॥

88.

Havísh pántam ajáraṃ svarvídi divispríśy áhutaṃ júshṭam agnaú | tásya bhármaṇe bhúvanāya devá dhármaṇe káṃ svadháyā paprathanta || 1 || gīrṇáṃ bhúvanaṃ támasápagūḷham āvíḥ svàr abhavaj jaté agnaú | tásya deváḥ prithiví dyaúr utápó 'raṇayann óshadhīḥ sakhyé asya || 2 || devébhir nv ìshitó yajñíyebhir agníṃ stoshāṇy ajáram brihántam | yó bhānúnā prithivíṃ dyám utémám ātatána ródasī antáriksham || 3 || yó hótásīt prathamó devájushṭo yáṃ samáñjann ájyenā vriṇānáḥ | sá patatrítvaráṃ sthá jágad yác chvātráṃ agnír akriṇoj jātávedāḥ || 4 ||

O fire-divine, may you consume these pairs of germs (yatudhanas) and worms (kimidins). I incite you, O sage, the invincible, with my praises; please wake up. 24

Shoot forth, O fire-divine, with your flame, to demolish the impetuous strength of the devil; break the vigour of the wicked. 25

88

The herbal libation, undecaying and agreeable to Nature's bounties, is offered to the fire-divine, which knows the sun and touches or extends high to the distant sky. For its maintenance, existence and support, people of enlightenment feed the fire-divine, the giver of happiness, with food. 1

The whole world (at its initial stages), as if swallowed up and hidden in darkness, comes in visibility only after when fire-divine, the cosmic fire, is born. The divine powers, broad earth and heaven, the waters and the plants rejoice in his friendship and association. 2

Inspired by adorable divines, I praise the mighty fire-divine, free from ageing and decay, who by his radiance has spread forth the earth and this heaven, a pair of these two worlds, and the inter-space. 3

He, the fire-divine, is propitiated by Nature's bounties; he has been the first recipient of oblations. His worshippers anoint him with clarified butter. To, the winged-one, the "omniscient fire", who has all created beings as his property, we owe the quick creation of all that is full of activity, which is stationary, and which suffers change. 4

यज्जातवेदो भुवनस्य मूर्धन्नतिष्ठो अग्ने सह रोचनेन ।
तं त्वाहेम मतिभिर्गीर्भिरुक्थैः स यज्ञियो अभवो रोदसिप्राः ॥५॥

yáj jatavedo bhúvanasya mūrdhánn átishṭho agne sahá rocanéna | tám tvahema matibhir girbhír ukthaíḥ sá yajñíyo abhavo rodasipráḥ || 5 || 10 ||

॥११॥

मूर्धा भुवो भवति नक्तमग्निस्ततः सूर्यो जायते प्रातरुद्यन् ।
मायामू तु यज्ञियानामेतामपो यत्तूर्णिश्चरति प्रजानन् ॥६॥
दृशेन्यो यो महिना समिद्धोऽरोचत दिवियोनिर्विभावा ।
तस्मिन्नग्नौ सूक्तवाकेन देवा हविर्विश्व आजुहवुस्तनूपाः ॥७॥
सूक्तवाकं प्रथममादिदग्निमादिद्धविरजनयन्त देवाः ।
स एषां यज्ञो अभवत्तनूपास्तं द्यौर्वेद तं पृथिवी तमापः ॥८॥
यं देवासोऽजनयन्ताग्निं यस्मिन्नाजुहवुर्भुवनानि विश्वा ।
सो अर्चिषा पृथिवीं द्यामुतेमामृजूयमानो अतपन्महित्वा ॥९॥
स्तोमेन हि दिवि देवासो अग्निमजीजनञ्छक्तिभी रोदसिप्राम् ।
तमू अकृण्वन्त्रेधा भुवे कं स ओषधीः पचति विश्वरूपाः ॥१०॥

múrdhá bhuvó bhavati náktam agnís tátaḥ súryo jāyate prātár udyán | mayám u tú yajñíyanām etám ápo yát túrṇiṣ cárati prajanán || 6 || driṣényo yó mahiná sámiddhó 'rocata diviyonir vibháva | tásminn agnaú sūktavakéna devá havír víṣva ájuhavus tanupáḥ || 7 || sūktavakám prathamám ád íd agním ád íd dhavír ajanayanta deváḥ | sá esham yajñó abhavat tanūpás tám dyaúr veda tám prithivi tám ápaḥ || 8 || yám deváso 'janayantagním yásminn ájuhavur bhúvanāni víṣvā | só arcíshā prithivím dyám utémám rijūyámāno atapan mahitvá || 9 || stómena hí diví deváso agním ájījanañ cháktibhī rodasiprám | tám ū akriṇvan tredhá bhuvé kám sá óshadhīḥ pacati viṣvárūpāḥ || 10 || 11 ||

O omniscient fire-divine, cognizant of all, you abide on the brow of the universe, with the sun, the refulgent one. We come to you with praises, with hymns and with prayers. You fill heaven and earth, and verily you alone deserve adoration. 5

The fire-divine is of supreme importance during the night-time; in the form of the sun, it rises early morning. According to the wise (men), it is considered to be an act of great wisdom that the divine powers have made the sun appear to move with precision across the vastness of the firmament. 6

He is visible to all who shine through his greatness. Seated in the heaven, he is resplendent with his own refulgence. The universal cosmic powers, the guardians of men's bodies, present oblation with resonant hymns to this cosmic fire. 7

Natural forces first create the divine words of hymns; this is followed by the creation of the fire (by attrition), and lastly the creation of the material oblation. The fire-divine is the object of sacrifice of these Nature's bounties. The fire promotes and protects the body. Him the heaven knows; him the earth and waters know. 8

The fire-divine, whom the enlightened sages generate, in whom all beings offer oblations, and who is ever straight-going — he, by his radiance and by his grandeur, warms the earth and this heaven too. 9

Nature's bounties, by their planning enkindle fire-divine in sky; it is he (the fire-divine) that fills heaven and earth by his strength and vigour. They (the bounties) assign joy-bestowing fire-divine his three-fold functions (as the terrestrial fire, as the lightning and as the sun). He, verily, ripens plants to their maturity. 10

॥१२॥ यदेदेनमदधुर्यज्ञियासो दिवि देवाः सूर्यमादितेयम् ।
यदा चरिष्णू मिथुनावभूतामादित्प्रापश्यन्भुवनानि विश्वा ॥११॥
विश्वस्मा अग्निं भुवनाय देवा वैश्वानरं केतुमह्नामकृण्वन् ।
आ यस्ततानोषसो विभातीरपो ऊर्णोति तमो अर्चिषा यन् ॥१२॥
वैश्वानरं कवयो यज्ञियासोऽग्निं देवा अजनयन्नजुर्यम् ।
नक्षत्रं प्रत्नममिनच्चरिष्णु यक्षस्याध्यक्षं तविषं बृहन्तम् ॥१३॥
वैश्वानरं विश्वहा दीदिवांसं मन्त्रैरग्निं कविमच्छा वदामः ।
यो महिम्ना परिबभूवोर्वी उतावस्तादुत देवः परस्तात् ॥१४॥
द्वे स्रुती अशृणवं पितॄणामहं देवानामुत मर्त्यानाम् ।
ताभ्यामिदं विश्वमेजत्समेति यदन्तरा पितरं मातरं च ॥१५॥

yadéd enam ádadhur yajñíyāso diví deváḥ sū́ryam āditeyám | yadā́ carishṇū́ mithunā́v ábhūtām ā́d ít prā́paṣyan bhúvanāni víṣvā || 11 || víṣvasmā agním bhúvanāya devā́ vaiṣvānarám ketúm áhnām akriṇvan | ā́ yás tatā́nosháso vibhātī́r ápo ūrṇoti támo arcíshā yán || 12 || vaiṣvānarám kaváyo yajñíyāso 'gním devā́ ajanayann ajuryám | nákshatram pratnám áminac carishṇú yakshásyā́dhyaksham tavishám bṛihántam || 13 || vaiṣvānarám viṣváhā dīdivā́ṅsam mántrair agním kavím áchā vadāmaḥ | yó mahimnā́ paribabhū́vorví utā́vástād utá deváḥ parástāt || 14 || dvé srutí aṣṛiṇavam pitṛīṇā́m ahám devā́nām utá mártyānām | tā́bhyām idám víṣvam éjat sám eti yád antarā́ pitáram mātáram ca || 15 || 12 ||

॥१३॥ द्वे समीची बिभृतश्चरन्तं शीर्षतो जातं मनसा विमृष्टम् ।
स प्रत्यङ्विश्वा भुवनानि तस्थावप्रयुच्छन्तरणिर्भ्राजमानः ॥१६॥

dvé samīcī́ bibhṛitaṣ cárantam ṣīrsható jātám mánasā vímṛishṭam | sá pratyáñ víṣvā bhúvanāni tasthāv áprayuchan tarániṛ bhrā́jamānaḥ || 16 |

When the adorable divine powers place him (the terrestrial fire) and the sun, the son of Mother Eternity, in heaven, when the swift-moving pair (of celestial and the terrestrial fires) is born, then the entire creation looks upon them (with astonishment and admiration). 11

The divine powers make the fire-divine the leader of the whole universe and the indicator of days, for the sake of the whole world; he spreads out the radiant dawns; and as he moves along, he dispels and disperses darkness with his light. 12

The wise and adorable divine powers engender the imperishable fire-divine, who is the leader of the universal cosmic forces; he overcomes with his light the eternal ever-wandering galaxy of constellations; he is the presiding lord of the living beings, also mighty and great. 13

We glorify daily with holy verses the sage and ever-beaming fire-divine, the leader-in-chief, who surpasses by his might both heaven and earth in strength and greatness. He scorches and dries up both the worlds, below and above. 14

I have heard that there are two pathways open to the experienced elders (fathers), to enlightened persons (divines), and to ordinary mortals. All this universe which is between the paternal heaven and the maternal earth, proceeds on its way by these two paths. 15

These associated two (i.e. heaven and earth) support him (the fire) in motion, born from the sun, the head of all and glorified by praises. He stands distinct from all existing things — ever in action, quick to act and effulgent. 16

यत्रा वदेते अवरः परश्च यज्ञन्योः कतरो नौ वि वेद ।
आ शेकुरित्सधमादं सखायो नक्षन्त यज्ञं क इदं वि वोचत् ॥१७॥
कत्यग्नयः कति सूर्यासः कत्युषासः कत्यु स्विदापः ।
नोपस्पिजं वः पितरो वदामि पृच्छामि वः कवयो विद्मने कम् ॥१८॥
यावन्मात्रमुषसो न प्रतीकं सुपर्ण्यो३ वसते मातरिश्वः ।
तावद्दधात्युप यज्ञमायन्ब्राह्मणो होतुरवरो निषीदन् ॥१९॥

yátrā vádete ávaraḥ páraş ca yajñanyòḥ kataró nau ví veda | á ṣekur ít sadhamádam sákhāyo nákshanta yajñám ká idám ví vocat || 17 || káty agnáyaḥ káti sū́ryāsaḥ káty ushásaḥ káty u svid ápaḥ | nópaspíjam vaḥ pitaro vadāmi pṛichámi vaḥ kavayo vidmáne kám || 18 || yāvanmātrám usháso ná prátīkam suparṇyò vásate mātariṣvaḥ | távad dadhāty úpa yajñám āyán brāhmaṇó hótur ávaro nishídan || 19 || 13 ||

(८९) एकोननवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१८) अष्टादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रो रेणुर्ऋषिः । (१-४, ६-१८) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां षष्ठ्यादित्रयोदशानाञ्चेन्द्रः, (५) पञ्चम्याश्चेन्द्रासोमौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ इन्द्रं स्तवा नृतमं यस्य मह्ना विबबाधे रोचना वि ज्मो अन्तान् ।
आ यः पप्रौ चर्षणीधृद्वरोभिः प्र सिन्धुभ्यो रिरिचानो महित्वा ॥१॥
स सूर्यः पर्युरू वरांस्येन्द्रो ववृत्याद्रथ्येव चक्रा ।
अतिष्ठन्तमपस्यं१ न सर्गं कृष्णा तमांसि त्विष्या जघान ॥२॥
समानमस्मा अनपावृदर्च क्ष्मया दिवो असमं ब्रह्म नव्यम् ।
वि यः पृष्ठेव जनिमान्यर्य इन्द्रश्चिकाय न सखायमीषे ॥३॥

89.

Índram stavā nṛítamam yásya mahná vibabādhé rocaná ví jmó ántān | á yáḥ papraú carshaṇīdhṛ́d várobhiḥ prá síndhubhyo riricānó mahitvá || 1 || sá sū́ryaḥ páry urū́ várāṅsy éndro vavṛityād ráthyeva cakrá | átishṭhantam apasyàm ná sárgam kṛishṇá támāṅsi tvíshyā jaghāna || 2 || samānám asmā ánapāvṛid arca kshmayá divó ásamam bráhma návyam | ví yáḥ pṛishṭhéva jánimāny aryá índraṣ cikāya ná sákhāyam īshé || 3 ||

When the fires of lower and upper regions (terrestrial and celestial) dispute, as to "which of us, the twain leaders of cosmic worship, knows the secrets of sacrifice the best," the priests, the friends, competent to offer sacrifice, come to the place of worship, but none can give satisfactory answer to the question. 17

How many fires are there? how many are the suns in number? how many dawns? how many waters?— I address you, O elders, not jestingly, neither with rivalry, nor with jealousy; I ask you, O sages, (I ask you) in order to know the truth. 18

As long as the cosmic wind moves and as long as the swiftly moving (nights) cover the face of the dawn, till then the Brahman, the inferior priest, would sit down to work as invoker and, coming to the place of worship, conduct the ceremony. 19

89

May you glorify the resplendent sun, whose glory surpasses the lustre of others, and extends to the limits of the earth and beyond; who is the sustainer of man, and who surpassing the ocean in his magnitude, fills heaven and earth with his radiance. 1

The heroic sun-divine causes beams of light to revolve as a charioteer (effects the rotation of) the wheels of the chariot. He, by his radiance, destroys the black-hued darkness like a restless vigorous horse (in enthusiasm). 2

May you adore Him (the Sun or resplendent Lord) with ever-new songs, who is mighty, matchless and in extension, surpasses heaven and earth; He, like the sacred pṛṣṭha praises, (associated with particular sacrifices) overcomes enemies; the resplendent one desires no friend (though He is friendly to all). 3

इन्द्राय गिरो अनिशितसर्गा अपः प्रेरयं सगरस्य बुध्नात् ।
यो अक्षेणेव चक्रिया शचीभिर्विष्वक्तस्तम्भ पृथिवीमुत द्याम् ॥४॥
आपान्तमन्युस्तृपलप्रभर्मा धुनिः शिमीवाञ्छरुमाँ ऋजीषी ।
सोमो विश्वान्यतसा वनानि नार्वागिन्द्रं प्रतिमानानि देभुः ॥५॥

indrāya gíro ánisitasargā apáḥ préra-yam ságarasya budhnā́t | yó ákshepeva cakríyā ṣácībhir víshvak tastámbha pṛithivī́m utá dyā́m || 4 || ā́pāntamanyus tṛipálaprabharmā dhúniḥ ṣímīvāñ chárumā́ñ ṛijīshī́ | sómo víṣvāny atasā́ vánāni nā́rvā́g índram pratimā́nāni debhuḥ || 5 || 14 ||

॥१५॥ न यस्य द्यावापृथिवी न धन्व नान्तरिक्षं नाद्रयः सोमो अक्षाः ।
यदस्य मन्युरधिनीयमानः शृणाति वीळु रुजति स्थिराणि ॥६॥
जघान वृत्रं स्वधितिर्वनेव रुरोज पुरो अरदन्न सिन्धून् ।
बिभेद गिरिं नवमिन्न कुम्भमा गा इन्द्रो अकृणुत स्वयुग्भिः ॥७॥
त्वं ह त्यदृणया इन्द्र धीरोऽसिर्न पर्व वृजिना शृणासि ।
प्र ये मित्रस्य वरुणस्य धाम युजं न जना मिनन्ति मित्रम् ॥८॥
प्र ये मित्रं प्रार्यमणं दुरेवाः प्र संगिरः प्र वरुणं मिनन्ति ।
न्यमित्रेषु वधमिन्द्र तुम्रं वृषन्वृषाणमरुषं शिशीहि ॥९॥

ná yásya dyā́vāpṛithiví ná dhánva nántárikshaṃ nā́dra-yaḥ sómo akshāḥ | yád asya manyúr adhinīyámānaḥ ṣṛi-ṇā́ti vīḷú rujáti sthirā́ṇi || 6 || jaghā́na vṛitrám svádhitir vá-neva rurója púro áradan ná síndhūn | bibhéda girím návam ín ná kumbhám ā́ gā́ índro akṛiṇuta svayúgbhiḥ || 7 || tvám ha tyád ṛiṇayā́ indra dhíro 'sír ná párva vṛijinā́ ṣṛiṇāsi | prá yé mitrásya váruṇasya dhā́ma yújam ná jánā minánti mitrám || 8 || prá yé mitrám prā́ryamáṇam durévāḥ prá saṃgírah prá váruṇam minánti | ny àmítreshu vadhám indra túmram vṛíshan vṛíshāṇam arushám ṣiṣīhi || 9 ||

I will send forth praises to the resplendent Lord in unceasing flow, like waters from the depth of an ocean (or the firmament). He has fixed heaven and earth to His both sides like the wheels of a chariot fixed at the ends of an axle. 4

This exhilarating elixir of herbs, active with infused energy, shaker, rushing to the attack, intimidating foes, a great hero, and forming and leaving a stale residue, surpasses all plants and trees. None of the counter measures can deceive the resplendent Lord. 5

May the exhilarating elixir flow to him, whom neither heaven nor earth, nor the waters, nor the firmament, nor the mountains dare oppose; when heightened in his wrath, he breaks the firm and destroys the strong. 6

The resplendent Lord destroys evil nescience as an axe cuts down a tree; he demolishes the strongholds of the foes; he digs out the rivers; he shatters the cloud to pieces like a new pitcher; with his vital energies, he restores the light of wisdom. 7

O resplendent Lord, you, who are all-wise, punish the guilt of worshippers; you cut off their sins as a sword cuts off the limbs of victims; you cut off the people who ignorantly go against the established tradition based on benevolence and justice. Besides you, who else could be their close friend! 8

Against those enemies who sinfully offend against benevolence, against justice, against friendliness, against all that is vital and virtuous, may you sharpen, O resplendent Lord, the showerer of benefits, your rapid showering radiant thunder-bolt. 9

इन्द्रो दिव इन्द्र ईशे पृथिव्या इन्द्रो अपामिन्द्र इत्पर्वतानाम् ।
इन्द्रो वृधामिन्द्र इन्मेधिराणामिन्द्रः क्षेमे योगे हव्य इन्द्रः ॥१०॥

índro divá índra īṣe prithivyā́ índro apā́m índra ít párvatānām | índro vridhā́m índra ín médhirāṇām índraḥ kshéme yóge hávya índraḥ || 10 || 15 ||

॥१६॥ प्राक्तुभ्य इन्द्रः प्र वृधो अहभ्यः प्रान्तरिक्षात्प्र समुद्रस्य धासेः ।
प्र वातस्य प्रथसः प्र ज्मो अन्तात्प्र सिन्धुभ्यो रिरिचे प्र क्षितिभ्यः ॥११॥
प्र शोशुचत्या उषसो न केतुरसिन्वा ते वर्ततामिन्द्र हेतिः ।
अश्मेव विध्य दिव आ सृजानस्तपिष्ठेन हेषसा द्रोघमित्रान् ॥१२॥
अन्वह मासा अन्विद्वनान्यन्वोषधीरनु पर्वतासः ।
अन्विन्द्रं रोदसी वावशाने अन्वापो अजिहत जायमानम् ॥१३॥
कर्हि स्वित्सा त इन्द्र चेत्यासदघस्य यद्भिनदो रक्ष एषत् ।
मित्रक्रुवो यच्छसने न गावः पृथिव्या आपृगमुया शयन्ते ॥१४॥
शत्रूयन्तो अभि ये नस्ततस्रे महि व्राधन्त ओगणास इन्द्र ।
अन्धेनामित्रास्तमसा सचन्तां सुज्योतिषो अक्तवस्ताँ अभि ष्युः ॥१५॥

prā́ktúbhya índraḥ prá vridhó áhabhyaḥ prā́ntárikshāt prá samudrásya dhāséḥ | prá vā́tasya práthasaḥ prá jmó ántāt prá síndhubhyo ririce prá kshitíbhyaḥ || 11 || prá ṣóṣucatyā usháso ná ketúr asinvā́ te vartatām indra hetíḥ | áṣmeva vidhya divá ā́ srijānás tápishṭhena héshasā drógha-mitrān || 12 || ánv áha mā́sā ánv íd vánāny ánv óshadhīr ánu párvatāsaḥ | ánv índram ródasī vāvaṣāné ánv ā́po ajihata jā́yamānam || 13 || kárhi svit sā́ ta indra cetyā́sad aghásya yád bhinádo ráksha éshat | mitrakrúvo yác chá-sane ná gā́vaḥ prithivyā́ āpríg amuyā́ ṣáyante || 14 || ṣatrū-yánto abhí yé nas tatasré máhi vrā́dhanta oganā́sa indra | andhénāmítrās támasā sacantām sujyotíṣho aktávas tā́ñ abhí shyuḥ || 15 ||

The resplendent Lord rules over heaven, rules over earth, over waters, and over the clouds; the Lord rules over the great and over the wise; the resplendent Lord is to be invoked for the acquirement and preservation of wealth. 10

The resplendent Lord is vaster than the nights, vaster than the days, vaster than the firmament or the receptacle of the ocean, vaster than the wind, or space and extension; He is vaster than the bounds of the earth; the resplendent Lord is vaster than the rivers and our lands. 11

O resplendent Lord, may your invincible arrow proceed, like the banner of the shining dawn, and like a stone cast down from heaven. May this loud-sounding weapon pierce those whose friendship is deceitful. 12

The months fully depend on the course of the resplendent sun; the forests, plants, and the mountains also follow his course; and verily the affectionate or illumined heaven and earth follow him, and the waters or oceans also attend upon him. 13

O resplendent Lord, when would your sin-destroying shaft of justice shall be hurled to exterminate the evil forces bent on outraging and when will the enemies of friendly people lay on the ground there in confusion like cattle at the place of immolation. 14

O resplendent Lord, may those adversaries, who gather in groups and create enmity among us, and who fiercely oppose us, be over-whelmed with gloom and darkness, and may the bright shining days and dull nights go against them in the fulfilment of their mal-intentions. 15

पुरूणि हि त्वा सवना जनानां ब्रह्माणि मन्दन्गृणतामृषीणाम् ।
इमामाघोषन्नवसा सहूतिं तिरो विश्वाँ अर्चतो याह्यर्वाङ् ॥१६॥
एवा ते वयमिन्द्र भुञ्जतीनां विद्याम सुमतीनां नवानाम् ।
विद्याम वस्तोरवसा गृणन्तो विश्वामित्रा उत त इन्द्र नूनम् ॥१७॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥१८॥

purūṇi hí tvā sávanā jánānām bráhmāṇi mándan gṛiṇatā́m ṛíshīṇām | imā́m āghóshann ávasā sáhūtiṃ tiró víṣvāñ árcato yāhy arvā́ṅ || 16 || evā́ te vayám indra bhuñjatīnā́ṃ vidyā́ma sumatīnā́ṃ návānām | vidyā́ma vástor ávasā gṛiṇánto viṣvā́mitrā utá ta indra nūnám || 17 || ṣunā́ṃ huvema maghávānam — || 18 || 16 ||

(९०) नवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१६) षोडशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य नारायण ऋषिः । पुरुषो देवता । (१–१५) प्रथमादिपञ्चदशर्चामनुष्टुप्, (१६) षोडश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१७॥

सहस्रशीर्षा पुरुषः सहस्राक्षः सहस्रपात् ।
स भूमिं विश्वतो वृत्वात्यतिष्ठद्दशाङ्गुलम् ॥१॥
पुरुष एवेदं सर्वं यद्भूतं यच्च भव्यम् ।
उतामृतत्वस्येशानो यदन्नेनातिरोहति ॥२॥
एतावानस्य महिमातो ज्यायाँश्च पूरुषः ।
पादोऽस्य विश्वा भूतानि त्रिपादस्यामृतं दिवि ॥३॥

90.

Sahásraṣīrshā púrushaḥ sahasrāksháḥ sahásrapāt | sá bhū́miṃ viṣváto vṛitváty atishṭhad daṣāñgulám || 1 || púrusha evédáṃ sárvaṃ yád bhūtáṃ yác ca bhávyam | utámṛitatvásyéṣāno yád ánnenātiróhati || 2 || etávān asya mahimáto jyā́yāṅṣ ca pū́rushaḥ | pádo 'sya víṣvā bhūtáni tripád asyāmṛ́tam diví || 3 ||

May plentiful oblations and praises of men and invocations of the wise seers, who sing sacred hymns, rejoice you, and may you, disregarding all other faithless worshippers, come to us with your protective measures (to help us). 16

O resplendent Lord, may we be able to avail all your fresh favours and benefits; and may we, the friends of all, who sincerely praise you with love and devotion, obtain your blessings, and day to day protections. 17

In this world of conflicts, we invoke the bounteous resplendent Lord, who, as a hero, is most reliable and strong in fights, who listens to our invocations, and destroys evil tendencies in life-conflicts, and who takes away riches from the wicked to give to the needy and virtuous. 18

90

The Cosmic Man has thousands of heads, thousands of eyes, and thousands of feet. Enveloping this whole universe, He exceeds by ten finger-breadths all around. 1

Whatever all this is, whatever has been in the past, and whatever is going to be in future, all that is in fact, the Cosmic Man himself. He is the Lord of Immortality, and of all what grows by food. 2

Such is His grandeur. But in fact, the Cosmic Man is greater even than this. The entire creation is only a quarter part of His being; other three quarters are immortal in heaven. 3

त्रिपादूर्ध्व उदैत्पुरुषः पादोऽस्येहाभवत्पुनः ।
ततो विष्वङ्व्यक्रामत्साशनानशने अभि ॥४॥
तस्माद्विराळजायत विराजो अधि पूरुषः ।
स जातो अत्यरिच्यत पश्चाद्भूमिमथो पुरः ॥५॥

tripád ūrdhvá úd ait púrushaḥ pádo 'syehábhavat púnaḥ | táto víshvañ vy àkrāmat sāṣanānaṣané abhí || 4 || tásmād virā́ḷ ajāyata virā́jo ádhi pū́rushaḥ | sá jātó áty aricyata paṣcā́d bhū́mim átho puráḥ || 5 || 17 ||

॥१८॥

यत्पुरुषेण हविषा देवा यज्ञमतन्वत ।
वसन्तो अस्यासीदाज्यं ग्रीष्म इध्मः शरद्धविः ॥६॥
तं यज्ञं बर्हिषि प्रौक्षन्पुरुषं जातमग्रतः ।
तेन देवा अयजन्त साध्या ऋषयश्च ये ॥७॥
तस्माद्यज्ञात्सर्वहुतः संभृतं पृषदाज्यम् ।
पशून्ताँश्चक्रे वायव्यानारण्यान्ग्राम्याश्च ये ॥८॥
तस्माद्यज्ञात्सर्वहुत ऋचः सामानि जज्ञिरे ।
छन्दांसि जज्ञिरे तस्माद्यजुस्तस्मादजायत ॥९॥
तस्मादश्वा अजायन्त ये के चोभयादतः ।
गावो ह जज्ञिरे तस्मात्तस्माज्जाता अजावयः ॥१०॥

yát púrushena havíshā devā́ yajñám átanvata | vasantó asyāsīd ā́jyam grīshmá idhmáḥ ṣarád dhavíḥ || 6 || tám yajñám barhíshi praúkshan púrusham jātám agratáḥ | téna devā́ ayajanta sādhyā́ ṛíshayaṣ ca yé || 7 || tásmād yajñā́t sarvahútaḥ sámbhṛitam pṛishadājyám | paṣū́n tā́ṅṣ cakre vāyavyā̀n āraṇyā́n grāmyā́ṣ ca yé || 8 || tásmād yajñā́t sarvahúta ṛ́caḥ sā́māni jajñire | chándāṅsi jajñire tásmād yájus tásmād ajāyata || 9 || tásmād áṣvā ajāyanta yé ké cobhayā́dataḥ | gā́vo ha jajñire tásmāt tásmāj jātā́ ajāváyaḥ || 10 || 18 ||

Three-fourths of that Cosmic Man rises above the heaven. The one-fourth is still here on the earth. Then He starts spreading in all directions towards all that eats and eats not. 4

From that Cosmic Man, super-luminiscence is born and from super-luminiscence again the creative factor is born. Expanding, He exceeds the earth backward and forward both. 5

In the Cosmic Sacrifice arranged by Nature's Bounties with the Cosmic Man as an oblation, spring is the melted butter, summer the fire wood, and autumn is the offering. 6

The Cosmic Man, who is born earliest of all, is placed on the Cosmic Sacrificial altar, and is anointed. With Him, the enlightened ones, the realized ones, and the sages perform the sacrifice. 7

From that Cosmic Sacrifice, to which all things have been offered as oblations, milk, curd (sustaining food) are obtained. Thereon He makes creatures that fly in the air and the animals, wild and domestic. 8

From that Cosmic Sacrifice, in which everything has been offered as oblations, the Ṛks (verses), and the Samans (songs) were born. The Chandas (metres) of the Atharva and the Yajuh are also born from that Sacrifice. 9

From that Cosmic Sacrifice horses are born, and all other cattle having two rows of teeth. Cows are born out of it and so are goats and sheep. 10

॥१९॥

यत्पुरुषं व्यदधुः कतिधा व्यकल्पयन् ।
मुखं किमस्य कौ बाहू का ऊरू पादा उच्येते ॥११॥
ब्राह्मणोऽस्य मुखमासीद्बाहू राजन्यः कृतः ।
ऊरू तदस्य यद्वैश्यः पद्भ्यां शूद्रो अजायत ॥१२॥
चन्द्रमा मनसो जातश्चक्षोः सूर्यो अजायत ।
मुखादिन्द्रश्चाग्निश्च प्राणाद्वायुरजायत ॥१३॥
नाभ्या आसीदन्तरिक्षं शीर्ष्णो द्यौः समवर्तत ।
पद्भ्यां भूमिर्दिशः श्रोत्रात्तथा लोकाँ अकल्पयन् ॥१४॥
सप्तास्यासन्परिधयस्त्रिः सप्त समिधः कृताः ।
देवा यद्यज्ञं तन्वाना अबध्नन्पुरुषं पशुम् ॥१५॥
यज्ञेन यज्ञमयजन्त देवास्तानि धर्माणि प्रथमान्यासन् ।
ते ह नाकं महिमानः सचन्त यत्र पूर्वे साध्याः सन्ति देवाः ॥१६॥

yát púrusham vy ádadhuḥ katidhā́ vy àkalpayan | múkham kím asya kaú bāhū́ kā́ ūrū́ pā́dā ucyete || 11 || brāhmaṇò 'sya múkham āsīd bāhū́ rājanyàḥ kṛitáḥ | ūrū́ tád asya yád vaíśyaḥ padbhyā́m śūdró ajāyata || 12 || candrámā mánaso jātás cákshoḥ sū́ryo ajāyata | múkhād índraś cāgníś ca prāṇā́d vāyúr ajāyata || 13 || nā́bhyā āsīd antáriksham śīrshṇó dyaúḥ sám avartata | padbhyā́m bhū́mir díśaḥ śrótrāt táthā lokā́ñ akalpayan || 14 || saptā́syāsan paridháyas tríḥ saptá samídhaḥ kṛitā́ḥ | devā́ yád yajñám tanvānā́ ábadhnan púrusham paśúm || 15 || yajñéna yajñám ayajanta devā́s tā́ni dhármāṇi prathamā́ny āsan | té ha nā́kam mahimā́naḥ sacanta yátra pū́rve sādhyā́ḥ sánti devā́ḥ || 16 || 19 ||

The Man (the mankind) they create, in what portions do they figurize it? What is His mouth? Which the two arms, which the two thighs and which are said to be His feet? 11

The Brahmana (the intellectual) is His mouth, the Ksattriya (Rajanya or administrator) is made His two arms; what is the Vaiśya (producer of wealth) is His two thighs and Śudra (labourer) is born of His two feet. 12

The moon is created from His mind and the sun is born from His eyes. The wind and the life-breath are born from His ear and the fire from His mouth. 13

The mid-space is created from His navel, and the sky from His head; the earth from His feet; various quarters from His ear, and in this way, all these worlds are formed. 14

Seven are the enclosing pillars and thrice seven (3 x 7 + 21) the pieces of fire-wood, when the enlightened ones preparing for the sacrifice, tie up the Cosmic Man as an offering. 15

Gods (Nature's Bounties) worshipped the Supreme Lord with the sacrifice. These have been the earliest ordinances. They, the great ones, thus attain heaven, where the earlier realized ones dwell in their resplendence. 16

[अथाष्टमोऽनुवाकः ॥] (९१) एकनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैतहव्योऽरुण ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-१४) प्रथमादिचतुर्दशर्चां जगती, (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२०॥ सं जागृवद्भिर्जरमाण इध्यते दमे दमूना इषयन्निळस्पदे ।
विश्वस्य होता हविषो वरेण्यो विभुर्विभावा सुषखा सखीयते ॥१॥
स दर्शतश्रीरतिथिर्गृहेगृहे वनेवने शिश्रिये तक्ववीरिव ।
जनंजनं जन्यो नाति मन्यते विश आ क्षेति विश्यो३ विशंविशम् ॥२॥
सुदक्षो दक्षैः क्रतुनासि सुक्रतुरग्ने कविः काव्येनासि विश्ववित् ।
वसुर्वसूनां क्षयसि त्वमेक इद्द्यावा च यानि पृथिवी च पुष्यतः ॥३॥
प्रजानन्नग्ने तव योनिमृत्वियमिळायास्पदे घृतवन्तमासदः ।
आ ते चिकित्र उषसामिवेतयोऽरेपसः सूर्यस्येव रश्मयः ॥४॥
तव श्रियो वर्ष्यस्येव विद्युतश्चित्राश्चिकित्र उषसां न केतवः ।
यदोषधीरभिसृष्टो वनानि च परि स्वयं चिनुषे अन्नमास्ये ॥५॥

91.

Sám̩ jāgr̩ivádbhir járamāṇa idhyate dáme dámūnā isháyann il̩ás padé | vísvasya hótā havísho váreṇyo vibhúr vibhā́vā sushákhā sakhīyaté || 1 || sá darsatasrír átithir gr̩ihé-gr̩ihe váne-vane sisriye takvavír iva | jánam̩-janam̩ jányo nā́ti manyate vísa ā́ ksheti visyò vísam̩-visam || 2 || sudáksho dákshaiḥ krátunāsi sukrátur ágne kavíḥ kā́vyenāsi visvavít | vásur vásūnām̩ kshayasi tvám éka íd dyā́vā ca yā́ni pr̩ithiví ca púshyataḥ || 3 || prajānánn agne táva yónim r̩itvíyam íl̩āyās padé ghr̩itávantam ā́sadaḥ | ā́ te cikitra ushásām ivétayo 'repásaḥ sū́ryasyeva rasmáyaḥ || 4 || táva sríyo varshyàsyeva vidyútas citrā́s cikitra ushásām̩ ná ketávaḥ | yád óshadhīr abhísr̩ishṭo vánāni ca pári svayám̩ cinushé ánnam āsyè || 5 || 20 ||

91

The fire-divine, the generous giver (of blessings), the object of veneration of the conscientious sacrificers (or the public workers), the acceptor of homage (or libations) at the altar of sacrifice performed on the base of earth, is kindled in the chamber; he is the lord, effulgent, and friend of all who crave for his friendship. 1

Evidently full of glory, he resorts as a guest to every house (of his worshippers); he is friendly to men, friendly to every one who lives in sundry forests, friendly to every one in our society; he disregards none; he is kind to all; he is like one, who goes revivifying every one. He dwells among all men, presiding over every one, every individual. 2

O fire-divine, you are most vigorous for those who are with vigour; you are active with those who act; you are very wise to them who work with wisdom and insight; you know everything. You are the dispenser of wealth; and you abide alone. You are lord of the treasures which exist in heaven and are on earth. 3

O sagacious fire-divine, you sit at your altar with earth as the base suited for worship and anointed with purified butter. Your quick-moving rays are manifested like those of the dawns, beautifully shining as those of the sun. 4

Your glories, O fire-divine, are like the lightnings from the rain-cloud and are manifested many-tinted, like the multi-coloured rays of the beautiful dawns. When you march in the midst of plants and trees in forests, you gather on all sides food for your mouth i.e. for your flames. 5

॥२१॥ तमोषधीर्दधिरे गर्भमृत्वियं तमापो अग्निं जनयन्त मातरः ।
तमित्समानं वनिनश्च वीरुधोऽन्तर्वतीश्च सुवते च विश्वहा ॥६॥
वातोपधूत इषितो वशाँ अनु तृषु यदन्ना वेविषद्वितिष्ठसे ।
आ ते यतन्ते रथ्यो३ यथा पृथक्छर्धांस्यग्ने अजराणि धक्षतः ॥७॥
मेधाकारं विदथस्य प्रसाधनमग्निं होतारं परिभूतमं मतिम् ।
तमिदर्भे हविष्या समानमित्तमिन्महे वृणते नान्यं त्वत् ॥८॥
त्वामिदत्र वृणते त्वायवो होतारमग्ने विदथेषु वेधसः ।
यद्देवयन्तो दधति प्रयांसि ते हविष्मन्तो मनवो वृक्तबर्हिषः ॥९॥
तवाग्ने होत्रं तव पोत्रमृत्वियं तव नेष्ट्रं त्वमग्निदृतायतः ।
तव प्रशास्त्रं त्वमध्वरीयसि ब्रह्मा चासि गृहपतिश्च नो दमे ॥१०॥

tám óshadhīr dadhire gárbham ṛitvíyam tám ā́po agním janayanta mātáraḥ | tám ít samānám vanínaṣ ca vīrúdho 'ntárvatīṣ ca súvate ca viṣváhā || 6 || vā́topadhūta ishitó vá-ṣā̃ń ánu tṛishú yád ánnā vévishad vitíshṭhase | ā́ te yatante rathyò yáthā príthak chárdhāṅsy agne ajárāṇi dhákshataḥ || 7 || medhākārám vidáthasya prasā́dhanam agním hótāram paribhū́tamam matím | tám íd árbhe havíshy ā́ samānám ít tám ín mahé vṛiṇate nā́nyám tvát || 8 || tvā́m íd átra vṛi-ṇate tvāyávo hótāram agne vidátheshu vedhásaḥ | yád de-vayánto dádhati práyāṅsi te havíshmanto mánavo vṛiktá-barhishaḥ || 9 || távāgne hotrám táva potrám ṛitvíyam táva neshṭrám tvám agníd ṛitāyatáḥ | táva praṣāstrám tvám adhvarīyasi brahmā́ cā́si gṛihápatiṣ ca no dáme || 10 || 21 ||

॥२२॥ यस्तुभ्यमग्ने अमृताय मर्त्यः समिधा दाशदुत वा हविष्कृति ।
तस्य होता भवसि यासि दूत्य१मुप ब्रूषे यजस्यध्वरीयसि ॥११॥

yás túbhyam agne amṛítāya mártyaḥ samídhā dā́ṣad utá vā havíshkṛiti | tásya hótā bhavasi yā́si dūtyàm úpa brūshe yájasy adhvarīyási || 11 ||

The plants bear the fire-divine like an embryo (conceived) in due season; the maternal waters bring him to life; in the like manner, the trees and the creepers bear him within themselves every day as they grow. 6

When agitated by the wind, and when quickly moving through the beloved trees, you spread about, devouring your food according to your liking, you possess imperishable energies, O fire-divine, the devourer; you rush forth on every side like men driving chariots. 7

You are the giver of intelligence to the priests who invoke you. You are the accomplisher of worship, the invoker of Nature's bounties, the chief overcomer of foes, and the counsellor (for sound advice). You equally respond to the offerings, small or great. One would like to invoke you alone, and none else. 8

O fire-divine, the performers of sacred rites, with all devotions to you, would select you alone as the ministrant priest at the place of worship in this world. The devout worshippers, bearing oblations and strewing the clipt sacred grass offer you and none else the sacrificial food. 9

O fire-divine, yours is the function of the invoker (hotṛ); you perform the duty of the sanctifier (potṛ); you perform the function of the conveyor or leader (neṣṭr); you are the fire-kindler (agnīdhra); you act as conductor (adhvaryu); you are the priest-in-chief, the Brahman; you are the master of the home, the host or the Yajamāna. 10

O immortal fire-divine, when the mortal man presents to you his fuel or his sacred oblation, then you become his invoker of the sacred worship; you go on his errand (to Nature's bounties); you direct the details of the ceremony and offer the sacrifice. In fact, you act as the officiating priest. 11

इमा अस्मै मतयो वाचो अस्मदाँ ऋचो गिरः सुष्टुतयः समग्मत ।
वसूयवो वसवे जातवेदसे वृद्धासु चिद्वर्धनो यासु चाकनत् ॥१२॥
इमां प्रत्नाय सुष्टुतिं नवीयसीं वोचेयमस्मा उशते शृणोतु नः ।
भूया अन्तरा हृद्यस्य निस्पृशे जायेव पत्य उशती सुवासाः ॥१३॥
यस्मिन्नश्वास ऋषभास उक्षणो वशा मेषा अवसृष्टास आहुताः ।
कीलालपे सोमपृष्ठाय वेधसे हृदा मतिं जनये चारुमग्नये ॥१४॥
अहाव्यग्ने हविरास्ये ते स्रुचीव घृतं चम्वीव सोमः ।
वाजसनिं रयिमस्मे सुवीरं प्रशस्तं धेहि यशसं बृहन्तम् ॥१५॥

imā́ asmai matáyo vā́co asmád ā́ñ ṛíco gíraḥ sushṭutáyaḥ sám agmata | vasūyávo vásave jātávedase vṛiddhā́su cid várdhano yā́su cākánat || 12 || imā́m pratnā́ya sushṭutím návīyasīm vocéyam asmā uṣaté ṣṛiṇótu naḥ | bhūyā́ ántarā hṛidy àsya nispṛíṣe jāyéva pátya uṣatī́ suvā́sāḥ || 13 || yásminn áṣvāsa ṛishabhā́sa ukshā́ṇo vaṣā́ meshā́ avasṛishṭā́sa ā́hutāḥ | kīlālapé sómapṛishṭhāya vedháse hṛidā́ matím janaye cā́rum agnáye || 14 || áhāvy agne havír āsyè te srucīva ghṛitám camvī̀va sómaḥ | vājasánim rayím asmé suvī́ram praṣastám dhehi yaṣásam bṛihántam || 15 || 22 ||

(९२) द्विनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य मानवः शार्यात ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ यज्ञस्य वो रथ्यं विश्पतिं विशां होतारमक्तोरतिथिं विभावसुम् ।
शोचञ्छुष्कासु हरिणीषु जर्भुरद्वृषा केतुर्यजतो द्यामशायत ॥१॥

92.

Yajñásya vo rathyàm viṣpátim viṣā́m hótāram aktór átithim vibhā́vasum | ṣócañ chúshkāsu háriṇīshu járbhurad vṛíshā ketúr yajató dyā́m aṣāyata || 1 ||

May these holy hymns, these songs and eulogistic verses, reach him, who is the giver of wealth, and cognizant of all things; when all these sacred devotional words expressed for gaining prosperity are perfected, the perfecter Lord is pleased. 12

I address this new laudatory hymn, with all sincerity of heart to the fire-divine or the eternal adorable Lord, who loves it; and appreciates; may He hear our voice; may I be in the centre of His heart; may my words move Him with love, like a loving well-attired wife meeting her husband. 13

I offer my words of appreciation with all sincerity at my heart to the fire-divine, the absorber of water, to whom the oblations of herbal juices (mixed with curds) are offered and to whom every living being like vigorous horses, bulls, milching cows and barren ones, sheep and goat (and even men) are consigned after their death (i.e. to the Kravya-agni, the cremating fire). 14

O fire-divine, the oblations have been offered into your mouth, like butter taken into the ladle or like the herbal juice in a spoon; may you confer on us the rich food; bless us with male children, and award us fame and excellence, and every type of prosperity in abundance. 15

92

I praise (the fire), the charioteer of cosmic sacrifice (O Nature's bounties), who is the lord of men, the invoker of all forces, and the guest of night. Blazing amid the dry plants and preying upon the green, he, the showerer of desires, the banner of light, and the adorable; his domain extends to the celestial region. 1

इमर्मञ्जस्पामुभये अकृण्वत धर्माणमग्निं विदथस्य साधनम् ।
अक्तुं न यह्वमुषसः पुरोहितं तनूनपातमरुषस्य निंसते ॥२॥
बळस्य नीथा वि पणेश्च मन्महे वया अस्य प्रहुता आसुरत्तवे ।
यदा घोरासो अमृतत्वमाशतादिज्जनस्य दैव्यस्य चर्किरन् ॥३॥
ऋतस्य हि प्रसितिर्द्यौरुरु व्यचो नमो मह्य१रमतिः पनीयसी ।
इन्द्रो मित्रो वरुणः सं चिकित्रिरेऽथो भगः सविता पूतदक्षसः ॥४॥
प्र रुद्रेण ययिना यन्ति सिन्धवस्तिरो महीमरमतिं दधन्विरे ।
येभिः परिज्मा परियन्नुरु ज्रयो वि रोरुवज्जठरे विश्वमुक्षते ॥५॥

imám añjaspám ubháye akriṇvata dharmā́ṇam agním vidáthasya sā́dhanam | aktúṃ ná yahvám ushásaḥ puróhitaṃ tánūnápātam arushásya niṅsate || 2 || báḷ asya nīthā́ ví paṇéṣ ca manmahe vayā́ asya práhutā āsur áttave | yadā́ ghoráso amṛitatvám ā́ṣatā́d íj jánasya daívyasya carkiran || 3 || ṛitásya hí prá·sitir dyaúr urú vyáco námo mahy àrámatiḥ pánīyasī | índro mitró váruṇaḥ sáṃ cikitriré 'tho bhágaḥ savitā́ pūtádaksha-saḥ || 4 || prá rudréṇa yayínā yanti síndhavas tiró mahī́m arámatiṃ dadhanvire | yébhiḥ párijmā pariyánn urú jráyo ví róruvaj jaṭháre víṣvam ukṣháte || 5 || 23 ||

॥२४॥ क्राणा रुद्रा मरुतो विश्वकृष्टयो दिवः श्येनासो असुरस्य नीळयः ।
तेभिश्चष्टे वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमेन्द्रो देवेभिरर्वशेभिरर्वशः ॥६॥
इन्द्रे भुजं शशमानास आशत सूरो दृशीके वृषणश्च पौंस्ये ।
प्र ये न्वस्याहणा ततक्षिरे युजं वज्रं नृषदनेषु कारवः ॥७॥

krāṇā́ rudrā́ marúto viṣvákṛishṭayo diváḥ ṣyenā́so ásurasya nīḷáyaḥ | tébhiṣ cashṭe váruṇo mitró aryaméndro devébhir arvaṣébhir árvaṣaḥ || 6 || índre bhújaṃ ṣaṣamānā́sa āṣata sū́ro dṛíṣīke vṛíshaṇaṣ ca paúṅsye | prá yé nv àsyā-rháṇā tatakshiré yújaṃ vájraṃ nṛishádaneshu kārávaḥ || 7 ||

Both (men and divine powers) make this fire-divine the chief protector, the upholder of all works, and the accomplisher of the sacred worship. They have recourse to him, who is great, is the precursor of the dawn, and the offspring of the brilliant (cosmic wind). 2

We very much wish that our notions regarding that adorable (fire-divine) come to be true. May our oblations, presented to him, be rightly consumed. While the formidable flames (of the fire) reach the immortal world, may our priests extoll the divine being. 3

The vast heaven, the spacious firmament, and the glorious unbounded earth, pay homage to the fire-divine, Lord of the cosmic sacrifice; and Nature's bounties, such as the lightning, the sun, the water, the wind, and the cosmic intelligence, with potentialities purified, recognize him with one accord. 4

The rivers flow along with the dashing storms (and the cloudy winds) and sweep over the boundless earth; with them the circumambient lightning, spreading over a wide space, thundering in the belly (of the firmament), bedews every thing that lies within. 5

The cloud-bearing winds, the offspring of the mighty storms, mixing with every one, flying like the hawks, high in the sky, the co-residents of the same firmament, are engaged in their function. With these swift-moving powers, may our bounties, like waters, the fire, and the sun, look on us with favour (and be of timely use to us). 6

They who love Lord and Nature's bounties, are blessed with protection under the resplendent Lord; the sun also blesses them with fine vision; they are also blessed with manly vigour received from the vigorous forces. These worshippers, who diligently offer adoration to Lord, get full protection from the thunderbolt of Lord's justice and they prosper amidst the assemblies of men. 7

सूरश्चिदा हरितो अस्य रीरमदिन्द्रादा कश्चिद्भयते तवीयसः ।
भीमस्य वृष्णो जठरादभिश्वसो दिवेदिवे सहुरिः स्तन्नबाधितः ॥८॥
स्तोमं वो अद्य रुद्राय शिक्वसे क्षयद्वीराय नमसा दिदिष्टन ।
येभिः शिवः स्ववाँ एवयावभिर्दिवः सिषक्ति स्वयशा निकामभिः ॥९॥
ते हि प्रजाया अभरन्त वि श्रवो बृहस्पतिर्वृषभः सोमजामयः ।
यज्ञैरथर्वा प्रथमो वि धारयद्देवा दक्षैर्भृगवः सं चिकित्रिरे ॥१०॥

súraṣ cid á haríto asya rīramad índrād á káṣ cid bhayate távīyasaḥ | bhīmásya vríshṇo jaṭhárād abhiṣváso divé-dive sáhuri stann ábādhitaḥ || 8 || stómam vo adyá rudráya ṣíkvase kshayádvīrāya námasā didishṭana | yébhiḥ ṣiváḥ svávāñ evayávabhir diváḥ síshakti sváyaṣā níkāmabhiḥ || 9 || té hí prajáyā ábharanta ví ṣrávo bṛíhaspátir vṛishabháḥ sómajāmayaḥ | yajñaír átharvā prathamó ví dhārayad devá dákshair bhṛígavaḥ sáṃ cikitrire || 10 || 24 ||

॥२५॥ ते हि द्यावापृथिवी भूरिरेतसा नराशंसश्चतुरङ्गो यमोऽदितिः ।
देवस्त्वष्टा द्रविणोदा ऋभुक्षणः प्र रोदसी मरुतो विष्णुरर्हिरे ॥११॥
उत स्य न उशिजामुर्विया कविरहिः शृणोतु बुध्न्यो३ हवीमनि ।
सूर्यामासा विचरन्ता दिविक्षिता धिया शमीनहुषी अस्य बोधतम् ॥१२॥
प्र नः पूषा चरथं विश्वदेव्योऽपां नपादवतु वायुरिष्टये ।
आत्मानं वस्यो अभि वातमर्चत तदश्विना सुहवा यामनि श्रुतम् ॥१३॥

té hí dyávāpṛithiví bhúriretasā nárāṣáṅsaṣ cáturaṅgo yamó 'ditiḥ | devás tváshṭā draviṇodá ṛibhukshánaḥ prá rodasí marúto víshṇur arhire || 11 || utá syá na uṣíjām urviyá kavír áhiḥ ṣriṇotu budhnyò hávīmani | sūryámásā vicárantā divikshítā dhiyá ṣamīnahushī asyá bodhatam || 12 || prá naḥ pūshá caráthaṃ viṣvádevyo 'páṃ nápād avatu vāyúr ishṭáye | ātmánaṃ vásyo abhí vátam arcata tád aṣvinā ṣuhavā yámani ṣrutam || 13 ||

Sun's radiations are under His full control; every divine power fears the resplendent Lord and accepts Him as the mightiest of all. From the vault of the firmament thunders day by day the loud triumphant breathing of the mighty Lord, the showerer of blessings. 8

With humility and reverence, pay your homage to the Lord of mighty forces, the powerful, the subduer of all the heroic powers of obstruction and accompanied by the mounted cavalry of forces. Under His care, the devotees go ahead. He, our Lord, the self-bright, auspicious and strong comes to our help (unheard and unseen as if) from the distant heaven. 9

Verily, the Lord of this vast universe, the showerer of benefits, and the close associate of the divine elixir, bestows food for the support of people. The steadfast seers of the by-gone age have churned out the fire for the first time, and so long as this fire is preserved by the offer of oblations, the society shall prosper (with wealth and cattle, harnessing the blessings of Nature). 10

They, the earth and heaven, with their abundant waters, the wind, the Mother Infinity, the divine architect, the wealth-givers, the solar rays, the attributes of cosmic vital principles, and the sun are worshipped by us in the fourfold fire ritual. 11

And may the vigilant fire of the firmament hear the copious praise of our ardent worshippers at the offering of oblations; may the revolving sun and moon resting in celestial region, the earth and sky, comprehend by their intelligence the contents of our this praise. 12

May the universal nourisher protect all our moveable property; may the wind, the friend of all universal powers, the offsprings of the waters, preserve us for the celebration of the worship. May you worship air, the life-principle, to obtain excellent food. May the twin divines, who are worthy to be invoked, hear us on their way. 13

विशामासामभयानामधिक्षितं गीर्भिरु स्वयशसं गृणीमसि ।
ग्नाभिर्विश्वाभिरदितिमनर्वणमक्तोर्युवानं नृमणा अधा पतिम् ॥१४॥
रेभदत्र जनुषा पूर्वो अङ्गिरा ग्रावाण ऊर्ध्वा अभि चक्षुरध्वरम् ।
येभिर्विहाया अभवद्विचक्षणः पाथः सुमेकं स्वधितिर्वनन्वति ॥१५॥ visám āsám ábhayā-

nām adhikshítam gīrbhír u sváyasasam grinīmasi | gnábhir vísvābhir áditim anarvánam aktór yúvānam nrimáná ádhā pátim || 14 || rébhad átra janúshā pūrvo áñgirā grávāna ūrdhvá abhí cakshur adhvarám | yébhir víhāyā ábhavad vicakshanáh páthah sumékam svádhitir vánanvati || 15 || ** ||

(९३) त्रिनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१५) पञ्चदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य पार्थ्यस्तान्व ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१, ४-८, १०, १२, १४) प्रथमर्चश्चतुर्थ्यादिपञ्चानां दशमीद्वादशीचतुर्दशीनाञ्च प्रस्तारपङ्क्तिः, (२, ३, १३) द्वितीयातृतीयात्रयोदशीनामनुष्टुप्, (९) नवम्या अक्षरैः पङ्क्तिः, (११) एकादश्या न्यङ्कुसारिणी, (१५) पञ्चदश्याश्च पुरस्ताद्बृहती छन्दांसि ॥

॥२६॥ महि द्यावापृथिवी भूतमुर्वी नारी यह्वी न रोदसी सदं नः ।
तेभिर्नः पातं सह्यस एभिर्नः पातं शूषणि ॥१॥
यज्ञेयज्ञे स मर्त्यो देवान्त्सपर्यति । यः सुम्नैर्दीर्घश्रुत्तम आविवासात्येनान् ॥२॥
विश्वेषामिरज्यवो देवानां वार्महः । विश्वे हि विश्वमहसो विश्वे यज्ञेषु यज्ञियाः ॥३॥
ते घा राजानो अमृतस्य मन्द्रा अर्यमा मित्रो वरुणः परिज्मा ।
कद्रुद्रो नृणां स्तुतो मरुतः पूषणो भगः ॥४॥

93.

Máhi dyāvāprithivī bhūtam urví nárī yahví ná ródasī sádam nah | tébhir nah pātam sáhyasa ebhír nah pātam sūsháni || 1 || yajñé-yajñe sá mártyo deván saparyati | yáh sumnaír dīrghasrúttama āvívāsaty enān || 2 || vísveshām irajyavo devánām vár maháh | vísve hí visvámahaso vísve yajñéshu yajñíyāh || 3 || té ghā rájāno amrítasya mandrá aryamá mitró várunah párijmā | kád rudró nrinám stutó marútah pūsháno bhágah || 4 ||

We glorify with praises the fire-divine, the self-famous, who dwells amongst these fearless beings; we praise the irresistible Mother Infinity, together with all creativities of Nature's bounties; we praise the young Lord of night, the moon; we praise the sun, the friend of men and above all, we praise the over-all Lord. 14

There, at first the churner of the fire proclaims the initial rites; then the highly lifted clouds exalt the sacrifice, and invoke the Lord and His lightning with thunder brings forth the excellent water, and produces food on the water-drenched fields. 15

93

O heaven and earth, please be mighty and far-extended; may both of these worlds be gracious to us like the young dames. May you with your protections bring security to us against our strong adversaries; and may you protect us by giving us full strength. 1

That man pleases the divine powers at every service, who being most versed in the inner meanings of texts, serves people with gratifying offerings. 2

O Nature's bounties, give us, to one and all, physical and spiritual powers. Verily, all of you are endowed with great glory. All of you are to be invoked at the time of our sacred acts of benevolence. 3

These Nature's bounties are the joyful lords of ambrosia and are adorable. They are known under different names: Aryaman (being the regulator of cosmic order), Mitra (the principle of effulgence behind the sun), cirumambient Varuṇa (being the master of oceanic forces), Rudra (the mighty forces behind the storms), Maruts (the cloud-bearing winds), Pūṣan (the nourishing principles), and Bhaga (the power behind prosperity). 4

उत नो नक्तमपां वृषण्वसू सूर्यामासा सदनाय सधन्या ।
सचा यत्साद्येषामहिर्बुध्नेषु बुध्न्यः ॥५॥

utá no náktam apā́ṃ vṛishaṇvasū sū́ryāmā́sā sádanāya sadhanyā̀ | sácā yát sā́dy eshām áhir budhnéshu budhnyàḥ || 5 || 26 ||

॥२७॥ उत नो देवावश्विना शुभस्पती धामभिर्मित्रावरुणा उरुष्यताम् ।
महः स राय एषतेऽति धन्वेव दुरिता ॥६॥
उत नो रुद्रा चिन्मृळतामश्विना विश्वे देवासो रथस्पतिर्भगः ।
ऋभुर्वाज ऋभुक्षणः परिज्मा विश्ववेदसः ॥७॥
ऋभुर्ऋभुक्षा ऋभुर्विधतो मद आ ते हरी जूजुवानस्य वाजिना ।
दुष्टरं यस्य साम चिदृधग्यज्ञो न मानुषः ॥८॥
कृधी नो अह्रयो देव सवितः स च स्तुषे मघोनाम् ।
सहो न इन्द्रो वह्निभिर्न्येषां चर्षणीनां चक्रं रश्मिं न योयुवे ॥९॥
ऐषु द्यावापृथिवी धातं महदस्मे वीरेषु विश्वचर्षणि श्रवः ।
पृक्षं वाजस्य सातये पृक्षं रायोत तुर्वणे ॥१०॥

utá no devā́v aṣvínā ṣubhás pátī dhā́mabhir mitrā́váruṇā urushyatām | maháḥ sá rāyá éshaté 'ti dhánveva duritá || 6 || utá no rudrā́ cin mṛiḷatām aṣvínā víṣve devā́so ráthaspátir bhágaḥ | ṛibhúr vā́ja ṛibhukshaṇaḥ párijmā viṣvavedasaḥ || 7 || ṛibhúr ṛibhukshā́ ṛibhúr vidható máda ā́ te hárī jūjuvānásya vājínā | dushṭáram yásya sā́ma cid ṛídhag yajñó ná mā́nushaḥ || 8 || kṛidhí no áhrayo deva savitaḥ sá ca stushe maghónām | sahó na índro váhnibhir ny èshāṃ carshaṇīnā́ṃ cakrā́ṃ raṣmím ná yoyuve || 9 || aíshu dyā́vāpṛithivī dhātam mahád asmé vīréshu viṣvácarshaṇi ṣrávaḥ | pṛikshā́ṃ vā́jasya sātáye pṛikshā́ṃ rāyótá turváṇe || 10 || 27 ||

May you, the twin divines, the showerers of wealth, and may you, the sun and moon, and may you, the lords of our waters, come by day and night to our dwellings, whilst clouds set themselves in the firmament in clusters of different shades. 5

And may the twin divines (food and fuel), the lord of water, and the sun and ocean protect us with their benevolence. The one, whom they offer protection, gets ample opulence even through adversities, as a traveller goes safe across a desert. 6

And may the terrible bounties and twin divines make us happy, O omniscient one of universal approach, great and gracious bounties; may the factors leading to sustenance, prosperity, wisdom, strength and also the circumambient wind make us happy. 7

Great is the force of lightning; great is the joy of the worshipper; vigorous are the two driving energies of yours, O rapidly approaching divines. This sacrifice is different; it is divine, not human and its hymn of reverence is unassailable. 8

O the impeller Lord, make us divine and free from shame and faults; you are praised by the priests of nobility. May the resplendent Lord accompanied by the vital forces guide the reins and the chariot-wheel of our life. 9

O heaven and earth, may you grant to our sons name and fame, extending to all quarters of people; may you grant them sustenance for the acquisition of strength; grant them sustenance and wealth for gaining victory over adversaries. 10

॥२८॥ एतं शंसमिन्द्रास्मयुष्ट्वं कूचित्सन्तं सहसावन्नभिष्टये सदा पाह्यभिष्टये ।
मेदतां वेदता वसो ॥११॥
एतं मे स्तोमं तना न सूर्ये द्युतद्यामानं वावृधन्त नृणाम् ।
संवननं नाश्व्यं तष्टेवानपच्युतम् ॥१२॥
वावर्त येषां राया युक्तैषां हिरण्ययी ।
नेमधिता न पौंस्या वृथेव विष्टान्ता ॥१३॥
प्र तद्दुःशीमे पृथवाने वेने प्र रामे वोचमसुरे मघवत्सु ।
ये युक्त्वाय पञ्च शतास्मयु पथा विश्राव्येषाम् ॥१४॥
अधीन्न्वत्र सप्ततिं च सप्त च ।
सद्यो दिदिष्ट तान्वः सद्यो दिदिष्ट पार्थ्यः सद्यो दिदिष्ट माय्वः ॥१५॥

etám ṣánsam indrāsmayúsh ṭvám kūcit sántaṃ sahasāvann abhíshṭaye sádā pāhy abhíshṭaye | medátāṃ vedátā vaso || 11 || etám me stómaṃ taná ná sū́rye dyutádyāmānaṃ vāvṛidhanta nṛiṇā́m | saṃvánanaṃ nā́ṣvyaṃ táshṭevánapacyutam || 12 || vāvárta yéshāṃ rāyā́ yuktaíshāṃ hiraṇyáyī | nemádhitā ná paúnsyā vṛítheva vishṭā́ntā || 13 || prá tád duḥṣíme príthavāne vené prá rāmé vocam ásure maghávatsu | yé yuktvā́ya páñca ṣatā́smayú pathā́ viṣrā́vy eshām || 14 || ádhīn nv átra saptatíṃ ca saptá ca | sadyó didishṭa tā́nvaḥ sadyó didishṭa pārthyáḥ sadyó didishṭa māyaváḥ || 15 || 28 ||

(९४) चतुर्नवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१४) चतुर्दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काद्रवेयः सर्पोऽर्बुद ऋषिः । ग्रावाणो देवताः । (१–४, ६, ८–१३) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां षष्ठ्या अष्टम्यादिषण्णाञ्च जगती, (५, ७, १४) पञ्चमी-सप्तमीचतुर्दशीनाञ्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२९॥ प्रैते वदन्तु प्र वयं वदाम ग्रावभ्यो वाचं वदता वदद्भ्यः ।
यदद्रयः पर्वताः साकमाशवः श्लोकं घोषं भरथेन्द्राय सोमिनः ॥१॥

94.

Praíté vadantu prá vayáṃ vadāma grā́vabhyo vā́caṃ vadatā vádadbhyaḥ | yád adrayaḥ parvatāḥ sākám āṣávaḥ ṣlókaṃ ghósham bhárathéndrāya somínaḥ || 1 ||

O mighty resplendent Lord, (we know that) you are favourably inclined towards us; may you ever protect us, your worshippers, wherever you may be; so that your devotees attain their desires; Award me wisdom, O Lord of riches, for my prosperity. 11

May the priests strengthen this my hymn, which is the destroyer of the enemies and which guides us on brilliant path right up to the sun, and as the carpenter constructs the yokes, firmly set in a horse-driven car. 12

The chariot car has come full of wealth, and laden with gold indicating that many powers have fought the battle to the finish, attaining victory, as if, without an effort. 13

I am seeing before me the vast heaven extending to limitless distances; the sun also rises high to its zenith, then sets into the darkness of nights, and so often the demons of clouds keep it in hiding. In the midst of all this, I proclaim the glory of Nature's bounties, who have come yoked with five hundred chariots, and their affection for us is renowned on the road (which they have traversed). 14

The devotee of extensive noble acts promptly implores for seven-and-seventy cows, the devotee possessing vast lands also prays for it and the one who has keen intellect also prays for it with the same promptness. 15

94

Whilst the venerable priest recites the sacred hymns of praises addressed to the resplendent Lord, we have all around us a serene atmosphere of divine bliss; in response to him, let these other learned sages also speak; let us also speak to the preaching learned sages, and may you also sing praises. 1

एते वदन्ति शतवत्सहस्रवदभि क्रन्दन्ति हरितेभिरासभिः ।
विष्ट्वी ग्रावाणः सुकृतः सुकृत्यया होतुश्चित्पूर्वे हविरद्यमाशत ॥२॥
एते वदन्त्यविदन्नना मधु न्यूङ्खयन्ते अधि पक्व आमिषि ।
वृक्षस्य शाखामरुणस्य बप्सतस्ते सूभर्वा वृषभाः प्रेमराविषुः ॥३॥
बृहद्वदन्ति मदिरेण मन्दिनेन्द्रं क्रोशन्तोऽविदन्नना मधु ।
संरभ्या धीराः स्वसृभिरनर्तिषुराघोषयन्तः पृथिवीमुपब्दिभिः ॥४॥
सुपर्णा वाचमक्रतोप द्यव्याखरे कृष्णा इषिरा अनर्तिषुः ।
न्यङ्नि यन्त्युपरस्य निष्कृतं पुरू रेतो दधिरे सूर्यश्वितः ॥५॥

eté vadanti
ṣatávat sahásravad abhí krandanti háritebhir āsábhiḥ | vishṭví grâvāṇaḥ sukrítaḥ sukrityáyā hótuṣ cit pûrve havirádyam āṣata || 2 || eté vadanty ávidann anâ mádhu ny ûñkhayante ádhi pakvá âmishi | vrikshásya ṣâkhām aruṇásya bápsatas té sûbharvā vrishabhâḥ prém arāvishuḥ || 3 || brihád vadanti madiréṇa mandínéndram króṣanto 'vidann anâ mádhu | saṃrábhyā dhîrāḥ svásribhir anartishur āghosháyantaḥ prithivím upabdíbhiḥ || 4 || suparṇâ vâcam akratópa dyávy ākharé kríshṇā ishirâ anartishuḥ | nyàñ ní yanty úparasya nishkritám purû réto dadhire sūryaṣvítaḥ || 5 || 29 ||

॥३०॥ उग्रा इव प्रवहन्तः समायमुः साकं युक्ता वृषणो बिभ्रतो धुरः ।
यच्छ्वसन्तो जग्रसाना अराविषुः शृण्व एषां प्रोथथो अर्वतामिव ॥६॥
दशावनिभ्यो दशकक्ष्येभ्यो दशयोक्त्रेभ्यो दशयोजनेभ्यः ।
दशाभीशुभ्यो अर्चताजरेभ्यो दश धुरो दश युक्ता वहद्भ्यः ॥७॥

ugrâ iva praváhantaḥ samâyamuḥ sākáṃ yuktâ vríshaṇo bíbhrato dhúraḥ | yác chvasánto jagrasānâ árāvishuḥ ṣriṇvá eshām prothátho árvatām iva || 6 || dáṣāvanibhyo dáṣakakshyebhyo dáṣayoktrebhyo dáṣayojanebhyaḥ | dáṣābhīṣubhyo arcatājárebhyo dáṣa dhúro dáṣa yuktâ váhadbhyaḥ || 7 ||

They recite loudly like a hundred, like a thousand men; they sing aloud with bright faces, and obtain the sacrificial food. The pious priests through their piety partake of the sacrificial food, even before the invoker (the fire divine). 2

They speak; they receive into their mouths the sweet elixir; they enjoy it just as people enjoy the sweet juices of the ripened fruits; and then continue recitations of the devotional Vedic hymns with the vigour of a bull. 3

They chant aloud the glory of the resplendent Lord with the exhilarating hymns of praises. They grasp the sweet elixir (the herbal juices mixed with milk) by their fingers and tongue, and through ecstasy of joy dance filling the earth with chants. 4

The well-gliding clouds roar in the firmament; they dance like the black deer in the stall; they shower down the expressed ambrosia (of rains) from the upper layers and becoming bright as the sun shines, they yield abundant moisture. 5

Bearing the burthen of the cosmic sacrifice, yoked with the divine love, they (the clouds) exert themselves like spirited horses; when panting and expressing devotion, they cry aloud and their snorting is heard like that of horses. 6

Honour those formidable equipments of performing cosmic sacrifice which have ten workers, ten girths, ten yokes, ten agents, ten encompassers, which are possessed of ten burthens used in performing the sacrifice. 7

ते अद्रयो दशयन्त्रास आशवस्तेषामाधानं पर्येति हर्यतम् ।
त ऊं सुतस्य सोम्यस्यान्धसोंशोः पीयूषं प्रथमस्य भेजिरे ॥८॥
ते सोमादो हरी इन्द्रस्य निंसतेंशुं दुहन्तो अध्यासते गवि ।
तेभिर्दुग्धं पपिवान्त्सोम्यं मध्विन्द्रो वर्धते प्रथते वृषायते ॥९॥
वृषा वो अंशुर्न किला रिषाथनेळावन्तः सदमित्स्थनाशिताः ।
रैवत्येव महसा चारवः स्थन यस्य ग्रावाणो अजुषध्वमध्वरम् ॥१०॥

té ádrayo dáṣayantrāsa āṣávas téshām ādhánam páry eti haryatám | tá ū sutásya somyásyándhaso 'ṅṣóḥ pīyū́sham prathamásya bhejire || 8 || té somā́do hárī índrasya niṅsate 'ṅṣúṃ duhánto ádhy āsate gávi | tébhir dugdhám papiván somyám mádhv índro vardhate práthate vṛishāyáte || 9 || vṛ́íshā vo aṅṣúr ná kílā rishāthanélāvantaḥ sádam ít sthanā́ṣitāḥ | raivatyéva máhasā cā́rava sthana yásya grāvāṇo ájushadhvam adhvarám || 10 || 30 ||

॥२१॥ तृदिला अतृदिलासो अद्रयोऽश्रमणा अश्टृथिता अमृत्यवः ।
अनातुरा अजराः स्थामविष्णवः सुपीवसो अतृषिता अतृष्णजः ॥११॥
ध्रुवा एव वः पितरो युगेयुगे क्षेमकामासः सदसो न युञ्जते ।
अजुर्यासो हरिषाचो हरिद्रव आ द्यां रवेण पृथिवीमशुश्रवुः ॥१२॥
तदिद्वदन्त्यद्रयो विमोचने यामन्नञ्जस्पा इव घेदुपब्दिभिः ।
वपन्तो बीजमिव धान्याकृतः पृञ्चन्ति सोमं न मिनन्ति बप्सतः ॥१३॥

tṛidilā́ átṛidilāso ádrayo 'ṣramaṇā́ áṣṛithitā ámṛityavaḥ | anāturā́ ajárā sthā́mavishṇavaḥ supīváso átṛishitā átṛishṇajaḥ || 11 || dhruvā́ evá vaḥ pitáro yugé-yuge kshémakāmāsaḥ sádaso ná yuñjate | ajuryā́so harishā́co harídrava ā́ dyā́ṃ rávena pṛithivī́m aṣuṣravuḥ || 12 || tád íd vadanty ádrayo vimócane yā́mann añjaspā́ iva ghéd upabdíbhiḥ | vápanto bī́jam iva dhānyākṛ́taḥ pṛiñcánti sómaṃ ná minanti bápsataḥ || 13 ||

These stones (of pressing juices) having ten reins, swiftly moving, their delightful whirling goes round; they first taste the ambrosia of the fragment of food of the expressed elixir. 8

These devourers of the divine elixir kiss the horses of the resplendent sun. They mix in it the milk, taken from the cosmic cow. It is the privilege of the resplendent self to quaff the sweet elixir juice milked forth by them. Thereupon he increases, waxes broad and grows vigorous. 9

The divine elixir is your showerer (O stones) of benefits; you are unharmed, and abound in food. You are constantly feeding, like the wealthy possessed of splendour. You, O stones, are charming. You make that person happy for whom you perform cosmic sacrifice. 10

Splitting, but unsplit, you, O sacred stones, are untiring, never weary, immortal, free from disease, undecaying, rising and falling, powerful, unthirsting, but generating thirst in others. 11

O stones, your progenitors (the mountains) verily stand firm from age to age; they though desirous of rest, are not displaced from their seat; they are exempt from decay. Enjoying the elixir, they do not lack flowing green juice, and with their voice they make heaven and earth resound with their clamour. 12

These sacred stones proclaim it with their clamour at the time of extracting elixir, like the quick-protecting chariots on the road; and like cultivators of the land when they are sowing seed, they relish the elixir without devouring. 13

सुते अध्वरे अधि वाचमक्रता क्रीळयो न मातरं तुदन्तः ।
वि षू मुञ्चा सुषुवुषो मनीषां वि वर्तन्तामद्रयश्चायमानाः ॥१४॥

॥ ॐ ॥

॥ इत्यष्टमाष्टके चतुर्थोऽध्यायः ॥

[चतुर्थाध्याये वर्गाः ३१, सूक्तानि ९, ऋचः १६०]

suté adhvaré ádhi vácam akratá krīḷáyo ná mātáram tudántaḥ | ví shú muñcā sushuvúsho manīshám ví vartantām ádrayaṣ cáyamānāḥ || 14 || 31 ||

Caturtho 'dhyāyaḥ.

अथ पञ्चमोऽध्यायः ॥

(९५) पञ्चनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१–१८) अष्टादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१, ३, ६, ८–१०, १२, १४, १७) प्रथमातृतीयाषष्ठीनामृचामष्टम्यादितृचस्य द्वादशीचतुर्दशीसप्तदशीनाञ्चैळः पुरूरवा ऋषिः, (२, ४–५, ७, ११, १३, १५–१६, १८) द्वितीयाचतुर्थीपञ्चमीसप्तम्येकादशीत्रयोदशीपञ्चदशीषोडश्यष्टादशीनाञ्चोर्वशी ऋषिका । (१, ३, ६, ८–१०, १२, १४, १७) प्रथमातृतीयाषष्ठीनामृचामष्टम्यादितृचस्य द्वादशीचतुर्दशीसप्तदशीनाञ्चोर्वशी, (२, ४–५, ७, ११, १३, १५–१६, १८) द्वितीयाचतुर्थीपञ्चमीसप्तम्येकादशीत्रयोदशीपञ्चदशीषोडश्यष्टादशीनाञ्च पुरूरवा देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥ हरिःॐ ॥

॥१॥ हये जाये मनसा तिष्ठ घोरे वचांसि मिश्रा कृणवावहै नु ।
न नौ मन्त्रा अनुदितास एते मयस्करन्परतरे चनाहन् ॥१॥
किमेता वाचा कृणवा तवाहं प्राक्रमिषमुषसामग्रियेव ।
पुरूरवः पुनरस्तं परेहि दुरापना वातइवाहमस्मि ॥२॥

95.

Hayé jáye mánasā tíshṭha ghore vácāṅsi miṣrá kriṇavāvahai nú | ná nau mántrā ánuditāsa eté máyas karan páratare canáhan || 1 || kím etá vācá kriṇavā távāhám prákramisham ushásām agriyéva | púrūravaḥ púnar ástam párehi durāpaná váta ivāhám asmi || 2 ||

They being effused at the sacrifice, raise their voice for elixir like children at play, striking their mother. They proclaim the praise of the stones, which have effused the elixir. Let the honoured stones revolve. 14

95

[P = Pururavas = cloud, loud sounding; and lover
U = Urvasi = Lightning; and beloved.
The sun is cloud's father and hence is Urvasi's father-in-law.]

O my indignant lady, turbulent in mind, keep yourself calm. Let us coolly talk to each other. How long shall we keep our thoughts secret? Let us talk them out, since the unspoken words shall not provide us happiness even up to the last day. 1

What shall we achieve by such a dialogue? I had to fly away from thee like the first of the dawn, O highly sounding cloud, go back to your home. You cannot catch me as none can catch wind. 2

इषुर्न श्रिय इषुधेरसना गोषाः शतसा न रंहिः ।
अवीरे क्रतौ वि दविद्युतन्नोरा न मायुं चितयन्त धुनयः ॥३॥
सा वसु दधती श्वशुराय वय उषो यदि वष्ट्यन्तिगृहात् ।
अस्तं ननक्षे यस्मिञ्चाकन्दिवा नक्तं श्नथिता वैतसेन ॥४॥
त्रिः स्म माह्नः श्नथयो वैतसेनोत स्म मेऽव्यत्यै पृणासि ।
पुरूरवोऽनु ते केतमायं राजा मे वीर तन्व१स्तदासीः ॥५॥

[1]íshur ná ṣriyá ishudhér asanā́ goshā́ḥ ṣatasā́ ná ráṅhiḥ | avíre krátau ví davidyutan nórā ná māyúm citayanta dhúnayaḥ || 3 || sā́ vásu dádhatī ṣváṣurāya váya úsho yádi váshṭy ántigṛihāt | ástam nanakshe yásmiñ cākán dívā náktam ṣnathitā́ vaitaséna || 4 || tríḥ sma mā́hnaḥ ṣnathayo vaitasénotá sma mé 'vyatyai pṛiṇāsi | púrūravó 'nu te kétam āyam rā́jā me vīra tanvàs tád āsīḥ || 5 || 1 ||

॥२॥ या सुजूर्णिः श्रेणिः सुम्नआपिर्ह्रदेचक्षुर्न ग्रन्थिनी चरण्युः ।
ता अञ्जयोऽरुणयो न सस्रुः श्रिये गावो न धेनवोऽनवन्त ॥६॥
समस्मिञ्जायमान आसत ग्ना उतेमवर्धन्नद्य१ः स्वगूर्ताः ।
महे यत्त्वा पुरूरवो रणायावर्धयन्दस्युहत्याय देवाः ॥७॥
सचा यदासु जहतीष्वत्कममानुषीषु मानुषो निषेवे ।
अप स्म मत्तरसन्ती न भुज्युस्ता अत्रसन्रथस्पृशो नाश्वाः ॥८॥

yā́ sujūrṇíḥ ṣréṇiḥ sumnáāpir hradécakshur ná granthínī caraṇyúḥ | tā́ añjáyo 'ruṇáyo ná sasruḥ ṣriyé gā́vo ná dhenávo 'navanta || 6 || sám asmiñ jā́yamāna āsata gnā́ utém avardhan nadyàḥ svágūrtāḥ | mahé yát tvā purūravo ráṇāyā́vardhayan dasyuhátyāya devā́ḥ || 7 || sácā yád āsu jáhatīshv átkam ámānushīshu mā́nusho nishéve | ápa sma mát tarásantī ná bhujyús tā́ atrasan rathaspṛíṣo nā́ṣvāḥ || 8 ||

My arrow is not to be cast from the quiver for obtaining glory; no desires are left in me to capture cattle (of enemy). I am no longer keen to make hundredfold riches. My prowess, having lost its strength, no longer flashes forth; my warriors, the terrifiers of the foes, are not able to shout in the firmament. 3

O dawns, if the lightning, offering food and wealth to father-in-law (the sun), loves her husband (the cloud), she has repaired from the neighbouring house to her husband's home, where she loves (her lord), being delighted by his embraces night and day. 4

O loud-sounding clouds, you embrace me thrice a day; you love me without a rival; I have followed you to your dwelling; you have been the sovereign of my person. 5

The lightnings are of different characteristics; they are known as Sujurni (swift in flash), Sreni (moving in progression), Sumna-Api (of high potential), Hrde-Caksu (water-nymph), Granthinc (Knot-like), and Caranyu (serpentile). They are bright decorative, flashing and flickering and like milch-kine, they love to stay for protection. 6

As soon as he is born, the wives, i.e. all the creativities surround him, the spontaneously flowing rivers nourish him, and the divine powers rear you, O loud-sounding clouds, for a mighty conflict, for destroying the wicked and infidels. 7

When I, a mortal, make love, these immortal nymphs, having abandoned their bodies, flee from me like a timid snake, like horses harnessed to a chariot. 8

यदासु मर्तो अमृतासु निस्पृक्सं क्षोणीभिः क्रतुभिर्न पृङ्क्ते ।
ता आतयो न तन्वः शुम्भत स्वा अश्वासो न क्रीळयो दन्दशानाः ॥९॥
विद्युन्न या पतन्ती दविद्योद्भरन्ती मे अप्या काम्यानि ।
जनिष्टो अपो नर्यः सुजातः प्रोर्वशी तिरत दीर्घमायुः ॥१०॥

yád āsu márto amrítasu nisprik sám kshonibhih krátubhir ná priñkté | tá ātáyo ná tanvàh sumbhata svá ásvāso ná krīḷáyo dándaṣānāḥ || 9 || vidyún ná yá pátantī dávidyod bhárantī me ápyā kámyāni | jánishṭo apó náryaḥ sújātaḥ prórváṣī tirata dīrghám áyuḥ || 10 || 2 ||

॥३॥ जज्ञिष इत्था गोपीथ्याय हि दधाथ तत्पुरूरवो म ओजः ।
अशासं त्वा विदुषी सस्मिन्नहन्न म आशृणोः किमभुग्वदासि ॥११॥
कदा सूनुः पितरं जात इच्छाच्चक्रन्नाश्रु वर्तयद्विजानन् ।
को दंपती समनसा वि यूयोदध यदग्निः श्वशुरेषु दीदयत् ॥१२॥
प्रति ब्रवाणि वर्तयते अश्रु चक्रन्न क्रन्ददाध्ये शिवायै ।
प्र तत्ते हिनवा यत्ते अस्मे परेह्यस्तं नहि मूर मापः ॥१३॥
सुदेवो अद्य प्रपतेदनावृत्परावतं परमां गन्तवा उ ।
अधा शयीत निर्ऋतेरुपस्थेऽधैनं वृका रभसासो अद्युः ॥१४॥

jajñishá itthá gopíthyāya hí dadhátha tát purūravo ma ójaḥ | ásāsam tvā vidúshī sásminn áhan ná ma áṣriṇoḥ kím abhúg vadāsi || 11 || kadá sūnúḥ pitáram jātá ichāc cakrán náṣru vartayad vijānán | kó dámpatī sámanasā ví yūyod ádha yád agníḥ ṣváṣureshu dídayat || 12 || práti bravāṇi vartáyate áṣru cakrán ná krandad ādhyè ṣivāyai | prá tát te hinavā yát te asmé páreby ástam nahí mūra mápaḥ || 13 || sudevó adyá prapáted ánāvṛit parāvátam paramám gántavá u | ádhā ṣáyīta nírriter upásthé 'dhainam vṛíkā rabhasáso adyúḥ || 14 ||

When a mortal mixing with these immortal nymphs has conversed with them with words and actions, they becoming ducks do not show the beauty of their bodies, and like playful horses in their play, they bite and nibble. 9

She, who flashes brilliant like the lightning, bringing me the desirable dews of heaven, appears; then from waters a son, strong and sturdy and friendly to man, is born; may lightning prolong my life for long long times. 10

You have been born thus to protect the earth; you have deposited this vigour in me; why do you now address me, neglectful of my instructions? 11

When shall a son born of you claim me as a father, and, crying, shed drops of tear on recognizing me? What son shall sever husband and wife who are of one mind, now that the fire shines upon your husband's parents? 12

Let me reply. Your son will shed tears, crying out and calling aloud when the expected auspicious moment arrives; I will send you that child which is yours in me. Now please depart to your house; you cannot, O simpleton, detain me further. 13

Your lover, who sports with you, may now depart, never to return, depart to proceed to a distant region. Either let him sleep upon the lap of misfortune, or let the swift-moving wolves devour him. 14

पुरूरवो मा मृथा मा प्र पप्तो मा त्वा वृकासो अशिवास उ क्षन् ।
न वै स्त्रैणानि सख्यानि सन्ति सालावृकाणां हृदयान्येता ॥१५॥

púrūravo mā́ mṛithā mā́ prá papto mā́ tvā vṛikāso áṣivāsa u kshan | ná vaí straíṇāni sakhyā́ni santi sālāvṛikā́ṇām hṛ́dayāny etā́ || 15 || 3 ||

॥४॥ यद्विरूपाचरं मर्त्येष्ववसं रात्रीः शरदश्चतस्रः ।
घृतस्य स्तोकं सकृदह्न आश्नां तादेवेदं तातृपाणा चरामि ॥१६॥
अन्तरिक्षप्रां रजसो विमानीमुप शिक्षाम्युर्वशीं वसिष्ठः ।
उप त्वा रातिः सुकृतस्य तिष्ठान्नि वर्तस्व हृदयं तप्यते मे ॥१७॥
इति त्वा देवा इम आहुरैळ यथेमेतद्भवसि मृत्युबन्धुः ।
प्रजा ते देवान्हविषा यजाति स्वर्ग उ त्वमपि मादयासे ॥१८॥

yád vírūpā́caram mártyeshv ávasam rā́trīḥ ṣarádaṣ cátasraḥ | ghṛitásya stokám sakṛíd áhna āṣnām tā́d evédám tātṛipāṇā́ carāmi || 16 || antarikshaprā́m rájaso vimā́nīm úpa ṣikshāmy urváṣīm vásishṭhaḥ | úpa tvā rātíḥ sukṛitásya tíshṭhān ní vartasva hṛ́dayam tapyate me || 17 || íti tvā devā́ imá āhur aiḷa yáthem etád bhávasi mṛityúbandhuḥ | prajā́ te devā́n havíshā yajāti svargá u tvám ápi mādayāse || 18 || 4 ||

(९६) षण्णवतितमं सूक्तम्
(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो बरुरैन्द्रः सर्वहरिर्वा ऋषिः । हरिर्देवता । (१-११) प्रथमाद्येकादशर्चां जगती, (१२-१३) द्वादशीत्रयोदश्योश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥ प्र ते महे विदथे शंसिषं हरी प्र ते वन्वे वनुषो हर्यतं मदम् ।
घृतं न यो हरिभिश्चारु सेचत आ त्वा विशन्तु हरिवर्पसं गिरः ॥१॥

96.

Prá te mahé vidáthe ṣaṅsisham hárī prá te vanve vanúsho haryatám mádam | ghṛitám ná yó háribhiṣ cā́ru sécata ā́ tvā viṣantu hárivarpasam gíraḥ || 1 ||

Die not, O clouds, nor vanish; let not the hideous wolves devour you. (Please remember that) with women there can be no lasting friendship; their hearts are the hearts of jackals. 15

When changed in form I wandered amongst mortals, I spent four delightful years. I for my meals took once a day a bit of butter; satisfied with that I now depart. 16

I, her best lover, bring under subjection the lightning who fills the firmament with lustre and measures out the region. May the bestower of the auspicisous rite, abide near you; come back — my heart is bruning. 17

O Aila, the loud-sounding clouds, these divines say to you, since you are indeed subject to death, "let your progeny propitiate your revered cosmic forces with oblations, then alone you shall rejoice (with me) in heaven". 18

96

(O Sun), I glorify your two vigorous steeds (the mighty driving forces of repulsion and attraction) at the cosmic sacrifice. May we be exhilarated by your blessings. You drive away, and even destroy, the demon clouds. What a wonder, that the bright-tinted clouds shower the torrents of pure water from above like beautiful butter! may my praises reach you. 1

हरिं हि योनिमभि ये समस्वरन्हिन्वन्तो हरी दिव्यं यथा सदः ।
आ यं पृणन्ति हरिभिर्न धेनव इन्द्राय शूषं हरिवन्तमर्चत ॥२॥
सो अस्य वज्रो हरितो य आयसो हरिर्निकामो हरिरा गभस्त्योः ।
द्युम्नी सुशिप्रो हरिमन्युसायक इन्द्रे नि रूपा हरिता मिमिक्षिरे ॥३॥
दिवि न केतुरधि धायि हर्यतो विव्यचद्वज्रो हरितो न रंह्या ।
तुददहिं हरिशिप्रो य आयसः सहस्रशोका अभवद्धरिंभरः ॥४॥
त्वंत्वमहर्यथा उपस्तुतः पूर्वेभिरिन्द्र हरिकेश यज्वभिः ।
त्वं हर्यसि तव विश्वमुक्थ्य१मसामि राधो हरिजात हर्यतम् ॥५॥

hárim̥ hí yó-nim abhí yé samásvaran hinvánto hárī divyám̥ yáthā sádaḥ | á yám priṇánti háribhir ná dhenáva índrāya sūshám̥ hárivantam arcata || 2 || só asya vájro hárito yá āyasó hárir níkāmo hárir á gábhastyoḥ | dyumní suṣipró hárimanyusāyaka índre ní rūpá háritā mimikshire || 3 || diví ná ketúr ádhi dhāyi haryató vivyácad vájro hárito ná ráṅhyā | tudád áhim̥ háriṣipro yá āyasáḥ sahásraṣokā abhavad dharimbharáḥ || 4 || tvám̥-tvam aharyathā úpastutaḥ pū́rvebhir indra harikeṣa yájvabhiḥ | tvám̥ haryasi táva víṣvam ukthyàm ásāmi rádho harijāta haryatám || 5 || 6 ||

॥६॥ ता वज्रिणं मन्दिनं स्तोम्यं मद इन्द्रं रथे वहतो हर्यता हरी ।
पुरूण्यस्मै सवनानि हर्यत इन्द्राय सोमा हरयो दधन्विरे ॥६॥
अरं कामाय हरयो दधन्विरे स्थिराय हिन्वन्हरयो हरी तुरा ।
अर्वद्भिर्यो हरिभिर्जोषमीयते सो अस्य कामं हरिवन्तमानशे ॥७॥

tá vajríṇam mandínam̥ stómyam máda índram̥ ráthe vahato haryatá hárī | purū́ṇy asmai sávanāni háryata índrāya sómā hárayo dadhanvire || 6 || áram̥ kámāya hárayo dadhanvire sthiráya hinvan hárayo hárī turá | árvadbhir yó háribhir jósham íyate só asya kámam̥ hárivantam ānaṣe || 7 ||

May you all priase the vigour of the two horses of the Sun, who drive the chariot in the firmament. These horses take the Sun to the assembly of the great Cosmic Sacrifice. May you all worship the Sun, who derives his might from his horses who drive his chariot. At this sacrifice, the entire creation, every one, participates in the enjoyment of the golden-tinted blissful elixir, just as milch-kine are satisfied with their milk. 2

That is his thunderbolt, yellow, made of iron, the destroyer of foes, desirable, it is in his hands; he is possessed of riches, handsome-jawed, possessed of a shaft and anger which destroys enemies—many golden-tinted forms are mixed in our resplendent Lord (or the Sun). 3

He has been placed by His worshippers in the sky, like the banner of light, the sun. His desirable bolt reaches the foe, as the bay horses (of the sun attain their final goal) through speed. The iron thunderbolt, with yellow jaws smites the nescience, the wicked; He, our resplendent Lord, Lord of horses, shines with thousand lustres. 4

O resplendent Lord (or the sun) with yellow locks, when praised by ancient worshippers, you are pleased to receive the oblation. You, who are manifested of a golden hue, deserve your universal praise. These praises are your superb and delightful sustenance. 5

These two delightful horses yoked to the sun bring the thunderer, the rejoicing and laudable radiant sun, in his car to the place of blissful activities. For him, the beloved one, many libations of the brilliant devotional offerings are stored up (at the cosmic sacrifice). 6

The golden-hued cosmic exhilarating elixirs are stored up to furnish him full satisfaction. The golden-hued saps urge the two swift-horses to serve the stalwart (sun). The chariot rushes with spirited vigour to the place of conflict, reaches the destination, where the sweet devotional elixir is being presented. 7

हरिश्मशारुर्हरिकेश आयसस्तुरस्पेये यो हरिपा अवर्धत ।
अर्वद्भिर्यो हरिभिर्वाजिनीवसुरति विश्वा दुरिता पारिषद्धरी ॥८॥
स्रुवेव यस्य हरिणी विपेततुः शिप्रे वाजाय हरिणी दविध्वतः ।
प्र यत्कृते चमसे मर्मृजद्धरी पीत्वा मदस्य हर्यतस्यान्धसः ॥९॥
उत स्म सद्म हर्यतस्य पस्त्योऽरत्यो न वाजं हरिवाँ अचिक्रदत् ।
मही चिद्धि धिषणाहर्यदोजसा बृहद्वयो दधिषे हर्यतश्चिदा ॥१०॥

hárismasārur hárikesa āyasás turaspéye yó haripā́ ávardhata | árvadbhir yó háribhir vājínīvasur áti víṣvā duritā́ pā́rishad dhárī || 8 || srúveva yásya hárinī vipetátuḥ ṣípre vā́jāya hárinī dávidhvataḥ | prá yát kritḗ camasé mármrijad dhárī pītvā́ mádasya haryatásyā́ndhasaḥ || 9 || utá sma sádma haryatásya pastyòr átyo ná vā́jam hárivām̐ acikradat | mahí cid dhí dhisháṇā́haryad ójasā bṛihád váyo dadhishe haryatás cid ā́ || 10 || 6 ||

॥७॥ आ रोदसी हर्यमाणो महित्वा नव्यंनव्यं हर्यसि मन्म नु प्रियम् ।
प्र पस्त्यमसुर हर्यतं गोराविष्कृधि हरये सूर्याय ॥११॥
आ त्वा हर्यन्तं प्रयुजो जनानां रथे वहन्तु हरिशिप्रमिन्द्र ।
पिबा यथा प्रतिभृतस्य मध्वो हर्यन्यज्ञं सधमादे दशोणिम् ॥१२॥
अपाः पूर्वेषां हरिवः सुतानामथो इदं सवनं केवलं ते ।
ममद्धि सोमं मधुमन्तमिन्द्र सत्रा वृषञ्जठर आ वृषस्व ॥१३॥

ā́ ródasī háryamāṇo mahitvā́ návyam-navyam haryasi mánma nú priyám | prá pastyàm asura haryatám gór āvísh kṛidhi háraye sū́ryāya || 11 || ā́ tvā haryántam prayújo jánānām ráthe vahantu hárisipram indra | píbā yáthā prátibhṛitasya mádhvo háryan yajñám sadhamā́de dáṣoṇim || 12 || ápāḥ pū́rveshām harivaḥ sutā́nām átho idám sávanam kévalam te | mamaddhí sómam mádhumantam indra satrā́ vṛishañ jaṭhára ā́ vṛishasva || 13 || 7 ||

The golden-bearded, golden-haired, iron-hearted resplendent sun, the drinker of the golden elixir, has been invigorated by the elixir, which he has quickly quaffed. The elixir is rich in sacrificial food brought by the swift vigorous horses; may the sun drive his two bay horses safe through all possible difficulties. 8

He (the sun) is praised, whose driving horses alight (upon the elixir) like two ladles, whose yellow and bright jaws tremble with eagerness for the sacrificial food, who tastes the delicious exhilarating beverage in the appropriate cup, and who rubs down the sturdy horses (yoked to his chariot). 9

The dwelling of the gracious (sun) is in heaven down to the earth. Exhilarated by the divine elixir, he rushes impetuously as a charger to battle. The earnest prayer for the fulfilment of his desires invokes him (endowed with) strength. (O sun), you amply provide food to your ardent and sincere (devotee). 10

You (O sun, or the resplendent Lord), who are the object of love, fill the entire space from heaven to earth with your glory and greatness. You are worthy of tributes ever new and new. O powerful one, you are always quick in finding out the stores of water for the sake of the water-seizing sun. 11

Let your horses yoked to the cosmic chariot bring you, O sun, (or O Lord of resplendence), the yelow-jawed, ever desirous of sacrifice, in the midst of the other cosmic participants. (O Sun), fully taking part in the cosmic sacrifice, you enjoy the divine elixir, sweetly flavoured, and pressed by ten fingers. May you be fully invoked in the cosmic activity. 12

O sun, lord of divine horses, you have been accepting previous libations. This sacrifice is also exclusively for you. O resplendent sun, exhilarate yourself, with the sweet elixir. O showerer of copious rains, shower it on the lands over which you are supreme. 13

(९७) सप्तनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-२३) त्रयोविंशत्यृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याथर्वणो भिषगृषिः । ओषधयो देवताः । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥८॥

या ओषधीः पूर्वा जाता देवेभ्यस्त्रियुगं पुरा ।
मनै नु बभ्रूणामहं शतं धामानि सप्त च ॥१॥
शतं वो अम्ब धामानि सहस्रमुत वो रुहः ।
अधा शतक्रत्वो यूयमिमं मे अगदं कृत ॥२॥
ओषधीः प्रति मोदध्वं पुष्पवतीः प्रसूवरीः ।
अश्वा इव सजित्वरीर्वीरुधः पारयिष्ण्वः ॥३॥
ओषधीरिति मातरस्तद्वो देवीरुप ब्रुवे ।
सनेयमश्वं गां वास आत्मानं तव पूरुष ॥४॥
अश्वत्थे वो निषदनं पर्णे वो वसतिष्कृता ।
गोभाज इत्किलासथ यत्सनवथ पूरुषम् ॥५॥

97.

Yá óshadhīḥ pū́rvā jātā́ devébhyas triyugám purā́ | mánai nú babhrū́ṇām ahám ṣatám dhā́māni saptá ca || 1 || ṣatám vo amba dhā́māni sahásram utá vo rúhaḥ | ádhā ṣatakratvo yūyám imám me agadám krita || 2 || óshadhīḥ práti modadhvam púshpavatīḥ prasū́varīḥ | áṣvā iva sajítvarīr vīrúdhaḥ pārayishṇvàḥ || 3 || óshadhīr íti mātaras tád vo devīr úpa bruve | sanéyam áṣvam gā́m vā́sa ātmā́nam táva pūrusha || 4 || aṣvatthé vo nishádanam parṇé vo vasatísh kritā́ | gobhā́ja ít kílāsatha yát sanávatha pū́rusham || 5 || 8 ||

॥९॥

यत्रौषधीः समग्मत राजानः समिताविव ।
विप्रः स उच्यते भिषग्रक्षोहामीवचातनः ॥६॥

yátraúshadhīḥ samágmata rā́jānaḥ sámitāv iva | vípraḥ sá ucyate bhishág rakshohā́mīvacā́tanaḥ || 6 ||

97

I know the hundred and seven applications of the brown-tinted plants, which have been growing since ancient times, much before men were born and thriving during the three seasons (spring, rains and autumn). 1

You are like mothers of mankind; a hundred are your applications, a thousandfold is your growth; may you who fulfil a hundred functions make this my (man) free from disease. 2

Rejoice, plants, bearing abundant flowers and fruit, triumphing together (over disease) like victorious horses, sprouting forth, bearing men safe beyond disease. 3

"Plants!" thus I hail you; you are the divine mothers of mankind. Oh physician, I shall give you a horse, a cow, and a garment, even myself (in case you cure the sick). 4

Your abode is in the holy tree (aśvattha), your dwelling is established in the palaśa leaves; you shall assuredly become the winner of cattle, if you could effectively cure and thus save this man for me. 5

Where, plants, you are congregated like princes in battle, thereby the sage is designated a physician, the destroyer of evil infections and extirpator of virus disease. 6

अ॒श्वा॒व॒तीं सो॑माव॒तीमू॒र्जय॑न्ती॒मुदो॑जसम् ।
आवि॑त्सि॒ सर्वा॒ ओष॑धीर॒स्मा अ॑रि॒ष्टता॑तये ॥७॥
उच्छुष्मा॒ ओष॑धीनां॒ गावो॑ गो॒ष्ठादि॑वेरते ।
धनं॑ सनि॒ष्यन्ती॑नामा॒त्मानं॒ तव॑ पूरुष ॥८॥
इष्कृ॑ति॒र्नाम॑ वो मा॒ताथो॑ यू॒यं स्थ॒ निष्कृ॑तीः ।
सी॒राः प॑त॒त्रिणी॑ स्थन॒ यदा॒मय॑ति॒ निष्कृ॑थ ॥९॥
अति॒ विश्वाः॑ परि॒ष्ठाः स्ते॒न इ॑व व्र॒जम॑क्रमुः ।
ओष॑धीः॒ प्राचु॑च्यवु॒र्यत्किं च॑ त॒न्वो॒३॒॑ रपः॑ ॥१०॥ asvāyatím so-

māvatím ūrjáyantīm údojasam | ávitsi sárvā óshadhīr asmá arishṭátātaye || 7 || úc chúshmā óshadhīnām gávo goshṭhád iverate | dhánam sanishyántīnām ātmánam táva pūrusha || 8 || íshkritir náma vo mātátho yūyám stha níshkritīh | sīráh patatrínī sthana yád āmáyati nísh kritha || 9 || áti vísvāh parishṭhá stená iva vraján akramuh | óshadhīh prácucyavur yát kím ca tanvò rápah || 10 || 9 ||

॥१०॥

यदि॒मा वा॒जय॑न्न॒हमोष॑धी॒र्हस्त॑ आद॒धे ।
आ॒त्मा यक्ष्म॑स्य नश्यति पु॒रा जी॑व॒गृभो॑ यथा ॥११॥
यस्यौ॑षधीः प्र॒सर्प॒थाङ्ग॑मङ्गं॒ परु॑ष्परुः ।
ततो॒ यक्ष्मं॒ वि बा॑धध्व उ॒ग्रो म॑ध्यम॒शीरि॑व ॥१२॥
सा॒कं य॑क्ष्म॒ प्र प॑त॒ चाषे॑ण किकिदी॒विना॑ ।
सा॒कं वात॑स्य॒ ध्राज्या॑ सा॒कं न॑श्य नि॒हाक॑या ॥१३॥

yád imá vājáyann ahám óshadhīr hásta ādadhé | ātmá yákshmasya nasyati purá jīvagríbho yathā || 11 || yásyau-shadhīh prasárpathāṅgam-aṅgam párush-paruh | táto yáksh-mam ví bādhadhva ugró madhyamasír iva || 12 || sākám yakshma prá pata cáshena kikidīvínā | sākám vátasya dhrá-jyā sākám nasya nihákayā || 13 ||

I praise here the virtues of belonging to four categories: (i) asvavati, the curatives; (ii) somavati, the sedatives, (iii) urjayanti, the energizing and (iv) ud-ojasa, the rejuvenating. All these plants, I praise for the purpose of overcoming this disease. 7

O man, the healing virtues of the plants stream forth (from these herbs) like cattle from the stall; they have the competency of restoring the richness of health to you. 8

(O plants), verily your mother is Iṣkṛti, the Reliever, and therefore, you are called Niṣkṛti, the restorer; whensoever a man is ill, you cure him. 9

The universal all-pervading plants assail diseases as a thief attacks a cow-shed; they drive out all types of infirmities of body whichsoever. 10

As soon as I take these plants in my hand, the vanished strength is restored, and the soul or the root of the malady perishes before the sick succumbs to disease. 11

From him, O plants, in whom you creep from limb to limb, from joint to joint, you drive away disease like some strong arbiter of strife. 12

Fly forth, sickness, with the jay, with the blue jay, with the velocity of the wind; vanish together with the iguana. 13

अ॒न्या वो॑ अ॒न्याम॑वत्व॒न्यान्यस्या॒ उपा॑वत ।
ताः सर्वाः॑ संविदा॒ना इ॒दं मे॒ प्राव॑ता॒ वचः॑ ॥१४॥
याः फ॒लिनी॒र्या अ॑फ॒ला अ॑पु॒ष्पा याश्च॑ पु॒ष्पिणीः॑ ।
बृह॒स्पति॑प्रसूता॒स्ता नो॑ मुञ्च॒न्त्वंह॑सः ॥१५॥

anyā́ vo anyā́m avatv anyā́nyásyā úpāvata | tā́ḥ sárvāḥ saṃvidānā́ idám me prā́vatā vácaḥ || 14 || yā́ḥ phalínīr yā́ aphalā́ apushpā́ yā́ṣ ca pushpíṇīḥ | bṛíhaspátiprasūtās tā́ no muñcantv áṅhasaḥ || 15 || 10 ||

॥११॥ मु॒ञ्चन्तु॑ मा शप॒थ्या॒३॒॑दथो॑ वरु॒ण्या॑दु॒त ।
अथो॑ य॒मस्य॒ पड्वी॑शा॒त्सर्व॑स्माद्देवकिल्बि॒षात् ॥१६॥
अ॒व॒पत॑न्तीरवदन्दि॒व ओष॑धय॒स्परि॑ ।
यं जी॒वम॒श्नवा॑महै॒ न स रि॑ष्याति॒ पूरु॑षः ॥१७॥
या ओष॑धीः॒ सोम॑राज्ञीर्ब॒ह्वीः श॒तवि॑चक्षणाः ।
तासां॒ त्वम॑स्युत्त॒मारं॒ कामा॑य॒ शं हृ॒दे ॥१८॥
या ओष॑धीः॒ सोम॑राज्ञी॒र्विष्ठि॑ताः पृथि॒वीमनु॑ ।
बृह॒स्पति॑प्रसूता अ॒स्यै सं द॑त्त वी॒र्य॑म् ॥१९॥
मा वो॑ रिषत्खनि॒ता यस्मै॑ चा॒हं खना॑मि वः ।
द्वि॒पच्चतु॑ष्पद॒स्माकं॒ सर्व॑मस्त्वनातु॒रम् ॥२०॥

muñcántu mā ṣapathyā̀d átho varuṇyā̀d utá | átho yamásya páḍbīṣāt sárvasmād devakilbishā́t || 16 || avapátantīr avadan divá óshadhayas pári | yáṃ jīvám aṣnávāmahai ná sá rishyāti pū́rushaḥ || 17 || yā́ óshadhīḥ sómarājñīr bahvī́ḥ ṣatávicakshaṇāḥ | tā́sāṃ tvám asy uttamā́raṃ kā́māya ṣáṃ hṛidé || 18 || yā́ óshadhīḥ sómarājñīr víshṭhitāḥ pṛithivī́m ánu | bṛíhaspátiprasūtā asyaí sáṃ datta vīryàm || 19 || mā́ vo rishat khanitā́ yásmai cāhám khánāmi vaḥ | dvipác cátushpad asmā́kaṃ sárvam astv anāturám || 20 ||

O plants, let each of you go to the other, lend assistance to the other; thus being all mutually joined together, attend to this my invocation. 14

Whether bearing fruit or barren, whether flowering or flowerless, may they, the progeny of the supreme protector, liberate us from our pain and grief. 15

May they liberate me from the pain and sickness produced by negligence and ignorance, from the sin caused by a disregard to natural ways of life. May they liberate us from the fetters of death, and from all guilt caused by disobeying Nature's bounties. 16

The plants, descending from heaven, said, "no evil shall befall a man, whom, while he lives, we nourish." 17

Of all the plants, which have the divine elixir, the Master Cure, for their king, which are numerous and all-seeking, you, O divine elixir, are the best; be prompt to the wishful and sweet to the heart. 18

May the plants, which have the divine elixir, the Master Cure, for their king, which are scattered all over the earth, which are the offspring of our supreme protector, give vigour to this infirm body. 19

Let not the digger hurt you, nor the sick person for whom I dig you up; may all my bipeds and quadrupeds be free from disease. 20

याश्चेदमुपशृण्वन्ति याश्च दूरं परागताः ।
सर्वाः संगत्य वीरुधोऽस्यै सं दत्त वीर्यम् ॥२१॥
ओषधयः सं वदन्ते सोमेन सह राज्ञा ।
यस्मै कृणोति ब्राह्मणस्तं राजन्पारयामसि ॥२२॥
त्वमुत्तमास्योषधे तव वृक्षा उपस्तयः ।
उपस्तिरस्तु सो३ऽस्माकं यो अस्माँ अभिदासति ॥२३॥

yā́ṣ cedā́m upaṣriṇvánti yā́ṣ ca dūrā́m párāgatāḥ | sárvāḥ saṃgátya vīrudho 'syaí sā́ṃ datta vīryàm || 21 || óshadhayaḥ sā́ṃ vadante sómena sahá rā́jñā | yásmai kriṇóti brāhmaṇás tā́ṃ rājan pārayāmasi || 22 || tvā́m uttamā́sy oshadhe táva vrikshā́ úpastayaḥ | úpastir astu sò 'smā́kaṃ yó asmā́ñ abhidā́sati || 23 || 11 ||

(९८) अष्टनवतितमं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यार्ष्टिषेणो देवापिर्ऋषिः । देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥ बृहस्पते प्रति मे देवतामिहि मित्रो वा यद्वरुणो वासि पूषा ।
आदित्यैर्वा यद्वसुभिर्मरुत्वान्त्स पर्जन्यं शंतनवे वृषाय ॥१॥
आ देवो दूतो अजिरश्चिकित्वान्त्वद्देवापे अभि मामगच्छत् ।
प्रतीचीनः प्रति मामा ववृत्स्व दधामि ते द्युमतीं वाचमासन् ॥२॥
अस्मे धेहि द्युमतीं वाचमासन्बृहस्पते अनमीवामिषिराम् ।

98.

Brı́haspate prā́ti me devátām ihi mitró vā yád várụṇo vā́si pūshā́ | ādityaír vā yád vásubhir marútvān sá parjányaṃ ṣā́ṃtanave vrishā́ya || 1 || ā́ devó dūtó ajirā́ṣ cikitvā́n tvád devāpe abhí mā́m agachat | praticīnā́ḥ prā́ti mā́m ā́ vavritsva dā́dhāmi te dyumā́tīṃ vā́cam āsā́n || 2 ||

All the plants that hear this invocation and those which are removed far off, come together and give vigour and health to this (sick body). 21

All the plants, in the presence of the divine elixir, the king, declare, "O king, we save him who on the advice of the expert physician, takes us as medicine." 22

O divine herb, Soma, you are the best of the plants; to you other plants pay obeisance and salute. Let him be subject to us whosoever attacks us. 23

98

O Lord Supreme, may you on my behalf, approach Nature's bounties, such as the sun, the ocean, or nourishing elements. May you come with vital principles, solar rays, natural resources of wealth, cosmic vital elements, and let the clouds pour rain water for the thirsty lands. 1

Let a divine messenger, quick and intelligent, the meteorologist, i.e., the foreteller of rains and thunder, send light and come to me. Come, O Lord Supreme to me, turning towards me; I have reverential words of brilliant eulogium for you. 2

यया॑ वृ॒ष्टिं शं॒तन॑वे॒ वना॑व दि॒वो द्र॒प्सो मधु॑माँ॒ आ वि॑वेश ॥३॥
आ नो॑ द्र॒प्सा मधु॑मन्तो विश॒न्त्विन्द्र॑ दे॒ह्यधि॑रथं स॒हस्र॑म् ।
नि षी॑द हो॒त्रमृ॑तु॒था य॑जस्व दे॒वान्दे॑वापे ह॒विषा॑ सपर्य ॥४॥
आ॒र्ष्टि॒षे॒णो हो॒त्रमृषि॑र्नि॒षीद॑न्दे॒वापि॑र्देवसुम॒तिं चि॑कि॒त्वान् ।
स उत्त॑रस्मा॒दध॑रं समु॒द्रम॒पो दि॒व्या अ॑सृजद्व॒र्ष्या॑ अ॒भि ॥५॥
अ॒स्मिन्त्स॑मु॒द्रे अध्युत्त॑रस्मि॒न्नापो॑ दे॒वेभि॒र्निवृ॑ता अतिष्ठन् ।
ता अ॑द्रवन्नार्ष्टिषे॒णेन॑ सृ॒ष्टा दे॒वापि॑ना॒ प्रेषि॑ता मृ॒क्षिणी॑षु ॥६॥

asmé
dhehi dyumátīm vácam āsán bríhaspate anamīvám ishirám | yáyā vrishtím sámtanave vánāva divó drapsó mádhumāñ á vivesa || 3 || á no drapsá mádhumanto visantv índra dehy ádhiratham sahásram | ní shīda hotrám rituthá yajasva deván devāpe havíshā saparya || 4 || ārshtishenó hotrám ríshir nishídan devápir devasumatím cikitván | sá úttarasmād ádharam samudrám apó divyá asrijad varshyà abhí || 5 || asmín samudré ádhy úttarasminn ápo devébhir nívritā atishthan | tá adravann ārshtishenéna srishtá devápinā préshitā mrikshínīshu || 6 || 12 ||

॥१३॥ यद्दे॒वापिः॑ शं॒तन॑वे पु॒रोहि॑तो हो॒त्राय॑ वृ॒तः कृ॒पय॒न्नदी॑धेत् ।
दे॒व॒श्रुतं॑ वृष्टि॒वनिं॒ ररा॑णो बृह॒स्पति॒र्वाच॑मस्मा अयच्छत् ॥७॥
यं त्वा॑ दे॒वापिः॑ शुशुचा॒नो अ॑ग्न आर्ष्टिषे॒णो म॑नु॒ष्यः॑ समी॒धे ।
विश्वे॑भिर्दे॒वैर॑नुम॒द्यमा॑नः॒ प्र प॒र्जन्य॑मीरया वृष्टि॒मन्त॑म् ॥८॥

yád devápih sámtanave puróhito hotráya vritáh kripáyann ádīdhet | devasrútam vrishtivánim rárāno bríhaspátir vácam asmā ayachat || 7 || yám tvā devápih susucānó agna ārshtishenó manushyàh samīdhé | vísvebhir devaír anumadyámānah prá parjányam īrayā vrishtimántam || 8 ||

O Lord Supreme, may I have reverential words of a brilliant eulogium, prompt and free from defect, by which we two may obtain rain from heaven for the thrirsty lands; the sweet rain drops sent by you (from heaven) have come down and entered into realm of the earth. 3

May the sweet drops of rain fall upon us. Grant us, OLord of resplendence, a thousand chariot-loads (of harvest). Sit down, O foreteller of rains and thunder, to your duties as a priest. At the proper season, offer sacrifiece to the Nature's bounties, and worship them with oblations (i.e. in due seasons, cultivate the land. and give water and maure to it). 4

The sage, Devapi, i.e., the forteller of rains and thunder (the rain-scientist or meteorologist), the son of the weather-scientist (Ṛṣṭiṣeṇa), knowing how to propititate the divine powers, has sat down to his functions as priest. He has brought down the rain waters from high heaven, from the upper to the lower regions of midspace. 5

In this upper region of space, the waters stand dammed up by Nature's forces; set free by Devapi, i.e. the rain meteorologist, the disciple of a weather-scientist (Ṛṣṭiṣeṇa) the water-bearing clouds are sent forth over the plains. 6

When the cosmic meteorologist (Devapi), the expert adviser in respect to dry lands, coolly gives advice to Him, the Supreme Lord listens and thereon commands rains to come down and they obey His words. 7

O fire-divine, when the mortal meteorologist, the son of weather-scientist, has kindled you, and when all Nature's bounties have been invoked, you send down the rain-laden clouds. 8

त्वां पूर्व ऋषयो गीर्भिरायन्त्वामध्वरेषु पुरुहूत विश्वे ।
सहस्राण्यधिरथान्यस्मे आ नो यज्ञं रोहिदश्वोप याहि ॥९॥
एतान्यग्ने नवतिर्नव त्वे आहुतान्यधिरथा सहस्रा ।
तेभिर्वर्धस्व तन्वः शूर पूर्वीर्दिवो नो वृष्टिमिषितो रिरीहि ॥१०॥
एतान्यग्ने नवतिं सहस्रा सं प्र यच्छ वृष्ण इन्द्राय भागम् ।
विद्वान्पथ ऋतुशो देवयानानप्यौलानं दिवि देवेषु धेहि ॥११॥
अग्ने बाधस्व वि मृधो वि दुर्गहापामीवामप रक्षांसि सेध ।
अस्मात्समुद्राद्बृहतो दिवो नोऽपां भूमानमुप नः सृजेह ॥१२॥

tvā́m pū́rva ṛíshayo gīrbhír āyan tvā́m adhvaréshu puruhūta víśve | sahásrāṇy ádhirathāny asmé ā́ no yajñám rohidaśvópa yāhi || 9 || etā́ny agne navatír náva tvé ā́hutāny ádhirathā sahásra | tébhir vardhasva tanvàḥ śūra pūrvī́r divó no vṛishṭím ishitó rirīhi || 10 || etā́ny agne navatím sahásrā sám prá yacha vṛíshṇa índrāya bhāgám | vidvā́n pathá ṛitusó devayā́nān ápy aulānám diví devéshu dhehi || 11 || ágne bā́dhasva ví mṛídho ví durgáhā́pā́mīvām ápa rákshāṅsi sedha | asmā́t samudrā́d bṛiható divó no 'pā́m bhūmā́nam úpa naḥ sṛijehá || 12 || 13 ||

(९९) नवनवतितमं सूक्तम्
(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैखानसो वम्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ कं नश्चित्रमिषण्यसि चिकित्वान्पृथुग्मानं वाश्रं वावृधध्यै ।
कत्तस्य दातु शवसो व्युष्टौ तक्षद्वज्रं वृत्रतुरमपिन्वत् ॥१॥

99.

Kā́m naś citrám ishaṇyasi cikitvā́n pṛithugmā́nam vāśrám vāvṛidhádhyai | kát tásya dā́tu śávaso vyùshṭau tákshad vájram vṛitratúram ápinvat || 1 ||

The ancient sages have been approaching you with hymns; O invoked of many, O Lord of radiant energies, all worshippers address you at worship. May you grant us thousands of chariot-loads (of grain), and may you come to our sacrifices (i.e. bless us in all our efforts of public service). 9

O fire-divine, ninety-and-nine thousands of chariot-loads of harvest have been offered to you; with them, O hero, the fire-divine, nourish all your flames; and thus solicited, send us rains from heaven. 10

O fire-divine, give these ninety thousands to the showerer, as his share; knowing the paths traversed by Nature's forces in due seasons, may you place our water resources in heaven amongst the divine powers. 11

O fire-divine, demolish our enemies, demolish their strongholds, drive away disease, drive away the wicked from this ocean; from vast heaven, may you send down upon us here abundance of rain. 12

99

O resplendent Lord, knowing our needs, what marvellous, comprehensive laudable wealth do you bestow upon us for our advantage. With all His strength at the maximum, He fabricated the wicked-slaying thunderbolt, and let the waters flow (from the clouds). That has been His wonderful gift to us. 1

स हि द्युता विद्युता वेति साम पृथुं योनिमसुरत्वा ससाद ।
स सनीळेभिः प्रसहानो अस्य भ्रातुर्न ऋते सप्तथस्य मायाः ॥२॥
स वाजं यातापदुष्पदा यन्त्स्वर्षाता परि षदत्सनिष्यन् ।
अनर्वा यच्छतदुरस्य वेदो घ्नञ्छिश्नदेवाँ अभि वर्पसा भूत् ॥३॥
स यह्व्योऽवनीर्गोष्वर्वा जुहोति प्रधन्यासु सस्त्रिः ।
अपादो यत्र युज्यासोऽरथा द्रोण्यश्वास ईरते घृतं वाः ॥४॥
स रुद्रेभिरशस्तवार ऋभ्वा हित्वी गयमारेअवद्य आगात् ।
वम्रस्य मन्ये मिथुना विवव्री अन्नमभीत्यारोदयन्मुषायन् ॥५॥
स इद्दासं तुवीरवं पतिर्दन्षळक्षं त्रिशीर्षाणं दमन्यत् ।
अस्य त्रितो न्वोजसा वृधानो विपा वराहमयोअग्रया हन् ॥६॥

sá hí dyutā́ vidyútā véti sā́ma prithúm yónim asuratvā́ sasāda | sá sánīḷebhiḥ prasahānó asya bhrā́tur ná rité saptáthasya māyā́ḥ || 2 || sá vā́jam yātā́padushpadā yán svàrshātā pári shadat sanishyán | anarvā́ yác chatádurasya védo ghnáñ chiṣnádevāñ abhí várpasā bhū́t || 3 || sá yahvyò 'vánīr góshv árvā́ juhoti pradhanyā̀su sásriḥ | apā́do yátra yújyāso 'rathā́ droṇyàṣvāsa írate ghritám vā́ḥ || 4 || sá rudrébhir áṣastavāra ríbhvā hitví gáyam āréavadya ā́gāt | vamrásya manye mithunā́ vívavrī ánnam abhítyārodayan mushāyán || 5 || sá íd dā́sam tuvīrávam pátir dán shaḷakshám triṣīrshā́ṇam damanyat | asyá tritó nv ójasā vridhānó vipā́ varāhám áyoagrayā han || 6 || 14 ||

॥१५॥ स द्रुह्वणे मनुष ऊर्ध्वसान आ साविषदर्शसानाय शरुम् ।
स नृतमो नहुषोऽस्मत्सुजातः पुरोऽभिनदर्हन्दस्युहत्ये ॥७॥

sá drúhvaṇe mánusha ūrdhvasāná ā́ sāvishad arṣasā́nāya ṣárum | sá nrítamo náhusho 'smát sújātaḥ púro 'bhinad árhan dasyuhátye || 7 ||

Armed with lightning and thunder, he (the resplendent Sun) goes to accomplish his task; endowed with might, he establishes Himself in the spacious cosmic space. He is triumphant with His associates (the cloud-bearing winds). With them and with all his helping hands, He, the seventh (or the sliding) Sun counter-acts the tricky talents of His wicked opponents. 2

Marching with ease and prestige, he goes to battle; he toils to get hold of the spoils; he, the invincible, destroys the lust-worshipping demons and seizes by his prowess whatever wealth is concealed in the strongholds of the demons with hundred gates. 3

The victorious resplendent Sun, roaming amongst the dark clouds, quickly moves and releases torrents of water for the rich fields. He associates (with rivers), which are fast moving and which without conveyance pour out pitchers of water and yet keep moving with the speed of a horse. 4

May he, (the Cosmic Sun), our unsolicited benefactor, the mighty one, the blameless, having left his dwelling, come with the cosmic vital elements. I think of the two (i.e. parents) of this wise (Cosmic Divine), who are free from infirmity. He conquers the food of enemy (the Demon of Cosmic Darkness) and roars while winning it. 5

The sovereign Lord of resplendence, attacking him, subdues the loud-shouting, six-eyed, three-headed enemy and the three-fold Cosmic Divinity; invigorated by His stength, He smites the water-laden cloud with his iron-tipped finger. 6

Raising himself on high, he launches his arrow against the malignant aggressive foe. He, the Cosmic Sun, the Chief Leader of men emerges out from the invisibility, for the sake of our help, shatters the strongholds of adversaries while destroying the wicked niggards, the malevolent elements. 7

सो अभ्रियो न यवस उदन्यन्क्षयाय गातुं विदन्नो अस्मे ।
उप यत्सीददिन्दुं शरीरैः श्येनोऽयोपाष्टिर्हन्ति दस्यून् ॥८॥
स व्राधतः शवसानेभिरस्य कुत्साय शुष्णं कृपणे परादात् ।
अयं कविमनयच्छस्यमानमत्कं यो अस्य सनितोत नृणाम् ॥९॥
अयं दशस्यन्नर्येभिरस्य दस्मो देवेभिर्वरुणो न मायी ।
अयं कनीन ऋतुपा अवेद्यमिमीताररुं यश्चतुष्पात् ॥१०॥
अस्य स्तोमेभिरौशिज ऋजिश्वा व्रजं दरयद्वृषभेण पिप्रोः ।
सुत्वा यद्यजतो दीदयद्गीः पुर इयानो अभि वर्पसा भूत् ॥११॥
एवा महो असुर वक्षथाय वम्रकः पड्भिरुप सर्पदिन्द्रम् ।
स इयानः करति स्वस्तिमस्मा इषमूर्जं सुक्षितिं विश्वमाभाः ॥१२॥

só abhríyo ná yávasa udanyán kshá́yāya gātúṃ vidán no asmé | úpa yát sī́dad índuṃ śárīraiḥ śyenó 'yopāshṭir hanti dásyūn || 8 || sá vrā́dhataḥ śavasānébhir asya kútsāya śúshṇaṃ kṛipáṇe párādāt | ayáṃ kavím anayac chasyámānam átkaṃ yó asya sánitotá nṛiṇā́m || 9 || ayáṃ daśasyán náryebhir asya dasmó devébhir váruṇo ná māyī́ | ayáṃ kanī́na ṛitupā́ avedy ámimītārárum yáś cátushpāt || 10 || asyá stómebhir auśijá ṛijíśvā vrajáṃ darayad vṛishabhéṇa píproḥ | sútvā yád yajató dīdáyad gī́ḥ púra iyānó abhí várpasā bhū́t || 11 || evá mahó asura vakshátháya vamrakáḥ paḍbhír úpa sarpad índram | sá iyānáḥ karati svastím asmā́ ísham ū́rjaṃ sukshitíṃ víśvam ā́bhāḥ || 12 || 15 ||

Ashṭamo 'nuvākaḥ.

Like the aggregated cloud, that rains on the pasturage, he finds the way to our dwelling. When he gets exhilarated with divine elixir, he, like a hawk with heel of iron, smites the wicked niggards, the malevolent elements. 8

He overthrows the formidable (adversary) with powerful weapons; he destroys the exploiter in the interests of the liberal devotee; he humiliates the leader poet who offers praises. He is the giver of form to the brave leader and his fellow-men. 9

Bountiful to his worshippers, and his associates, friendly to men, and wonderful with his brilliance, having benign power like the venerable Lord, he is known as wise and as guardian of the seasons. He destroys the obstructive force, which assails from all the four directions. 10

Through his lauds, the wise sincere sage (fire or the Sun) shatters the strongholds of greedy man. When the sage sings praises and shines as singer, he seizes the hiding places of evil elements and subdues them with his craft. 11

In this manner, O mighty Lord, the devotee approaches the inner soul step by step, to offer a big oblation. May he, being approached, grant us prosperity; may he bring us food, drink, a secure dwelling and all (desirable and appropriate things). 12

अथ नवमोऽनुवाकः ॥]

(१००) शततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वान्दनो दुवस्युर्ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१-११) प्रथमाद्येकादशर्चां जगती, (१२) द्वादश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१६॥ इन्द्र दृह्य मघवन्त्वावदिद्भुज इह स्तुतः सुतपा बोधि नो वृधे ।
देवेभिर्नः सविता प्रावतु श्रुतमा सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥१॥
भराय सु भरत भागमृत्वियं प्र वायवे शुचिपे क्रन्ददिष्टये ।
गौरस्य यः पयसः पीतिमानश आ सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥२॥
आ नो देवः सविता साविषद्वय ऋजूयते यजमानाय सुन्वते ।
यथा देवान्प्रतिभूषेम पाकवदा सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥३॥
इन्द्रो अस्मे सुमना अस्तु विश्वहा राजा सोमः सुवितस्याध्येतु नः ।
यथायथा मित्रधितानि संदधुरा सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥४॥
इन्द्र उक्थेन शवसा परुर्दधे बृहस्पते प्रतरीतास्यायुषः ।
यज्ञो मनुः प्रमतिर्नः पिता हि कमा सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥५॥
इन्द्रस्य नु सुकृतं दैव्यं सहोऽग्निर्गृहे जरिता मेधिरः कविः ।
यज्ञश्च भूद्विदथे चारुरन्तम आ सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥६॥

100.

Índra dṛíhya maghavan tvā́vad íd bhujá ihá stutáḥ sutapā́ bodhi no vṛidhé | devébhir naḥ savitā́ prā́vatu ṣrutám ā́ sarvátātim áditiṃ vṛiṇīmahe || 1 || bhárāya sú bharata bhāgám ṛitvíyam prá vāyáve ṣucipé krandádishṭaye | gaurásya yáḥ páyasaḥ pītím ānaṣá ā́ sarvátātim áditiṃ vṛiṇīmahe || 2 || ā́ no deváḥ savitā́ sāvishad váya ṛijūyaté yájamānāya sunvaté | yáthā devā́n pratibhū́shema pākavád ā́ sarvátātim áditiṃ vṛiṇīmahe || 3 || índro asmé sumánā astu viṣváhā rā́jā sómaḥ suvitásyā́dhy etu naḥ | yáthā-yathā mitrádhitāni saṃdadhúr ā́ sarvátātim áditiṃ vṛiṇīmahe || 4 || índra ukthéna ṣávasā párur dadhe bṛíhaspate prataritā́sy ā́yushaḥ | yajñó mánuḥ prámatir naḥ pitā́ hí kam ā́ sarvátātim áditiṃ vṛiṇīmahe || 5 || índrasya nú súkṛitaṃ daívyaṃ sáho 'gnír gṛihé jaritā́ médhiraḥ kavíḥ | yajñáṣ ca bhūd vidáthe cā́rur ántama ā́ sarvátātim áditiṃ vṛiṇīmahe || 6 || 16 ||

100

O affluent resplendent Lord, well-known as acceptor of devotional prayers, praised on this occasion, may you be favourable to our progress. May the impeller, associated with other divine powers, hear us and protect us. We love all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 1

Offer to the resplendent Lord, the cherisher of all, the share appropriate to the season: offer it to the divine wind, the drinker of the pure elixir, who clamours as he travels, who obtains a draught of pure milk. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 2

May the divine impeller generate well-dressed food for every one of our devoted house-holders, who serve with libations, and thereby are in good favour with Nature's bounties. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 3

May the Lord of resplendence be favourably disposed towards us every day; may the sovereign blissful Lord accept our praises, and be pleased to bestow upon us friendly treasure. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 4

By His laudable strength, the Lord of resplendence sustains every limb of mine; O Lord Supreme, you are the lengthener of my life. May the devotion, may the intellect and wisdom grant us happiness. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 5

The divine force of the Lord of resplendence is just and appropriate; the fire-divine abides in our dwelling. He is the praiser of Nature's bounties, the receiver of oblations, the sage, and is worhty of sacrifice at the altar, beautiful, and most near. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 6

॥१७॥ न वो गुहा चकृम भूरि दुष्कृतं नाविष्ट्यं वसवो देवहेळनम् ।
माकिर्नो देवा अनृतस्य वर्पस आ सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥७॥
अपामीवां सविता साविषन्न्य१ग्वरीय इदप सेधन्त्वद्रयः ।
ग्रावा यत्र मधुषुदुच्यते बृहदा सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥८॥
ऊर्ध्वो ग्रावा वसवोऽस्तु सोतरि विश्वा द्वेषांसि सनुतर्युयोत ।
स नो देवः सविता पायुरीड्य आ सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥९॥
ऊर्जं गावो यवसे पीवो अत्तन ऋतस्य याः सदने कोशे अङ्ग्ध्वे ।
तनूरेव तन्वो अस्तु भेषजमा सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥१०॥
क्रतुप्रावा जरिता शश्वतामव इन्द्र इद्भद्रा प्रमतिः सुतावताम् ।
पूर्णमूधर्दिव्यं यस्य सिक्तय आ सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे ॥११॥
चित्रस्ते भानुः क्रतुप्रा अभिष्टिः सन्ति स्पृधो जरणिप्रा अधृष्टाः ।
रजिष्ठया रज्या पश्व आ गोस्तूतुर्षति पर्यग्रं दुवस्युः ॥१२॥

ná vo gúhā cakṛima bhū́ri dushkṛitám̱ nā́víshṭyam̱ vasavo devahéḷanam | mā́kir no devā ánṛitasya várpasa ā́ sarvátātim áditim̱ vṛiṇīmahe || 7 || ápā́mīvām̱ savitā́ sāvishan nyàg vā́rīya íd ápa sedhantv ádrayaḥ | grā́vā yátra madhushúd ucyáte bṛihád ā́ sarvátātim áditim̱ vṛiṇīmahe || 8 || ūrdhvó grā́vā vasavo 'stu sotári víṣvā dvéshāṅsi sanutár yuyota | sá no deváḥ savitā́ pāyúr íḍya ā́ sarvátātim áditim̱ vṛiṇīmahe || 9 || ū́rjam̱ gāvo yávase pívo attana ṛitásya yā́ḥ sádane kóṣe aṅgdhvé | tanū́r evá tanvò astu bheshajám ā́ sarvátātim̱ áditim̱ vṛiṇīmahe || 10 || kratuprā́vā jaritā́ ṣáṣvatām áva índra íd bhadrā́ prámatiḥ sutā́vatām | pūrṇám ū́dhar divyám̱ yásya siktáya ā́ sarvátātim áditim̱ vṛiṇīmahe || 11 || citrás te bhānúḥ kratuprā́ abhishṭíḥ sánti spṛídho jaraṇiprā́ ádhṛishṭāḥ | rájishṭhayā rájyā paṣvá ā́ gós tū́tūrshaty páry ágram̱ duvasyúḥ || 12 || 17 ||

O Lord of wealth, we have not committed any great sin against you secretly, nor any open action causing the anger of Nature's forces; let not, O divine powers, any of us adopt falsehood of any form in our life. We love the all-pervading universal Infinity, the common mother of us all. 7

May the divine sun drive away our disease; may the mountains ward off our most heinous (crimes); may we live there where the austere enlightened sages sing praises in loud voice. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 8

O possessor of wealth and wisdom, may our prestige be high in our sacred selfless offerings; may you disperse all my secret adversaries; the divine impeller is our adorable protector. We love the all-prevading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 9

O cows, revered and respected in the cow-stall, on sacred occasions, may you eat abundant fodder in the pasture; may your body be the remedy for our body. We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 10

The Lord of resplendence is the fulfiller of pious acts, the glorifier of all, the guardian of the offerers of libations, and the auspicious forethought. For his libation the heavenly pitcher is filled (with divine elixir of sweetness). We love the all-pervading Infinity, the common mother of us all. 11

O resplendent Lord, your splendour is wonderful, is fulfiller of our pious aspirations, and is most desirable; your divine actions are capable of replenishing the wealth of your worshippers and are irresistible; therefore, may you lead us, as a servant (the bullock driver) leads a bullock on a straight path by fastening a pain-giving rope through his nostrils. 12

(१०१) एकोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सौम्यो बुध ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा ऋत्विजो वा देवताः ।
(१-३, ७-८, १०-११) प्रथमादितृचस्य सप्तम्यष्टमीदशम्येकादशीनामृचाञ्च
त्रिष्टुप्, (४, ६) चतुर्थीषष्ठ्योर्गायत्री, (५) पञ्चम्या बृहती, (९, १२)
नवमीद्वादश्योश्च जगती छन्दांसि ॥

॥१८॥ उद्बुध्यध्वं समनसः सखायः समग्निमिन्ध्वं बहवः सनीळाः ।
दधिक्रामग्निमुषसं च देवीमिन्द्रावतोऽवसे नि ह्वये वः ॥१॥
मन्द्रा कृणुध्वं धिय आ तनुध्वं नावमरित्रपरणीं कृणुध्वम् ।
इष्कृणुध्वमायुधारं कृणुध्वं प्राञ्चं यज्ञं प्र णयता सखायः ॥२॥
युनक्त सीरा वि युगा तनुध्वं कृते योनौ वपतेह बीजम् ।
गिरा च श्रुष्टिः सभरा असन्नो नेदीय इत्सृण्यः पक्वमेयात् ॥३॥
सीरा युञ्जन्ति कवयो युगा वि तन्वते पृथक् । धीरा देवेषु सुम्नया ॥४॥
निराहावान्कृणोतन सं वरत्रा दधातन ।
सिञ्चामहा अवतमुद्रिणं वयं सुषेकमनुपक्षितम् ॥५॥
इष्कृताहावमवतं सुवरत्रं सुषेचनम् । उद्रिणं सिञ्चे अक्षितम् ॥६॥

101.

Úd budhyadhvam̩ sámanasah̩ sakhāyah̩ sám agním indhvam bahávah̩ sánīlāh̩ | dadhikrā́m agním ushásam̩ ca devī́m índrāvató 'vase ní hvaye vah̩ || 1 || mandrā́ krin̩udhvam̩ dhíya ā́ tanudhvam̩ nā́vam aritrapáran̩īm̩ krin̩udhvam | íshkrin̩udhvam ā́yudhāram krin̩udhvam prā́ñcam̩ yajñám prá n̩ayatā sakhāyah̩ || 2 || yunákta sī́rā ví yugā́ tanudhvam̩ krité yónau vapatehá bī́jam | girā́ ca srushtíh̩ sábharā ásan no nédīya ít srin̩yàh̩ pakvám éyāt || 3 || sī́rā yuñjanti kaváyo yugā́ ví tanvate príthak | dhī́rā devéshu sumnayā́ || 4 || nír āhāvā́n krin̩otana sám̩ varatrā́ dadhātana | siñcā́mahā avatám udrín̩am̩ vayám̩ sushékam ánupakshitam || 5 || íshkritāhāvam avatám̩ suvaratrám̩ sushecanám | udrín̩am̩ siñce ákshitam || 6 || 18 ||

101

Awake friends, and kindle fire-divine; may you be of one mind — you, who are many in number, and dwell together under one-roof; I invoke you, O vital breath, fire-divine, and dawn; may you be associated with radiant sun for our protection. 1

Compose pleasant hymns, spin out your songs and praises, construct the ship which is propelled by oars, prepare your weapons, make all things ready, and let the sacrifical fire be enkindled. 2

May you harness the ploughs, and fit on the yokes; now that the womb of earth is ready, sow the seed therein, and through our benedictions may there be abundant food; may the grain fall ripe towards the sickle. 3

The wise farmers, aspiring happiness with reliance in Nature's bounties, harness the ploughs, and lay the yokes apart. 4

May we set up the cattle-troughs, and securely fasten on the straps to it; let us supply water in copious streams (to our fields), from our wells, unfailing and full. 5

I pour out water from the well, whose cattle-troughs are ready for the purpose—water that is nice for watering the fields and taken from wells not to be exhausted. 6

॥१९॥ प्रीणीताश्वान्हितं जंयाथ स्वस्तिवाहं रथमित्कृणुध्वम् ।
द्रोणाहावमवतमश्मचक्रमंसत्रकोशं सिञ्चता नृपाणम् ॥७॥
व्रजं कृणुध्वं स हि वो नृपाणो वर्म सीव्यध्वं बहुला पृथूनि ।
पुरः कृणुध्वमायसीरधृष्टा मा वः सुस्रोच्चमसो दृंहता तम् ॥८॥
आ वो धियं यज्ञियां वर्त ऊतये देवा देवीं यजतां यज्ञियामिह ।
सा नो दुहीयद्यवसेव गत्वी सहस्रधारा पयसा मही गौः ॥९॥
आ तू षिञ्च हरिमीं द्रोरुपस्थे वाशीभिस्तक्षताश्मन्मयीभिः ।
परि ष्वजध्वं दश कक्ष्याभिरुभे धुरौ प्रति वह्निं युनक्त ॥१०॥
उभे धुरौ वह्निरापिब्दमानोऽन्तर्योनेव चरति द्विजानिः ।
वनस्पतिं वन आस्थापयध्वं नि षू दधिध्वमखनन्त उत्सम् ॥११॥
कपृन्नरः कपृथमुद्दधातन चोदयत खुदत वाजसातये ।
निष्टिग्र्यः पुत्रमा च्यावयोतय इन्द्रं सबाध इह सोमपीतये ॥१२॥

prīṇītáśvān hitám jayātha svastiváham rátham ít kṛiṇudhvam | drónāhāvam avatám áśmacakram áṅsatrakośam siñcatā nṛipáṇam | 7 || vrajám kṛiṇudhvam sá hí vo nṛipáṇo várma sīvyadhvam bahulā́ pṛithū́ni | púraḥ kṛiṇudhvam ā́ya-sīr ádhṛishṭā mā́ vaḥ susroc camasó dṛíṅhatā tám || 8 || ā́ vo dhíyam yajñíyām varta ūtáye dévā devím yajatā́m ya-jñíyām ihá | sá no duhīyad yávaseva gatví sahásradhārā pá-yasā mahí gaúḥ || 9 || ā́ tū́ shiñca hárim īm drór upásthe vā́sībhis takshatāśmanmáyībhiḥ | pári shvajadhvam dáśa kakshyā̀bhir ubhé dhúrau práti váhnim yunakta || 10 || ubhé dhúrau váhnir āpíbdamāno 'ntár yóneva carati dvijā́niḥ | vánaspátim vána ā́sthāpayadhvam ní shū́ dadhidhvam ákhananta útsam || 11 || káprin naraḥ kapṛithám úd dadhā-tana codáyata khudáta vā́jasātaye | nishṭigryàḥ putrám ā́ cyāvayotáya índram sabā́dha ihá sómapītaye || 12 || 19 ||

Refresh the horses, and take from them the good work of ploughing. Equip a chariot laden with gcod fortune. Give water to your fields taken from wells, having wooden cattle troughs and a stone rim along with a receptacle like armour. Sweet water (of well is) for the drinking of men also. 7

Construct the cow-stall, for that is the drinking place of your leaders (of your men), fabricate armour, manifold and ample. Make cities of iron strong and impregnable; let not your ladle leak; make it strong and unbreakable. 8

O holy divine powers, I would like to draw your attention at this place of dedication and worship towards me for my protection. Our sacrifice pours milk for us, like a stately cow, yielding thousand streams of milk after having eaten fodder in plenty and having returned to their home (in the evenings). 9

Pour out the golden-tinted elixir into the wooden pitcher, fabricated with axes forged out of stones and girded one by one; fill up the herbal elixir in ten pitchers and process the juice. May you also harness the beast of burden (ox or horse) to the two poles of the chariot. 10

Within the two chariot-poles beast of burden, the car-horse goes pressed closely, as in his dwelling or at the sacrifice moves the person with two wives. May you place the "Lord of Forests" (the herbal elixir) in a wooden pot, and store up the juice in it without digging. (The wooden pot full of elixir is like a well which has not been dug). 11

O men, Lord of resplendence is the giver of happiness. May you invoke and evoke this giver of bliss and pleasure; love Him, be sportive with Him and then He would provide all food and sustenance. Invoke Him that He, the son of the suns, comes to you here in your closest proximity to your sacrifice and accepts your devotional expressions. 12

(१०२) द्व्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–१२) द्वादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्म्यश्वो मुद्गल ऋषिः । द्रुघण इन्द्रो वा देवता । (१, ३, १२) प्रथमातृतीयाद्वादशीनामृचां बृहती, (२, ४–११) द्वितीयायाश्चतुर्थ्याद्यष्टानाञ्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

२०॥ प्र ते रथं मिथूकृतमिन्द्रोऽवतु धृष्णुया ।
अस्मिन्नाजौ पुरुहूत श्रवाय्ये धनभक्षेषु नोऽव ॥१॥
उत्स्म वातो वहति वासो अस्या अधिरथं यदजयत्सहस्रम् ।
रथीरभून्मुद्गलानी गविष्टौ भरे कृतं व्यचेदिन्द्रसेना ॥२॥
अन्तर्यच्छ जिघांसतो वज्रमिन्द्राभिदासतः ।
दासस्य वा मघवन्नार्यस्य वा सनुतर्यवया वधम् ॥३॥
उद्नो ह्रदमपिबज्जर्हृषाणः कूटं स्म तृंहदभिमातिमेति ।
प्र मुष्कभारः श्रव इच्छमानोऽजिरं बाहू अभरत्सिषासन् ॥४॥
न्यक्रन्दयन्नुपयन्त एनममेहयन्वृषभं मध्य आजेः ।
तेन सूभर्वं शतवत्सहस्रं गवां मुद्गलः प्रधने जिगाय ॥५॥
ककर्दवे वृषभो युक्त आसीदवावचीत्सारथिरस्य केशी ।
दुधेर्युक्तस्य द्रवतः सहानस ऋच्छन्ति ष्मा निष्पदो मुद्गलानीम् ॥६॥

102.

Prá te rátham mithūkṛ́tam índro 'vatu dhṛishṇuyā́ asmínn ājaú puruhūta ṣravā́yye dhanabhakshéshu no 'va || 1 || út sma vā́to vahati vā́so 'syā adhiratham yád ájayat sahásram | rathī́r abhūn mudgalā́nī gávishṭau bháre kṛitáṃ vy àced indrasenā || 2 || antár yacha jíghāṅsato vájram in-drā́bhidā́satah | dasasya vā maghavann ā́ryasya vā sanutár yavayā vadhám || 3 || udnó hradám apibaj járhṛishāṇaḥ kū́-ṭaṃ sma tṛiṅhád abhímātim eti | prá mushkábhāraḥ ṣráva ichámāno 'jirám bāhū́ abharat síshāsan || 4 || ny àkranda-yann upayánta enam ámehayan vṛishabhám mádhya ājéḥ téna sū́bharvaṃ ṣatávat sahásraṃ gávām múdgalaḥ pra-dháne jigāya || 5 || kakárdave vṛishabhó yuktá āsīd ávāvacīt sā́rathir asya keṣí | dúdher yuktásya drávataḥ sahā́nasa ṛi-chánti shmā nishpádo mudgalā́nīm || 6 || 20 ||

102

May the resplendent head or leader, by His powers protect your chariot that has been left alone. Defend us, O much invoked, in this glorious fight against the raiders for the recovery of our wealth. 1

The wind makes her garments flap, when she, the prowess of our resplendent Lord, wins a cart-load worth a thousand. In the quest of cattle, Mudgalani, the prowess of our Lord, has been the charioteer. The army of the resplendent king recovers the wealth seized in battles. 2

O resplendent king, please strike with your bolt the assailants, who would kill us otherwise; ward off, O bounteous, the secret weapon of our foe, be he a heathen or one of our cultured race. 3

Rejoicing, it (the bull yoked or the armoured tank or car) drinks to its full a pool of waters or liquid fuel; it cleaves the mountain peak, it goes against the enemy. Endowed with vigour, eager for fame, assailing the quick-moving foe, it seizes him, the foe, with both of its mechanized arms. (A conflict between the sun and clouds, or the soul and the evil tendencies). 4

They approach the bull and make him roar in the midst of the battle. I, the resplendent sun, the subduer of the high spirits of the foes or clouds (mudgala), thereby gain in war hundreds and thousands of milch-cattle, well-nourished. 5

The bull (or the armoured car) has been yoked for the destruction of the enemy; his long-haired, well-trained driver, the yoke-fellow, makes him roar; rushing on with the wagon of the irresistible yoked armoured car, the warriors coming forth go to pay tributes to the prowess of the king (mudgalani). 6

॥२१॥ उत प्रधिमुदहन्नस्य विद्वानुपायुनग्वंसगमत्र शिक्षन् ।
इन्द्र उदावत्पतिमघ्न्यानामरंहत पद्याभिः ककुद्मान् ॥७॥
शुनमष्ट्राव्यचरत्कपर्दी वरत्रायां दार्वानह्यमानः ।
नृम्णानि कृण्वन्बहवे जनाय गाः पस्पशानस्तविषीरधत्त ॥८॥
इमं तं पश्य वृषभस्य युञ्जं काष्ठाया मध्ये द्रुघणं शयानम् ।
येन जिगाय शतवत्सहस्रं गवां मुद्गलः पृतनाज्येषु ॥९॥
आरे अघा को न्वित्था ददर्श यं युञ्जन्ति तम्वा स्थापयन्ति ।
नास्मै तृणं नोदकमा भरन्त्युत्तरो धुरो वहति प्रदेदिशत् ॥१०॥
परिवृक्तेव पतिविद्यमानट् पीप्याना कूचक्रेणेव सिञ्चन् ।
एषैष्या चिद्रथ्या जयेम सुमङ्गलं सिनवदस्तु सातम् ॥११॥
त्वं विश्वस्य जगतश्चक्षुरिन्द्रासि चक्षुषः ।
वृषा यदाजिं वृषणा सिषाससि चोदयन्वध्रिणा युजा ॥१२॥

utá pradhím úd ahann asya vidván úpāyunag váṅsagam átra ṣíkshan | índra úd ầvat pátim ághnyānām áraṅhata pádyābhiḥ kakúdmān || 7 || ṣunám ashṭrāvy ầcarat kapardí varatráyāṃ dáıv ānáhyamānaḥ | nṛimṇáni kṛiṇván baháve jánāya gáḥ paspaṣānás távishīr adhatta || 8 || imáṃ tám paṣya vṛishabhásya yúñjaṃ káshṭhāyā mádhye drughaṇáṃ ṣáyānam | yéna jigáya ṣatávat sahásraṃ gávām múdgalaḥ pṛitanájyeshu || 9 || āré aghá kó nv itthá dadarṣa yáṃ yuñjánti tám v á sthāpayanti | násmai tṛ́ṇaṃ nódakám á bharanty úttaro dhuró vahati pradédiṣat || 10 || parivṛiktéva patividyam ānaṭ pípyānā kúcakreṇeva siñcán | eshaishyầ cid rathyầ jayema sumaṅgálaṃ sínavad astu sātám || 11 || tvám víṣvasya jágataṣ cákshur indrāsi cákshushaḥ | vṛíshā yád ājím vṛíshaṇā síshāsasi codáyan vádhriṇā yujá || 12 || 21 ||

The sage (the King) has fitted up the frames of the car, has also harnessed the bull, and has trained him for his work. The resplendent king protects the lord of the inviolable (cows), and the bull or buffalo, rushes along with speed. 7

Wielding the goad, (the resplendent king) with the braided hairs proceeds happily, fastening the strap to the wooden pole of the car or waggon, and distributing riches to many people, and caressing the oxen he acquires vigour. 8

Behold this mace, the ally of the bull car, lying midway in the field of the battle, with which I, the swallower of passions and pride, have won hundreds and thousands of riches in war. 9

Who sees the evils near so closely? They stop the bull which they yoke; they stop; to him they provide neither fodder nor water. Being above (the bull), he bears the chariot-pole of the car and declares (victory of his lord on the opponents). 10

Just as a wife, who has been abandoned, rejoices to find her husband coming back again; and as a cloud expanding when pouring forth rain with the aid of the earth's disc, fully determined to succeed for our charioteer in the conflicts, may we win (the award). May good fortune (peace and prosperity), together with food, be given to all of us. 11

O resplendent Lord (or O resplendent sun), you are the eye of the whole world, when, O showerer (of benefits), urging on your two vigorous steeds, yoked to your car, you proceed to win battle with full confidence. 12

(१०३) त्र्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यैन्द्रोऽप्रतिरथ ऋषिः । (१-३, ५-११) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्यादिसप्तर्चाश्चेन्द्रः, (४) चतुर्थ्या बृहस्पतिः, (१२) द्वादश्या अप्वा देवी, (१३) त्रयोदश्याश्चेन्द्रो मरुतो वा देवता । (१-१२) प्रथमादिद्वादशर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (१३) त्रयोदश्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२२॥ आशुः शिशानो वृषभो न भीमो घनाघनः क्षोभणश्चर्षणीनाम् ।
संक्रन्दनोऽनिमिष एकवीरः शतं सेना अजयत्साकमिन्द्रः ॥१॥
संक्रन्दनेनानिमिषेण जिष्णुना युत्कारेण दुश्च्यवनेन धृष्णुना ।
तदिन्द्रेण जयत तत्सहध्वं युधो नर इषुहस्तेन वृष्णा ॥२॥
स इषुहस्तैः स निषङ्गिभिर्वशी संस्रष्टा स युध इन्द्रो गणेन ।
संसृष्टजित्सोमपा बाहुशर्ध्युग्रधन्वा प्रतिहिताभिरस्ता ॥३॥
बृहस्पते परि दीया रथेन रक्षोहामित्राँ अपबाधमानः ।
प्रभञ्जन्त्सेनाः प्रमृणो युधा जयन्नस्माकमेध्यविता रथानाम् ॥४॥
बलविज्ञायः स्थविरः प्रवीरः सहस्वान्वाजी सहमान उग्रः ।
अभिवीरो अभिसत्वा सहोजा जैत्रमिन्द्र रथमा तिष्ठ गोवित् ॥५॥
गोत्रभिदं गोविदं वज्रबाहुं जयन्तमज्म प्रमृणन्तमोजसा ।
इमं सजाता अनु वीरयध्वमिन्द्रं सखायो अनु सं रभध्वम् ॥६॥

103.

Āṣúḥ ṣíṣāno vṛishabhó ná bhīmó ghanāghanáḥ kshóbhaṇaṣ carshaṇīnám | saṃkrándano 'nimishá ekavīráḥ ṣatáṃ sénā ajayat sākám índraḥ || 1 || saṃkrándanenānimishéṇa jishṇúnā yutkāréṇa duṣcyavanéna dhṛishṇúnā | tád índreṇa jayata tát sahadhvaṃ yúdho nara íshuhastena vṛíshṇā || 2 || sá íshuhastaiḥ sá nishaṅgíbhir vaṣí sáṃsrashṭā sá yúdha índro gaṇéna | saṃsṛishṭajít somapá bāhuṣardhy ùgrádhanvā prátihitābhir ástā || 3 || bṛíhaspate pári dīyā ráthena rakshohámítrāñ apabádhamānaḥ | prabhañján séṇāḥ pramṛiṇó yudhá jáyann asmákam edhy avitá ráthānām || 4 || balavijñāyá sthávirah právīraḥ sáhasvān vājí sáhamāna ugráḥ | abhívīro abhísatvā sahojá jaítram indra rátham á tishṭha govít || 5 || gotrábhídaṃ govídaṃ vájrabāhuṃ jáyantam ájma pramṛiṇántam ójasā | imáṃ sajātā ánu vīrayadhvam índraṃ sakhāyo ánu sáṃ rabhadhvam || 6 || 22 ||

103

The powerful king is swift. He, like a formidable bull sharpens his horns; he is terrific; he stirs up the people, and slays his foes. He is loud-shouting, ever-vigilant, the chief of heroes; he conquers at once a hundred hosts. 1

With the powerful king, who is loud-roaring, ever vigilant, the victorious, the warlike, the unconquerable, the daring, the hurler of arrows, the showerer, may you, O warriors, and leaders, overcome enemies in the combat. 2

The king rules with the help of arrow-bearing warriors who are armed with swords. He is the subduer, the warrior, and is one who encounters a multitude of foes. He conquers those who encounter him. He is the drinker of the elixir. Being strong-armed and having a powerful bow, he shoots with well-aimed arrows. 3

Come with your chariot, O Lord of vast kingdom, the slayer of wicked, driving off your enemies, crushing off enemies and demolishing them. O victorious in battle, may you be the defender of our chariots. 4

O glorious king, you are known by the strength; you are mighty, herioc, overpowering, vigorous, enduring, and fierce. You are attended by heroes; assisted by mighty men, you are source of strength and the winner of wealth; may you ascend your triumphant chariot. 5

O kindred warriors, fellow friends, follow the powerful king, who is the breaker of mountains, and the acquirer of water; who is armed with the thunderbolt, and who conquers the swift foe and destroying the enemy by his might, shows his zeal and courage. 6

॥२३॥ अभि गोत्राणि सहसा गाहमानोऽदयो वीरः शतमन्युरिन्द्रः ।
दुश्च्यवनः पृतनाषाळयुध्योऽस्माकं सेना अवतु प्र युत्सु ॥७॥
इन्द्र आसां नेता बृहस्पतिर्दक्षिणा यज्ञः पुर एतु सोमः ।
देवसेनानामभिभञ्जतीनां जयन्तीनां मरुतो यन्त्वग्रम् ॥८॥
इन्द्रस्य वृष्णो वरुणस्य राज्ञ आदित्यानां मरुतां शर्ध उग्रम् ।
महामनसां भुवनच्यवानां घोषो देवानां जयतामुदस्थात् ॥९॥
उद्धर्षय मघवन्नायुधान्युत्सत्वनां मामकानां मनांसि ।
उद्वृत्रहन्वाजिनां वाजिनान्युद्रथानां जयतां यन्तु घोषाः ॥१०॥
अस्माकमिन्द्रः समृतेषु ध्वजेष्वस्माकं या इषवस्ता जयन्तु ।
अस्माकं वीरा उत्तरे भवन्त्वस्माँ उ देवा अवता हवेषु ॥११॥
अमीषां चित्तं प्रतिलोभयन्ती गृहाणाङ्गान्यप्वे परेहि ।
अभि प्रेहि निर्दह हृत्सु शोकैरन्धेनामित्रास्तमसा सचन्ताम् ॥१२॥
प्रेता जयता नर इन्द्रो वः शर्म यच्छतु ।
उग्रा वः सन्तु बाहवोऽनाधृष्या यथासथ ॥१३॥

abhí gotrā́ṇi sáhasā gā́hamāno 'dayó vīráḥ ṣatámanyur índraḥ | duṣcyavanáḥ pṛitanāshā́ḷ ayudhyò 'smā́kam sénā avatu prá yutsú || 7 || índra āsām netā́ bṛíhaspátir dákshiṇā yajñáḥ purá etu sómaḥ | devasenā́nām abhibhañjatīnā́m jáyantīnām marúto yantv ágram || 8 || índrasya vṛíshṇo váruṇasya rā́jña ādityā́nām marútām ṣárdha ugrám | mahā́manasām bhuvanacyavā́nām ghósho devā́nām jáyatām úd asthāt || 9 || úd dharshaya maghavann ā́yudhāny út sátvanām māmakā́nām mánāṅsi | úd vṛitrahan vājínām vā́jināny úd ráthānām jáyatām yantu ghóshāḥ || 10 || asmā́kam índraḥ sámṛiteshu dhvajéshv asmā́kam yā́ íshavas tā́ jayantu | asmā́kam vīrā́ úttare bhavantv asmā́ñ u devā avatā háveshu || 11 || amī́shām cittám pratilobháyantī gṛihāṇā́ṅgāny apve párehi | abhí préhi nír daha hṛitsú ṣókair andhénāmítrās támasā sacantām || 12 || prétā jáyatā nara índro vaḥ ṣárma yachatu | ugrā́ vaḥ santu bāhávo 'nādhṛishyā́ yáthā́satha || 13 || 23 ||

May the king, who is pitiless and heroic, who is invincible and irresitible, with hundredfold powers. and who .overthrows armies, destroy the strongholds of enemies, and protect our armies in battles. 7

May the powerful king, the leader of these armies, may the spirit of wise and wealthy worshippers, and well-wishers be aroused; let the warriors march in the van of the destroying and victorious armies of divine powers. 8

May the mighty force of the showerer king, and of the royal protector, of the enlightened sages and brave soldiers, be ours. Very much high is the tempo of the magnanimous and high-minded warriors who cause the worlds tremble. 9

Bristle up, O bounteous; our weapons excite the spirits of our heroes; O slayer of evils, let the speed of the horses be accelerated; let the noises of the conquering chariots be increased. 10

When our banners and flags are raised high in concurrence, may the powerful king be our defender; may the arrows shot from our side be victorious; may our warriors be triumphant; O enlightened powers, protect us in battles. 11

Bewildering the senses of our foes, O poison-fed wind, seize their limbs and depart, attack them, causing injury to their hearts, with burns and pains; let our enemies be submerged in utter darkness. 12

Advance, O warriors, advance and conquer; the resplendent king is your sure repose and happiness. May your arms be strong, so that none injures you and victory becomes yours. 13

(१०४) चतुरुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रोऽष्टक ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ असावि सोमः पुरुहूत तुभ्यं हरिभ्यां यज्ञमुप याहि तूयम् ।
तुभ्यं गिरो विप्रवीरा इयाना दधन्विर इन्द्र पिबा सुतस्य ॥१॥
अप्सु धूतस्य हरिवः पिबेह नृभिः सुतस्य जठरं पृणस्व ।
मिमिक्षुर्यमद्रय इन्द्र तुभ्यं तेभिर्वर्धस्व मदमुक्थवाहः ॥२॥
प्रोग्रां पीतिं वृष्ण इयर्मि सत्यां प्रयै सुतस्य हर्यश्व तुभ्यम् ।
इन्द्र धेनाभिरिह मादयस्व धीभिर्विश्वाभिः शच्या गृणानः ॥३॥
ऊती शचीवस्तव वीर्येण वयो दधाना उशिज ऋतज्ञाः ।
प्रजावदिन्द्र मनुषो दुरोणे तस्थुर्गृणन्तः सधमाद्यासः ॥४॥
प्रणीतिभिष्टे हर्यश्व सुष्टोः सुषुम्नस्य पुरुरुचो जनासः ।
मंहिष्ठामूतिं वितिरे दधानाः स्तोतार इन्द्र तव सूनृताभिः ॥५॥

104.

Ásāvi sómaḥ puruhūta túbhyam háribhyām yajñám úpa yāhi tū́yam | túbhyam gíro vípravīrā iyāná dadhanvirá indra píbā sutásya || 1 | apsú dhūtásya harivaḥ píbehá nṛ́bhiḥ sutásya jaṭháram pṛiṇasva | mimikshúr yám ádraya indra túbhyam tébhir vardhasva mádam ukthavāhaḥ || 2 || prógrā́m pītím vṛ́ishṇa iyarmi satyā́m prayaí sutásya haryaṣva túbhyam | índra dhénābhir ihá mādayasva dhībhír víṣvābhiḥ ṣácyā gṛiṇānáḥ || 3 || ūtí ṣacīvas táva vīryèṇa váyo dádhānā uṣíja ṛitajñā́ḥ | prajā́vad indra mánusho duroṇé tasthúr gṛiṇántaḥ sadhamā́dyāsaḥ || 4 || práṇītibhish ṭe haryaṣva sushṭóḥ sushumnásya pururúco jánāsaḥ | máṅhishṭhām ūtím vitíre dádhānā stotā́ra indra táva sūnṛ́itābhiḥ || 5 || 24 ||

104

O much-invoked effulgent Lord (or the Sun), the elixir has been effused for you; please come quickly to this place of sacrifice with your two steeds—the two energies to cherish our offerings; our praises recited by the mighty singers are flowing to you; may you accept our homage. 1

O Lord of vigorous energies, at this ceremony, accept our offerings of divine elixir mixed with water (homage supplemented with a will to act), and fill your belly with the libation offered by the sages, which the constant efforts have expressed out for you (just as juice of a plant extracted with stones). May those of you who are carried by hymns enhance their exhilaration with (our words of praise accompanied with sacred rites). 2

(O resplendent sire) of vigorous energies, showerer of benefits, I send you strong exhilarating elixirs that you may proceed (forward on your assignments). O resplendent, so well known for your prowess, be exhilarated at this ceremony with praises and with all customary rites. 3

O powerful resplendent sire, people have assembled here in the house of the person (who is the institutor of the sacred public rite); these people are such noble persons as enjoy food, not alone, but along with their offsprings (and dependents), and are cognizant with the knowledge of eternal law and they have a full reliance in your protection and prowess. They glorify you and share your exhilaration. 4

O Lord of vigour and energy, you are deservedly praised for your generosity as a bestower of wealth and happiness; through your guidance and munificence, people obtain most liberal help; every one praises you for your excellent favours, given to all and sundry without discrimination. 5

॥२५॥ उप ब्रह्माणि हरिवो हरिभ्यां सोमस्य याहि पीतये सुतस्य ।
इन्द्र त्वा यज्ञः क्षममाणमानड् दाश्वाँ अस्यध्वरस्य प्रकेतः ॥६॥
सहस्रवाजमभिमातिषाहं सुतेरणं मघवानं सुवृक्तिम् ।
उप भूषन्ति गिरो अप्रतीतमिन्द्रं नमस्या जरितुः पनन्त ॥७॥
सप्तापो देवीः सुरणा अमृक्ता याभिः सिन्धुमतर इन्द्र पूर्भित् ।
नवतिं स्रोत्या नव च स्रवन्तीर्देवेभ्यो गातुं मनुषे च विन्दः ॥८॥
अपो महीरभिशस्तेरमुञ्चोऽजागरास्वधि देव एकः ।
इन्द्र यास्त्वं वृत्रतूर्ये चकर्थ ताभिर्विश्वायुस्तन्वं पुपुष्याः ॥९॥
वीरेण्यः क्रतुरिन्द्रः सुशस्तिरुतापि धेना पुरुहूतमीट्टे ।
आर्दयद्वृत्रमकृणोदु लोकं ससाहे शक्रः पृतना अभिष्टिः ॥१०॥
शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रमस्मिन्भरे नृतमं वाजसातौ ।
शृण्वन्तमुग्रमूतये समत्सु घ्नन्तं वृत्राणि संजितं धनानाम् ॥११॥

úpa bráhmāṇi harivo háribhyāṃ sómasya yāhi pītáye sutásya | índra tvā yajñáḥ kshámamāṇam ānaḍ dāṣvā́n asy adhvarásya praketáḥ || 6 || sahásravājam abhimātisháhaṃ sutéraṇam maghávānaṃ suvṛiktím | úpa bhūshanti gíro ápratītam índraṃ namasyā́ jaritúḥ pananta || 7 || saptápo devíḥ suráṇā ámṛiktā yā́bhiḥ síndhum átara indra pūrbhít | navatíṃ srotyā́ náva ca srávantīr devébhyo gātúm mánushe ca vindaḥ || 8 || apó mahír abhíṣaster amuñcó 'jāgar āsv ádhi devá ékaḥ | índra yā́s tvā́ṃ vṛitratū́rye cakártha tā́bhir viṣvā́yus tanvàm pupushyāḥ || 9 || vīréṇyaḥ krátur índraḥ uṣastír utápi dhénā puruhūtám īṭṭe | ā́rdayad vṛitrám ákṛiod u lokáṃ sasāhé ṣakráḥ pṛítanā' abhishṭíḥ || 10 || ṣunáṃ ıvema maghávānam índram — || 11 || 25 ||

Lord of vigour and energy, come with your two powers to our adorations to accept our elixir of love and homage; O effulgent, the offering reaches you, who are enduring; cognizant of worship; you are the donor of the reward. 6

Our praises celebrate the irresistible resplendent sire (Lord, or sun or the sire), the dispenser of abundant food, the overcomer of enemies, the delighter in the libation, the possessor of opulence, the well-praised; the adorations of the worshipper glorify him. 7

The seven divine meandering rivers with which you, O resplendent sire, the destroyer of cities, replenish the ocean, flow unimpeded; you discover the nine and ninety flowing rivers and their path for Nature's bounties and men. 8

You release the great waters from the malignant obstructer; you have been the only divine who watches over them; with those waters which you have employed for the destruction of darknesses, may you, all-vivifying resplendent sire, cherish your own glory. 9

The radiant sun, the resplendent sire, is the chief of heroes, the accomplisher of great deeds, to whom praise is well-offered; the voice of praise lauds him, the invoked of many. He destroys devil of darknesses and creates light; he is radiant, the conqueror and overcomer of hostile forces. 10

We invoke for our protection the opulent radiant sun, distinguished in this combat; he is the leader in the food-bestowing conflicts; he is terrible in battles, the destroyer of foes, and the conqueror of wealth. 11

(१०५) पञ्चोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कौत्सो दुर्मित्रः सुमित्रो गुणतः, विपर्यस्तनामा वा ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता ।
(१) प्रथमर्चो गायत्र्युष्णिग्वा, (२, ७) द्वितीयासप्तम्योः पिपीलिकमध्या, (३–६, ८–१०) तृतीयादिचतसृणामष्टम्यादितृचस्य चोष्णिक्, (११) एकादश्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥२६॥

कदा वसो स्तोत्रं हर्यत आव श्मशा रुधद्वाः ।
दीर्घं सुतं वाताप्याय ॥१॥
हरी यस्य सुयुजा विव्रता वेरर्वन्तानु शेपा ।
उभा रजी न केशिना पतिर्दन् ॥२॥
अप योरिन्द्रः पापज आ मर्तो न शश्रमाणो बिभीवान् ।
शुभे यद्युयुजे तविषीवान् ॥३॥
सचायोरिन्द्रश्चर्कृष आँ उपानसः सपर्यन् ।
नदयोर्विव्रतयोः शूर इन्द्रः ॥४॥
अधि यस्तस्थौ केशवन्ता व्यचस्वन्ता न पुष्ट्यै ।
वनोति शिप्राभ्यां शिप्रिणीवान् ॥५॥

105.

Kadá vaso stotrám háryata ā́va ṣmaṣā́ rudhad vā́ḥ | dīrghám sutám vātā́pyāya || 1 || hárī yásya suyújā vívratā vér árvantā́nu ṣépā | ubhā́ rajī́ ná keṣínā pátir dán || 2 || ápa yór índraḥ pā́paja ā́ márto ná ṣaṣramāṇó bibhīvā́n | ṣubhé yád yuyujé távishīvān || 3 || sácāyór índraṣ cárkṛisha ā́ñ upānasáḥ saparyán | nadáyor vívratayoḥ ṣū́ra índraḥ || 4 || ádhi yás tasthaú késavantā vyácasvantā ná pushṭyaí | vanóti ṣíprābhyāṃ ṣipríṇīvān || 5 || 26 ||

॥२७॥

प्रास्तौदृष्वौजा ऋष्वेभिस्ततक्ष शूरः शवसा ।
ऋभुर्न क्रतुभिर्मातरिश्वा ॥६॥
वज्रं यश्चक्रे सुहनाय दस्यवे हिरीमशो हिरीमान् ।
अरुतहनुरद्भुतं न रजः ॥७॥

prástaud ṛishvaújā ṛishvébhis tatáksha ṣū́raḥ ṣávasā | ṛibhúr ná krátubhir mātaríṣvā || 6 || vájraṃ yáṣ cakré suhánāya dásyave hirīmaṣó hírīmān | árutahanur ádbhutaṃ ná rájaḥ || 7 ||

105

When will our praise reach you, O Lord of wealth, O lover of praises? When will you accept it and let loose the long-protracted blessings for showering rain? 1

To you belong the two vital energies, which like war-steeds, are well-trained, active, swift, courageous, brilliant as the two worlds. May you, O Lord of vital energies, bestow wealth upon us. 2

The sun repels obstructions and like a mortal tired and affrighted in the combat with the obstructive force (i.e. with dark clouds) and being associated with the forces of vital energies prepares for glorious victory. 3

The sun, the hero, the possessor of two energies, neighing and prancing like horses, the friend of man, for his exhilaration, comes mounted in his chariot, granting him prosperity. 4

He, who has mounted the two long-maned and all-pervading steed-like energies for the nourishment of the sacrificer, asks for love and devotional praise. The sun roars as if with his mighty jaws. 5

Possessor of glorious strength and associated with the glorious vital winds he inspires adoration; the hero abiding in the firmament works with his strength as the wise architects with their supreme designs and structures. 6

He is golden-bearded and Lord of vital powers, who makes the thunderbolt for the easy destruction of the demon of darkness, and who has irresistible jaws like the vast firmament. 7

अवं नो वृजिना शिशीह्यृचा वनेमानृचः ।
नाब्रह्मा यज्ञ ऋधग्जोषति त्वे ॥८॥
ऊर्ध्वा यत्ते त्रेतिनी भूद्यज्ञस्य धूर्षु सद्मन् ।
सजूर्नावं स्वयशसं सचायोः ॥९॥
श्रिये ते पृश्निरुपसेचनी भूच्छ्रिये दर्विररेपाः ।
यया स्वे पात्रे सिञ्चस उत् ॥१०॥
शतं वा यदसुर्य प्रति त्वा सुमित्र इत्थास्तौद्दुर्मित्र इत्थास्तौत् ।
आवो यद्दस्युहत्ये कुत्सपुत्रं प्रावो यद्दस्युहत्ये कुत्सवत्सम् ॥११॥

॥ इत्यष्टमाष्टके पञ्चमोऽध्यायः ॥

[पञ्चमाध्याये वर्गाः २७, सूक्तानि ९९, ऋचः २४९]

---

nábrahmā yajñá ṛídhag jóshati tvé || 8 || urdhvā́ yát te tretínī bhū́d yajñásya dhūrshú sádman | sajū́r nā́vam sváyaṣasam sácāyóḥ || 9 || ṣriyé te pṛíṣnir upasécanī bhūc chriyé dárvir arepā́ḥ | yáyā své pā́tre siñcása út || 10 || ṣatám vā yád asurya práti tvā sumitrá itthā́staud durmitrá itthā́staut | ā́vo yád dasyuhátye kutsaputrám prā́vo yád dasyuhátye kutsavatsám || 11 || 27 ||

Pañcamo 'dhyāyaḥ.

अथ षष्ठोऽध्यायः ॥

(१०६) षडुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काश्यपो भूतांश ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ उभा उ नूनं तदिदर्थयेथे वि तन्वाथे धियो वस्त्रापसेव ।
सध्रीचीना यातवे प्रेमजीगः सुदिनेव पृक्ष आ तंसयेथे ॥१॥

106.

Ubhā́ u nūnám tád íd arthayethe ví tanvāthe dhíyo vástrāpáseva | sadhrīcī́nā yā́tave prém ajīgaḥ sudíneva pṛíksha ā́ taṅsayethe || 1 ||

Comminute, O the resplendent, our sins and shortcomings; may we by our hymns win over those who offer no hymns. The offering unaccompanied by sincere prayer and a will to exert accordingly, is not acceptable to you. 8

When three-fold fire burns high for you and rises up and rests on the top of cosmos, then accompanied by the sacrifice, you, the friend of man, ascend with joy on the glorious boat of heaven. 9

May the earth yield water (or may the cow furnish milk) for mixing with your love, the elixir; may the ladle for the mixture wherewith you pour it into your own vessel be free from defect. 10

When you, O mighty, give hundredfold riches, believers or the friendly ones praise you thus; unbelievers or unfriendly ones also praise you thus; you help the wise man, and destroy the wicked. 11

106

You both, twin divines (pair of day and night), hold the time-space creation (the ceremonials) spread out as two weavers weave cloths. The institutor of the rites praises you for the fulfilment of his desires. May both of you come united and hence this reminding. Please spread out food for us on this charming day. 1

उष्टारेव फर्वरेषु श्रयेथे प्रायोगेव श्वात्र्या शासुरेथः ।
दूतेव हि ष्ठो यशसा जनेषु माप स्थातं महिषेवावपानात् ॥२॥
साकंयुजा शकुनस्येव पक्षा पश्वेव चित्रा यजुरा गमिष्टम् ।
अग्निरिव देवयोर्दीदिवांसा परिज्मानेव यजथः पुरुत्रा ॥३॥
आपी वो अस्मे पितरेव पुत्रोग्रेव रुचा नृपतीव तुर्यै ।
इर्येव पुष्ट्यै किरणेव भुज्यै श्रुष्टीवानेव हवमा गमिष्टम् ॥४॥
वंसगेव पूषर्या शिम्बाता मित्रेव ऋता शतरा शातपन्ता ।
वाजेवोच्चा वयसा घर्म्येष्ठा मेषेवेषा सपर्या३ पुरीषा ॥५॥

ushṭáreva phárvareshu ṣrayethe prāyogéva ṣvātryā ṣā́sur éthaḥ | dūtéva hí shṭhó yaṣásā jáneshu mā́pa sthātam mahishévāpā́nāt || 2 || sākaṃyújā ṣakunásyeva pakshā́ paṣvéva citrā́ yájur ā́ gamishṭam | agnír iva devayór dīdivā́ṅsā párijmāneva yajathaḥ purutrā́ || 3 || āpí vo asmé pitáreva putrógréva rucā́ nṛipátīva turyaí | íryeva pushṭyaí kiráṇeva bhujyaí ṣrushṭīvā́neva hávam ā́ gamishṭam || 4 || vā́ṅsageva pūsharyā̀ ṣimbā́tā mitréva ṛitā́ ṣatárā ṣā́tapantā | vā́jevoccā́ váyasā gharmyeshṭhā́ méshevéshā́ saparyā̀ púrīshā || 5 || 1 ||

॥२॥ सृण्येव जर्भरी तुर्फरीतू नैतोशेव तुर्फरी पर्फरीका ।
उदन्यजेव जेमना मदेरू ता मे जराय्वजरं मरायु ॥६॥
पज्रेव चर्चरं जारं मरायु क्षद्मेवार्थेषु तर्तरीथ उग्रा ।
ऋभू नापत्खरमज्रा खरज्रुर्वायुर्न पर्फरत्क्षयद्रयीणाम् ॥७॥

sṛiṇyèva jarbhárī turphárītū naitoṣéva turphárī parpharíkā | udanyajéva jémanā maderū́ tā́ me jarā́yv ajáram marā́yu || 6 || pajréva cárcaraṃ jā́ram marā́yu kshádmevā́rtheshu tartarītha ugrā́ | ṛibhū́ nā́pat kharamajrā́ kharā́jrur vāyúr ná parpharat kshayad rayīṇā́m || 7 ||

Like two plough bulls, you move towards those who fill you with oblations; you approach like two horses prepared for the fray in order to bring treasure; you are like two glorious messengers among the people. Please do not refuse to accept our offerings like two buffaloes forcibly taken away from the drinking trough. 2

Connected together like the two wings of a bird, you come to our place of noble acts. Like two beautiful animals, you visit our place again and again. You are radiant as fire of the devout worshipper. Like two perambulating priests, you simultaneously bless many of our noble performances at several places. 3

You are our kinsmen. Like two sons, or like two ferocious or fierce shining fires, or like two princes hastening to give protection, or like two bestowers of food you come to feed us. And again, like two luminaries for our joy and like two quick listners, you come to our invocation. 4

You are like two pleasantly moving well-fed bulls. You are like two bestowers of comforts. You are veracious; you are possessors of infinite wealth and you are happy. You may be compared to two horses plump with fodder or to two rams abiding in the firmament. You are to be nourished with food of knowledge and to be cherished with oblations. 5

You are like two mad elephants bending their forequarters and smiting the foe, or you are like the two sons of brave men destroying foes, and cherishing friends; you are as bright as two water-born jewels; may you, O twin divines, render my decaying mortal body free from decay. 6

Fierce twin divines, like two powerful heroes, you enable this moving, perishable mortal frame to cross over the obstructions as over water; extremely intelligent, like two artisans, your chariot, swift as the wind, attains its destination; it pervades all space and it freelv distributes riches. -

घर्मेव मधु जठरे सनेरू भगेविता तुर्फरी फारिवारम् ।
पतरेव चचरा चन्द्रनिर्णिङ्मनऋङ्गा मनन्या३ न जग्मी ॥८॥
बृहन्तेव गम्भरेषु प्रतिष्ठां पादेव गाधं तरते विदाथः ।
कर्णेव शासुरनु हि स्मराथोंशेव नो भजतं चित्रमप्नः ॥९॥
आरङ्गरेव मध्वेरयेथे सारघेव गवि नीचीनबारे ।
कीनारेव स्वेदमासिष्विदाना क्षामेवोर्जा सूयवसात्सचेथे ॥१०॥
ऋध्याम स्तोमं सनुयाम वाजमा नो मन्त्रं सरथेहोप यातम् ।
यशो न पक्वं मधु गोष्वन्तरा भूतांशो अश्विनोः काममप्राः ॥११॥

gharmeva madhu jathare saneru bhagevita turphari pharivaram | patareva cacara candranirnin manaringa mananya na jagmī || 8 || brihanteva gambhareshu pratishtham padeva gadham tarate vidāthah | karneva sasur anu hí smaratho ’nseva no bhajatam citram apnah || 9 || arangareva madhv erayethe sara ghéva gavi nicinabare | kinareva svedam asishvidana kshamevorja suyavasát sacethe || 10 || ridhyáma stómam sanúyama vajam a no mantram sarathehopa yatam | yaso na pakvam madhu góshv antar a bhutanso asvínoh kamam aprāḥ || 11 || 2 ||

(१०७) सप्तोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो दिव्य ऋषिः, प्राजापत्या दक्षिणा वा ऋषिका । दक्षिणा दक्षिणादातारो वा देवताः । (१-३, ५-११) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्यादिसप्तर्चांश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥ आविरभून्महि माघोनमेषां विश्वं जीवं तमसो निरमोचि ।
महि ज्योतिः पितृभिर्दत्तमागादुरुः पन्था दक्षिणाया अदर्शि ॥१॥

107.

Avír abhūn mahi mághonam esham visvam jivam támaso nír amoci | mahi jyotiḥ pitríbhir dattam agad urúḥ pantha dákshinaya adarṣi || 1 ||

With your bellies full of heavenly elixir, and like two sauce-pans, you preserve wealth. You are the destroyer of enemies. Armed with hatchets, moving like two flying birds, and with forms, beautifully shining like the moon, with speed of the mind, and both of you laudable, may you come forward to bless our benevolent deeds. 8

Like two expert swimmers (men) in deep waters, you find a resting place. Like two feet crossing a ford you find the fording place. Like two ears you recognize the voice of the reciter of your praises. Like two shoulders supporting the sacred works, come to attend and assist our sacred undertakings. 9

Like two loud-sounding clouds, you send forth the sweet rain. Like two bees, you bring to us your honey to bee-hive, which has its opening turned downwards. Like two labourers, you are dripping with perspiration and like a tired cow eating sweet herbage, you obtain strength. 10

May we have more and more of our praises. May we earn and give nourishing wealth and wisdom to others. May you come hither in the same chariot to our worship; and accept the sweet sacred oblations prepared out of milk products. Thus, a great naturist fulfils the aspirations of the seekers. 11

107

The great splendour of the bounteous Lord (the sun) has become manifest for the rites of these pious men; the whole world (a part of this globe) is set free from the darkness; the vast light, bestowed by our ancestors, has come to us well in time. A clear gesture for the award of remunerative honorarium or charity has been made. 1

उच्चा दिवि दक्षिणावन्तो अस्थुर्ये अश्वदाः सह ते सूर्येण ।
हिरण्यदा अमृतत्वं भजन्ते वासोदाः सोम प्र तिरन्त आयुः ॥२॥
दैवी पूर्तिर्दक्षिणा देवयज्या न कवारिभ्यो नहि ते पृणन्ति ।
अथा नरः प्रयतदक्षिणासोऽवद्यभिया बहवः पृणन्ति ॥३॥
शतधारं वायुमर्कं स्वर्विदं नृचक्षसस्ते अभि चक्षते हविः ।
ये पृणन्ति प्र च यच्छन्ति संगमे ते दक्षिणां दुहते सप्तमातरम् ॥४॥
दक्षिणावान्प्रथमो हूत एति दक्षिणावान्ग्रामणीरग्रमेति ।
तमेव मन्ये नृपतिं जनानां यः प्रथमो दक्षिणामाविवाय ॥५॥

ucca diví dákshinavanto asthur ye asvadah saha te suryena | hiranyadá amritatvam bhajante vasodah soma pra tiranta ayuh || 2 || daivi purtír dakshina devayajya na kavaribhyo nahi té prinanti | atha narah prayatadakshinaso 'vadyabhiya bahavah prinanti || 3 || satadharam vayum arkam svarvidam nricákshasas té abhí cakshate havíh | ye prinanti pra ca yáchanti samgamé te dákshinam duhate saptamataram || 4 || dákshinavan prathamo huta eti dakshinavan gramanir agram eti | tam evá manye nripatim jananam yáh prathamó dákshinam avivaya || 5 || ३ ||

॥४॥ तमेव ऋषिं तमु ब्रह्माणमाहुर्यज्ञन्यं सामगामुक्थशासम् ।
स शुक्रस्य तन्वो वेद तिस्रो यः प्रथमो दक्षिणया रराध ॥६॥
दक्षिणाश्वं दक्षिणा गां ददाति दक्षिणा चन्द्रमुत यद्धिरण्यम् ।
दक्षिणान्नं वनुते यो न आत्मा दक्षिणां वर्म कृणुते विजानन् ॥७॥

tam eva rishim tam u brahmanam ahur yajnanyam samagam ukthasasam | sá sukrasya tanvò veda tisro yah prathamo dákshinaya raradha || 6 || dákshinasvam dákshinā gam dadati dákshina candrám utá yád dhíranyam | dákshinannam vanute yó na atmā dákshinam várma krinute vijanán || 7 ||

The donors of charity rise high up in the society and are thus blessed in heaven. Those who give speed-horses in charity dwell with the sun; the givers of gold obtain immortality, and the givers of raimant prolong their life, O Dear. 2

The divine nourishing charity, which is a part of the sacrifice and public duty to the enlightened ones is not for those who go wrong and are sinful, for they do not gratify (any one with sacrifice). However, there are many men who through fear of incurring sin liberally give charity, and thereby gratify the divine ones. 3

Many of them out of the worshippers rightly offer oblation to the wind of the hundred streams, and several of them to the all conscious sun, and to the men-beholding divine ones. Many persons give charity in plenty at the time of festivities. This category of charity has been said to be the mother of seven i.e. the sustainer of seven priests. 4

He who brings charity is invited first; the head of a village bearing charity goes in front. I regard him as a king amongst men who initiates or first offers charity. 5

They call such a person a Ṛṣi (the seer), the Brahmana, (the learned), the leader of the sacred work, the chanter of the hymns, the reciter of the prayer; knower of the three forms of light, who while participating in any public activity starts with charity. 6

The one who gives horses in charity, gives cows in charity, gives gold and also silver in charity and bestows food, he himself, knowing the value of charity, puts on charity as his armour. 7

न भोजा मंम्रुर्न न्यर्थमीयुर्न रिष्यन्ति न व्यथन्ते ह भोजाः ।
इदं यद्विश्वं भुवनं स्वश्चैतत्सर्वं दक्षिणैभ्यो ददाति ॥८॥
भोजा जिग्युः सुरभिं योनिमग्रे भोजा जिग्युर्वध्वं१ या सुवासाः ।
भोजा जिग्युरन्तःपेयं सुराया भोजा जिग्युर्ये अहूताः प्रयन्ति ॥९॥
भोजायाश्वं सं मृजन्त्याशुं भोजायास्ते कन्या३ शुम्भमाना ।
भोजस्येदं पुष्करिणीव वेश्म परिष्कृतं देवमानेव चित्रम् ॥१०॥
भोजमश्वाः सुष्टुवाहो वहन्ति सुवृद्रथो वर्तते दक्षिणायाः ।
भोजं देवासोऽवता भरेषु भोजः शत्रून्त्समनीकेषु जेता ॥११॥

ná bhoja mamrur na nyartham īyur na rishyanti na vyathante ha bhojah | idam yad vísvam bhuvanam svas caitat sarvam dákshinaibhyo dadati || 8 || bhojá jigyuh surabhím yónim agre bhojá jigyur vadhvam yá suvásah | bhojá jigyur antahpeyam suraya bhojá jigyur yé áhutah prayanti || 9 || bhojayasvam sam mrijanty asum bhojáyaste kanya sumbhamana | bhojasyedám pushkarinīva vesma parishkritam devamaneva citram || 10 || bhojam asvah sushthuváho vahanti suvríd ratho vartate dákshinayah | bhojám devāso vata bhareshu bhojah satrun samanīkeshu jeta || 11 || 4 ||

(१०८) अष्टोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१, ३, ५, ७, ९) प्रथमातृतीयापञ्चमीसप्तमीनवमीनामृचां पणयोऽसुरा ऋषयः, (२, ४, ६, ८, १०–११) द्वितीयाचतुर्थीषष्ठ्यष्टमीदशम्येकादशीनाञ्च सरमा ऋषिका । (१, ३, ५, ७, ९) प्रथमातृतीयापञ्चमीसप्तमीनवमीनामृचां सरमा, (२, ४, ६, ८, १०–११) द्वितीयाचतुर्थीषष्ठ्यष्टमीदशम्येकादशीनाञ्च पणयो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥५॥ किमिच्छन्ती सरमा प्रेदमानड् दूरे ह्यध्वा जगुरिः पराचैः ।
कास्मेहितिः का परितक्म्यासीत्कथं रसाया अतरः पयांसि ॥१॥

108.

Kím ichántī sarámā prédám ānaḍ dūré hy ádhvā jáguriḥ parācaíḥ | kásméhitih ká páritakmyāsīt katháṃ rasáyā ataraḥ páyāṅsi || 1 ||

The givers of charity meet no death; they do not face destruction; they suffer no injury; the givers of charity suffer no pain. Charity gives them all this world and the world beyond. 8

The givers (of charity) obtain fragrant home in the first priority; and then they win the cow and other sources of food. The givers win a bride who is beautifully attired. In the enjoyment provided to others verily lies the enjoyment of the givers. Such givers of enjoyment win the affection of those who might not have been cordial and friendly to them. 9

For the giver of enjoyment, they deck out a fleet horse; such a giver verily gets a bride beautifully adorned; to the giver of enjoyment belongs this dwelling, adorned like a lake full of lotus flowers, delightful like a dwelling of the divine ones. 10

Giver of enjoyments to others verily gets the horses capable of bearing heavy burdens. Highly prized luxury chariots and cars adorn the premises of the givers of charity. O divine, protect such a liberal giver in combats; may the giver be the victor over his foes in battles. 11

108

(A dialogue between Saramā, the Intuitional Faculty, a messenger of the Self, and Paṇis, the hoarders of wealth, the plunderers of divine cows, the obscurers of right understanding; Indra may be the Sun; cows may be the sun-rays and clouds, the obstructors of the sun rays, are the Paṇis).

(Paṇis:) With what objective has the Intuitional Faculty come to this place? Verily, the way is long and difficult to be traversed by the persevering. What is the mission of your coming to us? What sort of wandering has been yours? How have you crossed the waters of the roaring firmament, the region of inner-most conflicts? 1

इन्द्रस्य दूतीरिषिता चरामि मह इच्छन्ती पणयो निधीन्वः ।
अतिष्कदो भियसा तन्न आवत्तथा रसाया अतरं पयांसि ॥२॥
कीदृङ्ङिन्द्रः सरमे का दृशीका यस्येदं दूतीरसरः पराकात् ।
आ च गच्छान्मित्रमेना दधामाथा गवां गोपतिर्नो भवाति ॥३॥
नाहं तं वेद दभ्यं दभत्स यस्येदं दूतीरसरं पराकात् ।
न तं गूहन्ति स्रवतो गभीरा हता इन्द्रेण पणयः शयध्वे ॥४॥
इमा गावः सरमे या ऐच्छः परि दिवो अन्तान्सुभगे पतन्ती ।
कस्त एना अव सृजादयुध्व्युतास्माकमायुधा सन्ति तिग्मा ॥५॥

índrasya dūtír ishita carami maha ichanti panayo nidhin vah | atishkado bhiyasa tán na avat tátha rasaya ataram payansi || 2 || kīdrinn índrah sarame ka drisika yásyedam dutir ásarah parakat | á ca gachan mitram ena dadhamatha gavam gopatir no bhavāti || 3 || naham tam veda dabhyam dabhat sa yasyedam dutir asaram parakat | na tam guhanti sraváto gabhira hata indrena panayah sayadhve || 4 || ima gavah sarame ya aíchah pari divo antan subhage patantī | kas ta ena ava srijad áyudhvy utásmákam áyudhā santi tigmá || 5 || 6 ||

॥६॥ असेन्या वः पणयो वचांस्यनिषव्यास्तन्वः सन्तु पापीः ।
अधृष्टो व एतवा अस्तु पन्था बृहस्पतिर्व उभया न मृळात् ॥६॥
अयं निधिः सरमे अद्रिबुध्नो गोभिरश्वेभिर्वसुभिन्यृष्टः ।
रक्षन्ति तं पणयो ये सुगोपा रेकु पदमलकमा जगन्थ ॥७॥

asenya vah panayo vacansy anishavyas tanvah santu papih | ádhrishto va étavá astu pantha bríhaspátir va ubhayā na mrilāt || 6 || ayam nidhíh sarame adribudhno gobhir asvebhir vasubhir nyrishtah | rákshanti tam panayo ye sugopa reku padám álakam a jagantha || 7 ||

(Saramā:) I have come as the appointed messenger of the Lord of resplendence, seeking our great treasures forcibly taken by you. O dark clouds of evil thoughts, my strong determination has sustained me all through the danger involved in crossing the waters. And thus I have passed over the waters of the river. 2

(Paṇis:) O messenger, O Sarama, what this resplendent Lord is like? What is the appearance of that person as whose messenger you have come to this place from afar? (Now Panis say to one another:) Let her approach; let us make friends with her, and let her be the Lord of our cattle. 3

(Saramā:) I do not believe that he can be subdued; he as whose messenger I have come to this place from afar, can defeat all of you. The deep rivers do not conceal him. You, O Panis, when slain by Him, shall all of you sleep eternally (i.e. shall die). 4

(Paṇis:) O auspicious envoy, here are the cows, the rays, which you seek, stretching to the extremities of the sky. Who would give them up to you without resistance, without a combat? And (may you know) our weapons are sharp. 5

(Saramā:) Your words, O Panis, are not sufficient to defend you; your sinful bodies will not be equal to his arrows. May you have innumerable hurdles in your path. May our Lord of vast universe show no favour to either your words or to your persons. 6

(Paṇis:) O envoy, this treasure, secured in the (cave of the) mountain consists of cows, horses and riches; We, Panis, protect it who are good watchers. All in vain, shall be your approach to this solitary spot. 7

एह गमन्नृषयः सोमशिता अयास्यो अङ्गिरसो नवग्वाः ।
त एतमूर्वं वि भजन्त गोनामथैतद्वचः पणयो वमन्नित् ॥८॥
एवा च त्वं सरम आजगन्थ प्रबाधिता सहसा दैव्येन ।
स्वसारं त्वा कृणवै मा पुनर्गा अप ते गवां सुभगे भजाम ॥९॥
नाहं वेद भ्रातृत्वं नो स्वसृत्वमिन्द्रो विदुराङ्गिरसश्च घोराः ।
गोकामा मे अच्छदयन्यदायमपात इत पणयो वरीयः ॥१०॥
दूरमित पणयो वरीय उद्गावो यन्तु मिनतीर्ऋतेन ।
बृहस्पतिर्या अविन्दन्निगूळ्हाः सोमो ग्रावाण ऋषयश्च विप्राः ॥११॥

éhá gamann rishayah sómasita ayasyo angiraso navagvāh | tá etam urvam ví bhajanta gonam áthaitad vacah panayo vamann ít || 8 || eva ca tvam sarama ajagantha prabadhitá sahasa daívyena | svasaram tva krinavai ma púnar ga apa te gavam subhage bhajama || 9 || naham veda bhratritvam no svasritvám índro vidur angirasas ca ghoráh | gokāma me achadayan yád ayam apata ita panayó varıyah || 10 || duram ita panayo varıya ud gāvo yantu minatír riténa | bríhaspatir ya ávindan nıgulhah somo gravana ríshayas ca víprāh || 11 || 6 ||

(१०९) नवोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य जुहूर्नाम्नी ब्रह्मवादिनी ब्रह्मजाया ऋषिका, ब्राह्म ऊर्ध्वनाभा वा ऋषिः। विश्वे देवा देवताः। (१-५) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (६-७) षष्ठीसप्तम्योश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥७॥ तेऽवदन्प्रथमा ब्रह्मकिल्बिषेऽकूपारः सलिलो मातरिश्वा ।
वीळुहरास्तप उग्रो मयोभूरापो देवीः प्रथमजा ऋतेन ॥१॥

109.

Tė 'vadan prathamā brahmakilbishé 'kuparah salilo matarísvə | vīluharas tapa ugró mayobhur apo devíh prathamajá riténa || 1 ||

(Saramā:) Inspirited with the celestial elixir, the seers, the fire-born enlightened ones of profound wisdom, acquainted with the intricacies of Nine Month's rites, led by a person of strong determination, shall come hither; they will divide this herd of cattle; then you, Panis, shall realize that you should not have spoken these words. 8

(Paṇis:) You have indeed come hither, O divine messenger, constrained by divine power; we will share the wealth with you, O auspicious one. 9

(Saramā:) I know neither fraternity nor sisterhood; the resplendent Lord and the fire-born know (my kindred); my masters, seeking the treasure, have, in fact, by now taken full control of your habitation when I have come; depart hence, O Panis; depart to a distant land. 10

Go hence, O Paṇis, to a far-off distant land; please let the concealed cattle be now free; let them come forth in due order. No more their concealment, no further hiding. All of us, the Preceptor, the Lord of universe, the blissful, the seers of wisdom and the men of determination have found out their place of hiding. 11

109

(Brahma = Bṛhaspati = Vacaspati = Lord Supreme, the same as Lord of Divine Speech. The latent, unmanifest or unspoken speach is called Brahmajaya, literally meaning the wife of Brahma. During the period of dissolution or pralaya, the speech left the husband or Brahma, as if the dissolution had been a sin on behalf of Brahma. The speech was restored to Brahma in a form which was audible and intelligible; this speech is known as juhu, and is used as the Vedic verses in the performance of yajnas or sacrificial rituals).

Several prime powers, e.g. the boundless one (akuparah or the Sun), the fluid plasma (salilah), the cosmic wind, the wide-consuming fire (viduhara); the intense heat, the bliss-bestowers, the divine or cosmic waters, who are the first-born sons of the Law-Born, discussed and reconsidered about the sin of Brahma (i.e. the entire ethics of pralaya). 1

सोमो राजा प्रथमो ब्रह्मजायां पुनः प्रायच्छदहृणीयमानः ।
अन्वर्तिता वरुणो मित्र आसीदग्निर्होता हस्तगृह्या निनाय ॥२॥
हस्तेनैव ग्राह्य आधिरस्या ब्रह्मजायेयमिति चेदवोचन् ।
न दूताय प्रह्ये तस्थ एषा तथा राष्ट्रं गुपितं क्षत्रियस्य ॥३॥
देवा एतस्यामवदन्त पूर्वे सप्तऋषयस्तपसे ये निषेदुः ।
भीमा जाया ब्राह्मणस्योपनीता दुर्धां दधाति परमे व्योमन् ॥४॥
ब्रह्मचारी चरति वेविषद्विषः स देवानां भवत्येकमङ्गम् ।
तेन जायामन्वविन्दद्बृहस्पतिः सोमेन नीतां जुह्वं न देवाः ॥५॥
पुनर्वै देवा अददुः पुनर्मनुष्या उत ।
राजानः सत्यं कृण्वाना ब्रह्मजायां पुनर्ददुः ॥६॥
पुनर्दाय ब्रह्मजायां कृत्वी देवैर्निकिल्बिषम् ।
ऊर्जं पृथिव्या भक्त्वायोरुगायमुपासते ॥७॥

somo raja prathamo brahmajayam punah prayachad áhriniyamanah | anvartita varuno mitrá āsīd agnir hòta hastagríhyá ninaya || 2 || hástenaiva grahya adhír asya brahmajayéyam íti céd avocan | ná dutaya prahye tastha esha tatha rashtram gupitám kshatriyasya || 3 || deva etasyām avadanta púrve saptarishayas tapase ye nisheduh | bhima jaya brahmanasyòpanita durdham dadhati paramé vyòman || 4 || brahmacari carati vevishad víshah sá devanam bhavaty ékam angam | téna jāyám anv avindad bríhaspatih somena nītám juhvam ná devah || 5 || púnar vaí deva adaduh punar manushya utá | rajanaḥ satyam krinvana brahmajayám púnar daduh || 6 || punardáya brahmajayam kritví devaír nikilbisham | úrjam prithivyá bhaktváyorugayám úpāsate || 7 || 7 ||

First, Divine Love (Soma) without hesitation restored unspoken speech (Brahmajaya); in this supreme performance or sacrifice the cosmic water (Varuna) becomes the inviter, the pair of sun and fire (Mitra-Agni) become the ministrant priests, and they take her (the Speech, the bride of Lord Supreme) by the hand, and lead her (to her hansband). 2

They, the divine powers speak to Supreme Lord: "This pledge of hers is to be taken by the hand. She is the wife of Lord Supreme (Brahmajaya). She has not made herself known to the messenger sent to seek her, so is the kingdom of ruling clan, the ksattriya, protected." 3

The ancient divine powers again speak about her; the seven seers are engaged in penance. She, the terrible and yet dear to God like wife, has been brought back (to her husband). The penance elevates sin to the highest heaven. 4

He leads the life of a Brahmacarin (life of celibacy) even adoring all Gods; he becomes a portion of the Gods; therefore, the Great Priest, the Lord Supreme, obtained his wife, brought to him first by Divine Love (Soma), as the Gods receive an offering. 5

The divine powers give her back again; men also give her back, and kings confirming the gift restore the lady of divine speech back again. 6

The divine powers, having given back God's speech, made her free from obscurity, and having partaken of the food of the earth, they sit down in the cosmic sacrifice where hymns and lyrics are sung in the praise of Lord Supreme. 7

(११०) दशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-११) एकादशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवो जमदग्निर्जामदग्न्यो रामो वा ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च इध्मः समिद्धो वाग्निः, (२) द्वितीयायास्तनूनपात्, (३) तृतीयाया इळः, (४) चतुर्थ्या बर्हिः, (५) पञ्चम्या देवीर्द्वारः, (६) षष्ठ्या उषासानक्ता, (७) सप्तम्या दैव्यौ होतारौ प्रचेतसौ, (८) अष्टम्यास्तिस्रो देव्यः सरस्वतीळाभारत्यः, (९) नवम्यास्त्वष्टा, (१०) दशम्या वनस्पतिः, (११) एकादश्याश्च स्वाहाकृतयो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥८॥

समिद्धो अद्य मनुषो दुरोणे देवो देवान्यजसि जातवेदः ।
आ च वह मित्रमहश्चिकित्वान्त्वं दूतः कविरसि प्रचेताः ॥१॥
तनूनपात्पथ ऋतस्य यानान्मध्वा समञ्जन्त्स्वदया सुजिह्व ।
मन्मानि धीभिरुत यज्ञमृन्धन्देवत्रा च कृणुह्यध्वरं नः ॥२॥
आजुह्वान ईड्यो वन्द्यश्चा याह्यग्ने वसुभिः सजोषाः ।
त्वं देवानामसि यह्व होता स एनान्यक्षीषितो यजीयान् ॥३॥
प्राचीनं बर्हिः प्रदिशा पृथिव्या वस्तोरस्या वृज्यते अग्रे अह्नाम् ।
व्यु प्रथते वितरं वरीयो देवेभ्यो अदितये स्योनम् ॥४॥
व्यचस्वतीरुर्विया वि श्रयन्तां पतिभ्यो न जनयः शुम्भमानाः ।
देवीर्द्वारो बृहतीर्विश्वमिन्वा देवेभ्यो भवत सुप्रायणाः ॥५॥

110.

Samiddho adya manusho duroné devo devan yajasi jatavedah | a ca vaha mitramahas cikitvan tvam dutáh kavír asi pracetah || 1 || tanunapat pathá ṛitasya yanan madhva samañján svadaya sujihva | manmani dhībhír utá yajnam ṛindhan devatra ca krinuhy adhvaram nah || 2 || ājúhvāna ídyo vándyaṣ ca yahy agne vasubhih sajóshāh | tvam devanam asi yahva hota sá enan yakshīshito yajīyan || 3 || pracínam barhíh pradísa prithivya vastor asya vṛijyate agre ahnam | vy u prathate vitaram varīyo devébhyo aditaye syonam || 4 || vyacasvatīr urviya ví ṣrayantām pátibhyo na janayah súmbhamanah | devır dvaro bṛihatır viṣvaminvā devébhyo bhavata suprayanah || 5 || 8 ||

110

You have been kindled today, O all-pervading fire-divine, in the dwelling of the worshipper; you are divine; you sacrifice to the divine powers. Bearing oblation you pay respect to your intelligent friends; you are the wise; you are the far-seeing messenger (of the cosmic forces). (Idhma). 1

O pure-tongued eternal fire-divine, may you flavour the paths of the sacrifice (that leads to success) and moisten them with the sweet elixir; elevating our praises and our ceremony by good understandings, convey our sacrifice to Nature's bounties. (Tanunapat). 2

O fire-divine, you deserve praises and adoration; you are the invoker. Please come, being propitiated, along with wealth and treasure. O mighty, you are the invoker of Nature's bounties; may you, who deserve most our worship, carry our oblations to other Nature's bounties also. We solicit you for this favour. (Idyah). 3

In the early hours of the day, the sacred grass, pointing eastwards, is strewn with the prescribed text as a covering for the earth (of the altar); then they spread it out far and wide as a pleasant seat for the divinities and the Mother Eternity to sit on. (Barhis). 4

Expanding wide, throw the doors open to receive Nature's bounties, just as gracefully decorated wives receive their husbands. May these doors be spacious and wide capable of admitting all, and of giving them easy entrance. (Devirdvarah). 5

॥९॥ आ सुष्वयन्ती यजते उपाके उषासानक्ता सदतां नि योनौ ।
दिव्ये योषणे बृहती सुरुक्मे अधि श्रियं शुक्रपिशं दधाने ॥६॥
दैव्या होतारा प्रथमा सुवाचा मिमाना यज्ञं मनुषो यजध्यै ।
प्रचोदयन्ता विदथेषु कारू प्राचीनं ज्योतिः प्रदिशा दिशन्ता ॥७॥
आ नो यज्ञं भारती तूयमेत्विळा मनुष्वदिह चेतयन्ती ।
तिस्रो देवीर्बर्हिरेदं स्योनं सरस्वती स्वपसः सदन्तु ॥८॥
य इमे द्यावापृथिवी जनित्री रूपैरपिंशद्भुवनानि विश्वा ।
तमद्य होतरिषितो यजीयान्देवं त्वष्टारमिह यक्षि विद्वान् ॥९॥
उपावसृज त्मन्या समञ्जन्देवानां पाथ ऋतुथा हवींषि ।
वनस्पतिः शमिता देवो अग्निः स्वदन्तु हव्यं मधुना घृतेन ॥१०॥
सद्यो जातो व्यमिमीत यज्ञमग्निर्देवानामभवत्पुरोगाः ।
अस्य होतुः प्रदिश्यृतस्य वाचि स्वाहाकृतं हविरदन्तु देवाः ॥११॥

a sushvayantī yajate upake ushasanáktā sadatam ní yonau | divye yoshane brihatí surukmé ádhi srīyam sukrapísam dádhāne || 6 || daivya hotara prathama suvaca mí mana yajnam manusho yájadhyai | pracodayanta vidatheshu karu prācinam jyotih pradísa disánta || 7 || á no yajnam bharati tūyam etv íla manushvad ihá cetayanti | tisro devir barhír edam syonam sarasvati svápasah sadantu || 8 || yá ime dyavaprithivi jánitrī rupaír ápinsad bhuvanani visva | tám adya hotar ishito yajiyan devám tváshtaram ihá yakshi vidvan || 9 || upavasrija tmanya samanján devanam patha ritutha havinshi | vanaspatih samita devo agníh svádantu havyam madhunā ghriténa || 10 || sadyó jató vy amimīta yajnam agnír devanam abhavat purogaḥ | asya hotuh pradísy ritásya vací svahakritam havír adantu devah || 11 || ९ ||

Pouring sweet dews, may the sacred day and night, even quite close to each other, sit down in the assigned place, like two celestial, majestic and richly ornamented damsels bearing beauty of glittering brilliance. (Usasa-nakta). 6

May the two celestial divine ministers, prior (to the terrestrial ones), instituting sacrifice, come and sit down to inspire us at our place of worship. They are the composers and reciters of praises and the invokers of the eastern fire with fine verses. (Daivyau-Hotarau). 7

May Bharati (Goddess of Enlightenment) and Ida (Divine Speech) come quickly to our place of worship, personified in features, and may Sarasvati (Divine Knowledge) also—the three gracious goddesses — sit down on their assigned seats. (Tisro devih). 8

To the Divine Architect, whom we have solicited here today, may you wise and venerable priests, offer oblations. He is the one who has decked the parental heaven and earth, and all the worlds with living forms. (Tvaṣṭṛ). 9

May you offer on your own initiative, at the proper season the anointed food and oblations invoking Nature's bounties. Let our Lord of Forests, the Immolator and the fire divine sweeten the oblation with honey and butter. (Vanaspatih). 10

The fire-divine, as soon as he is born, constructs a sacrifice. He has been the preceder of Nature's bounties. May the bounties partake of the oblation presented with the utterance of the syllable svaha through the voice of the invoker of the worship in the eastern direction. (Svahakṛti). 11

(१११) एकादशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैरूपोऽष्ट्रादंष्ट्र ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ मनीषिणः प्र भरध्वं मनीषां यथायथा मतयः सन्ति नृणाम् ।
इन्द्रं सत्यैरेरयामा कृतेभिः स हि वीरो गिर्वणस्युर्विदानः ॥१॥
ऋतस्य हि सदसो धीतिरद्यौत्सं गार्ष्टेयो वृषभो गोभिरानट् ।
उदतिष्ठत्तविषेणा रवेण महान्ति चित्सं विव्याचा रजांसि ॥२॥
इन्द्रः किल श्रुत्या अस्य वेद स हि जिष्णुः पथिकृत्सूर्याय ।
आन्मेनां कृण्वन्नच्युतो भुवद्गोः पतिर्दिवः सनजा अप्रतीतः ॥३॥
इन्द्रो मह्ना महतो अर्णवस्य व्रतामिनादङ्गिरोभिर्गृणानः ।
पुरूणि चिन्नि तताना रजांसि दाधार यो धरुणं सत्यताता ॥४॥
इन्द्रो दिवः प्रतिमानं पृथिव्या विश्वा वेद सवना हन्ति शुष्णम् ।
महीं चिद्द्यामातनोत्सूर्येण चास्कम्भ चित्कम्भनेन स्कभीयान् ॥५॥

111.

Manīshinah pra bharadhvam manīsham yatha-yatha matayah santi nrinam | índram satyaír erayama kritébhih sa hí viro girvanasyur vídanah || 1 || ritasya hí sadaso dhītír ádyaut sam garshteyo vrishabhó gobhir anat | úd atishthat tavishena ravena mahanti cit sam vivyaca rajansi || 2 || índrah kíla srutya asya veda sa hí jishnúh pathikrít súryaya | an menam krinvann acyuto bhuvad goh patir divák sanaja ápratītah || 3 || índro mahna maható arnavasya vratamināk angirobhir grinanah | puruni cin ní tatana rájansi dadhara yo dharuṇam satyatata || 4 || índro diváḥ pratimáṇam prithivya víṣva veda savana hanti ṣúshṇam | mahım cid dyam atanot suryena caskambha cit kámbhanena skábhıyan || 5 || 10 ||

111

O worshippers, offer your devotion to resplendent Lord in accord with your thoughts. Let us invoke our Lord with sincere adoration, for He loves songs of praise and is capable of granting our wishes. 1

Sustainer of the firmament, the sun shines brightly, like the offspring of a cow which has borne only once, (and never the second time). He, the showerer of benefits, arises with loud roar and pervades the spacious regions. 2

When He hears our praise, the resplendent Lord knows our wishes. He, the victorious, opens a path for the sun. Revealing the sacred knowledge, He, the unassailable, becomes the sovereign lord of the eternal earth, the sky and the whole universe. 3

Sustained by the numerous energy principles, the resplendent sun by his might disperses the shrouding clouds, or makes them pour down abundant rain. He supports the wide-spread clouds also in the midspace. 4

The resplendent Lord is verily the counterpart of heaven and earth; he is cognizant of all cosmic sacrifices. He is the slayer of obstructive forces (or clouds); He spreads out the spacious heaven, and illumes it with the light of the sun. Best of proppers, he props up the heaven with a prop, a beam of support. 5

॥११॥ वज्रेण हि वृत्रहा वृत्रमस्तरदेवस्य शूशुवानस्य मायाः ।
वि धृष्णो अत्र धृषता जघन्थाथाभवो मघवन्बाह्वोजाः ॥६॥
सचन्त यदुषसः सूर्येण चित्रामस्य केतवो रामविन्दन् ।
आ यन्नक्षत्रं ददृशे दिवो न पुनर्यतो नकिरद्धा नु वेद ॥७॥
दूरं किल प्रथमा जग्मुरासामिन्द्रस्य याः प्रसवे सस्रुरापः ।
क्व स्विदग्रं क्व बुध्न आसामापो मध्यं क्व वो नूनमन्तः ॥८॥
सृजः सिन्धूँरहिना जग्रसानाँ आदिदेताः प्र विविज्रे जवेन ।
मुमुक्षमाणा उत या मुमुच्रेऽधेदेता न रमन्ते नितिक्ताः ॥९॥
सध्रीचीः सिन्धुमुशतीरिवायन्त्सनाज्जार आरितः पूर्भिदासाम् ।
अस्तमा ते पार्थिवा वसून्यस्मे जग्मुः सूनृता इन्द्र पूर्वीः ॥१०॥

vájrena hí vritraha vritram astar adevasya susuvanasya mayah | ví dhrishno átra dhrishata jaghanthathabhavo maghavan bahvójah || 6 || sacanta yád ushasah suryena citram asya ketavo ram avindan | a yan nakshatram dádrise divo na punar yató nákir addha nu veda || 7 || duram kíla prathamá jagmur asām índrasya yáh prasave sasrúr ápah | kvà svid ágram kva budhna asam ápo mádhyam kva vo nūnám ántah || 8 || srijáh síndhuñr ahina jagrasanan ad íd etah pra vivijre javena | mumukshamana uta ya mumucré dhéd etá na ramante nítiktāh || 9 || sadhrícīh síndhum usatīr ivayan sanaj jará aritah purbhíd asam | ástam á te parthiva vasuny asmé jagmuh sunríta indra pūrvíh || 10 || 11 ||

The slayer of the cloud of Nescience, you lay him low with the bolt of justice; O resolute supreme Lord, you always overcome by your powerful bolt, the devices of the impious wicked. Sure of your own strength, O bounteous Lord, you are verily strong-armed. 6

When the dawns are associated with the sun, his rays acquire wonderful beauty; but when (during the day-hours) the constellations of heaven are not seen, no one really knows his rays as he moves (across the space). 7

The first of those waters, which issue forth at the resplendent Lord's command, run away very far. Where is your beginning, O waters? Tell me as to where your root is and where your centre. Where indeed is your termination? 8

You set at liberty the streams ot water which have been swallowed by serpentine clouds. These streams rush forth with rapidity; the waters which verily long to be liberated are set free, and thenceforth, the pure streams never come to a stop. 9

Combined into one, these streams hasten to the ocean, like loving wives to their husbands; the resplendent Lord, the witherer of foes, the demolisher of cities, has been their impeller from ancient times. May our oblations, the treasures of earth, and our copious praises proceed to the dwelling of the resplendent Lord. 10

(११२) द्वादशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैरूपो नभःप्रभेदन ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२२॥ इन्द्र पिब प्रतिकामं सुतस्य प्रातःसावस्तव हि पूर्वपीतिः ।
हर्षस्व हन्तवे शूर शत्रूनुक्थेभिष्टे वीर्या३ प्र ब्रवाम ॥१॥
यस्ते रथो मनसो जवीयानेन्द्र तेन सोमपेयाय याहि ।
तूयमा ते हरयः प्र द्रवन्तु येभिर्यासि वृषभिर्मन्दमानः ॥२॥
हरित्वता वर्चसा सूर्यस्य श्रेष्ठै रूपैस्तन्वं स्पर्शयस्व ।
अस्माभिरिन्द्र सखिभिर्हुवानः सध्रीचीनो मादयस्वा निषद्य ॥३॥
यस्य त्यत्ते महिमानं मदेष्विमे मही रोदसी नाविविक्ताम् ।
तदोक आ हरिभिरिन्द्र युक्तैः प्रियेभिर्याहि प्रियमन्नमच्छ ॥४॥
यस्य शश्वत्पपिवाँ इन्द्र शत्रूननानुकृत्या रण्या चकर्थ ।
स ते पुरंधिं तविषीमियर्ति स ते मदाय सुत इन्द्र सोमः ॥५॥

112.

Indra píba pratikāmám sutásya pratahsavas tava hí purvapitiḥ | harshasva hantave sura satrun ukthebhish te virya prá bravāma || 1 || yás te ratho manaso javiyan endra tena somapeyaya yāhi | tuyam a te harayah pra dravantu yébhir yasi vrishabhir mandamanah || 2 || haritvata varcasa sūryasya sreshthai rupaís tanvam sparsayasva | asmabhir indra sákhibhir huvanah sadhricino madayasva nishadya || 3 || yasya tyát te mahimanam madeshv imé mahi rodasī náviviktām | tád óka á háribhir indra yuktaíh priyébhir yāhi priyám ánnam ácha || 4 || yasya sasvat papivañ indra satrun anānukritya ranyā cakartha | sa te puramdhim tavishim iyarti sa te madaya suta indra somaḥ || 5 || 12 ||

112

O resplendent Lord, accept our laudations or loving praises, expressed at our morning prayers. You are the first to be thus invoked. O brave Lord, you verily rejoice in slaying your foes. We shall glorify your heroic deeds with hymns. 1

Come, O resplendent Lord, to our place of worship with your chariot, which is swifter than thought. Let your rays, the vigorous steeds, with whom you move delighted with good speed, hasten hither. 2

Decorate your form with most beautiful colours—with the golden radiance of the sun. Invoked by us, your friends, O resplendent Lord, please come with your associates, the vital elements, and be seated; please come here and be exhilarated. 3

O Lord, the vast heaven and earth cannot comprehend your exhilarating grandness. With your beloved strong bay-horses, harnessed to your chariot, you please come to our dwelling to partake of the sacrificial food that you love to have. 4

O resplendent Lord, you have ever been enjoying the elixir of joy, and in that exhilaration, you have been constantly destroying you. enemies with your inimitable weapon. All glory to ır divine elixir of love; it has been effused for you, for your exhilaration. 5

॥१३॥ इदं ते पात्रं सनवित्तमिन्द्र पिबा सोममेना शतक्रतो ।
पूर्ण आहावो मदिरस्य मध्वो यं विश्व इदभिहर्यन्ति देवाः ॥६॥
वि हि त्वामिन्द्र पुरुधा जनासो हितप्रयसो वृषभ ह्वयन्ते ।
अस्माकं ते मधुमत्तमानीमा भुवन्त्सवना तेषु हर्य ॥७॥
प्र त इन्द्र पूर्व्याणि प्र नूनं वीर्या वोचं प्रथमा कृतानि ।
सतीनमन्युरश्रथायो अद्रिं सुवेदनामकृणोर्ब्रह्मणे गाम् ॥८॥
नि षु सीद गणपते गणेषु त्वामाहुर्विप्रतमं कवीनाम् ।
न ऋते त्वत्क्रियते किं चनारे महामर्कं मघवञ्चित्रमर्च ॥९॥
अभिख्या नो मघवन्नाधमानान्त्सखे बोधि वसुपते सखीनाम् ।
रणं कृधि रणकृत्सत्यशुष्माभक्ते चिदा भजा राये अस्मान् ॥१०॥

idam te patram sanavittam indra piba somam ena satakrato | purna ahavo madirasya madhvo yam vísva íd abhiháryanti devah || 6 || ví hí tvam indra purudha janaso hitáprayaso vrishabha hváyante | asmakam te madhumattamānima bhuvan savana teshu harya || 7 || pra ta indra purvyani pra nunam virya vocam prathama kritani | satinamanyur asrathayo ádrim suvedanam akrinor bráhmane gam || 8 || ní shu sīda ganapate ganeshu tvam ahur vípratamam kavinam | na rité tvát kriyate kím canare maham arkám maghavan citram arca || 9 || abhikhya no maghavan nádhamānān sákhe bodhí vasupate sakhinam | ranam kridhi ranakrit satyasushmabhakte cid a bhaja rayé asman || 10 || 13 ||

Navamo 'nuvākah.

O resplendent Lord, your cup of devotional elixir, full of our love, has been long since provided by us; please drink the elixir from it; O performer of cent per cent selfless deeds, the goblet is full of the sweet elixir, a favourite of all divinities. 6

O resplendent Lord, showerer of benefits, men in so many places offer sacrificial food for your acceptance and invoke you. At all these sacrifices, you are invariably offered the sweet devotional elixir. May you take pleasure in them. 7

I will proclaim now, O resplendent Lord, your ancient first-achieved laurels. Determined to send rain to us, you do cleave the cloud; you make the (stolen) kine easily discoverable for the Supreme Lord. 8

O Lord of the mortals, please be seated among the associates. They regard you as the supreme sage among sages; without you, nothing is done here or at a distance; O bounteous Lord, listen to our great and wondrous adoration. 9

O bounteous Lord, friend of friends, Lord of treasure, we implore you; make us your devotee, make us wise, and be kind to us. O warrior, you are endowed with real strength; please fight for us and give us a share in the undivided riches. 10

[अथ दशमोऽनुवाकः ॥] (११३) त्रयोदशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैरूपः शतप्रभेदन ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-९) प्रथमादिनवर्चां जगती, (१०) दशम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१४॥ तम॑स्य॒ द्यावा॑पृथि॒वी सचे॑तसा॒ विश्वे॑भिर्दे॒वैरनु॒ शुष्म॑मावताम् ।
यदैत्कृ॑ण्वा॒नो म॑हि॒मान॑मिन्द्रि॒यं पी॒त्वी सोम॑स्य॒ क्रतु॑माँ अवर्धत ॥१॥
तम॑स्य॒ विष्णु॑र्महि॒मान॒मोज॑सां॒शुं द॑ध॒न्वान्मधु॑नो॒ वि र॑प्शते ।
दे॒वेभि॒रिन्द्रो॑ म॒घवा॑ स॒यावभि॑र्वृ॒त्रं ज॑घ॒न्वाँ अ॑भव॒द्वरे॑ण्यः ॥२॥
वृ॒त्रेण॒ यदहि॑ना॒ बिभ्र॒दायु॑धा स॒मस्थि॑था यु॒धये॑ शंस॑मा॒विदे॑ ।
विश्वे॑ ते॒ अत्र॑ म॒रुतः॑ स॒ह त्मनावर्ध॑न्नुग्र महि॒मान॑मिन्द्रि॒यम् ॥३॥
ज॒ज्ञा॒न ए॒व व्य॑बाधत॒ स्पृधः॒ प्राप॑श्यद्वी॒रो अ॒भि पौंस्यं॒ रण॑म् ।
अवृ॑श्च॒दद्रि॒मव॑ स॒स्यदः॑ सृ॒जद॒स्त॑भ्ना॒न्नाकं॑ स्वप॒स्यया॑ पृ॒थुम् ॥४॥
आदिन्द्रः॑ स॒त्रा तवि॑षीरपत्यत॒ वरी॑यो॒ द्यावा॑पृथि॒वी अ॑बाधत ।
अवा॑भरद्धृषि॒तो वज्र॑माय॒सं शेवं॑ मि॒त्राय॒ वरु॑णाय दा॒शुषे॑ ॥५॥

113

Tám asya dyavaprithivı sacetasa víṣvebhir devaír ánu susbmam avatam | yád aít krinvanó mahimanam indriyam pıtvı somasya krátumañ avardhata || 1 || tam asya víshnur mahimanam ojasansum dadhanvan madhuno ví rapsate | devébhir índro maghava sayavabhir vritram jaghanvañ abhavad varenyah || 2 || vritrena yad ahina bíbhrad ayudha samasthitha yudhaye sansam avíde | víṣve te átra marutah saha tmanavardhann ugra mahimanam indriyam || 3 || jajnaná evá vy abadhata sprıdhah prapaṣyad vıro abhí paunsyam ranam | ávriscad adrim ava sasyádah srijad ástabhnan nakam svapasyaya prithum || 4 || ad índrah satra tavishīr apatyata vanyo dyavaprithivı abadhata | avabharad dhrishito vajram ayasam sevam mitraya varunaya dasushe || 5 || 14 ||

113

May the concurring heaven and earth, together with all the bounties, preserve that strength of the sun, whereby he obtained his vigorous might. When he comes showing his majesty and power, he drinks the elixir and becomes exceedingly strong. 1

The divine all-pervading luminary (the sun), offering the portion of the life-giving elixir, glorifies his own vigour and greatness. The sun, the Lord of wealth, with the associated cosmic forces, having slain the clouds, becomes deserving of honour. 2

When you encounter the indestructible dark cloud, wielding your weapons for combat, you acquire renown. All the associated vital principles of their own accord magnify the appropriate might, which rightly is yours, the resplendent sun. 3

As soon as he comes to life, he encounters his assailants; the great hero entirely relies on his own manly prowess in war; he divides the cloud, sends forth the flowing waters, and with the determination to accomplish his benevolent assignments, sustains the vast celestial region. 4

The sun advances with his vast forces; he overcomes with his might the foes, stationed far from each other between heaven and earth; with confidence, he wields his iron thunderbolt to do good to friendly and virtuous people, and the liberal donors. 5

॥१५॥ इन्द्रस्यात्र तविषीभ्यो विरप्शिन ऋघायतो अरंहयन्त मन्यवे ।
वृत्रं यदुग्रो व्यवृश्चदोजसापो बिभ्रतं तमसा परीवृतम् ॥६॥
या वीर्याणि प्रथमानि कर्त्वा महित्वेभिर्यतमानौ समीयतुः ।
ध्वान्तं तमोऽव दध्वसे हत इन्द्रो मह्ना पूर्वहूतावपत्यत ॥७॥
विश्वे देवासो अध वृष्ण्यानि तेऽवर्धयन्त्सोमवत्या वचस्यया ।
रद्धं वृत्रमहिमिन्द्रस्य हन्मनाग्निर्न जम्भैस्तृष्वन्नमावयत् ॥८॥
भूरि दक्षेभिर्वचनेभिर्ऋक्वभिः सख्येभिः सख्यानि प्र वोचत ।
इन्द्रो धुनिं च चुमुरिं च दम्भयञ्छ्रद्धामनस्या शृणुते दभीतये ॥९॥
त्वं पुरूण्या भरा स्वश्व्या येभिर्मंसै निवचनानि शंसन् ।
सुगेभिर्विश्वा दुरिता तरेम विदो षु ण उर्विया गाधमद्य ॥१०॥

índrasyatra tavishībhyo virapsína ṛighāyato aranhayanta manyave | vritram yad ugro vy ávriścad ojasāpo bíbhratam tamasā parīvritam || 6 || yā vīryāṇi prathamāni kártva mahitvébhir yátamānau samīyatuḥ | dhvāntam tamo 'va dadhvase hata índro mahnā pūrvahūtāv apatyata || 7 || víśve devāso adha vrishṇyāni té 'vardhayan somavatyā vacasyayā | raddhám vritrám ahim índrasya hánmanāgnír ná jambhais trishv annam āvayat || 8 || bhūri dakshebhir vacanébhir ríkvabhiḥ sakhyébhiḥ sakhyáni pra vocata | índro dhúnim ca cúmurim ca dambháyañ chraddhāmanasyā śriṇute dabhītaye || 9 || tvam purūṇy á bharā svásvyā yébhir máṅsai nivácanāni śaṅsan | sugebhir viśvā duritá tarema vido shu ṇa urviyā gādham adya || 10 || 15 ||

Then the waters rush forth to proclaim the might of the sun shouting loudly, and crushing (his foes), when fiercely he cuts such devilish forces to pieces by his strength as try to obstruct the water, and are encompassed by darkness. 6

In the first of those heroic acts performed by them both the groups (the sun and the clouds) make every effort to win with their utmost might. The sun wins and the devil cloud is slain; the thick darkness is destroyed. Verily, the sun through his might comes out victorious at the first challenge. 7

Then all Nature's bounties, magnify (O sun) your efforts with praise; they offer libations of loving elixir; and quickly defeat the devil, who is the obstructer of water. He is crushed by the slaughtering weapon of the sun, the supreme luminary just like the fire devours food with his teeth. 8

Celebrate the numerous benevolent acts of the resplendent sun, with clever affectionate praises, together with sacred hymns. May the resplendent sun always subdue the wicked, the cruel and the oppressor. He verily deserves the praise offered to him for glorification. 9

May you, O resplendent sun, (or the Supreme Lord) grant me ample riches and excellent horses (food and fuel) with which I may honour divine powers, proffering praise. With properly earned riches, let us cross over all our troubles and handicaps. May you accept our well-composed praises today. 10

(११४) चतुर्दशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैरूपः सध्रिस्तापसो घर्मो वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१-३, ५-१०) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्यादिषड्चाश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥१६॥ घर्मा समन्ता त्रिवृतं व्यापतुस्तयोर्जुष्टिं मातरिश्वा जगाम ।
दिवस्पयो दिधिषाणा अवेषन्विदुर्देवाः सहसामानमर्कम् ॥१॥
तिस्रो देष्ट्राय निर्ऋतीरुपासते दीर्घश्रुतो वि हि जानन्ति वह्नयः ।
तासां नि चिक्युः कवयो निदानं परेषु या गुह्येषु व्रतेषु ॥२॥
चतुष्कपर्दा युवतिः सुपेशा घृतप्रतीका वयुनानि वस्ते ।
तस्यां सुपर्णा वृषणा नि षेदतुर्यत्र देवा दधिरे भागधेयम् ॥३॥
एकः सुपर्णः स समुद्रमा विवेश स इदं विश्वं भुवनं वि चष्टे ।
तं पाकेन मनसापश्यमन्तितस्तं माता रेळ्हि स उ रेळ्हि मातरम् ॥४॥
सुपर्णं विप्राः कवयो वचोभिरेकं सन्तं बहुधा कल्पयन्ति ।
छन्दांसि च दधतो अध्वरेषु ग्रहान्त्सोमस्य मिमते द्वादश ॥५॥

114

Gharmá sámantā trivŕ́tam vy āpatus tayor jushtim matarísva jagama | divas payo didhishana aveshan vidur deváḥ sahasamanam arkam || 1 || tisró deshtraya nirritır upasate dīrghasruto ví hí jananti vahnayah | tasam ní cikyuḥ kavayo nidanam pareshu ya gúhyeshu vratéshu || 2 || catushkaparda yuvatíḥ supeṣa ghritápratıka vayunani vaste | tásyāṃ suparṇá vríshana nı shedatur yatra devá dadhiré bhagadhéyam || 3 || ékah suparnah sá samudrám á vivesa sa idam vısvam bhuvanam ví cashte | tam pakena manasapasyam antitas tam mata relhi sa u relhi mataraṃ || 4 || suparnam vıprah kavayo vacobhir ekam santam bahudha kalpayanti | chandaṅsi ca dadhato adhvareshu grahan somasya mimate dvadasa || 5 || 16 ||

114

The two sources of heat, fire and the sun, spreading to the limits of the horizon, have pervaded the threefold universe; the cosmic wind has come to give them service. The shining rays with the brilliance of the Saman, reach the adorable sun as well as they water the heaven (resulting in ṛainfall). 1

Three types of forces[1] are operative in this universe: disruptive, conjunctive and motivating. This fact is so well known to the widely-enlightened learned persons. The poet sages also verily know the source of generation of these forces—some of them are potential (or hidden), and the others active and kinetic. 2

The quadrangular altar, (as if, a maiden) youthful, handsome and decorated, bright with oblations, clothes herself in pious rites; the two birds (soul and the universal self)[2], the showerers of oblations, sit down thereon where the cosmic forces receive their share. 3

One of the birds passes across the firmament; he looks around and takes an integral view of this whole world; with innocent heart, I behold him from close quarters; his mother[3] kisses him, and he kisses the mother. 4

The wise seers through their art, portray the bird[4] into many forms, though he is only one and holding the seven metres at the sacrifice worship, they measure twelve community-cups of divine elixir. 5

1. Three Nirṛtis: three regions, earth, midspace and heaven or three forces: disruptive, conjunctive and motivating (rotational, vibrational and translatory energies) or three deities Agni, Vayu and Aditya.

2. Two birds: Supreme Self and lower self; Brahman and + jiva, or husband and wife, or the pair of yajamana (householder) and priest.

3. Mother = Madhyamika vac—sound of mid heaven; thunder.

4. One bird = Ekam Suparnam = Supreme Self, Paramatman.

॥१७॥ षट्त्रिंशाँश्च चतुरः कल्पयन्तश्छन्दांसि च दधत आद्वादशम् ।
यज्ञं विमाय कवयो मनीष ऋक्सामाभ्यां प्र रथं वर्तयन्ति ॥६॥
चतुर्दशान्ये महिमानो अस्य तं धीरा वाचा प्र णयन्ति सप्त ।
आप्नानं तीर्थं क इह प्र वोचद्येन पथा प्रपिबन्ते सुतस्य ॥७॥
सहस्रधा पञ्चदशान्युक्था यावद्द्यावापृथिवी तावदित्तत् ।
सहस्रधा महिमानः सहस्रं यावद्ब्रह्म विष्ठितं तावती वाक् ॥८॥
कश्छन्दसां योगमा वेद धीरः को धिष्ण्यां प्रति वाचं पपाद ।
कमृत्विजामष्टमं शूरमाहुर्हरी इन्द्रस्य नि चिकाय कः स्वित् ॥९॥
भूम्या अन्तं पर्येके चरन्ति रथस्य धूर्षु युक्तासो अस्थुः ।
श्रमस्य दायं वि भजन्त्येभ्यो यदा यमो भवति हर्म्ये हितः ॥१०॥

shattrinsans ca caturah kalpayantas chándānsi ca dádhata advadasam | yajnam vimaya kavayo manisha riksamabhyam pra rátham vartayanti || 6 || cáturdasanyé mahimano asya tam dhira vaca pra nayanti sapta | apnanam tirtham ka iha pra vocad yena patha prapíbante sutasya || 7 || sahasradha pancadasany uktha yavad dyavaprithivi távad ít tát | sahasradha mahimanah sahasram yavad brahma víshthitam távatī vak || 8 || kas chandasam yogam a veda dhirah ko dhíshnyam prati vacam papada | kam ritvijam ashtamam suram ahur hárī índrasya ní cikāya kah svit || 9 || bhumya antam pary eke caranti rathasya dhurshu yuktaso asthuh | sramasya dāyam ví bhajanty ebhyo yada yamo bhávati harmye hitah || 10 || 17 ||

Filling thirty-six and four[1] vessels, and holding the metres as far as twelve, detailing out the ceremony by their intelligence, the sages complete sacred Yajna with the verses of Ṛc and Saman. 6

There are fourteen others in his magistracy; seven sages conduct him by prayer who may declare to us the vast place of sanctity at this ceremony, and which is the path whereby they drink this life-giving elixir. 7

The fifteen chief forms are found in thousands of places; this is as vast as heaven and earth in measure; the thousand great cosmic powers are in a thousand cosmic places; the divine speech (vak) spreads forth as much and as far as the Creator (Brahma). 8

What sage knows the application of the metres? Who utters the words (the speech, vak) appropriate to the spirit of the functions of the different priests? Whom do they call the eighth of the priests, the independent? Who has done honour to the two bay-steeds (Ṛk and Saman) of the resplendent one? 9

Several of the rays (the steeds) proceed to the terminus of the earth; these rays, like horses, stand still harnessed to the yoke of the chariot; when the charioteer, the sun settles in his home, then other cosmic powers divide the labour-fatigue among them, as to provide relief. 10

1. Forty cups of wood or earthen ware in the Agnistoma sacrifice (Yv. VII-VIII.)

(११५) पञ्चदशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वार्ष्टिहव्य उपस्तुत ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-७) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चां जगती, (८) अष्टम्यास्त्रिष्टुप् , (९) नवम्याश्च शक्करी छन्दांसि ॥

॥१८॥ चित्र इच्छिशोस्तरुणस्य वक्षथो न यो मातरावप्येति धातवे ।
अनूधा यदि जीजनदधा च नु ववक्ष सद्यो महि दूत्यं१ चरन् ॥१॥
अग्निर्ह नाम धायि दन्नपस्तमः सं यो वना युवते भस्मना दता ।
अभिप्रमुरा जुह्वा स्वध्वर इनो न प्रोथमानो यवसे वृषा ॥२॥
तं वो विं न द्रुषदं देवमन्धस इन्दुं प्रोथन्तं प्रवपन्तमर्णवम् ।
आसा वह्निं न शोचिषा विरप्शिनं महिव्रतं न सरजन्तमध्वनः ॥३॥
वि यस्य ते ज्रयसानस्याजर धक्षोर्न वाताः परि सन्त्यच्युताः ।
आ रण्वासो युयुधयो न सत्वनं त्रितं नशन्त प्र शिषन्त इष्टये ॥४॥
स इदग्निः कण्वतमः कण्वसखार्यः परस्यान्तरस्य तरुषः ।
अग्निः पातु गृणतो अग्निः सूरीनग्निर्ददातु तेषामवो नः ॥५॥

115

Citra íc chísos tarunasya vakshatho ná yo matarav apyeti dhatave | anudha yádi jijanad adha ca nu vaváksha sadyo máhi dutyam caran || 1 || agnír ha nama dhayi dann apastamah sám yo vana yuvate bhásmana data | abhipramura juhva svadhvara ino na prothamano yavase vríshā || 2 || tám vo vím na drushadam devam andhasa índum prothantam pravapantam arnavam | asa váhnim na socísha virapsínam mahivratam ná sarájantam ádhvanah || 3 || ví yásya te ˚jrayasanasyajara dhakshor na vatah pari santy acyutah | a ranvaso yuyudhayo ná satvanam tritam nasanta pra sishanta ishtáye || 4 || sa íd agníh kanvatamah kánvasakharyah parasyantarasya tárushah | agníh patu grinató agníh surin agnír dadatu tesham ávo nah || 5 || 18 ||

115

Wonderful is the conveying capacity of this tender infant (i.e. of the fire-divine in carrying oblations to distances); he does not come to his parents to drink; indeed the udderless heaven and earth have given him birth. He immediately bears oblations to Nature's bounties; he is verily their messenger, and he fulfils this office with earnestness. 1

The most active fire-divine, the giver of wealth, is nourished with purified butter by the worshippers. His flames are like tooth to consume the forest which he can devour in no time. Devoutly worshipped with the uplifted goblet he is nourished like a lordly well-fed bull amidst fresh pasture. 2

(O devotees), glorify him, who like a bird rests upon a tree, demanding sacrificial food; he is clamorous, wood-consuming, water-shedding; he is like one who bears the oblation in his mouth. He is mighty with radiance; whilst he moves, he simultaneously illuminates paths, like the great luminary, the sun. 3

O imperishable fire-divine, the invincible, uninterrupted winds spread around you, while you are in rapid movement, always eager to consume forests. The priests with loud chants, like combatants shouting in a contest, offer you oblations. We glorify this mighty fire-divine stationed in the three regions. 4

This fire-divine is the most earnest of the worthiest resounder; he is the friend of those who praise him, the Lord, the destroyer of enemies, whether far off or near. May the fire-divine protect those who adore him. May he preserve those who offer oblations; may the fire-divine give us all that is good and also protection. 5

॥१९॥ वाजिन्तमाय सह्यसे सुपित्र्य तृषु च्यवानो अनु जातवेदसे ।
अनुद्रे चिद्यो धृषता वरं सते महिन्तमाय धन्वनेदविष्यते ॥६॥
एवाग्निर्मर्तैः सह सूरिभिर्वसु ष्टवे सहसः सूनरो नृभिः ।
मित्रासो न ये सुधिता ऋतायवो द्यावो न द्युम्नैरभि सन्ति मानुषान् ॥७॥
ऊर्जो नपात्सहसावन्निति त्वोपस्तुतस्य वन्दते वृषा वाक् ।
त्वां स्तोषाम त्वया सुवीरा द्राघीय आयुः प्रतरं दधानाः ॥८॥
इति त्वाग्ने वृष्टिहव्यस्य पुत्रा उपस्तुतास ऋषयोऽवोचन् ।
ताँश्च पाहि गृणतश्च सूरीन्वषड्वषळित्यूर्ध्वासो अनक्षन्नमो नम इत्यूर्ध्वासो अनक्षन् ॥९॥

vājíntamāya sáhyase supitrya trishú cyávāno ánu jātávedase | anudré cid yó dhrishata varam saté mahíntamāya dhánvanéd avishyaté || 6 || evagnır martaih sahá sūríbhir vásu shtave sáhasah sūnáro nríbhih | mitraso ná ye súdhitā ritayavo dyavo ná dyumnaír abhí santi mắnushan || 7 || ū́rjo napat sahasāvann íti tvopastutásya vandate vrísha vák | tvam stoshama tvaya suvıra draghīya ayuh pratarám dádhānāh || 8 || íti tvagne vrishtihávyasya putra upastutasa ríshayo 'vocan | tans ca pāhí grinatás ca surın vashad vashal íty ūrdhvā́so anakshan namo nama íty urdhvaso anakshan || 9 || 19 ||

(११६) षोडशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य स्थौरोऽग्नियुतोऽग्नियूपो वा ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ पिबा सोमं महत इन्द्रियाय पिबा वृत्राय हन्तवे शविष्ठ ।
पिब राये शवसे हूयमानः पिब मध्वस्तृपदिन्द्रा वृषस्व ॥१॥

116

Píbā somam mahatá indriyā́ya píba vritrā́ya hántave savishtha | píba raye savase huyámanah píba mádhvas tripad indra vrishasva || 1 ||

O fire-divine, you have fair ancestors; I have arrived without delay to praise you. You are the most bountiful bestower of food, the overcomer of foes, and the all-knowing. I offer my best to this (fire-divine), who is the most mighty, all-pervading, and our protector in all calamities. 6

In this manner, this fire-divine, the source of strength, is glorified by us, his worshippers, and other pious mortals, for the sake of wealth. Men who are well-disposed as friends, who are true to the eternal order, overcome hostile men through his divine might. 7

"O source of strengthening food, O victorious fire-divine", with such praises and invocations, let us shower forth oblations, and revere you. Through you let us obtain brave sons, enjoying long protracted life. 8

Thus, O fire-divine, the seers, the chanters, the worshippers during the season of rains, celebrate you. May you protect them and protect other pious worshippers. With uplifted faces, calling out "Vasat, (hail! hail!), they reach you; with uplifted faces they reach you, calling out "namas, namas (salutations! respects!)". 9

116

O resplendent, O mighty one, drink the divine elixir for the invigoration of your good virtues; drink it for the destruction of evil tendencies; drink when invoked for wealth, for strength. Drink the exhilarating elixir, and being satisfied, O resplendent, shower down (blessings). 1

अस्य पिब क्षुमतः प्रस्थितस्येन्द्र सोमस्य वरमा सुतस्य ।
स्वस्तिदा मनसा मादयस्वार्वाचीनो रेवते सौभगाय ॥२॥
ममत्तु त्वा दिव्यः सोम इन्द्र ममत्तु यः सूयते पार्थिवेषु ।
ममत्तु येन वरिवश्चकर्थ ममत्तु येन निरिणासि शत्रून् ॥३॥
आ द्विबर्हा अमिनो यात्विन्द्रो वृषा हरिभ्यां परिषिक्तमन्धः ।
गव्या सुतस्य प्रभृतस्य मध्वः सत्रा खेदामरुशहा वृषस्व ॥४॥
नि तिग्मानि भ्राशयन्भ्राश्यान्यव स्थिरा तनुहि यातुजूनाम् ।
उग्राय ते सहो बलं ददामि प्रतीत्या शत्रून्विगदेषु वृश्च ॥५॥

asya piba kshumatah prasthitasyendra somasya varam a sutasya | svastida manasa madayasvarvacino revate saubhagaya || 2 || mamattu tva divyah soma indra mamattu yah suyate párthiveshu | mamáttu yena varivas cakartha mamattu yena nirinasi satrun || 3 || á dvibarha amino yatv indro vrisha haribhyam parishiktam andhah | gavy á sutásya prábhritasya madhvah satra khedam arusaha vrishasva || 4 || ní tigmáni bhrasayan bhrasyany ava sthira tanuhi yatujunam | ugraya te saho bálam dadami pratítya sátrun vigadéshu vrisca || 5 || 20 ||

॥२१॥ व्यर्य इन्द्र तनुहि श्रवांस्योजः स्थिरेव धन्वनोऽभिमातीः ।
अस्मद्र्यग्वावृधानः सहोभिरनिभृष्टस्तन्वं वावृधस्व ॥६॥
इदं हविर्मघवन्तुभ्यं रातं प्रति सम्राळहृणानो गृभाय ।
तुभ्यं सुतो मघवन्तुभ्यं पक्वोऽद्धीन्द्र पिब च प्रस्थितस्य ॥७॥

vy arya indra tanuhi srávansy oja sthireva dhanvano bhímatih | asmadryag vavridhanah sahobhir anibhrishtas tanvám vavridhasva || 6 || idam havír maghavan túbhyam rãtam prati samral ahrínano gribhaya | túbhyam suto maghavan túbhyam pakvò 'ddhindra píba ca prasthitasya || 7 ||

Drink, O resplendent, your excellent portion of this renowned elixir effusd and poured forth. O giver of prosperity, please be delighted in your mind, and please turn towards us to bless us with riches and for the sake of happiness. 2

O resplendent, may the celestial elixir exhilarate you; may that which is effused at our terrestrial rites and performances exhilarate you. May that exhilarate you since under its influence, you have been bestowing wealth to us. May this elixir exhilarate you whereby you scatter all our foes (or all our wickedness). 3

O resplendent, who deserves the two-fold adoration, who goes everywhere, who is the showerer of benefits, please come to bless the offered sacrificial food with your two-fold bay-steed-like energies (physical and spiritual). O slayer of enemies, exhilarated at our sacrifice by drinking the elixir effused upon the earth, please rush like a bull upon our exhausted enemies. 4

O sun, brandishing your penetrating shining radiations, pierce the solid bodies of our wicked and evil worms and germs. I give such oblations to you as would eradicate henceforth vicious pollutions, and then you with your might would be able to assail the enemies (virus infection), and cut them to pieces in the midst of their clamour and activity. 5

O resplendent, please stretch out for us food of various kinds; stretch out your strength like strong bows against our enemies. You are mighty and possess immense vigour. You have irresistible strength indeed; please do augment your form (for our sake). 6

O sovereign, the bounteous, to you we present this oblation; accept it, not displeased; for you, O bounteous one, the libation is effused; for you the cake has been toasted; accept it, resplendent, and drink the libation poured (upon the altar). 7

अद्धीदिन्द्र प्रस्थितेमा हवींषि चनो दधिष्व पचतोत सोमम् ।
प्रयस्वन्तः प्रति हर्यामसि त्वा सत्याः सन्तु यजमानस्य कामाः ॥८॥
प्रेन्द्राग्निभ्यां सुवचस्यामियर्मि सिन्धाविव प्रेरयं नावमर्कैः ।
अया इव परि चरन्ति देवा ये अस्मभ्यं धनदा उद्भिदश्च ॥९॥

laddhíd indra prásthitema havíṁshi cano dadhishva pacatótá somam | práyasvantaḥ prati haryamasi tva satyáḥ santu yajamanasya kamaḥ || 8 || préndragníbhyāṃ suvacasyam iyarmi síndhav iva prérayaṃ navam arkaíḥ | áyā iva pári caranti deva ye asmábhyam dhanadá udbhídaṣ ca || 9 || 21 ||

(११७) सप्तदशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो भिक्षुर्ऋषिः । धनान्नदानं देवता । (१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययो- र्ऋचोर्जगती, (३-९) तृतीयादिसप्तानाञ्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥२२॥ न वा उ देवाः क्षुधमिद्वधं ददुरुताशितमुप गच्छन्ति मृत्यवः ।
उतो रयिः पृणतो नोप दस्यत्युतापृणन्मर्डितारं न विन्दते ॥१॥
य आध्राय चकमानाय पित्वोऽन्नवान्त्सन्रफितायोपजग्मुषे ।
स्थिरं मनः कृणुते सेवते पुरोतो चित्स मर्डितारं न विन्दते ॥२॥
स इद्भोजो यो गृहवे ददात्यन्नकामाय चरते कृशाय ।
अरमस्मै भवति यामहूता उतापरीषु कृणुते सखायम् ॥३॥

117

Ná vā́ u deváh kshúdham íd vadhaṃ dadur utāṣitam upa gachanti mrityavaḥ | utó rayíḥ prinató nópa dasyaty utaprinan marditáraṃ na vindate || 1 || ya adhraya cakamā- náya pitvó 'nnavān sán raphitayopajagmushe | sthirám manaḥ krinuté sévate puróto cit sá marditáraṃ na vindate || 2 || sa íd bhojo yo griháve dádāty ánnakamaya carate krisáya | áram asmai bhavati yamahuta utaparishu krinute sakhayam || 3 ||

Accept, O resplendent, these oblations placed upon the altar; accept the food, cooked herbs, and the elixir. With these sacrificial viands, we delight you. Let the aspirations of the institutor of the ceremony be fulfilled. 8

I direct my eulogy to the Lord of resplendence and to fire-divine. Through the sacred prayers, I direct my praises like a boat launched upon the ocean. Nature's bounties seem to favour us like priests. They are the bestowers of riches and they utterly destroy our foes. 9

117

The divine powers have not assigned hunger as the cause of death; since deaths come to them also who have been eating well. The riches of the one who liberally gives do not diminish; on the other hand, he finds no consoler who gives not. 1

If the man, possessed of food, hardens his heart against the person famishing for want of nourishment and does not give to a person who comes abegging and is needy and if the miser pursues his own enjoyment even before him, that man also finds none to console him. 2

Bounteous is he who gives food to the needy and helps a person who wanders in distress; to him there is an ample recompense, and he ultimately contracts friendship with those also who now oppose him. 3

न स सखा यो न दुदाति सख्ये सचाभुवे सचमानाय पित्वः ।
अपास्मात्प्रेयान्न तदोको अस्ति पृणन्तमन्यमरणं चिदिच्छेत् ॥४॥
पृणीयादिन्नाधमानाय तव्यान्द्राघीयांसमनु पश्येत पन्थाम् ।
ओ हि वर्तन्ते रथ्येव चक्रान्यमन्यमुप तिष्ठन्त रायः ॥५॥

ná sá sakha yo na dadati sákhye sacabhuve sacamanaya pitvah | apasmat preyan na tad oko asti prinantam anyám aranam cid ichet || 4 || priniyad ín nadhamanaya tavyan dragmiyansam anu pasyeta pantham | o hí vartante ráthyeva cakranyam-anyam upa tishṭhanta rayaḥ || 5 || 22 ||

॥२३॥ मोघमन्नं विन्दते अप्रचेताः सत्यं ब्रवीमि वध इत्स तस्य ।
नार्यमणं पुष्यति नो सखायं केवलाघो भवति केवलादी ॥६॥
कृषन्नित्फाल आशितं कृणोति यन्नध्वानमप वृङ्क्ते चरित्रैः ।
वदन्ब्रह्मावदतो वनीयान्पृणन्नापिरपृणन्तमभि ष्यात् ॥७॥
एकपाद्भूयो द्विपदो वि चक्रमे द्विपात्त्रिपादमभ्येति पश्चात् ।
चतुष्पादेति द्विपदामभिस्वरे संपश्यन्पङ्क्तीरुपतिष्ठमानः ॥८॥
समौ चिद्धस्तौ न समं विविष्टः संमातरा चिन्न समं दुहाते ।
यमयोश्चिन्न समा वीर्याणि ज्ञाती चित्सन्तौ न समं पृणीतः ॥९॥

mogham annam vindate ápracetāh satyám bravīmi vadha ít ṣa tasya | naryamanam pushyati no sakhayam kevalagho bhavati kevaladı || 6 || krishann ít phala asitam krinoti yann adhvanam apa vrinkte carítraih | vádan brahmávadato vanıyan prinann apır aprinantam abhí shyat || 7 || ekapad bhuyo dvipado ví cakrame dvipat tripadam abhy eti pascat | cátushpad eti dvipadam abhisvare sampasyan panktır upatísbthamanah || 8 || samau cid dhastau na samam vivishtah sammatara cin ná samám duhate | yamayos cin na sama vıryani jnatí cit santau ná samám primtah || 9 || 23 ||

He is not a friend and comrade who gives not food to a friend, to an associate, to a companion. (What a pity if) disappointed goes the needy from his house. Let him rather seek help at the door of a more liberal person. 4

It is expected of every rich man to satisfy the poor implorer; let the rich person have a distant vision (for a rich of today may not remain rich tomorrow). Remember that riches revolve from one man to another, as revolve the wheels of a chariot. 5

The foolish man, that shows no hospitality, acquires food in vain. I speak the truth (when I say) that food shall cause his ruin. He finds no faithful comrade nor a friend; he who eats alone verily eats nothing but a sin. 6

The ploughshare furrowing the field provides food (for the ploughman to eat). Having left his foot prints, a man travelling along a road cuts a path for others to follow. The wise preceptor expounding the Vedas (for others) is better than one who is not expounding it to others. The honour of kinsmanship goes to one who gives, and not to him who gives not. 7

He, who has but one foot, takes a longer time on a journey than he who has two; he who has two feet comes after him who has three; he who has four feet comes up overtaking the two-footed and the three-footed, beholding their traces as he passes by. 8

The two hands are alike, but they do not perform the same work; two cows calving at the same time do not yield the same milk; two twins have not the same strength; two persons of the family do not display equal liberality. 9

(११८) अष्टादशोत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यामहीयव उरुक्षय ऋषिः । रक्षोहाग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥ अग्ने हंसि न्य१त्रिणं दीद्यन्मर्त्येष्वा । स्वे क्षये शुचिव्रत ॥१॥
उत्तिष्ठसि स्वाहुतो घृतानि प्रति मोदसे । यत्त्वा स्रुचः समस्थिरन् ॥२॥
स आहुतो वि रोचतेऽग्निरीळेन्यो गिरा । स्रुचा प्रतीकमज्यते ॥३॥
घृतेनाग्निः समज्यते मधुप्रतीक आहुतः । रोचमानो विभावसुः ॥४॥
जरमाणः समिध्यसे देवेभ्यो हव्यवाहन । तं त्वा हवन्त मर्त्याः ॥५॥

118.

Ágne háṅsi ny àtríṇam dī́dyan mártyeshv ā́ | své kshaye ṣucivrata || 1 || út tishṭhasi svā́huto ghṛitáni práti modase | yát tvā srúcaḥ samasthiran || 2 || sá ā́huto ví rocate 'gnír īḷényo girā́ | srucā́ prátīkam ajyate || 3 || ghṛiténāgníḥ sám ajyate mádhupratīka ā́hutah | rócamano vibhā́vasuh || 4 || járamanah sam idhyase devébhyo havyavāhana | tam tva havanta martyāḥ || 5 || 24 ||

॥२५॥ तं मर्ता अमर्त्यं घृतेनाग्निं सपर्यत । अदाभ्यं गृहपतिम् ॥६॥
अदाभ्येन शोचिषाग्ने रक्षस्त्वं दह । गोपा ऋतस्य दीदिहि ॥७॥
स त्वमग्ने प्रतीकेन प्रत्योष यातुधान्यः । उरुक्षयेषु दीद्यत् ॥८॥
तं त्वा गीर्भिरुरुक्षया हव्यवाहं समीधिरे । यजिष्ठं मानुषे जने ॥९॥

tam marta amartyam ghṛitenagním saparyata | adabhyam gṛihapatim || 6 || ádabhyena socíshagne rakshas tvam daha | gopā́ ṛitásya dīdihi || 7 || sa tvam agne pratīkena praty osha yatudhanyah | urukshayeshu dídyat || 8 || tam tva gīr-bhír urukshaya havyavā́ham sam īdhire | yajishtham ma-nushe jane || 9 || 25 ||

118

Fire-divine, the purifier, the destroyer of the devouring gloom shines among men in the altar, its own home. 1

It springs up when invoked with devotion, delights in the oblations, when the ladles are brought near it. 2

The fire-divine is to be glorified with songs; it blazes up when invoked; prior to others (in reverence), it is sprinkled with butter from a ladle. 3

The fire-divine is invoked, anointed with butter and honey; it is refulgent and radiant and makes everything bright and shining. 4

O glorified by the worshippers, you are kindled for the divines; and as such mortals adore you. 5

With offerings of clarified butter, mortals worship immortal fire-divine, who is indestructible, and enshrined in homes. 6

With your indestructible flame, O fire-divine, defender of sacred works, may you consume the wicked and vicious (germs and virus) and shine. 7

May you, O fire-divine, with your glowing effulgence, burn the disease—spreading mother-germs, shining in your outspread altars. 8

The worshippers and dignitaries of repute by their praises, kindle you, O fire-divine, the bearer of oblations; you are most adorable among mankind. 9

(११९) एकोनविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-१३) त्रयोदशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्यैन्द्रो लब ऋषिः । आत्मा देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ इति॒ वा इति॑ मे॒ मनो॒ गामश्वं॑ सनुया॒मिति॑ । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥१॥
प्र वाता॑ इव॒ दोध॑त॒ उन्मा॑ पी॒ता अ॑यंसत । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥२॥
उन्मा॑ पी॒ता अ॑यंसत॒ रथ॒मश्वा॑ इवा॒शवः॑ । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥३॥
उप॑ मा म॒तिर॑स्थित वा॒श्रा पु॒त्रमि॑व प्रि॒यम् । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥४॥
अ॒हं तष्टे॑व व॒न्धुरं॒ पर्य॑चामि हृ॒दा म॒तिम् । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥५॥
न॒हि मे॑ अक्षि॒पच्च॒नाच्छा॑न्त्सुः प॒ञ्च कृ॒ष्टयः॑ । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥६॥

119

íti vá íti me mano gam asvam sanuyam íti | kuvít somasyapam íti || 1 || pra vata iva dodhata un ma pıta ayansata | kuvít — || 2 || un ma pıta ayansata rátham asvā ivāsavah | kuvít — || 3 || upa ma matír asthita vasra putram iva priyam | kuvít — || 4 || aham táshteva vandhuram pary acami hrida matím | kuvít — || 5 || nahí me akshipac canachantsuh panca krishtáyah | kuvít — || 6 || २८ ||

॥२७॥ न॒हि मे॒ रोद॑सी उ॒भे अ॒न्यं प॒क्षं च॒न प्रति॑ । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥७॥
अ॒भि द्यां म॑हि॒ना भु॑वम॒भी॒३॑मां पृ॑थि॒वीं म॒हीम् । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥८॥
हन्ता॒हं पृ॑थि॒वीमि॒मां नि द॑धानी॒ह वे॒ह वा॑ । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥९॥
ओ॒षमित्पृ॑थि॒वीम॒हं ज॒ङ्घना॑नी॒ह वे॒ह वा॑ । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥१०॥
दि॒वि मे॑ अ॒न्यः प॒क्षो॒३॑ऽधो अ॒न्यम॑चीकृषम् । कुवित्सोम॒स्यापा॒मिति॑ ॥११॥

nahí me rodasī ubhe anyam paksham caná prati | kuvít — || 7 || abhí dyam mahina bhuvam abhımam prithivım mahím | kuvít — || 8 || hantaham príthivım imam ní dadhanīhá vehá vā | kuvít — || 9 || osham ít prithivım aham janghánanīhá veha vā | kuvít — || 10 || diví me anyah pakshò dhó anyam acīkrisham | kuvít — || 11 ||

119

Thus, indeed, my mind resolves, "full of spirits, I shall go to battle to win cow and to win horses", for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 1

Like the winds violently shaking the trees, the devotional love lifts me up, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 2

The divine love lifts me up like swift horses drawing a chariot, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 3

Sound of sacred hymns reaches me like a lowing cow to meet her beloved calf, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 4

I recite the hymn of praise in my heart as a carpenter or wright carves out a chariot's body, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 5

The five classes of people dare not elude the glance of my eye, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 6

Both heaven and earth have not grown equal to one half of me, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 7

I excel the sky in greatness; and so I excel this spacious earth; for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 8

Lo! I will deposit this earth (to my choice) either here or there, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 9

In no time, I (in my fury) can render this earth red-hot, and carry it to a place anywhere, here or there, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 10

One of my wings is in the sky; the other trail I drag below, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 11

अहमस्मि महामहोऽभिनभ्यमुदीषितः । कुवित्सोमस्यापामिति ॥१२॥
गृहो याम्यरंकृतो देवेभ्यो हव्यवाहनः । कुवित्सोमस्यापामिति ॥१३॥

॥ इत्यष्टमाष्टके षष्ठोऽध्यायः ॥
[षष्ठाध्याये वर्गाः २७, सूक्तानि १४, ऋचः १४०]

---

ahám asmi mahāmaho 'bhinabhyám údīshitah | kuvít - || 12 || grihó yamy áramkrito devébhyo havyavahanah | kuvít -- || 13 || 27 ||

Shashtho 'dhyāyah.

अथ सप्तमोऽध्यायः ॥

(१२०) विंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याथर्वणो बृहद्दिव ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१॥ तदिदास भुवनेषु ज्येष्ठं यतो जज्ञ उग्रस्त्वेषनृम्णः ।
सद्यो जज्ञानो नि रिणाति शत्रूननु यं विश्वे मदन्त्यूमाः ॥१॥
वावृधानः शवसा भूर्योजाः शत्रुर्दासाय भियसं दधाति ।
अव्यनच्च व्यनच्च सस्नि सं ते नवन्त प्रभृता मदेषु ॥२॥
त्वे क्रतुमपि वृञ्जन्ति विश्वे द्विर्यदेते त्रिर्भवन्त्यूमाः ।
स्वादोः स्वादीयः स्वादुना सृजा समदः सु मधु मधुनाभि योधीः ॥३॥

120

Tád íd āsa bhuvaneshu jyéshthaṃ yáto jajna ugrás tveshanrimnah | sadyo jajñānó ní rinati satrun anu yám vísve mádanty umah || 1 || vavridhanah savasa bhúryojah satrur dasaya bhiyasam dadhati | avyanac ca vyanac ca sasni saṃ te navanta prabhrita madeshu || 2 || tvé krátum ápi vrinjanti vísve dvír yad ete trır bhavanty umah | svadoh svadıyaḥ svaduna srija sam adah su madhu madhunabhí yodhih || 3 ||

I am supreme, the greatest of the great, raised to the firmament and beyond, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 12

Receiving the offering, I oblige the worshippers and bear their oblations to Nature's bounties, for have I not frequently drunk of the spiritual elixir? 13

120

That (Brahman verily) has been the best and eldest in all the worlds, wherefrom the fiery and fierce (sun), rich in radiance, is first born. As soon as born, he overcomes the foes; he is the one, in whom all creatures feel happy and delighted. 1

Grown mighty in strength, with powerful vigour, our resplendent Lord implants fear in the heart of malignant; both the worlds, inanimate and animate, are readily won by him. Happy in your exhilaration, all creatures sing their praises and pay homage. 2

All devotees offer adoration, and concentrate on you, at times twice or thrice. May you blend a more tasteful one to the tasty and savoury. May you mix honey with another honey to make it further exhilarating. 3

इति॑ चि॒द्धि त्वा॒ धना॒ जय॑न्तं॒ मदे॑मदे अनु॒मद॑न्ति॒ विप्राः॑ ।
ओजी॑यो धृष्णो स्थि॒रमा त॑नुष्व॒ मा त्वा॑ दभन्यातु॒धाना॑ दु॒रेवाः॑ ॥४॥
त्वया॑ व॒यं शा॑शद्महे॒ रणे॑षु प्र॒पश्य॑न्तो यु॒धेन्या॑नि॒ भूरि॑ ।
चो॒दया॑मि त॒ आयु॑धा॒ वचो॑भिः॒ सं ते॑ शिशामि॒ ब्रह्म॑णा॒ वयां॑सि ॥५॥

íti cid dhí tvā dhánā jáyantam máde-made anumádanti víprāḥ | ójīyo dhrishno sthirám ā́ tanushva má tvā dabhan yātudhā́nā durévaḥ || 4 || tváyā vayám ṣāṣadmahe ráṇeshu prapáṣyanto yudhényāni bhū́ri | codáyāmi ta ā́yudhā vácobhiḥ sám te sisāmi bráhmanā váyāṅsi || 5 || 1 ||

॥२॥ स्तु॒षेय्यं॑ पुरु॒वर्प॑सम्भ्वमि॒नत॑ममा॒प्त्यमा॒प्त्याना॑म् ।
आ द॑र्षते॒ शव॑सा स॒प्त दानू॒न्प्र सा॑क्षते प्रति॒माना॑नि॒ भूरि॑ ॥६॥
नि तद्द॑धि॒षेऽव॑रं॒ परं॑ च॒ यस्मि॒न्नावि॒थाव॑सा दु॒रोणे॑ ।
आ मा॒तरा॑ स्थापयसे जिग॒त्नू अत॑ इनोषि॒ कर्व॑रा पु॒रूणि॑ ॥७॥
इ॒मा ब्रह्म॑ बृ॒हद्दि॑वो विव॒क्तीन्द्रा॑य शू॒षम॑ग्रि॒यः स्व॒र्षाः ।
म॒हो गो॒त्रस्य॑ क्षयति स्व॒राजो॒ दुर॑श्च॒ विश्वा॑ अवृणो॒दप॒ स्वाः ॥८॥
ए॒वा म॒हान्बृ॒हद्दि॑वो॒ अथ॑र्वावो॒चत्स्वां त॒न्व१॒॑मिन्द्र॑मे॒व ।
स्वसा॑रो मात॒रिभ्व॑रीररि॒प्रा हि॒न्वन्ति॑ च॒ शव॑सा व॒र्धय॑न्ति च ॥९॥

stushéyyam puruvárpasam ṛíbhvam inátamam āptyám āptyanām | a darshate ṣávasā saptá dánūn prá sākshate pratimánāni bhū́ri || 6 || ní tád dadhishé 'varam páraṃ ca yásminn ā́vithā́vasā duroṇé | ā́ mātárā sthāpayase jigatnū́ áta inoshi kárvarā purū́ṇi || 7 || imá bráhma brihā́ddivo vivaktī́ndrāya ṣūshám agriyáḥ svarshā́ḥ | mahó gotrásya kshayati svarā́jo dúraṣ ca víṣvā avṛiṇod ápa svā́ḥ || 8 || evá mahán brihā́ddivo átharvávocat svā́ṃ tanvàm índram evá | svásāro mātaríbhvarīr ariprā́ hinvánti ca ṣávasā vardháyanti ca || 9 || 2 ||

Verily the pious praise you, O the giver of wealth, in your repeated exhilaration. O resolute Lord of resplendence, spread out for us, great and lasting affluence; may the malignant and wicked never harm you. 4

Through your help, we destroy our foes in battles; we bravely face the numerous opponents against whom we have to fight. I evoke you with my prayful words with full reliance in your weapons. I consecrate the food grains with a sacred verse. 5

I praise Him who is worthy of praise, multiform, vast, supreme, most accessible of the accessible ones; he strikes with might the seven types of clouds (or seven evil impulses). He verily subdues many opposing evils. 6

You bestow lower (i.e. material) and higher (i.e. the spiritual) wealth both to the houses of your devotee, whom you love and provide protection. You maintain the two ever-revolving Mothers (Earth and the Sun) in dynamic equilibrium, and with your glory, you accomplish many wondrous deeds. 7

The wisest, the foremost, the most enlightened person repeats these prayers to gratify the Lord of resplendence. He dominates over the great self-luminous folds of regions and throws open all his doors of divine knowledge and treasure. 8

Thus the great and most enlightened one in divine wisdom repeats his praise to our Lord of resplendence. The spotless sisters, the streaming channels of consciousness, who are his mothers, go to Lord of resplendence, speak high of Him and impel Him onward (for our support). 9

(१२१) एकविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-१०) दशर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यो हिरण्यगर्भ ऋषिः । कः (प्रजापतिः) देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३॥ हिरण्यगर्भः समवर्तताग्रे भूतस्य जातः पतिरेक आसीत् ।
स दाधार पृथिवीं द्यामुतेमां कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥१॥
य आत्मदा बलदा यस्य विश्व उपासते प्रशिषं यस्य देवाः ।
यस्य छायामृतं यस्य मृत्युः कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥२॥
यः प्राणतो निमिषतो महित्वैक इद्राजा जगतो बभूव ।
य ईशे अस्य द्विपदश्चतुष्पदः कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥३॥
यस्येमे हिमवन्तो महित्वा यस्य समुद्रं रसया सहाहुः ।
यस्येमाः प्रदिशो यस्य बाहू कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥४॥
येन द्यौरुग्रा पृथिवी च दृळ्हा येन स्वः स्तभितं येन नाकः ।
यो अन्तरिक्षे रजसो विमानः कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥५॥

121.

Hiraṇyagarbháḥ sám avartatágre bhūtásya jātáḥ pátir éka āsīt | sá dādhāra prithivī́m dyā́m utémā́m kásmai deváya havíshā vidhema || 1 || yá ātmadā́ baladā́ yásya víṣva upā́sate prasísham yásya devā́ḥ | yásya chāyā́mṛítam yásya mṛityúḥ kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 2 || yáḥ pranató nimisható mahitvaíka íd rā́jā jágato babhū́va | yá íṣe asyá dvipádas cátushpadaḥ kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 3 || yásyemé himávanto mahitvā́ yásya samudrám rasáya sahá-húḥ | yásyemā́ḥ pradíso yásya bāhū́ kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 4 || yéna dyaúr ugrā́ pṛithiví ca drilhā́ yéna svà stabhitáṃ yéna nā́kaḥ | yó antárikshe rájaso vimā́naḥ kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 5 || 3 ||

121

The sustainer Lord of illuminant celestial cosmos has been present from the very beginning. He has ever been the sole Lord of all created beings. He upholds this earth and heaven. Whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 1

He is the giver of strength, spiritual and physical as well; His commands all beings, the enlightened ones, obey; under His shadow alone, one enjoys immortality and death as well. Whom else, besides that giver of happines, can we offer all our devotion? 2

He by His greatness, has verily become the sole king of breathing and seeing world; He rules over this aggregate of bipeds and quadrupeds. Whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 3

The one through whose greatness these snow-clad mountains exist; whose majesty is proclaimed by ocean and rivers; these quarters of space are whose two outstretched arms. Whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 4

By whom, the sky is made profound and the earth solid? By Him, heaven and solar sphere are fixed. Who in the firmament has set the shining region like the flying birds? Whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 5

॥४॥ यं क्रन्दसी अवसा तस्तभाने अभ्यैक्षेतां मनसा रेजमाने ।
यत्राधि सूर उदितो विभाति कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥६॥
आपो ह यद्बृहतीर्विश्वमायन्गर्भं दधाना जनयन्तीरग्निम् ।
ततो देवानां समवर्ततासुरेकः कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥७॥
यश्चिदापो महिना पर्यपश्यद्दक्षं दधाना जनयन्तीर्यज्ञम् ।
यो देवेष्वधि देव एक आसीत्कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥८॥
मा नो हिंसीज्जनिता यः पृथिव्या यो वा दिवं सत्यधर्मा जजान ।
यश्चापश्चन्द्रा बृहतीर्जजान कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम ॥९॥
प्रजापते न त्वदेतान्यन्यो विश्वा जातानि परि ता बभूव ।
यत्कामास्ते जुहुमस्तन्नो अस्तु वयं स्याम पतयो रयीणाम् ॥१०॥

yáṃ krándasī ávasā tastabhāne abhy aíkshetam manasa réjamāne | yátrā́dhi sū́ra údito vibhā́ti kásmai devaya havíshā vidhema || 6 || ā́po ha yád brihatī́r víṣvam ā́yan gárbhaṃ dádhānā janáyantīr agním | táto devā́nāṃ sám avartatā́sur ékaḥ kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 7 || yáṣ cid ā́po mahinā́ paryápaṣyad dákshaṃ dádhānā janáyantīr yajñám | yó devéshv ádhi devá éka ā́sīt kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 8 || mā́ no hiṅsīj janitā́ yáḥ prithivyā́ yó vā dívaṃ satyádharmā jajā́na | yáṣ cāpáṣ candrā́ brihatī́r jajā́na kásmai devā́ya havíshā vidhema || 9 || prájāpate ná tvád etā́ny anyó víṣvā jātā́ni pári tā́ babhūva | yátkāmās te juhumás tán no astu vayáṃ syāma pátayo rayīṇā́m || 10 || 4 ||

Supported by whose protection, heaven and earth, shining brightly, and inspired in their spirit manifest this glory, with whose effulgence the risen sun shines forth? Whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 6

What is that hour when the vast and mighty waters for the first time overspread the surface of the earth with universal germ (of life within it), the fire-force also becomes operative, and Nature's bounties also are set to full function — (think of that supreme source). Whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 7

He who by his might surveys the waters all around containing creative powers and giving birth to cosmic sacrifice, He who among the divine bounties was the one most supreme — whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 8

Never may He do us harm, who is the parent of the earth, or He whose laws are inviolable and who creates heaven, and who generates the vast and delightful waters — whom else, besides that giver of happiness, can we offer all our devotion? 9

O Lord of people, there is none other than you who has given existence to all these beings; may our aspirations for which we dedicate ourselves to you be ours; may we be the possessors of grand riches. 10

(१२२) द्वाविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वासिष्ठश्चित्रमहा ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१, ५) प्रथमापञ्चम्योर्ऋचोस्त्रिष्टुप्, (२–४, ६–८) द्वितीयादितृचस्य षष्ठ्यादितृचस्य च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥ वसुं न चित्रमहसं गृणीषे वामं शेवमतिथिमद्विषेण्यम् ।
स रासते शुरुधो विश्वधायसोऽग्निर्होता गृहपतिः सुवीर्यम् ॥१॥
जुषाणो अग्ने प्रति हर्य मे वचो विश्वानि विद्वान्वयुनानि सुक्रतो ।
घृतनिर्णिग्ब्रह्मणे गातुमेरय तव देवा अजनयन्ननु व्रतम् ॥२॥
सप्त धामानि परियन्नमर्त्यो दाशद्दाशुषे सुकृते मामहस्व ।
सुवीरेण रयिणाग्ने स्वाभुवा यस्त आनट् समिधा तं जुषस्व ॥३॥
यज्ञस्य केतुं प्रथमं पुरोहितं हविष्मन्त ईळते सप्त वाजिनम् ।
शृण्वन्तमग्निं घृतपृष्ठमुक्षणं पृणन्तं देवं पृणते सुवीर्यम् ॥४॥
त्वं दूतः प्रथमो वरेण्यः स हूयमानो अमृताय मत्स्व ।
त्वां मर्जयन्मरुतो दाशुषो गृहे त्वां स्तोमेभिर्भृगवो वि रुरुचुः ।

122.

Vásuṃ ná citrámahasaṃ gṛiṇīshe vāmáṃ ṣévam átithim advisheṇyám | sá rāsate ṣurúdho viṣvádhāyaso 'gnír hótā gṛihápatiḥ suvíryam || 1 || jushāṇó agne práti harya me váco víṣvāni vidvấn vayúnāni sukrato | ghṛítanirṇig bráhmaṇe gātúm éraya táva devấ ajanayann ánu vratám || 2 || saptá dhắmāni pariyánn ámartyo dā́ṣad dāṣúshe sukṛíte māmahasva | suvíreṇa rayíṇāgne svābhúvā yás ta ā́naṭ samídhā tám jushasva || 3 || yajñásya ketúm prathamám puróhitaṃ havíshmanta īḷate saptá vājínam | ṣṛiṇvántam agníṃ ghṛitá-pṛishṭham ukshánam pṛiṇántaṃ devám pṛiṇaté suvíryam || 4 || tvám dūtáḥ prathamó váreṇyaḥ sá hūyámāno amṛítāya matsva | tvā́m marjayan marúto dāṣúsho gṛihé tvā́ṃ stómebhir bhṛígavo ví rurucuḥ || 5 || 6 ||

122

I glorify him who is of wonderful radiance like the sun, who is the giver of happiness, lovely, benevolent and the one whom all welcome like a guest. He bestows vigour upon the worshippers; may he, the fire-divine, remove our sorrow and give us heroic strength and all sustaining riches. 1

O fire-divine, being well-pleased, accept my praise; you are the accomplisher of great deeds, and cognizant of all ordinances; Anointed with butter, may you stimulate the movements of the wise sages; Nature's bounties bestow on us rewards according to your holy law. 2

Traversing the seven regions of universe, O immortal fire-divine, bestow wealth on us and give liberally to the pious devotee. May you grant easily - obtainable riches, together with worthy children to those who present offerings to you. 3

The seven priests bearing oblations worship fire-divine, the emblem of reverence, the first of the divine powers, the foremost, the wise, the hearer of our prayers, effulgent and the shedder of moisture. The prayful worshipper, propitiates the fire-divine endowed with excellent virility. 4

You are the chief and most excellent messenger; may you, invoked by us, enjoy the elixir and get exhilarated; the vital divine forces decorate you at the votary's place; the illustrious sages have glorified you with hymns. 5

॥६॥ इषं दुहन्त्सुदुघां विश्वधायसं यज्ञप्रिये यजमानाय सुक्रतो ।
अग्ने घृतस्नुस्त्रिर्ऋतानि दीद्यद्वर्तिर्यज्ञं परियन्त्सुक्रतूयसे ॥६॥
त्वामिदस्या उषसो व्युष्टिषु दूतं कृण्वाना अयजन्त मानुषाः ।
त्वां देवा महयाय्याय वावृधुराज्यमग्ने निमृजन्तो अध्वरे ॥७॥
नि त्वा वसिष्ठा अह्वन्त वाजिनं गृणन्तो अग्ने विदथेषु वेधसः ।
रायस्पोषं यजमानेषु धारय यूयं पात स्वस्तिभिः सदा नः ॥८॥

ísham duhan sudugham visvádhayasam yajñapríye yajamānāya sukrato | ágne ghritásnus trír ritáni dídyad vartír yajñám pariyán sukratūyase || 6 || tvám íd asyá usháso vyùshtishu dūtám krinvāná ayajanta mánushāh | tvám devá mahayáyyāya vāvridhur ájyam agne nimrijánto adhvaré || 7 || ní tvā vásishthā ahvanta vājínam grinánto agne vidátheshu vedhásah | rāyás pósham yájamāneshu dhāraya yūyám pāta svastíbhih sádā nah || 8 || 6 ||

(१२३) त्रयोविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गवो वेन ऋषिः । वेनो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥ अयं वेनश्चोदयत्पृश्निगर्भा ज्योतिर्जरायू रजसो विमाने ।
इममपां संगमे सूर्यस्य शिशुं न विप्रा मतिभी रिहन्ति ॥१॥
समुद्रादूर्मिमुदियर्ति वेनो नभोजाः पृष्ठं हर्यतस्य दर्शि ।
ऋतस्य सानावधि विष्टपि भ्राट् समानं योनिमभ्यनूषत व्राः ॥२॥

123.

Ayám venás codayat prísnigarbhā jyótirjarāyū rajaso vimáne | imám apám samgamé súryasya sísum ná vípra matíbhī rihanti || 1 || samudrád ūrmím úd iyarti venó nabhojáh prishthám haryatásya darsi | ritásya sánāv ádhi vishtápi bhrát samānám yónim abhy ànūshata vráh || 2 ||

O fire-divine, milking the prolific cow as if for all-sustaining food, you assist the sacrifice for the benefit of the pious institutor of the rite. Anointed with butter, you enlighten the three regions. You encircle the sacrifice; you are the accomplisher of these noble acts of public service. 6

Men worship you, O fire-divine, at the opening of the present dawn, appointing you their messenger to Nature's divine forces, which have magnified you for their adoration, sprinkling butter upon you at the sacrifice. 7

Praising you, O mighty fire-divine, the most pious sages invoke you at the sacrificial meetings. May you ever provide sustenance to noble men, the institutors of the rite, and may you, O divine, ever cherish us with blessings. 8

123

See this charming one (Vena or Venus)[1], born with the halo of the sun, in the midst of clouds or mist, in the regions of mid-space, like a bird soaring high — a baby of the sun in waters. Men of wisdom sing his glory and caress him with special hymns. 1

The Vena draws up his waves from out the ocean. Born, surrounded with the halo of mist, the fair one's back alone is visible brightly; he shines almost on the top of Ṛta, the cosmic waters.[2] Both of them (the Sun and Vena) have the same region — the learned gazers of the sky, Ṛsis or the astronomers know this fact and they sing the glory. 2

1. Vena, the same as the planet Venus; or the Madhyandina shining one (the mid-region god) or the sun arising in the mist and dew.
2. Rta, cosmic waters and dew; or the cosmic law.

समानं पूर्वीरभि वावशानास्तिष्ठन्वत्सस्य मातरः सनीळाः ।
ऋतस्य सानावधि चक्रमाणा रिहन्ति मध्वो अमृतस्य वाणीः ॥३॥
जानन्तो रूपमकृपन्त विप्रा मृगस्य घोषं महिषस्य हि ग्मन् ।
ऋतेन यन्तो अधि सिन्धुमस्थुर्विददन्धर्वो अमृतानि नाम ॥४॥
अप्सरा जारमुपसिष्मियाणा योषा बिभर्ति परमे व्योमन् ।
चरत्प्रियस्य योनिषु प्रियः सन्त्सीदत्पक्षे हिरण्यये स वेनः ॥५॥

samānám pūrvī́r abhí vāvaṣānás tíshṭhan vatsásya mātáraḥ sánīlāh | ṛitásya sánāv ádhi cakramāṇá rihánti mádhvo amṛ́tasya vā́nīḥ || 3 || janánto rupám akṛipanta víprā mṛigásya ghósham mahishásya hí gmán | riténa yánto ádhi síndhum asthur vidád gandharvó amṛ́tāni nā́ma || 4 || apsarā́ jarám upasishmiyāṇā́ yóshā bibharti paramé vyoman | carat priyásya yónishu priyáḥ sán sī́dat pakshé hiraṇyáye sá venáḥ || 5 || 7 ||

॥८॥ नाके सुपर्णमुप यत्पतन्तं हृदा वेनन्तो अभ्यचक्षत त्वा ।
हिरण्यपक्षं वरुणस्य दूतं यमस्य योनौ शकुनं भुरण्युम् ॥६॥
ऊर्ध्वो गन्धर्वो अधि नाके अस्थात्प्रत्यङ्चित्रा बिभ्रदस्यायुधानि ।
वसानो अत्कं सुरभिं दृशे कं स्वर्ण नाम जनत प्रियाणि ॥७॥
द्रप्सः समुद्रमभि यज्जिगाति पश्यन्गृध्रस्य चक्षसा विधर्मन् ।
भानुः शुक्रेण शोचिषा चकानस्तृतीये चक्रे रजसि प्रियाणि ॥८॥

nā́ke suparnám úpa yát pátantaṃ hṛidā́ vénanto abhy ácakshata tva | híraṇyapaksham váruṇasya dūtáṃ yamásya yónau sakunám bhuraṇyúm || 6 || ūrdhvó gandharvó ádhi nā́ke asthāt pratyáñ citrā́ bíbhrad asyā́yudhāni | vásāno átkaṃ surabhíṃ dṛiṣé káṃ svàr ṇá nā́ma janaṭa priyā́ṇi || 7 || drapsáḥ samudrám abhí yáj jígāti páṣyan gṛ́dhrasya cákshasā vídharman | bhānúḥ sukréna socíshā cakānás tṛitī́ye cakre rájasi priyā́ṇi || 8 || 8 ||

Full to the capacity, lowing to their joint possession, staying together at the same dwelling, stand the mothers of the darling calf. Ascending the lofty height of Ṛta (the cosmic waters), the great singers utter the praises, tipped with sweetened elixir of immortality. 3

The pious sages, knowing the form of this Vena praise him, for they understand the great roar of this mighty showerer (the sun) behind the clouds. Approaching him with prayful mind, they reach the flowing stream of elixir, for, the Gandharva[3], the sustainer of the rays (the sun) knows the secret of cosmic waters. 4

The lightning (apsara), the lady smiling affectionately, like a wife at her lover, cherishes him in the highest heaven; she wanders as a friend in the abodes of his higher friend; he, the Vena, makes her sit down on his golden pinion. 5

They, with a longing in their hearts, gaze at you while you, Vena, travel as a strong-winged bird in the sky; you are the golden-winged messenger of our venerable Lord, the bird that moves on with speed to the central abode of the Ordainer. 6

Gandharva, the sun (the retainer of the rays) stands erect upon the firmament, brandishing towards us his wonderful weapons. The objects (on the earth) become visible, only when the sun comes up, clad in sweet raiment, beautiful to look on. 7

As a spark or just a drop in the sky, he comes near the ocean, still looking at us with a vulture's eye. His lustre shines in its own bright splendour and as he shines high in the sky, he illumines the regions below. 8

3. Gandharva, another name of the sun, meaning the sustainer of rays.

(१२४) चतुर्विंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१, ५–९) प्रथमर्चः पञ्चम्यादिपञ्चानाञ्चाग्निवरुणसोमाः, (२–४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य चाग्निर्ऋषयः। (१) प्रथमर्चोऽग्निः, (२–४) द्वितीयादितृचस्याग्निरात्मा, (५, ७–८) पञ्चमीसप्तम्यष्टमीनां वरुणः, (६) षष्ठ्याः सोमः, (९) नवम्याश्चेन्द्रो देवताः। (१–६, ८–९) प्रथमादिषण्णामष्टमीनवम्योश्च त्रिष्टुप्, (७) सप्तम्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

इ॒मं नो॑ अग्न॒ उप॑ य॒ज्ञमेहि॒ पञ्च॑यामं त्रि॒वृतं॑ स॒प्ततं॑न्तुम्।
असो॑ हव्य॒वाळु॒त नः॑ पु॒रोगा॒ ज्योगे॒व दी॒र्घं तम॒ आशं॑यिष्ठाः ॥१॥
अदे॑वाद्दे॒वः प्र॒चता॒ गुहा॒ यन्प्र॒पश्य॑मानो अमृत॒त्वमे॑मि।
शि॒वं यत्सन्त॒मशि॑वो॒ जहा॑मि॒ स्वात्स॒ख्यादर॑णीं॒ नाभि॑मेमि ॥२॥
पश्य॑न्न॒न्यस्या॒ अति॑थिं व॒याया॑ ऋ॒तस्य॒ धाम॒ वि मि॑मे पु॒रूणि॑।
शंसा॑मि पि॒त्रे असु॑राय॒ शेव॑मयज्ञि॒याद्य॒ज्ञियं॑ भा॒गमे॑मि ॥३॥
ब॒ह्वीः समा॑ अकरम॒न्तर॑स्मि॒न्निन्द्रं॑ वृणा॒नः पि॒तरं॑ जहामि।
अ॒ग्निः सोमो॒ वरु॑ण॒स्ते च्य॑वन्ते प॒र्याव॑र्द्रा॒ष्ट्रं तद॑वाम्या॒यन् ॥४॥
निर्मा॑या उ॒ त्ये असु॑रा अभूव॒न्त्वं च॑ मा वरुण॒ का॒मया॑से।
ऋ॒तेन॑ राजन्ननृ॑तं विवि॒ञ्चन्मम॑ रा॒ष्ट्रस्याधि॑पत्य॒मेहि॑ ॥५॥

124.

Imáṃ no agna úpa yajñám éhi páñcayāmam trivrítam saptátantum | áso havyavā́ḷ utá naḥ purogā́ jyóg eva dīrghám táma ā́ṣayishthāḥ || 1 || ádevād deváḥ pracátā gúhā yán prapásyamāno amritatvám emi | ṣivám yát sántam ásivo jáhāmi svát sakhyā́d áranīṃ nā́bhim emi || 2 || pásyann anyasya átithiṃ vayā́ya ritasya dhā́ma ví mime puruni | ṣáṅsāmi pitre ásuraya sevam ayajñiyā́d yajñíyam bhāgám emi || 3 || bahvī́h sámā akaram antár asminn índram vrinā-náh pitáram jahāmi | agníḥ sómo várunas té cyavante pa-ryavard rāshṭrámṃ tád avāmy āyán || 4 || nírmāyā u tyé ásurā́ abhūvan tváṃ ca mā varuṇa kāmáyāse | riténa rājann ánri-taṃ viviñcán máma rāshtrásyádhipatyam éhi || 5 || ४ ||

124

Come, three-fold (3) O fire-divine,* to this our place of worship, which has five (5) divisions, spread out by seven (7) threads; be the bearer of our oblations; be our preceder; you have long been laid dormant during darkness. 1

(Fire-divine speaks): From being a power without divinity, I become divine and attain immortality when I come from secret pathways and manifest myself at the solicitation. When being inauspicious, I desert the auspicious, I leave my own friends and seek the shelter of wood. 2

Beholding the sun, the ever-moving guest of another lineage, I perform many actions based on eternal law and order; I repeat praises, wishing good luck to the paternal foe-destroying; I pass from a place unfit for sacrifice to a place where sacrifice can be offered. 3

I spend many years within this altar; in preference to Lord of resplendence, I leave the Father away; go away the bounties like fire the sun and moon. Rule always changes, when my turn comes. I return with superiority and favour. 4

These deluding people are deprived of their delusion; O sun, the venerable, separating truth from falsehood, come and share in sovereignty over my realm, if you really cherish my love. 5

*5 — Five classes of men, pancajanya, or five Mahayajnas — Brahmyajna, Devayajna, Pitṛyajna, Atithiyajna, Balivaisvadeva — Yajna; 3 — The Pakayajna, Haviryajna and Somayajna. 7 — Sapta-tantu — Agnostoma, Atyagnistoma, Ukthyà, Sodasi. Vajapeya, Atiratra and Aptoryama.

॥१०॥ इदं स्वरिदमिदास वाममयं प्रकाश उर्व१न्तरिक्षम् ।
हनाव वृत्रं निरेहि सोम हविष्ट्वा सन्तं हविषा यजाम ॥६॥
कविः कवित्वा दिवि रूपमासजदप्रभूती वरुणो निरपः सृजत् ।
क्षेमं कृण्वाना जनयो न सिन्धवस्ता अस्य वर्णं शुचयो भरिभ्रति ॥७॥
ता अस्य ज्येष्ठमिन्द्रियं सचन्ते ता ईमा क्षेति स्वधया मदन्तीः ।
ता ईं विशो न राजानं वृणाना बीभत्सुवो अप वृत्रादतिष्ठन् ॥८॥
बीभत्सूनां सयुजं हंसमाहुरपां दिव्यानां सख्ये चरन्तम् ।
अनुष्टुभमनु चर्चूर्यमाणमिन्द्रं नि चिक्युः कवयो मनीषा ॥९॥

idáṃ svàr idám íd āsa vamam ayám prakāṣá urv àntárikshaṃ | hánāva vritráṃ niréhi soma havísh ṭvā sántaṃ havíshā yajāma || 6 || kavíḥ kavitvá diví rūpám ásajad áprabhūtī váruṇo nír apáḥ srijat | kshémaṃ kriṇvāná jánayo ná síndhavas tá asya várṇaṃ ṣúcayo bharibhrati || 7 || tá asya jyéshṭhaṃ indriyáṃ sacante tá īm á ksheti svadháyā madantīḥ | tá īṃ víṣo ná rájānaṃ vriṇāná bībhatsúvo ápa vritrád atishṭhan || 8 || bībhatsúnāṃ sayújaṃ hansáṃ āhur apáṃ divyánāṃ sakhyé cárantam | anushṭúbhaṃ ánu carcūryamaṇam índraṃ ní cikyuḥ kaváyo manīshá || 9 || 10 ||

(१२५) पञ्चविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याम्भृणी वागृषिका । आत्मा देवता । (१, ३-८) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयादिषण्णाञ्च त्रिष्टुप्, (२) द्वितीयायाश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥११॥ अहं रुद्रेभिर्वसुभिश्चराम्यहमादित्यैरुत विश्वदेवैः ।
अहं मित्रावरुणोभा बिभर्म्यहमिन्द्राग्नी अहमश्विनोभा ॥१॥
अहं सोममाहनसं बिभर्म्यहं त्वष्टारमुत पूषणं भगम् ।
अहं दधामि द्रविणं हविष्मते सुप्राव्ये३ यजमानाय सुन्वते ॥२॥

125.

Ahám rudrébhir vásubhiṣ carāmy ahám ādityaír utá visvadevaih | ahám mitrávárunobhá bibharmy ahám indrāgnı ahám asvínobhá || 1 || aháṃ sómam āhanásam bibharmy aháṃ tváshṭāram utá pūsháṇam bhágam | aháṃ dadhāmi dráviṇaṃ havíshmate suprāvyè yájamānāya sunvaté || 2 ||

(Fire of life, Agni, speaking to Love, Soma): O Love, the life — giving force, this is heaven; this verily is beautiful, this is the light, the broad firmanent; let us two (the Fire of Life and Love) destroy the devil of Nescience; come forth; we worship you (O Love!) you yourself are the personified oblation. 6

The sage, the Sun, by his transcending wisdom fixes himself in the sky; O venerable, O Lord of waters, with but a slight effort, you have let loose the rivers, conferring happiness, like wives, and assuming colourful forms as they gleam and glow. 7

They, the streams, wait upon the Lord of waters, who is most powerful. The Lord receives these delightful streams, who pay homage to Him. Terribly afraid of the devil of Nescience, they have run away from him and have accepted a complete reliance in their king. 8

The sages call him swan, the sun, the ally of those who are affrighted, moving in the proximity of the cosmic waters; the wise honour the sun, the supreme, with their praise; verily, He is worthy of praises, composed in the metre of Anustubh. 9

125

I associate with all the learned men called as VASU (young preceptors), and ADITYA (the matured professors). I support all Nature's bounties such as the sun, ocean, fire, lightning, and the pair of twin divines. 1

I support the foe-destroying herbs, the sun, the strength-giving food and the riches; I bestow wealth upon the institutor of worship offering the oblation and deserving careful protection and upon those who perform selfless noble deeds. 2

अ॒हं रा॒ष्ट्री स॒ङ्गम॑नी॒ वसू॑नां चिकि॒तुषी॑ प्रथ॒मा य॒ज्ञिया॑नाम् ।
तां मा॑ दे॒वा व्य॑दधुः पुरु॒त्रा भूरि॑स्थात्रां॒ भूर्या॑वे॒शय॑न्तीम् ॥३॥
मया॒ सो अन्न॑मत्ति॒ यो वि॒पश्य॑ति॒ यः प्राणि॑ति॒ य ईं॑ शृ॒णोत्यु॒क्तम् ।
अ॒म॒न्तवो॒ मां त उप॑ क्षियन्ति श्रु॒धि श्रु॑त श्रद्धि॒वं ते॑ वदामि ॥४॥
अ॒हमे॒व स्व॒यमि॒दं व॑दामि॒ जुष्टं॑ दे॒वेभि॑रु॒त मानु॑षेभिः ।
यं का॒मये॒ तंत॑मु॒ग्रं कृ॑णोमि॒ तं ब्र॒ह्माणं॒ तमृषिं॒ तं सु॑मे॒धाम् ॥५॥

ahám̐ rā́shṭrī saṃgámanī vásūnām̐ cikitúshī prathamā́ yajñíyānām | tā́m mā devā́ vy àdadhuḥ purutrā́ bhū́risthātrām bhū́ry āveṣáyantīm || 3 || máyā só ánnam atti yó vipáṣyati yáḥ prā́ṇiti yá īm̐ ṣriṇóty uktám | amantávo mā́m̐ tá úpa kshiyanti ṣrudhí ṣruta ṣraddhivám̐ te vadāmi || 4 || ahám evá svayám idám̐ vadāmi júshṭam̐ devébhir utá mā́nushebhiḥ | yám̐ kāmáye tám̐-tam ugrám̐ kriṇomi tám brahmā́ṇam̐ tám ríshim̐ tám̐ sumedhā́m || 5 || 11 ||

२॥ अ॒हं रु॒द्राय॒ धनु॒रा त॑नोमि ब्रह्म॒द्विषे॒ शर॑वे॒ हन्त॒वा उ॑ ।
अ॒हं जना॑य स॒मदं॑ कृणोम्य॒हं द्यावा॑पृथि॒वी आ वि॑वेश ॥६॥
अ॒हं सु॑वे पि॒तर॑मस्य मू॒र्धन्मम॒ योनि॑र॒प्स्व१॒॑न्तः स॑मु॒द्रे ।
ततो॒ वि ति॑ष्ठे॒ भुव॒नानु॒ विश्वो॒तामूं द्यां व॒र्ष्मणोप॑ स्पृशामि ॥७॥
अ॒हमे॒व वात॑ इव॒ प्र वा॑म्या॒रभ॑माणा॒ भुव॑नानि॒ विश्वा॑ ।
प॒रो दि॒वा प॒र ए॒ना पृ॑थि॒व्यैताव॑ती महि॒ना सं ब॑भूव ॥८॥

ahám̐ rudrā́ya dhánur ā́ tanomi brahmadvíshe ṣárave hántavā́ u | ahám̐ jánāya samádam̐ kriṇomy ahám̐ dyā́vāprithivī́ ā́ viveṣa || 6 || ahám̐ suve pitáram asya mūrdhán máma yónir apsv àntáḥ samudré | táto ví tishṭhe bhúvanā́nu víṣvotā́mū́m̐ dyā́m̐ varshmáṇópa spriṣāmi || 7 || ahám evá vā́ta iva prá vāmy ārábhamāṇā bhúvanāni víṣvā | paró divā́ pará enā́ prithivyaítā́vatī mahinā́ sám babhūva || 8 || 12 ||

I am the sovereign queen (the Supreme Speech) of the state, who collects treasure; (I am) full of wisdom, first among those who deserve reverence; and as such, learned people honour me under all circumstances—in many problems and in numerous functions. 3

Through me alone, whosoever eats, eats food. It is through me that one sees, breathes, hears, and speaks; those who are ignorant of me are sure to perish; may all hear,one and all; I tell you the truth, and you have to accept it. 4

I verily of myself announce the truth that is approved of by both, the divine ones and men; I make him formidable, a sage, a seer, and wise whomsoever I choose. 5

I bend the bow of the Lord, so that His arrow may strike and destroy enemy of learned and pious devotees, I wage war against the hostiles (O infidels); I pervade heaven and earth. 6

I establish the father, the heaven, at the summit of the world; my birth place is in the midst of the celestial waters; thence I spread through all beings, and touch even yonder heaven with my glory. 7

I breathe a strong breath like the wind, giving form to all created worlds; beyond the heaven, beyond this earth, I become powerful in my grandeur. 8

यथा ह त्यद्वसवो गौर्यं चित्पदि षिताममुञ्चता यजत्राः ।
एवो ष्व१स्मन्मुञ्चता व्यंहः प्र तार्यग्ने प्रतरं न आयुः ॥८॥

yáthā ha tyád vasavo gauryàm cit padí shitā́m ámuñcatā yajatrāḥ | evó shv àsmán muñcatā vy áṅhaḥ prá tāry agne pratarám na ā́yuḥ || 8 || 13 ||

(१२७) सप्तविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सौभरः कुशिक ऋषिर्भारद्वाजी रात्रिर्वा ऋषिका । रात्रिर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ रात्री व्यख्यदायती पुरुत्रा देव्य१क्षभिः । विश्वा अधि श्रियोऽधित ॥१॥
ओर्वप्रा अमर्त्या निवतो देव्यु१द्वतः । ज्योतिषा बाधते तमः ॥२॥
निरु स्वसारमस्कृतोषसं देव्यायती । अपेदु हासते तमः ॥३॥
सा नो अद्य यस्या वयं नि ते यामन्नविक्ष्महि । वृक्षे न वसतिं वयः ॥४॥
नि ग्रामासो अविक्षत नि पद्वन्तो नि पक्षिणः । नि श्येनासश्चिदर्थिनः ॥५॥
यावया वृक्यं१ वृकं यवय स्तेनमूर्म्ये । अथा नः सुतरा भव ॥६॥
उप मा पेपिशत्तमः कृष्णं व्यक्तमस्थित । उष ऋणेव यातय ॥७॥
उप ते गा इवाकरं वृणीष्व दुहितर्दिवः । रात्रि स्तोमं न जिग्युषे ॥८॥

127.

Rā́trī vy àkhyad āyatí purutrā́ devy àkshábhiḥ | víṣvā ádhi ṣríyo 'dhita || 1 || órv àprā ámartyā niváto devy ùdvátaḥ | jyótishā bādhate támaḥ || 2 || nír u svásāram askritoshásam devy āyatí | ápéd u hāsate támaḥ || 3 || sā́ no adyá yásyā vayám ní te yā́mann ávikshmahi | vrikshé ná vasatím váyaḥ || 4 || ní grā́māso avikshata ní padvánto ní pakshíṇaḥ | ní ṣyenā́saṣ cid arthínaḥ || 5 || yāváyā vrikyàm vŕ̥kam yaváya stenám ūrmye | áthā naḥ sutárā bhava || 6 || úpa mā pépiṣat támaḥ krishṇám vyàktam asthita | úsha riṇéva yātaya || 7 || úpa te gā́ ivā́karam vriṇīshvá duhitar divaḥ | rā́tri stómam ná jigyúshe || 8 || 14 ||

126

Neither peril nor sorrow, O enlightened, affect the man with whom law-abiding, friendly and virtuous men are pleased; being alike pleased, they, of one accord, conduct him beyond the reach of his enemies. 1

O virtuous, friendly and law-abiding guide, we implore that protection of yours, whereby you preserve a man from sin, and lead him safe beyond the reach of his enemies. 2

May these virtuous, friendly and law-abiding leaders be our protection; may they lead us to the spot to which we should be led, and take us across to a spot beyond the reach of our enemies. 3

O virtuous, friendly and ordainer leaders, may you protect the world; and may we abide in your blessed felicity, O excellent leaders, beyond the reach of our enemies. 4

May the persons, enlightened, virtuous and friendly and also maintainers of law and order lead us beyond the reach of the malignant; let us invoke Nature's bounties, vital wind, clouds, and fire–divine for our welfare, so that they may place us beyond the reach of our enemies. 5

May the leaders, virtuous and friendly, also the maintainers of law and order keep us away from wicked; may the authorities to look after the welfare of men depriveus of our iniquities and place us beyond the reach of our enemies. 6

May the persons, virtuous and friendly, and maintainers of law and order bestow upon us felicity for our protection; may the enlightened sages grant us that abundant happiness which we solicit, and lead us beyond the reach of our enemies. 7

(१२६) षड्विंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शैलूषिः कुल्मलबर्हिषो वामदेव्योंहोमुग्वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः ।
(१-७) प्रथमादिसप्तर्चामुपरिष्टाद्बृहती, (८) अष्टम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१३॥

न तमंहो न दुरितं देवासो अष्ट मर्त्यम् ।
सजोषसो यमर्यमा मित्रो नयन्ति वरुणो अति द्विषः ॥१॥
तद्धि वयं वृणीमहे वरुण मित्रार्यमन् ।
येना निरंहसो यूयं पाथ नेथा च मर्त्यमति द्विषः ॥२॥
ते नूनं नोऽयमूतये वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा ।
नयिष्ठा उ नो नेषणि पर्षिष्ठा उ नः पर्षण्यति द्विषः ॥३॥
यूयं विश्वं परि पाथ वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा ।
युष्माकं शर्मणि प्रिये स्याम सुप्रणीतयोऽति द्विषः ॥४॥
आदित्यासो अति स्रिधो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा ।
उग्रं मरुद्भी रुद्रं हुवेमेन्द्रमग्निं स्वस्तयेऽति द्विषः ॥५॥
नेतार ऊ षु णस्तिरो वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा ।
अति विश्वानि दुरिता राजानश्चर्षणीनामति द्विषः ॥६॥
शुनमस्मभ्यमूतये वरुणो मित्रो अर्यमा ।
शर्म यच्छन्तु सप्रथ आदित्यासो यदीमहे अति द्विषः ॥७॥

126.

Ná tám áṅho ná duritám̩ dévāso ashṭa mártyam | sajo-shaso yám aryamā́ mitró náyanti váruṇo áti dvíshaḥ || 1 || tád dhí vayám̩ vriṇīmáhe váruṇa mítrāryaman | yénā nír áṅhaso yūyám pāthá nethā́ ca mártyam áti dvíshaḥ || 2 || té nūnám̩ no 'yám ūtáye váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | náyishṭhā u no nesháṇi párshishṭhā u naḥ parsháṇy áti dvíshaḥ || 3 || yūyám̩ víṣvam pári pātha váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | yushmā́-kam̩ ṣármaṇi priyé syā́ma supraṇītayó 'ti dvíshaḥ || 4 || ādityā́so áti srídho váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | ugrám marúdbhī rudrám̩ huveméndram agním̩ svastáyé 'ti dvíshaḥ || 5 || né-tāra ū shú ṇas tiró váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | áti víṣvāni dur-itā́ rā́jānaṣ carshaṇīnā́m áti dvíshaḥ || 6 || ṣunám asmā́-bhyam ūtáye váruṇo mitró aryamā́ | ṣárma yachantu sa-prátha ādityā́so yád ímahe áti dvíshaḥ || 7 ||

As you, O adorable bounteous Lord, set free the cow fastened by her foot, in the same way, please remove sin away from us, and prolong, O fire-divine, our protracted life. 8

127

The divine queen of night, as it comes, beholds various spots with all her eyes. She assumes her entire splendour. 1

The immortal divine queen extensively fills the sky, fills the places low and high alike. She completely replaces darkness with her lustre. 2

The advancing divine queen prepares the way for her sister dawn, and then the darkness departs. 3

May she be favourable to us today upon whose approach we re-enter our dwellings, as birds re-enter their nests upon the tree. 4

Men re-enter their homes, and so the beasts and birds and also the swift-moving hawks (come to rest and sleep). 5

Keep off, O queen of night, the she-wolf from us, keep off the wolf and the robber, and make our sleep comfortable. 6

The all-embracing darkness, dull and diffused, has come near me. O morning dawn, take it away, clear it off, as if it were a debt. 7

I have brought these verses before you like milch kine; O Queen of Night, daughter of the sky, please accept my homage or oblations as the eulogy of one eager to conquer. 8

(१२८) अष्टाविंशत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–९) नवर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो विहव्य ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । (१–८) प्रथमाद्यष्टर्चां त्रिष्टुप्, (९) नवम्याश्च जगती छन्दसी ॥

॥१५॥ ममा॑ग्ने॒ वर्चो॑ विह॒वेष्व॑स्तु व॒यं त्वेन्धा॑नास्त॒न्वं॑ पुषेम ।
मह्यं॑ नमन्तां प्र॒दिश॒श्चत॑स्र॒स्त्वयाध्य॑क्षेण॒ पृत॑ना जयेम ॥१॥
मम॑ दे॒वा वि॑ह॒वे स॑न्तु॒ सर्व॒ इन्द्र॑वन्तो म॒रुतो॒ विष्णु॑र॒ग्निः ।
ममा॒न्तरि॑क्षमु॒रुलो॑कमस्तु॒ मह्यं॒ वातः॑ पवतां॒ कामे॑ अ॒स्मिन् ॥२॥
मयि॑ दे॒वा द्रवि॑ण॒मा य॑जन्तां॒ मय्या॒शीर॑स्तु॒ मयि॑ दे॒वहू॑तिः ।
दैव्या॒ होता॑रो वनुषन्त॒ पूर्वेऽरि॑ष्टाः स्याम त॒न्वा॑ सु॒वीराः॑ ॥३॥
मह्यं॑ यजन्तु॒ मम॒ यानि॑ ह॒व्याकू॑तिः स॒त्या मन॑सो मे अस्तु ।
एनो॒ मा नि गां॑ कत॒मच्च॒नाहं विश्वे॑ देवासो॒ अधि॑ वोचता नः ॥४॥
देवीः॑ षळुर्वीरु॒रु नः॑ कृणोत॒ विश्वे॑ देवास इ॒ह वी॑रयध्वम् ।
मा हा॑स्महि प्र॒जया॒ मा त॒नूभि॒र्मा र॑धाम द्विष॒ते सो॑म राजन् ॥५॥

128.

Mámāgne várco vihavéshv astu vayám tvéndhānās tanvàm pushema | máhyam namantām pradíṣas cátasras tváyā́dhyaksheṇa prítanā jayema || 1 || máma devā́ vihavé santu sárva índravanto marúto víshṇur agníḥ | mámāntárikshain urúlokam astu máhyam vā́taḥ pavatām kā́me asmín || 2 || máyi devā́ dráviṇam ā́ yajantām máyy āṣī́r astu máyi deváhūtiḥ | daívyā hótāro vanushanta pū́rvé 'rishṭāḥ syāma tanvā̀ suvī́rāḥ || 3 || máhyam yajantu máma yā́ni havyā́kūtiḥ satyā́ mánaso me astu | éno mā́ ní gām katamác caná́hám víṣve devāso ádhi vocatā naḥ || 4 || dévīḥ shaḷ urvīr urú naḥ kriṇota víṣve devāsa ihá vīrayadhvam | mā́ hāsmahi prajáyā mā́ tanū́bhir mā́ radhāma dvishaté soma rājan || 5 || 15 ||

128

O fire-divine, let me win glory in the battle; may we, kindling you, cherish your form; may the inhabitants of the four quarters bow down before me; may we with you as our guide overcome hostile armies. 1

May all the divine forces be on my side in life-struggles — the vital principles with sun, wind and fire; may the expanding firmament be mine; may the wind blow propitiously fulfilling my wishes. 2

May the divine powers bestow wealth upon me; may their blessings be upon me. May the sacred worship in which the divine powers are invoked be beneficial to me. May my invokers of the divines be the first to propitiate them. May we be physically unharmed and may we be blessed with nice brave children. 3

Let them (i.e. my priests) present to me my due oblations; may the purpose of my mind be accomplished; may I not fall into any kind of sin. May all universal divine powers bless us. 4

O six mighty divine powers, bestow upon us ample wealth. O universal divine forces, may you display your prowess here; let us not be bereft of our offspring, or be harmed in our bodies. May we not become subject to our enemy, O sovereign Lord of bliss. 5

॥१६॥ अग्ने मन्युं प्रतिनुदन्परेषामदब्धो गोपाः परि पाहि नस्त्वम् ।
प्रत्यञ्चो यन्तु निगुतः पुनस्तेऽमैषां चित्तं प्रबुधां वि नेशत् ॥६॥
धाता धातॄणां भुवनस्य यस्पतिर्देवं त्रातारमभिमातिषाहम् ।
इमं यज्ञमश्विनोभा बृहस्पतिर्देवाः पान्तु यजमानं न्यर्थात् ॥७॥
उरुव्यचा नो महिषः शर्म यंसदस्मिन्हवे पुरुहूतः पुरुक्षुः ।
स नः प्रजायै हर्यश्व मृळयेन्द्र मा नो रीरिषो मा परा दाः ॥८॥
ये नः सपत्ना अप ते भवन्त्विन्द्राग्निभ्यामव बाधामहे तान् ।
वसवो रुद्रा आदित्या उपरिस्पृशं मोग्रं चेत्तारमधिराजमक्रन् ॥९॥

ágne manyúm pratinudán páresham ádabdho gopáḥ pári pāhi nas tvám | pratyáñco yantu nigútaḥ púnas tè 'maíshám cittam prabúdhāṃ ví neṣat || 6 || dhātá dhātṝṇám bhuvanasya yás pátir devám trātáram abhimātishāhám | imám yajñám aṣvínobhá bríhaṣpátir deváḥ pāntu yájamānam nyarthát || 7 || uruvyácā no mahisháḥ ṣárma yaṅsad asmín háve puruhūtáḥ purukshúḥ | sá naḥ prajáyai haryaṣva mriḷayéndra má no rīrisho má párā dāḥ || 8 || yé naḥ sapátnā ápa té bhavantv indrāgníbhyām áva bādhāmahe tán | vásavo rudrá ādityá uparispríṣam mográm céttāram adhirājám akran || 9 || 16 ||

Daṣamo 'nuvākaḥ.

[अथैकादशोऽनुवाकः ॥] (१२९) एकोनत्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य परमेष्ठी प्रजापतिर्ऋषिः । भाववृत्तं देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ नासदासीन्नो सदासीत्तदानीं नासीद्रजो नो व्योमा परो यत् ।
किमावरीवः कुह कस्य शर्मन्नम्भः किमासीद्गहनं गभीरम् ॥१॥

129.

Nasad āsīn nó sád āsīt tadánīṃ násīd rájo nó vyòmā paró yát | kím ávarīvaḥ kúha kásya ṣármann ámbhaḥ kím āsīd gáhanam gabhīrám || 1 ||

O fire-divine, an invincible protector as you are, may you defend us, baffling the wrath of our opponents. Let these foes, dejected, defeated, and frustrated go back to their homes. May the shrewdness of my opponents be completely made ineffective. 6

He is the creator of creators, a protector of the universe, the divine defender, and the destroyer of enemies; may the twin-divines and the Lord of vast universe and the divine powers, protect our selfless public deeds of service and save the accomplisher, the head of the family, from disappointment. 7

May the omnipresent (Lord), the mighty, invoked by many, bless our noble public deeds and give protection; O resplendent Lord, lord of vigour, be gracious to our offspring; harm us not; desert us not. 8

Let those who are our foes be driven off; may we through the blessings of resplendent Lord, and fire-divine destroy them; may the Lord of wealth, our Lord of vitality, and all luminaries make me vested with high authority, fierce and powerful, intelligent, and invincible as a ruler. 9

129

Neither there was non-existent, nor the existent; nor there was any realm or region. How could there be existing this unfathomable profound plasma? 1

न मृत्युरासीदमृतं न तर्हि न रात्र्या अह्न आसीत्प्रकेतः।
आनीदवातं स्वधया तदेकं तस्माद्धान्यन्न परः किं चनास ॥२॥
तम आसीत्तमसा गूळ्हमग्रेऽप्रकेतं सलिलं सर्वमा इदम्।
तुच्छ्येनाभ्वपिहितं यदासीत्तपसस्तन्महिनाजायतैकम् ॥३॥
कामस्तदग्रे समवर्तताधि मनसो रेतः प्रथमं यदासीत्।
सतो बन्धुमसति निरविन्दन्हृदि प्रतीष्या कवयो मनीषा ॥४॥
तिरश्चीनो विततो रश्मिरेषामधः स्विदासी३दुपरि स्विदासी३त्।
रेतोधा आसन्महिमान आसन्त्स्वधा अवस्तात्प्रयतिः परस्तात् ॥५॥
को अद्धा वेद क इह प्र वोचत्कुत आजाता कुत इयं विसृष्टिः।
अर्वाग्देवा अस्य विसर्जनेनाथा को वेद यत आबभूव ॥६॥
इयं विसृष्टिर्यत आबभूव यदि वा दधे यदि वा न।
यो अस्याध्यक्षः परमे व्योमन्त्सो अङ्ग वेद यदि वा न वेद ॥७॥

ná mrityúr āsīd amrítam ná tárhi ná rátryā áhna āsīt praketáḥ | ánīd avātám svadháyā tád ékam tásmād dhānyán ná paráḥ kím canása || 2 || táma āsīt támasā gūḷhám ágre 'praketám salilám sárvam ā idám | tuchyénābhv ápihitam yád ásīt tápasas tán mahinájāyataíkam || 3 || kámas tád ágre sám avartatádhi mánaso rétaḥ prathamám yád ásīt | sató bándhum ásati nír avindan hridí pratíshyā kaváyo manīshá || 4 || tiraścíno vítato raśmír eshām adháḥ svid āsī3d upári svid āsī3t | retodhá āsan mahimána āsan svadhá avástāt práyatiḥ parástāt || 5 || kó addhá veda ká ihá prá vocat kúta ájātā kúta iyám vísrishṭiḥ | arvág devá asyá visárjanenáthā kó veda yáta ābabhúva || 6 || iyám vísrishṭir yáta ābabhúva yádi vā dadhé yádi vā ná | yó asyádhyakshaḥ paramé vyòman só aṅgá veda yádi vā ná véda || 7 || 17 ||

Neither there was death nor at that period immortality. There was no indication of day or night. That breathless one breathed upon as if by its own automation. Apart from that one, there was nothing else whatever. 2

Darkness there was; covered by darkness, a plasmic continuum, in which there was nothing distinguishable. And thence, an empty (world), united under a causal covering came out on account of the austere penance (of that Supreme one). 3

In the beginning, there was the Divine Desire, which was the first seed of the Cosmic Mind. The sages, seeking in their hearts, have discovered by their wisdom the bond that operates between the existent (the manifested) and the non-existent (the unmanifested). 4

Their controls (rays or reins) were streteched out, some transverse, some below and others above. Some of these were shedders of the seed and the others strong and superb — the inferior, the causal matter here, and the superior, the creator's effort there. 5

Who really knows, who in this world can declare it, whence came out this (manifested) creation? Whence was it engendered? Whence will it end? Nature's bounties came out much later, and hence who knows whence this creation came into manifestation? 6

He from whom this creation arose—verily He may uphold it or He may not (and then of course, none else can do so). The one who is the sovereign in this highest heaven, He assuredly knows, or even He knows not (and then none else would ever know the secrets). 7

(१३०) त्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यो यज्ञ ऋषिः । भाववृत्तं देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चो जगती, (२–७) द्वितीयादिषण्णां च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१८॥ यो यज्ञो विश्वतस्तन्तुभिस्तत एकशतं देवकर्मेभिरायतः ।
इमे वयन्ति पितरो य आययुः प्र वयाप वयेत्यासते तते ॥१॥
पुमाँ एनं तनुत उत्कृणत्ति पुमान्वि तत्ने अधि नाके अस्मिन् ।
इमे मयूखा उप सेदुरू सदः सामानि चक्रुस्तसराण्योतवे ॥२॥
कासीत्प्रमा प्रतिमा किं निदानमाज्यं किमासीत्परिधिः क आसीत् ।
छन्दः किमासीत्प्रउगं किमुक्थं यद्देवा देवमयजन्त विश्वे ॥३॥
अग्नेर्गायत्र्यभवत्सयुग्वोष्णिहया सविता सं बभूव ।
अनुष्टुभा सोम उक्थैर्महस्वान्बृहस्पतेर्बृहती वाचमावत् ॥४॥
विराण्मित्रावरुणयोरभिश्रीरिन्द्रस्य त्रिष्टुबिह भागो अह्नः ।
विश्वान्देवाञ्जगत्या विवेश तेन चाकॢप्र ऋषयो मनुष्याः ॥५॥
चाकॢप्रे तेन ऋषयो मनुष्या यज्ञे जाते पितरो नः पुराणे ।
पश्यन्मन्ये मनसा चक्षसा तान्य इमं यज्ञमयजन्त पूर्वे ॥६॥

130.

Yó yajñó visvátas tántubhis tatá ékasatam devakarmébhir áyatah | imé vayanti pitáro yá āyayúḥ prá vayápa vayéty āsate taté || 1 || púmāñ enam tanuta út krinatti púmān ví tatne ádhi náke asmín | imé mayúkhā úpa sedur ū sádaḥ sámāni cakrus tásarāṇy ótave || 2 || kásīt pramá pratimá kím nidánam ájyam kím āsīt paridhíḥ ká āsīt | chándaḥ kím āsīt praúgam kím ukthám yád devá devám áyajanta vísve || 3 || agnér gāyatry àbhavat sayúgvoshṇíhayā savitá sám babhūva | anushṭúbhā sóma ukthaír máhasvān bríhaspáter brihatí vácam āvat || 4 || virán mitrávárunayor abhisrír índrasya trishṭúb ihá bhāgó áhnaḥ | vísvān deváñ jágaty á vivesa téna cākḷipra ríshayo manushyàḥ || 5 || cākḷipré téna ríshayo manushyà yajñé jāté pitáro naḥ purāṇé | pásyan manye mánasā cákshasā tán yá imám yajñám áyajanta púrve || 6 ||

130

The sacrifice is drawn out with threads on every side and spread out by Nature's Cosmic Sacrifice for years—hundred and one. Our fathers, who have preceded us, weave it, weaving forwards, weaving backwards, thus they worship (the creator Lord) when the world is woven. 1

The First Man (our Lord) spreads out this web, the First Man rolls it up, He spreads it above in this heaven; these His rays occupy the seat of cosmic sacrifice; they have made the prayers serve as shuttles for weaving. 2

What was the authority, what was the model, what was the purpose, what was the oblation (butter), what was the enclosure, what was the metre, what was the pra-u-ga text, when the universal divine powers offered worship to Nature's bounties? 3

Closely associated was GAYATRI with Agni, the Fire-divine; USHNIK combined with the Impeller Lord. SAVITA; SOMA, the Blissful, combined with ANUSTUBH, BṚ HAṬI was voiced by BṚHASPATI, the Lord Supreme. 4

The metre VIRAJ joined with Mitra, the Lord of Light and Varuna, the Lord of Venerability. TRISTUBH was portion of the midday oblation at this worship: JAGATI was voiced by VISVEADEVAS. Nature's all bounties; By this cosmic worship seers and men were created. 5

When this ancient sacrifice was accomplished, by it seers, men, and our progenitors were created; with the eye of the mind, I clearly behold them who first performed this sacrificial worship. 6

सहस्तोमाः सहछन्दस आवृतः सहप्रमा ऋषयः सप्त दैव्याः ।
पूर्वेषां पन्थामनुदृश्य धीरा अन्वालेभिरे रथ्यो३ न रश्मीन् ॥७॥

sahástomāḥ saháchandasa āvṛítaḥ sahápramā ṛíshayaḥ saptá daívyāḥ | pū́rveshām panthām anudṛíṣya dhī́rā anvā́lebhire rathyò ná raṣmī́n || 7 || 18 ||

(१३१) एकत्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काक्षीवतः सुकीर्तिर्ऋषिः । (१–३, ६–७) प्रथमादितृचस्य षष्ठी-सप्तम्योर्ऋचोश्चेन्द्रः, (४–५) चतुर्थीपञ्चम्योश्चाश्विनौ देवताः । (१–३, ५–७) प्रथमादितृचस्य पञ्चम्यादितृचस्य च त्रिष्टुप्, (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥ अप प्राच इन्द्र विश्वाँ अमित्रानपापाचो अभिभूते नुदस्व ।
अपोदीचो अप शूराधराच उरौ यथा तव शर्मन्मदेम ॥१॥
कुविदङ्ग यवमन्तो यवं चिद्यथा दान्त्यनुपूर्वं वियूय ।
इहेहैषां कृणुहि भोजनानि ये बर्हिषो नमोवृक्तिं न जग्मुः ॥२॥
नहि स्थूर्यृतुथा यातमस्ति नोत श्रवो विविदे संगमेषु ।
गव्यन्त इन्द्रं सख्याय विप्रा अश्वायन्तो वृषणं वाजयन्तः ॥३॥
युवं सुराममश्विना नमुचावासुरे सचा ।
विपिपाना शुभस्पती इन्द्रं कर्मस्वावतम् ॥४॥

131.

Ápa prā́ca indra víṣvāň amítrān ápā́pāco abhibhūte nudasva | ápódīco ápa ṣūrādharā́ca uraú yáthā táva ṣárman mádema || 1 || kuvíd aṅgá yávamanto yávaṃ cid yáthā dā́nty anupūrváṃ viyū́ya | ihéhaishāṃ kṛiṇuhi bhójanāni yé barhísho námovṛiktiṃ ná jagmúḥ || 2 || nahí sthū́ry ṛituthā́ yātám ásti nótá ṣrávo vivide saṃgaméshu | gavyánta índraṃ sakhyáya víprā aṣvāyánto vṛíshaṇaṃ vājáyantaḥ || 3 || yuváṃ surā́mam aṣvinā námucāv āsuré sácā | vipipānā́ ṣubhas patī índram kármasv āvatam || 4 ||

They, who are well-versed in the rituals, metres, hymns and rules, are the seven divine seers. Cognizant of the path of their predecessors, the sages take up the reins, like drivers of chariots. 7

131

O victorious Lord of resplendence, drive off all our foes, those who dwell in the east, and those who dwell in the west; drive off, O hero, those foes who dwell in the north, and those who dwell in the south, so that we may thrive happily under your kind love. 1

Just as the growers of barley often cut the barley, and separate it (the grain from the husk) in due order, so may you bestow here and there nourishment upon those who have not neglected their duty of performing selfless deeds (according to your command). 2

The car (laden with food) has not arrived yet in due season; nor has he acquired fame in battle. Let the sages, desiring cattle, desiring horses and desiring food, pray to the resplendent Lord, the showerer, for acquiring friendly help. 3

O twin-divines (the pair of day and night), lord of light, having drunk the elixir of divine love, you have jointly assisted Lord of resplendence at the time of conflicts against wicked evils. 4

पुत्रमिव पितरावश्विनोभेन्द्रावथुः काव्यैर्दंसनाभिः ।
यत्सुरामं व्यपिबः शचीभिः सरस्वती त्वा मघवन्नभिष्णक् ॥५॥
इन्द्रः सुत्रामा स्ववाँ अवोभिः सुमृळीको भवतु विश्ववेदाः ।
बाधतां द्वेषो अभयं कृणोतु सुवीर्यस्य पतयः स्याम ॥६॥
तस्य वयं सुमतौ यज्ञियस्यापि भद्रे सौमनसे स्याम ।
स सुत्रामा स्ववाँ इन्द्रो अस्मे आराच्चिद्द्वेषः सनुतर्युयोतु ॥७॥ putrám iva pitárāv aṣvíno-bhéndrāváthuḥ kávyair daṅsánābhiḥ | yát surámam vy ápibaḥ ṣácībhiḥ sárasvatī tvā maghavann abhishṇak || 5 || índraḥ sutrámā svávāñ ávobhiḥ sumriḷīkó bhavatu viṣváve-dāḥ | bádhatām dvésho ábhayam kriṇotu suvíryasya pátayaḥ

syāma || 6 || tásya vayám sumataú yajñíyasyápi bhadré saumanasé syāma | sá sutrámā svávāñ índro asmé ārác cid
dvéshaḥ sanutár yuyotu || 7 || 19 ||

(१३२) द्वात्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य नार्मेधः शकपूत ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो द्यावाभूम्यश्विनः, (२–७) द्वितीयादिषड्‌ऋचस्य च मित्रावरुणौ देवताः । (१) प्रथमर्चो न्यङ्कुसारिणी, (२, ६) द्वितीया-षष्ठ्योः प्रस्तारपङ्क्तिः, (३–५) तृतीयादितृचस्य विराड्रूपा, (७) सप्तम्याश्च महासतोबृहती छन्दांसि ॥

॥२०॥
ईजानमिद्द्यौर्गूर्तावसुरीजानं भूमिरभि प्रभूषणि ।
ईजानं देवावश्विनावभि सुम्नैरवर्धताम् ॥१॥
ता वां मित्रावरुणा धारयत्क्षिती सुषुम्नेषितत्वता यजामसि ।
युवोः क्राणाय सख्यैरभि ष्याम रक्षसः ॥२॥

132.

Ījānám íd dyaúr gūrtávasur ījānám bhúmir abhí pra-bhūsháṇi | ījānám devávv aṣvínāv abhí sumnaír avardhatām
|| 1 || tá vām mitrāvaruṇā dhārayátkshitī sushumnéshitatvátā yajāmasi | yuvóḥ krāṇáya sakhyaír abhí shyāma rakshásaḥ
|| 2 ||

Both the twin-divines defend every brave person, like parents a son with their wondrous efforts. When triumphing through the deeds of valour, you drink refreshing tasty elixir and the divine intellect comes to your aid, O brave man. 5

May Lord of resplendence, the protector, the possessor of great wealth, the all-knowing, be favourable to us with His blessings. May He disperse our enemies; may He make us free from fear; may we be the possessors of excellent vigour and progeny. 6

May we enjoy favour of that adorable divinity, and may we enjoy His blessed loving kindness; and may the protecting and opulent Lord drive away and keep far from us all such infidels who hate us. 7

132

The heaven blesses in numerous ways only those who work with sacrifice. The earth also decorates them with treasures, who dedicatingly serve. The twin-divines also shower favours on the sacrificer. 1

O Lord of light and Lord of sovereignty, the sustainers of the earth and the givers of comforts, we worship you for the sake of attaining our wishes. May we, through your support to the worshipper, overcome evil-spirited men. 2

अधा चिन्नु यद्दिधिषामहे वामभि प्रियं रेक्णः पत्यमानाः ।
दद्वाँ वा यत्पुष्यति रेक्णः सम्वारन्नकिरस्य मघानि ॥३॥
असावन्यो असुर सूयत द्यौस्त्वं विश्वेषां वरुणासि राजा ।
मूर्धा रथस्य चाकन्नैतावतैनसान्तकध्रुक् ॥४॥
अस्मिन्त्स्वे३तच्छकपूत एनो हिते मित्रे निगतान्हन्ति वीरान् ।
अवोर्वा यद्धात्तनूष्ववः प्रियासु यज्ञियास्वर्वा ॥५॥
युवोर्हि मातादितिर्विचेतसा द्यौर्न भूमिः पयसा पुपूतनि ।
अव प्रिया दिदिष्टन सूरो निनिक्त रश्मिभिः ॥६॥
युवं ह्यप्नराजावसीदतं तिष्ठद्रथं न धूर्षदं वनर्षदम् ।
ता नः कणूकयन्तीर्नृमेधस्तत्रे अंहसः सुमेधस्तत्रे अंहसः ॥७॥

ádhā cin nú yád dídhishāmahe vām abhí priyám rékṇaḥ pátyamānāḥ | dadvā́ṅ vā yát púshyati rékṇaḥ sám v āran nákir asya maghā́ni || 3 || asā́v anyó asura sūyata dyaús

tvám víśveshām varuṇāsi rājā | mūrdhā́ ráthasya cākan naítāvataínasāntakadhrúk || 4 || asmín sv ètác chákapūta éno hité mitré nigatān hanti vīrā́n | avór vā yád dhā́t tanū́shv ávaḥ priyā́su yajñíyāsv árvā || 5 || yuvór hí mātā́ditir vicetasā dyaúr ná bhū́miḥ páyasā pupūtáni | áva priyā́ didishṭana sū́ro ninikta raśmíbhiḥ || 6 || yuvám hy àpnarā́jāv ásīdataṃ tíshṭhad ráthaṃ ná dhūrshádaṃ vanarshádam | tā́ naḥ kaṇūkayántīr nṛimédhas tatre áṅhasaḥ sumédhas tatre áṅhasaḥ || 7 || 20 ||

(१३३) त्रयस्त्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य पैजवनः सुदा ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य शक्वरी, (४-६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य महापङ्क्तिः, (७) सप्तम्यृचश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दांसि ।

॥२१॥ प्रो ष्वस्मै पुरोरथमिन्द्राय शूषमर्चत ।
अभीके चिदु लोककृत्संगे समत्सु वृत्रहास्माकं बोधि चोदिता
नभन्तामन्यकेषां ज्याका अधि धन्वसु ॥१॥

133.

Pró shv àsmai purorathám índrāya śūshám arcata | abhī́ke cid u lokakṛ́t saṃgé samátsu vṛitrahā́smā́kam bodhi coditā́ nábhantām anyakéshāṃ jyākā́ ádhi dhánvasu || 1 ||

May we, while paying homage to you, quickly acquire desirable wealth, and when the pious and liberal devotee augments his wealth, may his riches not forsake him. 3

O Heaven (i.e. Mother Eternity, Dyau = Aditi), you have given birth to this life-giving sun (Mitra), as well as to the other one, air (Varuna), a sovereign bounty over us all. They two (the Sun and air, i.e. Mitra and Varuna) constitute the head of the sacrifice (ratha = chariot = yajna), an antilogy of death. May this ritual or sacrifice be not vitiated by the smallest defeat. 4

When the institutor of the sacrifice with his best efforts propitiates or appeases the sun (Mitra) alone, it leads to iniquity, that may prove to be disastrous to children (and family). This (iniquity) is only atoned when the approaching (sacrificer) offers oblations of food to air (Varuna) also (i.e. when he in the sacrificial rite gives oblations for Mitra and Varuna both). 5

O Nature's bounties (air and the sun), endowed with various characteristics, your Mother Infinity, takes away all sins (or pollutions) from you and purifies you through these libations, just as the heaven purifies atmosphere through rains. You display before us the priceless treasure and wash us with the sunshine. 6

O both of you, the brilliant ones, Mitra and Varuna, (the sun and air personified) occupy your venerable seats. Now mount each of you your chariot, which rests on the yoke; and which moves in the forests to subdue our foes who clamour against us. The social structure (the Nṛmedha, serving the interests of men at large) flourishes under your protection, free from sin, and so also the pious worshipper, (the individual) is saved from sin (by your blessings). 7

133

Adore fervently the might of that Lord of resplendence which leads His cosmic chariot; He makes room for us in the close conflicts of life and destroys the demon of darkness while fighting against Nescience; He is our encourager. May the strings on the bows of our enemies (such as passions, greed etc.) be destroyed. 1

त्वं सिन्धूँरवासृजोऽधराचो अहन्नहिम् ।
अशत्रुरिन्द्र जज्ञिषे विश्वं पुष्यसि वार्यं तं त्वा परि ष्वजामहे
नभन्तामन्यकेषां ज्याका अधि धन्वसु ॥२॥
वि षु विश्वा अरातयोऽर्यो नशन्त नो धियः ।
अस्तासि शत्रवे वधं यो न इन्द्र जिघांसति या ते रातिर्ददिर्वसु
नभन्तामन्यकेषां ज्याका अधि धन्वसु ॥३॥
यो न इन्द्राभितो जनो वृकायुरादिदेशति ।
अधस्पदं तमीं कृधि विबाधो असि सासहिर्नभन्तामन्यकेषां ज्याका अधि धन्वसु ॥४॥
यो न इन्द्राभिदासति सनाभिर्यश्च निष्ट्यः ।
अव तस्य बलं तिर महीव द्यौरध त्मना नभन्तामन्यकेषां ज्याका अधि धन्वसु ॥५॥
वयमिन्द्र त्वायवः सखित्वमा रभामहे ।
ऋतस्य नः पथा नयाति विश्वानि दुरिता नभन्तामन्यकेषां ज्याका अधि धन्वसु ॥६॥
अस्मभ्यं सु त्वमिन्द्र तां शिक्ष या दोहते प्रति वरं जरित्रे ।
अच्छिद्रोध्नी पीपयद्यथा नः सहस्रधारा पयसा मही गौः ॥७॥

tváṃ sín-dhūnr ávāsṛijo 'dharáco áhann áhim | aṣatrúr indra jajñishe víṣvaṃ pushyasi váryaṃ táṃ tvā pári shvajāmahe nábhantām anyakéshāṃ jyāká ádhi dhánvasu || 2 || ví shú víṣvā árātayo 'ryó naṣanta no dhíyaḥ | ástāsi ṣátrave vadháṃ yó na indra jíghāṅsati yá te rātír dadír vásu nábhantām anyakéshāṃ jyāká ádhi dhánvasu || 3 || yó na indrābhíto jáno vṛikāyúr ādídeṣati | adhaspadáṃ tám īṃ kṛidhi vibādhó asi sāsahír nábhantām anyakéshāṃ jyāká ádhi dhánvasu || 4 || yó na indrābhidásati sánābhir yáṣ ća níshṭyaḥ | áva tásya bálaṃ tira mahíva dyaúr ádha tmánā nábhantām anyakéshāṃ jyāká ádhi dhánvasu || 5 || vayám indra tvāyávaḥ sakhitvám á rabhāmahe | ṛitásya naḥ pathá nayáti víṣvāni duritá nábhantām anyakéshāṃ jyāká ádhi dhánvasu || 6 || asmábhyaṃ sú tvám indra táṃ ṣiksha yá dóhate práti váraṃ jaritré | áchidrodhnī pīpáyad yáthā naḥ sahásradhārā páyasā mahí gaúḥ || 7 || 21 ||

You send the rivers away down to earth; you destroy the serpent of ignorance; O Lord of resplendence, you are enemy to none; you grant (to everyone) all that is desirable, as such we embrace you (with love and adoration). May the strings on the bows of our enemies be destroyed. 2

May all the infidels and wicked, who make no offerings, quickly perish; may our praises be successful; O Lord of resplendence, you hurl the weapon at the foe who seeks to harm us. May your bounty give us wealth in plenty. May the strings on the bows of our enemies be destroyed. 3

The man who, like a wolf, prowls around us, O Lord of resplendence, trample him down under your feet, for you are the resister, the overcomer of foes. May the strings on the bows of our enemies be destroyed. 4

O Lord of resplendence, may you bring down the strength of the one who assails us, whether he be the stranger or a kin, or his strength be vast and extensive as heaven. May the strings on the bows of our enemies be destroyed. 5

O Lord of resplendence, devoted to you, we strive to gain your friendship; lead us by the path of eternal truth beyond all evils and miseries. May the strings on the bows of our enemies be destroyed. 6

Give to us, O Lord of resplendence, the cow, the knowledge, the divine speech, that gives the milk of divine wisdom to the worshipper according to his desires, so that the mighty cow, the source of divine wisdom, possessed of an unfailing udder, the shedder of a thousand streams, may supply us plentifully with milk of divine knowledge. 7

(१३४) चतुस्त्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१-५, ६) प्रथमादिपञ्चर्चां षष्ठ्याः पूर्वार्धस्य च यौवनाश्वो मान्धाता ऋषिः, (६-७) षष्ठ्या उत्तरार्धस्य सप्तम्याश्च गोधा ऋषिका । इन्द्रो देवता । (१-६) प्रथमादिषडृचां महापङ्क्तिः, (७) सप्तम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥२२॥ उभे यदिन्द्र रोदसी आपप्राथोषा इव ।
महान्तं त्वा महीनां सम्राजं चर्षणीनां देवी जनित्र्यजीजनद्भद्रा जनित्र्यजीजनत् ॥१॥
अव स्म दुर्हणायतो मर्तस्य तनुहि स्थिरम् ।
अधस्पदं तमीं कृधि यो अस्माँ आदिदेशति देवी जनित्र्यजीजनद्भद्रा जनित्र्यजीजनत् ॥२॥
अव त्या बृहतीरिषो विश्वश्चन्द्रा अमित्रहन् ।
शचीभिः शक्र धूनुहीन्द्र विश्वाभिरूतिभिर्देवी जनित्र्यजीजनद्भद्रा जनित्र्यजीजनत् ॥३॥
अव यत्त्वं शतक्रतविन्द्र विश्वानि धूनुषे ।
रयिं न सुन्वते सचा सहस्रिणीभिरूतिभिर्देवी जनित्र्यजीजनद्भद्रा जनित्र्यजीजनत् ॥४॥
अव स्वेदा इवाभितो विष्वक्पतन्तु दिद्यवः ।
दूर्वाया इव तन्तवो व्यस्मदेतु दुर्मतिर्देवी जनित्र्यजीजनद्भद्रा जनित्र्यजीजनत् ॥५॥
दीर्घं ह्यङ्कुशं यथा शक्तिं बिभर्षि मन्तुमः ।
पूर्वेण मघवन्पदाजो वयां यथा यमो देवी जनित्र्यजीजनद्भद्रा जनित्र्यजीजनत् ॥६॥
नकिर्देवा मिनीमसि नकिरा योपयामसि मन्त्रश्रुत्यं चरामसि ।
पक्षेभिरपिकक्षेभिरत्राभि सं रभामहे ॥७॥

134.

Ubhé yád indra ródasī āpaprāthoshā́ iva | mahā́ntaṃ tvā mahīnā́ṃ samrā́jaṃ carshaṇīnā́ṃ deví jánitry ajījanad bhadrā́ jánitry ajījanat || 1 || áva sma durhaṇāyató mártasya tanuhi sthirā́m | adhaspadā́ṃ tám īṃ kṛidhi yó asmā́ñ ādídeśati deví jánitry ajījanad bhadrā́ jánitry ajījanat || 2 || áva tyā́ bṛihatī́r ísho viśváścandrā amitrahan | śácībhiḥ śakra dhūnuhī́ndra víśvābhir ūtíbhir deví jánitry — || 3 || áva yát tvám śatakratav índra víśvāni dhūnushé | rayíṃ ná sunvaté sácā sahasríṇībhir ūtíbhir deví jánitry — || 4 || áva svédā ivābhíto víshvak patantu didyávaḥ | dū́rvāyā iva tántavo vy àsmád etu durmatír deví jánītry — || 5 || dīrghám hy àñkuśáṃ yathā śáktim bíbharshi mantumaḥ | pū́rveṇa maghavan padā́jó vayā́ṃ yáthā yamo deví jánitry — || 6 || nákir devā minīmasi nákir ā́ yopayāmasi mantraśrútyam carāmasi | pakshébhir apikakshébhir átrābhí sáṃ rabhāmahe || 7 || 22 ||

134

O sun, the resplendence, you fill both heaven and earth (with light) like the dawn; the divine progenitress has given birth to you, the mighty of the mighty (bounties), the sovereign of men. The Goddess Progenitress gives you birth; the auspicious Mother Nature has given you life. 1

May you enfeeble the strength of the malicious man; trample him down under your foot who tries to destroy us. The Goddess Progenitress gives you birth; the auspicious Mother Nature has given you life. 2

Destroyer of enemies, O effulgent and resplendent, bestow upon us by your grace the abundant, splendid viands, accompanied with all your protections. The goddess Progenitress gives you birth; the auspicious Mother Nature has given you life. 3

O Lord of resplendence, performer of hundreds of selfless deeds, when you bestow upon us all blessings, then bestow wealth also upon the offerer of the devotion and also bless him with your thousandfold protections. The Goddess Progenitress gives you birth; the auspicious Mother Nature has given you life. 4

Let your radiant weapons (to kill pollutions and evils) fall down everywhere round about like drops of perspiration; let lightning flashes fall; let the enemy depart from us like the stems of the green grass. The Goddess Progenitress gives you birth; the auspicious Mother Nature has given you life. 5

You, O great counsellor, wield your might like a long hook; you drag your foes, O bounteous Lord, as a goat drags with its forefoot a branch. The Goddess Progenitress gives you birth; the auspicious Mother Nature has given you life. 6

O divine powers, we never offend you; we never inflict annoyance on you; we follow the teaching of the holy text; closely we clasp and cling to you under your loving shelter. 7

(१३५) पञ्चत्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य यामायनः कुमार ऋषिः । यमो देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥

यस्मिन्वृक्षे सुपलाशे देवैः संपिबते यमः ।
अत्रा नो विश्पतिः पिता पुराणाँ अनु वेनति ॥१॥
पुराणाँ अनुवेनन्तं चरन्तं पापयामुया ।
असूयन्नभ्यचाकशं तस्मा अस्पृहयं पुनः ॥२॥
यं कुमार नवं रथमचक्रं मनसाकृणोः ।
एकेषं विश्वतः प्राञ्चमपश्यन्नधि तिष्ठसि ॥३॥
यं कुमार प्रावर्तयो रथं विप्रेभ्यस्परि ।
तं सामानु प्रावर्तत समितो नाव्याहितम् ॥४॥
कः कुमारमजनयद्रथं को निरवर्तयत् ।
कः स्वित्तदद्य नो ब्रूयादनुदेयी यथाभवत् ॥५॥
यथाभवदनुदेयी ततो अग्रमजायत ।
पुरस्ताद्बुध्न आततः पश्चान्निरयणं कृतम् ॥६॥
इदं यमस्य सादनं देवमानं यदुच्यते ।
इयमस्य धम्यते नाळीरयं गीर्भिः परिष्कृतः ॥७॥

135.

Yásmin vrikshé supalāṣé devaíḥ sampíbate yamáḥ | átrā no viṣpátiḥ pitā́ purāṇā́n ánu venati || 1 || purāṇā́n anuvénantaṃ cárantam pāpáyāmuyā́ | asūyánn abhy àcākaṣaṃ tásmā asprihayaṃ púnaḥ || 2 || yáṃ kumāra návaṃ rátham acakrám mánasā́kriṇoḥ | ékeshaṃ viṣvátaḥ prā́ñcam ápaṣyann ádhi tishṭhasi || 3 || yáṃ kumāra prā́vartayo ráthaṃ víprebhyas pári | táṃ sā́mā́nu prā́vartata sám itó nā́vy ā́hitam || 4 || káḥ kumārám ajanayad ráthaṃ kó nír avartayat | káḥ svit tád adyá no brūyād anudéyī yáthā́bhavat || 5 || yáthā́bhavad anudéyī táto ágram ajāyata | purástād budhná ā́tataḥ paṣcā́n nirā́yaṇaṃ kritám || 6 || idáṃ yamásya sā́danaṃ devamānáṃ yád ucyáte | iyám asya dhamyate nāḷī́r ayáṃ gīrbhíḥ párishkritaḥ || 7 || 23 ||

135

In the leafy tree (of human body), where along with sense organs (the gods), the Yama (individual soul) enjoys (or drinks), fruits of his past actions, our father, the Lord of universe invites us with love to join all mortals of by-gone days. 1

(At first), I behold the man with anguish who still lingers to the lust of old deeds of sins, and suffers pains but (the surprise is that) afterwards I also start loving the same person and become prey to the similar lust. 2

O my child, you are mounted on a new chariot, which is wheel-less and single-poled, but it turns everywhere (and on all sides). You have fashioned it mentally; you stand thereon though you know not the mystery of it. 3

O my child, you have been driving the chariot (of body) through the aid of the sense organs (the sages); let it have tranquility and balance to carry you across as if on a boat. 4

Who gives birth to this youth? Who has driven the chariot off? Who can tell us how it takes a subsequent body? 5

How does the subsequent body come into existence after the previous one? Before that the causal matter is held out-stretched; and subsequently, the form comes out of it. 6

This is the dwelling of the Self, the Yama, which is called the fabric of gods (the organs of senses); this pipe is sounded for his gratification and he is propitiated by hymns. 7

(१३६) षट्त्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वातरशनाः [(१) प्रथमर्चो जूतिः, (२) द्वितीयाया वातजूतिः, (३) तृतीयाया विप्रजूतिः, (४) चतुर्थ्या वृषाणकः, (५) पञ्चम्याः करिक्रतः, (६) षष्ठ्या एतशः, (७) सप्तम्याश्च ऋष्यशृङ्गः] ऋषयः । केशिनः (अग्निवायुसूर्याः) देवताः । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२४॥

केश्य१ग्निं केशी विषं केशी बिभर्ति रोदसी ।
केशी विश्वं स्वर्दृशे केशीदं ज्योतिरुच्यते ॥१॥
मुनयो वातरशनाः पिशङ्गा वसते मला ।
वातस्यानु ध्राजिं यन्ति यद्देवासो अविक्षत ॥२॥
उन्मदिता मौनेयेन वातॉं आ तस्थिमा वयम् ।
शरीरेदस्माकं यूयं मर्तासो अभि पश्यथ ॥३॥
अन्तरिक्षेण पतति विश्वा रूपावचाकशत् ।
मुनिर्देवस्यदेवस्य सौकृत्याय सखा हितः ॥४॥
वातस्याश्वो वायोः सखाथो देवेषितो मुनिः ।
उभौ समुद्रावा क्षेति यश्च पूर्व उतापरः ॥५॥
अप्सरसां गन्धर्वाणां मृगाणां चरणे चरन् ।
केशी केतस्य विद्वान्त्सखा स्वादुर्मदिन्तमः ॥६॥
वायुरस्मा उपामन्थत्पिनष्टि स्मा कुनन्नमा ।
केशी विषस्य पात्रेण यद्रुद्रेणापिबत्सह ॥७॥

136.

Keṣy àgním keṣí vishám keṣí bibharti ródasī | keṣí víṣvam svàr driṣé keṣídám jyótir ucyate || 1 || múnayo vátaraṣanāḥ piṣáṅgā vasate málā | vátasyánu dhrájim yanti yád deváso ávikshata || 2 || únmaditā maúneyena vátāṅ á tasthimā vayám | ṣárīréd asmákam yūyám mártāso abhí paṣyatha || 3 || antárikshena patati víṣvā rūpávacákaṣat | múnir devásya-devasya saúkrityāya sákhā hitáḥ || 4 || vátasyáṣvo vāyóḥ sákhátho devéshito múniḥ | ubhaú samudráv á ksheti yáṣ ca púrva utáparaḥ || 5 || apsarásām gandharváṇām mrigáṇām cáraṇe cáran | keṣí kétasya vidván ákhā svādúr madíntamaḥ || 6 || vāyúr asmā úpāmanthat pináshṭi smā kunannamá | keṣí vishásya pátreṇa yád rudréṇápibat sahá || 7 || 24 ||

136

The radiant (sun) supports fire, the radiant one supports water, the radiant one supports the heaven and earth,the radiant one is for the visibility of the whole diffused (universe)—this light is called the radiant one (Muni-Juti). 1

The munis, or pulsating stars, the sons of cosmic vital winds, wear the vestments soiled of dirty yellow hue; they follow the course of cosmic vital winds and assume the path of Nature's bounties (Muni-Vatajuti). 2

Exhilarated by the sanctity of the muni, the pulsating star, we mount upon the cosmic vital winds; O mortals, behold our forms in them! (Muni-Viprajuti). 3

The muni, the pulsating star, flies through the firmament, illumining all objects; he is the friend of each divine power, endowed with supreme cosmic design. (Muni-Vṛsanaka). 4

The muni, the pulsating star, has the swiftness of wind. He is the friend of air and is instigated by the bounty, repairing to both oceans, eastern and western. (Muni-Karikrata). 5

Wandering on the track of the clouds (the gandharvas) and the lightning (the apsaras), and the constellations (wild beasts), the radiant (sun) is cognizant of all that exists and is knowable. He is my sweet and most delightful friend. (Muni-Etasa). 6

The cosmic wind churns for him, the inflexible thunder grinds it when the radiant (sun), along with cosmic vital principles drinks the water with his cup (Muni-Ṛsyasṛnga). 7

(१३७) सप्तत्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–७) सप्तर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सप्तर्षयः [(१) प्रथमर्चो भरद्वाजः, (२) द्वितीयायाः कश्यपः, (३) तृतीयाया गोतमः, (४) चतुर्थ्या अत्रिः, (५) पञ्चम्या विश्वामित्रः, (६) षष्ठ्या जमदग्निः, (७) सप्तम्याश्च वसिष्ठः] ऋषयः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥

उत देवा अवहितं देवा उन्नयथा पुनः ।
उतागश्चक्रुषं देवा देवा जीवयथा पुनः ॥१॥
द्वाविमौ वातौ वात आ सिन्धोरा परावतः ।
दक्षं ते अन्य आ वातु परान्यो वातु यद्रपः ॥२॥
आ वात वाहि भेषजं वि वात वाहि यद्रपः ।
त्वं हि विश्वभेषजो देवानां दूत ईयसे ॥३॥
आ त्वागमं शन्तातिभिरथो अरिष्टतातिभिः ।
दक्षं ते भद्रमाभार्षं परा यक्ष्मं सुवामि ते ॥४॥
त्रायन्तामिह देवास्त्रायतां मरुतां गणः ।
त्रायन्तां विश्वा भूतानि यथायमरपा असत् ॥५॥
आप इद्वा उ भेषजीरापो अमीवचातनीः ।
आपः सर्वस्य भेषजीस्तास्ते कृण्वन्तु भेषजम् ॥६॥
हस्ताभ्यां दशशाखाभ्यां जिह्वा वाचः पुरोगवी ।
अनामयित्नुभ्यां त्वा ताभ्यां त्वोप स्पृशामसि ॥७॥

137.

Utá devā ávahitam̥ dévā ún nayathā púnaḥ | utā́gaś cakrúsham̥ devā dévā jīváyathā púnaḥ || 1 || dvā́v imaú vā́tau vāta ā́ síndhor ā́ parāvátaḥ | dáksham̥ te anyá ā́ vātu párānyó vātu yád rápaḥ || 2 || ā́ vāta vāhi bheshajám̥ ví vāta vāhi yád rápaḥ | tvám̥ hí viśvábheshajo devā́nām̥ dūtá íyase || 3 || ā́ tvāgamam̥ śámtātibhir átho arishṭátātibhiḥ | dáksham̥ te bhadrám ā́bhārsham̥ párā yákshmam̥ suvāmi te || 4 || trā́yantām ihá devā́s trā́yatām marútām̥ gaṇáḥ | trā́yantām̥ víśvā bhūtā́ni yáthāyám arapā́ ásat || 5 || ā́pa íd vā́ u bheshajī́r ā́po amīvacā́tanīḥ | ā́paḥ sárvasya bheshajī́s tā́s te kriṇvantu bheshajám || 6 || hástābhyām̥ dáśaśākhābhyām̥ jihvā́ vācáḥ purogavī́ | anāmayitnúbhyām̥ tvā tā́bhyām̥ tvópa spriśāmasi || 7 || 25 ||

137

O enlightened sages, raise up once more the man, who has been down-trodden; restore him to life; raise him also, who has committed sin. (Ṛṣi-Bharadvaja). 1

These two winds blow to the regions which are far beyond the ocean; may the one bring you vigour, and may the other blow away all your evils. (Ṛṣi-Kasyapa). 2

O wind, blow medicinal balm; and blow away, O wind, all evil; for you are, verily, the universal medicine; you move as the messenger of the divine powers. (Ṛṣi-Gotama). 3

I have come to you to give pleasures and protections; I have brought for you fortunate vigour; I drive away your disease. (Ṛṣi-Atri). 4

May the divine powers give us protection in this world; may the company of cloud-bearing winds protect us; may all beings grant protection so that this person may be free from evil, pain and sorrow. (Ṛṣi-Visvamitra). 5

Waters, verily, have their healing power; waters are the dissipators of disease; waters are the medicines for everything; may they act as medicine to you. (Ṛṣi-Jamadagni). 6

The tongue which is cleansed by the ten-branched hands is (i.e the ten fingers) the forerunner of speech; with two hands, which are the removers of disease, we gently touch you. (Ṛṣi-Vasistha). 7

(१३८) अष्टात्रिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यौरवोऽङ्ग ऋषिः। इन्द्रो देवता। जगती छन्दः॥

॥२६॥ तव त्य इन्द्र सख्येषु वह्नय ऋतं मन्वाना व्यदर्दिरुर्वलम्।
यत्रा दशस्यन्नुषसो रिणन्नपः कुत्साय मन्मन्नह्यश्च दंसयः॥१॥
अवासृजः प्रस्वः श्वञ्चयो गिरीनुदाज उस्रा अपिबो मधु प्रियम्।
अवर्धयो वनिनो अस्य दंससा शुशोच सूर्य ऋतजातया गिरा॥२॥
वि सूर्यो मध्ये अमुचद्रथं दिवो विदद्दासाय प्रतिमानमार्यः।
दृळ्हानि पिप्रोरसुरस्य मायिन इन्द्रो व्यास्यच्चकृवाँ ऋजिश्वना॥३॥
अनाधृष्टानि धृषितो व्यास्यन्निधीँरदेवाँ अमृणदयास्यः।
मासेव सूर्यो वसु पुर्यमा ददे गृणानः शत्रूँरशृणाद्विरुक्मता॥४॥
अयुद्धसेनो विभ्वा विभिन्दता दाशद्वृत्रहा तुज्यानि तेजते।
इन्द्रस्य वज्रादबिभेदभिश्नथः प्राक्रामच्छुन्ध्यूरजहादुषा अनः॥५॥
एता त्या ते श्रुत्यानि केवला यदेक एकमकृणोरयज्ञम्।
मासां विधानमदधा अधि द्यवि त्वया विभिन्नं भरति प्रधिं पिता॥६॥

138.

Táva tyá indra sakhyéshu váhnaya ṛitám manvāná vy àdardirur valám | yátrā daṣasyánn usháso riṇánn apáḥ kútsāya mánmann ahyàṣ ca daṅsáyaḥ || 1 || ávāsṛijaḥ prasvàḥ ṣvañcáyo girín úd āja usrá ápibo mádhu priyám | ávardhayo vaníno asya dáṅsasā ṣuṣóca sū́rya ṛitájātayā girá || 2 || ví sū́ryo mádhye amucad rátham divó vidád dāsáya pratimánam ā́ryaḥ | dṛiḷháni píprор ásurasya māyína índro vy àsyac cakṛiváñ ṛijíṣvanā || 3 || ánādhṛishṭāni dhṛishitó vy àsyan nidhī́ñr ádevāñ amṛiṇad ayásyaḥ | māséva sū́ryo vásu púryam á dade gṛiṇānáḥ ṣátrūñr aṣṛiṇād virúkmatā || 4 || áyuddhaseno vibhvà vibhindatá dáṣad vṛitrahá tújyāni tejate | índrasya vájrād abibhed abhiṣnáthaḥ prákrāmac chundhyúr ájahād ushá ánaḥ || 5 || etá tyá te ṣrútyāni kévalā yád éka ékam ákṛiṇor ayajñám | māsā́ṃ vidhánam adadhā ádhi dyávi tváyā víbhinnaṃ bharati pradhím pitá || 6 || 26 ||

138

O resplendent cosmic power, through your friends, these kindled fires, the bearers of oblations, smite the devil of mighty clouds to pieces. When the praises are chanted to bestow dawns to wise sages, you are busy in letting the waters flow free (from clouds) and in foiling the dragon's (again the darkest clouds) exploits. 1

You send forth the productive (waters); you cleave the mountains; you fetch forth the cows; you quaff the delicious elixir of devotion and cause the trees of the forest to grow; through your blessings and by means of the cosmic voice produced during cosmic sacrifice, the shrouded sun again comes out bright and shining. 2

The sun unyokes his chariot in the midst of the sky. The Arya (the resplendent mighty power) encounters the darkness. Associated with radiant rays, he, the resplendent power, destroys the stronghold of the guileful dark clouds. 3

He (the resplendent cosmic power) boldly annihilates the hitherto undefeated hosts of the dark clouds; unwearied, he despoils the impious of their treasures. The sun and moon together, seize upon the wealth of strongholds of darkness; glorified, he, the resplendent, demolishes the foe with his blazing thunderbolt. 4

Leading an irresistible army, and destroying darkness with the prevading piercing bolt, he (the resplendent cosmic power) gives wealth to his worshippers and wields his bolt of justice to punish the entire host of evils—they have to be attacked and subdued. Already they were afraid of wide-destroying thunderbolt. The purifying sun, after all, comes forth and shines and the dawn leaves her waggon i.e. she withdraws from her position in the firmament. 5

These wondrous achievements are your alone. In them, you unaided punish the chief neglector of sacrifice; you have placed in the sky the regulator of the months (the moon); through your aid, the wind upholds the circumference of the wheel of the sun's car (which, it is surmised, has been shattered by the demon of clouds). 6

(१३९) एकोनचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्डृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गन्धर्वो विश्वावसुर्ऋषिः । (१–३) प्रथमादितृचस्य सविता;
(४–६) चतुर्थ्यादितृचस्य चात्मा देवते । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥ सूर्यरश्मिर्हरिकेशः पुरस्तात्सविता ज्योतिरुदयाँ अजस्रम् ।
तस्य पूषा प्रसवे याति विद्वान्त्संपश्यन्विश्वा भुवनानि गोपाः ॥१॥
नृचक्षा एष दिवो मध्य आस्त आपप्रिवान्रोदसी अन्तरिक्षम् ।
स विश्वाचीरभि चष्टे घृताचीरन्तरा पूर्वमपरं च केतुम् ॥२॥
रायो बुध्नः संगमनो वसूनां विश्वा रूपाभि चष्टे शचीभिः ।
देव इव सविता सत्यधर्मेन्द्रो न तस्थौ समरे धनानाम् ॥३॥
विश्वावसुं सोम गन्धर्वमापो ददृशुषीस्तदृतेना व्यायन् ।
तदन्ववैदिन्द्रो रारहाण आसां परि सूर्यस्य परिधीँरपश्यत् ॥४॥
विश्वावसुरभि तन्नो गृणातु दिव्यो गन्धर्वो रजसो विमानः ।
यद्वा घा सत्यमुत यन्न विद्म धियो हिन्वानो धिय इन्नो अव्याः ॥५॥
सस्निमविन्दच्चरणे नदीनामपावृणोद्दुरो अश्मव्रजानाम् ।
प्रासां गन्धर्वो अमृतानि वोचदिन्द्रो दक्षं परि जानादहीनाम् ॥६॥

139.

Sū́ryaraṣmir hárikeṣaḥ purástāt savitā́ jyótir úd ayāñ ájasram | tásya pūshā́ prasavé yāti vidvā́n sampáṣyan víṣvā bhúvanāni gopā́ḥ || 1 || nṛicákshā eshá divó mádhya āsta āpaprivā́n ródasī antáriksham | sá viṣvā́cīr abhí cashṭe ghṛitā́cīr antarā́ pū́rvam áparam̐ ca ketúm || 2 || rāyó budhnáḥ saṃgámano vásūnām̐ víṣvā rūpā́bhi cashṭe ṣácībhiḥ | devá iva savitā́ satyádharméndro ná tasthau samaré dhánānām || 3 || viṣvā́vasum̐ soma gandharvám ā́po dadṛiṣúshīs tád ṛiténā vy àyan | tád anvávaid índro rārahāṇá āsām pári sū́ryasya paridhī́m̐r apaṣyat || 4 || viṣvā́vasur abhí tán no gṛiṇātu divyó gandharvó rájaso vimā́naḥ | yád vā ghā satyám utá yán ná vidmá dhíyo hinvānó dhíya ín no avyāḥ || 5 || sásnim avindac cáraṇe nadī́nām ápāvṛiṇod dúro áṣmavrajānām | prā́sām̐ gandharvó amṛ́itāni vocad índro dáksham pári jānād ahī́nām || 6 || 27 ||

139

Golden and yellow-rayed sun, the impeller, sends without break his light from the east; and shortly afterwards, at his impulsion the morning breeze, the preserver, blows, taking good care of all creatures like a herdsman. 1

Beholding mankind he (the sun) sits amidst the sky, filling the heaven and earth and the firmament; he illumines the all-pervading quarters of space; the bright-pervading, intermediate points, and the mid-most, the foremost, and the hindmost ensigns of the sky. 2

He, the root of riches, the acquirer of treasure, illumines by his functions all forms and figures; the divine impeller, like the bounty whose law is truth, stands like the Supreme Lord, the Lord of resplendence, in the battle for wealth and prosperity. 3

O Darling, waters from the cosmic sacrifice come to the roaring cloud as soon as they see it; the Lord of resplendencé could immediately see whither the cloud is moving. Then He also looks round the rims of the sun. 4

May the celestial roaring cloud, the measurer of the water, declare to us what really the truth is and also that which we do not know. Accepting our praises, may he sharpen our intellect, may he enhance our intelligence. 5

The sun discovers the cloud in the region of cosmic rivers; he sets open the portals of the waters whose dwelling is in the clouds; the sun, getting into the roar of cloud, proclaims the ambrosial (water). He knows the limit to which a cloud, the dragon, can resist (i.e. withhold waters). 6

(१४०) चत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य पावकोऽग्निर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचो- र्विष्टारपङ्क्तिः, (३-५) तृतीयादितृचस्य सतोबृहती, (६) षष्ठ्याश्चोपरिष्टाज्ज्योतिश्छन्दांसि ॥

॥२८॥ अग्ने तव श्रवो वयो महि भ्राजन्ते अर्चयो विभावसो ।
बृहद्भानो शवसा वाजमुक्थ्यं दधासि दाशुषे कवे ॥१॥
पावकवर्चाः शुक्रवर्चा अनूनवर्चा उदियर्षि भानुना ।
पुत्रो मातरा विचरन्नुपावसि पृणक्षि रोदसी उभे ॥२॥
ऊर्जो नपाज्जातवेदः सुशस्तिभिर्मन्दस्व धीतिभिर्हितः ।
त्वे इषः सं दधुर्भूरिवर्पसश्चित्रोतयो वामजाताः ॥३॥
इरज्यन्नग्ने प्रथयस्व जन्तुभिरस्मे रायो अमर्त्य ।
स दर्शतस्य वपुषो वि राजसि पृणक्षि सानसिं क्रतुम् ॥४॥
इष्कर्तारमध्वरस्य प्रचेतसं क्षयन्तं राधसो महः ।
रातिं वामस्य सुभगां महीमिषं दधासि सानसिं रयिम् ॥५॥
ऋतावानं महिषं विश्वदर्शतमग्निं सुम्नाय दधिरे पुरो जनाः ।
श्रुत्कर्णं सप्रथस्तमं त्वा गिरा दैव्यं मानुषा युगा ॥६॥

140.

Ágne táva srávo váyo máhi bhrājante arcáyo vibhāvaso | bríhadbhāno sávasā vájam ukthyàm dádhāsi dasúshe kave || 1 || pāvakávarcāḥ sukrávarcā ánūnavarcā úd iyarshi bhanúnā | putró mātárā vicárann úpāvasi priṇákshi ródasi ubhé ||2|| ū́rjo napāj jātavedaḥ susastíbhir mándasva dhītíbhir hitáḥ | tvé íshaḥ sáṃ dadhur bhū́rivarpasas citrótayo vamájatāḥ ||3|| irajyánn agne prathayasva jantúbhir asmé ráyo amartya | sá darsatásya vápusho ví rājasi priṇákshi sānasíṃ krátum || 4 || ishkartáram adhvarásya prácetasaṃ ksháyantaṃ rádhaso maháḥ | rātíṃ vāmásya subhágām mahím ísham dádhāsi sānasíṃ rayím || 5 || ritávānam mahisháṃ visvádarsatam agníṃ sumnáya dadhire puró jánāḥ | srútkarṇaṃ sapráthastamaṃ tvā girá daívyam mánushā yugá || 6 || 28 ||

140

O fire-divine, yours are life-power and fame; your flames blaze fiercely; you are wise and widely luminous. May you bestow the choicest food and strength upon your worshippers. 1

O fire-divine, you blaze with total splendour along with your purifying radiance, unsoiled lustre, and you visit your parents and serve them as a son. You verily unite both heaven and earth. 2

O source of strength and omniscient, be delighted with our adorations, and be satisfied by our offerings; the devotees have placed before you strengthening food of many sorts, of wonderful efficacy and procured from excellent sources. 3

O fire-divine, contending with adversaries, bestow upon us immortal riches; you shine with a graceful form; you fulfill all our desires, which prompt us to perform the acts of dedication. 4

(Our praises go to you) as you are the inspirer of noble deeds. You are a sage, the Lord of great wealth, and the giver of what is worth having. May you bestow upon us auspicious and abundant food, and enjoyable riches. 5

Men honour the fire-divine for the sake of happiness. He is the emblem of truth; he is mighty and the contemplator of all. The human race, from the earliest men and women alike, has been adoring you. Your ears are open to their praises; you are the most renowned, and are the best invoker of Nature's bounties. 6

(१४१) एकचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य तापसोऽग्निर्ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२९॥

अग्ने अच्छा वदेह नः प्रत्यङ्नः सुमना भव ।
प्र नो यच्छ विशस्पते धनदा असि नस्त्वम् ॥१॥
प्र नो यच्छत्वर्यमा प्र भगः प्र बृहस्पतिः ।
प्र देवाः प्रोत सूनृता रायो देवी ददातु नः ॥२॥
सोमं राजानमवसेऽग्निं गीर्भिर्हवामहे ।
आदित्यान्विष्णुं सूर्यं ब्रह्माणं च बृहस्पतिम् ॥३॥
इन्द्रवायू बृहस्पतिं सुहवेह हवामहे ।
यथा नः सर्व इज्जनः संगत्यां सुमना असत् ॥४॥
अर्यमणं बृहस्पतिमिन्द्रं दानाय चोदय ।
वातं विष्णुं सरस्वतीं सवितारं च वाजिनम् ॥५॥
त्वं नो अग्ने अग्निभिर्ब्रह्म यज्ञं च वर्धय ।
त्वं नो देवतातये रायो दानाय चोदय ॥६॥

141.

Ágne áchā vadehá naḥ pratyáñ naḥ sumánā bhava | prá no yacha viṣas pate dhanadā́ asi nas tvám || 1 || prá no yachatv aryamā́ prá bhágaḥ prá bṛíhaspátiḥ | prá deváḥ prótá sūnṛítā rāyó deví dadātu naḥ || 2 || sómaṃ rā́jānam ávase 'gníṃ gīrbhír havāmahe | ādityā́n víshṇuṃ sū́ryam brahmā́ṇaṃ ca bṛíhaspátim || 3 || indravāyū́ bṛíhaspátiṃ suhávehá havāmahe | yáthā naḥ sárva íj jánaḥ sáṃgatyāṃ sumánā ásat || 4 || aryamáṇam bṛíhaspátim índraṃ dā́nāya codaya | vā́taṃ víshṇuṃ sárasvatīṃ savitā́raṃ ca vājínam || 5 || tváṃ no agne agníbhir bráhma yajñáṃ ca vardhaya | tváṃ no devátātaye rāyó dā́nāya codaya || 6 || 29 ||

141

O fire-divine, speak out to us here; be favourably disposed towards us. O protector of the people, bestow upon us riches, as you are the giver of wealth to us. 1

May the ordainer, gracious protector of vast universe shower blessings on us; may the truth-preserving divine words bestow riches upon us. 2

For our protection, we invoke the divine Lord of bliss and the fire-divine with praises; we invoke the solar rays, the wind, the sun, the cosmic preceptor and protector of this vast universe. 3

We invoke the adorable Lord of resplendence, divine air, and the protector of vast universe on this occasion, that in acquisition of wealth and prosperity, every member of our society, with one mind, should favourably contribute his best. 4

May you urge the preserver and keeper of law and order, the lightning, the clouds, the air, the divine scripture and the sun, so that every one of them favour us with its liberality. 5

Bless our prayer and our noble deeds, O adorable Lord, O fire-divine, with your fires, with your splendour. May you, at our worship urge Nature's bounties to give us wealth. 6

(१४२) द्विचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-८) अष्टर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शार्ङ्गाः [(१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोर्जरिता, (३-४) तृतीयाचतुर्थ्योर्द्रोणः, (५-६) पञ्चमीषष्ठयोः सारिसृक्वः, (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योश्च स्तम्बमित्रः] ऋषयः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-२) प्रथमाद्वितीययोर्ऋचोर्जगती, (३-६) तृतीयादिचतसृणां त्रिष्टुप्, (७-८) सप्तम्यष्टम्योश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दांसि ॥

॥३०॥ अयमग्ने जरिता त्वे अभूदपि सहसः सूनो नह्यन्यदस्त्याप्यम् ।
भद्रं हि शर्म त्रिवरूथमस्ति त आरे हिंसानामप दिद्युमा कृधि ॥१॥
प्रवत्ते अग्ने जनिमा पितूयतः साचीव विश्वा भुवना न्यृञ्जसे ।
प्र सप्तयः प्र सनिषन्त नो धियः पुरश्चरन्ति पशुपा इव त्मना ॥२॥
उत वा उ परि वृणक्षि बप्सद्बहोरग्न उलपस्य स्वधावः ।
उत खिल्या उर्वराणां भवन्ति मा ते हेतिं तविषीं चुक्रुधाम ॥३॥
यदुद्वतो निवतो यासि बप्सत्पृथगेषि प्रगर्धिनीव सेना ।
यदा ते वातो अनुवाति शोचिर्वप्तेव श्मश्रु वपसि प्र भूम ॥४॥
प्रत्यस्य श्रेणयो ददृश्र एकं नियानं बहवो रथासः ।
बाहू यदग्ने अनुमर्मृजानो न्यङ्ङुत्तानामन्वेषि भूमिम् ॥५॥
उत्ते शुष्मा जिहतामुत्ते अर्चिरुत्ते अग्ने शशमानस्य वाजाः ।
उच्छ्वञ्चस्व नि नम वर्धमान आ त्वाद्य विश्वे .वसवः सदन्तु ॥६॥

142.

Ayám agne jaritá tvé abhūd ápi sáhasaḥ sūno nahy ànyád ásty ápyam | bhadrám hí ṣárma trivárūtham ásti ta aré hínsanām ápa didyúm á́ kridhi || 1 || pravát te agne jánima pitūyatáḥ sācíva víṣvā bhúvanā ny riñjase | prá sáptayaḥ prá sanishanta no dhíyaḥ purás caranti paṣupá iva tmánā || 2 || utá vā́ u pári vrinakshi bápsad bahór agna úlapasya svadhāvaḥ | utá khilyā́ urvárāṇām bhavanti mā́ te hetím távishīm cukrudhāma || 3 || yád udváto niváto yā́si bápsat príthag eshi pragardhínīva sénā | yadā́ te vā́to anuvā́ti ṣocír vápteva ṣmáṣru vapasi prá bhū́ma || 4 || práty asya ṣréṇayo dadriṣra ékam niyā́nam bahávo ráthāsaḥ | bāhū́ yád agne anumármrijāno nyàññ uttānā́m anvéshi bhū́mim || 5 || út te ṣúshmā jihatām út te arcír út te agne ṣaṣamānásya vā́jāḥ | úc chvañcasva ní nama várdhamāna á́ tvādyá víṣve vásavaḥ sadantu || 6 ||

142

This person, O fire-divine, is your praiser; O source of strength, the happiness derived from you is auspicious, giving three-fold protection (to the praiser). May you remove far from us destructive forces and your scorching flame. 1

Your manifestation in the form of blazing flames, consuming oblations, is very auspicious. Like a head of a council, you preside over all created beings; our praises flowing smoothly proceed to you. These prayers proceed to you on their own accord, as a herdsman goes to his flock. 2

O enkindled fire-divine, you destroy many a shrub, when you blaze and burn. It is our wish that on such occasions, keep within limits, and do not exhibit your wrath. Please see that our tilled fields are not scorched and go waste. 3

When you move burning above and burning below, you scatter yourself like a devastating host; when the wind fans your flame, you shave the earth as a barber shaves a beard. 4

His lines of flame are visible, like an array of many chariots. Clearing away the forests with your arms of flame, you march, O fire-divine, over the prostrate earth. 5

O fire-divine, may your withering flames go upwards high; and when praised, your light and the swift movements go high. May you rise up; may you stoop down; may you increase in might. May all the Lords of wealth this day serve you. 6

अपामिदं न्ययनं समुद्रस्य निवेशनम् ।
अन्यं कृणुष्वेतः पन्थां तेन याहि वशाँ अनु ॥७॥
आयने ते परायणे दूर्वा रोहन्तु पुष्पिणीः ।
ह्रदाश्च पुण्डरीकाणि समुद्रस्य गृहा इमे ॥८॥

॥ ३० ॥

॥ इत्यष्टमाष्टके सप्तमोऽध्यायः ॥

[सप्तमाध्याये वर्गाः ३०, सूक्तानि २३, ऋचः १७२]

apā́m idám nyáyanam samudrásya nivéṣanam | anyáṃ kriṇushvetáḥ pánthāṃ téna yāhi váṣāñ ánu || 7 || áyane te paráyaṇe dū́rvā rohantu pushpíṇīḥ | hradā́ṣ ca puṇḍárīkāṇi samudrásya grihā́ imé || 8 || 30 ||

Saptamo 'dhyāyaḥ.

अथाष्टमोऽध्यायः ॥

(१४३) त्रिचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य साङ्ख्योऽत्रिर्ऋषिः । अश्विनौ देवते । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥ हरिःॐ ॥

॥१॥ त्यं चिदत्रिमृतजुरमर्थमश्वं न यातवे ।
कक्षीवन्तं यदी पुना रथं न कृणुथा नवम् ॥१॥
त्यं चिदश्वं न वाजिनमरेणवो यमत्नत ।
दृळ्हं ग्रन्थिं न वि ष्यतमत्रिं यविष्ठमा रजः ॥२॥

143.

Tyáṃ cid átrim ritajúram ártham áṣvaṃ ná yátave | kakshívantaṃ yádī púnā ráthaṃ ná kriṇuthó návam || 1 || tyáṃ cid áṣvaṃ ná vājínam areṇávo yám átnata | drilhā́ṃ granthíṃ ná ví shyatam átrim yávishtham á rájaḥ || 2 ||

This is the abode of the waters, the dwelling of the ocean; pursue, O fire-divine, a path different from this; go by that path according to your pleasure. 7

Both at your arrival, O fire-divine, and at your departure, may the flowering green grasses spring up; may lakes be again full and lotuses bloom therein. All of them look to the ocean (samudra = ocean = clouds) for their source of water. 8 .

143

You have made this person free from three-fold attachments, ever diligent in worship, swift to run to win the goal like a horse, and you rejuvenate the strong-willed man as a wheel-wright renews a car. 1

This detached sage, whom the irresistible evil impulses drag and bind like a swift horse, may you unloose his strong knot, and make him the youngest born upon the earth. 2

नरा दंसिष्ठावत्रये शुभ्रा सिषासतं धियः ।
अथा हि वां दिवो नरा पुन स्तोमो न विशसे ॥३॥
चिते तद्वां सुराधसा रातिः सुमतिरश्विना ।
आ यन्नः सदने पृथौ समने पर्षथो नरा ॥४॥
युवं भुज्युं समुद्र आ रजसः पार ईङ्खितम् ।
यातमच्छा पतत्रिभिर्नासत्या सातये कृतम् ॥५॥
आ वां सुम्नैः शंयू इव मंहिष्ठा विश्ववेदसा ।
समस्मे भूषतं नरोत्सं न पिप्युषीरिषः ॥६॥

nárā dáṅsishṭhav átraye ṣúbhra síshāsatam dhíyaḥ | áthā hí vāṃ divó narā púna stómo ná viṣáse || 3 || cité tád vāṃ surādhasā rātíḥ sumatír aṣvinā | á yán naḥ sádane pṛithaú sámane párshatho narā || 4 || yuvám bhujyúṃ samudrá á rájasaḥ pārá īṅkhitám | yātám áchā patatríbhir nāsatyā sātáye kṛitam || 5 || á vāṃ sumnaíḥ ṣamyú iva máṅhishṭhā víṣvavedasā | sám asmé bhūshataṃ narótsaṃ ná pipyúshīr íshaḥ || 6 || 1 ||

(१४४) चतुश्चत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य तार्क्ष्यः सुपर्णो यामायन ऊर्ध्वकृशनो वा ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१, ३-४) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयाचतुर्थ्योश्च गायत्री, (२) द्वितीयाया बृहती, (५) पञ्चम्याः सतोबृहती, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च विष्टारपङ्क्तिश्छन्दांसि ॥

अयं हि ते अमर्त्य इन्दुरत्यो न पत्यते ।
दक्षो विश्वायुर्वेधसे ॥१॥
अयमस्मासु काव्य ऋभुर्वज्रो दास्वते ।
अयं बिभर्त्यूर्ध्वकृशनं मदमृभुर्न कृत्व्यं मदम् ॥२॥

144.

Ayáṃ hí te ámartya índur átyo ná pátyate | dáksho viṣváyur vedháse || 1 || ayám asmásu kávya ṛibhúr vájro dásvate | ayám bibharty ūrdhvákṛiṣanam mádam ṛibhúr ná kṛítvyam mádam || 2 ||

O Leaders, possessed of wondrous and radiant attributes, may you accept praises of the detached sage, so that the praises of your worshipper continue to be chanted again and again. 3

O munificent twin-divines, my offerings and praises are for your acceptance, because, O leaders, you protect us against calamities which come to us in our new dedicated ventures (or in the sacrifices conducted in spacious halls). 4

You come speedily as if with winged steeds to help and save the soul caught in the waves of the ocean at the world's end; O ever-true divines, you restore him to life; you restore him to your worship. 5

O most liberal, Lords of all riches, divine leaders, most adorable, come to us and grant us blessings, as the udder (of a cow) is blessed with abundant food. 6

144

This immortal joy-giving elixir (the divine love) is the giver of strength, the giver of long life to all, and it hastens like a swift horse to you, O creator of the universe. 1

He (the resplendent Lord) is adorable and brilliant among us, is a thunderbolt for the donor of oblations (against his foes); he cherishes the exhilarating worshipper who aspires for higher life, and as the man of wisdom cherishes the exhilarating celebrator of holy rites. 2

घृषुः श्येनाय कृत्वन आसु स्वासु वंसगः ।
अव दीधेदहीशुवः ॥३॥
यं सुपर्णः परावतः श्येनस्य पुत्र आभरत् ।
शतचक्रं योऽह्यो वर्तनिः ॥४॥
यं ते श्येनश्चारुमवृकं पदाभरदरुणं मानमन्धसः ।
एना वयो वि तार्यायुर्जीवस एना जागार बन्धुता ॥५॥
एवा तदिन्द्र इन्दुना देवेषु चिद्धारयाते महि त्यजः ।
क्रत्वा वयो वि तार्यायुः सुक्रतो क्रत्वायमस्मदा सुतः ॥६॥

ghríshuḥ ṣyenā́ya kŕitvana āsú svā́su váṅsagaḥ | áva dīdhed ahīṣúvaḥ || 3 || yám̐ suparṇáḥ parāvátaḥ ṣyenásya putrá ā́bharat | ṣatácakram̐ yò 'hyò vartaníḥ || 4 || yám̐ te ṣyenáṣ cā́rum avṛikám padā́bharad aruṇám mānám ándhasaḥ | enā́ váyo ví tāry ā́yur jīvása enā́ jāgāra bandhútā || 5 || evā́ tád índra índunā devéshu cid dhārayāte máhi tyájaḥ | krátvā váyo ví tāry ā́yuḥ sukrato krátvāyám asmád ā́ sutáḥ || 6 || 2 ||

(१४५) पञ्चचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्‌ृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्येन्द्राणी ऋषिका । सपत्नीबाधनरूपोऽर्थो देवता । (१–५) प्रथमादि-पञ्चर्चामनुष्टुप्, (६) षष्ठ्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥३॥

इमां खनाम्योषधिं वीरुधं बलवत्तमाम् ।
यया सपत्नीं बाधते यया संविन्दते पतिम् ॥१॥
उत्तानपर्णे सुभगे देवजूते सहस्वति ।
सपत्नीं मे परा धम पतिं मे केवलं कुरु ॥२॥

145.

Imám̐ khanāmy óshadhim̐ vīrúdham bálavattamām | yáyā sapátnīm bā́dhate yáyā sam̐vindáte pátim || 1 || úttānaparṇe súbhage dévajūte sáhasvati | sapátnīm me párā dhama pátim me kévalam̐ kuru || 2 ||

May the most effulgent (the resplendent Self), who is a benefactor amongst his own people, bestow light upon active workers and upon our children. 3

The loving elixir, whom the fine-winged, the son of a falcon, brought from afar, is the bestower of hundreds of boons and inspirer of clouds. 4

The falcon brings to you (the resplendent self) this elixir, which is beautiful, unassailable, purple-tinted, and the producer of food. This vital elixir lengthens our life, and by it, the kinship is established. 5

So through the strength of this elixir of divine love, the soul among other sense organs obtains great brilliancy. O doer of good deeds, pleased by our sacrifice, that is, pleased by our actions of selfless dedication, food and viands come to us in plenty and may we live to a prolonged old age. We are pouring out the loving elixir of devotion to you on this occasion. 6

145

I dig up this most effective medicinal herb, wherewith the lady quells the magical influence of a rival wife, and by which she secures to herself her husband. 1

O powerful plant, with charming up-turned leaves, nourished by divine powers, remove my rival and make my husband mine alone. 2

उत्तराहमुत्तर उत्तरेदुत्तराभ्यः ।
अथा सपत्नी या ममाधरा साधराभ्यः ॥३॥
नह्यस्या नाम गृभ्णामि नो अस्मिन्रमते जने ।
परामेव परावतं सपत्नीं गमयामसि ॥४॥
अहमस्मि सहमानाथ त्वमसि सासहिः ।
उभे सहस्वती भूत्वी सपत्नीं मे सहावहै ॥५॥
उप तेऽधां सहमानामभि त्वाधां सहीयसा ।
मामनु प्र ते मनो वत्सं गौरिव धावतु पथा वारिव धावतु ॥६॥

úttarāhám uttara úttaréd úttarābhyaḥ | áthā sapátnī yá mámádharā sádharābhyaḥ || 3 || nahy àsyā nā́ma gribhṇā́mi nó asmín ramate jáne | párām evá parāvátaṃ sapátnīṃ gamayāmasi || 4 || ahám asmi sáhamānā́tha tvám asi sāsahíḥ | ubhé sáhasvatī bhūtví sapátnīṃ me sahāvahai || 5 || úpa te 'dhāṃ sáhamānām abhí tvādhāṃ sáhīyasā | mā́m ánu prá te máno vatsáṃ gaúr iva dhāvatu pathā́ vā́r iva dhāvatu || 6 || 3 ||

(१४६) षट्चत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षडृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यैरम्मदो देवमुनिर्ऋषिः । अरण्यानी देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

अरण्यान्यरण्यान्यसौ या प्रेव नश्यसि ।
कथा ग्रामं न पृच्छसि न त्वा भीरिव विन्दतीँ ॥१॥
वृषारवाय वदते यदुपावति चिच्चिकः ।
आघाटिभिरिव धावयन्नरण्यानिर्महीयते ॥२॥

146.

Áraṇyāny áraṇyāny asaú yā́ préva náṣyasi | kathā́ grā́maṃ ná prichasi ná tvā bhī́r iva vindatīṅ̇ || 1 || vrishāraváya vádate yád upávati ciccikáḥ | āghāṭíbhir iva dhāváyann araṇyānír mahīyate || 2 ||

O brilliant plant, may I too be brilliant, excellent amongst excellent, and may she who is my rival become low amongst the lowest dames. 3

I will not even utter her name; no woman takes pleasure in that person; may we drive out the other rival wife to a distance. 4

I am unyielding to her, and O herb, you are also triumphantly effective; we two being powerful will subdue this rival of mine. 5

(O husband), I am trying this triumphant herb on you against my rival; may I be triumphant in gaining your love. May your love hasten to me as a cow to her calf, or like water on its way down a slope. 6

146

O queen of wild life, O Goddess Queen of forest, this wild forest seems to be deserted and looks as if, its no trace would be left hither onwards. How is it that you make no enquiry in the village? Is there anything you are afraid of? 1

When the grasshopper, the ciccika replies to the crying vrava (insects), Queen of forest is exalted; the forest seems to resonate as if with tinkling bells (or cymbals). 2

उत गावं इवादन्त्युत वेश्मेव दृश्यते ।
उतो अरण्यानिः सायं शकटीरिव सर्जति ॥३॥
गामङ्गैष आ ह्वयति दार्वङ्गैषो अपावधीत् ।
वसन्नरण्यान्यां सायमक्रुक्षदिति मन्यते ॥४॥
न वा अरण्यानिर्हन्त्यन्यश्चेन्नाभिगच्छति ।
स्वादोः फलस्य जग्ध्वाय यथाकामं नि पद्यते ॥५॥
आञ्जनगन्धिं सुरभिं बह्वन्नामकृषीवलाम् ।
प्राहं मृगाणां मातरमरण्यानिमशंसिषम् ॥६॥

utá gắva ivādanty utá véṣ-neva drịṣyate | utó aranyāníḥ sāyáṃ ṣakaṭír iva sarjati || 3 || gắm añgaíshá ắ hvayati dắrv añgaíshó ápāvadhīt | vásann araṇyānyắṃ sāyám ákrukshad íti manyate || 4 || ná vắ araṇ-yānír hanty anyáṣ cén nábhigáchati | svādóḥ phálasya jagdhvắya yathākắmaṃ ní padyate || 5 || ắñjanagandhiṃ su-rabhím bahvannắm ákṛishīvalām | prāhám mṛigáṇām mā-táram araṇyāním aṣaṅsisham || 6 || 4 ||

(१४७) सप्तचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य शैरीषिः सुवेदा ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१–४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां जगती, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥५॥ श्रत्ते दधामि प्रथमाय मन्यवेऽहन्यद्वृत्रं नर्यं विवेरपः ।
उभे यत्त्वा भवतो रोदसी अनु रेजते शुष्मात्पृथिवी चिदद्रिवः ॥१॥

147.

Ṣrát te dadhāmi prathamắya manyávé 'han yád vṛitrám náryaṃ vivér apáḥ | ubhé yát tvā bhávato ródasī ánu ré-jate ṣúshmāt pṛithiví cid adrivaḥ || 1 ||

And yonder when cows are grazing, then it appears a dwelling place, or else at eve the Forest Goddess Queen seems to dismiss the waggons of dry wood. 3

Here is a man who calls his cow; here is another one that cuts down the timber; and another one, tarrying in the forest, seems to have heard some one screaming. 4

But the Queen of wild life injures none unless some one assails the creatures; men feeding upon the sweet fruit, are free to take with them the fruits, as much as they wish. 5

I praise the musk-scented, fragrant, fertile, uncultivated, the Queen of forest, the mother of wild animals, who toil not, but get stores of food. 6

147

O resplendent wielder of punitive justice, I trust in your first wrathful action whereby you destroy the evil, and undertake a work that serves the interests of man. When both heaven and earth surrender to you, verily, the firmament trembles at your force. 1

त्वं मायाभिरनवद्य मायिनं श्रवस्यता मनसा वृत्रमर्दयः ।
त्वामिन्नरो वृणते गविष्टिषु त्वां विश्वासु हव्यास्विष्टिषु ॥२॥
ऐषु चाकन्धि पुरुहूत सूरिषु वृधासो ये मघवन्नानशुर्मघम् ।
अर्चन्ति तोके तनये परिष्टिषु मेधसाता वाजिनमह्रये धने ॥३॥
स इन्नु रायः सुभृतस्य चाकनन्मदं यो अस्य रंह्यं चिकेतति ।
त्वावृधो मघवन्दाश्वध्वरो मक्षू स वाजं भरते धना नृभिः ॥४॥
त्वं शर्धाय महिना गृणान उरु कृधि मघवञ्छग्धि रायः ।
त्वं नो मित्रो वरुणो न मायी पित्वो न दस्म दयसे विभक्ता ॥५॥

—

tvám māyábhir ana-
vadya māyínaṃ ṣravasyatā mánasā vṛitrám ardayaḥ | tvám ín náro vṛiṇate gávishṭishu tvám víṣvāsu hávyāsv íshṭishu
|| 2 || aíshu cākandhi puruhūta sūríshu vṛidháso yé maghavann ānaṣúr maghám | árcanti toké tánaye párishṭishu medhásātā vājínam áhraye dháne || 3 || sá ín nú rāyáḥ súbhṛitasya cākanan mádaṃ yó asya ráṅhyaṃ cíketati | tvávṛi-dho maghavan dāṣvádhvaro makshú sá vájam bharate dhánā nṛíbhiḥ || 4 || tváṃ ṣárdhāya mahinā́ gṛiṇāná urú kṛi-
dhi maghavañ chagdhí rāyáḥ | tvám no mitró váruṇo ná
māyí pitvó ná dasma dayase vibhaktá || 5 || 5 ||

O irreproachable resplendent Lord, with mind intent on glory, you have by your power crushed down the deceptive Nescience (or the dark cloud). The worshipper thinks of you when he seeks to restore his stolen wisdom (the cattle), and in all sacred works invokes you for your blessing. 2

O resplendent and bounteous Lord, much-invoked, be gracious to these noble men; they would thereby surely prosper and attain heights in respect to opulence. They adore you, O powerful Lord, on all sacred occasions for the sake of obtaining sons and grandsons and thereby, their desires are fulfilled and the well-earned wealth comes to them. 3

That man obtains well-procured riches, who knows how to promote the gospel of the resplendent Lord. Exalted by your favour, O bounteous Lord, the worshipper, performing beneficial works, speedily obtains through the learned preceptors, the desired food and wealth. 4

Glorified by great praise, O bounteous Lord, spread forth your might, and bestow riches upon us; O beautiful resplendent Lord, may you, like friendly and virtuous divine powers, be the distributor of riches, and give us food. 5

(१४८) अष्टचत्वारिंशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैन्यः पृथुर्ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥६॥ सुष्वाणास इन्द्र स्तुमसि त्वा ससवांसश्च तुविनृम्ण वाजम् ।
आ नो भर सुवितं यस्य चाकन्त्मना तना सनुयाम त्वोताः ॥१॥
ऋष्वस्त्वमिन्द्र शूर जातो दासीर्विशः सूर्येण सह्याः ।
गुहा हितं गुह्यं गूळ्हमप्सु बिभृमसि प्रस्रवणे न सोमम् ॥२॥
अर्यो वा गिरो अभ्यर्च विद्वानृषीणां, विप्रः सुमतिं चकानः ।
ते स्याम ये रणयन्त सोमैरेनोत तुभ्यं रथोळ्ह भक्षैः ॥३॥
इमा ब्रह्मेन्द्र तुभ्यं शंसि दा नृभ्यो नृणां शूर शवः ।
तेभिर्भव सक्रतुर्येषु चाकन्नुत त्रायस्व गृणत उत स्तीन् ॥४॥
श्रुधी हवमिन्द्र शूर पृथ्या उत स्तवसे वेन्यस्यार्कैः ।
आ यस्ते योनिं घृतवन्तमस्वारूर्मिर्न निम्नैर्द्रवयन्त वक्वाः ॥५॥

148.

Sushvāṇása indra stumási tvā sasavánsas ca tuvinriṃṇa vájam | á no bhara suvitáṃ yásya cākán tmánā tánā sanuyāma tvótāḥ || 1 || ṛishvás tvám indra ṣūra jātó dásīr víṣaḥ sűryeṇa sahyāḥ | gúhā hitáṃ gúhyaṃ gūḷhám apsú bibhṛimási prasrávaṇe ná sómam || 2 || aryó vā gíro abhy àrca vidván ṛíshīṇāṃ vípraḥ sumatíṃ cakānáḥ | té syāma yé raṇáyanta sómair enótá túbhyaṃ ratholha bhakshaíḥ || 3 || imá bráhmendra túbhyaṃ ṣansi dá nṛíbhyo nṛiṇáṃ ṣūra ṣávaḥ | tébhir bhava sákratur yéshu cākánn utá trāyasva gṛiṇatá utá stín || 4 || ṣrudhí hávam indra ṣūra príthyā utá stavase venyásyārkaíḥ | á yás te yóniṃ ghṛitávantam ásvār ūrmír ná nimnaír dravayanta vákvāḥ || 5 || 6 ||

148

O bounteous Lord of resplendence, we pay you our homage; we present you the sacrificial food along with praises. Please bring us prosperity as every-one longs for. Under your protection and with your blessings, may we acquire wealth and wisdom. 1

O brave almighty Lord, as soon as born, you overcome the dark forces through the radiant sun and bring divine joy-bestowing powers, which remain close-hidden behind deep dark caves of ignorance. We now present to you our love as if coming in copious streams from the fountain of our heart. 2

O all-wise sage, lover of the praises sung by seers, may you accept our prayers; may we be also one of those who gratify you with loving devotion; O Lord, conductor of the cosmic chariot, these sweet melodies with sincere feelings are presented to you only. 3

O resplendent Lord, these prayers have been addressed to you: grant, O hero, strength to the leaders of men; be of one mind with those whom you trust and who are your faithful devotees, and protect those who praise you, and bless your worshippers who are constant in their loyalty to you. 4

O resplendent Lord, O brave, hear the invocation of widely renowned devotee; you are glorified by the praises of the men of spiritual experience, who grace the place of your enkindled worship and whose stream of melodious songs rush to you like a torrent through precipitous banks. 5

(१४९) एकोनपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य हैरण्यस्तूपोऽर्चन्नृषिः । सविता देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥७॥
सविता यन्त्रैः पृथिवीमरम्णादस्कम्भने सविता द्यामदृंहत् ।
अश्वमिवाधुक्षद्धुनिमन्तरिक्षमतूर्ते बद्धं सविता समुद्रम् ॥१॥
यत्रा समुद्रः स्कभितो व्यौनदपां नपात्सविता तस्य वेद ।
अतो भूरत आ उत्थितं रजोऽतो द्यावापृथिवी अप्रथेताम् ॥२॥
पश्चेदमन्यदभवद्यजत्रममर्त्यस्य भुवनस्य भूना ।
सुपर्णो अङ्ग सवितुर्गरुत्मान्पूर्वो जातः स उ अस्यानु धर्म ॥३॥
गाव इव ग्रामं यूयुधिरिवाश्वान्वाश्रेव वत्सं सुमना दुहाना ।
पतिरिव जायामभि नो न्येतु धर्ता दिवः सविता विश्ववारः ॥४॥
हिरण्यस्तूपः सवितर्यथा त्वाङ्गिरसो जुह्वे वाजे अस्मिन् ।
एवा त्वार्चन्नवसे वन्दमानः सोमस्येवांशुं प्रति जागराहम् ॥५॥

149.

Savitá yantraíḥ pṛithivím aramṇād askambhané savitá dyám adṛiṅhat | áṣvam ivādhukshad dhúnim antáriksham atúrte baddhám savitā́ samudrám || 1 || yátrā samudrá skabhitó vy aúnad ápāṃ napāt savitā́ tásya veda | áto bhū́r áta ā́ útthitaṃ rájó 'to dyā́vāpṛithiví aprathetām || 2 || paṣcédám anyád abhavad yájatram ámartyasya bhúvanasya bhūnā́ | suparṇó aṅgá savitúr garútmān pū́rvo jātáḥ sá u asyā́nu dhárma || 3 || gā́va iva grā́maṃ yū́yudhir ivā́ṣvān vāṣréva vatsáṃ sumánā dúhānā | pátir iva jāyā́m abhí no ny ètu dhartā́ diváḥ savitā́ viṣvávāraḥ || 4 || híraṇyastūpaḥ savitar yáthā tvāṅgirasó juhvé vā́je asmín | evā́ tvā́rcann ávase vándamānaḥ sómasyevāṅṣúṃ práti jāgarāhám || 5 || 7 ||

149

The divine creator has fixed the earth with a mechanism of dynamic equilibrium; He has made the heaven firm in a place where there was no support; the creator with His vigour draws water from the cloud of the firmament, which is bound to the eternally living (ether) like a trembling horse. 1

The Sun, the grandson of waters or the imepller lord, the withholder of plasma, alone knows the realm where the cloud, thus sustained in the sky, sheds moisture; thence (from the Sun) proceeds the earth; thence arise celestial bodies and the firmament and thus the heaven and earth are spread out. 2

Afterwards the other realm is born, holy and high, through the immortal strength of creator consisting of a host of divine powers. All this comes out as the glory of this bright-winged eagle (the sun) ever-rigid in following the eternal law. 3

As cattle hasten to the village, or as the warrior hurriedly proceeds to his horses, or as affectionate milk-giving cows to their calves, or again as a husband to his wife, so may the blessings of the supreme creator, the upholder of the cosmos, whom every one reveres, hasten to us. 4

O creator and impeller Lord, just as the divine men of intelligence, effulgent on their golden glory, summon you for spiritual nourishment, similarly I am also invoking you for protection. I solicit your favour, as worshippers watch before the filament of the holy creeper (i.e. the Soma stalk). 5

(१५०) पञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वासिष्ठो मृळीक ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । (१-३) प्रथमादितृचस्य बृहती, (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋच उपरिष्टाज्ज्योतिर्जगती वा, (५) पञ्चम्याश्चोपरिष्टाज्ज्योतिश्छन्दांसि ॥

॥८॥ समिद्धश्चित्समिध्यसे देवेभ्यो हव्यवाहन ।
आदित्यै रुद्रैर्वसुभिर्न आ गहि मृळीकाय न आ गहि ॥१॥
इमं यज्ञमिदं वचो जुजुषाण उपागहि ।
मर्तासस्त्वा समिधान हवामहे मृळीकाय हवामहे ॥२॥
त्वामु जातवेदसं विश्ववारं गृणे धिया ।
अग्ने देवाँ आ वह नः प्रियव्रतान्मृळीकाय प्रियव्रतान् ॥३॥
अग्निर्देवो देवानामभवत्पुरोहितोऽग्निं मनुष्या३ ऋषयः समीधिरे ।
अग्निं महो धनसातावहं हुवे मृळीकं धनसातये ॥४॥
अग्निरत्रिं भरद्वाजं गविष्ठिरं प्रावन्नः कण्वं त्रसदस्युमाहवे ।
अग्निं वसिष्ठो हवते पुरोहितो मृळीकाय पुरोहितः ॥५॥

150.

Sámiddhaṣ cit sám idhyase devébhyo havyavāhana | ādityaí rudraír vásubhir na ấ gahi mṛiḷīkấya na ấ gahi || 1 || imám yajñám idám vác̣o jujushāṇá upā́gahi | mártāsas tva samidhāna havāmahe mṛiḷīkā́ya havāmahe || 2 || tvā́m u jātávedasam viṣvávāram gṛiṇe dhiyấ | ágne devā́ñ ấ vaha naḥ priyávratān mṛiḷīkấya priyávratān || 3 || agnír devó devā́nām abhavat puróhito 'gním manushyā̀ ṛíshayaḥ sám īdhire | agním mahó dhánasātāv ahám huve mṛiḷīkám dhánasātaye || 4 || agnír átrim bharádvājam gávishṭhiram prā́van naḥ káṇvam trasádasyum āhavé | agním vásishṭho havate puróhito mṛiḷīkā́ya puróhitaḥ || 5 || 8 ||

150

O (fire-divine) bearer of oblations, when kindled, you blaze out for the divine powers; come to us with heavenly bounties, with the bounties of the midspace, and with the terrestrial bounties. Come for our happiness. 1

Come and accept with delight our worship and the hymns; we mortals invoke you. O blazing fire-divine, we invoke you for our happiness. 2

I glorify you with my praise, O cognizant of all, loved by all. O fire-divine, may you bring Nature's all bounties to us who are delighted by our offerings. May you bring hitherward those gratified by our offerings for our happiness. 3

The divine fire is the foremost of the divine powers. The seers, the descendants of prime men, kindle this holy fire. I invoke the same fire-divine for the acquisition of abundant wealth, and for happiness. 4

May the fire-divine protect us in the conflicts of life, protect the persons who are free from threefold attachments, are full of wisdom and are learned warriors. The foremost preceptor invokes the fire-divine, the foremost, for our happiness. 5

(१५१) एकपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य कामायनी श्रद्धा ऋषिका । श्रद्धा देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥९॥

श्रद्धयाग्निः समिध्यते श्रद्धया हूयते हविः ।
श्रद्धां भगस्य मूर्धनि वचसा वेदयामसि ॥१॥
प्रियं श्रद्धे ददतः प्रियं श्रद्धे दिदासतः ।
प्रियं भोजेषु यज्वस्विदं म उदितं कृधि ॥२॥
यथा देवा असुरेषु श्रद्धामुग्रेषु चक्रिरे ।
एवं भोजेषु यज्वस्वस्माकमुदितं कृधि ॥३॥
श्रद्धां देवा यजमाना वायुगोपा उपासते ।
श्रद्धां हृदय्य१याकूत्या श्रद्धया विन्दते वसु ॥४॥
श्रद्धां प्रातर्हवामहे श्रद्धां मध्यंदिनं परि ।
श्रद्धां सूर्यस्य निम्रुचि श्रद्धे श्रद्धापयेह नः ॥५॥

151.

Sraddhayāgníḥ sám idhyate sraddháya huyate haviḥ sraddhám bhágasya mūrdháni vácasá vedayamasi || 1 || priyáṃ sraddhe dádataḥ priyáṃ sraddhe dídāsataḥ | priyám bhojéshu yájvasv idám ma uditáṃ kridhi || 2 || yáthā devá ásureshu sraddhám ugréshu cakriré | evám bhojéshu yájvasv asmákam uditáṃ kridhi || 3 || sraddháṃ devá yájamana vāyúgopā úpāsate | sraddháṃ hridayyàyákūtyā sraddháya vindate vásu || 4 || sraddhám prātár havamahe sraddhám madhyáṃdinam pári | sraddháṃ súryasya nimrúci sráddhe srád dhāpayehá naḥ || 5 || ९ ||

Ekādaso 'nuvākaḥ.

151

(Srad-dha = Faith = adoption of truth for life.
Srad = bat = satra = addha = ittha = pṛta = satya = truth-Nigh. III. 10)

Sacred fire-divine is kindled by SRADDHA, faith; by faith is the devotion or oblation offered; on the height of fortune, we glorify faith with praises. 1

O faith, may you bless the man who gives; O faith, bless the man who desires to give; bless the aspirants of enjoyment, bless the sacrificers; may you bless my words. 2

Divine powers do have faith in their grim fight against evil forces. And so grant the boon which has been asked for to our sacrificers who solicit happiness. 3

Learned enlightened persons, and worshippers, protected by vital air, solicit faith. They cherish faith with heartfelt devotion. Through faith, a man verily acquires wealth, (wordly and spiritual). 4

We invoke faith early at dawn, and again at midday, and also at the setting of the sun; O SRADDHA, inspire us in this world with (the truth—abiding) faith. 5

[अथ द्वादशोऽनुवाकः ॥]

(१५२) द्विपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः शास ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१०॥ शास इत्था महाँ अस्यमित्रखादो अद्भुतः ।
न यस्य हन्यते सखा न जीयते कदा चन ॥१॥
स्वस्तिदा विशस्पतिर्वृत्रहा विमृधो वशी ।
वृषेन्द्रः पुर एतु नः सोमपा अभयंकरः ॥२॥
वि रक्षो वि मृधो जहि वि वृत्रस्य हनू रुज ।
वि मन्युमिन्द्र वृत्रहन्नमित्रस्याभिदासतः ॥३॥
वि न इन्द्र मृधो जहि नीचा यच्छ पृतन्यतः ।
यो अस्माँ अभिदासत्यधरं गमया तमः ॥४॥
अपेन्द्र द्विषतो मनोऽप जिज्यासतो वधम् ।
वि मन्योः शर्म यच्छ वरीयो यवया वधम् ॥५॥

152.

Şāsá itthá maháñ asy amitrakhādó 'ádbhutaḥ | ná yásya hanyáte sákhā ná jíyate kádā caná || 1 || svastidá viṣás pátir vṛitrahá vimṛidhó vaṣí | vríshéndraḥ purá etu naḥ somapá abhayaṃkaráḥ || 2 || ví ráksho ví mrídho jahi ví vṛitrásya hánū ruja | ví manyúm indra vṛitrahann amítrasyābhidásataḥ || 3 || ví na indra mrídho jahi nīcā́ yacha pṛitanyatáḥ | yó asmā́ñ abhidásaty ádharaṃ gamayā támaḥ || 4 || ápendra dvisható mánó 'pa jíjyāsato vadhám | ví manyóḥ ṣárma yacha várīyo yavayā vadhám || 5 || 10 ||

(१५३) त्रिपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य देवजामय इन्द्रमातर ऋषिकाः । इन्द्रो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥११॥ ईङ्खयन्तीरपस्युव इन्द्रं जातमुपासते । भेजानासः सुवीर्यम् ॥१॥
त्वमिन्द्र बलादधि सहसो जात ओजसः । त्वं वृषन्वृषेदसि ॥२॥

153.

Īṅkháyantīr apasyúva índraṃ jātám úpāsate | bhejānásaḥ suvíryam || 1 || tvám indra bálād ádhi sáhaso jātá ójasaḥ | tváṃ vṛishan vríshéd asi || 2 ||

152

O seer, master of his senses, thus praise the Lord, who is mighty, the destroyer of foes, the wonderful, whose friend is never killed nor ever meets a defeat. 1

May the resplendent Lord come to us and be with us; he is the granter of prosperity, the Lord of men, the slayer of dark forces, the warrior, the subduer, the showerer, the cherisher of divine love and the assurer of safety. 2

O resplendent Lord, destroy the evil-spirited persons of wickedness, and also the enemies; tear asunder jaws of Nescience, the darkness. O resplendent ones, the subduer of Nescience, baffle the wrath of our adversaries who always threaten us. 3

O resplendent Lord, destroy our enemies; humble those who are in array against us; send him to the deep dungeoun who seeks to harm us. 4

May you frustrate the purpose of him who hates us, deprive him of his weapon who seeks to overpower us, grant us full security against his fury and wrath, and ward off his weapon. 5

153

With full enthusiasm, people of state, approach the king and honour him as soon as he is coronated. They get his blessings in respect of progeny and prosperity. 1

त्वमिन्द्रासि वृत्रहा व्यं१न्तरिक्षमतिरः । उद्द्यामस्तभ्ना ओजसा ॥३॥
त्वमिन्द्र सजोषसमर्कं बिभर्षि बाह्वोः । वज्रं शिशान ओजसा ॥४॥
त्वमिन्द्राभिभूरसि विश्वा जातान्योजसा । स विश्वा भुव आभवः ॥५॥

tvám indrāsi vṛitrahā́ vy antárikshaṃ atiraḥ | úd dyā́m astabhnā ójasā || 3 || tvám indra sajóshasam arkám bibharshi bāhvóḥ | vájram ṣíṣāna ójasā || 4 || tvám indrābhibhū́r asi víṣvā jātā́ny ójasā | sá víṣvā bhúva ā́bhavaḥ || 5 || 11 ||

(१५४) चतुष्पञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैवस्वती यमी ऋषिका । भाववृत्तं देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१२॥

सोम एकेभ्यः पवते घृतमेक उपासते ।
येभ्यो मधु प्रधावति ताँश्चिदेवापि गच्छतात् ॥१॥
तपसा ये अनाधृष्यास्तपसा ये स्वर्ययुः ।
तपो ये चक्रिरे महस्ताँश्चिदेवापि गच्छतात् ॥२॥
ये युध्यन्ते प्रधनेषु शूरासो ये तनूत्यजः ।
ये वा सहस्रदक्षिणास्ताँश्चिदेवापि गच्छतात् ॥३॥
ये चित्पूर्वं ऋतसाप ऋतावान ऋतावृधः ।
पितॄन्तपस्वतो यम ताँश्चिदेवापि गच्छतात् ॥४॥
सहस्रणीथाः कवयो ये गोपायन्ति सूर्यम् ।
ऋषीन्तपस्वतो यम तपोजाँ अपि गच्छतात् ॥५॥

154.

Sóma ékebhyaḥ pavate ghṛitám éka úpāsate | yébhyo mádhu pradhā́vati tā́ṅṣ cid evā́pi gachatāt || 1 || tápasā yé anādhṛishyā́s tápasā yé svàr yayúḥ | tápo yé cakriré máhas tā́ṅṣ cid evā́pi gachatāt || 2 || yé yúdhyante pradhā́neshu ṣū́rāso yé tanūtyájaḥ | yé vā sahásradakshiṇās tā́ṅṣ cid evā́pi gachatāt || 3 || yé cit pū́rva ṛitasā́pa ṛitā́vāna ṛitāvṛ́dhaḥ | pitṝ́n tápasvato yama tā́ṅṣ cid evā́pi gachatāt || 4 || sahásraṇīthāḥ kaváyo yé gopāyánti sū́ryam | ṛ́shīn tápasvato yama tapojā́ṅ ápi gachatāt || 5 || 12 ||

O resplendent king, you have been chosen to the mighty position on account of your strength and energy. You, O showerer, are indeed a blessing. 2

O resplendent king, you are the slayer of enemies; you (like the sun) spread out light in your firmament; you uphold the sovereignty by your power. 3

O resplendent king, you bear your well-beloved and adorable bolt of justice and authority in your arms, sharpening it with your supreme might. 4

O resplendent king, you overpower all beings by your might; your glory reaches all worlds. 5

154

O the departed soul, the divine elixir is prepared for some like you, others accept clarified butter; there are still others who go to those to whom the honey flows. 1

There are some who through penance have become unassailable; there are others who through austerity have gone to heaven, and there are others who have performed rigorous austerity. (O departed soul), all these paths of asceticism are open to you. 2

There are some who fight in battle, there are heroes who cast their lives, and there are others who have presented thousands of offerings. (O departed soul), these paths (of heroism and bravery) are also open to you. 3

(O departed soul), in your next life, may you have a nice parentage, consisting of observers of truth. 4

(O departed soul), in your new life, may you be re-born in the family of ṛṣis, notable for their austerity, who keep the light of knowledge burning, and are the leaders of thousands, who are intelligent. 5

(१५५) पञ्चपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भारद्वाजः शिरिम्बिठ ऋषिः । (१, ४) प्रथमाचतुर्थ्योर्ऋचोरलक्ष्मीघ्नोऽर्थः, (२–३) द्वितीयातृतीययोर्ब्रह्मणस्पतिः, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च विश्वे देवा देवताः । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१३॥ अरायि काणे विकटे गिरिं गच्छ सदान्वे ।
शिरिम्बिठस्य सत्वभिस्तेभिष्ट्वा चातयामसि ॥१॥
चत्तो इतश्चत्तामुतः सर्वा भ्रूणान्यारुषी ।
अराय्यं ब्रह्मणस्पते तीक्ष्णशृङ्गोदृषन्निहि ॥२॥
अदो यद्दारु प्लवते सिन्धोः पारे अपूरुषम् ।
तदा रभस्व दुर्हणो तेन गच्छ परस्तरम् ॥३॥
यद्ध प्राचीरजगन्तोरो मण्डूरधाणिकीः ।
हता इन्द्रस्य शत्रवः सर्वे बुद्बुदयाशवः ॥४॥
परीमे गामनेषत पर्यग्निमहृषत ।
देवेष्वक्रत श्रवः क इमाँ आ दधर्षति ॥५॥

155.

Árāyi káṇe víkaṭe girím gacha sadānve | ṣirímbiṭhasya sátvabhis tébhish ṭvā cātayāmasi || 1 || cattó itáṣ cattámútaḥ sárvā bhrūṇány ārúshī | arāyyàm brahmaṇas pate tíkshṇa-ṣṛiṅgodṛishánn ihi || 2 || adó yád dáru plávate síndhoḥ pāré apūrushám | tád á rabhasva durhaṇo téna gacha parastarám || 3 || yád dha prácīr ájagantóro maṇḍūradhāṇikīḥ | hatá índrasya ṣátravaḥ sárve budbudáyāṣavaḥ || 4 || párīmé gám aneshata páry agnín aḥṛishata | devéshv akrata ṣrávaḥ ká imáñ á dadharshati || 5 || 13 ||

(१५६) षट्पञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याग्नेयः केतुर्ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१४॥ अग्निं हिन्वन्तु नो धियः सप्तिमाशुमिवाजिषु । तेन जेष्म धनंधनम् ॥१॥
यया गा आकरामहे सेनयाग्ने तवोत्या । तां नो हिन्व मघत्तये ॥२॥

156.

Agním hinvantu no dhíyaḥ sáptim āṣúm ivājíshu | téna jeshma dhánam-dhanam || 1 || yáyā gá ākárāmahe sénayāgne távotyá | tám no hinva maghátta ye || 2 ||

155

We scare you away, the miserable, ill-favoured, deformed, ever-railing misfortune (famine) to distant deserted mountains; we scare you away with the help of the rain-loaded clouds. 1

May she, (Lady Distress) the destroyer of each embryo, be scared away from this world, be scared away to the next world. O wise preceptor, armed with piercing rays of light, come and drive away this distress. 2

Far off from here, at the river's edge, floats a wooden (boat) without a man. Seize it. It is not easy to avoid or kill the distress; with its help go to the distant shore. 3

When utterers of discordant sounds as that of the swiftly moving clouds depart, all the adversaries of the resplendent sun-divine (i.e. the clouds) disappear like bubbles (from the surface of water). 4

These Nature's bounties bring back the lost wealth; they enkindle the fire of hope; they provide food for the enlightened. Who has the courage to challenge them? 5

156

May our religious performances, rituals and others, bring sacred fire hither like a swift charger in battle; may we through him acquire all wealth. 1

Send us, O adorable Lord, for the acquisition of wealth, that army with which we may acquire cattle and other riches through your protection. 2

आग्ने स्थूरं रयिं भर पृथुं गोमन्तमश्विनम् । अङ्धि खं वर्तया पणिम् ॥३॥
अग्ने नक्षत्रमजरमा सूर्यं रोहयो दिवि । दधज्ज्योतिर्जनेभ्यः ॥४॥
अग्ने केतुर्विशामसि प्रेष्ठः श्रेष्ठ उपस्थसत् । बोधा स्तोत्रे वयो दधत् ॥५॥

ā́gne sthūrám rayím bhara prithúm gómantam asvínam | aūdhí khám vartáyā paṇím || 3 || ágne nákshatram ajáram á́ sū́ryam rohayo diví | dádhaj jyótir jánebhyaḥ || 4 || ágne ketúr viṣám asi préshṭhaḥ ṣréshṭha upasthasát | bódhā stotré váyo dá dhat || 5 || 14 ||

(१५७) सप्तपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याप्त्यो भुवनः, भौवनः साधनो वा ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । द्विपदा त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१५॥ इमा नु कं भुवना सीषधामेन्द्रश्च विश्वे च देवाः । १
यज्ञं च नस्तन्वं च प्रजां चादित्यैरिन्द्रः सह चीक्लृपाति ॥१॥ २
आदित्यैरिन्द्रः सगणो मरुद्भिरस्माकं भूत्ववितां तनूनाम् । ३
हत्वाय देवा असुरान्यदायन्देवा देवत्वमभिरक्षमाणाः ॥२॥ ४
प्रत्यञ्चमर्कमनयञ्छचीभिरादित्स्वधामिषिरां पर्यपश्यन् ॥३॥ ५

157.

Imā́ nú kam bhúvanā sīshadhāméndraṣ ca víṣve ca deváḥ || 1 || yajñám ca nas tanvàm ca prajā́m cādityaír índraḥ sahá cīkḷipāti || 2 || ādityaír índraḥ ságaṇo marúdbhir asmā́kam bhūtv avitā́ tanū́nām || 3 || hatvā́ya devā́ ásurān yád ā́yan devā́ devatvám abhirákshamāṇāḥ || 4 || pratyáñcam arkám anayañ chácībhir ā́d ít svadhā́m ishirā́m páry apaṣyan || 5 || 15 ||

Bring us, O adorable Lord, substantial and extensive wealth, consisting of cattle and horses; sprinkle the sky with rain; please expel the black marketeer (miser and wicked), or change his nature. 3

O adorable Lord, you have elevated the eternal sun in the firmament, giving light to the people. 4

O adorable Lord, you are the best beloved and most excellent ensign of the people; may you appreciate our love and grant good life to the praiser. 5

157

May we, along with the resplendent power behind the Sun and the universal bounties of Nature, bring into subjugation all these worlds. 1

May the power behind the sun and the solar rays, perfect our worship and our bodies and our offspring. 2

May the power behind the sun and the solar rays, associated with the cloud-bearing winds, be the protector of our bodies. 3

When the forces of Nature could successfully subdue and slay the evil forces, then really it becomes evident that the deities really have divinity well preserved. 4

When the worshippers with their sincerity offer praise in honour of Nature's bounties, then men behold around them all blessings descending swiftly like rain. 5

(१५८) अष्टपञ्चाशदुत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सौर्यश्चक्षुर्ऋषिः । सूर्यो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥१६॥ सूर्यो नो दिवस्पातु वातो अन्तरिक्षात् । अग्निर्नः पार्थिवेभ्यः ॥१॥
जोषा सवितर्यस्य ते हरः शतं सवाँ अर्हति । पाहि नो दिद्युतः पतन्त्याः ॥२॥
चक्षुर्नो देवः सविता चक्षुर्न उत पर्वतः । चक्षुर्धाता दधातु नः ॥३॥
चक्षुर्नो धेहि चक्षुषे चक्षुर्विख्यै तनूभ्यः । सं चेदं वि च पश्येम ॥४॥
सुसंदृशं त्वा वयं प्रति पश्येम सूर्य । वि पश्येम नृचक्षसः ॥५॥

158.

Sū́ryo no divás pātu vā́to antárikshāt | agnír naḥ pā́rthivebhyaḥ || 1 || jóshā savitar yásya te háraḥ ṣatáṃ savā́ñ árhati | pāhí no didyútaḥ pátantyāḥ || 2 || cákshur no deváḥ savitā́ cákshur na utá párvataḥ | cákshur dhātā́ dadhātu naḥ || 3 || cákshur no dhehi cákshushe cákshur vikhyaí tanū́bhyaḥ | sáṃ cedáṃ ví ca paṣyema || 4 || susaṃdṛ́ṣaṃ tvā vayáṃ práti paṣyema sūrya | ví paṣyema nṛicákshasaḥ || 5 || 16 ||

(१५९) एकोनषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-६) षड्वृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य पौलोमी शची ऋषिका । शची देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१७॥ उदसौ सूर्यो अगादुदयं मामको भगः ।
अहं तद्विद्वला पतिमभ्यसाक्षि विषासहिः ॥१॥
अहं केतुरहं मूर्धाहमुग्रा विवाचनी ।
ममेदनु क्रतुं पतिः सेहानाया उपाचरेत् ॥२॥

159.

Úd asaú sū́ryo agād úd ayáṃ māmakó bhágaḥ | aháṃ tád vidvalā́ pátim abhy àsākshi vishāsahíḥ || 1 || aháṃ ketúr aháṃ mūrdhā́hám ugrā́ vivā́canī | máméd ánu krátum pátiḥ sehānā́yā upā́caret || 2 ||

158

May the sun protect us from miseries dwelling in heaven, and the vital wind from those adversities dwelling in the firmament, and fire from those foes dwelling on this earth. 1

May the sun, whose radiance merits a hundred acknowledgements, be propitiated by our praises; may it protect us from the falling bolts (of our enemies). 2

May the divine sun grant us sight; may the clouds grant us sight; may earth grant us sight. 3

Give sight, O sun, to our eyes; bestow sight to our children born of our bodies. May we look upon (with this sight) the world, and look into (the inner mysteries of it). 4

May we look upon you, O sun, the bright beholder of all; may we look into the things which are visible to human eyes. 5

159

The sun has gone up; my prosperity and happiness also have mounted high. Quite sure, I have regained the love of my husband, triumphing over my rivals. 1

I am the emblem, I am the head, I am supreme and now I dictate; my husband must conform to my will; rivals now I have

मम॑ पु॒त्राः श॑त्रु॒हणो॒ऽथो मे॑ दुहि॒ता वि॒राट् ।
उ॒ताहम॑स्मि संज॒या पत्यौ॑ मे॒ श्लोक॑ उत्त॒मः ॥३॥
येनेन्द्रो॑ ह॒विषा॑ कृ॒त्व्यभ॑वद्द्यु॒म्न्यु॑त्त॒मः ।
इ॒दं तद॑क्रि देवा असप॒त्ना किला॑भुवम् ॥४॥
अ॒स॒प॒त्ना स॑पत्न॒घ्नी जय॑न्त्यभि॒भूव॑री ।
आवृ॑क्षम॒न्यासां॒ वर्चो॒ राधो॒ अस्थे॑यसामिव ॥५॥
सम॑जैषमि॒मा अ॒हं स॒पत्नी॑रभि॒भूव॑री । यथा॒हम॒स्य वी॒रस्य॑ वि॒राजा॑नि॒ जन॑स्य च ॥६॥

máma putrā́ḥ ṣatruháṇó 'tho me duhitá virā́ṭ | utāhám asmi saṃjayā́ pátyau me ṣlóka uttamáḥ || 3 || yénéndro havíshā kṛitvy ábhavad dyumny ùttamáḥ | idáṃ tád akri devā asapatná kílābhuvam || 4 || asapatná sapatnaghní jáyanty abhibhúvarī | ávṛiksham anyā́sāṃ várco rā́dho ástheyasām iva || 5 || sám ajaisham imá ahám sapátnīr abhibhúvarī | yáthāhám asyá vīrásya virā́jāni jánasya ca || 6 || 17 ||

(१६०) षड्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैश्वामित्रः पूरण ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥१८॥ ती॒व्रस्या॒भिव॑यसो अ॒स्य पा॑हि सर्वर॒था वि हरी॑ इ॒ह मु॑ञ्च ।
इन्द्र॒ मा त्वा॒ यज॑मानासो अ॒न्ये नि री॑रमन्तु॒भ्य॑मि॒मे सु॒तासः॑ ॥१॥
तुभ्यं॑ सु॒तास्तुभ्य॑मु॒ सोत्वा॑स॒स्त्वां गिरः॒ श्वात्र्या॒ आ ह्व॑यन्ति ।
इन्द्रे॒दम॒द्य सव॑नं जुषा॒णो विश्व॑स्य वि॒द्वाँ इ॒ह पा॑हि॒ सोम॑म् ॥२॥

160.

Tīvrásyābhívayaso asyá pāhi sarvarathá ví hárī ihá muñca | índra má tvā yájamānāso anyé ní rīraman túbhyam imé sutásaḥ || 1 || túbhyaṃ sutā́s túbhyam u sótvāsas tvā́ṃ gíraḥ ṣvā́tryā ā́ hvayanti | índredáṃ adyá sávanaṃ jushāṇó víṣvasya vidvā́n ihá pāhi sómam || 2 ||

My sons are the destroyers of my enemies; my daughter is a queen; and I am victorious. My and my husband's mutual love has a wide reputation. 3

O enlightened, I have offered that oblation which has been offered by the one, the most illustrious and thus I have become renowned and most powerful; I have freed myself from my rival damsels. 4

I am free from rivals; I am now the destructress of rivals, victorious and triumphant; I have seized other's glory as if it were the wealth of weaker dames, who do not endure long. 5

I have gained victory over these my rivals, so that I have my imperial sway over this hero and his people. 6

160

Taste this divine elixir, combined with sacrificial food; unyoke here your energies yoked to your swift cosmic chariot; let no other worshipper detain you; these libations are for your alone. 1

For you are the devotional elixir juices that have been poured out; for you are those which are to be poured out. Our resonant songs invite you, O Lord of resplendence, cognizant of all things, may you, delighted with our present worship, accept the loving devotions and enjoy. 2

य उशता मनसा सोमंमस्मै सर्वहृदा देवकामः सुनोति ।
न गा इन्द्रस्तस्य परा ददाति प्रशस्तमिच्चारुमस्मै कृणोति ॥३॥
अनुस्पष्टो भवत्येषो अस्य यो अस्मै रेवान्न सुनोति सोमम् ।
निररत्नौ मघवा तं दधाति ब्रह्मद्विषो हन्त्यनानुदिष्टः ॥४॥
अश्वायन्तो गव्यन्तो वाजयन्तो हवामहे त्वोपगन्तवा उ ।
आभूषन्तस्ते सुमतौ नवायां वयमिन्द्र त्वा शुनं हुवेम ॥५॥

yá uṣatá mánasā sómam asmai sarvahṛidá devákāmaḥ sunóti | ná gá índras tásya párā dadāti praṣastám íc cárum asmai kriṇoti || 3 || ánuspashṭo bhavaty eshó asya yó asmai revá́n ná sunóti sómam | nír aratnaú maghávā tám dadhāti brahmadvísho hanty ánānudishṭaḥ || 4 || aṣvāyánto gavyánto vājáyanto hávāmahe tvópagantavá́ u | ābhúshantas te sumataú návāyām vayám indra tvā ṣunám huvema || 5 || 18 ||

(१६१) एकषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यो यक्ष्मनाशन ऋषिः । इन्द्राग्नी राजयक्ष्मघ्नरूपोऽर्थो वा देवता ।
(१–४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचां त्रिष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्चानुष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥१९॥ मुञ्चामि त्वा हविषा जीवनाय कमज्ञातयक्ष्मादुत राजयक्ष्मात् ।
ग्राहिर्जग्राह यदि वैतदेनं तस्या इन्द्राग्नी प्र मुमुक्तमेनम् ॥१॥
यदि क्षितायुर्यदि वा परेतो यदि मृत्योरन्तिकं नीत एव ।
तमा हरामि निर्ऋतेरुपस्थादस्पार्षमेनं शतशारदाय ॥२॥

161.

Muñcámi tvā havíshā jívanāya kám ajñātayakshmád utá rājayakshmát | gráhir jagráha yádi vaitád enaṃ tásyā indrāgnī prá mumuktam enam || 1 || yádi kshitáyur yádi vā páreto yádi mrityór antikáṃ nīta evá | tám á́ harāmi nírriter upásthād áspārsham enaṃ ṣatáṣāradāya || 2 ||

Whosoever submits to the Lord with full reliance and sincerity and offers the devotion to Him with all his heart and spirit, the Lord does not deprive him of his wealth, but gives him beautiful and excellent riches. 3

He looks with loving favours on the man who like a rich man offers sweet devotion to Him. The bounteous Lord supports him with hundred arms, and He destroys them who are malicious against godly people. 4

Wishing for vigour, for wealth, for food (or horses, cows and viands), we invoke you, O Lord of resplendence, that you may come to us; fully satisfied with your latest favours, we invoke you, O Supreme Lord, the giver of happiness. 5

161

By means of the oblation, I set you (O patient,) free to live safe from undeveloped consumption and from royal consumption; and if the seizer (i.e. the consumption) has already seized (the patient), then you, O resplendent Lord and fire-divine, set him free. 1

If he (the patient) be of wasted life, or already dead, or he lies to the verge of death, I shall try to bring him back from the lap of Probability. I make him strong enough to live for a hundred years. 2

सहस्राक्षेण शतशारदेन शतायुषा हविषाहार्षमेनम् ।
शतं यथेमं शरदो नयातीन्द्रो विश्वस्य दुरितस्य पारम् ॥३॥
शतं जीव शरदो वर्धमानः शतं हेमन्ताञ्छतमु वसन्तान् ।
शतमिन्द्राग्नी सविता बृहस्पतिः शतायुषा हविषेमं पुनर्दुः ॥४॥
आहार्षं त्वाविदं त्वा पुनरागाः पुनर्नव ।
सर्वाङ्ग सर्वं ते चक्षुः सर्वमायुश्च तेऽविदम् ॥५॥

saha-
srākshéṇa ṣatáṣāradena ṣatáyushā havíshāhārsham enam | ṣatáṃ yáthemáṃ ṣarádo náyātíndro víṣvasya duritásya pārám || 3 || ṣatáṃ jīva ṣarádo várdhamānaḥ ṣatáṃ hemantáñ chatám u vasantán | ṣatám indrāgní savitá bríhaspátiḥ ṣatáyushā havíshemám púnar duḥ || 4 || áhārshaṃ tvávidaṃ tvā púnar ágāḥ punarnava | sárvāñga sárvaṃ te cákshuḥ sárvam áyuṣ ca te 'vidam || 5 || 19 ||

(१६२) द्विषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य ब्राह्मो रक्षोहा ऋषिः । गर्भसमाधानरूपोऽर्थो देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२०॥ ब्रह्मणाग्निः संविदानो रक्षोहा बाधतामितः ।
अमीवा यस्ते गर्भं दुर्णामा योनिमाशये ॥१॥
यस्ते गर्भममीवा दुर्णामा योनिमाशये ।
अग्निष्टं ब्रह्मणा सह निष्क्रव्यादमनीनशत् ॥२॥
यस्ते हन्ति पतयन्तं निषत्स्नुं यः सरीसृपम् ।
जातं यस्ते जिघांसति तमितो नाशयामसि ॥३॥

162.

Bráhmaṇāgníḥ saṃvidānó rakshohá bādhatām itáḥ | ámīvā yás te gárbhaṃ durṇámā yónim āṣáye || 1 || yás te gárbham ámīvā durṇámā yónim āṣáye | agnísh ṭáṃ bráhmaṇā sahá nísh kravyádam anīnaṣat || 2 || yás te hánti patáyantaṃ nishatsnúṃ yáḥ sarīsṛipám | jātáṃ yás te jíghāṅsati tám itó nāṣayāmasi || 3 ||

I have rescued him with an oblation having a thousand eyes, conferring a hundred years, giving life for a century, so that the Lord of resplendence may conduct him beyond all harm for a hundred years. 3

Regaining your strength, O patient, live for a hundred autumns, a hundred winters, a hundred springs; may the sun, fire-divine, creator and universal god, propitiated by this century-yielding oblation, give this man back to us for a hundred years. 4

I have rescued you, O patient, I have found you; come back again; yes, now you are young again, quite sound in body; I have obtained for you all your senses, your whole life. 5

162

May adorable Lord, the destroyer of the wicked, consenting to our prayer, remove all the evil causes (infections, contagions and virus), who in the form of sickness assails your embryo, and who, as the disease DURNAMAN, assail your womb. 1

May adorable Lord, concurring in our prayer, destroy the cannibal who, as sickness, assails your embryo, who, as the disease DURNAMAN, assails your womb. 2

May we exterminate hence the evil causes, (virus and others), which destroy the impregnating energy, the germ as it settles, the moving embryo, who seeks to destroy the babe when born. 3

यस्त ऊरू विहरत्यन्तरा दंपती शये ।
योनिं यो अन्तरारेळ्हि तमितो नाशयामसि ॥४॥
यस्त्वा भ्राता पतिर्भूत्वा जारो भूत्वा निपद्यते ।
प्रजां यस्ते जिघांसति तमितो नाशयामसि ॥५॥
यस्त्वा स्वप्नेन तमसा मोहयित्वा निपद्यते ।
प्रजां यस्ते जिघांसति तमितो नाशयामसि ॥६॥

yás ta ūrū́ vihárаty antarā́ dámpatī ṣáye | yónim̩ yó antár ārélhi tám itó nāṣayāmasi || 4 || yás tvā bhrā́tā pátir bhūtvā́ jāró bhūtvā́ nipádyate | prajā́m̩ yás te jíghāṅsati tám itó nāṣayāmasi || 5 || yás tvā svápnena támasā mohayitvā́ nipádyate | prajā́m̩ yás te jíghāṅsati tám itó nāṣayāmasi || 6 || 20 ||

(१६३) त्रिषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-६) षड्‌ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काश्यपो विवृहा ऋषिः । यक्ष्मनाशनरूपोऽर्थो देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२१॥

अक्षीभ्यां ते नासिकाभ्यां कर्णाभ्यां छुबुकादधि ।
यक्ष्मं शीर्षण्यं मस्तिष्काज्जिह्वाया वि वृहामि ते ॥१॥
ग्रीवाभ्यस्त उष्णिहाभ्यः कीकसाभ्यो अनूक्यात् ।
यक्ष्मं दोषण्य१मंसाभ्यां बाहुभ्यां वि वृहामि ते ॥२॥
आन्त्रेभ्यस्ते गुदाभ्यो वनिष्ठोर्हृदयादधि ।
यक्ष्मं मतस्नाभ्यां यक्नः प्लाशिभ्यो वि वृहामि ते ॥३॥

163.

Akshíbhyām̩ te nā́sikābhyām̩ kárṇābhyām̩ chúbukād ádhi | yákshmam̩ ṣīrshaṇyàm̩ mastíshkāj jihvā́yā ví vṛihāmi te || 1 || grīvā́bhyas ta ushṇíhābhyaḥ kíkasābhyo anūkyàt | yákshmam̩ doshaṇyàm áṅsābhyām bāhúbhyām̩ ví vṛihāmi te || 2 || antrébhyas te gúdābhyo vanishṭhór hṛídayād ádhi | yákshmam mátasnābhyām̩ yaknáḥ plāṣíbhyo ví vṛihāmi te || 3 ||

May we exterminate hence the evil causes who separate your thighs, who lie between husband and wife, who, entering your womb, devour the seed. 4

May we exterminate hence the evil causes, who in the form of brother, husband, or paramour, approach you, and seek to destroy your offspring. 5

May we exterminate hence the evil causes (mental, physical and environmental), who having beguiled you by sleep or darkness, approach you, and seek to destroy your offspring. 6

163

I, the master physician, and the disease specialist, banish disease (phthisis) from your eyes, from your nose, from your ears, from your chin, from your head, from your brain, from your tongue. 1

I banish disease from your neck, from your sinews, from your bones, from your joints, from your upper arms, from your shoulders, and from your fore-arms. 2

I banish disease from your entrails, from your anus, from your abdomen, and from your heart, from your kidneys, from your liver, from your other viscera. 3

ऊरुभ्यां ते अष्ठीवद्भ्यां पार्ष्णिभ्यां प्रपदाभ्याम् ।
यक्ष्मं श्रोणिभ्यां भासदाद्भंससो वि वृहामि ते ॥४॥
मेहनाद्वनंकरणाल्लोमभ्यस्ते नखेभ्यः ।
यक्ष्मं सर्वस्मादात्मनस्तमिदं वि वृहामि ते ॥५॥
अङ्गादङ्गाल्लोम्नोलोम्नो जातं पर्वणिपर्वणि ।
यक्ष्मं सर्वस्मादात्मनस्तमिदं वि वृहामि ते ॥६॥

ūrúbhyām te ashṭhīvádbhyām párshṇibhyām prápadābhyām | yákshmam sróṇibhyām bhā́sadād bhánsaso ví vṛihāmi te || 4 || méhanād vanamkáraṇāl lómabhyas te nakhébhyaḥ | yákshmam sárvasmād ātmánas tám idám ví vṛihāmi te || 5 || áṅgād-aṅgāl lómno-lomno jātám párvaṇi-parvaṇi | yákshmam sárvasmād ātmánas tám idám ví vṛihāmi te || 6 || 21 ||

(१६४) चतुःषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः प्रचेता ऋषिः । दुःस्वप्ननाशनरूपोऽर्यो देवता । (१–२, ४) प्रथम-द्वितीयाचतुर्थीनामृचामनुष्टुप्, (३) तृतीयायास्त्रिष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च पङ्क्तिश्छन्दांसि ॥

॥२२॥

अपेहि मनसस्पतेऽप क्राम परश्चर ।
परो निर्ऋत्या आ चक्ष्व बहुधा जीवतो मनः ॥१॥
भद्रं वै वरं वृणते भद्रं युञ्जन्ति दक्षिणम् ।
भद्रं वैवस्वते चक्षुर्बहुत्रा जीवतो मनः ॥२॥
यदाशसा निःशसाभिशसोपारिम जाग्रतो यत्स्वपन्तः ।
अग्निर्विश्वान्यप दुष्कृतान्यजुष्टान्यारे अस्मद्दधातु ॥३॥

164.

Ápehi manasas paté 'pa krāma parás cara | paró nírṛityā á cakshva bahudhá jívato mánaḥ || 1 || bhadrám vaí váram vṛiṇate bhadrám yuñjanti dákshiṇam | bhadrám vaivasvaté cákshur bahutrá jívato mánaḥ || 2 || yád āsásā niḥsásābhisásopārimá jágrato yát svapántaḥ | agnír vísvāny ápa dushkṛitány ájushṭāny āré asmád dadhātu || 3 ||

I banish disease from your thighs, from your knees, from your heels, from your toes, from your loins, from your buttocks, from your private parts. 4

I banish disease from your urethra, from your bladder, from your hair, from your nails, from your whole person. 5

I banish disease from each limb, from each hair, from each joint where it is generated, from your whole person. 6

164

O the mental sickness (causing evil dreams), begone, depart, proceed to a distance; look at distress far off; the mental behaviours of a human being are manifold. 1

Men solicit the boon of good fortune; they acquire abundant affluence. I see the suspicious sight of the Lord ordainer; the human mind is so complex. 2

Whatever sin we have committed by speaking to others, speaking against others, speaking evil about others, whether waking or sleeping, may the adorable Lord remove all such abhorring sins far from us. 3

यदिन्द्र ब्रह्मणस्पतेऽभिद्रोहं चरामसि ।
प्रचेता न आङ्गिरसो द्विषतां पात्वंहसः ॥४॥
अजैष्माद्यासनाम चाभूमानागसो वयम् ।
जाग्रत्स्वप्नः संकल्पः पापो यं द्विष्मस्तं स ऋच्छतु यो नो द्वेष्टि तमृच्छतु ॥५॥

yád indra brahmaṇas pate 'bhidrohám cárāmasi | prácetā na āṅgirasó dvishatām pāty áṅhasaḥ || 4 || ájaishmādyásanāma cábhūmánāgaso vayám | jāgratsvapnáḥ saṃkalpáḥ pāpó yám dvishmás tám sá ṛichatu yó no dvéshṭi tám ṛichatu || 5 || 22 ||

(१६५) पञ्चषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य नैर्ऋतः कपोत ऋषिः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२३॥ देवाः कपोत इषितो यदिच्छन्दूतो निर्ऋत्या इदमाजगाम ।
तस्मा अर्चाम कृणवाम निष्कृतिं शं नो अस्तु द्विपदे शं चतुष्पदे ॥१॥
शिवः कपोत इषितो नो अस्त्वनागा देवाः शकुनो गृहेषु ।
अग्निर्हि विप्रो जुषतां हविर्नः परि हेतिः पक्षिणी नो वृणक्तु ॥२॥
हेतिः पक्षिणी न दभात्यस्मानाष्ट्र्यां पदं कृणुते अग्निधाने ।
शं नो गोभ्यश्च पुरुषेभ्यश्चास्तु मा नो हिंसीदिह देवाः कपोतः ॥३॥
यदुलूको वदति मोघमेतद्यत्कपोतः पदमग्नौ कृणोति ।
यस्य दूतः प्रहित एष एतत्तस्मै यमाय नमो अस्तु मृत्यवे ॥४॥

165.

Dévāḥ kapóta ishitó yád ichán dūtó nírṛityā idám ājagāma | tásmā arcāma kriṇávāma níshkṛitim ṣám no astu dvipáde ṣám cátushpade || 1 || ṣiváḥ kapóta ishitó no astv anāgā deváḥ ṣakunó gṛihéshu | agnír hí vípro jushátām havír naḥ pári hetíḥ pakshíṇī no vṛiṇaktu || 2 || hetíḥ pakshíṇī ná dabhāty asmān āshṭryām padám kṛiṇute agnidhāne | ṣám no góbhyaṣ ca púrushebhyaṣ cāstu mā no hiṅsīd ihá deváḥ kapótaḥ || 3 || yád úlūko vádati moghám etád yát kapótaḥ padám agnaú kṛiṇóti | yásya dūtáḥ práhita eshá etát tásmai yamāya námo astu mṛityáve || 4 ||

O Lord of resplendence, O Lord of divine wisdom, whatever sin we run into, save us therefrom, and may the wisest of the enlightened ones protect us from the malignity of our enemies. 4

We have triumphed today, we have won, we have become free from guilt; may evil designs cherished in waking state or while asleep be transferred to him whom we hate, be transferred to him who hates us. 5

165

(Kapota, dove or pigeon, comes as a messenger of Death. Many of us have premonitions or the prior feelings of the approaching death. Kapota is the udanạ prana, or that vital force which takes us away from the body).
O Nature's bounties, let us appreciate the mission of the bird, the pigeon, for which he has been sent to us as the messenger of calamity, the uncertainty, and for which he so often comes. Let us make atonement. May prosperity be given to our bipeds and quadrupeds. 1

O Nature's bounties, may the dove, the harmless bird, sent to our dwellings, the messenger, be auspicious. May the wise fire-divine approve of our oblation, and may the weapon borne on wings (i.e. the arrow with winged tails) not fall on us. 2

May the weapon borne on wings (of the dove) do us no harm; he takes his place upon the touchwood, the seat of fire-divine. May prosperity attend our cattle and our people. Let not the messenger dove, O Nature's bounties, do us any harm here. 3

May that which the bird owl shrieks be in vain. May he (the dove) take his place by the side of the fire-hearth. May this reverence be paid to the ordainer, the Lord of Death, since it is he, who sends the messenger (the dove or pigeon). 4

ऋचा कपोतं नुदत प्रणोदमिषं मदन्तः परि गां नयध्वम् ।
संयोपयन्तो दुरितानि विश्वा हित्वा न ऊर्जं प्र पतात्पतिष्ठः ॥५॥ ṛicá kapótam

nudata praṇódam ísham mádantaḥ pári gấm nayadhvam | saṃyopáyanto duritā́ni víṣvā hitvā́ na ū́rjam prá patāt pátishṭhaḥ || 5 || 23 ||

(१६६) षट्षष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वैराजः शाक्वरो वा ऋषभ ऋषिः । सपत्नघ्नरूपोऽर्थो देवता ।
(१-४) प्रथमादिचतुर्ऋचामनुष्टुप्, (५) पञ्चम्याश्च महापङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥२४॥
ऋषभं मां समानानां सपत्नानां विषासहिम् ।
हन्तारं शत्रूणां कृधि विराजं गोपतिं गवाम् ॥१॥
अहमस्मि सपत्नहेन्द्र इवारिष्टो अक्षतः ।
अधः सपत्ना मे पदोरिमे सर्वे अभिष्ठिताः ॥२॥
अत्रैव वोऽपि नह्याम्युभे आर्त्नी इव ज्यया ।
वाचस्पते नि षेधेमान्यथा मदधरं वदान् ॥३॥
अभिभूरहमागमं विश्वकर्मेण धाम्ना ।
आ वश्चित्तमा वो व्रतमा वोऽहं समितिं ददे ॥४॥
योगक्षेमं व आदायाहं भूयासमुत्तम आ वो मूर्धानमक्रमीम् ।
अधस्पदान्म उद्वदत मण्डूका इवोदकान्मण्डूका उदकादिव ॥५॥

166.

Rishabhám mā samānā́nāṃ sapátnānāṃ vishāsahím |
hantā́raṃ ṣátrūṇāṃ kṛidhi virā́jaṃ gópatiṃ gávām || 1 ||
ahám asmi sapatnahéndra · ivā́rishṭo ákshataḥ | adháḥ sapátnā me padór imé sárve abhíshṭhitāḥ || 2 || átraivá vó 'pi nahyāmy ubhé ā́rtnī iva jyā́yā | vā́cas pate ní shedhemā́n yáthā 'mád ádharaṃ vádān || 3 || abhibhū́r ahám ā́gamam viṣvákarmeṇa dhā́mnā | ā́ vaṣ cittám ā́ vo vratám ā́ vo 'hám sámitiṃ dade || 4 || yogakshemáṃ va ādā́yāhám bhūyāsam uttamá ā́ vo mūrdhā́nam akramīm | adhaspadā́n ma úd vadata maṇḍū́kā ivodakā́n maṇḍū́kā udakā́d iva || 5 || 24 ||

May you, praised by our hymns, O Nature's bounties, drive out the messenger bird who deserves to be driven out; exhilarated may you grant us food and cattle, and dissipate all our misfortunes; abandoning our food, may the swift bird of death fly away. 5

166

Make me, O resplendent Lord, strong among my equals, victor over my rivals, the slayer of my enemies, a sovereign, and a lord of wealth and wisdom. 1

I am the destroyer of my adversaries like Supreme Lord, unharmed and unwounded; may all these my foes be cast down under my feet. 2

I bind you here, like the two bow-ends with the bow-string; restrain them, O Lord of speech, that they may speak with humility to me. 3

I have come triumphant with my power—a power that is capable of achieving any victory. I prevail on all your thoughts, on your synod and on all your plans. 4

I am the highest, I have crushed your war-strength, I have crushed your peace plans, my feet have trodden on your heads. Now you speak to me, as one beneath my feet; like frogs from below the water, like frogs from below the water. 5

(१६७) सप्तषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य विश्वामित्रजमदग्नी ऋषी । (१-२, ४) प्रथमाद्वितीयाचतुर्थीनामृचामिन्द्रः, (३) तृतीयायाश्च सोमवरुणबृहस्पत्यनुमतिमघवद्धातृविधातारो देवताः । जगती छन्दः ॥

॥२५॥ तुभ्येदमिन्द्र परि षिच्यते मधु त्वं सुतस्य कलशस्य राजसि ।
त्वं रयिं पुरुवीरामु नस्कृधि त्वं तपः परितप्याजयः स्वः ॥१॥
स्वर्जितं महि मन्दानमन्धसो हवामहे परि शक्रं सुताँ उप ।
इमं नो यज्ञमिह बोध्या गहि स्पृधो जयन्तं मघवानमीमहे ॥२॥
सोमस्य राज्ञो वरुणस्य धर्मणि बृहस्पतेरनुमत्या उ शर्मणि ।
तवाहमद्य मघवन्नुपस्तुतौ धातर्विधातः कलशाँ अभक्षयम् ॥३॥
प्रसूतो भक्षमकरं चरावपि स्तोमं चेमं प्रथमः सूरिरुन्मृजे ।
सुते सातेन यद्यागमं वां प्रति विश्वामित्रजमदग्नी दमे ॥४॥

167.

Túbhyedám indra pári shicyate mádhu tvám̩ sutásya kaláṣasya rājasi | tvám̩ rayím puruvírām u nas kridhi tvám̩ tápaḥ paritápyājayaḥ sváḥ || 1 || svarjítam máhi mandānám ándhaso hávāmahe pári ṣakrám̩ sutáñ úpa | imám̩ no yajñám ihá bodhy á gahi sprídho jáyantam maghávānam īmahe || 2 || sómasya rájño várunasya dhármaṇi bríhaspáter ánumatyā u ṣármaṇi | távāhám adyá maghavann úpastutau dhátar vídhātaḥ kaláṣāñ abhakshayam || 3 || prásūto bhakshám akaram carāv ápi stómam̩ cemám prathamáḥ sūrír ún mṛije | suté sāténa yády ágamam̩ vām práti viṣvāmitrajamadagnī dáme || 4 || 25 ||

(१६८) अष्टषष्ट्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वातायनोऽनिल ऋषिः । वायुर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२६॥ वातस्य नु महिमानं रथस्य रुजन्नेति स्तनयन्नस्य घोषः ।
दिविस्पृग्यात्यरुणानि कृण्वन्नुतो एति पृथिव्या रेणुमस्यन् ॥१॥

168.

Vátasya nú mahimánam̩ ráthasya rujánn eti stanáyann asya ghóshaḥ | divispríg yāty aruṇáni kriṇvánn utó eti pṛithivyá reṇúm ásyan || 1 ||

167

For you, O resplendent Lord, is this heart-felt devotion (as an elixir filled in a jar) expressed; may you bestow upon us riches with numerous brave sons; your cosmic austerity wins for you heaven. 1

We invoke, while performing our noble deeds, the mighty Lord of pure radiance, the conqueror of heaven, who is delighted by sacrificial food; may you, O Lord, take notice of our devotion here and come. We pray to bounteous Lord, victorious over evils. 2

My tributes to the sovereignty of our Lord of Love and Bliss, to the benevolent functions of Lord of venerability, to the concurrence of the Supreme Lord, and to His blessings; my praises today to the Lord of wealth, to the shelter-giver, to the creator. By His grace, we have been ever fed, pitcherfull, with the best of viands. 3

Whenever I come to you as a seeker of divine wisdom and with sincerity and spiritual purity, impel me to go along a right path, and make me worthy of rich enjoyments. 4

168

I proclaim the greatness of the impetuous midspace wind; crashing it goes and with a voice of thunder; it moves along sweeping the sky; tinting purple the quarters of the horizon, it advances, raising the dust of the earth. 1

सं प्रेरते अनु वातस्य विष्ठा ऐनं गच्छन्ति समनं न योषाः ।
ताभिः सयुक्सरथं देव ईयतेऽस्य विश्वस्य भुवनस्य राजा ॥२॥
अन्तरिक्षे पथिभिरीयमानो न नि विशते कतमच्चनाहः ।
अपां सखा प्रथमजा ऋतावा क्व स्विज्जातः कुत आ बभूव ॥३॥
आत्मा देवानां भुवनस्य गर्भो यथावशं चरति देव एषः ।
घोषा इदस्य शृण्विरे न रूपं तस्मै वाताय हविषा विधेम ॥४॥

sám prérate ánu vấtasya vishṭhā́ aínam gachanti sámanam ná yóshāḥ | tábhiḥ sayúk sarátham devá īyate 'syá víṣvasya bhúvanasya rā́jā || 2 || antárikshe pathíbhir íyamāno ná ní viṣate katamác canā́haḥ apā́m sákhā prathamajā́ ṛitā́vā kvà svij jātáḥ kúta ā́ babhūva || 3 || ātmā́ devā́nām bhúvanasya gárbho yathāvaṣáṃ carati devá esháḥ | ghóshā íd asya ṣriṇvire ná rūpám tásmai vā́tāya havíshā vidhema || 4 || 26 ||

(१६९) एकोनसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य काक्षीवतः शबर ऋषिः । गावो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥२७॥ मयोभूर्वातो अभि वातूस्रा ऊर्जस्वतीरोषधीरा रिशन्ताम् ।
पीवस्वतीर्जीवधन्याः पिबन्त्ववसाय पद्वते रुद्र मृळ ॥१॥
याः सरूपा विरूपा एकरूपा यासामग्निरिष्ट्या नामानि वेद ।
या अङ्गिरसस्तपसेह चक्रुस्ताभ्यः पर्जन्य महि शर्म यच्छ ॥२॥
या देवेषु तन्व१मैरयन्त यासां सोमो विश्वा रूपाणि वेद ।
ता अस्मभ्यं पयसा पिन्वमानाः प्रजावतीरिन्द्र गोष्ठे रिरीहि ॥३॥

169.

Mayobhū́r vā́to abhí vātūsrā́ ū́rjasvatīr óshadhīr ā́ riṣantām | pívasvatīr jīvádhanyāḥ pibantv avasā́ya padváte rudra mṛiḷa || 1 || yā́ḥ sárūpā vírūpā ékarūpā yā́sām agnír íshṭyā nā́māni véda | yā́ ā́ṅgirasas tápasehá cakrús tā́bhyaḥ parjanya máhi ṣárma yacha || 2 || yā́ devéshu tanvàm aírayanta yā́sāṃ sómo víṣvā rūpā́ṇi véda | tā́ asmábhyam páyasā pínvamānāḥ prajā́vatīr indra goshṭhé rirīhi || 3 ||

Solid masses advance to meet the cosmic wind; the lady, the flash of lightning, goes along the sky. Associated with them and in the same chariot, the divinity behind the cosmic wind proceeds, who is the sovereign of all this world. 2

Traversing the firmament by its paths, the wind-divine rests not for a single day; it is the friend of the waters, the first-born and the emblem of true laws. Who can tell us where its origin is and who can tell us whence it gets its first momentum! 3

It is the life-force of the divine powers, it is the germ of the world and moves according to its own will; its voice is heard, though its form is not seen. May we pay tributes to the power that presides over the cosmic wind. 4

169

May the refreshing wind blow upon our cows; may they enjoy the juicy grasses; let them drink the nutritious life-sustaining waters. O terrible Lord, have compassion upon the nutrition-giving cows; they are quadrupeds (living machines) to provide us delicious milk. 1

O clouds, grant great felicity to those cows who are of similar forms, of different forms, or of single forms, whose various names the sacred fire-divine knows through the sacrifice. Our genetic experts have been always improving their race with austerity and patient trials. 2

Bring, O Lord of resplendence, to the dairy-farm the cows who copiously offer their milk to our men of learning. Bring such cows as of which the milk-yielding capacities are known to experts; bring us cows that nourish us with their milk, and that have calves (equally worthy). 3

प्रजापतिर्मह्यमेता रराणो विश्वैर्देवैः पितृभिः संविदानः ।
शिवाः सतीरुप नो गोष्ठमाकस्तासां वयं प्रजया सं सदेम ॥४॥ pra-jā́patir máhyam etā́ rárāṇo víṣvair devaíḥ pitṛíbhiḥ saṃvi-dānáḥ | ṣiváḥ satír úpa no goshṭhám ákas tā́sāṃ vayám

prajáyā sáṃ sadema || 4 || 27 ||

(१७०) सप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सौर्यो विभ्राडृषिः । सूर्यो देवता । (१–३) प्रथमादितृचस्य जगती, (४) चतुर्थ्या ऋचश्चास्तारपङ्क्तिश्छन्दसी ॥

॥२८॥ विभ्राड्बृहत्पिबतु सोम्यं मध्वायुर्दधद्यज्ञपतावविह्रुतम् ।
वातजूतो यो अभिरक्षति त्मना प्रजाः पुपोष पुरुधा वि राजति ॥१॥
विभ्राड्बृहत्सुभृतं वाजसातमं धर्मन्दिवो धरुणे सत्यमर्पितम् ।
अमित्रहा वृत्रहा दस्युहन्तमं ज्योतिर्जज्ञे असुरहा सपत्नहा ॥२॥
इदं श्रेष्ठं ज्योतिषां ज्योतिरुत्तमं विश्वजिद्धनजिदुच्यते बृहत् ।
विश्वभ्राड्भ्राजो महि सूर्यो दृश उरु पप्रथे सह ओजो अच्युतम् ॥३॥
विभ्राजञ्ज्योतिषा स्व१रगच्छो रोचनं दिवः ।
येनेमा विश्वा भुवनान्याभृता विश्वकर्मणा विश्वदेव्यावता ॥४॥

170.

Vibhrā́ḍ bṛihát pibatu somyám mádhv ā́yur dádhad yajñápatāv ávihrutam | vā́tajūto yó abhirákshati tmánā prajā́ḥ puposha purudhā́ ví rājati || 1 || vibhrā́ḍ bṛihát súbhṛitaṃ vājasā́tamaṃ dhárman divó dharúṇe satyám árpitam | amitrahā́ vṛitrahā́ dasyuhántamaṃ jyótir jajñe asurahā́ sapatnahā́ || 2 || idáṃ ṣréshṭhaṃ jyótishāṃ jyótir uttamáṃ viṣvajíd dhanajíd ucyate bṛihát | viṣvabhrā́ḍ bhrājó máhi sū́ryo dṛiṣá urú paprathe sáha ójo ácyutam || 3 || vibhrā́jañ jyótishā svàr ágacho rocanáṃ diváḥ | yénemā́ víṣvā bhúvanāny ā́bhṛitā viṣvákarmaṇā viṣvádevyāvatā || 4 || 28 ||

May our Lord of people bless us with excellent cows. May all Nature's bounties take care of our cows. May our dairy experts and elders bring cattle of good breed to our cow-pen, and may we have good calves (progeny). 4

170

Let the radiant sun copiously draw sweet herbal juices, bestowing unbroken life upon the Lord of the cosmic sacrifice. Impelled by the wind, the sun protects his people of his own accord, nourishes them and shines over many a land. 1

The radiant light (of the sun) is born mighty and well-cherished. It is the abundant bestower of food; it is, as if, existing, since long long times. It is deposited in the vast celestial region and is the supporter and sustainer of the sky. It is the slayer of adversaries, the slayer of the darkness, abundantly slaying the wicked, the slayer of pollutions and infections, (the malignant causes of diseases), and the slayer of rivals. 2

This light, the best of lights, supreme, is all-conquering and winner of wealth. The all-illumining, radiant, mighty sun brings to visibility his vast domain; his is the unfailing lustre. 3

Illuming the whole world with your radiance, you attain the highest luminous region of heaven. With this radiance, you urge people to serve with dedication. Under the impulse of your radiance, all Nature's bounties are set into activity, and (under your benevolence) all living beings are cherished. 4

(१७१) एकसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य भार्गव इट ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥२९॥ त्वं त्यमिटतो रथमिन्द्र प्रावः सुतावतः । अशृणोः सोमिनो हवम् ॥१॥
त्वं मखस्य दोधतः शिरोऽव त्वचो भरः । अगच्छः सोमिनो गृहम् ॥२॥
त्वं त्यमिन्द्र मर्त्यमास्त्रबुध्नाय वेन्यम् । मुहुः श्रथ्ना मनस्यवे ॥३॥
त्वं त्यमिन्द्र सूर्यं पश्चा सन्तं पुरस्कृधि । देवानां चित्तिरो वशम् ॥४॥

171.

Tvám tyám itáto rátham índra právah sutávatah | áśrinoh somíno hávam || 1 || tvám makhásya dódhatah śiró 'va tvacó bharah | ágachah somíno grihám || 2 || tvám tyám indra mártyam āstrabudhnáya venyám | múhuh śrathnā manasyáve || 3 || tvám tyám indra sūryam paścá sántam purás kridhi | devánām cit tiró vásam || 4 || 29 ||

(१७२) द्विसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः संवर्त ऋषिः । उषा देवता । द्विपदा विराट् छन्दः ॥

॥३०॥ आ याहि वनसा सह गावः सचन्त वर्तनिं यदूधभिः । १
आ याहि वस्व्या धिया मंहिष्ठो जारयन्मखः सुदानुभिः ॥१॥ २
पितुभृतो न तन्तुमित्सुदानवः प्रति दध्मो यजामसि । ३
उषा अप स्वसुस्तमः सं वर्तयति वर्तनिं सुजाततो ॥२॥ ४

172.

Á yāhi vánasā sahá gávah sacanta vartaním yád údhabhih || 1 || á yāhi vásvyā dhiyá mánhishtho jārayánmakhah sudánubhih || 2 || pitubhríto ná tántum ít sudánavah práti dadhmo yájāmasi || 3 || ushá ápa svásus támah sám vartayati vartaním sujātátā || 4 || 30 ||

171

You protect, O sovereign king, the resplendent, this chariot of the wise and dedicated devotee; may you hear the invocation of the chanters of sweet and loving melodies. 1

You remove him from the high position who tries to put obstructions to your sacrifices (the benevolent projects of public good). You go to the houses of those who present to you loving offerings. 2

O king, may you drive off the evil-spirited person to save the learned preceptor. 3

O resplendent Lord, may you bring forward the sun to the east, who is lingering behind other bounties of Nature, concealed under dark clouds. 4

172

Come, O dawns, with all your dewy charm; let the rays which are full of radiance accompany your chariot. 1

Come, O dawn, with loving thoughts and well-meant prayers. Dawn is the right time for generous offerings and liberal donations, which make the sacrifice fruitful. 2

Like a nourisher, swift in providing food and liberal in gifts, we spread the thread of a sacrifice at the coming of dawn, and we worship (her). 3

Dawn drives away the darkness of her sister night; and through her inborn benevolence, she makes her retrace her usual path. 4

(१७३) त्रिसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–६) षड्टचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसो ध्रुव ऋषिः । राजस्तुतिर्देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३१॥

आ त्वाहार्षमन्तरैधि ध्रुवस्तिष्ठाविचाचलिः ।
विशस्त्वा सर्वा वाञ्छन्तु मा त्वद्राष्ट्रमधि भ्रशत् ॥१॥
इहैवैधि माप च्योष्ठाः पर्वत इवाविचाचलिः ।
इन्द्र इवेह ध्रुवस्तिष्ठेह राष्ट्रमु धारय ॥२॥
इममिन्द्रो अदीधरद्ध्रुवं ध्रुवेण हविषा ।
तस्मै सोमो अधि ब्रवत्तस्मा उ ब्रह्मणस्पतिः ॥३॥
ध्रुवा द्यौर्ध्रुवा पृथिवी ध्रुवासः पर्वता इमे ।
ध्रुवं विश्वमिदं जगद्ध्रुवो राजा विशामयम् ॥४॥
ध्रुवं ते राजा वरुणो ध्रुवं देवो बृहस्पतिः ।
ध्रुवं त इन्द्रश्चाग्निश्च राष्ट्रं धारयतां ध्रुवम् ॥५॥
ध्रुवं ध्रुवेण हविषाभि सोमं मृशामसि ।
अथो त इन्द्रः केवलीर्विशो बलिहृतस्करत् ॥६॥

173.

Á tvāhārsham antár edhi dhruvás tishṭhávicācaliḥ | víṣas tvā sárvā vāñchantu mā́ tvád rāshṭrám ádhi bhraṣat || 1 ||

ihaívaídhi mā́pa cyoshṭhāḥ párvata ivā́vicācaliḥ | índra ivehá dhruvás tishṭhehá rāshṭrám u dhāraya || 2 || imám índro adīdharad dhruvám dhruvéṇa havíshā | tásmai sómo ádhi bravat tásmā u bráhmaṇas pátiḥ || 3 || dhruvā́ dyaúr dhruvā́ pṛithiví dhruvā́saḥ párvatā imé | dhruvám víṣvam idám jágad dhruvó rā́jā viṣā́m ayám || 4 || dhruvám te rā́jā váruṇo dhruvám devó bṛíhaspátiḥ | dhruvám ta índraṣ cāgníṣ ca rāshṭrám dhārayatām dhruvám || 5 || dhruvám dhruvéṇa havíshābhí sómam mṛiṣāmasi | átho ta índraḥ kévalīr víṣo balihṛítas karat || 6 || 31 ||

173

O duty-chosen king, O head of the state, I (the Royal Priest of Coronation) have consecrated you; come amongst us, be steady and unvacillating; may all your subjects wish you well; may you always continue to be the master of this Nation (State or Empire). 1

Come to your domain; may you never be deposed; remain unvacillating as a mountain; stand firm here like the sun; establish firmly your kingdom in this world. 2

May the supreme Lord, delighted by your services to people, firmly establish you; may the blissful Lord, the protector of vast universe, bless you with divine words. 3

Firm is the heaven, firm is the earth, firm are these mountains, firm is this entire world, so may this king of men be firm in (his state) (firm in executing his benign power). 4

O King, O head of this state, all Nature's bounties (Varuna) are firm in their places; all spiritual forces (Brhaspati) are constantly active; all the offices of the state (Indra) and all means of public prosperity (Agni) may also be firm and stable; may they all provide stability to your kingdom. 5

With a firm reliance and full confidence in you, O King (Soma), we have chosen you as our head for the stability of our state. May our resplendent Lord, as such, make your people pay their taxes and tributes to you and you alone. 6

(१७४) चतुःसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसोऽभीवर्त ऋषिः । राजस्तुतिर्देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३२॥ अभीवर्तेन हविषा येनेन्द्रो अभिवावृते ।
तेनास्मान्ब्रह्मणस्पतेऽभि राष्ट्राय वर्तय ॥१॥
अभिवृत्य सपत्नानभि या नो अरातयः ।
अभि पृतन्यन्तं तिष्ठाभि यो न इरस्यति ॥२॥
अभि त्वा देवः सविताभि सोमो अवीवृतत् ।
अभि त्वा विश्वा भूतान्यभीवर्तो यथाससि ॥३॥
येनेन्द्रो हविषा कृत्व्यभवद्द्युम्न्युत्तमः ।
इदं तदक्रि देवा असपत्नः किलाभुवम् ॥४॥
असपत्नः सपत्नहाभिराष्ट्रो विषासहिः ।
यथाहमेषां भूतानां विराजानि जनस्य च ॥५॥

174.

Abhīvarténa havíshā yéndro abhivāvṛité | ténāsmán brahmaṇas pate 'bhí rāshṭrāya vartaya || 1 || abhivṛítya sapátnān abhí yā́ no árātayaḥ | abhí pṛitanyántaṃ tishṭhābhí yó na irasyáti || 2 || abhí tvā deváḥ savitābhí sómo avīvṛitat | abhí tvā víśvā bhūtány abhīvartó yáthāsasi || 3 || yénéndro havíshā kṛitvy ábhavad dyumny ùttamáḥ | idáṃ tád akri devā asapatnáḥ kílābhuvam || 4 || asapatnáḥ sapatnahá-bhírāshṭro vishāsahíḥ | yáthāhám eshām bhūtánāṃ virájāni jánasya ca || 5 || ३२ ||

(१७५) पञ्चसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यार्बुदिः सार्प ऊर्ध्वग्रावा ऋषिः । ग्रावाणो देवताः । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥३३॥ प्र वो ग्रावाणः सविता देवः सुवतु धर्मणा । धूर्षु युज्यध्वं सुनुत ॥१॥
ग्रावाणो अप दुच्छुनामप सेधत दुर्मतिम् । उस्राः कर्तन भेषजम् ॥२॥

175.

Prá vo grāvāṇaḥ savitā́ deváḥ suvatu dhármaṇā | dhūr-shú yujyadhvaṃ sunutá || 1 || grā́vāṇo ápa duchúnām ápa sedhata durmatím | usrā́ḥ kartana bheshajám || 2 ||

174

O Lord of divine knowledge, may you augment our state and government by fully effective measures of authority just as the resplendent sun spreads his authority (and conquers darkness). 1

Having overcome our rivals and our enemies, may you attack him who assails us, and him who behaves insolently towards us. 2

May the divine creator, may the blissful Lord, establish you firmly; may everyone work for your stability and authority, so that you become supreme. 3

(The King speaks:) I have been offering that oblation whereby the sun becomes glorious, renowned, and eminent; O Nature's bounties, may I now become free from my rivals. 4

May I become without a rival; may I be the destroyer of my rivals; and obtaining the sovereignty, overcome my foes so that I may reign over these beings (friends or rivals) and over my people. 5

175

O highly critical philosophers, may the divine impeller urge you for impulsion by His sustaining action. Please be yoked to proper debates (as horses) to the chariot poles, and bring out the best (i.e. the most logical truth out of the discussions). 1

(The poles are the two sides of the discussion—for and against). 1

O philosopher, drive away the fallacious arguments; drive away evil intentions, and thus make the logical speech a remedy (against distress). 2

ग्रावाण उपरेष्वा महीयन्ते सजोषसः । वृष्णे दधतो वृष्ण्यम् ॥३॥
ग्रावाणः सविता नु वो देवः सुवतु धर्मणा । यजमानाय सुन्वते ॥४॥

grávāṇa úpareshv á mahīyánte sajóshasaḥ | vṛ́shṇe dádhato vṛ́shṇyam || 3 || grāvāṇaḥ savitā nú vo deváḥ suvatu dhármaṇā yájamānāya sunvaté || 4 || ३३ ||

(१७६) षट्सप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यार्भवः सूनुर्ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्च ऋभवः, (२–४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य चाग्निर्देवता । (१, ३–४) प्रथमर्चस्तृतीयाचतुर्थ्योरनुष्टुप्, (२) द्वितीयायाश्च गायत्री छन्दसी ॥

॥३४॥
प्र सूनवं ऋभूणां बृहन्नवन्त वृजना ।
क्षामा ये विश्वधायसोऽश्नन्धेनुं न मातरम् ॥१॥
प्र देवं देव्या धिया भरता जातवेदसम् ।
हव्या नो वक्षदानुषक् ॥२॥
अयमु ष्य प्र देवयुर्होता यज्ञाय नीयते ।
रथो न योरभीवृतो घृणीवाञ्चेतति त्मना ॥३॥
अयमग्निरुरुष्यत्यमृतादिव जन्मनः ।
सहसश्चित्सहीयान्देवो जीवातवे कृतः ॥४॥

176.

Prá sūnáva ṛibhūṇám bṛihán navanta vṛijánā | kshámā yé viṣvádhāyasó 'ṣnan dhenúṃ ná mātáram || 1 || prá deváṃ devyá dhiyá bháratā jātávedasam | havyá no vakshad ānushák || 2 || ayám u shyá prá devayúr hótā yajñáya nīyate | rátho ná yór abhívṛito ghṛíṇīvāñ cetati tmánā || 3 || ayám agnír urushyaty amṛítād iva jánmanaḥ | sáhasaṣ cid sáhīyān devó jīvátave kṛitáḥ || 4 || ३४ ||

The wise philosophers consentient with the central pivot are honoured, giving energy to the loving devotees. 3

May the divine wise impeller quickly urge you, O philosophers, by His sustaining action for the sake of the worshipper, the truth-seeker, who makes the libation (i.e. who devotes to study and learning). 4

176

The sons of skilled technicians, with the enterprising boldness against all odd situation spread everywhere on the earth, as a calf over the mother cow (to suck milk). 1

Please bring forward the fire-divine with wisdom and praise; he bears our oblations to Nature's bounties in succession. 2

This god-devoted technician (or the priest) is most welcome to participate and help in the public project (the sacrifice). The fire-divine, surrounded by the priests (the specialists), knows of himself (how to honour Nature's divine powers). 3

This fire-divine saves (the society) from peril caused by human negligences, as well as from peril caused by Nature's forces. It is a super-power stronger than other powers, created for the sustenance of our life. 4

(१७७) सप्तसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यः पतङ्ग ऋषिः । मायाभेदो देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चो जगती, (२-३) द्वितीयातृतीययोश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥३५॥ पतङ्गमक्तमसुरस्य मायया हृदा पश्यन्ति मनसा विपश्चितः ।
समुद्रे अन्तः कवयो वि चक्षते मरीचीनां पदमिच्छन्ति वेधसः ॥१॥
पतङ्गो वाचं मनसा बिभर्ति तां गन्धर्वोऽवदद्गर्भे अन्तः ।
तां द्योतमानां स्वर्यं मनीषामृतस्य पदे कवयो नि पान्ति ॥२॥
अपश्यं गोपामनिपद्यमानमा च परा च पथिभिश्चरन्तम् ।
स सध्रीचीः स विषूचीर्वसान आ वरीवर्ति भुवनेष्वन्तः ॥३॥

177.

Patamgám aktám ásurasya māyáyā hṛidá paṣyanti mánasā vipaṣcítaḥ | samudré antáḥ kaváyo ví cakshate márīcīnām padám ichanti vedhásaḥ || 1 || patamgó vā́cam mánasā bibharti tā́m gandharvò 'vadad gárbhe antáḥ | tā́m dyótamānām svaryàm manīshā́m ṛitásya padé kaváyo ní pānti || 2 || ápaṣyam gopā́m ánipadyamānam ā́ ca, párā ca pathíbhiṣ cárantam | sá sadhrī́cīḥ sá víshūcīr vásāna ā́ varīvarti bhúvaneshv antáḥ || 3 || 35 ||

(१७८) अष्टसप्तत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य तार्क्ष्योऽरिष्टनेमिर्ऋषिः । तार्क्ष्यो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३६॥ त्यमू षु वाजिनं देवजूतं सहावानं तरुतारं रथानाम् ।
अरिष्टनेमिं पृतनाजमाशुं स्वस्तये तार्क्ष्यमिहा हुवेम ॥१॥
इन्द्रस्येव रातिमाजोहुवानाः स्वस्तये नावमिवा रुहेम ।
उर्वी न पृथ्वी बहुले गभीरे मा वामेतौ मा परेतौ रिषाम ॥२॥

178.

Tyám ū shú vājínam devájūtam sahā́vānam tarutā́ram ráthānām | árishṭanemim pṛitanā́jam āṣúm svastáye tā́rkshyam iha huvema || 1 || índrasyeva rātím ājóhuvānāḥ svastáye nā́vam ivā́ ruhema | úrvī ná pṛíthvī báhule gábhīre mā́ vām étau mā́ páretau rishāma || 2 ||

177

The wise sages intellectually realize with their mind and emotionally feel within their heart the divine light (of the Sun), manifest by the grace of our Lord, the vitality behind the vital forces. The sages try to seek his origin, (or the region of his orb) whilst his worshippers are keen to study solar spectra. 1

The sun bears the sacred word in his mind; the celestial divine forces keep the sacred word in their womb; while our human sages (poets) speak out the bliss-giving divine word with clarity during sacrifice. 2

I clearly see this never-resting sun, going along his rigid paths to the east and to the west; he, clothed in concentrated and diffusive splendour, travels constantly in various regions. 3

178

Let us explore and use for our welfare that potential source (the sun), which is mighty, commissioned by Nature's forces, ever-victorious, moving with a speed, beyond that of any chariot, having strong fellies, who is ever triumphant. 1

Let us repeatedly invoke the liberality of the radiant sun (for our mental sojourn); let us mount upon his chariot for our welfare as upon a ship; move all along the space, around heaven and earth, which are vast, expanded, manifold and profound. May we not suffer any harm from the sun, when he comes or departs. 2

सद्यश्चिद्यः शवसा पञ्च कृष्टीः सूर्य इव ज्योतिषापस्ततान ।
सहस्रसाः शतसा अस्य रंहिर्न स्मा वरन्ते युवतिं न शर्याम् ॥३॥

sadyáṣ cid yáḥ ṣávasā páñca krishṭíḥ súrya iva jyótishāpás tatā́na | sahasrasā́ḥ ṣatasā́ asya ráṅhir ná smā varante yuvatím ná ṣáryām || 3 || 36 ||

(१७९) एकोनाशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१) प्रथमर्च औशीनरः शिबिः, (२) द्वितीयायाः काशिराजः प्रतर्दनः, (३) तृतीयायाश्च रौहिदश्वो वसुमना ऋषयः । इन्द्रो देवता । (१) प्रथमर्चोऽनुष्टुप्, (२-३) द्वितीयातृतीययोश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥३७॥ उत्तिष्ठताव पश्यतेन्द्रस्य भागमृत्वियम् ।
यदि श्रातो जुहोतन यद्यश्रातो ममत्तन ॥१॥
श्रातं हविरो ष्विन्द्र प्र याहि जगाम सूरो अध्वनो विमध्यम् ।
परि त्वासते निधिभिः सखायः कुलपा न व्राजपतिं चरन्तम् ॥२॥
श्रातं मन्य ऊधनि श्रातमग्नौ सुश्रातं मन्ये तदृतं नवीयः ।
माध्यंदिनस्य सवनस्य दध्नः पिबेन्द्र वज्रिन्पुरुकृज्जुषाणः ॥३॥

179.

Út tishṭhatā́va paṣyaténdrasya bhāgám ṛitvíyam | yádi ṣrātó juhótana yády áṣrāto mamattána || 1 || ṣrātáṃ havír ó shv ìndra prá yāhi jagā́ma sū́ro ádhvano vímadhyam | pári tvāsate nidhíbhiḥ sákhāyaḥ kulapā́ ná vrājápatiṃ cárantam || 2 || ṣrātám manya ū́dhani ṣrātám agnaú súṣrātam manye tád ṛitáṃ návīyaḥ | mā́dhyaṃdinasya sávanasya dadhnáḥ píbendra vajrin purukṛij jushāṇáḥ || 3 || 37 ||

(१८०) अशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्यैन्द्रो जय ऋषिः । इन्द्रो देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३८॥ प्र ससाहिषे पुरुहूत शत्रूञ्ज्येष्ठस्ते शुष्म इह रातिरस्तु ।
इन्द्रा भर दक्षिणेना वसूनि पतिः सिन्धूनामसि रेवतीनाम् ॥१॥

180.

Prá sasāhishe puruhūta ṣátrūñ jyéshṭhas te ṣúshma ihá rātír astu | índrā́ bhara dákshiṇenā vásūni pátiḥ síndhūnām asi revátīnām || 1 ||

On his own, he with enormous speed spreads the fluids (he being the potential source of energy) out of the nuclear plasma for all the five classes of people, just as the sun spreads light by his radiance. His strength provides hundreds and thousands of its gifts and blessings in his course, like an unfailing arrow. None can, of course, stop it. 3

179

(O priest or O performers of the fire rituals),now rise and look to the portion of the resplendent divine, suitable to the seasons. If the cooked offering is ready, offer it; if not ready, till then offer prayers to the resplendent divine. 1

O resplendent divine, come to us; the oblation is ready. The sun has travelled over half of his journey. Your friends are already sitting around you with their offerings, waiting like lords of a family for the arrival of a wandering chieftain. 2

I consider the oblation as cooked in the udder of the cow, I consider it cooked in the fire, I consider this pure and fresh oblation well-cooked; O resplendent divine, wielder of the bolt of justice, doer of many deeds, accept with delight the curd of the noon-day fire-ritual. 3

180

O resplendent Lord, invoked of many, and triumphent over your enemies, you are pre-eminent, and full of strength; may your generosity be shown on this occasion; bring treasures with your right hand; you are the Lord of the wealth-conveying rivers. 1

मृगो न भीमः कुचरो गिरिष्ठाः परावत आ जगन्था परस्याः ।
सृकं संशाय पविमिन्द्र तिग्मं वि शत्रून्ताळ्हि वि मृधो नुदस्व ॥२॥
इन्द्र क्षत्रमभि वाममोजोऽजायथा वृषभ चर्षणीनाम् । अपानुदो जनममित्रयन्तमुरुं देवेभ्यो अकृणोरु लोकम् ॥३॥

mrigó ná bhīmáḥ kucaró girishṭháḥ parāváta ā́ jaganthā párasyāḥ | srikám saṃsā́ya pavím indra tigmám ví sátrūn tāḷhi ví mrídho nudasva || 2 || índra kshatrám abhí vāmám ójó 'jāyathā vrishabha carshaṇīnā́m | ápānudo jánam amítrayántam urúm devébhyo akriṇor u lokám || 3 || 38 ||

(१८१) एकाशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य (१) प्रथमर्चो वासिष्ठः प्रथः, (२) द्वितीयाया भारद्वाजः सप्रथः,
(३) तृतीयायाश्च सौर्यो घर्म ऋषयः । विश्वे देवा देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥३९॥

प्रथश्च यस्य सप्रथश्च नामानुष्टुभस्य हविषो हविर्यत् ।
धातुर्द्युतानात्सवितुश्च विष्णो रथन्तरमा जभारा वसिष्ठः ॥१॥
अविन्दन्ते अतिहितं यदासीद्यज्ञस्य धाम परमं गुहा यत् ।
धातुर्द्युतानात्सवितुश्च विष्णोर्भरद्वाजो बृहदा चक्रे अग्नेः ॥२॥
तेऽविन्दन्मनसा दीध्याना यजुः ष्कन्नं प्रथमं देवयानम् ।
धातुर्द्युतानात्सवितुश्च विष्णोरा सूर्यादभरन्घर्ममेते ॥३॥

181.

Práthas ca yásya saprāthas ca námā́nushṭubbasya havísho havír yát | dhātúr dyútānāt savitúṣ ca víshṇo rathaṃtarám ā́ jabhārā vásishṭhaḥ || 1 || ávindan té átihitaṃ yád ā́sīd yajñásya dhā́ma paramáṃ gúhā yát | dhātúr dyútānāt savitúṣ ca víshṇor bharádvājo brihád ā́ cakre agnéḥ || 2 || tè 'vindan mánasā dī́dhyānā yáju shkannám prathamáṃ devayā́nam | dhātúr dyútānāt savitúṣ ca víshṇor ā́ sū́ryād abharan gharmám eté || 3 || 39 ||

Terrible are you as a wandering lion who roams on the mountain; come from a farthest distance. O resplendent, may you sharpen your bolt and sharpen its edges, crush the dark forces and put to flight our enemies. 2

O resplendent, since your inception, you have ever been endowed with protecting and appropriate vigour; O benefactor of mankind, you drive away the man who is unfriendly to us, and you furnish a spacious region for the god-loving persons. 3

181

The most celebrated sage first comprehends and then reveals the meaning of the rathantara chants in the anustup metres, recited in favour of the suns so well known under the names: dhatṛ (sustainer), savitr (the impeller) and visnu (the all-pervading). 1

Thus the worshippers discover the most excellent essence of the worship (the Bṛhat-Saman), which was hidden heretofore. The learned sage discovers the secret of BṚHAT metre and assigns it to the suns knows as sustainer (dhatṛ), radiant impeller (savitṛ), and all-pervading (visnu) and foremost adorable (agni). 2

By this intelligence, they, the brilliant sages, discover a pathway leading to the knowledge of all divine powers and the principal means of worship. They obtain the warm and hot essence from the sustainer, the radiant impeller and the all-pervading sun. 3

(१८२) द्व्यशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१–३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य बार्हस्पत्यस्तपुर्मूर्धा ऋषिः । बृहस्पतिर्देवता । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४०॥ बृहस्पतिर्नयतु दुर्गहा तिरः पुनर्नेषदघशंसाय मन्म ।
क्षिपदशस्तिमप दुर्मतिं हन्नथा करद्यजमानाय शं योः ॥१॥
नराशंसो नोऽवतु प्रयाजे शं नो अस्त्वनुयाजो हवेषु ।
क्षिपदशस्तिमप दुर्मतिं हन्नथा करद्यजमानाय शं योः ॥२॥
तपुर्मूर्धा तपतु रक्षसो ये ब्रह्मद्विषः शरवे हन्तवा उ ।
क्षिपदशस्तिमप दुर्मतिं हन्नथा करद्यजमानाय शं योः ॥३॥

182.

Bríhaspátir nayatu durgáhā tiráḥ púnar neshad aghá-ṣaṅsāya mánma | kshipád áṣastim ápa durmatím̱ hann áthā karad yájamānāya ṣám̱ yóḥ || 1 || nárāṣáṅso no 'vatu pra-yājé ṣám̱ no astv anuyājó háveshu | kshipád áṣastim ápa durmatím̱ hann áthā karad yájamānāya ṣám̱ yóḥ || 2 || tápurmūrdhā tapatu raksháso yé brahmadvíshaḥ ṣárave hántavá u | kshipád áṣastim ápa durmatím̱ hann áthā ka-rad yájamānāya ṣám̱ yóḥ || 3 || 40 ||

(१८३) त्र्यशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१–३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य प्राजापत्यः प्रजावानृषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो यजमानः, (२) द्वितीयाया यजमानपत्नी, (३) तृतीयायाश्च होत्राशिषो देवताः । त्रिष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४१॥ अपश्यं त्वा मनसा चेकितानं तपसो जातं तपसो विभूतम् ।
इह प्रजामिह रयिं रराणः प्र जायस्व प्रजया पुत्रकाम ॥१॥
अपश्यं त्वा मनसा दीध्यानां स्वायां तनू ऋत्व्ये नाधमानाम् ।
उप मामुच्चा युवतिर्बभूयाः प्र जायस्व प्रजया पुत्रकामे ॥२॥

183

Ápaṣyam̱ tvā mánasā cékitānam̱ tápaso jātám̱ tápaso víbhūtam | ihá prajā́m ihá rayím̱ rárāṇaḥ prá jāyasva pra-jáyā putrakāma || 1 || ápaṣyam̱ tvā mánasā dídhyānām̱ svá-yām̱ tanū́ ṛítvye nádhamānām | úpa mām uccā́ yuvatír ba-bhūyāḥ prá jāyasva prajáyā putrakāme || 2 ||

182

O Supreme Lord of the universe, lead us safely over troubles, and let the evil eye be turned towards the sinners. May He take away the curses from us, drive away the ill-feelings and bestow upon the worthy worshipper health and prosperity. 1

May our Lord, adored by men, assist us at the great sacrifice (prayaja); may He also bless us at the secondary (succeeding) sacrifice (anuyaja). May He take away the curses from us, drive away the ill feelings, and bestow upon the worthy worshipper health and prosperity. 2

May our Lord of effulgent intellect, consume the wicked who are the enemies of the intellectuals; then may He slay the malignant (chief). May He, the Great, Lord crush down the inglorious enemy, and baffle the wicked and bestow upon the worthy worshipper health and prosperity. 3

183

(Wife speaks to her husband, the house-holder:) I see in you a man full of wisdom. You have been leading a life of austerity and purity. You desire to have your offspring; may your wish be fulfilled and may you obtain progeny and prosperity. 1

(Husband, the householder, speaks to his wife:) I also very well see in you a lady radiant with beauty. You have to wait for a proper season when you can mate your body with mine. May you come up to me as a young maiden, keen to have a child. 2

अहं गर्भमदधामोषधीष्वहं विश्वेषु भुवनेष्वन्तः ।
अहं प्रजा अजनयं पृथिव्यामहं जनिभ्यो अपरीषु पुत्रान् ॥३॥

ahám gárbham adadhām óshadhīshv ahám vísveshu bhúvaneshv antáḥ ahám prajā́ ajanayam prithivyā́m ahám jánibhyo aparīshu putrā́n || 3 || 41 ||

(१८४) चतुरशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य गर्भकर्ता त्वष्टा प्राजापत्यो विष्णुर्वा ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चो विष्णुत्वष्टृप्रजापति-धातारः, (२) द्वितीयायाः सिनीवालीसरस्वत्यश्विनः, (३) तृतीयायाश्चाश्विनौ देवताः । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४२॥ विष्णुर्योनिं कल्पयतु त्वष्टा रूपाणि पिंशतु ।
आ सिञ्चतु प्रजापतिर्धाता गर्भं दधातु ते ॥१॥
गर्भं धेहि सिनीवालि गर्भं धेहि सरस्वति ।
गर्भं ते अश्विनौ देवावा धत्तां पुष्करस्रजा ॥२॥
हिरण्ययी अरणी यं निर्मन्थतो अश्विना ।
तं ते गर्भं हवामहे दशमे मासि सूतवे ॥३॥

184.

Víshṇur yónim kalpayatu tváshṭā rūpā́ṇi piṅsatu | ā́ siñcatu prajā́patir dhātā́ gárbham dadhātu te || 1 || gárbham dhehi sinīvāli gárbham dhehi sarasvati | gárbham te asvínau devā́v ā́ dhattām púshkarasrajā || 2 || hiraṇyáyī aráṇī yám nirmánthato asvínā | tám te gárbham havāmahe dasamé māsí sū́tave || 3 || 42 ||

(१८५) पञ्चाशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वारुणिः सत्यधृतिर्ऋषिः । आदित्यो देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥४३॥ महि त्रीणामवोऽस्तु द्युक्षं मित्रस्यार्यम्णः । दुराधर्षं वरुणस्य ॥१॥
नहि तेषाममा चन नाध्वसु वारणेषु । ईशे रिपुरघशंसः ॥२॥
यस्मै पुत्रासो अदितेः प्र जीवसे मर्त्याय । ज्योतिर्यच्छन्त्यजस्रम् ॥३॥

185.

Máhi trīṇā́m ávo 'stu dyukshám mitrásyāryamṇáḥ | durādhársham váruṇasya || 1 || nahí téshām amā́ caná nā́dhvasu vāraṇeshu | íse ripúr aghásaṅsaḥ || 2 || yásmai putrā́so áditeḥ prá jīváse mártyāya | jyótir yáchanty ájasram || 3 || 43 ||

(The priest, representing the cosmic Lord, speaks:) I implant the seed in the plants and herbs, a germ in all existing beings. I engender progeny upon the earth. All women today, and hereafter too shall have children in the same way. 3

184

May the all pervading Lord construct the womb; may the divine architect fashion the form; may man, the father-divine, provide (the seed, the semen) (to the lady) and the sustainer cherish the embryo. 1

O loving wife (sinivali), may you sustain the embryo; sustain the embryo, O learned lady (sarasvati); may the twin divines (the Asvins), garlanded with lotuses, sustain your embryo. 2

We invoke (O lady), your embryo which the twin divines have cherished with the golden rays, like two sacred sticks (producing fire by attrition). May you bring it (the baby) forth in the tenth month. 3

185

May, (by Lord's grace) the great protection of the friendly sun (of springs), the brilliant protection of the ordainer sun (of summers), and the unassailable protection of the venerable sun (of the winters) be granted to me. 1

Let not their malignant enemy assail our dwellings, assail our roads, and assail our enclosures. 2

None can harm that mortal man upon whom the sons of Mother Eternity (Aditi), the three suns (the Aditya of the seasons springs, summers and winters) bestow eternal light of life, i.e. grant all sorts of protection. 3

(१८६) षडशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य वातायन उल ऋषिः । वायुर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥४४॥ वात आ वातु भेषजं शंभु मयोभु नो हृदे । प्र ण आयूंषि तारिषत् ॥१॥
उत वात पितासि न उत भ्रातोत नः सखा । स नो जीवातवे कृधि ॥२॥
यददो वात ते गृहे३ऽमृतस्य निधिर्हितः । ततो नो देहि जीवसे ॥३॥

186.

Vā́ta ā́ vātu bheshajám ṣambhú mayobhú no hṛidé prá ṇa ā́yūṅshi tārishat || 1 || utá vāta pitā́si na utá bhrā́totá naḥ sákhā | sá no jīvā́tave kṛidhi || 2 || yád adó vāta te gṛihè 'mṛ́tasya nidhír hitáḥ | táto no dehi jīváse || 3 || 44 ||

(१८७) सप्ताशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–५) पञ्चर्चस्यास्य सूक्तस्याग्नेयो वत्स ऋषिः । अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥४५॥ प्राग्नये वाचमीरय वृषभाय क्षितीनाम् । स नः पर्षदति द्विषः ॥१॥
यः परस्याः परावतस्तिरो धन्वातिरोचते । स नः पर्षदति द्विषः ॥२॥
यो रक्षांसि निजूर्वत्यग्निस्तिग्मेन शोचिषा । स नः पर्षदति द्विषः ॥३॥
यो विश्वाभि विपश्यति भुवना सं च पश्यति । स नः पर्षदति द्विषः ॥४॥
यो अस्य पारे रजसः शुक्रो अग्निरजायत । स नः पर्षदति द्विषः ॥५॥

187.

Prā́gnáye vā́cam īraya vṛishabhā́ya kshitīnā́m | sá naḥ parshad áti dvíshaḥ || 1 || yáḥ párasyāḥ parāvátas tiró dhánvātirócate | sá naḥ parshad áti dvíshaḥ || 2 || yó rákshāṅsi nijū́rvati vṛ́ishā ṣukréṇa ṣocíshā | sá naḥ parshad áti dvíshaḥ || 3 || yó víṣvābhí vipáṣyati bhúvanā sám ca páṣyati | sá naḥ parshad áti dvíshaḥ || 4 || yó asyá pāré rájasaḥ ṣukró agnír ájāyata | sá naḥ parshad áti dvíshaḥ || 5 || 45 ||

186

May the Cosmic Breath (the divine vitality) fill our hearts with health and bring happiness; may he prolong our lives. 1

O Cosmic Breath, you are both our father and our brother and also our friend. Please give us strength that we may live long. 2

O Cosmic Breath, you have the treasure of immortal elixir, placed in your celestial region. Give us of it that we may live long. 3

187

I send forth the hymn to the adorable Lord, the benefactor of mankind; may He bear us safe beyond the reach of those who hate us (or harm us). 1

May that adorable Lord, who (like the sun) shines brilliantly from a great distance upon the desert tract, bear us safe beyond the reach of those who hate us (or harm us). 2

May the adorable Lord, the showerer of benefits, who, with His pure radiance, destroys the evil-spirited or wicked creatures or evil tendencies, bear us safe beyond the reach of those who hate us (or harm us). 3

May the Lord, who very well takes care of all the worlds, and looks to every one with benevolent eye, bear us safe beyond the reach of those who hate us (or harm us). 4

May the pure and brilliant adorable Lord, who has His creation far across the regions we see, bear us safe beyond the reach of those who hate us (or harm us). 5

(१८८) अष्टाशीत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याग्नेयः श्येन ऋषिः । जातवेदा अग्निर्देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥४६॥ प्र नूनं जातवेदसमश्वं हिनोत वाजिनम् । इदं नो बर्हिरासदे ॥१॥
अस्य प्र जातवेदसो विप्रवीरस्य मीळ्हुषः । महीमियर्मि सुष्टुतिम् ॥२॥
या रुचो जातवेदसो देवत्रा हव्यवाहनीः । ताभिर्नो यज्ञमिन्वतु ॥३॥

188.

Prá nūnám jātávedasam áṣvam hinota vājínam | idám no barhír āsáde || 1 || asyá prá jātávedaso vípravīrasya mīḷhú-shaḥ | mahī́m iyarmi sushṭutím || 2 || yā́ rúco jātávedaso devatrā́ havyavā́hanīḥ | tā́bhir no yajñám invatu || 3 || 46 ||

(१८९) एकोननवत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य सार्पराज्ञी ऋषिका । आत्मा सूर्यो वा देवता । गायत्री छन्दः ॥

॥४७॥ आयं गौः पृश्निरक्रमीदसदन्मातरं पुरः । पितरं च प्रयन्त्स्वः ॥१॥
अन्तश्चरति रोचनास्य प्राणादपानती । व्यख्यन्महिषो दिवम् ॥२॥
त्रिंशद्धाम वि राजति वाक्पतङ्गाय धीयते । प्रति वस्तोरह द्युभिः ॥३॥

189.

Ā́yám gaúḥ pṛ́ṣnir akramīd ásadan mātáram puráḥ pitáram ca prayán svàḥ || 1 || antáṣ carati rocanā́syá prā-ṇā́d apānatī́ | vy àkhyan mahishó dívam || 2 || triṅṣád dhā́ma ví rājati vā́k patamgā́ya dhīyate | práti vástor áha dyúbhiḥ || 3 || 47 ||

(१९०) नवत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्
(१-३) तृचस्यास्य सूक्तस्य माधुच्छन्दसोऽघमर्षण ऋषिः । भाववृत्तं देवता । अनुष्टुप् छन्दः ॥

॥४८॥ ऋतं च सत्यं चाभीद्धात्तपसोऽध्यजायत ।
ततो रात्र्यजायत ततः समुद्रो अर्णवः ॥१॥

190.

Ṛitám ca satyám cābhīddhāt tápasó 'dhy ajāyata | táto rā́try ajāyata tátah samudró arṇaváḥ || 1 ||

188

May you urge the force-giver, widely-present and fast-moving fire-divine, named as Jatavedas (i.e. the one who knows all that is born) to come to our dedicated works (and bless). 1

I offer earnest and ample praise to this fire-divine, the one who knows all that is born, who is the showerer (of blessings) and whose sons are intelligent and dedicated worshippers. 2

May he invest our sacrifice with those bright flames of fire-divine, that are the bearers of the oblation to Nature's bounties. 3

189

This earth (gauh) moves round and round in the space (prsnih); she carries waters (mataram) on her front. Further she revolves round her father (pitaram), the sun. 1

The brilliant radiance of the sun penetrates internally in the cosmic body, drawing the air down, after having taken it up, like the in-breath and out-breath (in a living body). The great sun illumines the entire celestial space. 2

Praises are showered upon this divine bird—the sun. He rules supreme through thirty stations of the day and night. 3

190

The Eternal Law and Truth are born of arduous penance, and thence is night generated, and thence also the space-parameter, the plasmic ocean. 1

समुद्रादर्णवादधि संवत्सरो अजायत ।
अहोरात्राणि विदधद्विश्वस्य मिषतो वशी ॥२॥
सूर्याचन्द्रमसौ धाता यथापूर्वमकल्पयत् ।
दिवं च पृथिवीं चान्तरिक्षमथो स्वः ॥३॥

samudrā́d arṇa-vā́d ádhi saṃvatsaró ajāyata | ahorātrā́ṇi vidádhad víṣvasya misható vaṣī́ || 2 || sūryācandramásau dhātā́ yathāpūrvám akalpayat | dívaṃ ca pṛithivī́ṃ cāntárikshsham átho svàḥ || 3 || 48 ||

(१९१) एकनवत्युत्तरशततमं सूक्तम्

(१–४) चतुर्ऋचस्यास्य सूक्तस्याङ्गिरसः संवनन ऋषिः । (१) प्रथमर्चोऽग्निः, (२–४) द्वितीयादितृचस्य च सञ्ज्ञानं देवते । (१–२, ४) प्रथमाद्वितीयाचतुर्थीनामृचामनुष्टुप्, (३) तृतीयायाश्च त्रिष्टुप् छन्दसी ॥

॥४९॥ संसमिद्युवसे वृषन्नग्ने विश्वान्यर्य आ ।
इळस्पदे समिध्यसे स नो वसून्या भर ॥१॥
सं गच्छध्वं सं वदध्वं सं वो मनांसि जानताम् ।
देवा भागं यथा पूर्वे संजानाना उपासते ॥२॥
समानो मन्त्रः समितिः समानी समानं मनः सह चित्तमेषाम् ।
समानं मन्त्रमभि मन्त्रये वः समानेन वो हविषा जुहोमि ॥३॥

191.

Sáṃ-sam íd yuvase vṛishann ágne víṣvāny aryá ā́ | iḷás padé sám idhyase sá no vásūny ā́ bhara || 1 || sáṃ gachadhvaṃ sáṃ vadadhvaṃ sáṃ vo mánāṅsi jānatām | devā́ bhāgáṃ yáthā pū́rve saṃjānānā́ upā́sate || 2 || samānó mántraḥ sámitiḥ samānī́ samānám mánaḥ sahá cittám eshām | samānám mántram abhí mantraye vaḥ samānéna vo havíshā juhomi || 3 ||

From the plasmic ocean is the time-parameter, the year, thereafter produced, ordainin nights and days, the controller of every moment. 2

The sustainer (or creator) in this cycle, as in the previous ones creates the sun and moon, the celestial region, the earth, the mid-space and the region of bliss. 3

191

O adorable Lord, showerer of blessings, the supreme master. you are the universal unifying factor; you are enkindled in the heart of every one, i.e. at the seat of divine revelation. May you bring to us riches (of spirituality and prosperity). 1

May you move together, speak together in one voice; let your minds be of one accord; and like the ancient sages, may you enjoy your assigned share of fortune. 2

May our counsel or the public prayers be common, and common be our assembly. May our minds move in accord; may our thinking be in harmony,—common the purpose, and common the desire. May our prayers and worship be alike, and may our devotional offerings be one and the same. 3

समानी व आकूतिः समाना हृदयानि वः ।
समानमस्तु वो मनो यथा वः सुसहासति ॥४॥

॥ इत्यष्टमाष्टकेऽष्टमोऽध्यायः ॥

[अष्टमाध्याये वर्गाः ४९, सूक्तानि ४९, ऋचः २१८]

[अष्टमाष्टके अध्यायाः ८, वर्गाः २४६, सूक्तानि १४६, ऋचः १२८१]

॥ इत्यष्टमोऽष्टकः ॥

[दशममण्डलेऽनुवाकाः १२, सूक्तानि १९१, ऋचः १७५४]

॥ इति दशमं मण्डलम् ॥

samānī́ va ā́kūtiḥ samānā́ hṛ́dayāni vaḥ | samānám astu vo máno yáthā vaḥ súsahā́sati || 4 || 49 ||

Dvādaṣo 'nuvākaḥ.

DAṢAMAM MAṆḌALAM.

Ashṭamo 'dhyāyaḥ.

ASHṬAMO 'SHṬAKAḤ.

May your resolves be one; may your hearts feel alike; may your thinking be one; and thus may all of you live happily with thorough union. ।

NOTES

Book X

Hymns 87–191

दशम् मंडलम्

सूक्तानि ८७-१९१

Notes on Book

Hymn 87

The topic of this hymn is fire, the consumer of malignant and vicious elements. The Ṛsi is Payuh (पायुः), the son of Bharadvaja.

1. Raksohanam, रक्षोहणम्, agni or fire is the killer of rakasas (रक्षसां हन्तारम्) and hence it is called raksohan. See the following references in the Ṛk Samhita;

रक्षःऽहनम्	— I. 129.11; II. 23.3; X. 87.1
रक्षःऽहना	— VII. 73.4
रक्षःऽहा	— I. 129.6; VII. 8.6; IX. 1.2; 37.3; 67.20; X. 97.6; 103.4; 162.1

Sisanah, शिशानः, Sharpening the flame of fire; causing to blaze with vigour; arousing (शिशानः ज्वालास्तीक्ष्णीऽकुर्वन्).

2. Ayodaṁstrah, अयोदंष्ट्रः, अयःऽदंष्ट्रः, one with iron teeth (bitting and sharp); see also

अयःऽदंष्ट्रः	— X. 87.2
अयःऽदंष्ट्रान्	— I. 88.5

Yatudhanam, यातुधानाम्, malignant germs of diseases; normally a synonym of raksas, रक्षस्. For the term, see

यातुऽधान	— VII. 104.15; 16
यातुऽधानः	— VII. 104.15; X. 97.8; 11; 15-17
यातुऽधानम्	— VII. 104.24; X. 87.12
यातुऽधानस्य	— X. 87.5; 10; 15
यातुऽधाना	— X. 87.24
यातुऽधानाः	— X. 87.9; 18; 120.4
यातुऽधानात्	— X. 87.7
यातुऽधावान्	-- I. 35.10; X. 87.2-4; 13; 14, 19
यातुऽधान्यः	— I. 191.8; X. 118.8

From the word यातु, we have such terms derived as यातुऽजूतान् (X. 116.5); यातु-मतीनाम् (I. 133.2); and यातु-मावान् (VII. 1.5).

The word yatudhanah has been variously (however unsatisfactorily) derived: (i) यातुगन्ता अभिधीयत इति, (ii) यातुनादुःखं तं दधाति सः ।

The word yatu, according to some scholars, stands for "sorcery". According to these scholars, those who used to practice the craft of sorcery in the cure of diseases, were known as Yatudhanas and opposed to it, there, were pysicians, who used to treat cases with medicines: such persons were known as Ghora Angires (घोर अंागिरस) and Bhisaj Atharvana (भिषज् आर्थवण). We have such popular terms as अथर्वाण (atharvaṇah) and आथर्वणानि connected with the science of healing (भेषज). (see Pancaviṁsa Br., XII. 9.10; XVI. 10.10)

In the Ṛgveda (I. 191.4), and also in the Atharveda (VI. 52.2), we have a term adṛsta (अदृष्ट), used to designate a species of vermin. The sun is also described as a slayer of the unseen (अदृष्टहन्) refering to the unseen worms producing diseases (Ṛv. I. 191.9; Atharva V. 23.6 and VI. 52.1). Its counterpart, i.e. the worms which are seen were called "dṛsta" (दृष्ट) (Atharva, II. 31.2; VIII. 8.15) Again in some of the passages of the Atharvaveda (V. 23.6; 7), the epithets seen and unseen are applied to the worm (Krimi, क्रिमि), clearly showing that in several cases, the diseases are due to the worms, whether discernable by examination or not.

The word raksas (रक्षस् or राक्षस), yatudhana, and kimidin (किमीदिन्) should be taken in the same context. The Ṛg Text of this hymn is definitely against the concept of sorcery to be used in the treatment of disease. Against it is the fire (terrestrial as well as celestial sunlight) which is invoked to kill the yatudhanas, raksas, etc. the disease producing germs (adṛsta) and worms (dṛsta). Macdonell and Keith in their Vedic Index write — "Yatudhana in the Ṛgveda and later denotes a sorcerer, wizard, or magician. The sense of the Ṛgveda is clearly unfavourable to sorcery. The term Yatudhani (यातुधानी, i.e. यातुधान्यः) is also found in the Ṛgveda (I. 191.8; X.118.8) and also the Atharvaveda I. 28.24; II. 14.3; IV. 9.9; 18.17; XIX. 37.8 etc."

The word Yatuvid (यातुविद्), i.e. those who know sorcery occurs in the Satapatha Brahmana (X. 5.2.20).

The solar radiations are invoked to kill the disease-producing germs:

उद्यन्नादित्यः क्रिमीन्हन्तु निम्रोचन हन्तु रश्मिभिः ।
ये अन्तःक्रिमियो गवि (Av. II. 32.1)
दृष्टमदृष्टतृहमथो कुरूरुमतृहम् (Av. II. 31.2)

7. Sosucanah, शोशुचानः, blazing fiercely (प्रज्वलन् —Sayana)

Ksvinkah, क्ष्विङ्काः, the noisy-creatures, vultures (शब्दकारिण्य; or पक्षिविशेषाः — Sayana).

Ama'adah आमऽअदः, those who eat uncooked meat.

10. Harasa, हरसः with your might; with your blazing vigour.

Sṛnih, श्रृणीहि, kill or crush.

Vṛsca, वृश्च, cut off.

Tṛedha yatudhanasya mulam, त्रेधा यातुधानस्य मूलम्, triple foot of that malignant person (तस्य राक्षसस्य मूलं पादम् — Sayana)

12. Atharva'vat jyotisa daivgena, अथर्वऽवत् ज्योतिषा दैव्येन, like a physician with celestial radiance.

Satyam, सत्यं, truth (peace).

Dhurvantam, धूर्वन्तम्, assails with falsehood (wickedness) (धूर्वन्तम् असत्येन हिंसन्तम् — Sayana)

Acitam, अचितम्, fool, ignorant (अचितं अज्ञानं — Sayana)
(Again, in this context, Sayana refers to दध्यङ्-अथर्वा)

13. Sapatah, शपातः, in mutual annoyance and excitement, or when enraged (शपातः परस्परमक्रोशतः — Sayana)

Rebhah, रेभाः, singers, praisers (रेभाः स्तोतारः — Sayana)

Manyoh, मन्योः, of the excited, of the one in anger provoked (मन्योः दीप्तस्य क्रुद्धस्य वा यत्र — Sayana; मन्युः मन्यतेर्दीप्तिकर्मणः क्रोधकर्मणे वधकर्मणो वा), Manyu (anger) is derived from the verb man, मन्, meaning to shine, or to be angry or to slay — Nir. X. 29 on X. 84.1)

Mithuna, मिथुना, couple, married pair.

14. Harsa, हरसा, with heat, with vigour or strength.

15. Vacastenam, वाचा स्तेनम्, persons of undependable words, liars (अनृत वचनमेनं यातुधानम् — Sayana)

Sapatha, शपथा, bitter feelings, the protests

Prasitim, प्रसितिम्, trap, (प्रसितिं जालम् — Sayana).

17. Samvatsarinam, संवत्सरीणम्, all the year round, throuhout the year.

marman, मर्मन्, vital parts.

Piyusam, पीयूषम्, by ambrosia, or the clot of milk (पीयूषं पीयूषेण; a case of विभक्ति-व्यत्यय — Sayana)

23. Visena, विषेण, by the all pervading (विषेण व्याप्तेन — Sayana)

Raksah, रक्षसः, of the demon or devil, injuring ones; disease-producing germs of invisible bodies (रक्षांसिक्रिमि कीटान् — V. 83 2); Raksas, रक्षस्, is so calld because life has to be protected, रक्ष्, from him, or because he attacks (क्षण्) in solitary places (रहसि), or he approaches (नक्ष्) at night (रात्रौ) — (रक्षो रक्षितव्यमस्मात्। रहसि क्षणोतीति वा। रात्रौ नक्षत इति वा — Nir. VI. 18)

Any person, creature, insect, worm, germ, virus etc. against whom protection is sought is raksas; night usually is the time when he or it attacks. Raksas has to be destroyed. Hot radiations from fire and actinic rays of light help us best in killing these creatures and infections (Nir. on V. 2.9; V. 83.2).

A few of the important references are:

रक्षसः	— I. 35.10; II. 23.14; III. 15.1; IV. 4.1; V. 42.10; VI. 21.7; VIII. 23.14; IX. 63.29; X. 76.4; 87.23.25.
रक्षसम्	— IX. 104.6
रक्षसा	— IX. 85.1
रक्षांसि	— I. 79.12; VI. 16.29; VII. 15.10; VIII. 23.13; IX. 17.3; X. 36.4; 87.9; 98.12; 187.3.

Later Sanskrit literature uses the term राक्षस in the sense of the wicked person, but the Vedic term is रक्षस् (राक्षस, born of रक्षस्).

Raksas is the cause of disease; this is clear from the passage: अग्न बाधस्व वि मृधो वि दुर्गहापामीवामपरक्षांसि सेध — X. 98.12, (amivam — disease); drive away disease, drive away raksas — Wilson).

Tigmena socisa, तिग्मेन शोचिषा, by actinic radiations (or sharp flames).

24. kimidina (किमीदिना) is a malignant creature i.e. a vagabond, who goes about saying "what now? what now? or what is this, what is this? (किम्, किम्) for the sake of back-biting. Mosquito or bug is a Kimidin (किमीदिने । किमिदानीमिति चरते । किमिदं किमिद्मिति वा -- Nir. VI. 11 on VII. 104.2). The word occurs only at three places in the Ṛgveda;

किमीदिना — VII. 104.23; X. 87.24

किमीदिने — VII. 104.2

See in the Atharvaveda the passages like:

यन्तुयातवः पुनर्हेतिः किमीदिनः (or क्रिमीदिनीः) (II. 24. 1-8).

For Krimi, क्रिमि, see Av. II. 31. 1-5 — दृष्टमदृष्टम् (2); शिष्टानशिष्टान् (3); present on hills, forests, plants and cattle (5); also Av. II. 32. 1-5.

Hymn 88

For verses 1, 4, 6, 10, 11, 17 and 19, see Nir. VII. 25; V. 3; VII. 27; VII. 28; (II. 13; VII. 29); VII. 30 and VII. 31 respectively.

The deities (or the topics) are fire (Agni) in the form of Vaisvanara (leader-in-Chief) and the Sun (Surya), and the Ṛsi is Murdhanvat, of the race of Angiras (मूर्धन्वानांगिरसः). Agni, अग्नि — the Nirukta deals with the subject of Agni (fire; fire-divine; also one of the names of God). Its sphere is the earth; he is the foremost leader (अग्निःकस्मात्? अग्रणीर्भवति -- Nir. VII. 14); he is leader foremost in sacrifices (अग्रं यज्ञेषु प्रणीयते) ; he makes everything, to which it inclines; a part of itself (अङ्गं नयति सन्नममानः).

According to Sthaulasthivi (स्थौलाष्ठीवि), Agni is also so called because he is a drying agent (अक्नोपनो भवतीति) ; it does not make wet; it does not moisten (न क्नोपयति न स्नेहयति — Nir. VII. 14).

According to Sakapuni (शाकपूणि), it is derived from three verbs: from going; from shining, or burning and from leading (इतात् अक्तात् दग्धादवा नीतात्) — Nir. VII. 14). He, indeed takes the letter a from the root i (to go), the letter of g (ग्) from the root anj, अंज (to shine); or dah to burn, with the root ni, नी (to lead), as the last member (स खल्वेतेरकारमादत्ते गकारमनक्तेर्वा दहतेर्वा नीः परं — Nir. VII. 14)

Again, according to Yaska, Agni is all the deities (अग्निः सर्वादेवताः — Nir. VII. 17); and in this connection, the इन्द्रं मित्रं वरुणमग्निमाहुः — I. 166.16, verse is quoted.

This explains why the word Agni is twice repeated in this verse: the second Agni is the all names-embracing Agni, सर्वादेवता: अग्नि ; whilst the first one is bracketted with Indra, Mitra, Varuna, Agni, Divyah, Suparnah, Garutman. Yama and Matarisvan.

(i) एकं सद्विप्राबहुधा वदन्ति अग्निम् — Agni (the all-names embracing) is spoken of by seers under different names.

(ii) They address Him as; इन्द्रं, मित्रं, वरुणं, अग्निं, दिव्यं सुपर्णं गरुत्मन्तम् (divine Garutman of beautiful wings), यमं, and मातरिश्वानम् (Nir. VII. 18).

Jataveda — Agni is also known as jatavedas (we shall call it omniscient-fire since he knows all created beings; he is known to all created beings, or else he pervades every created being, or he has all created beings as his property or wealth, or he has all created beings as his knowledge i.e. discernment. (जातवेदाः कस्मात्? जातानि वेद । जातानि वैनं विदुः । जाते जाते विद्यत इति वा । जातवित्तो वा । जातधनः । जातविद्यो वा जातप्रज्ञानः — Nir. VII. 19).

Vaisvanara — We shall name this Agni orFire as Leader-in-Chief. He is called Vaisvanara because he leads all men; or all men lead him; or else Vaisvanara may be a modified form of visvan — ara (विश्वान्+अर), i.e. who pervades all created beings. (वैश्वानरः कस्मात्? विश्वान् नरान् नयति । विश्व एनं नरा नयन्तीति वा । अपि वा विश्वनर एव स्यात् । प्रत्यृतः सर्वाणि भूतानि । तस्य वैश्वानरः — Nir. VII. 21).

1. Normally, it is regarded that this hymn (X.88) is dedicated to Vasivanara, the sun, but according to Yaska, this is devoted to the very terrestrial fire (एतद्धविष्पान्तीयं सूक्तं सौर्यवैश्वानरं भवतित्यस्यैव तद् भवति — Nir VII. 24; 25).

The undecaying and pleasant libation to be drunk is sacrificed in fire which touches heaven and knows the sun. For its maintenance, existence and support, the gods spread it with food.

We have in VI. 8.4, that "the messenger brought Agni from the sun, and Matarisvan brought Vaisvanara from afar.(आ दूतो अग्निमभरद् विवस्वतो वैश्वानरं मातरिश्वा परावतः, VI. 8.4). Matarisvan is Vayu or air; it breathes in the atmosphere and hence it is so called.

4. Sa patatritvaram stha, jagat yat svatram agnir krnot jatavedah — स पतत्री त्वरं स्था जगत् यत् श्वात्रं अग्निः कृणोत् जातवेदाः — And he the winged one, Agni, who has all created beings as his property made quickly whatever moves (जगत्), the immovable (स्था), and the movable.

The word श्वात्रं (Svatram) is a synonym of quick; it is of swift motion (श्वात्रमिति क्षिप्रनाम । आशु अतनं भवति — Nir V. 3. The word svatram is not listed by Yaska in Nigh. II. 15 with 26 synonyms of क्षिप्र).

6. At night, Agni becoms the head of the world. Then in the morning he is born as the rising sun. This is the supernatural power of the holy ones, that with full knowledge, he accomplishes the work so quickly.

Murdha, मूर्धा, the head, is so called because the body depends on it. He who is the head of all beings at night is Agni, thence he himself is born as the sun rising in the morning. They know this profound wisdom of the holy gods who accomplish sacrifices; the work that he performs with all knowledge i.e. hastening he goes through all places. (मूर्धा मूर्तमस्मिन् धीयते । मूर्धा यः सर्वेषां भूतानां भवति नक्तमग्निः ततः सूर्यो जायते प्रातरुद्यन्त्स एव । प्रज्ञां त्वेतां मन्यन्ते यज्ञियानां देवानां यज्ञसंपादिनाम्। अपो यत् कर्म चरति प्रज्ञानन्त्सर्वाणि स्थानान्यनुसंचरति त्वरमाणः — Nir. VII. 27).

10. With a hymn, in heaven, the gods generated Agni, who fills both heaven and earth, with powers. They make him for threefold existence indeed. He ripens herbs of every kind.

Tredha bhuve, त्रेधाभुवे — for threefold existence, i.e. for the terrestrial, atmospheric, and celestial (according to Sakapuni) (तमकुर्व स्त्रेधाभावाय । पृथिव्यामन्तरिक्षे दिवीति शाकपूणिः — Nir. VII. 2.8).

11. When the holy gods set him, the son of Aditi in heaven. When the ever-wandering pair come to life, then they behold all the worlds.

Carisnu mithunau चरिष्णू मिथुनौ, the wandering couple, i.e. the couple that always wanders together, i.e. the sun and the dawn, were created (चरिष्णू मिथुनौ प्रादुरभूतां सर्वदा सहचारिणौ उषाश्चादित्यश्च Mithunau, मिथुनौ, the couple; now is the word mithuna derived? It is derived from the root mi, मि, meaning to depend (मिथुनौकस्मात् मिनोतिः श्रयति कर्मा) ; with the suffix thu, थु or tha, थ, having the root ni (नी) or van (वन्) as the last member (थु इति नामकरणः । थकारोवा । नयतिः परः वनिर्वा) . Depending on each other, they lead each other, or win each other.) — Nir. VII. 29.

Aditya, आदित्य, the son of Aditi; i.e. the sun. There are numerous adityas, such as Mitra, Varuna, Aryaman, Daksa, Bhaga, Amsa (आदित्यः कस्मात् आदत्तेरसान् । आदत्ते भासं ज्योतिषां । आदीप्तो भासेति वा । अदितेः पुत्र इति वा — From what roof is Aditya derived? He takes the fluids; he takes (i.e. eclipses) the light of the luminaries, or he blazes with lustre, or he is the son of Aditi; अल्प प्रयोगं त्वस्यै - तदर्चाभ्याम्नाये सूक्तभाक् । this last epithet, however, is rarely applied to him in the text of the Ṛgveda, and he has only one hymn addressed — "सूर्यमादि तेयम् — X. 88.11) — Nir. II. 13.

17. Where the lower (अवरः) and the higher (परः) dispute (वदेते), as to which of us, the two leaders of sacrifice (वैश्वानरः सूर्यः), knows more. The friends who enjoy together, and accomplish the sacrifice, were competent. Now who will decide this?

The lower is the terrestrial Agni; and the higher is the atmospheric Agni. They dispute as to which of us two know more about the sacrifices. (Nir. VII. 30).

19. The above verse (17) should be read in conjunction with the present verse: O Matarisvan, as long as the birds of beautiful wings (सुपर्णः सुपतनाः) wear directly the illumination of dawn (यावन् मात्रं उषसः प्रत्यक्तं भवति प्रतिदर्शनमिति वा), so long the Brahmana sitting lower than the sacrifice and approaching the sacrifice, bears it

The particle of comparison (न) is here used in the sense of directly; as place is directly here (अस्त्युपमानस्य सम्प्रत्यर्थे प्रयोगः). As long as birds of beautiful wings, which fly in a beautiful manner, i.e. these nights, O Matarisvan, wear the light of the bright colour, so long the Brahmana sacrificer, who approaches the sacrificer and sits lower than this sacrificer, i.e. this Agni bears it. (एता रात्रयो वसतं मातरिश्वञ्ज्योतिर्वर्णस्य । तावदुपदधाति यज्ञमागच्छन् ब्राह्मणो होतास्याग्नेर्होतुरवरो निषीदन् — Nir. VII. 31).

Hymn 89

For verses 5, 6 and 10, see Nir. V. 12, V. 3 and VII. 2 respectively.

The theme is Indra, and the Ṛsi is Renu of the family of Visvmitra (रेणुर्वैश्वामित्रः)

1. Indra is here the sun, the sun-Divine; and lastly, the resplendent Lord.

3. Again, Indra means here either the sun or the resplendent Lord.

Samanam, समानं, along with me (समानं मयासह — Sayana)

Asmai, अस्मै, for him, for Indra.

Anapavṛta, अनपावृत्, unceasing, continuous (अनपावृत् अपगतिरहितम्)

Navyam brahma, नव्यं ब्रह्म, new song (ब्रह्म स्तोत्रम्)

Pṛstheva, पृष्ठेव, like perticularised praises. (पृष्ठेव पृष्ठ संज्ञकानि स्तोत्राणीव — Sayana)

Janimai, जनिमानी, born at sacrifices (जनिमानि यज्ञेषु जातानि), See also III. 4.10; 38.8; IV. 1.7; 27.1; VII. 2.10; 42.2; 60.3; IX. 83.4; 108.3; X. 89.3

Aryah, अर्य, enemies (अर्यः अरीन् शत्रून — Sayana)

Vicikaya, विऽचिकाय, overcomes (विचिकाय विचिनोति); also knows

Sakhayam na ise, सखायं न इषे, desires no friend.

4. Sagarasya budhnat, सगरस्य बुध्नात्, from the depths of an ocean or the firmanent, sagarah and samudrah are synonyms of antariksa (Nigh. I.3).

5. With infused energy, rushing to the attack, shaker, impetuous, great hero and foaming, Soma surpasses all plants and trees. All the counter measures did not deceive Indra.

This verse is applicable to Soma and Indra both. Indra is called Soma also.

Apantamanyuh, आपान्तमन्युः, with infused energy (आपातित मन्युः — Yaska, Sayana) appeasing wrath — Wilson).

Trpala'prabharma, तृपलऽप्रभर्मा, striking quickly; rushing to the attack (प्रावर्मिक्षिप्रप्रहारी — Sayana; क्षिप्रप्रहारी, सुप्रप्रहारी, तृप्रप्रहारी — Nir. V. 12)

Dhunih, धुनिः, shaker (धुनिः धुनोतेः — Yaska; शत्रूणां कम्पयिता, intimidating foes — Sayana, Wilson).

Simivan, शिमीऽवान्, doer of great deeds (or impetuous) (शिमीवान् कर्मवान् — Sayana; शिमीति कर्मनाम । शमयतेर्वा । शक्नोतेर्वा — Nir. V. 12).

Saruman, शरुमान्, possessor of weapons or armed with weapons (शरुम् हिंसकमायुधम्; शरुमान् आयुधवान् — Sayana, i.e. a great hero), see the follow terms: शरुः — I. 172.2; 186.9; VIII. 67.15; 20, शरुम् VII. 71.1; VIII. 18.19; X. 99.7 शरुऽमान्: –X. 89.5.

Ṛjisi Somah, ऋजीषी सोमः, possessing the stale residue; foaming Soma. (ऋजीषी सोमः । यत्सोमस्य पूयमानस्यातिरिच्यते तद् ऋजीषमपार्जितं भवति । तेनर्जीषी सोमः — that which remains as residue after Soma is strained is called ṛjisam, ऋजीषम्, i.e. something which is thrown away; hence Soma is called ṛjisi, i.e. containing the residue — Nir. V. 12).

Ṛjisi is an epithat of Indra also, the wielder of thunderbolt. (cf. ऋजीषी वज्री — V. 40.4)

Indra is also called ṛjisi, because his steeds are fed on the residue of Soma (cf. बभ्र्यां ते हरीधाना उपऋजीषं जिघ्रताम् — Kuntapa Adhyaya 66); perhaps an untraced reference; Nir. V. 12).

Wilson writes about this verse: "This verse is obscure, partly becasue the words are unusual, partly because there is a confusion between Indra and Soma. Yaska does not afford much aid."

6. Soma whose (greatness) neither heaven nor earth, nor waters, nor atmosphere, nor mountains (fathomed), has flowed.

Aksah, अक्षाः, flows; according to some Aksah is derived from अश्, to go; see also IX. 107.9; Samaveda: अनूपे गोमान् गोभिरक्षाः । सोमोदुग्धोभिरक्षाः 1 — when the cowherd dwells with kine in a watery place, Soma flows from the milked cows — Nir. V. 3; अक्षाः क्षरति — Sayana; Rv. IX. 107.9; Samaveda II. 3.2.12.2 (998)

Viluh, वीळुः, firm (वीळुः दृढम् — Sayana).

10. Indro diva indra ise prthivyah, इन्द्रोदिव इन्द्र ईशे पृथिव्याः — Indra rules heaven, Indra the earth — As an illustration of the indirectly addressed verses composed in all the cases of nouns, but the verb of the third person — परोक्षकृताः सर्वाभिर्नामविभक्तिभिर्युज्यन्ते । प्रथम पुरुषैश्चाख्यातस्य — Nir. VII. 2).

Medhiranam, मेधिराणाम्, men of wisdom.

Kseme-yoge, क्षेमे-योगे, for the preservation (क्षेमे), and acquirement (योगे).

योगऽक्षेमम् — X. 166.5

योगे क्षेमे — V. 37.5; VII. 54.3; 86.8; X. 89.10

11. Ksistibhyah, क्षितिभ्यः, than the mankind; than the land (क्षितिभ्यः मनुष्येभ्यः) (क्षितयः मनुष्यनाम Nigh. II.3; क्षितिः पृथिवी नाम Nigh. I.1)

Aktubhyah, अक्तुभ्यः, than the nights (रात्रिभ्यः)

Dhaseh, धासेः than the raceptacles; the holding space (धासेः धारकस्थानात् — Sayana)

Jmah, ज्मः, then the earth (ज्मा पृथिवीनाम — Nigh. I.1)

Prathasah, प्रथसः, than the extension or space (प्रथसः प्रथिम्नः — Sayana)

12. Hetih, हेतिः, bolt or weapon (वज्राख्यमायुधम् — Sayana)

Hesasa, हेषसा, with loud-sounding bolt or arrow (शब्दकारिण्या हेत्या — Sayana).

Asinva, असिन्वा, invincible (असिन्वा भेदनरहितम् — Sayana).

13. Anu, अनु, follow, in service of, attend.

14. Karhi, svit, कर्हिस्वित, when (कर्हिकदा)

Raksah, रक्षः Raksas, wicked persons, evil forces.

Bhindah, भिन्दः, to cleave; to exterminate (भिन्दः अभिनः — Sayana).

Mitrakruvah, मित्रक्रुवः, enemies of friendly people (मित्रक्रुवः मित्राणां क्रूरस्य कर्मणः कर्तारो जनः — those people who treat or injure friends with cruelty. —Sayana).
The term mitrakruvah does not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda.
According to Wilson, Mitrakrus are a kind of demon.

15. Oganasah, ओगणासः, they who gather in groups. (ओगणासः संघीभूताः — Sayana)

Andhena tamasa, अन्धेन तमसा, with dense, thick or gloomy darkness.

16. Sahutim, सहूति, collective praises (सहूतिं स्तुतिम् — Sayana); mass-prayers; community praises.

17. Visvamitrah, विश्वामित्राः, friends of universal popularity; friendly to everyone.

Hymn 90

For verse 16, see Nir, XII. 41

The deity or the devata is Purusa, the Cosmic Man, and hence it is called the Purusa Sukta. The Ṛsi is Narayana, नारायण, a conceptual name, — not a historical person. The entire hymn has 16 verses in the Anustup metre (32 syllables), except the last verse in Tristubh (44 syllables). It is repeated in the Yajurveda also with verbal and sequence variances, (XXXI, 1-16); and also in the Atharvaveda (XIX.6). The word "purusa" (पुरुष) means "living spirit embodied". The soul, when born in a body of annamaya, pranamaya, manomaya, vijnanamaya and anandamaya sheaths, is known as "purusa". God, present as if (as He is) in His entire creation is also known as the Virat Purusa (Cosmic Person) or Cosmic Man. The Society Organism, with all classes of men and other living beings, is also called purusa.

Purusah (पुरुषः, person) puri + sadah (पुरिषादः), i.e., one who sits in a city); or is derived from the root पृ, to fill, i.e. he fills the interior with reference to the inner soul (पुरुषः पुरिषादः । पुरिशयः । पूरयतेर्वा । पूरयत्यन्तरित्यन्तरपुरुष - मभिप्रेत्य — Nir. II.3)

This entire universe is filled by that inner soul, to whom there is nothing subsequent, than whom there is nothing more minute, nor more great, and immovable like a tree, who alone lives in heaven:

यस्मात्परं नापरमस्ति किंचित्,
यस्मान्नाणीयो न ज्यायोस्ति कश्चित् ।
वृक्ष इव स्तब्धो दिवितिष्ठत्ये - कस्तेनेदं पूर्णं पुरुषेण सर्वम् ॥

— Tait. Aranyaka,

X. 10.23; also Sveta. up. III.9

In another passage of the Nirukta, we have purusa (पुरुष, man) puri +saya (i.e. city-dweller (पुरुषं पुरिशय इत्याचक्षीरन — Nir I.13; पुरि संसारे शेते सर्वमभिव्याप्य वर्त्तते, स पुरुषः परमेश्वरः, God rests in the complete creation and He is also purusa. Daya. The soul rests in a city (the human body, for example) which has eight cakras and nine doors (अष्टाचक्रा नवद्वारा देवानांपूरयोध्या — Atharvaveda XII.2.31)

Why God, the creator, the all-pervading, is purusa or city-dweller, Dayananda writes: पुरि सर्वस्मिन्संसारेऽभिव्याप्य सीदति वर्त्तत इति, पूरयतेर्वा या स्वयं परमेश्वर इदं सर्वं जगत् स्वस्वरुपेण पूरयति व्याप्नोति तस्मात्स पुरूषः । The entire universe, being omnipresent, is our Lord's city; He fills it up completely by His own nature; He is all-pervading; and hence our Lord is called purusa, The verses of the Purusa-Śukta occur in all the four Vedas, with occasional differences. The concordance is given in the following table:

Ṛgveda, X.90	Yajuh, XXXI	Atharva, XIX.6
1. सहस्रशीर्षा०	1	1*
2. पुरुष एवेदं०	2	4
3. एतावानस्य०	3	3*
4. त्रिपादूर्ध्व०	4	2*
5. तस्माद् विराड०	5	9*
6. यत्पुरुषेण०	14	10
7. तं यज्ञं बर्हिषि०	9	11*
8. तस्माद्यज्ञात्सर्वा०	6	14
9. तस्माद्यज्ञात्सर्वहुत ऋचः०	7	13
10. तस्मादश्वा०	8	12
11. यत्पुरुषं०	10	5
12. ब्राह्मणोऽस्य०	11	6*
13. चन्द्रमा मनसो०	12*	7
14. नाभ्या आसीद०	13	8
15. सप्तास्या०	15	15
16. यज्ञेन यज्ञ०	16	—

(Asterisks indicate verbal differences)

The thirty-first chapter of the Yajurveda has in all 22 verses, the last six of which are unique by themselves. The Atharvaveda verses have significant verbal differences (particularly those marked with asterisks. The last one (16): मूर्ध्नो देवस्य बृहतो अंशवः सप्त सप्ततीः does not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda or the yajurveda. In the Samaveda Saṃhita, the verses 617 to 621 (1.6.3.4. 3-7) have the Ṛsi as Narayana, and Purusa as devata. (सहस्रशीर्षाः ०। त्रिपादूर्ध्वं ०, पुरुष एवेदं ०, तावानस्य महिमा०, and ततो विराड० – verbal differences).

Sayana and Mahidhara concur in identifying Purusa with Viraj, the aggregate of all living beings, spirit embodied in the egg of Brahma, i.e. the universal spirit animating all creation. (तस्मात् आदिपुरुषात् विराट् ब्रह्माण्ड देहः अजायत उत्पन्नः। विविधानि राजन्ते वस्तून्यत्रेति विराट्। ...... । परमात्मा स्वयमेव स्वकीयया मायया विराड् देह ब्रह्माण्डरूपं सृष्ट्वा तत्र जीवरूपेण प्रविश्य ब्रह्माण्डभिमानी देवतात्मा जीवोऽभवत् — Sayana on X. 90.5). Sayana was unnecessarily influenced with Sankara's Neo-Vedantism. Dayananda also commented on the Purusa Sukta in his Ṛgvedadi-bhasya-bhumika, the Yajurveda version. This hymn has also been translated by Colebrooke (Misc. Essays), Burnouf (Introd. to the Bhagavata Purana).

1. Sa bhumim visvatah vṛtva dasangulam ati-atisthata, स भूमिं विश्वतः वृत्व दशाङ्गुलं अति अतिष्ठत् — investing the earth in all dimensions exceeds it by a space measuring ten fingers.

2. Sahasra sirsah, सहस्र शीर्षाः, a thousand heads, by thousand is meant an infinite number (सहस्राणि असंख्यातानि अस्मदादीनां शिरांसि यस्मिन् पूर्णे पुरुषे परमात्मनि स सहस्रशीर्ष पुरुषः) — thousands of heads, of men and other creatures are in His creation, and hence He is called as one with a thousand heads. And similarly, He is one with infinite number of eyes, feet etc. (सहस्राक्षः सहस्रपात्) — Daya.

Atya atisthat dasangulam, अत्यतिष्ठत् दशांगुलम्, Mahidhara and Sayana both interpret on same lines. According to Mahidhara, it may also mean that the human soul, extending from the navel, takes up its abode in the heart — a doctrine supported by the upanisads also. Hence Colebrooke renders it "Stands in the human breast".

According to Dayananda, the whole creation is of ten-fingers measure (दशांगुलम्), by analogy: the ten are 5 gross elements (earth fire, air, water and ether), 5 subtile elements in the casual form — thus the ten components; the ten may equally by 5 vital breaths (prana, apana, vyana, samana and udana) and 4 antahkarana catustaya — the mental system, mind intellect, citta, and ego (मन, बुद्धि, चित्त, and अहंकार) and the tenth, the soul itself. (दशांगुलमिति ब्रह्माण्ड हृदयोपलक्षणम्। अंगुलमित्यवयवोपलक्षणेन मितस्य जगतोऽत्र ग्रहणं भवंति — See Ṛg. Bhumika — Dayananda).

2. Yat annena atirohati, यत् अन्नेन अतिरोहति, for He mounts beyond his own condition for the food of living beings (Wilson). He rises beyond by food, or He is that which expands by nourishment (Muir); that which grows by nourishment (Colebrooke); according to Dayananda, the material cause, the Prakṛti is the anna or food, by which He creates (पुरुषो यदस्मादन्नेन पृथिव्यादिना जगता सहातिरोहति व्यतिरिक्तः सन् जन्मादि रहितोस्ति, तस्मात् स्वयमनः सन् सर्वं जनयति; स्वसामर्थ्यादि कारणात् कार्यं जगदुत्पादयति) ; by His own nature. He as the First Cause creates the entire universe out of the material cause, the Prakṛti, while He himself remains aloof and undergoes no change — Daya.). According to Sayana, the food of living beings is anna. (यत् यस्मात् कारणात् अन्नेन निमित्तभूतेन, अतिरोहति स्वकीयां कारणावस्थामतिक्रम्य परिदृश्यमानां जगदवस्थां प्राप्नोति तस्मात् प्राणिना कर्मफलभोगाय जगदवस्था स्वीकारान्नेदं तस्य वस्तुत्वम् —Sayana

Brahman or the Supreme Reality assumes the condition of the world in order that sentient beings may enjoy the fruit of their acts; but that is not his true condition. The notion is that the supreme spirit, which in its own state is inert (inactive) and undiscernible, becomes the visible world, that living beings may reap the fruits of their acts, and in-as-much-as-they may thereby acquire moksa or final liberation, the supreme spirit is the lord or distributer of immortality (anna = matter or Prakṛti — Max müller — Wilson.)

Uta amrtatwasya isanah, उतअमृतस्त्वस्य ईशानः lord of immortality (देवत्वस्य अयं ईशानः स्वामी — Sayana); He is the giver of immortality, i.e. giver of moksa, or final liberation (उतापि स एवेशान ईषणशीलः सर्वेश्वरोऽमृतत्वस्य मोक्षभावस्य स्वामीदातास्ति — Daya.)

3. Padah asya visva bhutani, पादोऽस्य विश्वाभूतानि — all beings are only one-fourth of Him. God is all pervading. The entire cosmos occupies only a quarter of Him. The rest three-fourth of our Lord is void (अस्यानन्तसामर्थ्यस्येश्वरस्य विश्वानि प्रकृत्यादि पृथिवी-पर्यन्तानि सर्वाणि भूतान्येकः पादोऽस्ति एकस्मिन् देशांशे सर्वं विश्वं वर्तते — Daya.).

Tripadasya'mrtam divi, त्रिपादस्यामृतं दिवि, His other three-fourths being immortal abide in heaven (अस्यदिवि द्योतनात्मके स्वस्वरूपेऽमृतं मोक्षसुखमस्ति । तथाऽस्य दिविद्योतके संसारे त्रिपाज्जगदस्ति । प्रकाश्यमानं जगतं जगदेक - गुणमस्ति, प्रकाशकं च तस्मात् त्रिगुणमिति — The manifested world is only in one-fourth of Him while the manifaster Himself is three-times that much — Daya.).

4. Sasananasane abhi'vyakramat, साशनानशने अभिव्यक्रामत्, went to all animate and inanimate creation (एकमशनेन भोजन करणेन सह वर्तमानं जंगमंजीव-चेतनादि सहितं जगत्, द्वितीयमनशनमविद्यमानमशन भोजनं यस्मिंस्तत् पृथिव्यादिकं च यज्जडं जीवसम्बन्धरहितं जगद्वर्तते, तदुभयं तस्मात् पुरुषस्य सामर्थ्यकारणादेव जायते — Daya.). The one is the living world of embodied souls, and the rest is the life-less inert creation.

5. Tatah, ततः, from Him; from that one-fourth (ततः आदिपुरुषात्, from the adi-purusa; from the first one — Sayana).

Virajo purusah, विराजोपुरुषः, from the first man, from the adi-purusa; purusah (पुरुषः) the presiding male or spirit; "life"; the Supreme Spirit who by His delusion (माया of the Vedantins) created the body of Viraj, i.e. the Brahmanda, the egg of Brahma and entered into it in the form of life (Wilson : Sayana).

6. The sacrifice is conceptual or mental (मनसा हविष्ट्वेन संकल्प्य — Sayàn‖). Here is a reference to the cosmic sacrifice which always proceeds on. The spring season (with months madhu and madhava — Caitra and Vaisakha (मधु-माधव; चैत्र-वैशाख) are its butter; the Summer season is the fuel (corresponding to the months sukra and suci jyestha and Asadha, शुक्र-शुचि; ज्येष्ठ-आषाढ; शु) , and the autumn season is the oblation — material corresponding with months isa and urja. Asvina and Karttika. (इष-ऊर्ज; आश्विन् - कार्तिक) .

Season	Vedic Months	Constellation Months
Spring, Vasanta	Madhu-Madhava	Caitra-Vaisakha
Summer, Grisma	Sukrah-Sucih	Jyestha-Asadha
Rains, Varsa	Nabhah–Nabhasya	Sravana-Bhadra
Autumn, Sarada	Isah-Urjah	Asvina-Karttika
Snowy Winter, Hemanta	Sahah-Sahasya	Margasirsa-Pausa
Winter, Sisira	Tapah-Tapasya	Magha-Phalguna

(See Yv. XIII.25; XIV.6; XIV.15, XIV. 16; XIV.27; XV.57 respectively).

According to Sayana and others, the Gods immolated the Cosmic Man as the victim upon the sacred grass (यत्पुरुषेण हविषादेवा यज्ञमतन्वत) ; and from this victim the creation started as given in verses 8 to 11.

7. Devah, देवाः , men of enlightenment (देवाः विद्वांसः — Daya.).

Ṛsayah, ऋषयः , seers of the secrets of the Vedic verses (ऋषयः मन्त्रद्रष्टारः — Daya.). Persons possessing direct intuitive insight into duty; i.e. dharma, knowledge and its application. They by oral instructions handed down the hymn to later generations, who were destitute of the direct intuitive insight. The later generations, declining in power of oral communication, compiled this work, the Veda and the auxilliary Vedic treatises, in order to comprehend the meaning. (साक्षात्कृत धर्माण ऋषयो बभूवुः । तेऽवरेभ्योऽसाक्षात्कृत्धर्मभ्य उपदेशेन मन्त्रान्संप्रादुः । उपदेशाय ग्लायन्तोऽवरे बिल्मग्रहणायेमं ग्रन्थं समाम्नासिषुः । वेदं च वेदांगानि च — Nir. I.20).

Sadhyah, साध्याः — competent persons; according to Sayana, such persons as are competent in creation like Prajapati and others (साध्याः सृष्टिसाधन योग्याः प्रजापति प्रभृतयः — Sayana); according to Dayananda in human society, Sadhyas are not conceptual persons; they are adepts in any sphere of competency, scientists and technologists (साध्याः साधनवन्तः कृतसाधनाश्च) ; and in that sense, an enlightened person, or an expert may be called a Sadhya साध्यासः ज्ञानिनः — Daya.). This word is used twice in the Purusa Sukta, and once in the First Book of the Ṛgveda.

साध्याः — I.164.50 (अस्यवामीयसूक्त) ; X.90.7; 10 and no where else in the Ṛgveda. (In the Cosmic Creation, God, the creator, does not take help from any Jiva, either mukta or in bondage.)

Barhisi, बर्हिषि, in the barhi or yajna: बर्हिषि मानस यज्ञे — Sayana); in the cavity or space in the heart (बर्हिषि हृदयान्तरे — Daya.).

Barhi, बर्हि, is a word of wide connotations and it has been used with several modifications in the Ṛg Samhita, the most common being barhih and barhisi:

बर्हिः	– I.13.5; II. 3.8; III. 4.4; IV. 9.1; VI. 11.5; VII. 2.4; VIII. 1.8; IX.5.4; X. 30.15 and numerous other entries.
वर्हिः	– (all anudatta) — II. 3.4; X. 70.4
बर्हिःऽइव	– I.116.1; V. 12.5
बर्हिःऽस्थाम	– III. 42.2
बर्हिषः	– VI. 12.1; VII. 33.1; 43.3; VIII. 13.4; 15.5; X. 35.9; 131.2
बर्हिषि	– I.12.4; II. 6.8; III. 35.6; IV. 6.4; V. 11.2; VI. 16.10; VIII. 13.24; IX. 19.3; X. 14.5, and others.
बर्हिष्ठम्	– III. 13.1
बर्हिष्मती	– I. 117.1
बर्हिष्मते	– I. 51.8; 53.6; V. 2.12
बर्हिष्मत्ऽभिः	– VIII. 70.14
बर्हिष्मान्	– IX. 44.4
बर्हिष्येषु	– X. 15.5
बर्हिऽसदः	– IX. 68.1; X. 15.3; 4
बर्हिऽसदम्	– II. 3.3; V. 44.1
बर्हिऽसदा	– VII. 2.6
बर्हीः	– IV. 16.12

8. Yajnat, यज्ञात्, Here, according to Dayananda, the word Yajnat is used for God, the creator, "from Him" (सच्चिदानन्द लक्षणात् पूर्णात् पुरुषात्)

Sarvahutah, सर्वहुतः, from the most revered, most invoked all-powerful God, (सर्वपूज्यात् सर्वोपास्यात् सर्वशक्तिमतः परब्रह्मणः — Daya.).

Tasmat Yajnat sarvahutah, तस्मात् यज्ञात् सर्वहुतः — from that victim in whom the universal oblation was offered, (सर्वात्मकः पुरुषः यस्मिन् यज्ञ हूयते, सोऽयं सर्वहुत् । तस्मात् मानसात् यज्ञात् — Sayana, Wilson).

Pṛsadajyam, पृषदाज्यम्, any food that sustains is Pṛsad, derived from "पृषुसेचनेधातुः । पर्षन्ति सिञ्चिन्ति क्षुन्निवृत्यादि कारकमन्नादि वस्तु यस्मिंस्तत्पृषत् — Daya.).

Ajym, आज्यम्, clarified butter or ghee, Butter, honey, milk, all these are ajya (घृतं मधु दुग्धादिकं आज्यम् — Daya.).

Three kinds of animals, wild animals (आरण्याः वनस्थाः), cultivated or domesticated like cattle (गो, अश्व, अज and अवि, cow, horse, goat and sheep and vayavya, or birds, i.e. those who fly in air (वायुसह चरितान् पक्षिणः — Daya.).

Vayavyan, वायव्यान्, birds and the like. Also over whom Vayu presides (वायव्यान् वायु-देवताकांल्लोकप्रसिद्धान्.— Sayana; वायवः स्येत्याह वायुर्वा अन्तरिक्षस्याध्यक्षाः अन्तरिक्ष देवत्याः खलु वै पशवः वायव एवैनान्परिददाति — Tait. Br. III. 2.1.3)

9. Tasmat yajnat, तस्माद्यज्ञात्, from that yajna; yajna = Visnu = the all-pervading Lord (यज्ञोवै विष्णुः SBr. I. 1.2.13) or from that cosmic sacrifice. (यज्ञात् पूर्णात् पुरुषात् सर्वहुतात् सर्वपूज्यात्, सर्वोपास्यात् सर्वशक्तिमतः परब्रह्मणः — Daya.). "From that simple portion surnamed the universal sacrifice", meaning Purusta as the world (Colebroke); yajna means the material of sacrifice (यज्ञ = यज्ञसाधन) i.e. victim.

Ṛcah, ऋचः, the Ṛgveda or poems.

Samani, सम्मानि, the Samaveda or lyrics, the songs.

Chandansi, छन्दांसि, the Atharvaveda, the metres

Yajuh, यजुः the Yajurveda, the prose, the formulas.

10. Asvah ca ubhayadatah, अश्वाः च उभयादतः the horses were born, as well as the animals having two rows of teeth: That is camels, asses, and donkeys were also born early in the creation. (ये के चाश्वातिरिक्तः गर्दभादयोऽश्वतराश्च उभयादतः उभयोर्भागयो र्दन्ता येषां ते उभयादतः- Mahidhara; उभयते दन्तो येषां त उभयादतो, ये केचिदुभयादता उष्ट्र गर्दभादयस्तेऽप्यजायन्त — Daya.)

11. Yat purusam vyadadhuh, यत्पुरुषं व्यदधुः, from that cosmic Man, or the Cosmic Creator, Lord Paramesvara, or in that society, comprising of human population.

Katidha vyakalpayan, how many social divisions did come out. (यद्यस्मादेतं पूर्वोक्तलक्षणं पुरुषं परमेश्वरं कतिधा कियत्प्रकारैः व्यकल्पयन् सामर्थ्यगुणकल्पनं कुर्वन्तीत्यर्थः — Daya.)

The Society represents a person, then on this allegory, what constituted its mouth, its arms, its belly or thighs, and its feet. The answer is given in the next verse.

12. The Brahmana the class representing intelligentsia is mouth; that working for defence and safety, i.e. Ksattriya represents the two arms. The producers and distributors of wealth represent the thighs (the Vaisyas); the labour class or the Sudra represents the feet. Ajayat is as good as jayate (अजायते = जायते) because in the Vedic language, there is no restriction of tense: छन्दसि लुङ् लङ् लिटः — Panini III. 4.6; सामान्यकाले त्रयो लकारा विधीयन्ते — Daya:)

Brahmana, men of learning and of exemplary character (ये विद्यादयो मुख्यगुणाः सत्यभाषणोपदेशादीनि कर्माणि च सन्ति, तेभ्यो ब्राह्मण आसीत् उत्पन्नो भवति — Daya.).

Ksattriyah, or Rajanyah, क्षत्रियः = राजन्यः, persons with strength, valour and courage — बलवीर्यादिलक्षणान्वितो राजन्यःक्षत्रियः । तेन कृत आज्ञप्त आसीदुत्पन्नो भवति — Daya.).

Vaisyah, वैश्यः, persons devoted to agriculture, animal husbandry, trade and business (कृषि व्यापारादयोगुण मध्यमास्तेभ्यो वैश्यः वणिक्जनः — Daya.).

Sudrah, शुद्रः, the labour class, uneducated or illiterate, but good at manual work, of good physique, handsome, loyal, reliable and of high character (पादेन्द्रिय नीचत्वमर्थाज्जड बुद्धित्वादि गुणेभ्यः शुद्रः सेवागुणविशिष्टः पराधीनतया प्रवर्तमानः — Daya.).

13 and 14. The allergory of the Cosmic Man continues:

Mind — Moon	Indra — Agni (Lightning and fire)
Eyes — The sun	Breath — Air or wind
Navel — Firmament	Feat — Earth
Head — Heaven	Ear — Quarters of space

15. Seven are enclosures (paridhis) —

1. Samudra or ocean	— समुद्र
2. Vayu	— वायु
3. Clouds	— मेघमण्डल
4. Rain water	— वृष्टि-जल
5. Wind	— वायु
6. Dhananjaya	— सूक्ष्म धनञ्जय
7. Sutratma	सूत्रात्मा	(Dayananda)

According to Sayana, the seven metres, Gayatri etc. are the seven paridhis; or the seven shallow trenches, three dug round the Ahavaniya fire place, three round the uttara Vedi, the northern altar, and the seventh dug round the sun, to keep off evil spirits.

Three into seven Samidhah, त्रिसप्त समिधः — Twenty one pieces of fuel wood, representing 12 months × 5 seasons + 3 worlds + 1 sun = 21 (द्वादशमासाः पञ्चर्तवस् त्रय इमे लोकाः असावादित्य एकविंशः — Tart. Sam. V. 1.10.3) or the three classes of seven metres. (3x7): (i) with correct number of syllables; (ii) with a few syllables less, and (iii) with a few syllables more. According to Dayananda, 21 fuel sticks represent:

1 subtile triad of Prakṛti, mind (buddhi) and the soul.
5 Organs of senses (eye, ear, nose, tongue, touch)
5 Organs of action (speech, foot, hand, urinary, organ, bowels)
5 Tan-matras (colour, taste, smell, sound and touch)
5 Elementary principles (earth, fire, air water and ether).

Total 21

Pasum purusam, पशुं पुरुषं, purusa as seer (पशुं सर्वद्रष्टारं पश्यतीति पशुः, whosoever sees is pasu, one who sees the inner meaning, a ṛsi, a seer (पशुः पश्यतेः — Nir. III.16).

Also the bound purusa as the victim, (अबध्नन् विराट् - पुरुषमेव पशुत्वेन भावितवन्तः — Sayana) The word pasu is derived from the verb पशु: to see (an independent root, according to Yaska, not from दृश्); (see also SBr. VI. 2.1.4 — यद् पश्यत्तस्मादेते पशवस्तेष्वेतमपश्यत्तस्माद्वेवैते पशवः:).

16. The gods worshipped sacrifice with sacred rites. Those were the first ordinances. Becoming great, they verily obtained heaven, where dwelt the earlier gods who are to be propitiated.

Gods worshipped Agni by performing sacrifies (i.e. by kindling fire). There is a Brahmana passage: Agni was the victim. They immolated him, with him they made sacrifice. Those were the first ordinances. Having become great, they verily enjoyed heaven together, where dwell the earlier goods who are to be propitiated i.e. who lead straight to the goal. "They are a group of gods whose sphere is heven" say the etymologists. The tradition is that that was the first epoch of gods. (अग्निना अग्निमयजन्त देवाः । अग्निः पशुरासीत् । तमालभन्त । तेनायजन्त — Ait. Br. 1.16.36, 38-40, Tait, Sam. VII. 7.26.1); तानि धर्माणि प्रथमान्यासन् । ते ह नाकं महिमानः संसेव्यन्त । यत्र पूर्वेसाध्याः सन्ति देवाः साधनाः । द्युस्थानो देवगण इतिः नैरुक्ताः । पूर्वं देवयुगमित्याख्यानम् — Nir. XII. 41)

Hymn 91

The theme of the hymn is Agni, the fire, the energy, fire-divine and the adorable Lord — The Ṛsi of this hymn is Aruna, the son of Vitihavya (अरुणो वैतहव्यः), most likely a historical person. The indication to the dravya-yajna (ecclesiastical) is indicated by the verse 10 (which contains terms like Potṛ, Ṛtviya, Nestṛ, Agnit (Agnidhra), Prasastṛ, Adhvariya, Brahma and Gṛhapati (The verse occurs in Book II also as II. 1.2.

1. Damuna, दमूना, the generous giver; the liberal; this is an epithat of Agni. We have in the Nirukta (IV.4) — Damunas, one who is inclined towards kindness, or one who is inclined to charity, or one wno is inclined to self-control (दम =self-control). (दमूना दममना वा । दानमना वा । दान्तमना वा); or also the word dama is a synonym of home, and hence the word damunas may mean "one who is devoted to home. (अपि वा दम इति गृहनाम । तन्मना स्यात् — Nir. IV. 4; दम गृहनाम — Nigh. III. 4; see जुष्टो दमूना अतिथिः दुरोणः — V. 4.5)

For damuna, see —

दमूनसः	— V. 42.12
दमूनसम्	— I. 141.11; III. 2.15; IV. 11.5; V. 8.1; X. 41.3
दमूनसि	— VIII. 50.10
दमूनाः	— I. 60.4; 68.5; 123.3; 140.10; III. 1.11; 17; 3.6; 5.4; 31.16; IV. 4.11; V. 1.8; 4.5; VI. 19.3; 71.4; VII. 9.2; X. 31.4; 46.6; 91.1

Idaspade, इळस्पदे = इळः पदे — at the foot or foot-mark or base of Iḍa, Ida, इळा, is a synonym of earth also (Nigh. 1.1). In the ritual-literature, idaspada represents the Uttara Vedi, an altar constructed the north side (इळः इळाया पदे स्थान उत्तरवेद्याम् — Sayana). In verse 4, see इळायाः पदे ।

For इळः, इळस्पति and इळस्पदे, see: इळः III. 4.3; VII. 47.1; X.17.9. इळस्पति — V. 42. 14; VI. 58.4.

इळस्पदे — I. 128.1; II. 10.1; VI.1.2; X. 70.1; 91.1; 191.1,

2. The emphasis: गृहे-गृहे, वने-वने, जनं-जनं, विशंविशम् — a charming construction.

3. Another charming construction: सुदक्षा दक्षैः; क्रतुना सुक्रतुः; काव्येन कविः; वसूना वसुः

10. Repetition of II. 1.2.

12. matayah, vacah, rcah, girah, su-stutitayah, मतयः, वाचः, ऋचः, गिरः, सुऽस्तुतयः, laudatory words (मतयः); eulogistic words and voices etc. - almost synonyms for words, Ṛks, words of praises, for obtaining wealth.

13. Jaya'iva patye usati suvasah, जायाऽइवपत्ये उशती सुऽवासः — like a loving well-attired wife attracting her husband.

For jaya'iva (जायेव = जायाऽइव), see I. 66.3; 124.7; IV. 3.2; IX. 82.4; X. 10.7; 71.4; 91.13; of these, I. 124.7; IV. 3.2; X. 71.4; and 91.13 are जायेव पत्ये उशती सुवासाः

Hymn 92

The Visvedevah, Nature's all bounties, are the devata; and the Ṛsi Saryata, the son of Manu (शार्यातो मानवः)

Hymn 93

The devatah are the Visvedevah, all-gods or Nature's all bounties. The Ṛsi is Tanva, the sun of Pṛthu (तान्वः पार्थ्यः)

These names occur in verse 15.

1. Dyava-pṛthivi mahi bhutam uryin, द्यावाऽपृथिवी महि भूतं उर्वीम्, heaven and earth be great (महि) and spacious.

Yahvi nari na rodasi sadam nah, यह्वी नारी न रोदसी सदं नः, mighty rodasi be ever with us like wives (ladies). There are 24 synonyms of dyava — pṛthivi — Nigh. III. 30.

7. For Ṛbhu Vaja, and others, see earlier notes.

15. For tanvah, see III. 31.2 and X. 93.15; for parthyah (पार्थ्यः) ; there is no other reference in the Ṛgveda.

Hymn 94

For verse 1, 2, 7, 9 see Nir. IX. 9; VII. 7; III. 9; II. 9 respectively

The deity is gravanah (ग्रावाणः) , a word, which has various meanings. In the Soma ritual, the word stands for the stores, used for bruising the Soma plant, and so extracting the sap. The ṛsi is Arbuda, a conceptual term (perhaps meaning the serpent also, the son of Kadru. In the latter Sanskrit literature, there are certain parables relating to Kadru and Vainateya.

The word Kadru occurs only once in the Ṛgveda (VIII. 45.26); it is interpreted by Ludwig as the name of a priest, but it more probably means a Soma vessel. अपिबत् कद्रुवः सुतमिन्द्रः सहस्रबाह्वे । अत्रादेदिष्ट पौंस्यम् — VIII. 45.26)

For Arbunda, see अर्बुदम् — I. 51.6; II. 11.20; 14.4; VIII. 32.26 अर्बुदस्य — VIII. 3.19; 32.3; X. 67.12

1. Let them proclaim. Let us proclaim. Address the stones who speak in return, when ye, O unsplit mountains, quick and rich in Soma, together bear the sound; i.e. invocation for Indra.

Sloka, श्लोक, call; it is derived from the root) (शृ, to break open. (श्लोकः शृणोते — Nir. IX. 9).

Ghosom, घोषम्, sound the word is derived from the root, घुष्, to sound (घोषो घुष्यते — Nir. IX.9)

Sominah, सोमिनः , you are rich in Soma, or you are in the abodes of one who is rich in Soma. (सोमिनं यूयं स्थेति वा । सोमिनो गृहेष्विति — Nir. IX. 9)

2. Hotuscit purve havih adyam asata, होतुः वित् पूर्वे हविः अद्यम् आशत — Even before the sacrificer, they taste the delicious oblations. (This is a panegyric of stones. Or else they may be both anthropomorphic and unanthropomorphic or else the unanthropomorphic appearance of the gods, who are really anthropomorphic, i.e. their counterself in the form of action.

Abhe krandanti haritabhirasabhih, अभिक्रन्दन्ति हरितेभिरासभिः They shout with their green mouths. This is a panegyric of stones. As to the view that they are praised as associated with anthropomorphic objects, (we reply) that it is just the same (in the case of inanimate objects). (यथो एतत्पौरुषविधिकै र्द्रव्यसंयोगैरित्येतदपि तादृशमेव — Nir. VIII. 7).

7. Worship them, who have ten protectors, ten girdling circles, ten yoko-straps, ten binding thongs, ten reins, who are immortal, who bear ten car-pole, and when yoked are ten.

Avanayah, अवनयः, fingers; so called because they promote actions (अवनयोऽङ्गुल्यो भवन्ति - अवन्ति कर्माणि — Nir III. 9); also they are so called because go foremost, or they act foremost, or they move foremost or they mark or they bend or from decorating (अङ्गुल्यः कस्मात्? अग्रगामिन्यो भवन्तीति वा। अग्रगालिन्यो भवन्तीति वा। अग्रकारिण्यो भवन्तीति वा। अग्रसरिण्यो भवन्तीति वा। अङ्कना भवन्तीति वा। अञ्चना भवन्तीति वा। अपिवाभ्यञ्जनादेव स्युः (Nir. III.8)

Kaksebhyah, कक्षेभ्यः, girdling circles, since they illumine actions (कक्ष्याः प्रकाशयन्तीति कर्माणि — Nir. III.9)

Yokebhyah, योकेभ्यः yoke-straps is explained by binding thong (योक्त्राणि — Nir. III.9).

Yojanbhyah, योजनेभ्यः, reins, since they penetrate actions (योजनानीति व्याख्यातम - Nir. III.9)

Abhisubhyah, अभीशुभ्यः, carpoles, अभीशवोऽभ्यश्नुवते कर्माणि

Dhuh, धूः, poles; the word is derived from the root dhurv, धूर्व, meaning to hurt; the other meaning of the same root is to support (धूर्धूर्वतेर्वधकर्मणः। इयमपीतरा धूरेव तस्मादेव — Nir. III.9).

9. Hari, हरी, two horses (हरी, अश्वौ — Sayana); the two forces: centripetal and centrifugal.

Gavi, गवि, with adhisavana carm, skin for filtration; also in the midspace, (गवि अधिषवण चर्मणि — Sayana).

Amsum, अंशुम्, Soma (अंशुं सोमम्; the elixir component.)

Indrah, इन्द्रः, the sun.

Hymn 95

For verses 5, 7, 10 and 14, see Nir. III.21, X.47, XI.36; and VII.3 respectively.

Here we have in this hymn a dialogue between Pururavas and Urvasi, and therefore, conceptual (in no way historical) are also the persons named as Pururava and Urvasi (पुरूरवा-उर्वशी) of the verses ascribed to them. The devata, or the theme, is the purport of the remarks of both of them.

Ṛsis: पुरूरवा ऐळः for verses 1, 3, 6, 8–10, 12, 14, 17 (देवता-उर्वशी)
उर्वशी : for verses 2, 4, 5, 7, 11, 13, 15, 16, 18 (देवता-पुरूरवा ऐळः)

Traditionally, Pururavas (पुरूरवस्) is regarded as a hero, and Urvasi (उर्वशी) an apsara or nymph. We have a mention of them in the Satapatha Brahmana also (XI.5.1.1); see also III.4.1.22; also Kathaka Samhita (VIII.10); and Nir. X.46–47. Here in these texts several verses of the Ṛgvedic dialogue find a setting in a continuous story. In the later Sanskrit literature, Pururavas is regarded as a king (another reference to him in the Ṛg verse I. 31.4. His epithet Aila, ऐळः, (SBr. XI.5.1.1), descendent of Ida (इळा), a sacrificial goddess) shows that Pururavas has not been a historical figure; most likely, he is mythological. The hymn is variously described by Yaska in his Nirukta. For references in the Ṛgveda, see –

उर्वशी – V.41.19; X.95.10

उर्वशीः – IV.2.18

उर्वशीम् – X.95.17

उर्वश्याः – VII.33.1

पुरूरवः – X.95.2; 5; 7; 11; 15.

पुरूरवसे – I.31.4

Sayana narrates a legend, which we shall give in abstract. Mitra and Varuna excited by the charms of Urvasi gave birth to Agastya, pronouncing at the same time an imprecation upon the nymph and condemning her to descend to earth and cohabit with a mortal. Ila or Ida, a Raja, having gone out hunting with the sons of Manu came to a place, where Uma, the daughter of the mountain, with her attendant nymphs, was worshipping Siva. In punishment for his intrusion, he was changed into a woman. Having prayed to Siva to be restored to manhood, he was referred to Devi, who allowed him to be alternately male and female, six months at a time. In the latter condition, Budha, the son of Soma became enamoured of her, and had a son by her who was called Pururavas and was Raja of Pratisthana (प्रतिष्ठान).

Pururavas became enamoured of Urvasi, who became his mistress on condition that if he should be ever naked in her sight except in bad, she should return to heaven; he was also to take charge of two pat rams belonging to her. They lived together four years, when one night, hearing the bleating of the rams, as they were being carried off by the gods, Pururavas sprang from the bed in pursuit, when a flash of lightning exhillited him to Urvasi naked. She consequently left him. Pururavas went in quest of her, and wandered about like one distracted, until he at length discovered her sporting with her fellow-nymphs. He implored her to return, but she refused, calling him by various opprobrious names, as horse, brute, and the like (Sayana merely says vajra). This is the occasion of the dialogue of the present sukta, in which, however, Urvasi does not express herself in such unlady like language, nor are other particulars of the legend adverted to, beyond an illusion to the past cohabitation of the Raja and the nymph, and the unwillingness of the former to let her mistress depart. The Pauranika story is a very corrupt version conceived on the basis of a most natural dialogue in the present hymn. Sayana, in his commentary, quotes the Vajasaneyaka, or White Yajuh. But, in fact, we have not a trace of this dialogue in the Sukla Yajurveda Samhita. (Wilson).

5. Trih sma mahnah snathayo vaitasena, त्रिः स्म माह्नः श्नथयो वैतसेन, thrice during the day hast thou embraced me (thrice a day, you used to have an intercourse with me.

Vaitasena, वैतसेन, with penis; vaitasah and sepah (शेपः) are synonyms of penis. Sepah, शेपः, is derived from root शप्, to touch; and Vaitasah, वैतसः, it is faded (शेपः शपतेः स्पृशतिकर्मणः । वैतसो वितस्तं भवति – Nir. III.21; for Sepam, शेपं, see यस्यामुशन्तः प्रहराम शेपम् – X. 85.37).

7. On his being born, the goers (gnah), sat together and the rivers flowing by themselves strengthened him, when, O Pururavas, the gods strengthened thee for the great battle, for slaying the barbarian.

Gnah, ग्नाः, goers, i.e. waters, so called from going, or else the divine women, sat together (ग्नाः गमनाद् आपः । देव पत्न्यो वा).

Svagurtah, स्वगूर्ताः, flowing by themselves (स्वगूर्ताः स्वयंगामिन्यः – Nir.X.47)

10. Urvasi, उर्वशी, a name of naiad, or nymph, so called because she pervades wide regions (उरु+अश्, to pervade), or she pervades by means of thighs (ऊरु+अश्); or her desire is great (उरु+अश्, to desire. (उर्वश्यप्सरा । उर्वभ्यश्नुते । उरुभ्यांश्नुते । उरुर्वा वशोऽस्याः – Nir.V.13).

Apsarah, अप्सराः, a naiad, a nymph, is one who moves on water. Or else, the word अप्सस्, apsas, is a synonym of beauty; it is derived from the negative of root प्सा, to devour; it is not to be devoured, but to be gazed at, or to be made pervasive (अप्सरा अप्सारिणी । अपि वाप्स इति रूपनाम । अप्सातेः । अप्सानीयं भवति । आदर्शनीयम् । व्यापनीयं वा – Nir. V.13)

Apsara is one who possesses a beautiful person (तद्रा भवति रूपवती); the beauty is either acquired by her or given to her (तदनयात्तमिति वा । तदस्मै दत्तमिति वा । On seeing her, the seminal fluid of Mitra and Varuna fell down (तस्या दर्शनान्मित्रावरुण्यो रेतश्चस्कन्द – Nir.V.13; Yaska refers to the verse: उतासि मैत्रावरुणो वसिष्ठो र्वश्या ब्रह्मन्मनसोऽधि) जातः । द्रप्सं स्कन्नं ब्रह्मणा दैव्येन विश्वोदेवाः पुष्करे स्वाद दन्त – VII.33.11 Vaistha was born from the mind of Urvasi).

Urvasi, in fact, is lightning (विद्युत्) – उर्वशीविद्युत् (Durgacarya on the Nirukta; नित्यपक्षे तु उर्वशी विद्युत् –Skanda–svami; उर्वभ्यश्नुते, बहुव्याप्नोति आकाशे बहुव्यापिनी विद्युत्; since she is pervasive, and hence lightning; उरुभ्यां विस्तृताभ्यां धाराभ्यां शुष्कार्द्राभ्यामश्नुते व्याप्नोति हि विद्युत्, and thus Urvasi is a synonym of lightning. She flows through dry and wet both, she moves across clouds, across and through and through waters and hence, she is also known as apsara (अप्सरा अप्सारिणी । अप्सुसारिणी । आपो अन्तरिक्ष नाम – Nigh. I.3; अन्तरिक्षे सारिणी; apah, आपः is a synonym of atmosphere or midspace; lightning flashes through the midspace and hence she is apsara.

Apsah is synonym of beauty (अप्सः रुपनाम – Nigh. III.7); lightning is charming and beautiful.

The hymn deals with rains, clouds, and lightning.

14. Sudevah adya prapatet anavrt etc. सुदेवो अद्य प्रपतेदनावृत्., the benevolent god may fly forth today and never return (quoted by Yaska, Nir. VII.3)

In conclusion, we may say, that Pururavas in this hymn may be: cloud, air, an enlightened person; and consequently urvasi would be lightning (विद्युत्), speech (वाक्) or a handsome lady (रुपवती).

Hymn 96

Indra's two horses, हरी, are the deities (हरि स्तुतिः) and Ṛsi is Baru of the race of Angiras; or Indra's son Sarvahari (बरुः सर्वहरिर्वैन्द्रः).

The two horses represent the centrifugal and centripetal forces; tending away from a centre (to flee from) is centrifugal; and tending towards a centre is centripetal; They may be called efferent and afferent respectively (efferent, i.e. conveying outward or away; and afferent, i.e. bringing inward as nerves).

In this hymn, we have the usual details which relate to Indra: his two bay horses (1), Indra going to sacrifice, the Soma juice, golden-tinted (2), Indra showering rain like beautiful butter (1); his thunderbolt, or his punitive justice (3); bolt made of iron (3); Indra as the sun placed in the sky, like the banner (4); by His thunderbolt, with yellow jaws, he destroys all foes (Ahi, अहि, 4). Indra has yellow locks (हरिकेश), the moisture – absorbing rays (5).

The following terms are expressive in verse 5; हरिकेश, हरिजात, अहर्यथा, हर्यतम्, हर्यसि.

हरिकेश - हरितरोमवत् अश्व, with yellow locks.

हरिजात - हरितवर्णः with golden hue.

अहर्यथाः-अकामयथाः, स्तोत्रं हविर्वा; desire the oblation, हर्यतम्-कान्तम्; delightful (for राधं, the food).

हर्यसि-कामयसे, thou desirest.

Similarly, हरिवन्तं, harivantam, in verse 7 means the sacrifice in which the Soma is presented. In verse 8 we have हरिश्मशारुः, yellow-bearded and हरिपा, the drinker of yellow (Soma) (हरितवर्ण सोमपाः – Sayana). In verse 9, we have हरिणी, any word for हरी, the two bay-horses; or for the हरित वर्णे कनीनिके; and हरिणीशिप्रे, yellow jaws.

Finally. in verse 13, Indra is Lord of horses, drinks libations; the sacrifice is for Him alone; He exhilarates with sweet Soma; He is the showerer of rain.

Hymn 97

For verses 1, 3 and 11, see Nir. IX.28; VI.3 and III.15 respectively.

Medicinal plants and herbs are the deities and the conceptual Ṛsi is Bhisaj, भिषज् (the physician), the son of Atharvan (भिषगाथर्वणः). This hymn is repeated in the Yajuh text, XII. 75-96, 101, with verses 20 and 21 transposed in the yajuh as 95 and 94. The Yajuh Samhita has four verses extra on the same theme, 97 to 100.

1. I think, there are indeed one hundred and seven abodes of the lawny ones, the herbs, that were produced three ages before the gods, in days of yore.

There are three kinds of abodes, i.e. places, names, and species. Here species are meant. Or else, there are seven hundred vital parts of man, the herbs are applied on them (धामानि त्रयाणि भवन्ति। स्थानानि। नामानि। जन्मानीति। जन्मान्यत्राभिप्रेतानि। सप्तशतं पुरुषस्य मर्मणां तेष्वेना दधतीति वा – Nir IX.28)

3. Virudhah, वीरुधः, herbs; they are so called from growing (विरूह्) (वीरुध ओषधयो भवन्ति। विरोहणात् : Yaska quotes for this word: वीरुधः पारयिष्णवः – Herbs are our means of salvation (Nir. VI.3).

9. Iskṛtih, इष्कृतिः, is the mother of plants, and hence you are Niskṛti; निष्कृतिः Both the words have same connotation; the unmaker or remedies of diseases, (nis, निष्, becomes is, इष्, by dropping the particle, n – न् - निष्करोति व्याधिं नाशयतीति निष्कृतिः नि शब्दो बहुलम् III.1.17; इति प्रातिशाख्य सूत्रेणोपसर्गैकदेश नकार लोपः and thus निष्कृति becomes इष्कृति – Mahidhara on yv. XI.83).

11. Atma yakśmasya nasyati pura jivagṛbho yatha, आत्मा यक्ष्मस्य नश्यति पुरा जीवगृभो यथा; the soul of consumption perishes before-hand as that of a câptive bird. (Nir. III.15)

Atma, आत्मा, the soul; the word is derived from the root अत् (at), to go, or आप् (ap), to obtain, i.e., it may be called "obtained", in the sense that it is omnipresent. (आत्मा-ततेर्वा। आप्तेर्वा। अपि वाप्त इव स्यात्। यावत् व्याप्तिभूत इति – Nir. III.15)

Jivagṛbhah, जीवगृभः like a captive soul, or like a captive bird. (जीवानां शकुन्यादीनां ग्राहकाद् व्याधाद् यथा जीवानश्यन्ति, तद्वत् – Sayana)

A vivid description in favour of plants, to be used for medicinal practices: hundreds are the applications of these herbs, a thousandfold is their growth; they fulfil hundreds of functions (2). They bear flowers and fruits (पुष्पवतीः प्रसूवरीः). The physicians are given fee in kind: horse, cow and garments (4).

The plants mentioned by name are asvattha and palasa (अश्वत्थ, पलाश); asvavati (अश्वावती), somavati (सोमवती), urjayanti (ऊर्जयन्ती) and udojasa (उदोजस).

13. Kikidivina, किकिदीविना, name of a bird; making the cry ki-ki; perhaps an epithat of the bird casa, चाष (Mahidhara).

Nihakaya, निहाकया, iguana (गोधिकया–Sayana)

Casena, चाषेण, name of a bird; or bird in general. Mahidhara thinks that in this verse, there is an allusion to the several diseases arising from vitiated bile, phlegm and wind. But this is not correct.

These three words किकिदिना, निहाकया and चाषेण do not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda.

22. All the medicinal plants enter into a dialogue (समवदन्त संवादं कृतवत्यः) with Soma Raja; "To whomsoever sick person the Brahmana physician administers us, we cure him; we save him from death" (कथं संवादस्तमाह। ब्राह्मणो यस्मै रुग्णाय करोति, अस्मन् मूलादिना चिकित्सां करोति। हे राजन् स्वामिन् सोम, तं रुग्णं नरं वयं पारयामसि पारयामः – Mahidhara).

23. Among all the herbal plants, you, Soma, are the best. To you all trees bow down.

Hymn 98

For verse 5 and 7, see Nir.II.11; II.12 respectively.

Bṛhaspati and other devas or gods are the deities, and Devapi, the son of Ṛstisena, ऋष्टिषेण is the Ṛsi (देवापिरार्ष्टिषेण).

In the Nirukta (II.10-11), we have a legend as regards the origin of the particular hymn, which has also been quoted by Sayana.

1. The names of such devas have been quoted in the verse: Bṛhaspati, Mitra, Varuna, Pusan, Adityas, Vasus, Maruts, and Parjanya; they have been invoked to send rains for Santanu (शान्तनु). For the devas, see our earlier notes, and also the Nirukta.

बृहस्पतिः – Nir. X.12; Ṛv. X.68.8 (protector or supporter of great).

मित्रः – Nir. X.21-22; Ṛv. III.59.1 (he preserves us from destruction or because he runs measuring things together.

वरुण – Nir. X.3-4; also Nir. X.5; Ṛv. V.85.3 (He covers) derived from Vṛ, वृ, to cover.

पूषन् – Nir. XII. 16; Ṛv. VI. 58.1; one of the names of the sun, when he goes on account of the increase of rays.
Nir. II.13; Ṛv. II.27.1;41.6 (यद्रश्मि पोषं पुष्यति तत्पूषा भवति; He takes the fluids, during eclipse, he takes light of the luminaries, he blazes with lustre; he is the son of Aditi.

मरुतः – Nir. XI.14; Ṛv.I.88.1
(they are of measured sound; measured brilliancy, or they run very much).

पर्जन्यः – Nir. X.10; Ṛv. V.83.2
(clouds, one who gives satisfaction; favourable to men; the best conquerer; best progenitor; bestower of juices).

Santanave, शन्तनवे, for Santanu; for getting water (शन्तनुः शन्तनोऽस्त्विति वा, शमस्मैतन्वा अस्त्विति वा – Nir. II.12.; santanu means peace to thee, O body; or peace to him in his body. The word occurs only at three places (शम्तनवे –X.98.1; 3;7) – only in the hymn, and nowhere else in the Ṛgveda.

5. The seer Devapi, son of Ṛstisena, acting as the performing priest, knows how to obtain the goodwill of gods. He caused the divine waters to flow from the upper to lower ocean by means of rain.

Arstisenah (आर्ष्टिषेणः) means the son of Ṛstisena ऋष्टिषेण; or of Isitasena (इषितसेन) i.e. one whose army is mobilized. Army (सेना) is so called because it has a commander, or a uniform mode of marching (आर्ष्टिषेण ऋष्टिषेणस्य पुत्रः । इषितसेनस्येति वा । सेना सेश्वरा समानगतिर्वा – Nir. II.11).

7. When Devapi, domestic chaplain to Santanu, and selected to be the performing priest, imploring kindled fire, the generous Bṛhaspati granted him speech, which was heard by the gods, and which was the winner of rain (See Nir. II.12).

Purohitah, पुरोहितः, chaplain, so called because they place him in front (पुरोहितः पुर एनं दधति) – Nir. II.12.

Hotraya vrtah, होत्रायवृतः, selected to be the performing priest, he imploring kindled fire (होत्राय वृतः कृपायमाणोऽन्वध्यायत् – Nir. II.12).

10. Navatih nava sahasra adhiratha, नवतिः नव सहस्रः अधिरथाः ninety-nine thousand chariot loads (for एकोनशत, one less hundred, the Vedic usage is नवतिर्नव. Or it may mean ninety-nine chariot loads and thousands of cattle, (नवतिः नव च तथा एतानि अधिरथानि सहस्रा सहस्राणि च रथाधिकानि गवां सहस्राणि च – Sayana).

12. Durgaha badhasva, दुर्गहा बाधस्व, demolish the strongholds or fortresses (दुर्गहा दुर्गहाणि दुःखेन गाहितव्यानि शत्रुपुराणि – Sayana; durga is one that could be captured only with difficulty.

Hymn 99

For verse 12, see Nir. V.3.

The deity is Indra, and Rsi is Vamra, the son of Vikhanasa (वम्रो वैखानसः).

2. Saptathasya bhratuh, सप्तथस्य भ्रातुः, of the seventh brother (or the seventh warden). This represents the seventh Aditya (or the sun) in the series. Bhratr (भ्रातृ) means brother, or the warden who takes good care of his ward. It also means the one who shares in the distribution of property (भ्रातुः भागैर्भक्तव्यस्य – Sayana. Bhrata, भ्राता; a brother; the word is derived from the root bhr √भृ meaning to take; he takes a share of patrimony or he is to be brought up (भ्राता भरतेर्हरति कर्मणः। हरते भागं भर्तव्यो भवतीति वा – Nir. IV.26). The twelve Adityas, in series pertaining to twelve months, are Dhatr (Caitra); Aryaman (Vaisakha); Mitra (Jyestha), Pusan (Asadha); Parjanya (Karttika); Amsa (Margasirsa), Bhaga (Pausa); Tvastr (Magha), Visnu (Phalguna). (see our previous notes on p.429, Vol.II). The seventh Sun in the series is Pusan.

3. Sisnadevan, शिश्नदेवान्, the phallus worshippers; or in general; who lead a life of luxury in sex affairs; licentious, not a brahmacari. They are to be discouraged; their group is to be demolished. Wilson says "The expression ghnan sisnadevan is very remarkable, both as denoting the contemporary worship of the Linga and its opposition to Brahmanism. According to Sayana the word ghnandevan means incontinent, licentious. (शिश्नदेवान् अब्रह्मचर्यान् [illegible] शत्रुपुर-सम्बन्धिषु वर्तमानान् घ्नन् हिंसन् – Sayana).

We have in the Nirukta (IV. 19); let the phallus-worshipper , i.e. the unchaste (sisna is derived from root √श्नथ्, snath, to pierce) not approach our sanctury: मा शिश्नदेवा अब्रह्मचर्याः। शिश्नं श्नथतेः; also – Rv. VII.21.5 "मा शिश्नदेवा अपि गुर्ऋतं नः"

Satadurasya, शतदुरस्य, of the hundred gates or doors of or from the city of enemy with hundred gates. (शतदुरस्य शतद्वारस्य, शत्रुपुरस्य –Sayana).

5. Vamrasya manye mithuna, वम्रस्य मन्ये मिथुना, I think of the two parents of Vamra.

Vamra is one that vomits out the knowledge or learning. The knowledge of truth when given out in a polluted form, then it is called as having been vomitted out.

For vamra, see

वम्रः – I.51.9; VIII. 102.21

वम्रकः – X.99.12

वम्रम् – I.112.15

वम्रस्य – X.99.5

वम्रीभिः – IV.19.9

Vamribhih and Upajihvikah, वम्रीभिः, उपजिह्विकाः, are synonymous of emmets. Vamrayah (emmets) are so called for vomitting. Simika (सीमिका) is also an emmet, so called from crawling and upajihvika is an emmet meaning as smellers. (वम्रीभि रुपजिह्विका अति सीमिकानाम्। वम्रयोवमनात् सीमिका स्यनात्। उपजिह्विका उपजिघ्र्यः — Nir. III.20; refer to "वम्रीभिः पुत्रमग्रुवो अदानम्") IV. 19.9; and "यदत्युपजिह्विका यद्वम्रो अतिसर्पति" — VIII. 102.21)

12. Quoted by the Nirukta: वम्रकः पड्भिरुपसर्प दिन्द्रम्, Vamraka has approached Asura, i.e., Indra with a Soma draught (Nir. V.3), i.e. with drinks or with beautiful hymns (or with rousing panegyrics – Vamrakah, वम्रकः, one who speaks in praises; the praiser; one who praises through beautiful hymns.

Padbhih, पड्भिः पादैः, by legs

Hymn 100

Nature's all bounties, all-gods or Visvedevah are the theme; Ṛsi is Duvasyu, son of Vandana (दुवस्युर्वान्दनः).

Devatas referred to are Indra, Savitṛ and Aditi (1); Vayu and Aditi (2); Savitṛ and Aditi (3); Indra and Aditi (4); Indra, Bṛhaspati, Manu and Aditi (5); Indra, Agni and Aditi (6); Aditi (7); Savitṛ and Aditi (8), (9); Aditi (10); Indra and Aditi (11) and Indra (12). Evidently, most of the hymn is devoted to Aditi, the Mother Infinity or the Eternity.

The burden of the verses is "आ सर्वतातिमदितिं वृणीमहे" i.e. we long for or we invoke the universal Aditi.

Sarvatatim, सर्वतातिम्, the universal. (सर्वतातिम् । स्वार्थिकस्तातिल् । सर्वां सर्वात्मिकाम् । यद्वा । सर्वे तायन्तेऽस्यामिति सर्वतातिः । छान्दसो दीर्घः । – Sayana).

Aditim, अदितिम्, indivisible, Mother of Gods; the Mother Infinity; Mother Eternity, the indivisible unity (अदितिम् । अखण्डनीयां देवमातरम् –Sayana).

(See Nir. IV.22: अदितिरदीना देवमाता – Aditi – unimpaired, mother of gods – see I.89.10–अदितिर्द्यौरदितिरन्तरिक्षम्.)

Aditi is the first among the atmospheric goddesses – तासामदितिः प्रथम गामिनी भवति । मध्यस्थाना स्त्रियः – Nir. XI.23; See X. 64.5 – दक्षस्य वादिते जन्मनि॰, at the birth and ordinance of Daksa, thou attendest, O Aditi etc. The akhanda agni, the imperishable fire divine is also aditi – अग्निरपि अदितिरुच्यते – Nir. XI.23; see I.94.15 – यस्मै त्वं स द्रविणो ददाशोऽनागास्त्वमदिते॰)

7. Nah devah anṛtasya varpasah makih, नः देवाः अनृतस्य वर्पसः माकिः – Let not, O gods, the possession of an unreal (form pertaining to untruth) form be our (lot); may we never come back to man's body; i.e., having forsaken untruth, we should attain moksa or liberation, and be free from the bondage of births and deaths (किंच हे देवाः नः अस्माकं अमृतस्य वर्पसः रुपस्य प्राप्तिः माकिः मा भूत । इतः परं मानुषं रुपं मा भूदित्यर्थः – Sayana).

12. Duvasyu, दुवस्यु, the domestic attendant (according to Sayana, the name of a Ṛsi, who was anxious to serve (दुवस्युः परिचरणमिच्छन् एतन्नामर्षिः – Sayana).

For duvasyu, दुवस्यु, see Nir. X.20 – दुवस्यतिराप्नोति कर्मा; duvasyati means to worship; to serve, to attend; see – यमं राजानं हविष दुवस्य – X.14.1; दुवस्य परिचर – Sayana).

Hymn 101

For verses 3, 7 and 10, see Nir. V.28; V.26; and IV.19 respectively.

The hymn is devoted to the praise of Ṛtvij, the priests serving at the seasonal ceremonies. The Ṛsi is Budha, the son of Soma (बुधः सौम्यः). Nature's bounties or all-Gods (विश्वेदेवाः) have also been invoked in the hymn: such as Agni, Dadhikra, Usas, Indra (1). Indra is regarded as the son of Nistigri, which is another name of Aditi.

3. For this verse, see also Yajurveda, XII.68

Nediya it srnyah pakvameyat, नेदीय इत् सृण्यः पक्वमेयात्, from the vicinity of the hook, let him come to ripe grain.

Srni, सृणि, means a hook, so called from urging (√sr Ankusah अंकुशः (hook) is derived from the root anc (to bend); it is bent (सृणिरङ्कुशो भवति सरणात् । अङ्कुशोऽञ्चतेः । आकुञ्चतो भवतीति वा – Nir. V.28).

7. Refresh the horses, win fortune, here make a chariot, that brings prosperity. Pour down in the cavity, the drinks for men, having wooden troughs, furnished with a stone wheel and pails and armour.

Drona-Ahava, द्रोण-आहाव – trough; it is so called from being invoked – आहाव आह्वानात्

Avaha, आवह, conveyance; it is so called from driving (आ+वह; आवह आवहनात्- Nir. V.26)

Dronam, द्रोणम्, wooden troughs – द्रोणं द्रुमं मयं भवति; drona is so called since it is made of wood – Nir. V.26)

10. A tu sinca harim im droh upastha vasibhih taksata asman'mayibhih – आ तू सिञ्च हरिम् ईम द्रोः उपऽस्थे वाशीभिः तक्षत् अश्मन्ऽमयीभिः – Pour down the golden juice in the lap of the wood, prepare it with chisels made of stone.

Here in the lap of wood (द्रोः उपस्थे) means "in the lap of a wooden cup".

Harim, हरिम्, Soma or the golden juice, i.e. Soma, so called from its golden colour.

The other meaning of "harih" (हरिः) is monkey, while derived from the same root.

Vasibhih, वाशीभिः, chisels, made of stone (stone-made chisels); or with songs of praise. (हरिः सोमो हरित वर्णः । अयमपीतरो हरिरेतस्मादेव । वाशीभिस्तक्षताश्मन्मयीभिः । वाशीभिरश्म मयीभिरिति वा – Nir. IV.19; also द्रोः द्रुम विकारस्य पात्रस्य; हरिं हरितवर्णं सोमम् । अश्मन्मयीभिः अयः शिलासा-रभूताभिः । वाशीभिः तक्षत पात्राणि सोमपुर्णानि – Sayana.

Dasa kaksyabhih, दशकक्ष्याभिः, by types ten in number, or ten classes, or attached as flags of ten sorts – Sayana.

Hymn 102

For verses 5 and 9, see Nir. IX. 23 and IX. 24 respectively.

The devata is Drughana (द्रुघण) or Indra and the Ṛsi is Mudgala (मुद्गल) of the family of Bharmyasva (मुद्गल भार्म्यश्व) .

The word Mudgalani (मुद्गलानी) occurs in verse 2, mudgalah in verse 5, mudgalanim in verse 6. These words do not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda. The word drughana occurs in verse 9.

We shall quote from Macdonell and Keith (Vedic Index) : Mudgala and Mudgalani, "Mudgala's wife, both figure in a hopelessly obscure hymn of the Ṛgveda, variously interpreted by Pischel (Vedischa Studien I. 124) and Geldner (vedische Studien, I. 138; II 1-22) and von Bradke (Zeit der Deut. Morgenandischem Gessel, 46, 445 etc) as telling a real chariot race in which, despite difficulties, Mudgala won by his wife's aid. Indian tradition is as variant as the interpretations of modern authorities. Sadgurusisya explains that Mudgala's oxen were stolen, that he pursued the thieves with the one old ox he had left, and that hurling his hammer (dru-ghana, द्रुघण), he caught the marauders. Yaska on the other hand, says that Mudgala won a race with a drughana and an ox instead of with two oxen. It is pretty clear that as Roth (Nirukta, Ertauter - ungen, 129) observed, the tradition is merely a guess, and a bad one, at the meaning of an obscure hymn, and this view is accepted by Oldenberg (Ẓ. Deut. Morgen, Gesel, 39, 78). Bloomfeld has interpreted the legend as one of heavenly, not of human events. Mudgala, probably a variant form of Mudgara (मुद्गर) , which in the later language means a hammer or a similar weapon, may be meant as a personification of the thunderbolt of Indra, rather than a real man. Later, Mudgala is a mythical sage (Av. IV. 29.6; Asvalayana Srauta Sutra XII.12; Bṛhaddevata, VI.46; VIII.12.90).

5. Thundering they approached him. In the midst of the strife, they made the bull shed water. Through him, Mudgala won a hundred thousand well-nourished kine in battle.

Subharvam, सुभर्वम्, well-nourished. The verb bharv means to eat (भर्वतिरत्तिकर्मा or पुष्यति रतिकर्मा - Sayana) (तद्वा सुभर्वं सहस्रं गवां मुद्गलः प्रधने जिगाय - Nir. IX.23).

Pradhane, प्रधने , in battle (a synonym of battle, Nigh. महाधने + प्रधने + संग्राम नाम - Nigh. II.17)

9. Drughanah - द्रुघणः, wooden mace, i.e. mace made of wood. With reference to it, there is a legend. A seer Mudgala, a descendent of Bhrmyasva, having yoked his bull, and a wooden mace, and having fought in battle, won the contest:

"Look at this yoke of the bull and the wooden mace, lying in the middle of battle, with which Mudgala won a hundred thousand kine in battles. (Nir. IX.24) Pṛtanajyesu, पृतनाज्येषु, in the battle (पृतनाज्यमिति संग्रामनाम । पृतनानामजनाद्वा - so called from dispersing or conquering hostile armies.

Mudgalah, मुद्गलः , means one who possesses beans (मुद्ग) or who swallows beans, or passion, or pride or joy (मुद्गलो मुद्गवान् । मुद्गिलो वा । मदनं गिलतीति वा । मदंगिलो वा । मुद्गिलो वा - Nir. IX.24)

Bharmysvah, भार्म्यश्वः, a son of Bhṛmyasva (भृम्यश्व). Bhrmyasva means one whose horses are always wandering, or he is so called from horse-breeding (भृम्यश्वो भृमयोऽस्याश्वाः । अश्वभरणाद्वा - Nir.IX.24)

Hymn 103

For verses 1 and 12, see Nir. I. 15 and IX, 33 respectively.

See Yv. XVII. 33-44 and 46. The whole Sukta is quoted.

1. Satam sena ajayat sakamindrah, शतं सेना अजयत् साकमिन्द्रः, Indra vanquished hundred armies together (Nir, I.15). This is quoted by Yaska in support of Kautsa who says that it is useless, for the Vedic stanzas have no meaning or their meaning is contradictory : at one place, we have "O Indra, thou art born without a foe (अशत्रुरिन्द्र जज्ञिषे - Ṛv. X.133.2), and here (X. 103.1) Indra is said to have one hundred armies of the enemy together).

5. Govit, गोवित्, the possessor of water; knowing or accepting the song of praise (गोवित् उदकस्य स्तुतेर्वा लब्धा, वेदिता वा । - Sayana)

6. Gotrabhidam, गोत्रभिदम्, breaker of clouds (गोत्राः मेघाः from गा उदकानि त्रायन्त इति गोत्रा मेघाः); breaker of mountains from गौ भूमिः । तां त्रायन्त इति गोत्राः पर्वताः । तेषां भेत्तारम् - Sayana)

12. Infatuating the heart of these (our enemies), seize their limbs, O Apva, approach (them), burn their hearts. Let our enemies abide in blinding darkness.

- Cittam, heart or rather intellect (चित्तानि प्रज्ञानानि); burn their hearts with flames (Nir. IX.33)

Apya, आप्वा, disease, fear (अप्वा येदन या विद्धोऽपवीयते । व्याधिर्वा । भयं वा - Nir. V1.12) - Apva, something transfixed with which a man is separated (firm life or happiness), i.e. disease or fear.

Hymn 104

4. Prajavat vayah, enjoying food together with offspring (वया अन्नं प्रजावत् प्रजोपेतम् - Sayana)

9. Visvayuh, विश्वायुः, all vivifying. Sayana changes विश्वायुः to विश्वाभिः, i.e., सर्वाभि with all those waters.

11. This is the burthen of several suktas, usually of which Visvamitra is the Ṛsi. In this respect, no other verse appears to be so popular as this one.

शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रं - III.30.22; 31.22; 32.17; 34.11; 35.11; 36.11; 38.10; 39.9; 43.8; 48.5; 49.5; 50.5; X.89.18; 104.11 (Most of the occurrences are in Book III, and two in Book X).

Hymn 105

For verse 1, see Nir. V.12

1. Ava smasa rudhadvah, अव श्मशा रुधद्वा - the ridge has held the water back. Smasa, श्मशा, i.e. something which runs quickly, or runs in the body. (श्मशा = कुल्या, or embankment).

Although the worship of Indra may be impeded by delay, as water in checked by an embankment, yet it will take effect at last, and the water or the rain will spread abroad (Benfey; Wilson).

Hymn 106

For verse 6, see Nir. XIII.5

5. mitra iva, मित्रेव = मित्राऽइव, like two mitras, i.e. like Mitra and Varuna (मित्रेव मित्राविव । मित्रशब्देन वरूणोऽप्युपलक्ष्यते सहावस्थानात् । मित्रावरूणाविव -Sayana)

6. Wilson's comments are:

The epithets of which the verse consists, as well as the objects of comparison, are most unusual terms, and some of them have evidently perplexed the scholiast, Sṛnya, सृण्या, is derived from sreni, a goad (सृणिरङ्कुशः = अङ्कुशार्हौ मत्तगजाविव), the animals requiring a goad, i.e. elephants Yaska (XII.15) agrees with one of Sayana's explanations of Naitosa, नैतोश, i.e. sons of Nitosa, नितोश. Sayana gives two contradictory interpretations of parpharika, पर्फरीका, "cherishing (friends)" and "destroying (foes)"

"Look at this yoke of the bull and the wooden mace, lying in the middle of battle, with which Mudgala won a hundred thousand kine in battles. (Nir. IX.24)

Pṛtanajyesu, पृतनाज्येषु, in the battle (पृतनाज्यमिति संग्रामनाम । पृतनानामजनाद्वा - so called from dispersing or conquering hostile armies.

Mudgalah, मुद्गलः , means one who possesses beans (मुद्ग) or who swallows beans, or passion, or pride or joy (मुद्गलो मुद्गवान्। मुद्गिलो वा । मदनं गिलतीति वा । मदंगिलो वा । मुद्गिलो वा - Nir. IX.24)

Bharmysvah, भार्म्यश्वः, a son of Bhṛmyasva (भृम्यश्व). Bhrmyasva means one whose horses are always wandering, or he is so called from horse-breeding (भृम्यश्वो भृमयोऽस्याश्वाः । अश्वभरणाद्वा - Nir.IX.24)

Hymn 103

For verses 1 and 12, see Nir. I. 15 and IX, 33 respectively.

See Yv. XVII. 33-44 and 46. The whole Sukta is quoted.

1. Satam sena ajayat sakamindrah, शतं सेना अजयत् साकमिन्द्रः, Indra vanquished hundred armies together (Nir, I.15). This is quoted by Yaska in support of Kautsa who says that it is useless, for the Vedic stanzas have no meaning or their meaning is contradictory : at one place, we have "O Indra, thou art born without a foe (अशत्रुरिन्द्र जज्ञिषे - Ṛv. X.133.2), and here (X. 103.1) Indra is said to have one hundred armies of the enemy together).

5. Govit, गोवित्, the possessor of water; knowing or accepting the song of praise (गोवित् उदकस्य स्तुतेर्वा लब्धा, वेदिता वा । - Sayana)

6. Gotrabhidam, गोत्रभिदम्, breaker of clouds (गोत्राः मेघाः from गा उदकानि त्रायन्त इति गोत्रा मेघाः); breaker of mountains from गौ भूमिः । तां त्रायन्त इति गोत्राः पर्वताः । तेषां भेत्तारम् - Sayana)

12. Infatuating the heart of these (our enemies), seize their limbs, O Apva, approach (them), burn their hearts. Let our enemies abide in blinding darkness.

- Cittam, heart or rather intellect (चित्तानि प्रज्ञानानि); burn their hearts with flames (Nir. IX.33)

Apya, आप्वा, disease, fear (अप्वा यदेनया विद्धोऽपवीयते । व्याधिर्वा । भयं वा - Nir. V1.12) - Apva, something transfixed with which a man is separated (firm life or happiness), i.e. disease or fear.

Hymn 104

4. Prajavat vayah, enjoying food together with offspring (वया अन्नं प्रजावत् प्रजोपेतम् - Sayana)

9. Ṿisvayuh, विश्वायुः, all vivifying. Sayana changes विश्वायुः to विश्वाभिः, i.e., सर्वाभि with all those waters.

11. This is the burthen of several suktas, usually of which Visvamitra is the Ṛsi. In this respect, no other verse appears to be so popular as this one.

शुनं हुवेम मघवानमिन्द्रं - III.30.22; 31.22; 32.17; 34.11; 35.11; 36.11; 38.10; 39.9; 43.8; 48.5; 49.5; 50.5; X.89.18; 104.11 (Most of the occurrences are in Book III, and two in Book X).

Hymn 105

For verse 1, see Nir. V.12

1. Ava smasa rudhadvah, अव श्मशा रुधद्वा - the ridge has held the water back. Smasa, श्मशा, i.e. something which runs quickly, or runs in the body, (श्मशा = कुल्या, or embankment).

Although the worship of Indra may be impeded by delay, as water in checked by an embankment, yet it will take effect at last, and the water or the rain will spread abroad (Benfey; Wilson).

Hymn 106

For verse 6, see Nir. XIII.5

5. mitra iva, मित्रेव = मित्राऽइव, like two mitras, i.e. like Mitra and Varuna (मित्रेव मित्राविव। मित्रशब्देन वरूणोऽप्युपलक्ष्यते सहावस्थानात्। मित्रावरूणाविव -Sayana)

6. Wilson's comments are:

The epithets of which the verse consists, as well as the objects of comparison, are most unusual terms, and some of them have evidently perplexed the scholiast, Sṛnya, सृण्या, is derived from sreni, a goad (सृणिरङ्कुशः = अङ्कुशार्हौ मत्तगजाविव), the animals requiring a goad, i.e. elephants Yaska (XII.15) agrees with one of Sayana's explanations of Naitosa, नैतोश, i.e. sons of Nitosa, नितोश. Sayana gives two contradictory interpretations of parpharika, पर्फरीका, "cherishing (friends)" and "destroying (foes)"

Jarbhari, जर्भरी. (जर्भरी गात्रविनामं कुर्वन्तौ । जभ जृभि गात्रविनामे - bending their forequarters.

Turpharitu, तुर्फरीतू - तर्फितारौ शत्रूणां हन्तारौ, they who smite the foes.

(तृफ तृम्फ हिंसायाम्। तुर्फरी शत्रृणां हन्तारौ, तृफति हिंसार्थः).

Parpharika, पर्फरीका, the one who smites foes. पर्फरीका पर्फरीकौ शत्रूणां विदारयितारौ or स्तोतृजनानां धनादि दानेन पूरयितारौ from पृ, पालन-पूरणयोः, i.e. one who gratifies the praisers or devotees with wealth etc.

Also फर्वतिः पूरणार्थाद् वा।

For this obscure verse, we quote Yaska (Nir. XIII.5): सृण्येवेति द्विविधा सृणिर्भवति । भर्ता च हन्ता च । तथाश्विनौ चापि भर्तारौ । जर्भरी भर्तारावित्यर्थः । तुर्फरीतू हन्तारौ नैतोशेव तुर्फरी पर्फरीका (Turphari and Parphari, the two sons of Nitosa, नितोश). नितोशस्यापत्यं नैतोशम्। नैतोशेव तुर्फरी क्षिप्रहन्तारौ । उदन्यजेव जेमना मदेरु । उदन्यजेवेत्युदकजे इव । रत्ने सामुद्रे चान्द्रमसे वा । जेमने जयमने । जेमना मदेरु । ता मे जराय्वजरं मरायुः एतज्जरायुजं शरीरं शरदमजीर्णम् ।

There are two sorts of goads, the friendly one and the smiting one, (protecting the friends and killing the foes). The two Asvins are also the protectors. Jarbhari is the cherisher one and Turphari the destroyer. Like the sons of Nitosa, they are killers and destroyers of foes.

Udanyajaiva, उदन्यजेव - like the two water born jewels.

Jemana, जेमना, victorious; with mind reposing in victory.

Maderu, मदेरु, joy-giving (मदेरु हर्षप्रदौ, आनन्दकरौ).

Ta me jarayu ajaram jarayuh - ता मे जराय्वजरं मरायु - render my decaying mortal body free from decay.

Hymn 107

For verse 10, See Nir. VII.3.

The subject or deity of this hymn is daksina, दक्षिणा, which normally means a present, in cash or kind, paid by an institutor or a yajamana (यजमान) of a religious ceremony to the priests invited by him for the performance of the ceremony. The word daksina and other terms associated with it are of common occurrence in the Ṛgveda and the other Vedic texts. We have the following reference in the Ṛk Samhita:

दक्षिणा - I. 18.5; 125.5; 168.7; II. 11.21; 15.10; 16.9; 17.9; 18.8; 9; 19.9;

20.9; V. 1.3; VI. 27.8; 64.1; VII. 27.4; VIII. 24.21; 29; IX. 71.1; X. 61.8; 62.9; 11; 103.8; 107, 3; 7; 8 (mostly in Book II and X)

दक्षिणा - (with anudatta on first two syllables) - II. 27.11; X. 17.9

दक्षिणाऽआवृतः - I. 144.1
दक्षिणाः - III. 36.5
दक्षिणाभिः - III. 62.3; VIII. 39.5
दक्षिणाम् - VI. 37.4; X. 107.4; 5; 7
दक्षिणायाः - I. 123.1; 164.9; III. 58.1; X. 107.1; 11
दक्षिणाऽवत् - III. 53.6
दक्षिणाऽवतम् - I. 125.6
दक्षिणाऽवति - VIII. 97.2
दक्षिणावते - IX. 98.10; X. 18.10
दक्षिणावत्ऽभिः - X. 69.8
दक्षिणाऽवन्तः - I. 125.6; X. 107.2
दक्षिणाऽवाद् - III. 6.1;
दक्षिणाऽवान् - X. 107.5

Dayananda's derivation of the word daksina (दक्षिणा) is दक्षन्ते वर्धन्ते यया सा (प्रतिष्ठा श्रीर्वा) i.e. by which the reputation on prioperity is enhanced; दक्षिणाभिः दानैः । दक्षिणाम् वर्धिकाम् (धनादिरुपाम्) प्रतिष्ठाश्रियं वा ।

According to Yaska, author of the Nirukta, Daksina (दक्षिणा, reward) is derived from the root दक्ष्, meaning to cause to accomplish; it causes the imperfect to be accomplished. Or else, it may be so called from circumambulating (दक्षिणा दक्षतेः समर्धयति कर्मणः । व्यृद्धं समर्धयतीति । अपि वा प्रदक्षिणागमनात् - Nir. 1.7)

The word दक्षिण means the right direction also. It means the quarter; it means the quarter natural to the hand, i.e. the right hand. Daksinah (right) is derived from the root दक्ष्, meaning to work strenuously or from दाश्, meaning to give (दिशमभिप्रेत्य दिग्घस्त प्रकृतिर्दक्षिणो हस्तः । दक्षतेरुत्साहकर्मणः । दाशतेर्वा स्याद् दानकर्मणः - Nir. 1.7)

1. maghavan, मघवन्, (Indra and the sun both), from which the term maghonam, माघोनम्) is derived, is identified with the sun, at whose rising and at midday, the daksina (a present or reward to priests) is to be given, but never at sunset, (माघोनं मघवेन्द्रः । इन्द्रश्च सूर्यः ।). Sayana refers to "न सायमस्ति देवया अजुष्टम् - Ṛv. V.77.2: दक्षिणात् यागाङ्गं यागस्तु सायंकाले न क्रियते ।

2. Vasodah, the givers of raiment; givers of clothing; the givers of a place for stay, (वासोदः त्वद्देवत्य वस्त्राणां दातारः - Sayana).

4. Saptamataram, mothers of seven, i.e. which has the seven Samsthas as its children, the Agnistoma etc. or that which has seven mothers or regulators (निर्माताः), the hotṛ and other priests.

6. Yajnanyam, यज्ञन्यं, the three leaders of sacrifice; the adhvaryu, the udgatṛ and the hotr.

Tisrah sukrasya tanvah, तिस्रः शुक्रस्य तन्वः, three forms of light; agni, vayu and aditya or fire, lightning and sunlight.

10. In reference to the Ṛg verses where there are censure and praise (निन्दाप्रशंसे), yaska quotes a fragment each of the two verses:

(a) केवलाघो भवति केवलादी (X.117.6)
(he alone is guilty who eats alone)

(b) भोजस्येदं पुष्करिणी वविश्म (X.107.10)
(The dwelling place of a liberal person is beautiful like a lotus-bed). (Nir. VII.3).

Hymn 108

For verse 1, See Nir, XI.25.

This is one of the dialogue – hymns (dialogue between Saroma and Panis) of the Ṛgveda, others being (i) the one between Indra, Aditi and Vamadeva, IV. 18; (ii) Indra – Indrani and Vṛsakapi X. 86, (iii) between Yama and Yami, X.10, (iv) the colloquy of Indra and Agastya, I.170.

Pani, पणि, is derived from पण, pana, Pana and pratipana (पण and प्रतिपण) have a reference in the Atharvaveda (III. 15.4.6), denoting the process of bargaining and selling. Again basically it is derived from root पण् (pan), and some of the derived terms from this root occur in some of the Samhitas and Brahmanas. The word panana (पणन) in the Satapatha Brahmana means "trafficking".

In the Nirukta, we have : Pani means a merchant (पणिर्वणिग् भवति), a merchant is so-called from trading (paṇ, पण्). A trader is so called because he cleanses the articles of trade (पणिः पणनात्। वणिक् पण्यं नेनेक्ति:; see आपः पणिनेव गावः I.32.11).

Again Pani in the Ṛgveda denotes a person who is rich but who does not give offerings to the gods, or bestow Daksinas on the priests, and who is, therefore, a person very much disliked in a society. And hence, so often, we invoke gods and ask them to attack the panis. Panis are thus opposed to the pious sacrificer as a niggard, and is spoken off as a wolf, the symbol of enmity. According to mythologists, panis appear as fictitious figures, demons, who withhold the cows or waters of heaven, and to whom Sarama (सरमा) goes on a mission from Indra (X.108). Among the Panis, Bṛbu (बृबु) (VI. 45.31; 33) was apparently important. In one of the verses (VIII. 66.10), they are described as "usurers" (इन्द्रो विश्वान् बेकनाटो अहर्दृश उत क्रत्वा पणीरभि) or Bekanatas. Sometimes they are called dasyus (दस्यु) with an appellation mṛdhravac (of hostile speech) and grathin (न्यक्रतून ग्रथिनो मृध्रवाचः पणीरंश्रद्धाँ अवृधाँ अयज्ञान् - VII. 6.3).

According to Roth, the word Pani is derived from pan (पण्), meaning "barter", and that the Pani is properly the man who will give nothing without return, hence the niggard, who neither worships the gods nor rewards their priests. According to Ludwig, Panis were all original traders who went in carvans as in Arabia and Northern Africa, prepared to fight, if need be, to protect their goods against attacks which the Aryans would naturally deem quite justified.

According to Hillebrandt (Vedischa Mythologie), the word Pani refers to a real tribe the PARNIANS of STRABO, and they were associated with the DAHAE (दास).

1. Sarama, सरमा - it is so called from moving (सरमा सरणात्).

With what desire has Sarama attained this place. The road leads far off to distant regions. What is the errand for us? what was the night? and how has thou crossed the waters of the Rasa (रसा).

Jagurih, जगुरिः leading; it is derived from the intensive form of the verb gam (गम्), to go; दूरे, dure, i.e. winding with curves (जगुरिः जङ्गम्यतेः पराञ्चनैरचितः)

Paritakmya, परितक्म्या, night, because takma or heat surrounds it on both sides. Again takma is heat,because it goes away (√ तक्)(परितक्म्या रात्रिः परित एतां तक्म । तक्मेत्युष्णनाम । तकत इति सतः - Nir XI.25).

Rasa, रसा - a river; it is derived from the verb √ रस् meaning to make a sound (रसा नदी रसतेः शब्दकर्मणः - Nir. XI.25)

There is a legend that the bitch of the gods, sent forth by Indra, conversed with the demons called Panis (देवशुनीन्द्रेण प्रहिता पणिभिरसुरैः समूहे । इत्याख्यानम् - Nir. XI.25).

With the help of the legend, it is tried to explain that the clouds (पणयः) withhold the rays of the sun (cows or गो; the rays are cows), and Sarama is the midspace phenomenon; the lightning and thunder, वाग् वै सरमा (Maitr. Sam); वाक्-विद्युतधारा.

Aurobindo tries to explain the whole legend of Sarama and Panis on a psycho – spiritual plane (see our Introduction, Vol.I of this series, p.167). Sarama is the discovering – intuition; she penetrates into the cave of subconscient where the niggard lords of sense-action (i.e. the panis, have hidden the radiant herds (cows) of the sun (the enlightenment), and gives information to Indra, the self.

Then comes the Lord of luminous mind and breaks open the cave and drives upward the herds, udajat (उदाजत्), upwards towards the vast truth-consciousness, the own home of the gods. Our conscious existence is a hill (अद्रि, adri) with many successive levels and elevations (सानूनि), the cave of the sub-conscient is below. We climb upwards towards the god-head of the truth and bliss, where are the seats of immortality, यत्रामृतास आसते - IX.15.2 (See Aurobindo, collective works, Vol. X.p.319).

The words Sarama and Sarasvati, both derived from √ sṛ (सरणात्) represent the streams: the one of discovering intuition, and the other of enlightenment.

For Pani and the derivatives see:

पणयः -I.124.10; 151.9; IV.51.3; VI.20.4; X.108.7; 8.
पणयः (vocative) - X.108.2; 4; 6; 10; 11
पणिः -I.33.3; 180.7; V. 61.8
पणिना -IV. 25.7
पणिनाऽइव -I.32.11
पणिऽभिः -IV.58.4
पणिऽभ्यः -IX.22.7
पणिम् -I.93.4; VI.44.22; 51.14; 61.1, VIII. 45.14; 75.7; X.67.6; 156.3
पणीन् -I.184.2; VI. 33.2; 39.2; VII. 6.3; 19.4; VIII. 26.10; 64.2; 66.10; X. 60.6
पणीनाम् -II. 24.6; VI. 45.31; 53.5; 7; VII. 9.2; IX. 111.2.
पणेः -I.83.4; I.182.3; III. 58.2; V. 34.7; VI. 13.3; 53.3; 6; X.92.3
पणौ -VIII. 97.2

For Sarama, and the words derived from it, see:

सरमा -I.62.3; 72.8; III. 31.6; IV. 16.8; V. 45.7; 8; X. 108.1
सरमे (Vocative) - X. 108.3; 5; 7; 9
सारमेय -VII. 55.2; 3
सारमेयौ -X. 14.10

Hymn 109

The Ṛsi of this hymn is Juhu, the wife of Brahma or Urdhvanabha, the son of Brahma. A curious legend is ascribed to this hymn. Juhu, जुहू, is considered as the same as Vac, वाच्, "Speech", the wife of Brahma. But Vacaspati (वाचस्पति), the lord of speech, being the same with Bṛhaspati (बृहस्पति), he also is said to be the husband of juhu or Vac; in fact, Bṛhaspati and Brahma are identified. On some occasion, his sin, resulted in her losing her husband's affection, and he deserted her. Afterwards, the gods consulted together as to the means of expiation of Bṛhaspati's sin, and restored her to her husband (Wilson).

In the initial stages, the divine speech is in unmanifested state. When gods offer this unmanifested speech to cold coals, they do not accept it; being cold coal, this is of no use to a Yajna-ritual, and hence the priest returns unmanifested speech to gods. This speech is then transformed to manifested speech. This is now accepted by the priest Bṛhaspati. This speech is then called juhu (जुहू). In the unmanifested form it is called Brahmajaya (ब्रह्मजाया).

Dayananda derives the words derived from juhu (जुहू) as follows:

जुहूभिः- पात्र-साधनैः पात्रैः (V.1.3); - जुह्वति याभिः क्रियाभिः (I.58.4)
जुहूः - जुहोति ददाति हविरादत्ते सुखं चानया सा असौद्यौर्वाःजुहूः -Tait S. III.3.1.1; तस्यासावेव द्यौर्जुहूः - S.Br. I.3.2.4 - Dyau or the celestral region is juhu; क्षत्रं वै जुहू विश इतरः स्रुचः S. Br. I.3.4.15 - Ksattra is juhu, sruc is visa. वाग्जुहूः - Tait Ar, II.17.2; यजमानो वै जुहूः - Mai. S.I.4.13 (ladles and spoons, जुहू and स्रुच्) for offering butter and Soma extract to fire).

Hymn 110

For verses 1-11, see Nir. VIII. 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 17 and 21 respectively.

This Apri Hymn is fully commented by Yaska in his Nirukta in Chapter VIII. For other Apri Hymns see I.13; I.142; I.188; II.3; III.4; V.5; VII.2; IX.5; X.70 and X.110. They all refer to Agni (अग्नि रूप देवता). These are in total twelve, but sometimes one or two of them are dropped. The Apris are:

(i) Idhma or Samiddha Agni,	(ii) Tanunpat,
(iii) Narasamsa	(iv) Ida
(v) Barhi	(vi) Devirdvarah
(vii) Usasa-nakta	(viii) Daivyau-hotarau (pracetasau)
(ix) Three devis-Sarasvati, Ida, Bharati	(x) Tvastṛ
(xi) Vanaspati	(xii) Svahakṛtis

There are Apri hymns in other Vedic Samhitas also. We shall quote here Yaska for these hymns.

"Now therefore the Apri hymns (आप्रियः). From what root is Apri (आप्रि) derived? From the root ap (आप्), to obtain or from pri (प्री), to please (आप्रियः कस्मात् । आप्नोतेः । प्रीणातेर्वा । आप्रिभिराप्रीणाति । इति च ब्राह्मणम् - Nir. VIII.4). There is also a Brahmana passage. One pleases them with Apri hymns (Ait. Br. II.4). Of these Idhma (fuel) comes foremost.

1. Kindled today in the abode of man, O god, having all created beings as thy property, thou offerest sacrifice to gods. And O wise one, having plenty of friends, bring them. Thou art the messenger, thou art the learned bard. Samiddha or idhma (fuel) is so called from being kindled. (इध्मः समिन्धनात् - Nir. VIII.4). Idhma is sacrifice, says Katthakya; it is Agni, says Sakapuni (Nir. VIII.5).

2. O bright-tongued Tanunapat (तनूनपात्), having anointed the leading paths of the sacred rite with honey, be sweet. Directing the act of worship and our thoughts together with our prayers, carry our sacrifices to gods. (Nir. VIII.6)

Tanunapat, ones own son, i.e. clarified butter, says Katthakya: the word napat, नपात्, is a synonym of offspring which does not immediately succeed a person (i.e. a grandson). It is very much propagated downwards. In this case, the cow is called tanu, because delicious things are prepared (tatah, ततः) from her. Milk is produced from the cow, and the clarified butter is produced from milk. (गौरत्रतनूच्यते । तता अस्यां भोगाः । तस्याः पयो जायते । पयस आज्यं जायते).

But according to Sakapuni, tanunapat is Agni, waters are tanu (तनू) because they are spread in the atmosphere. Herbs and trees are produced from waters, and this fire is produced from herb and trees (अग्निरिति शाकपूणिः । आपोऽत्र तन्व उच्यते । तता अन्तरिक्षे । ताभ्यं ओषधि-वनस्पतयो जायन्ते । ओषधि-वनस्पतिभ्य एष जायते - Nir. VIII.5)

3. Being invoked, thou art to be praised and worshipped. O Agni, come united with the Vasus. O great one, thou art the sacrificer of the gods. As such, O excellent sacrificer, dost thou sacrifice them, invited by (us). (Nir. VIII.8)

Ida (ईळ) is derived from the root √ ईड् (id) meaning to praise, or from इन्ध (√ indh), to kindle. (ईळ ईट्टेः; स्तुतिकर्मणः । इन्धतेर्वा - Nir. VIII.7)

4. The grass in the eastern direction is twisted at day break with injuctions for the covering of this earth. He spreads it further and further to make the best and most comfortable seat for the gods and Aditi. (Nir. VIII.9).

Barhih (बर्हिः), grass, is so called from growing rapidly, (बर्हिः परिबर्हणात् - Nir. VIII.8)

5. Spacious doors remain wide-open like beautiful wives for their husbands, O divine doors, great and all-impellers, be easy of access to the gods. (Nir. VIII.10)

Dvarah (द्वारः) is derived from the root √ जु √ ju, to press forward or from √ द्रु √ dru, to move, or from the casual of वृ √ (vṛ), to exclude (Nir. VIII.9)

6. Pressing forward, adorable, brought near each other, dawn and night, the divine women, mighty, shining beautifully and putting forth beauty adorned in a radiant manner, may sit down on the seat (yoni). (Nir. VIII.10)

Usasanakta, उषासानक्ता, dawn and night - Usa (उषा) is so called because it shines (√ vas), or from ucch, उच्छ्, to disperse; it disperses darkness (उषाः कस्मात्। उच्छतीति सत्याः, रात्रेरपरः कालः It has the time subsequent to night. - Nir. II.18; Durga derives usah, उषाः, from उच्छ्, to disperse. See also Bṛhaddevata, III.9)

The word nakta, नक्ता, is a synonym of night: it anoints beings with dew; or else it is called night because its colour is indistinct. (नक्तेति रात्रिनाम। अनक्ति भूतान्यवश्यायेन। अपि वा नक्ताव्यक्तवर्णा - Nir. VIII.10)

7. The two divine sacrificers are foremost, sweet-voiced, and the measures of sacrifice for the man to worship. They are inciters, active in the sacrifices, and with injunctions point out the light in the eastern direction. (Nir. VIII.12)

Daivya hotara, दैव्या होतारा, the same as दैव्यौ होतारौ, means the two divine sacrificers, i.e. the terrestrial and the atmospheric Agni (दैव्या होतारा दैव्यौ होतारौ। अयं चाग्निरसौ च मध्यमः - Nir, VIII.11)

8. May the light of the sun come to our sacrifice quickly, and speech, here instructing like man. May Sarasvati, and the three goddesses of noble deeds sit on this most comfortable seat of grass. (Nir. VIII.13)

Tisrodevih, तिस्रोदेवीः means the three goddesses (Nir. VIII.12)

The sun is called bharata (भरत); its light, therefore, is called bharati, (भारती. And may ida, इळा, speech, instructing here like a man (come to us) (भरत आदित्यस्तस्य भाः। इळा च मनुष्यवदिह चेतयमाना। तिस्रोदेव्यो बर्हिरिदं सुखं सरस्वती च सुकर्माण आसीदन्तु - Nir. VIII.13)

9. O wise and excellent sacrificer, incited (by us) sacrifice here today to the god Tvastr, त्वष्ट्, who adorned these two progenitors, i.e. heaven and earth, and all the worlds with beauty (Nir, VIII.14) Tvastr, त्वष्ट्, is so called because it pervades quickly (etymologists say so), or it may be derived from the root tvis, (त्विष्) to shine, or from √ tvaks, त्वक्ष् meaning to do (त्वष्टा तूर्णमश्नुत इति नैरुक्ताः। त्विषेर्वास्यात्। दीप्तिकर्मणः। त्वक्षतेर्वा स्यात्। करोतिकर्मणः - Nir. VIII.13)

10. Preparing the food and the season by oblations to the gods, bestow them thyself, (or bestow thyself on thyself, उपावसृजात्मनात्मानं). May these three, i.e. the lord of herbs, the god pacifier, and Agni enjoy the oblation with honey and clarified butter. (Nir. VIII.17)

Vanaspati, lord of herbs or vegetation, or of forests. Vanam to win. Vanam, forest, is derived from the root वन्, van, (वनस्पत इत्येनमाहैष हि वनानां पाता वा पालयिता वा। वनं वनोतेः - Nir. VIII.3).

11. As soon as he was born, he created the sacrifice. Agni became the chief of the gods. May the gods eat the oblations consecrated by the utterance of "hail" (स्वाहा) in the speech of this sacrifice, set up in the eastern direction. (Nir. V.27)

Consecration by saying "hail" - The word svaha (hail) is uttered in them, or speech herself said "well ho" or one addresses himself or one offers oblation consecrated with svaha or "hail". (स्वाहाकृतयः। स्वाहेत्येतत्सु आहेति वा। स्वा वागाहेति वा। स्वं प्राहेति वा। स्वाहुतं हविर्जुहोतीति वा - Nir. VIII.20)

Hymn 111

Rsi of the hymn is Astadamstra, the son of Virupa (अष्टा दंष्ट्रो वैरूपः). To him, the Pancavimsa (पंचविंश) Brahmana (VIII.9.21) ascribes two Samans.

3. Menam, मेनां, to the Divine Speech; to the atman; to my own. In the Rgveda, we have the following terms:

मेना - I.51.13; मेनाम - I.121.2; X.111.3; मेनिम् - X.27.11; मेनेऽइति - I.162.7;95.6; मेनेइवेति मेनेऽइव - II.39.2.

According to Sayana, mena is the self; or atman (मेनां आत्मानम्) we have मेनाभवोवृषण श्वस्य सुक्रतोः - I.51.13).

Yaska interprets मेना as speech (मेना वाङ्नाम - Nigh, I.11; मेना-वाणी - Daya. I.51.13; मेनां विद्यासुशिक्षाभ्यां लब्ध्वां वाचम् - Daya. I.121.2; मेने वत्सले स्त्रियाविव (रात्रिदिने) -Daya. I.95.6; also मेना उत्तराणि पदानि - Nigh. III.29; मेनाग्ना इति स्त्रीणां मेना मानयन्त्येना - Nir.III.21 (menah, मेनाः and gnah, ग्नाः; are synonyms of women. Menah (women) are so called because men honour them (मानयन्ति)

Hymn 112

The Rsi of this hymn is Nabhah Prabhedana, of Virupa family (नभः प्रभेदनो वैरूपः).

8. Brahmane, ब्रह्मणे, for Brahman; for the sun; for Brhaspati (ब्रह्मणे बृहस्पतये - Sayana)

Gam, गां, cows, sun's rays (cows stolen by Panis - गां पणिभिरपहृता) Adrim, अद्रिं, clouds (अद्रिं मेघम् - Sayana)

Hymn 113

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Sata Prabhedana, शत प्रभेदन, the son of Virupa.

Virupa, विरूप, is the name of an Angirasa (this word is twice mentioned in the Ṛgveda : I.45.3 and VIII.75.6, and to the seer of this name certain hymns are attributed by the Anukramani (Index).

3. Ahina, अहिना, indestructible, or the dragon; or the one who must be destroyed, or Ahi (अहिना आहन्तव्येन '- Sayana)

10. Sugebhih visva durita tarem, सुगेभिः विश्वा दुरिता तरेम, with well-acquired (riches), let us cross over all iniquity (Wilson)

Adya nah gadham urviya su vida, अद्य नः गाधं उर्विया सु विद - accept our praise today with might, or find us today a ford far and near, i.e. Help us to cross over with ease (Wilson).

9. Dhunim ca cumurim ca, धुनिं च चुमुरिं च - wicked and cruel; in mythology, the asuras; Cumuri is the name of an enemy of Dabhiti, for whom he, along with his friend Dhuni (धुनि) is mentioned in the Ṛgveda (VI.20.13; X.113.9; Cumuri alone in VI.26.6) as having been defeated by Indra. Dasas and Dasyus generally are stated to have been subdued for Dabhiti (see IV.30.21; II.13.9; also see II.15.9; VII.19.4). Sometimes these two are spoken of, along with Sambara (शम्बर), Pipru (पिप्रु) and Susna (शुष्ण), as having been crushed by Indra, who destroyed their castles (VI. 18.9).

Dayananda interprets as follows:

Dhunayah, धुनयः शत्रून् कम्पयन्तः (I. 87.3): रश्मिगतयः radiations (II.30.2); winds (VII.5.5); terrors to the wicked (दुष्टानां कम्पकाः; मरुतः मानवाः (V.60.7): रजांवृक्षादीनि कम्पयितारः (वायवः) Strong winds uprooting trees; (I.64.5).

Dhunim, धुनिम्, they who tease law-abiding people (धुनि श्रेष्ठानां कम्पयितारम्; चुमुरिंचोरंजनम् (VII.19.4); ध्वनितारम् '- makers of loud noise; thundering clouds (VI.18.8); कम्पन्तं चेष्टाकरणम् - those who heinously attack); Dhunih, धुनिः कम्पनं चेष्टाकरणम्; दुष्टानां कम्पकः (विद्युदग्निः) - terror to wicked (thunder or lightning (I.79.1)

Cumurim, चुमुरिम् - the murderer, the wicked, thief or robber, appellation of Sambara (शम्बर=मेघ) or cloud (VI. 18.8; VII. 19.4; वक्त्रसंयुक्तं दस्युं, oppressor, II.15.9) - Dayananda.

Dabhitim, दभीतिम्, the wicked, the slayer, (दभीतिं हिंसकं प्राणिनं II.15.9); दम्भिनं पापिजनम् - I.112.23 (Dava : दभीतिः हिंस्रः, cruel and wicked: enemy - VI. 41.4)

Hymn 114

For verse 4, see Nir. X.46.

The Ṛsi of this hymn is Sadhri of the family of Virupa (सध्रि वैरूपो धर्मो वा तापसः)

1. Dharma, घर्म, effulgent Agni and Aditya, fire and the sun.

2. Tisrah nir-ṛtih, तिस्रो निर्ऋतीः - According to Sayana, nirṛti means the earth; here the three regions - earth, midspace and heaven (or three forces of Nature, the creative, the sustaining and disintegrating.

3. Suparna, सुपर्ण, the twinbirds (either husband and wife; or the yajamana and the Brahman, the householder and the priest; or the lower self, the jiva, जीव, and the Supreme Self, परमात्मन्) (For suparna, see Nir. ỊV.3, and VII.24; see also X.114.4 - एकः सुपर्णः स समुद्रमाविवेश)

4. One had beautiful winds, he has entered the ocean; he beholds this entire universe. With a pure mind, I saw him from near; him the mother kisses and he kisses the mother.

Mata, माता, mother is the divine sound of midspace (माध्यमिका वाक्), the sound of mid-heaven, the thunder, which is the mother or source of rain. The deity referred to as the bird who has taken his station in the firmament is Agni or else Vayu.

Here the seer who had the intuitive insight into the reality expresses his pleasure in a narration (इति ऋषेर्दृष्टार्थस्य प्रीतिर्भवति - Nir. X.46)

Hymn 115

The Ṛsi of this hymn is Upastuta, son of Vṛstihavya (उपस्तुतोवार्ष्टिहव्यः).

1. Matarau, मातरौ, parents, heaven and earth or the two fire-kindling sticks.

2. Nama dhayi, नाम धायि, is applied to him as a name; or nourished with Ghi (नामः नाम्ना नमयितृणा हविषा स्तोत्रेण वा । धायि यजमानैधीयते खलु - Sayana)

Hymn 116

For verse 7 and 8, see Nir. VII.6 and VI.16 respectively.

4. Gavya sutasya prabhṛtasrya madhvah satra khedam asusha vṛsasva - गव्या सुतस्य प्रभृतस्य मध्वः सत्रा खेदामरुशहा - slayer of enemies (exhilarated) at our sacrifice (by drinking of the Soma juice effused upon the cow-hide (gavya) and poured (into the cups) (prabhṛtasya), rush like a bull upon the dispirited (arusaha) (foe, or alternatively, shower always upon thy mallet the Soma juice effused, etc. (Wilson)

7. O Indra, eat and drink the (Soma) placed before (thee) (Quoted as an illustration where gods are praised with regard to anthropomorphic actions (पौरुषविधिकैः कर्मभिः - Nir. VII.6)

8. Canah, चनः - O Indra, none eat these prescribed oblations; bestow upon us cooked food and Soma - Here the word Canas, चनस्, is a synonym of food (चन इत्यन्ननाम - Nir. VI.16)

Hymn 117

For verse 6, see Nir. VII.3.

Bounty, the gift of money or of food, or the practice of hospitality in the devata of this hymn; and the Ṛsi is beggar or Bhiksu (भिक्षु). (देवता धनान्नदान प्रशंसा).

5. Draghiyamsam pantham, द्राघीयांसं पन्थाम्, a more protracted route or the road of virtue. (Wilson suggests: "Let him look further along the path of life, and he will see riches deserting the rich and going to others. Fortune is fickle."

6. Kevalagho bhavati Kevaladi, केवलाघो भवति केवलादी, he alone is guilty who eats alone. This phrase has been quoted by Yaska to illustrate that in several Vedic verses, there is apprehension arising from a particular state (अथापि परिदेवना कस्माच्चिद् भावात् and अथापि निन्दाप्रशंसे - Nir. VII.3). The seers have with various intentions, visions of their poetic compositions (एवमुच्चावचैरभिप्रायैर्ऋषीणां मन्त्रदृष्टयो भवन्ति).

7. Pṛnan apih apṛnantam abhi pyat, पृणन् आपिः अपृणन्तम् अभि ष्यात् - let the man who gives become a kinsman to the man who gives not; or the loving kinsman will prevail over him who loves not.

8. Catuspadeti dvipadam etc., चतुष्पादेति द्विपदम्, he who has four feet comes up overtaking the two-footed (and three-footed) beholding their traces as he praises by (a metaphoric expression for: "the man who has four times the riches of another should be fourtines as liberal).

Hymn 118

Agni Raksoha (अग्नीरक्षोहा) is the devata of the hymn and Ṛsi Uruksaya, the son of Amahiya (or of Amhiya Gotra), उरुक्षय आमहीयव is the ṛsi.

8. Uruksayesu, उरुक्षयेषु, in the outspread dwellings; or as occupying many mansions; i.e. yajamanas (विस्तीर्णेषु निवासेष्वा हवनीयादिषु)

For uruksaya, see:

उरुऽक्षया - I.2.9
उरुऽक्षयाः - X.118.9
उरुऽक्षयेषु - X.118.8

According to the Vedic Index (Mac Donell and Keith), Uruksaya family was notable as singers and worshippers of Agni (X.118.9 and 9).

Hymn 119

For verse 9, see Nir. I.4

The Devata of the hymn is Indra, and Ṛsi is also the same Indra under the form Laba (Laba Aindra, लब ऐन्द्रः)

Iti va iti me mano gamasvam sanuyamiti इति वा इति मे मनो गामश्वं सनुयामिति; (thus indeed, thus our mind (resolved) for I have often drunk of the Soma.

Kuvit somasya apam iti, कुवित् सोमस्यापामिति, for I have often drunk of the Soma; the burden of each verse in this hymn.

9. Hantaham prthivim imam ni dadhaniha veha va हन्ताहं पृथिवीमिमां नि दधानीह वेह वा, - (1) Quickly will I drive this earth here or there (Ludwig)

(2) Lo, I will place this earth (where I will), either here or there (Wilson). Yaska has quoted this fragment of the verse to illustrate the use of va (9) in the sense of deliberation (वेति विचारणार्थे - Nir. I.4).

Hymn 120

For verse 6, see Nir. XI.20-21.

For verses 1 to 3, see Samaveda II 6.3.17. 1-3 (1483-1485)

1. Tat, तत्, That, i.e. Brahma (ब्रह्म) the original, First cause of the universe.

2. Sasni, सस्नि, is properly purified (सस्नि सस्नातमिन्द्रेण सम्यक् शोधितं भवति - Sayana); or properly derived and purified by sun's rays.

Vyant, with life (व्यनत् प्राणवज्जंगमम्) Avyanat, lifeless; not moving (अव्यनत् स्थावरम् - Sayana)

3. Dvih and trih, द्विः, त्रिः - The two or three, i.e. the Yajamana, his wife and child.

6. The word "aptyah" (आप्त्याः) is illustrated in this verse. Aptyah, आप्त्याः, is derived from आप्, to obtain.

Praiseworthy, multiform, great, most supreme Lord, worthy of being obtained among those to be obtained (आप्तव्यम् आप्तव्यानाम्), he crushed seven demons with his strength and he overpowers many adversaries.

Sapta danum, सप्त दानूम्, seven givers or seven gift-makers (सप्तदातॄन् इति वा। सप्तदानवानिति वा - Nir. XI.21)

8. Bṛhad-divah, बृहद्दिवः, a thorough scholar; Agriyah, अग्रियः, the leader among men of wisdom.

Gotrasya, गोत्रस्य, of the herd of cattle; of the divine speech.

For Bṛhaddivah, see:

बृहत्ऽदिवः - V. 45.13; X.120.8; 9
बृहत्ऽदिवस्य - IV.29.5
बृहत्ऽदिवा - II.31.4; V.41.19; 42.12; X.64.10
बृहत्ऽदिवाः - X.66.8
बृहत्ऽदिवेषु - II.2.9; IV.37.3; IX.79.1
बृहत्ऽदिवैः - I.167.2

Bṛhad - deva is a Ṛsi of the verse X.120.8 and 9; belonging to the Atharva group. He is mentioned in the Aitareya Brahmana (IV.14) and is named in the Vamsa (list of teachers) of the Sankhayana Aranyaka as a pupil of Sumnayu (XV.1).

Hymn 121

For verse 1 and 10, see Nir. X. 23 and X. 43 respectively.

The devata or the subject matter of this hymn is kah (कः), and the Ṛsi is Hiranyagarbhah Prajapatyah (हिरण्यगर्भः प्राजापत्यः). The first nine verses have the burden: कस्मै देवाय हविषा विधेम. The tenth verse is devoted to Prajapati, Lord of Creatures.

Ka is an interrogation - a question mark regarding the Supreme Reality. The question "To WHOM" in itself incorporates the answer "TO HIM ALONE", or "TO NONE ELSE"

The monosyllabic word ka stands for Prajapati, a synonym; and also to one who is the source of ALL BLISS.

1. Hiranyagarhah, हिरण्यगर्भः - The word has been variously interpreted and translated: (I) the golden embryo, (ii) he who had the golden germ i.e. he who was in the golden mundane egg as an embryo: he is Brahma, the creator.

"In the beginning, the golden foetus took shape; he was the sole existing lord of the universe. He supported this earth and heaven. Let us with oblation worship the god KA. (See also Av. IV.27; Yv. XVIII.4; XXIII.1; XXV.10).

The gold foetus: the foetus made of gold, or he whose foetus is made of gold (हिरण्यगर्भो हिरण्यमयो गर्भः । हिरण्यमयो गर्भोऽस्येति वा ।) the word garbhah, (foetus) is derived from the verb gṛbh (गृभ्), used in the sense of praising or so called because it swallows useless things, (गर्भो गृभेः । गृणात्यर्थे गिरत्यनर्थान् इति वा). Now when a woman receives the life-germs (gunan, गुणान्) and her own life-germs are brought into contact with them, fertilization takes place. (see details in Durga commentary on the Nirukta).

Kah, कः, क इति पदनाम (Nigh. V.4).

Kah (कः) is called because he is loving, or surpassing or happy (कः कमनो वा। क्रमणो वा । सुखो वा । — Nir. X.22); blissful lord सुखस्वरूपो देवः — Daya. on I.24.1; Prajapati so spoke: I am Kah; and hence Kah, कः, is synonym of Prajapati (को वै प्रजापतिः — Ait Br. III.21) Kah is also Aditya, the sun. (को अद्य युंक्ते धुरि गा ऋतस्य — I.84.16 ऋतस्य समष्टि यज्ञ रूपस्य धुरि कः आदित्यः गाः रश्मीन्; i.e., क आदित्यो धुरिगा Nir. XIII.38 or XIV.25)

2. Atmada, आत्मदा, the giver of soul; the giver of spiritual strength; giver of himself (Mahidhara); giver of divine enlightenment. (आत्मानं ददाति सः and विद्याविज्ञानप्रदः - Daya.

4. Yasya bahu, यस्य बाहू, His arms are these; whose are the two arms; whose two arms are the protectors of the world. (Mahidhara)

6. Avasa tastabhane, अवसा तस्तभाने, established by His protection (अवसा रक्षणेन हेतुना लोकस्य रक्षणार्थं तस्तभाने प्रजापतिना सृष्टे लब्धस्थयें सत्यौ - Sayana; maintaining living beings by sacrificial food, i.e. generating rain. (Mahidhara)

7. Garbham, गर्भं, germ (of the world), Brahma or Prjapati (गर्भं हिरण्मयाण्डस्य गर्भभूतं प्रजापतिम् - Sayana; in the beginning, Prajapati only existed and thence the creation (एकः प्रजापति समवर्तत समजायत । यत् यं गर्भं दधाना आपो विश्वात्मनावस्थिताः ततो गर्भभूतात्प्रजापतेर्देवादीनां प्राणात्मको वायुरजायत and so on - Sayana).

10. Prajapati, प्रजापति, is the protector or supporter of creatures (प्रजापतिः प्रजानां पाता वा पालयिता वा - Nir. X.42).

O Prajapati, no one except thyself, did encompass all those created things with whatever desire, we sacrifice to this, let that be ours. May we be lords of treasures. (Nir. X.43).

Hymn 122

Citramaha, of the family of Vasistha, is the Ṛsi of the hymn (चित्रमहा वासिष्ठाः). In the first verse, we have Citramahasam, चित्रमहसं, i.e. the one with glorious halo, or the one of wandrous might (Griffith). Citramahas term does not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda.

3. Dasat, दाशत्, the giver of all blessings or benefits; giving liberally (Wilson), (प्रयच्छति - Sayana)

Sapta dhamani, सप्तधामानि, the seven regions.

Hymn 123

For verse 1, see Nir. X.39.

The Ṛsi as well as the devata of this hymn are Vena, वेन, which may mean the sun; or the planet Venus, a term which goes after the name of the Ṛsi Vena. For the word Vena, see; वेनः - I.83.5; 139.10; VIII.3.18; 63.1; X.123.1; 2;5. The word Vena means kanta (कान्त) or loving or beloved. It may mean Brahman, Indra or Parjanya (rains). In Yv. VII.16, Mahidhara renders it as the moon (चन्द्र). According to Wilson, the general purport of the hymn makes Vena equivalent to the thunder cloud.

According to Dayananda, Vena means (i) loving God (I.43.9); lovely moon (कमनीय चन्द्र - Yv. VII.16), a learned man of enlightenment (Yv. XXXII.8).

1. The Vena impels them who are in the womb of the variegated one. Light is the chorion in measuring the region of vapours. At the contest of waters and the sun the wise kiss him with thoughts like an infant. (Nir. X.39).

According to Yaska (Nir. X.39), Vena is derived from the root वेन्, meaning to long for (विनो वेनतेः कान्ति कर्मणः - Nir. X.38)

This vena impels them who are in the wauk of the variegated one; i.e. in the womb of one who is endowed with variegated colours, i.e. waters (पृश्निगर्भाः प्राष्टवर्णगर्भाः । आप इति वा). Light is the chorion (ज्योतिर्जरायुः), his light serves the purpose of chorion (ज्योतिरस्य जरायुस्थानीयं भवति). This chorion develops with the external membrane of the foetus, or it is joined with the external membrane (जरायु जरया गर्भस्य । जरया यूयत इति वा). At the coming together of waters and the sun, wise men kiss, lap, praise, cause to grow, or worship with hymns as they do an infant. (इयमपां च संगमने सूर्यस्य च शिशुमिव विप्रा मतिभी रिहन्ति । लिहन्ति । स्तुवन्ति । वर्धयन्ति । पूजयन्तीति वा - Nir. X.39)

Sisum, शिशुम्, to the infant. An infant is so called because it is worthy of praise (शासनीय) or it.is from the root शि, meaning to give (शिशुः शासनीयो भवति शिशीतेर्वा स्यात् दानकर्मणः - Nir. X.39)

3. On this Wilson says: Dark allusions are here apparently intended to the agency of the thunder-clouds in sending rain, "the Calf (vatsa)", meaning, according to Sayana (vidyutagni, i.e. Agni as the lightning).

8. Grdhrasya, गृध्रस्य, of the sun, desiring to absorb water. (contemplating with the eye of an hawk (Wilson). See Samaveda, II.9.2.13.3(1848).

Hymn 124

Agni and Indra are the deities, whilst Agni, Varuna and Soma are the Ṛsis, who do not appear to be historic persons, these terms being conceptual.

1. Panca-yamam, पञ्च यामं, five oblations or regulated by five; the Yajamana, the Hotṛ, the Udgatṛ, the Adhvaryu and the Brahman (the Yajamana and four Ṛtviks).

Trivṛtam, त्रिवृतं, three-fold, i.e. the Paka yajna, the Havir-yajna and the Soma-yajna.

Saptatantum, सप्ततन्तुम्, seven threads or seven priests; Agnistoma (अग्निष्टोम), Atyagnistoma (अत्यग्निष्टोम), Ukthya (उक्थ्यं), Sodasi (षोडशी), Vajapeya (वाजपेय), Atiratra (अतिरात्र) and Aptoryama (आप्तोर्याम).

2. Asivah, अशिवः, not auspicious; not being beautiful, not being radiant.

Nabhim aranim, नाभिं अरणीम्, the binding touch wood, (नाभिं नहनशीलां बन्धनशीलां। अरणीं अश्वत्थमेव - Sayana); also a family of strangers (Ludwig and Grassmann - fremde sippe).

3. Anyasyayah vayayah atithim pasyat, अन्यस्यायाः वयायाः अतिथिं पश्यत्, beholding the guest of another family. (ममस्थानभूता या पृथिवी ततः अन्यस्याया वयाया यन्तव्यायाः दिवः सम्बन्धिनं अतिथिं सततगामिनं सूर्यं पश्यन् जानन् - beholding, knowing, i.e. following the course of the guest, i.e. the sun, who is connected with a different region to be traversed (i.e. the sky, than that which is my abode, viz. the earth - Sayana & Wilson).

6. Soma, सोम, moon; the bliss-giving element.

7. Kavih and Kavitva, the sage by his wisdom Kavi is the sun or Mitra who by his wisdom has fixed his body in the sky.

Varunah, the cosmic waters, who with but a slight effort let loose the waters (अपः).

9. Anuṣṭubham anu - carcuryamanam, अनुष्टुभं अनु चर्चूर्यमाणं, who moves after the Anustubh, or the ceaselessly moving Indra, who is worthy to be praised with a Anustubh metre.

(चर्चूर्यमाणं पुनः पुनश्चरन्तं गच्छन्तम् - Sayana).

Hymn 125

The Ṛsi (as well as the devata) of the hymn is Vac, वाच्, personified speech, the daughter of the Ṛsi Ambhṛna (वागम्भृणी).

The hymn is pretty poetic with a narration in the first person (अस्मदादेश).

Hymn 126

The Ṛsi is Kulmala Barhisa (कुल्मल बर्हिषः), the son of Silusa (शिलूष) or Amhomuc, अंहोमुच्, the son of Vamadeva.

The theme is to get rid of amhah, the sin and durita, evil, as well as to get protection from the vice of jealousy and hatred (द्विषः अति, beyond the reach of our enemies, who hate us or who are jealous of us).

Hymn 127

The devata or the subject matter of the hymn is Ratri or the Night personified, and the Ṛsi is Kusika, the son of Sobhari (कुशिकः सौभरः) or alternatively Ratri, the daughter of Bharadvaja (रात्रिः भारद्वाजी).

The approaching night assumes all beauties (श्रियः अधि अधित), (1); she fills the low and high places both (निवितः उद्वितः); she fights the darkness with lustre (ज्योतिषा बाधते तमः) (2); she prepares the way for her sister dawn, and at her (i.e. dawn's) appearance, she departs (3); at her approach, we come back to our places of stay like birds coming back to the trees (4). Beasts, birds and hawks also retire to their places (5). Night is the daughter of the sky (दुहितर्दिवः) (8).

Hymn 128

For verse 5, see Nir. X.40.

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Vihavya, belonging to the family of Angiras (विहव्य आंगिरसः).

5. Devih sat urvih uru, देवीः षट् उर्वीः उरु - ye, six mighty goddesses - heaven, earth, day, night, waters and plants (द्यौश्च पृथिवी चाहश्च रात्रिश्चापश्चौषधयश्च - Sayana).

Ma radhama dvisate soma rajan, मा रधाम द्विषते सोम राजन् - We will not be subjected to the foe. O King Soma (Soma, or moon, a deity of midspace) (Nir. X.40).

Hymn 129

For verses 2 and 3, see Nir. VII.3

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Parmatma, परमात्मा, the Supreme Self and the Creator, the Paramasthi, परमेष्ठी, and the devata is Bhavavṛttam, भाववृत्तम्, the preservation and dissolution of the various entities.

The hymn is known as the Nasadiya Sukta (नासदीय सूक्त) because it starts with the words नासदासीत्. This hymn is one of the rare hymns which speak of the philosophic heights and depths of the Vedic thoughts.

What is sat? and what is asat? Asat does not mean non-existent; it means invisible existence; unmanifested; or existing in the causal form. Sat is the manifested one; in the visible form, In fact, we have three Externals, the Supreme Self, who is the First or the Intelligent cause (निमित्तकारण) in the Creation. The Supreme Being does not need creation for His own sake; He creates the universe for the enjoyment and fulfilment of tiny little souls, for their jnana (knowledge), karma (actions) and bhoga (enjoyment) (जीवानामुप-भोगार्थाहि सृष्टिः -Sayana); संहतपरार्थत्वात्- Kapila in the Samkhya). These souls have also been eternally co-existing with God. The third Eternal is the Prakṛti, or the causal matter (उपादानकारण). Sayana bases his commentary of this hymn on the Puranas, and the traditional mythology. Dayananda quoted this hymn in his Ṛgvedadi-Bhasya-Bhumika with special commentary on the first and the seventh verses. Kasya sarman, कस्य शर्मन्, of what could there be felicity, i.e. of whom or of what living being could enjoyment, or fruition, whether of pain or pleasure, be predicated, there being no life. (कस्य शर्मन् कस्य वा भोक्तुर्जीवस्य शर्मणि सुख दुःख साक्षात्कार लक्षणे भोगे निमित्तभूते सति तदावरकं तत्त्वमावृणुयात् -Sayana).

2. Avatah svadhaya tat ekam asit, अवातः स्वधया तत एकमासीत् - breathed of his own existence. Svadha, स्वधा, means Prakṛti, प्रकृति, maya, माया or प्रज्ञा - the source of the phenomenon world (Sayana-माया, illusion or Nature).

Na mṛtyuh asid amrtamna, न मृत्युः आसीत् अमृतं न - There was no death, nor indeed immortality. Yaska quotes this line (Nir. VII.3) to illustrate that in the Vedic text, there is occasionally an intention of describing a particular state.

3. Tamah asit tamasa gudhamagre, तमः आसीत् तमसा गूळ्हमग्रे – In the beginning of the creation, there was darkness hidden in darkness (See Nir. VII.3)

Tapasa, तपसा – through austerity, through penance, but here in the sense of contemplation (of the things which were to be created).

4. Tad agre kamah, तदग्रे कामः – Preceding that there was desire, (not that the creator has desires. He merely thought of (in the mind of the Supreme).

5. Vitatah rasmih tirascinah, विततः रश्मिः तिरश्चीनः – Their ray was stretched out. This refers to the suddenness of creation according to Sayana, as if every thing appeared in the twinkling of an eye; like a flash of the Sun's ray or lightning. The creation took place simultaneously in all the three regions. The word tirascinah (तिरश्चीनः), on all the four sides or across is significant. Nobody can say that the things in the central space were created first, or those above, or those below. It may mean "zigzag" creation, not on the simple geometric patterns. The so called systematic evolution, step by step : i.e. from atman the space (आकाश); from akasa the wind (vayu, वायु), from vayu the fire (अग्नि), from agni, the water (आपः), and from apah, the earth (पृथिवी). The actual occurrence of events is a philosophic myth. The evolution, growth or creation does not take place actually in such series. The actual steps cannot be specified.

Adhah-svit asit; upari-svit asit, अधःस्वित् आसीत्, उपरि स्वित् आसीत् – whether below or above.

Svadha avastat – parastat, prayatih parastat – स्वधा अवस्तात् प्रयतिः परस्तात्, matter was inferior and the creator was superior.

Alternatively, the food (भोज्यः) was inferior and the eater or consumer (भोक्तारः) was superior.

6. Kutah ajata, kuta iyam visṛstih, कुतः आजाता कुत इयं विसृष्टिः who has been the creator (the First Cause, the intelligent cause); and which has been the material cause in the creation.

7. Anga veda yadi va na veda, अङ्ग वेद यदि वा न वेद – He assurelly knows. (how do you say:), or He knows not, if He does not know, who else then knows!!

Hymn 130

The subject matter (devata) of this hymn is Bhavavṛttam (भाववृत्तम्), and the Ṛsi is Yajnah Prajapatyah (यज्ञप्राजापत्य). Bhavavṛttam is the devata of X.190 hymn also, of which the Ṛsi is Aghamarsana of the family of Madhucchandas (अघमर्षणो माधुच्छन्दसः). All the four hymns with the devata "Bhavavṛttam" occur only in the Tenth Book of the Ṛgveda : X.129; 130; 154 and 190; and their Ṛsis are Prajapatih Paramesthi (प्रजापतिः परमेष्ठी), Yajna Prajapatyah (यज्ञप्राजापत्यः), Yami (यमी), and Aghamarsanah Madhucchandsah (अघमर्षण माधुच्छन्दसः). The names of Ṛsis do not appear to be historical; probably, they are all conceptual. Yami of hymn 154 appears to be different from the Yama-Yami twins of hymn X.10 (यमी वैवस्वती and यमोवैवस्वतः).

1. The creation is likened to a weaver's job : the threads are spread out or extended on every side; the weaving is forwards or upwards (प्रवय) and backwards (अपवय). Lord Prajapati, the progenitor, is invoked.

By pravaya and apavaya, Sayana understands superior and inferior weaving (intellectual, चेतन and unintellectual, जड, weavings (प्रवाणं नाम प्रकृष्टस्य चेतनस्य भोक्तृप्रपञ्चस्य सर्जनम्। अपवानं नाम अपकृष्टस्य निकृष्टस्य अचेतनस्य भोग्य प्रपञ्चस्य सर्जनम् – Sayana).

2. Puman, पुमान्, the First Person, the Cosmic Man. He is the Lord, the Creator, the Purusa of the Purusa Sukta (Ṛv. X.90). The first, the foremost one spreads out this web (तनुते), the same Foremost rolls it up (उत्कृणत्ति) and then spreads it up in this heaven (नाके अधि वितत्ने).

Nake, नाके, a place free from akah or pain, i.e. the heaven (नाके अकं दुःखं नास्त्यस्मिन्निति नाकः स्वर्गलोकः – Sayana).

Tasarani, तसराणि, shuttles of a weaver; also तसराणि तिर्यक्सराणि तिरश्चीन सूत्राणि – Sayana).

Otave, ओतवे, for weaving (वयनाय यज्ञाख्यं वस्त्रमोतुम् – Sayana).

3. The creation itself is a great yajna or sacrifice, and hence the natural questions posed in this verse in respect to प्रमा, प्रतिमा, निदान, आज्य, परिधि, छन्द, प्रउग, and उक्थ. In the Sulba Geometry, Pra-u-ga is a technical term for a triangle, the yoke of a cart forming the triangle. In the yajna-karma, all these become technical terms of specific definitions.

4. The verse deals with metres : gayatri, usnik, anustubh, brhati and also the uktha, jagati is mentioned in verse 5.

The Purusa Sukta, X.90, describes the paridhi and the ajya of the cosmic sacrifice (verses 8 and 15).

6. The creation involves men (मनुष्याः), fathers (पितरः), and seers (ऋषयः).

7. A reference to Seven divine Ṛsis, Marici and others (the seven officiating priests); their predecessors are Angiras and the elder Ṛsi or else the gods involved in the creation.

Sahastomah, सहस्तोमाः, the stamas are three-fold (त्रिवृत्), fifteen-fold (पञ्चदश) etc.

Saha-candasah, सह छन्दसः, the metres are the Gayatri etc.

Saha-prama, सहप्रमा – the prama represents the measurements of fire altars (प्रमितिः प्रमा यज्ञस्येयत्ता परिज्ञानम् – Sayana).

Ṛsayah, ऋषयः; the seers, Marici and others, seven seers in all or the seven participants in the yajna (मरीचि प्रमुखाः सप्तर्षयो होत्रादयः सप्त वषट्कर्तारो वा – Sayana).

Hymn 131

For verses 2,3 and 4, see Yv. X.32,33 and 34.

Sukirti of the family of Kaksivan (सुकीर्ति काक्षीवतः) is the Ṛsi of the hymn. Indra and Asvins are invoked.

1. Anga, अंग, O dear, O Indra.

2. Yavamantah, यवमन्तः, the farmers who grow barley (just as dhanvantah, who grow rice); yavam-cit, यवंचित्, barley etc; or grains or cereals in general; grain is separated from husk and chaff.

4. Namucau, नमुचौ, in mythology the name of an asura, who was crushed to death by Indra by a vajra, specially prepared from the foam of water (नमुचौ एतत्संज्ञे असुरे हन्तव्ये – Sayana).

For Namuci, see:

नमुचिम् – I.53.7; II.14.5; VII.19.5; X.73.7

नमुचेः – V.30.7; 8; VI.20.6; VIII.14.13

नमुचौ – X.131.4

We are also told that Namuci was originally a friend of Indra, but on a certain occasion, Namuci deprived all vitality of Indra, and thereon, on the advice of Asvins, Indra used his vajra and killed Namuci. In another legend, we are told that once Indra got victory over Asuras. This irritated Namuci (one of the asuras), who in his duel, made Indra his captive. Indra entreated and prayed for relief. On Namuci's asking, he promised that he would not kill him either during the day, nor in the night; neither on the dry land nor on waters. Indra promised to do so, and hence was set to liberty. Now during one evening (which was neither day nor night), Indra took the foam of water (which was neither moist nor dry), and thereby he beheaded Namuci (See S'Br. XII.7.3.1-3; see Yv. X.14 also for Namuci)

Dayananda in his commentary on the Yajurveda interprets the word namuci as: नमुचेः - न मुञ्चति परपदार्थान् दुष्टाचारान् वा यः स्तेनस्तस्य; i.e. namuci is that wicked person, a thief, who has taken possession of other's property and does not give it back, nor he forsakes his wickedness. (Yv. X.14) नमुचौ - न मुञ्चति स्वकीयं कर्म यस्तस्मिन् – one who does not give up his bad habits or deeds is namuci. In the context of Indra, the individual self, namuci is an evil sexual desire or passion which deprives the self or the embodied soul of its vitality and vigour. These passions have to be suppressed tenderly by care (by apam phenam, अपां फेनम्, or foam of water).

Hymn 132

The devata, or the subject matter of the hymn is heaven, or earth or Asvins, Mitra and Varuna and the Ṛsi is Sakaputa, the son of Nṛmedha (शकपूतो नार्मेधः).

The metre of the verses of this hymn is unusual: that of the first verse is Nyankusarini Bṛhati (12 + 8 + 8 + 8); of the second and sixth verses Prastarapankti, 12 + 11 + 7 + 7 and 11 + 11 + 8 + 8 respectively; of the seventh verse Mahasatobṛhati, 14 + 9 + 12 + 11 and of the rest Viradrupa, (3) 21 + 14, (4) 21 + 16, and (5) 21 + 17.

Sayana defines the number of syllables in these metres as follows:

1. न्यङ्कुसारिणी - द्वितीय द्वादशक - त्र्यष्टकवती - 12 + 8 + 8 + 8 + 36

2,6, प्रस्तार - पंक्ति - द्विद्वादशक द्वयष्टक वती - 12 + 12 + 8 + 8 + 40

7. महसतोबृहती - त्र्यष्टक द्विद्वादशकवती - 8 + 8 + 8 + 12 + 12 + 48

3, 4, 5 – विराड्रूपा - एकादशिनस्त्रयोऽष्टकः 11+8+8+8+35

1. The heaven, the earth and the Asvins, all of them bring prosperity to the Ijana, ईज़ानम्, the one who performs the yajna, the act of public good.

5. Sakapute, शकपूते, a person sanctified with sacrifice is sakaputa; he should be free from blemishes. This word does not occur anywhere else in the Rgveda.

(1) Avah, अवः अवितुः, the protective; (2) avah अन्न. food (Nigh. II.7)

4. Rathasya murdha, रथस्य मूर्धा, the head of the chariot; here it stands for Soma.

7. Dhursadam, धूर्षदम् – one that rests on the yoke; one that stays in the land of horses.

Vanarsadam, वनर्षदम्, one who abides in the forests (or in the water, Varuna being said to reside in the ocean).

Hymn 133

For verses 1 and 2, see Nir. III.20 and I.15 respectively.

The Rsi of the hymn is Sudas of the family of Pijavana (सुदाः पैजवनः). The first six verses are of three lines each with metres as Sakvari (I-3). and Mahapanktih (4-6).

शक्वरी	— 15	23	14 (I); 14	23	14 (2); 15	24	14
महापंक्ति	— 16	16	14 (4); 15	16	14 (5); 15	15	14 (6)
त्रिष्टुप्	— 11	10	10	11

For the first three verses of this hymn, see Samaveda

II. 9.1.14.1-3 (1801-1803)

1. Abhike cidulokakrt, अभीके चिदुलोककृत्, lo! the maker of the room has approached. The words प्रपित्वे (prapitve) and (abhike) are synonyms of near (प्रपित्वेऽभीकइतग़सन्नस्य। प्रपित्वे प्राप्ते अभीकेऽभ्यक्ते – Nir. III.20)

2. Asatrurindra jajnse, अशत्रुरिन्द्र जज्ञिषे, Indra, thou art born without a foe. This phrase has been quoted by Yaska as opposite to: शतं सेना अजयत् साकमिन्द्रः, Indra vanquished hundred armies together (X.103.1). Yaska quoted such illustrations in support of those who had been of the view that to ascertain the.

meaning of the Vedic verses is useless; they have no meaning, or their meaning is impossible or is contradictory. (Nir.I.15)

Hymn 134

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Mandhatṛ, the son of Yuvanasva (मान्धातायौवनाश्व). None of these two names occurs in the Vedic text.

The burden of the hymn is 'देवी जनित्री अजीजनद् – the divine progenitress has given birth to thee; the auspicious progenitress has given thee birth." (verses 1-6).

7. The last verse (7) is:

O gods (O enlightened ones, or O Nature's bounties"), we never injure you, nor we give you any annoyance. We follow the instructions incorporated in the divine verses. We have complete reliance in you. With wings and arms, we have taken hold of you. (See Samaveda, I.2.2.4.2(176) with some variations.

Hymn 135

For verse 1, see Nir. XII.29.

The devata of the hymn is Yama, and Kumara of the family of Yamayana (कुमारो यामायनः) is the Ṛsi.

The word yama has been described (Nir. X.20; 21). Yama is so called because he governs (√ yam) यमो यच्छतीति सतः – Nir. X. 19; Ṛv. X.14.1); Agni is also called Yama (Nir. X.20); Yama indeed is what is born; Yama, what shall be born : 1.66.8.

1. Here where under a tree of beautiful leaves Yama drinks together with the gods, our father, lord of the house, longs for the old ones.

Under a tree of beautiful leaves, i.e. in the chosen dwelling – place of the virtuous.

Vṛkse, वृक्षे, on the tree. Vṛksa is so called because it is felled. (वृक्षोवृश्चनात् – Nir. XII.29)

Palase, पलाशे, on a leaf; it is so called from falling (पलाशं पलाशनात् – Nir. XII.29)

Devaih sampibate yamah, देवैः संपिबते यमः – Yama goes together with the gods, i.e. the sun with rays (रश्मिभिरादित्यः – Nir. XII.29).

There may be the protector or supporter of us all longing for the old ones (तत्र नः सर्वस्य पाता वा पालयिता पुराणानन् कामयेत – Nir. XII.29)

The entire hymn mystically deals with the richness of spirituality; the wheelless, single-poled chariot, turning every where (3), one stands on it, though he sees it not (2). Three questions are posed in verse 3 regarding the youth, the chariot and restitution; and lastly, in verse 7, we have been told about the dwelling of Yama, the fabric of the gods; and the pipe (Nadi, नाळी) sounded for his gratification, and his invocation by hymns.

Hymn 136

For verse 1, see Nir. XII.26.

The devatas are Kesins (केशिनः); i.e. Agni, Vayu and Surya of the three regions. For each verse, we have a different Muṇi as Ṛsi, the seven Munis are: Juti (जूति), Vatajuti (वातजूति), Viprajuti (विप्रजूति), Vṛsanaka (वृषाणक), Karikrata (करिक्रत), Etasa (एतश) and Ṛsyasṛnga (ऋष्यशृंग); they are the sons of vatarasana (मुनयो वातरशनाः). The word munayah vatarasanah occurs in verse 2.

The word kesin (केशिन्) for the sun occurs in verses 1, 6 and 7, and the word muni in verses 2 (मुनयः), 3 (मौनेयेन), 4 and 5 (मुनिः).

1. Kesin, केशी, having long hair; by hair, rays are meant, i.e. endowed with rays, so called on account of shining (√ काश्, to shine), or onaccount of being very bright (√ प्र + काश्) – (केशी केशा रश्मयः । तैस्तद्वान् भवति । काशनाद् वा । प्रकाशनाद् वा – Nir. XII.25).

Kesin bears fire, kesin water, kesin heaven and earth, keṣin this entire universe for beholding the light. Kesin is called light. Visam, विषम् – this is a synonym of water, derived from the verb वि-स्ना, vi-sna, from sna, preceded by vi, meaning to purify, or from √ सच्, √ sac, to accompany preceded by vi, (विषमित्युदक नाम । विष्णातेः वि पूर्वस्य स्नातेः शुद्ध्यर्थस्य । वि पूर्वस्य वा सचतेः – Nir. XII.26).

Moreover, these two others are also called kesins (having long hair); terrestrial fire (अग्नि) on account of the smoke, and the atmospheric fire (वायु) on account of dust or mist. (अथाप्येते इतरे ज्योतिषी केशिनी उच्येते । धूमेनाग्नी । रजसा च मध्यमः – Nir. XII.26).

For the three kesins, see Ṛv. I. 164.44 (Av. IX.10.26).

Juti – The radiant sun supports Agni, water, heaven and earth. It gives visibility to all.

Vatajuti – The Munis wear the yellow dirty vestments of bark; they follow the course of the wind.

Viprajuti – Exhilarated by the sanctity of the Muni. We have mounted upon the winds. Behold, O mortals, our forms in them.

Vṛsanaka – The Muni flies through the firmament, illumining all objects.

Karikrata – The Muni is the steed of the wind; it repairs to both oceans, the eastern and the western.

Etasa – Wanders in the tracks of the Apsaras and Gandharvas and delightful friend (the Sun).

Ṛsyasṛnga – Vayu churns for him, thunder grinds it, whilst the radiant sun drinks the water with his cup.

Hymn 137

There are seven verses in the hymn, each having a different Ṛsi : भरद्वाज, कश्यप, गोतम, अत्रि, विश्वमित्र, जमदग्नि and वसिष्ठ – the well-known seven seers forming a group (Bharadvaja, Kasyapa, Gotama, Atri, Visvamitra, Jamadagni and Vasistha). There are the seven Ṛsis associated with two eyes, two ears, two nostrils and a mouth.

Bharadvaja – Raise again the man; give life to him again.

Kasyapa – May one wind bring you vigour, and the other one blow away all evils.

Gotama – O wind, breathe the medicinal balm; thou art the universal medicine.

Atri – The wind says, "I have come to thee with pleasures and protections, fortune and vigour. I shall drive away thy disease.

Visvamitra – May the gods, Maruts and all beings give us protections. May this person be free from sins and ailments.

Jamadagni – Waters are medicinal, dissipators of diseases; they are medicines for all diseases.

Vasistha – The tongue is the fore-runner of speech. It is cleansed by hands of ten fingers. With these hands we touch thee; may ye be free from disease.

Hymn 138

For verse 1, Nir. IV.25

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Anga, son of Uru (अंग औरवः).

1. Dansayah, दंसयः, works; so called because they finish them (दंसयः कर्माणि । दंसयन्ति एनानि – Nir. IV.25

Kutsaya manmannahyasca dansayah, कुत्साय मन्मन्नह्यश्च दंसयः Thinking (to make) the works (fruitful) for the present, you let the waters flow.

5. Tujyani tejate, तुज्यानि तेजते, thinks (the hosts of the asuras) which have to be attacked or sharpens his weapons (which are to be hurled against the asuras).

Hymn 139

For verse 6, see Nir. V.I. – Sayana)

Savitri, is the devata of the first trica, (त्रिच) and the Gandharva visvavasu of the last three verses. Visvavasu (विश्वावसु) is the Ṛsi of the entire hymn. The words "gandharvam visvavasum" occur in verses 4 and 5, and word gandharvah in verse 6 also.

Gandharvam, गन्धर्वम्, thundering; noisy. (गन्धर्वं गतिरूपां गां शब्दं धारयन्तम् – Sayana)

Visvavasu, विश्वावसु, clouds (the name of a Gandharva Ṛsi –Sayana).

विश्वऽवसुः - X.139.5; विश्वऽवसुम् – X.85.21; 139.4

विश्ववसोऽइति विश्वऽवसो – (X.85.22).

5. Yat gha satyam ut yat na vidma, यत् घ सत्यं उत् यत न विद्म – that which is the truth, and that which we do not know.

6. Sasnim, सस्निं, cloud (सस्निं सस्नातं मेघम् – Nir. V.1)

Sasnim avindat Carane nadinam, सस्निं अविन्दत चरणे नदीनाम् – he found the cloud in the course of the rivers – Nir. V. 1.

Hymn 140

The devata is Agni, and the Ṛsi is Agni Pavaka. The metres are Vistarapankti (1) Satobṛhati (2-4), Uparistaj-jyotis (5) tristubh (6). The whole of the hymn occurs in the Yajurveda XII. 106-11 and the Samaveda I.9.2.1. 1-6 (1816-1821)

1. विष्टारपंक्तिः – 8 + 12 + 12 + 8 (यस्या द्वितीय तृतीय-पादौ द्वादशार्णौ आद्यतुर्यावष्टकौ)

2. सतोबृहती – 12 + 8 + 12 + 8 (यस्या आद्यतृतीयौ द्वादशकौ द्वितीय तुर्यावष्टकौ)

3. उपरिष्टाज्ज्योतिः – 12 + 12 + 12 + 8 (यस्यास्त्रयः पादा द्वादशाक्षराश्चतुर्थोऽष्टाक्षरः – Mahidhara)

2. Pṛnaksi rodasi ubhe, पृणक्षि रोदसी उभे, you unite both heaven and earth, or you fill both worlds, i.e., heaven with oblations and earth with rain.

3. Urjo-napat, ऊर्जो नपात्, the son of strength, vigour or energy (also grandson of waters; or, non-injurer of food.)

(हे ऊर्जो नपात् ऊर्जः अन्नस्य पार्थिवस्यारण्यादेः पुत्रः – Sayana; अर्कशब्देनाप उच्यन्ते । नपाच्छब्देन च पौत्रः । हे अपांपौत्र, अद्भ्य ओषधिवनस्पतयो जायन्ते, ओषधिवनस्पतिभ्योऽग्निर्जायते and hence urjo-napat is fire – Uvata; Mahidhara; also यद्वा ऊर्जोऽन्नस्य नपात्, न पातयति नाशयति नपात्, i.e. हे अन्नस्याविनाशकः – Mahidhara.)

4. Jantubhih prathayasva irajyan, जन्तुभिः प्रथयस्व इरज्यन् – contending with enemies, bestow upon us riches. (इरज्यन् ईर्ष्यन् स्पर्धां कुर्वन्, or. यद्वा इरज्यतिरैश्वर्य कर्मा । जन्तुभिजायमानैरात्मीयैस्तेजोभिः इरज्यन् ईश्वरोभवन् – Sayana; जन्तुभिः प्राणिभिर्हविः प्रदैरर्त्विग्‌ प्रभृतिभिः इरज्यन् दीप्यमानः – shining by the priests, etc, offering oblations – Mahidhara).

Hymn 141

Agni as an ascetic, अग्निस्तापसः, is the Ṛsi of the hymn.

2. Aryaman, Bhaga, and Bṛhaspati are invoked. Sarasvati is praised as truth – speaking, Devi Sunṛta, देवीसूनृता – Divine speech (प्रिय सत्य वाग्रूपा देवी देवनशीला सरस्वती – Sayana).

3. Invocations to Soma, Agni, the Adityas, Visnu, Surya, Brahma.

4. Invocations to Indra, Vayu and Bṛhaspati.

5. Invocations to Aryaman, Bṛhaspati, Indra, Vata, Visnu, Sarasvati and Savitṛ (food-bestowing).

6. Two demands (1) यज्ञंवर्धय – augment the sacrifice, and (2) देवतातये रयो दानाय चोदय, i.e. stimulate to give us wealth for public good (देवतातये) or for the fulfilment of sacrifice.

Hymn 142

Four Ṛsis are assigned to this hymn; each being related to a couplet (द्विच): (i) Jaritr (1-2); (ii) Drona (3-4); (iii) Sarisṛkva (5-6) (iv) Stambamitra (7-8) (जरितृ, द्रोण, सारिसृक्व, and स्तम्बमित्र).

7. Apam nayanam, samudrasya nivesanam, अपां नयनं, समुद्रस्य निवेशनम् – abode of waters and dwelling of the ocean.

8. Ayane te parayane durvah rohantu, puspinih, आयने ते परायणे दूर्वाः रोहन्तु पुष्पिणीः – At thy arrival and at thy departure, the flowering durva grasses spring up.

Hṛdah, ह्रदाः – lakes and ponds.

Pundarikani, पुण्डरीकाणि, lotuses.

Hymn 143

Atri, son of Sankhya (अत्रिः सांख्यः) is the Ṛsi of this hymn. The word Atri occurs in verses 1,2 and 3.

1. Addressed to Asvins.

Ṛtajuram, ऋतजुरम् – ever diligent in worship; ever busy in acts of public good and in the performance of noble deeds. (ऋतं स्तोत्रं यज्ञो वा। तेन जीर्यन्तम्। सर्वदा युवयोः परिचरणशीलम् – Sayana)

2. Atri was dragged, bound by Asuras, like a swift horse; the Asvins unloosed him like a strong knot (दृढं ग्रन्थिं न विष्यतम्) For Atri, see previous references.

5. You came with the winged steeds to Bhujyu immersed in the ocean and restored him. See earlier references.

Hymn 144

The Ṛsi is Suparna, son of Tarksya (सुपर्णस्तार्क्ष्य पुत्रः) or Urdhva-kṛsana of the family of Yama (ऊर्ध्वकृशनः यामायनः).

2. Urdhvakṛsanam, ऊर्ध्वकृशनम्, effulgent like the fire, with flames going up. The word does not occur anywhere else in the Ṛgveda.

Ṛbhuh, ऋभुः, effulgent; intelligent.

3. Ahisuvah, अहिशुवः – the name of an Asura (St. Petersburg Dict) – sons and grand-sons of persons having keen intellect.

4. Reference to Soma, brought to Indra from afar by Suparna, the son of a falcon (mythology).

Hymn 145

The subject matter of the hymn (devata) is the getting rid of a rival wife (उपनिषत्सपत्नी-बाधनम्) and the Ṛsi is Indrani (इन्द्राणी).

1. The physician speaks about a medicinal herb, a potent medicinal creeper by which her husband gets completely attached to her and does not go to the rival wife.

5. I am triumphant; the medicinal herb is triumphant; both will triumph over the rival lady.

The creeper referred to in the hymn is patha, पाठा (आद्यया पाठा नामौषधिः खनितव्या। ततस्तिसृभिरोषधेरभिमन्त्रणम्। षष्ठयाबद्धा सौषधिर्यथा भर्तारं स्पृशति तथा तस्य भर्तुरालिङ्गनमिति। –Sayana quotes Apastamba Gṛhyasutra, IX.V.8 in the introductory part of this hymn. It is difficult to say how much one can rely on the hypnotic action of the herb.

Hymn 146

For verse 1, see Nir. IX.30.

Aranyani is the devata of the hymn (the tutelary goddess of the forest – Wilson). The Ṛsi is Devamuni, the son of Irammada (देवमुनिः ऐरम्मदः).

The word Aranyani (wilderness) occurs in all the six verses of this hymn and nowhere else in the Ṛgveda.

1. O wilderness (aranyani), how is it that thou who disappearest in deserts over onwards does not seek the village? It appears that fear does not find thee.

Wilderness is the wife of the desert. Desert (aranya, अरण्य) is so called because it is far (apa-arna, अप-अर्ण) from the village, or because it is dull (a-ramana, अ-रमण).

(अरण्यानी अरण्यस्य पत्नी। अरण्यं अपार्णम्। ग्रामादरमणं भवतीति वा).

Na tva bhir iva vindati, न त्वा भीरिव विन्दती – It appears as if fear does not find thee, or word iva (इव) is used in the sense of slight apprehension (i.e. just the slightest fear) (न त्वा भीर्विन्दतीवेति । इवः परिभयार्थे वा – Nir. IX.30)

2. Ciccikah. चिच्चिकः – Vṛsaravaya वृषारवाय – said to be small animals with screaming noise (वृषा रवाय । वृथा सेचनसमर्थो रवः शब्दो यस्य सूक्ष्म जन्तु विशेषस्य झिल्ल्याख्यस्य स तथोक्तः) a small insect, jhilli, who screams during mating is vṛsarava; चिच्चिकः ची-ची-शब्दं कुर्वन्नन्योजन्तुः – any other insect who gives out sound chi-chi-Sayana).

Aghatibhih, आघाटिभिः, with cymhals.

5. Anyah, अन्यः, some other, as a tiger or even a robber.

Hymn 147

For verse 1, see Samaveda, I.4.2.4.2 (371).

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Suvedas, the son of Sirisa (सुवेदाः शैरीषिः).

Indra is invoked for the sake of obtaining a son, a grandson, fulfilment of desires and honourable wealth, as well as food (3-5). Indra slays Vṛtra (1-2).

3. Ahraye, अह्रये, honourable (अलज्जाकरे – Sayana).

Hymn 148

The Ṛsi is Raja Pṛthu, the son of Vena (पृथुर्वैन्यः). Indra gets victory over the races of Dasas and fugitive Vala, lurking on secracy hidden in the waters (2). The verse 5 refers to Pṛthu, the son of Vena (शूर पृथ्या वैन्यस्यार्कैः) Pṛthu means a person with wide and extensive learning.

Venyah is one full of wisdom and intellect. The references in the text, of course, do not refer to historical person ages.

Hymn 149

For verses 1 and 5, see Nir. X.32 and X.33 respectively.

The Ṛsi of the hymn is Arcan, the son of Hiranyastupa (अर्चन्हिरण्यस्तूपः) and the subject matter is Savitṛ, the sun (Nir. X.32).

The word "hiranyastupa" occurs in the last verse (5) – the only occurrence in the entire Ṛgveda. The word means "brilliance personified", and the word Angirasah means the fire-technician.

1. The sun is called Savitṛ also (Savitṛ because he is the impeller or stimulator of all – Nir. X.31). He is so praised in the Hiranyastupa hymn (Nir. X.32). The seer Hiranyastupa proclaimed this hymn in the act of worship – आदित्योऽपि सवितोच्यते। तथा च हैरण्यस्तूपे स्तुतः अर्चन् हिरण्यस्तूपऋषिरिदं सूक्तं प्रोवाच – Nir. X.32).

5. Like Angirasa Hiranyastupa, I invite thee, O Savitṛ, to the sacrificial food. Thus worshipping and bowing before thee for protection. I kept watch as for a stalk of Soma.

Hiranyastupah, हिरण्यस्तूपः, golden tuft of hair; a tuft of hair made of gold or one having a golden tuft of hair (हिरण्यस्तूपो हिरण्यमयः स्तूपः। हिरण्यमयास्तूपोऽस्येति वा। – Nir. X.33)

Stupah, स्तूपः, tuft of hair, is derived from the verb स्त्यै (Styai), to be collected into a heap), i.e. a collection.

(स्तूपः स्त्यायतेः संघातः – Nir. X.33).

Hymn 150

The Ṛsi is Mrlika, the son of Vasistha (मृळीको वासिष्ठः). Vasistha, the purohita, invokes the fire : वसिष्ठो हवते पुरोहितो मृळीकाय पुरोहितः (5).

1. Mṛlikaya, मृळीकाय, for our felicity (मृळीकाय सुखाय सुखार्थम्)

4. Agni was the purohita of gods; the Ṛsis, the descendents of Manu, kindled Agni.

5. Vasistha, as the purohita invokes Agni, the purohita, for our felicity.

The following terms also occur:

Atri, Bharadvaja, Gavisthira, Kanva and Trasdasyu.

See our earlier notes on these terms.

Atri, अत्रि, free from triple bonds; i.e. "not three"; or from अत्, to eat; a king that eats up or devours enemies अत्रिः न त्रय इति – Nir. III.17)

Bharadvajah, भरणात् भारद्वाजः, from being brought up, bhṛ (Nir. IV.17); one that provides food to others.

Gavisthiram, गविष्ठिरम् – from गविः, गौरवयवे – (Nir. II.5) seated on the cow skin; or the one with stablized sense-organs; master of his own (for this term see Ṛv. गविष्ठिरः ; V.1.12 and गविष्ठिरम् X.150.5 – the word occurs nowhere else in the Ṛgveda.

Kanvam, कण्वम् – men of wisdom (Nir. III.17 for प्रस्कण्व, कण्वस्य पुत्रः and कण्वप्रभवः).

Trasadasyum, त्रसदस्युम्, one who suppresses infidels or wicked persons.

त्रसदस्यवि – VIII.49.10

त्रसदस्युः – IV.38.1; V.27.3; VIII.19.36

त्रसदस्युम् – I.112.14; IV.42.8; 8; VIII.19.3;
VIII. 8.21; 36.7; 37.7; X.150.5

त्रसदस्योः – V.33.8

Vasisthah, वसिष्ठः – most notable one; a high-priest; man of great learning. वसिष्ठाः, वसिष्ठासः those with most settled life (Daya.), they who provide settled life to others.

The term is used in singular and plural both.

वसिष्ठः – II.9.1; VII.9.6; X.65.15 and others.

वसिष्ठम् – I.112.9; VII.33.13; and others.

वसिष्ठऽवत् – VII.96.3

वसिष्ठस्य – VII.33.5

वसिष्ठाः – VII.7.7; X.15.8; 122.8 and others, in Book VII.

वसिष्ठाः – (Vocative) – VII.33.3; 4; 8

वसिष्ठान् – VII. 33.2

वसिष्ठासः – VII. 23.6; X. 66.14

वसिष्ठैः – VII. 39.7; 40.7; 76.7

Hymn 151

For verse 1, see Nir.IX.31

The devata is Sraddha, श्रद्धा, Srát श्रत् is a synonym of truth सत्य (बट्, श्रत्, सत्रा, अद्धा, इत्था and ऋत are six synonyms of truth – Nigh. III.10). Acceptance of truth for life is Sraddha – normally translated as faith. Ṛsi of the hymn is a lady named as Sraddha of family of Kama (श्रद्धा कामायनी).

1. Sraddha, श्रद्धा – Being based on truth, it is called so (श्रद्धा श्रद् धानात् – Nir. IX.30).

Through faith is fire kindled, through faith is oblation offered. With our speech, we announce faith at the head of fortune (chief limb of fortune, i.e. prosperity (श्रद्धा भगस्य भागदेयस्य मूर्धनि प्रधानाङ्गे वचनेनावेदयामः – Nir. IX.31)

5. Suryasya nimruci, सूर्यस्य निम्रुचि, at the setting of the sun.

Hymn 152

For verse 4, see Nir. VII.2.

The deity or the subject matter of the hymn is Indra, and the Ṛsi is Sasah (शास) of the race of Bharadvaja (शासो भारद्वाजः).

1. Sasah, शासः, the ruler, the king.

4. Vi na Indra mrdho jahi, वि न इन्द्र मृधो जहि – O Indra, slay our enemies (or our evil tendencies, मृधः) – Nir. VII.2.

Also see Yv. VIII.44, and Samaveda, II.9.3.7.2 (1868).

Hymn 153

For verse 2, see Nir. VII.2

The Ṛsis are the wives of the gods and the mothers of Indra (इन्द्रमातरो देवजामयः). Indra, the head of the state, is the subject matter.

1. Jatam upaste, जातमुपासते, worship him as soon as born, i.e. as soon as coronated or elected as the head of the state (See Samaveda I.2.2.41 (175) with variation.)

2. Tvam indra balad adhi, त्वमिन्द्र बलादधि, thou, O Indra, (art born) of strength or from the overpowering strength (Nir. VII.2).

See Samaveda, I.2.1.3.6 (120)

Indra is born of strength (बलात्), courage (सहसः) and vigour (ओजसः).

Hymn 154

Yami is the Ṛsi, the daughter of Vivasvat, whilst the creation is the topic (भाववृत्तम्).

1. According to Sayana, the students of the school of the Samaveda offer Soma to Pitṛs (Manes); the students of the school of the Yajurveda offer ghee (clarified butter), and the students of the school of the Atharvaveda offer honey. In fact, the knowledge gained through devotion and affection to God (the emotional approach to God) is likened to Soma and the Saman; the knowledge gained through Karma or actions of public dedication and service (serve approach to God) is likened to butter and the Yajuh, and the knowledge gained through study (mundaṇe and spiritual both), i.e. the jnana marga is likened to honey and the Atharva school (Brahmaveda).

Hymn 155

For verse 1, see Nir. VI.30

The topic of the verses 1 and 4 is the averting of misfortune (अलक्ष्मीघ्न), of verses 2 and 3 is Brahmanaspati and of verse 5 is the all-gods (all-bounties of Nature) (Visvedevah). The Ṛsi is Sirimbitha, the son of Bharadvaja (शिरिम्बिठो भारद्वाजः).

1. Go to the hill, O barren – अरायि – one-eyed, काणे, hideous ever-screaming (famine). We frighten thee away with those heroes (or beings) of the cloud.

Arayi, अरायि, unliberal (अदायिनि), miserable, not giving; barren, the goddess of famine (दुर्भिक्षादि देवता –Sayana); distress, misery, alaksmi or misfortune personified.

Kane, काणे, one eyed is so called because his sight is crooked (काणे विकटे).

Kane may be derived from the root √ कण्, meaning to be small. (काणो दर्शन इत्यौपमन्यवः कणतेर्वा स्यादणूभाव कर्मणः).

The verb कण् (kan) is used to denote the smallness of sound, as it sounds inaudible (कणतिः शब्दाणूभावे भाष्यते। अणुकणतीति। मात्राणूभावात् कणः). A person is called कण on account of the smallness of his size and काण on account of his short vision; i.e. one-eyed, (दर्शनाणूभावात् काणः) – Nir. VI.30.

Vikate, विकटे, crooked, hideous, i.e. whose manner of walking is crooked, says Aupamanyava, (विकटो विक्रान्तगतिरित्यौपमन्यवः); or the word vi-kata (वि + कट) may be derived from √ कुट् √kut (to be crooked) by metathesis: he is very crooked. (कुटतेर्वा स्यात्। विपरीतस्य। विकुटितो भवति – Nir. VI.30).

Sadanve, सदान्वे, ever-sereaming, always sereeching सदान्वे सदानोनुवे शब्दकारिके – Nir. VI.30

Sirimbithasya, शिरिम्बिठस्य – of the clouds – sirimbitha means cloud (शिरिम्बिठो मेघः । शीर्यते बिठे । बिठमन्तरिक्षम् । बिठं बीरिठेन व्याख्यातम्); it is shattered in the atmosphere. Bitham (बिठम्) means atmosphere. Bitham (बिठम्) is explained by biritha (बीरिठ).

Sirimbitha is also the name of a seer of the family of Bharadvaja (शिरिम्बिठो भारद्वाजः) who, endowed with black ears, destryed evil fortune (with this verse) (अपि वा शिरिम्बिठो भारद्वाजः कालकर्णोपितः).

Tebhis tva sattvabhih catayamasi, तेभिः त्वा सत्वभिः चातयामसि – we frighten thee away with his heroes, i.e. actions. The verb चातय् (catay) means to frighten. (तस्य सत्वैः कर्मभिरिति स्यात्। तैष्ट्वा चातयामः। चातयतिर्नाशने – Nir. VI.30.).

Sattvaih, सत्वैः, by its heroes; by its waters, i.e. by actions.

Hymn 156

The Ṛsi is Ketu, the son of Agni (केतुराग्नेयः) the topic is Agni.

5. Agne ketuh visam asi presthah sresthah अग्ने केतुः विशामसि प्रेष्ठः श्रेष्ठः – Thou, O Agni, art the best beloved and most excellent banner of the people (विशां प्रजानां, केतुः केतयिता, ज्ञापयिता, प्रेष्ठः प्रियतमः श्रेष्ठः प्रशस्यतमः – Sayana).

Ketuh, केतुः – Synonym of prajna (प्रज्ञानाम – Nigh. III.9); See प्र चेतयति केतुना – I.3.12; उषसः केतुमक्रत – I.92.1; दैवं वहन्ति केतवः – I.50.1).

Hymn 157

The Rsi is Bhuvana, the son of Aptya (भुवन आप्त्यः) or Sadhana, the son of Bhuvana (साधनो भौवनः) Indra, Adityas and Maruts are invoked, for the sake of rains (इषिरां स्वधां पर्यपश्यन् – men beheld around them the swift descending rain).

4. Svadham, स्वधाम् – rains (स्वधा उदक नाम – Nigh. I.12; स्वधां वृष्ट्युदकम् – Sayana).

Hymn 158

The topic is surya, the sun; and the Ṛsi is Caksu (eye), the son of Surya (चक्षुः सौर्यः).

1. The sun protects us from the evils coming from heaven; air protects from those of the firmament, and fire from those upon earth.

4. The sun or the Surya gives sight to our eye (चक्षुर्नो धेहि चक्षुषे).

Hymn 159

Saci (शचि) is the Ṛsi as well as the devata of the hymn (शची पौलोमी).

Saci is the Queen-Empress of the State or the Queen on her own accounts in a democratic state (the lady-President, or the Lady-Prime Minister of the State). Her sons and daughters are also dedicated to the State (मम पुत्राः शत्रुहणः, मे दुहिता विराट्) (3). The verses 5 and 6 speak of the suppression of rival-ladies, influencing the head of the State.

Hymn 160

Purana, the son of Visvamitra (पूरणो वैश्वामित्रः) is the Ṛsi of the hymn, and the topic is Indra, the lower self or resplendent Lord. He is fond of Soma (the emotional love); He is cognizant of all things (2). The person who serves Him with all his mind, offers sincere devotion to Him with all his heart, receives His blessings, wealth and cattle (material as well as spiritual) (3). The Lord unsolicited destroys his enemies, the despisers of Brahmanas (ब्रह्मद्विषः or men of learning and character) (4).

4. Revan na, रेवान्न – as a rich man (रेवान् = धनवान् – Sayana)

Ananudistah, अनानुदिष्टः, unsolicited. (अनानुदिष्टः=अननुप्रदिष्टः तेनानुक्तः अप्रार्थितः – Sayana)

Hymn 161

The object of the hymn is the cure of the disease raja-yaksma (राजयक्ष्मा) or chronic (or declared) consumption, and hence the conceptual Ṛsi is Yaksmanasana the son of Prajapati (यक्ष्मनाशनः प्राजापत्यः).

1. Kam, कम्, with ease.

Havisa, हविषा, the medicine (lit. oblation)

Ajnata-yaksmat, अज्ञातयक्ष्मात्, from the unobserved or undetected consumption.

Raja-yaksmat, राजयक्ष्मात्, from the royal (declared, or observed, or chronic) consumption.

2. Nir-ṛteh upasthat, निर्ऋतेः उपस्थात्, from the lap of calamity, from the clutches of the disease.

3. Sahasraksena sata-saradena satayusa havisa, सहस्राक्षेण शतशारदेन शतायुषा हविषा, with a medicine having a thousand potency (eyes), conferring hundred years, giving a life for a century.

4. Satam saradah, satam hemantan, satam vasantamh – शतं शरदः, शतं हेमन्तान्, शतं वसन्तान्, for a hundred autumns, a hundred winters, a hundred springs.

Satayusa havisa, शतायुषा हविषा, this century-yielding medicine.

Hymn 162

(For verse 2, see Nir. VI.12)

The subject of the hymn is to avert abortion (गर्भसंस्रावे प्रायश्चित्तम्), and the conceptual Rsi is Ṛaksohan, the son of Brahma (रक्षोहा ब्राह्मः).

1. The disease (अमीवा) is called durnaman (दुर्णामा); it provides sickness to embryo (गर्भम्) and assails the womb (योनिः).

Raksoha, रक्षोहा, the destroyer of raksasas (the infections, contagions, virus etc).

2. Kravyadam, क्रव्यादम्, cannibal; flesh-eating; the worms consuming flesh.

Amiva, durnama, अमीवा दुर्णामा–the disease of th evil name (दुः+नामा) Amiva is explained by abhyamana (अभ्यमन), i.e. disease. "Durnama, evil name" signified a germ of disease, a worm, whose name is sinful (दुर्णामा क्रिमिर्भवति पापनामा – Nir. VI.12)

Krimih, क्रिमिः; a worm is so called because it grows fat √ (मिद्) a raw flesh (क्रव्ये) or it may be derived from the root meaning to creep, or from √ क्राम, to crawl (क्रिमिः क्रव्ये मेद्यति। क्रमतेर्वा स्यात् सरणकर्मणा। क्रामतेर्वा – Nir. VI.12)

The word Krimih, क्रिमिः, does not occur in the Ṛgveda.

3. Hanti Patayantam, हन्ति पतयन्तम्, one that destroys the impregnating energy.

Nisatsnum, निषत्स्नुं, the germ as it settles.

Sarisrpam, सरीसृपम्, the moving embryo.

Hymn 163

The cure of phthisis (यक्ष्मघ्नम्) is the subject matter of this hymn and Ṛsi is Vivṛhan, the son of Kasyapa (विवृहा काश्यपः).

The disease spreads throughout all parts of body and hence its banishment is demanded from every place.

These limbs are enumeratd in the hymn (32 in all).

1. अक्षि – eye	शिरस् शीर्ष्ण – head
नासिका – nose	मस्तिष्क – brain
कर्ण – ear	जिह्वा – tongue
छुबुक – chin
2. ग्रीवा – neck	दोषन्, दोष्णु – upper arm
उष्णिह् – sinews	अंस – shoulder
कीकस – bones	बाहु – forearm
अनुक्य – joint
3. अन्त्र – entrail	मतस्न – kidney
गुदा – anus	यक्न, यकृत – liver
वनिष्ठु – abdomen	प्लाशि – viscus (pl. viscera)
हृदय – heart
4. ऊरु – thigh	श्रोणि – loin
अष्ठीवद् – knee	भासद – buttock
पार्ष्णि – heel	भंसस् (पायु) – private parts
प्रपद – toe
5. मेहन – urethra	लोम – hair
वनंकरण – bladder	नख – nail

Angat-angat, अंगात्-अंगात् – from each limb; lomnah-lomnah, लोम्नः-लोम्नः, from each hair; parvani-parvani, पर्वाणि-पर्वाणि, from each joint.

Hymn 164

(For verse 1, see Nir. I. 17)

The subject matter of the hymn is dissipation of bad dreams and the conceptual Ṛsi is Pracatas, the son of Angiras (प्रचेताः आंगिरसः; versu)

1. Paro nirṛtya a caksva, परोनिर्ऋत्या आचक्ष्व, Far, far away, call for death (or calamity); (Nir. I.1) – a discussion on the pada-patha:

निर्ऋत्या = निःऽऋत्यै (in the dative case as ending in ai, ऐकारान्तम्)

3. The evil thoughts or sins involved while speaking the others (or deliberately) (आशसा); speaking against others (unknowingly or without intention) (निःशसा); speaking about others (or with intention) (अभिशसा); while waking (जाग्रतः); while dreaming (स्वपन्तः).

4. Pracetah angirasah, प्रचेताः आंगिरसः, very sensible man of austerity, and enlightenment.

Pracetah, प्रचेताः, highly sensible; having profound knowledge (प्रचेता, प्रवृद्धचेताः – Nir. VIII.6; Ṛv. X.110.1)

Hymn 165

For verse 1, see Nir. 1.17

The Ṛsi is Kapota, the son of Nirṛti = (कपोतो नैर्ऋतः) (a conceptual name).

1. दूतो निर्ऋत्या इदमा जगाम – Here has come this messenger of death, दूतः निर्ऋत्याः। इदम् आऽजगाम (For padapatha, Nir. I.17); Nirrtya is either in the ablative (पंचम्यर्थप्रेक्षा) or in the genitive case (षष्ठ्यर्थ प्रेक्षा), so it is written in the padapatha (पदपाठ), as ending in the visarjaniya (= निर्ऋत्याः)

Kapotah, कपोतः, pigeon. For Kapota, see:

कपोतः – X.165.1-4

कपोतऽइव – I.30.4

कपोतम् – X.165.5

Pigeon has been sent as the messenger of Nirṛti (a synonym of death or calamity); it brings bad news, and hence, its arrival is regarded as unlucky. Niṣkṛtim, निष्कृति, atonement.

2. May the arrival of the pigeon be auspicious (शिवः).

2, 3. Paksini hetih, पक्षिणी हेतिः, the winged-weapon (of mischief), (पक्षिणी पक्षोपेता हेतिः हननहेतुः कपोतः – Sayana), Hetih may be army also.

4. Ulukah, उलूकः, owl. It speaks amogham

Mogham, मोघम्, be in vain (मोघं निष्फलम् –Sayana)

Yamaya mṛtyave, यमाय मृत्यवे, for the controller (यमाय) death (मृत्यवे)

The word uluka has the following occurrences:

उलूकः – X.165.4

उलूकऽयातुम् – VII.104.22

(Only these two occurrences in the Ṛgveda).

Hymn 166

For verse 5, see Nir. X. 16

The topic of the hymn is to get away from the influence of the rival (सपत्नघ्नम्). The hypothetical Ṛsi is Ṛsabha, the son of Viraj (ऋषभो वैराजः).

The word ṛsabha occurs as follows in the Samhita:

ऋषभम् – X.166.1

ऋषभस्य – VI.28.8

ऋषभासः – VI. 16.47; X.91.14

Yaska gives no comment on the word.

1. Ṛsabham, ऋषभं, bull; renowned like a bull (ऋषभवत् प्रशस्तम् – Sayana); excellent and superior (मा समानानां ऋषभम् – Superior among my equals).

5. Yaska quotes this verse (Nir. X.16) in connection with his discussion on tautology (समानाभिव्याहारम्). The recurrence of the same expression in the same verse means tautology, and is regarded as undesirable. Some of the schools of thought do not admit tautology, if there is some difference, even the slightest, as for instance "as from water the frogs (मण्डूकाः इव उदकात्) and "as frogs from water (मण्डूकाः उदकात् इव) (Nir. X.16)

Yoga-Ksemam, योगक्षेमं, goods and chattles (Wilson); acquisitions (योग); preservations (क्षेम) – war efforts and peace plans (acquisition of all that one does not possess in Yoga and the preservation of that which has been acquired is Ksema (अप्राप्तस्य धनस्य प्राप्तिर्योगः। प्राप्तस्य रक्षणं क्षेमः – Sayana).

This verse is the only one in the Ṛgveda which has Yoga-Ksema (both the terms) occurring together. It is of common occurrence in the Yajurveda (e.g. योगस्य क्षेमो नः कल्पताम् – Yv. XXII.22; अलब्धलाभोयोगः, लब्धस्य परिपालनं क्षेमः – Mahidhara; योगो द्रव्यादीनां संयोगः क्षेमस्तेषामेव परिपालनम् – Uvat).

Hymn 167

For verse 3, see Nir. XI.12.

The Ṛsis are Visvamitra and Jamadagni. The words Visvamitra occurs in the text as follows:

विश्वामित्रः – III. 53.9

विश्वामित्र जमदग्नी-इति – X.167.4

विश्वामित्रस्य – III.53.12

विश्वामित्राः – III.53.13; X.89.17

विश्वामित्राय – III.53.7

विश्वामित्रेभिः – III.1.21

विश्वामित्रेषु – III.18.4

For jamadagni, see the following:

जमत्ऽअग्निना – III.62.18; VIII.101.8; IX.62.24; 65.25

जमदग्निःऽदत्ता – III.53.15

जमदग्निऽवत् – VII.96.3; IX.97.51

3. Kalasan abhaksayan, कलशान् अभक्षयन्, I have fed on the pitcher or on the jar, i.e. I have drunk the Soma left in the jar from that which had been offered (कलशान् कलशास्थान् हुतशिष्टान् सोमान् अभक्षयम् भक्षितवानस्मि – Sayana).

In the law of King Soma and Varuna, in the protection of Bṛhaspati and Anumati, today, in thy invocation, O Maghavan, and of Dhatṛ and Vidhatṛ, I partook of the jars.

The meaning is: induced by these deities, I partook of the jars full of soma juices (एताभिर्देवताभिरभि प्रसूतः सोमकलशानभक्षयमिति – Nir.XI.13)

Kalasa, कलश, or jar, is so called because Kalah (कलाः) particular measures of Soma, are deposited in it (कला+शी) (कलशः कस्मात् । कला अस्मिञ्छेरते मात्राः Kalah (कलिश्च कलाश्च) are both derived from कॄ, to scatter; their measures are scattered (कलिश्च कलाश्च किरतेः । विकीर्णमात्राः – Nir. XI. 14).

Varunasya, वरुणस्य, of venerable Lord; of air.

Somasya, सोमस्य, of blissful Lord; of Soma, the nectar; the elixir.

Bṛhaspateh, बृहस्पतेः, of the Lord Supreme; of Agni or fire.

Anumatyah, अनुमत्याः, of concordance, of agreement, of approbation (Nir. XI.29; 30); of approval.

Dhatah, धातः, of sustainer (the samvatsara); Dhatṛ is the creator of all (Nir. XI.10).

Vidhatah, विधातः, of the creator or of the impeller.

Vidhatṛ is also explained by Dhatṛ (धाता सर्वस्य विधाता – Nir. XI.10)

Hymn 168

The conceptual Ṛsi is Anilah, of the race of Vata (अनिलो वातायनः). The word vata occurs in verses 1,2 and 4 of this hymn. Vata, anila, vayu and others are synonyms, not enumerated in the Nighantu. This air or wind is the deity of the midspace (वायुः प्रथमागामी भवति । वायुर्वातेः । वेतेर्वा स्याद् गतिकर्मणः – Nir. X.1). Anila has not been described by Yaska. We have in Yv.XI. 15 – वायुरनिलम् । वायुः प्राणोऽनिलं स्वकीयां प्रकृतिमापद्यते – Uvata.)

Air, Vayu, prana (the vital breath), the cosmic wind, all are invoked in this hymn: He moves along sweeping the sky, raising the dust of the earth (1). solid masses advance to meet the wind (2). vayu rests not for a single day; he is the friend of waters, the first-born (3). he is the germ of the world; his voices are heard but his form is not seen – such is this Vata: घोषा इदस्य शृण्विरे न रूपम् (4).

Hymn 169

For verse 1, see Nir. I. 17

The topic is cows (गावः), and the Ṛsi is Sabara of the family of Kaksivat (शबरः काक्षीवतः).

1. Avasava pad-vate rudra mṛlaya, अवसाय पद्वते रुद्र मृळय – Be merciful, O Rudra, to the footed wanderer, the Padvate, पद्वते, the footed – wanderer is the cow, provision for the journey (पद्वत् अवसं गावः पथ्य दनम्। अवतेर्गत्यर्थ स्यासो नामकरणः। Avasaya, अवसाय, is derived from √अव्, to go, with the suffix अस, asa it is therefore, not anlysed in the padapatha (पदपाठ)

2. Angirasah, अंगिरसः, the technicians; genetic experts (animal genetics and husbandry).

The cows are of similar forms, different forms, of single forms; Agni knows their names (2); Some knows them well; they nourish us with milk, they have calves (3); may we have auspicious cattle in our cow–pen (गोष्ठम्) (4)

For gostha, see–

गोऽस्थम् – VIII.43.7; X.169.4 गोऽस्थात् इव – X.97.8

गोऽस्थे – I.191.4; VI.28.1; X.169.3

Hymn 170

The topic of the hymn is the Sun, Surya (सूर्य) and the hypothetical Ṛsi is Vibhraj, the son of Sun (विभ्राट् सौर्यः). All the four verses have the term Vibhraj; विभ्राट् (1,2); विश्वभ्राट्-भ्राजः (3), jyotisa vibhrajan, ज्योतिषा विभ्राजन् (4).

The sun is the slayer of adversaries (अमित्रहा), the slayer of Vṛtra (clouds, dazness and nescience) (वृत्रहा); slays dasyus (दस्युहा), those who bring calamity to the State), killers of germs (असुरहा), the slayer of rivals (rivalry to the purity of environments). (2) The light of the sun is the best light (इदं श्रेष्ठं ज्योतिषां ज्योतिः); it is the light of lights. It is superb (उत्तमम्). (3)

Hymn 171

Itah, the son of Bhṛgu, (इटो भार्गवः) is the Ṛsi. The term "the chariot of ita" (इटतः रथम्) occurs in the first verse. The term ita or itatah occurs nowhere in the Ṛgveda. Sayana regards Ita as the name of Ṛsi. The word may mean a "man of wisdom".

2. Wilson gives the following legend to illustrate the illusion: sacrifice, attempting to escape from the gods, assumed a human form, that of a warrior Indra, in the shape of an ant, gnawed the bowstring and then cut off his head. The head of the sacrifice is said by Sayana to be the pravargya or preliminary ceremony of pouring fresh milk into the boiling ghee.

3. Venyam, वेन्यम् – According to legend, Pṛthu, पृथु, the son of Vena; Venyam, to jealous aspirants.

Muhuh Srathna, मुहुः श्नथ्ना, drive away again and again (श्नथ्नाः अहिंसीः ; i.e. hast harmed – Sayana.

Manasyave astrabudhnaya, मनस्यवे आस्त्र बुध्नाय, for the Manasyu, the son of Astrabudhna (legend); for the learned intellectual, who disperses his knowledge universally.

The word आस्त्रबुध्न, astrabudhna, occurs nowhere else in the Ṛgveda.

Hymn 172

The topic is usa (उषा), the dawn and the Ṛsi is Samvarta, the son of Angiras (संवर्तः आंगिरसः). The word वर्तनिं (1) and वर्तयति वर्तनिम् (4) occurs in two verses. The metre is dvipada viraj (द्विपदा विराज), or the half-stanza – tristubh (1) 10 + 10; (ii) 10 + 9; (iii) 12 + 8; (iv) 9 + 11 (चतस्रोऽपि विंशतिका द्विपदा विराजः – Sayana).

For verse 1, see Samaveda I.5.2.1.7 (443).

1. Vartanim, वर्तनिम्, to the chariot wheel.

Udhabhih, ऊधभिः, of full udders (may mean dew of the morning).

Vanasa, वनसा, the desirable, the pretty.

Gavah, गावः, cows; speech (divine) वाणी

4. Svasustamah, स्वसुस्तमः, the darkness of her sister (here night is the sister of dawn).

Hymn 173

The topic is an inaugurated king (the coronated king); or the appointed, nominated or duly-elected head of the State, just admitted to the high office. The Ṛsi is Dhruva (the hypothetical Ṛsi), a term which connotes stability. The word dhruva occurs in all the verses 1-6 of the hymn.

King is blessed by priest and people, during consecration for his stability (during the term assigned), steadiness and unvacillation. May the kingdom (राष्ट्र) never fall from him (1). Should be unvacillating like a mountain, firm and rigid (2). Firm is the heaven, firm is the earth, firm are the mountains, and so may this king of men be firm (4). May God give stability to his kingdom (5). May people always pay taxes to him (इन्द्रः ते विशः केवलीः बलिहृतः करत्) (6).

For बलिहृतः – tax collected from people, see VII.6.5 and X.173.6 (these two references only in te Ṛgveda (अग्निर्विशः चक्रे बलिहृतः – VII.6.5) – The two parallel passages, अग्निः विशः बलिहृतःचक्रे = इन्द्रः विशः बलिहृतः करत् (may Indra (or Agni) render thy subject people payers of their taxes.)

Hymn 174

The devata is any King or Raja, and the conceptual Rsi is Abhivarta of the race of Angiras (अभीवर्तः आंगिरसः). We have the following terms in the verses of this hymn to this effect: अभिवर्तेन (1), अभिवृत्य (2), अभीवर्तः and अभि-अवीवृतत् (3). Abhivarta is the name of an oblation in ecclesiastical sacrifices.

1. Rastraya abhivartaya, राष्ट्राय अभिवर्तय, bring us to sovereign rule.

2. Abhivṛtya sapatnan, अभिवृत्य सपत्नान्, having overcome rivals.

3. May Savita and Soma establish thee (त्वा सविता सोमः अभि अवीवृतत्). So that thou mayest be supreme (यथा त्वा अभीवर्तः असासि).

5. Aspatnah, असपत्नः, may I become one without a rival.

Sapatnaha, सपत्नहा, may I become a destroyer of my rival.

Abhirastrah, अभिराष्ट्रः, obtaining the sovereignity (अभिराष्ट्रः अभिगत-राष्ट्रः प्राप्तराज्यः सन् – Sayana).

Visasahih, विषासहिः, overcoming my foes (विषासहिः शत्रूणां विशेषेणाभिभविता चाभूयम् – Sayana).

Hymn 175

The devata is Gravana; ग्रावाणः, the grinding stones for the Soma plant. The Ṛsi (hypothetical) is Urdhva – gravan, the son of the serpent Arbunda (अर्बुदस्य सर्पिः पुत्र ऊर्ध्वग्रावा नामर्षिः – Sayana), i.e. ऊर्ध्वग्रावार्बुदः. The term gravanah occurs in all the four verses of the hymn.

Gravanah, ग्रावाणः – According to Yaska, the word is derived from the root हन्, to kill; or from गृ to praise, or from ग्रह्, to seize (ग्रावाणो हन्तेर्वा, गृणातेर्वा, गृह्णातेर्वा, – Nir. IX.8). Grava, ग्रावा, is a synonym of cloud also (Nigh. I.10). Gravanah, ग्रावाणः, is included in the list of 36 terms (Nigh. V.3). Gravanah also means the men of wisdom.

1. O men of wisdom, may the creator or the impeller Lord, bless and enlighten you, so that you be appointed on your respectable posts, and perform your duties honourably.

2. O men of wisdom, may you drive away all the evils and evil-minded persons or evil intentions. May you use milk-giving cattle (or active solar radiations) as a remedy against diseases.

3. Men of wisdom, with their uppermost position, with their popularity, are universally honoured, as they give energy and vitality to the active participants.

4. May the divine creator quickly encourage you, O men of wisdom by his sustenance, for your good wishes to the worshipper who offers devotional oblations (or who renders good service to people).

(When by gravana, we mean grinding stone, the upara, is the large stone in the centre of the four stones, which bruise the plant; the plural is used for the singular, or it may imply the edges of the stone - Wilson).

Hymn 176

The Ṛsi is Sunu, सून्, which means the son; here the son of Ṛbhu (सूनुरार्भवः). The topic is Ṛbhu (verse 1) and Agni for others.

1. Sunavah ṛbhunam, सूनवः ऋभूणाम्, the sons of Ṛbhus; the sons of technicians or of intellectuals.

2. Jatavedasam, जातवेदसम्, one who knows all that has been born; a synonym of agni or fire.

Devya dhiya, देव्यः धिया, by divine wisdom.

Anusak, आनुषक्, in succession; one after the other in an orderly way.

4. This agni saves (अरुष्यति) from (peril caused by the immortals (अमृतात्), as well as by men (इवजन्मनः).

Sahasascit sahiyan, सहसश्चित् सहीयान, more courageous than courage (or stronger than strength).

Jivatava, जीवातवे, for life-producing.

Hymn 177

The subject of this hymn is Mayabheda, मायाभेद, apparently a mystic one (the discernment of Maya). The Ṛsi of the hymn, a non-historical person, the son of Prajapati, is Patanga (पतंगः प्राजापत्यः). Patanga may mean the sun also. Yaska does not take notice of this hymn. Maya means prejna (विश्वमाया सर्वाणि प्रज्ञानानि – Nir. XII.17; all sciences, all arts, VI. 58.1)

It means a symbol of speech (मायया वाक् प्रति रूपया) - Nir. I.20; X.71.5. Again, commenting on X.88.6, Yaska equates mayam (मायां) with prajnam, the profound vision (Nir. VII.27). For the word maya, see, out of so many, the following references in the Ṛgveda:

मायया – I.80.7; II.17.5; III.27.7; IV.30.12; V.63.3; VI.22.6; VII.104.24; VIII.23.15; IX.73.5; X.71.5

माया – III.61.7; V.63.4; X.54.2

मायाः – I.32.4; II.11.10; III.20.3; V.2.9; VI.18.9; VII.1.10; VIII.41.8; X.53.9

मायाभिः – I.17.7; III.34.6; V.30.6; VI.47.18; VIII.14.14; X.147.2

मायाम् – V.85.5; 6; X.88.6

मायाऽवान् – IV.16.9

मायाऽविनः – IX.83.3

मायाऽविनम् – II.111.9

मायाऽविना – X.24.4

मायिनः – I.39.2; II.11.10; III.38.7; V.44.11; VI.61.3; VII.82.3; VIII.3.19; X.138.3

मायिनम् – I.11.7; II.11.5; V.30.6; VI.48.14; VIII.76.1; X.147.2

मायिना – VI.63.5

मायिनाम् – I.32.4; III.20.3; 34.3

मायिनि – V.48.3

मायिनी – V.48.1

मायिनी इति – X.5.3

मायी – VII.28.4; X.99.10: 147.5

1. Asurasya mayaya, असुरस्य मायया, by the art or intelligence of Asura. Sayana explains asurasya, as the Supreme Brahman devoid of all disguise (असुरस्य असनकुशलस्य सर्वोपाधिविहीनस्य परब्रह्मणः सम्बन्धिनया मायया त्रिगुणात्मिकया; मायेति प्रज्ञानाम । प्रज्ञया सम्बन्ध सर्वज्ञम्)

Aktam mayaya, अक्तं मायया, united to knowledge, all-knowing.

Patangam, पतंगम् – the self or the soul; also the sun (पतगं पतति गच्छतीति पतंग; सूर्यः – Sayana).

Vipascitah, विपश्चितः, men of learning (विद्वांसः – Sayana)

Kavayah, कवयः, seers (कवयः क्रान्तिदर्शिनः – Sayana).

Maricinam, मरीचीनाम्, of the sun-rays.

2. Vacam, वाचं, the divine speech; the self or the soul bears the word in his mind (पतंगोवाचं मनस विर्भति – compare यस्मिन्नृचः साम यंजूषि यस्मिन्प्रतिष्ठिता रथनाभाविवाराः। यस्मिश्चित्तं सर्वमोतं प्रजानां तन्मे मनः शिवसंकल्पमास्तु Yv. XXXIV.5). The word vac has been explained by Sayana as the three Vedas (Tait. Br. III. 12.9). In the morning, the deity (the sun) moves in the sky with the hymns of the Ṛgveda; he abides at noon in the Yajurveda; at his setting, he is extolled with the Samaveda; the sun moves accompanied by the three Vedas" –ऋग्भिः पूर्वाह्णे दिव देव ईयते यजुर्वेदे तिष्ठति मध्ये अह्नः सामवेदेनास्तमये वेदैरशून्यस्त्रिभिरेति सूर्यः – Tartti. Br. III.12.9.1

Gandharvah, गन्धर्वः, the breath of life.

(गन्धर्वः गाः शब्दान् धारयतीति गन्धर्वः प्राणवायुः –Sayana; from गाः, gah, voices; dhṛ √ धृ, to hold; the prana vayu holds the speech, – Sayana).

3. For this verse, see I. 164.31; and also Yv. XXXVII.17. The verse is applicable to the Sun, his movements high up and low down. In the same way the verse also refers to the birth and rebirth of the soul, high up in certain lives, and low down in inferior species (आ च परा च पथिभिः, through the species lower and higher; सध्रीचीः विषूचीः वसानः, clothing in bodies superior and inferior).

Anipadyamanam, अनिपद्यमानम्, never descending, going up, never coming down, (उच्चैर्गच्छन्तम्। न ह्यसौ कदाचिन्नीचैः पद्यते – Sayana); not decaying; going up in the series of rebirths.

A carantam, para carantam, आ चरन्तं परा चरन्तम् – going this way; going the opposite way (in the case of the sun, going to the east and to the west); from animals to men and from men to lower life.

Sadhricih, सध्रीचीः, going together (सध्रीचीः सहाञ्चन्तीः).

Visucih, विषूचीः – going separately on their own lines (विषूचीः विविधं पृथक् पृथगञ्चन्तीः).

Hymn 178

For verses 1 and 3, see Nir. X. 28.

For verse 1, see Samaveda, 14.1.5.1 (332). The deity is Tarksya; the Ṛsi is Aristnemi, the son of Tarksya (अरिष्टनेमिस्तार्क्ष्यः)

1. Let us, here, invoke Tarksya, which is rich in food, incited by gods, mighty, impeller of chariots, the felly of whose wheel is unhurt and who is a hero in battle, quickly for our welfare.

Tarksya, तार्क्ष्य, is explained by Tvastṛ, (i) it dwells (क्षियति) in the crossed over place (from √ तृ √ tr); i.e. atmosphere. (तार्क्ष्यस्त्वष्ट्रा व्याख्यातः । तीर्णेऽन्तरिक्षे क्षियति; or it is derived from the verb अश्, √ as, to pervade, (अश्नोतेर्वा – Nir. X.29).

Juti, जूति, signifies motion (जूतिर्गतिः) or pleasure (प्रीतिर्वा) (Nir. X.28).

Devajutam, देवजूतं, one who is incited by gods or pleased by them (देवजूतं देवगतं देवप्रीतं वा).

Prtanajam, पृतनाजम् (प्रतनाजितम्) – Nir. X.28), hero in a battle, (पृतनाजं पृतनानां शत्रु सेनानां प्राजितारं प्रगमयितारं जेतारं वा – Sayana)

Aristanemin, अरिष्टनेमिं, the unhurt chariot; the felly of whose chariot is unhurt (अरिष्टनेमिं अहिंसितरथम् । यद्वा । नेमिर्नमनशीलमायुधम् । अहिंसितायुधम् । अथवा उपचाराज्जनके जन्यशब्दः । अरिष्टनेमेर्मम जनकम् – Sayana).

3. "Who even spread with his might, the five tribes in a movement, as the sun, with his light, does the waters. A hundredfold, a thousandfold in his speed. Like a hurled javeline, they cannot keep him back (or like a discharged arrow made of reeds, they cannot keep him back) (न स्मैनां वारयन्ति प्रयुवतीमिव शरमयीमिषुम् – Nir. X.29).

Kṛsti or Kṛstayah (कृष्टी = कृष्टयः) – synonym of man (कृष्टय इति मनुष्यनाम – Nir. X.22; see III.59.1; कर्मवन्तो भवन्ति); so called because they are active or because their bodies are long (कर्मवन्तो भवन्ति । विकृष्ट देवा वा Nir. X,22)

Panca-Kṛstih, पञ्चकृष्टीः – The five classes of people – (1) Either Gandharvah, Pitarah, Devah, Asurah, Raksamsi or (2) the four varnas (Brahmana, Ksattriya, Vaisya and Sudra) and the fifth (the unscheduled one) called nisada (निषाद) (गन्धर्वः पितरो देवा असुरा रक्षांसीत्येके, चत्वारो वर्णा निषादः पञ्चम इत्यौपमन्यवः – Nir.III.8.)

Nisadah, निषादः – hunter. The word does not occur in the Ṛgveda. Yaska, however, discussed its etymology; "From what root is nisada derived? He is so called because he lives by killing animals. Sin is embodied (ni – √ sad) in him, so say the etymologists. (निषादः कस्मात् निषदनो भवति । निषण्णमस्मिन्पापकमिति नैरुक्ताः – Nir. III.8.)

Sahasrasah satasah asya rahih, सहस्रसाः शतसा अस्य रेहिः – thousand yielding hundred bestowing is the course of Tarksya (रेहिः गतिः – Sayana).

Yuvatim saryam na varante sma, स्म वरन्ते युवतिं न शर्याम् – like an unfailing (युवतिं) arrow (शर्याम्), none can stop it. (शर्यां शरकाण्डमयीमिषु धनुषो मुक्तां, युवतिं न लक्ष्येण मिश्रीभवन्तीमिव – Sayana)

Hymn 179

The entire hymn devoted to Indra is of three verses and the Ṛsis of all the three are different:

Verse 1 – Sibi, the son of Usinara (शिबिः औशीनरः)

Verse 2 – Pratardana, King of Kasi (प्रतर्दनः काशिराजः)

Verse 3 – Vasumanas, son of Rohidasva (वसुमना रोहिदश्वः)

1. Yadi asratah mamattana, यदि अश्रातः ममत्तन, if uncooked, continue to chant Vedic hymns of praise.

Sratah, श्रातः, cooked (श्रातः पक्वः – Sayana)

Asratah, अश्रातः, uncooked (अपक्वः)

Mamattana, ममत्तन, gratify him with praises (स्तुतिभिर्मादयत – Sayana).

3. A reference to the midday sacrifice (midday pressing, माध्यन्दिनस्य सवनस्य)

Dadhnah, दध्नः, of curds.

Milk is first cooked in the udder of cows; (ऊधनि श्रातम्); then cooked on fire (अग्नौ श्रातम्); and finally, cooked well (सुश्रातम्).

Hymn 180

For verse 2, see Nir. I.20; also Samaveda, II.9.3.9.1 (1873); and also Yv. Xviii.71.

The Ṛsi is Indra's son Jaya (जयः); the topic is Indra.

1. Puruhuta, पुरुहूत, invoked by many

Jyastah, ज्येष्ठः, pre-eminent, superior to every one,

Susmah, शुष्मः, strength (Nigh. II.9, बलनामानि).

2. Mṛgo na bhimah kucaro giristhah, मृगो न भीमः कुचरो गिरिष्ठाः, like a fierce animal, roaming everywhere, haunting the mountains.

Mrgah, मृगः, is derived from the root मृज् √ mṛj meaning to go (मृगोमार्ष्टेर्गति कर्मणः – Nir. I.20

Bhimah, भीमः, fierce; of whom all are afraid. (भीमोविभत्यस्यात्)

Ku-carah, कुचरः, one who moves in a crooked manner (if it is an epithat of some deity), it means "where does he not go." (कुचर इति चरति कर्म कुत्सितम्। अथ चेद् केवता-भिधानम्। क्वाथं न चरतीति – Nir. I.20).

Girih, गिरिः, mountain (गिरिः पर्वतः –Nir.I.20); since it is raised up (समुद्गीर्णो भवति – Nir.I.20)

Parvatah, पर्वतः, mountain; it is so called because it has joints (पर्व).

But parva is derived from √ पृ, to fill; or from प्री, to propitiate.

Here, during a period of a fortnight, they propitiate the gods, (पर्ववान् पर्वतः। पर्व पुनः पृणातेः प्रीणातेर्वा। अर्धमास पर्व। देवानस्मिन् प्रीणन्तीति – Nir. I.20).

A mountain is called parvato an account of the similarity of the joints of the nature of the other (period) (तत् प्रकृतीतरत्सन्धि सामान्यात्) (mountains have joints in the form of stone-slabs, and a period has joints in the form of time with its various divisions – Durga on the Nirukta).

Giristhah, गिरिष्ठाः, seated on a cloud (गिरिस्थायी; मेघस्थायी – Nir.1.20).

A cloud is also called giri or mountain, from the same reason (i.e. from its being raised (मेघोऽपिगिरिरेतस्मादेव – Nir. I.20).

(Parvatah, पर्वतः and girih, गिरिः are synonyms of clouds -- मेघनामानि, Nigh. I.10).

Hymn 181

The hymn is devoted to all Nature's Bounties (Visvaedevah) and each verse has a different Ṛsi:

Verse 1 – Pratha, the son of Vasistha (प्रथो वासिष्ठः)

Verse 2 – Sapratha, the son of Bharadvaja (सप्रथोभारद्वाजः)

Verse 3 – Gharma, the son of Surya (घर्मः सौर्यः)

All the three names appear to be conceptual and not historical. The terms pratha and sapratha occur in verse 1. The words dhata, savituh and visnu stand for the three Adityas, the suns. This verse has two more terms agni and bharadvaja. The words gharma and surya occur in verse 3, whereas dhata, savita and visnu are also repeated in this verse.

The Rathantara Saman and Anustup metre are mentioned in verse 1, and Bṛhat Saman in verse 2. Wilson writes on this hymn; "what is here exactly intended is not very obvious and is not explained by the Scholiast," and then, "The Sukta refers evidently to technical ritual', to which no key is given by the commentary."

1. Prathah, प्रथः, extended.

Saprathah, सप्रथः, with extensions in all dimensions.

Vasisthah, वसिष्ठः, the most celebrated in skill and crafts.

Dhatuh, धातुः, of the sustainer.

Savituh, सवितुः, of the creator or of impeller.

Visnoh, विष्णोः, of the pervading one.

2. Bharadvajah, भरद्वाजः, well versed in sciences; one who stands for learning.

3. Yajuh, यजुः, everything related to Yajna, the ritual – details (यजुः याग साधनम् – Sayana).

Gharmam, घर्मम्, fire or heat (न तपन्ति घर्मम् – III.53.14; अभीद्घोघर्मः, the heat kindled around us, I.164.26)

Hymn 182

The devata of the hymn is Bṛhaspati and the Ṛsi is Tapurmurdhan, the son of Bṛhaspati (तपुर्मूर्धा बार्हस्पत्यः).

The word tapurmurdha occurs in verse 3.

1. Durgaha, दुर्गहा, the overcomer of difficulties. Also, the destroyer of durga, the impenetrable, or the wicked (दुर्गहा दुर्गमनानां हन्ता – destroyer of those who go wickedly – Sayana).

Aghasamsaya –अघशंसाय, for the calumniator.

Manma, मन्म, bright weapon (मन्यतेर्दीप्ति कर्मणो मन्म, दीप्तमायुधम् – Sayana).

Nesat, नेषत्, thrust aside.

Sam, शम्, health, i.e. freedom from diseases (रोगाणां शमनम् – Sayana)

Yoh, योः, prosperity, fearlessness, (योः भयानां यावनम् –Sayana).

The burden of all the three verses is: क्षिपदशस्तिमप दुर्मतिं हन्नथाकरद् यजमानाय शं योः (may he baffle the malevolent, and bestow upon the sacrificer health and fearlessness).

2. Prayaja and anuyaja, प्रयाज-अनुयाज; there are five prayajas and three anuyajas (sacrificial rites with these technical names).

The deity of prayaja is Narasamsa, नराशंस (a name of Agni) (For narasamsa, see Nir. VIII.7)..

The deity of anuyaja is Agni.

Narasamsah, नराशंसः it is sacrifice, such is the interpretation of Katthakya – seated men (नरः) praise (√शंस) gods in scarifice. "It is Agni" says Sakapuni, "he is to be praised by men (VII.2.2) – Nir. VIII.6).

Prayajah, प्रयाजः and anuyajah, अनुयाजः – see X. 51.8–9; Nir. VIII.21; prayajas are introductory oblations and anuyajas are the concluding ones. According to some, they are offered to Agni (अथ किं देवताः प्रयाजानुयाजाः । आग्नेया इत्येके – Nir. VIII.21; प्रयाजान् में अनुयाजाँश्च – X.51.8; तव प्रयाजा अनुयाजाश्च – X.51.9 आग्नेया वै प्रयाजा आग्नेया अनुयाजाः - इति च ब्राह्मणम् – a quotation yet untraced).

According to other authorities, their devatas are meters (छन्दो देवता) or seasons (ऋतु देवता), or animals (पशु देवता), life-breaths (प्राण देवता), or the self (आत्म देवता). But the well–considered view is that they are addressed to Agni (आग्नेया इति तु स्थितिः); the rest is mere apportionment (भक्ति मात्रमितरत्) – Nir. VIII.22.

3. Tapurmurdha, तपुर्मूर्धा – the best ones among the people who practise austerity and penance for spiritual attainment. An appellation for Bṛhaspati. (तापकशिरस्को बृहस्पतिः –Sayana).

Rakasah brahmadvisah, रक्षसः ब्रह्म द्विषः, the wicked persons, jealous of Brahmanas (ब्राह्मण द्वेष्टारः राक्षसाः –Sayana).

Sarava, शरवे, the leader of raksasás, the wicked teasers; (शरवे शरुं हिंसकं रक्षसामधिपतिम् –Sayana).

The word is erived from √ शृ, हिंसायाम्, to kill.

Hymn 183

A hymn of three verses; the topic of verse 1 is the sacrificer or yajamana; of the second verse is his wife and of the third is the hotṛ. The Ṛsi is Prajavat, the son of Prajapati (प्रजावान्प्राजापत्यः).

The wife speaks in the first verse: "do thou who art desirous of offspring beget offspring (प्रजायस्व प्रजयापुत्रकाम).

The yajamana reciprocates: "mayest thou who art beautiful, come up to me, bear offspring, thou who art desirous of offspring." (माम् उप उच्चा युवतिः वभूयाः । प्रजायस्व प्रजया पुत्रकामे).

In the third verse, the hotṛ assists in the performance of the garbhadhana ritual, and blesses the couple. The words have been put into the mouth of the creator God, the Prajapati, who says "I engender progeny upon the earth; I beget children on other women." Wilson comments on this verse. "The share of the Hotṛ in the procreation of living beings is referable to the efficacy of the sacrifices at which he ministers."

Hymn 184

The conceptual Ṛsi is Tvastr (त्वष्टृ), the maker of embryos, or Visnu, the son of Prajapati (विष्णुः प्राजापत्यः).

The following devatas have been invoked in these three verses, each having some assignment in the progeny – procreation.

Visnu constructs the wombs. (विष्णु)

Tvastṛ fabricates the members of the body. (त्वष्टृ)

Prajapati sprinkles the seed. (प्रजापति)

Dhatṛ cherishes the embryo. (धातृ)

Sinivahli sustains the embryo (सिनिवाली), Sarasvati and Asvins also help in sustenance (सरस्वती-अश्विनौ).

The child is expected in the tenth month; for which the embryo is invoked (तं ते गर्भं हवामहे दशमे मासि सूतवे). The Asvins are qualified with term देवौ (devau) and पुष्कर-स्रजौ (garlanded with lotuses).

Hymn 185

The topic of the hymn is Adityas, the suns; or a propitiation (svastyayana, स्वस्त्ययनम्). The Ṛsi is Satyadhṛti, the son of Varuna (सत्यधृतिर्वारुणिः)

1. Invocation of Mitra, Aryaman and Varuna for protection – These three are the Adityas.

2. They who have secured protection from these three, are not troubled by their adversaries (न हि ईशे रिपुरघशंसः).

3. The enemy of such persons upon who in the adityas (आदित्याः or अदितेः पुत्रासः) bestow their eternal light (अजस्रं ज्योतिः), does not survive.

Hymn 186

For verse 1, see Nir. X.35.

Ula, the son of Vata (उलो वातायनः) is the Ṛsi, and the devata is air (वायु).

May Vata breathe into our hearts a healing balm; may he prolong our lives (1). Vata is our father, brother and friend. Vata maintains at his house of a store of ambrosia (अमृतस्य निधिः); may he give us a bit of it so that we live for long long years (ततो नो देहि जीवसे). (3).

1. The word vata, वात, is used for wind because the wind blows (वातोवातीति सतः – Nir. X.34). In this context, Yaska refers to this verse:

May Vata blow toward us, what is healing, full of happiness and comfort of heart. He shall prolong our lives.

Hymn 187

For verse 2, see Nir. V.5.

The Ṛsi is Vatsa, the son of Agni (वत्स आग्नेयः). In this hymn of three verses, Agni is invoked, who is the benefactor of mankind (क्षितीनां वृषभाय); he fiercely shines from a great distance (परस्याः परावतः) upon the desert tract (धन्व मरुभूमिं जलवर्जितं देशम् – Sayana); he with his radiance destroys the raksas (worms, insects, germs etc.).

This Agni, the cosmic fire, is invoked to carry us beyond the reach of those who hate us (स नः पर्षदति द्विषः) – a burden of all the three verse in this hymn.

2. Tiro dhanvati rocate, तिरो धन्वाति रोचते; it shines brightly from across the atmosphere.

Dhanvan, धन्वन्, means atmosphere, a synonym of antariksa, Nigh. I.3; waters flow from it. Nir. V.5.

Hymn 188

For verse 1, see Nir. VII.20.

The Jataveda – Agni is the subject matter of this hymn and Syena, the son of Agni (श्येन आग्नेयः) is the conceptual Rsi of this hymn.

The hymn is an invocation to the fire-divine, Jatavedas – For jatavedas, see Nir. VII. 19–20.

From what root is jatavedah derived? (Bṛhad – devata, I.92; II.30). He knows all created beings; he is known to all created beings, or else he (agni or fire) pervades every created being; or he has all created beings as his property or wealth; or he has all created beings as his knowledge, i.e. discernment. (जातवेदाः कस्मात्? जातानि वेद; भूतानि वेद – cf. Br. Devata, 11.30; प्राणो वै जातवेदाः, स हि जातानां वेद – Ait. Br. II.39; जातानि वैनं विदुः । जातेजाते विद्यत इति वा; जातवित्तो वा । जातधनः। जातविद्यो वा जातप्रज्ञानः – Nir. VII.19).

There is an untraced Brahmana passage: that because, as soon as he was born, he found the cattle; that is the characteristic of jatavedas: यत्तज्जातः पशून् विन्दत । तज्जातवेदसो जातवेदसम्. And also: therefore in all seasons, the cattle move towards Agni (तस्मात् सर्वान् ऋतून् पशवोऽग्निमभिसर्पन्ति – See Sayana on I.44.1).

Yaska quotes a verse I.99.1. We shall press Soma for Jatavedas. He shall consume the property of the niggard, (जातवेदसे सुनवाम सोममरातीयतो नि दहाति वेदः. Yaska also quotes the present verse: X. 188.1.

Do ye impel jatavedas, the strong horse, to sit on this our grass. (With your actions impel jatavedas, who pervades everywhere; or else it may be a simile, i.e. jatavedas, who is like a horse; may he sit on this our grass. (प्रहिणुत जातवेदसं कर्मभिः समश्नुवानम् । अपि वोपमार्थे स्यात् । अश्वमिव जातवेदसमिति । इदं नो बर्हिरासीदत्विति – Nir. VII.20).

Yaska makes an interesting observation. In the entire Samhita of the Ṛgveda, consisting of ten Books, this is the only hymn of three verses in the Gayatri metre, addressed to jatavedas (तदे तदेकमेव जातवेदसं गायत्रं तृचं दशतयीषु विद्यते – Nir. VII.20).

Yaska further says that one should know that when we speak of jatavedas as Agni (fire), it does not refer to the terrestrial fire alone obtained by attrition, the upper two lights (midspace lightning and of the celestial sun) are called jatevedas also (स न मन्येतायमेवाग्निरिति । अप्येते उत्तरे ज्योतिषी जातवेदसी उच्येते – Nir. VII.20). To support this, yaska quotes अभिप्रवन्त समनेव योषाः – IV. 58.8; and उदुत्यं जातवेदसं – I.50.1.

1. Jatavedas, जातवेदसं जातनां वेदितारं जातधनादिकं वा, one who knows all that has been created; one whose all created beings are wealth.

Asvam, अश्वम्, by his functions, available everywhere (अश्वं कर्मभि-व्यार्प्नुवन्तम् – Sayana).

Vajinam, possessor of food (वाजिनं अन्नवन्तं); giver of food.

Nunam pra hinota, नूनं प्र हिनोत, must enhance or increase (नूनं अवश्यं प्र हिनोत प्रवर्धयत – Sayana).

Sayana gives an alternative interpretation also: "like a horse urged to sit down on the sacred grass (नः अस्माकं इदं बर्हिः आस्तीर्णः, आसदे आसत्तुं प्राप्तुम्, – sit down on our sacred grass).

2. Milhusah, मीळ्हुषः, to the showerer (सेक्तुः)

3. The flames of the jatavedas fire are the bearers of oblations to gods

(दिवत्रा देवानां प्रति हव्यवाहिनी; हव्यानां हविषां वोढ्यः प्रापयिष्यो भवन्ति – Sayana).

Tabhih, by them, i.e. by the flames (ताभिः जिह्वाभिः).

Yajnam, यज्ञं = यज्ञसाधनं हविः, the oblations offered at the sacrifice.

Invatu, इन्वतु, carry them to gods.

Hymn 189

The devata of the hymn is Surya or Sarparajni (सार्पराज्ञी), who is also the Ṛsi of the hymn (सार्पराज्ञी).

1. Gauh, गौः, the earth

Pṛsnih, पृश्निः, in the firmament; in the space.

A akramit, आ अक्रमीत्, moves, goes round, revolves.

Matarampurah, मातरंपुरः, carrying water in front.

Pitaram svah, पितरं स्वः all round its father; the sun.

Prayan, प्रयन्, moving.

This moving earth revolves in the space, round the sun, her father, carrying waters in the front.

Whilst Dayananda interprets "गौः, Gauh, as the earth, other interpretors translate this term as the sun (गौः गमनशीलः पृश्निः प्राष्टवर्णः प्राप्ततेजाः अयं सूर्यः आ अक्रमीत् आक्रान्तवान् उदयाचलं प्राप्तवान् इत्यर्थः)

Purah, पुरः, is translated as in the east (पूर्वस्यादिशि;)

Mataram, मातरं, is translated as the mother of all beings, the earth (मातरं सर्वस्य भूतजातस्य निर्मात्रीं पृथिवीं)

Pitaram, पितरं, is the sustaining celestial region (पितरं पालकं द्युलोकं): the word, Ca, च, denotes the midspace or firmament (च शब्दांदन्तरिक्षम्).

Prayan, प्रयन्, moves with speed (प्रयन् प्रकर्षेण शीघ्रं गच्छन्)

Svah, स्वः, moves with grace (स्वः स्वरणः शोभनगमनः भवति).

Alternatively, Sayana interprets pitaram as the svarga or heaven (पितरं स्वर्गलोकं प्रयन् वर्तते).

2 and 3 – These verses speak of the sun whose radiance is penetrating, drawing air down through the lungs, after having sent it up (2). Thirty stations of the day and night shine with the sun's rays (3).

3. Trinsat dhama, त्रिंशत् धाम, thirty stations; the thirty muhurtas.

Vastoh, वस्तोः, full day (day and night together).

(वस्तोः वासरस्याहोरात्रस्यावयव भूतानि; अह शब्द अवधारणे –Sayana).

Hymn 190

The purport of each verse (भाववृत्तम्) is the deity of this hymn. The Ṛsi is Aghamarsana, the son of Madhucchandas (अघमर्षणो माधुच्छन्दसः).

1. Ṛtam and Satyam, ऋतं-सत्यं- both these terms are synonyms, when not used together; both mean truth. What is not ṛte is untruth, अनृत, and the word anṛta is antithesis of satya also: अनृतात् सत्यमुपैमि – Yv. I.5; अनृतात् असत्यात् सत्यमुपगच्छामि – Uvata ; अनृत वदनात् उद्गत्याहमिदं सत्यवदनमुपैमि – Mahidhara). According to Sayana, truth of thought is Ṛta, and truthfulness of speech is Satya. (ऋतमिति सत्यनाम । ऋतं मानसं यथार्थसंकल्पनम् । सत्यं वाचिकं यथार्थ भाषणम् – Sayana). A better explanation would be to regard eternal laws of Nature as ṛta and the ethical truth as satya (the truthfulness of thoughts, words and deeds are all satya).

Prakṛti and Tapas – The mother Prakṛti, the material cause of creation is an equipoise of three – sat (calmness, white); rajas (activity or red) and tamas (inertia, black) (अजामेकां लोहितशुक्ल कृष्णां – Sveta Svatara up. IV.5; सत्वरजस्तमसां साम्यावस्था प्रकृतिः – Samkhya I.61) The tapas or arduous penance of our Lord tickled the rajas of the Prakṛti; the equilibrium was disturbed – on one hand, from the satoguna, we had the creation of ṛta and satya, and from the tamoguna, the night (ratri) generated; and from thence, the cosmic plasma, or the space-parameter (samudra – arnava, watery ocean) was produced (1). Thereafter the time-parameter (Samvatsara) was created, ordaining nights and days (aho - ratra), the ruler of every moment (विश्वस्य मिषतो वशी). (2). Dhatṛ, the sustainer and creator, in the beginning created the sun and moon, heaven, earth, and midspace, as in the previous creations (यथापूर्वमकल्पयत्). (3).

Hymn 191

Agni is the deity of the first verse; Samjnanam (संज्ञानम्) or the Assemby is the deity of the next three verses..

Samyananah, संवननः, is Ṛsi of this hymn of four verses.

1. Agni is called vṛsan (वृषन्), the showerer of benefits (वृषन् कामानां वर्षितः – Sayana).

Aryah, अर्य, the lord (अर्यः स्वाम्याख्यायाम्) (अर्यः ईश्वरः – Nir. V.9; अर्यः अहमस्मि ईश्वरः – VII. 100.5; वृषाकपिर्यः ईश्वरः – Nir. XIII.6 on X.86.1; आर्य ईश्वरपुत्रः – Nir. VI.26 on I.117.21; Arya, आर्य, means the son of the lord or a rich person. Arya means vaisya (वैश्य) also (शूद्राय चार्याय च – Yv. XXVI.2; अर्य स्वामिवैश्ययोः – Panini III.1.103)

Ilaspade, इलस्पदे, on the footmark of Ila (the altar).

Ilah, इळः, इडायाः, of the earth (इळः पृथिव्याः)

Pade, पदे, उत्तरवेदिलक्षणे, on the altar, the Uttara Vedi (Ait. Br. I.28)

Sam-sam yuvase, सं सं-युवसे, Thou mixest, combinest (युवसे मिश्रयसि-Sayana).

Visvani sam-yuvese, विश्वानि सम्-सम्-युवसे – thou verily combinest with all creatures – O Agni, you associate with everyone; you alone, among all gods, pervade all living beings (Sayana); you give the sacrifice all the objects for which he prays (हे अग्ने, अर्यः स्वामीत्वं विश्वानि सर्वाणि फलानि आ समन्तात् संयुवसे यजमानेन संगमयसि – Mahidhara, Yv. XV.30).

2. Samgacchadhvam, संगच्छध्वं, all of you move together, or work together in harmony. (संगतः संभूता भवत).

Sam Vadadhvam, सं वदध्वं, speak together; meet out mutual differences, and speak in one voice (परस्परं विरोधं परित्यज्यैक विधमेव वाक्यं ब्रूतेति यावत् –Sayana); व्यक्त वाचां समुच्चारणे – Panini – I.3.48

Manansi Sam janatam, मनांसि सं जानताम् – may your minds apprehend alike (समानमेकरूपमेवार्थमवगच्छन्तु – Sayana)

Yatha purve devah, यथा पूर्वे देवाः, with unanimity and complete accord, used to accept their appropriate shares, you also without grudge or hesitation, with unanimity accept your due in wealth and prosperity (यथा पूर्वे पुरातनाः देवाः संजानानाः ऐकमत्यं प्राप्ता हविर्भागं उपासते यथा स्वं स्वीकुर्वन्ति; तथा यूयमपि वैमत्यं परित्यज्य धनं स्वीकुरुतेति शेषः –Sayana

3. Samani Samitih, समानी सम्प्रति = समितिः प्राप्तिः, acquisition, समितिः प्राप्तिः – Sayana; may common (समानी) be your acquisition or acquirement.

Samanam manah, समानं मनः, common the purpose; common be your minds.

Saha cittam, सह चित्तं, common be the thoughts, associated be the desire (Wilson). (चित्तं विचारजं ज्ञानं सह सहितं परस्परस्यैकार्थे नैकी भूतमस्तु – Sayana)

Samanam mantram abhi mantraye, समानं मंत्रं अभि मंत्रये, repeat for you a common prayer; may our decisions and plans be of one accord. (एकविध्याय संस्करोमि – Sayana)

4. Akutih, आकूतिः intentions (आकूतिः संकल्पोऽध्यवसायः – Sayana); culture.

- Vah Su-saha asati, वः सुऽसह असति, no ill will, every relationship should be pleasant and of good understanding (वः युष्माकं सुसह शोभनं साहित्यं असति भवति – Sayana).

इति दशमं मण्डलं समाप्तम् ॥

॥ ऋग्वेद संहिता समाप्ता ॥

॥ ऋषिसूची ॥

इ

उ

ऊ

ऋ

ए

ऐ

औ

क

ग

घ

च

ज

त

द

ध

न

प

प्रजावान् प्राजापत्यः १०.१८३
प्रतर्दनः काशिराजो दैवोदासिः ९.९६; १०.१७९.२
प्रतिक्षत्र आत्रेयः ५.४६
प्रतिप्रभ आत्रेयः ५.४९
प्रतिभानुरात्रेयः ५.४८
प्रथो वासिष्ठः १०.१८१.१
प्रभूवसुराङ्गिरसः ५.३५; ५.३६; ९.३५; ९.३६
प्रयस्वन्तोऽत्रयः ५.२०
प्रयोगो भार्गवः ८.१०२
प्रस्कण्वः काण्वः १.४४-५०; ८.४९; ९.९५
प्रागाथः । दृश्यन्ताम्-कलिः भर्गः; हर्यतः
प्राजापत्यः । दृश्यन्ताम्-पतङ्गः; प्रजावान्; यक्ष्मनाशनः; यज्ञः; विमदः; विष्णुः; संवरणः; हिरण्यगर्भः
प्राजापत्या । दृश्यताम्-दक्षिणा
प्रियमेध आङ्गिरसः ८.२.१-४०; ८.६८; ८.६९; ८.८७; ९.२८
प्रैयमेधः । दृश्यताम्-सिन्धुक्षित्
प्लातः । दृश्यताम्-गयः
प्लायोगिः । दृश्यताम्-आसङ्गः

ब

बन्धुर्गौपायनो लौपायनो वा ५.२४.१; १०.५७-६०
बभ्रुरात्रेयः ५.३०
बरुराङ्गिरसः १०.९६
बार्हस्पत्यः । दृश्यन्ताम्-अग्निः; तपुर्मूर्धा; भरद्वाजः; शंयुः
बाहुवृक्त आत्रेयः ५.७१; ५.७२
बिन्दुराङ्गिरसः ८.९४; ९.३०
बुध आत्रेयः ५.१
बुधः सौम्यः १०.१०१
बृहदुक्थो वामदेव्यः १०.५४-५६
बृहद्दिव आथर्वणः १०.१२०
बृहन्मतिराङ्गिरसः ९.३९; ९.४०
बृहस्पतिराङ्गिरसः १०.७१; १०.७२
बृहस्पतिर्लौक्यः १०.७२
ब्रह्मजाया । दृश्यताम्-जुहूः
ब्रह्मातिथिः काण्वः ८.५
ब्राह्मः । दृश्येताम्-ऊर्ध्वनाभा; रक्षोहा

भ

भयमानो वार्षागिरः १.१००
भरद्वाजो बार्हस्पत्यः ६.१-३०; ६.३७-४३; ६.५३-७४; ९.६७.१-३; १०.१३७.१
भर्गः प्रागाथः ८.६०; ८.६१
भारतः । दृश्यन्ताम्-अश्वमेधः; देववातः; देवश्रवाः
भारद्वाजः । दृश्यन्ताम्-ऋजिश्वा; गर्गः; नरः; पायुः; वसुः; शासः; शिरिम्बिठः; शुनहोत्रः; सप्रथः; सुहोत्रः
भारद्वाजी । दृश्यताम्-रात्रिः
भार्गवः । दृश्यन्ताम्-इटः; कविः; कृत्नुः; गृत्समदः; च्यवनः; जमदग्निः; नेमः; प्रयोगः; वेनः; सोमाहुतिः; स्यूमरश्मिः
भार्म्यश्वः । दृश्यताम्-मुद्गलः
भालन्दनः । दृश्यताम्-वत्सप्रिः
भावयव्यः १.१२६.६
भिक्षुराङ्गिरसः १०.११७
भिषगाथर्वणः १०.९७
भुवन आप्त्यः १०.१५७
भूतांशः काश्यपः १०.१०६
भृगुर्वारुणिः ९.६५; १०.१९
भौमः । दृश्यताम्-अत्रिः
भौवनः । दृश्येताम्-विश्वकर्मा; साधनः

म

मत्स्यः सांमदः ८.६७
मत्स्याः ८.६७
मथितो यामायनः १०.१९
मधुच्छन्दा वैश्वामित्रः १.१-१०; ९.१
मनुः सांवरणः ९.१०१.१०-१२
मनुराप्सवः ९.१०६.७-९
मनुर्वैवस्वतः ८.२७-३१
मन्युर्वासिष्ठः ९.९७.१०-१२
मन्युस्तापसः १०.८३; १०.८४
मरुतः १.१६५.३; ५; ७; ९
मातरिश्वा काण्वः ८.५४
माधुच्छन्दसः । दृश्येताम्-अघमर्षणः; जेता
मानवः । दृश्यन्ताम्-चक्षुः; नहुषः; नाभानेदिष्ठः; शार्यातः

स

ह

।। देवतासूची ।।

अ

---

1. १०.३४.१; ७; ९; १२ अक्षाः, १३ कृषिः, शेषा अक्षान् निन्दन्ति–बृहद्दे.
2. धिष्ण्या अग्नयः–बृहद्दे.
3. १.२७.१० अग्निर्मध्यमः, १.५८; १.९४; १.१४०–१४१; १४३–१४४; २.२ जातवेदाः, १०.१६ अग्निः कव्यवाहनः, १०.४५ १२[3] द्यावापृथिव्यौ; १२[4] विश्वे देवाः–बृहद्दे.
4. अग्निः शुचिः–बृहद्दे.
5. अग्निरौषसः–बृहद्दे.
6. जातवेदाः–बृहद्दे.
7. अग्निर्द्रविणोदाः–बृहद्दे.
8. अग्निर्मध्यमः–बृहद्दे.
9. अग्निः सविता च–बृहद्दे.

---

१. १.१९ अग्निः पार्थिवः मरुतश्च, ८.१०३.१४ अग्निर्मरुद्भी रुद्रैश्च सह-बृहद्दे.
२. 'तृच आत्मस्तुतिर्वा' इति सर्वानुक्रमसूत्रम्.
३. विश्वे देवाः-बृहद्दे.
४. सविता-बृहद्दे.
५. ८.५६.५[१-३] अग्निः, ५[४] सूर्यः-बृहद्दे.
६. ८.१८.९[१] अग्निः, ९[२] सूर्यः, ९[३] अनिलः-बृहद्दे.
७. ८.७२ हविषां स्तुतिः पयःपश्वोषधीनां च-बृहद्दे.
८. अग्निर्वैश्वानरः-बृहद्दे.
९. १०.८७ अग्निः-बृहद्दे.
१०. ५.४०.५-९ अत्रीणां कर्म कीर्त्यते-बृहद्दे.
११. आदित्याः (वरुणोऽर्यमा मित्रश्च)-बृहद्दे.
१२. अधिषवणचर्म सोमो वा-बृहद्दे.
१३. केषांचिन्मते अप्तृणसूर्यानामियं स्तुतिः। विषघ्नमेतत्सूक्तम्-बृहद्दे.
१४. अभ्यावर्तिनः सार्ञ्जयस्य च दानस्तुतिः-बृहद्दे.
१५. १.४६.५ अश्विनौ आदित्यश्च-बृहद्दे.

५.७३–७८; ६.६२–६३; ७.६७–७४; ८.५.१–३७[1]; ८.८–१०; ८.१८.८; ८.२२; ८.२६.१–१९; ८.३५; ८.४२.४–६; ८.५७; ८.७३; ८.८५–८७; ८.१०१.७; ८; १०.२४.४–६; १०.३९–४१; १०.१०६; १०.१३१.४; ५; १०.१४३

अश्विनौ अग्निरुषाश्च १.४४.१; २

अश्विनौ ऋतवश्च १.१५.११; २.३७.५

अश्विनौ द्यावाभूमी च १०.११२.१

अश्वौ (इन्द्रस्य) ४.३२.२३–२४

असमातिः १०.६०.१–४; ६

असुनीतिः १०.५९.५; ६

अहिः अब्जाः ७.३४.१६

अहिर्बुध्न्यः ७.३४.१७

अहोरात्रे ३.५५.११

आ

आत्मा। दृश्यन्ताम्–इन्द्रः वामदेवो वा; त्रसदस्युः; लवः; वागाम्भृणी; विश्वामित्रः; विश्वावसुः; शची पौलोमी

आदित्या उषाश्च ८.४७.१४–१८

आदित्याः[1] १.४१.४–६; २.२७; ७.५१; ७.५२; ७.६६.४–१३; ८.१८.१–७; १०–२२; ८.१९.३४; ३५; ८.४७.१–१३; ८.५६; ८.६७; ८.१०१.५[४]; ६

आपः १.२३.१६–२३[1]; १.१६४.४२[२]; ७.४७; ७.४९; १०.९; १०.१७.१०; १४

आपः वाग्निर्वा सूर्यो वा गावो वा घृतं वा ४.५८

आपः अपां नपाद्वा[2] १०.३०

आपः गावो वा[3] १०.१९.१[१,२]; २–८

आपः सोमो वा[4] १०.१७.११–१३

आप्रियः १.१३; १.१४२; १.१८८; २.३; ३.४; ५.५; ७.२; ९.५; १०.७०; १०.११०

आम्भृणी। दृश्यताम्–वाक्

आर्क्ष्यः। दृश्यताम्–श्रुतर्वा

आर्त्नी ६.७५.४

आशीः[5] ७.१०४.२३[1]; ८.३१.१०–१८; १०.८५.२०–२८; १०.१८३.३; १०.१८४

आसङ्गः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.१.३०–३३; ८.१.३४

आहवनीयः। दृश्यताम्–अग्निः

इ

इज्यास्तवो यजमानप्रशंसा च[6] ८.३१.१–४

इध्मः समिद्धो वाग्निः[7] १.१३.१; १.१४२.१; १.१८८.१; २.३.१; ३.४.१; ५.५.१; ७.२.१; ९.५.१; १०.७०.१; १०.११०.१

इन्दुः १.१२९.६

इन्द्रः[8] १.३.४–६; १.४; १.५; १.६.१–३; १०; १.७–११; १.१५.१; ५; १.१६; १.२८.१–४; १.२९; १.३०.१–१६;

१. २.२७ आदित्याः = मित्रावरुणौ दक्षः अंशः तुविजातः भगः अर्यमा च, ८.१८.४; ६; ७ अदितिः, ८.१९.३४–३५ वरुणोऽर्यमा मित्रश्च, ८.४७.९ अदितिः, ८.६७.१०–१२ अदितिः–बृहद्दे.

२. १०.३०.३–४ अपां नपादिति नाम्ना अग्नि-र्मध्यमः–बृहद्दे.

३. १०.१९.२ इन्द्राग्नी निपातभाजौ; ६ इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.

४. १०.१७.११–१३ सोमः–बृहद्दे.

५. ७.१०४.२३ आत्मन आशीः–बृहद्दे.

६. ८.३१.१–२ शक्रो यजतां पतिः, ३–४ यज्वा–बृहद्दे.

७. १.१३.१ इध्मः–बृहद्दे.

८. १.२८.१–४ इन्द्रोलूखलौ (इति यास्कः कात्यक्यश्च), १.८०.१६ दध्यङ् मनुरथर्वा च निपातिताः, १.१३२.६ इन्द्रापर्वतौ, १.१७०.२; ४ इन्द्रः, १; ३ अगस्त्यः, ३.३३.६ विश्वामित्रः, ३.३३.७ नद्यः, षष्ठ्यां सप्तम्यां च इन्द्रसवितारौ निपातिनौ, ४.३१.१५ सूर्यः (आश्वलायनः), ६.३७.३ वायुरिन्द्रश्च, ६.४४.२२–२४ सोमः। इन्द्र इत्येके। ७.१८–३२ मरुतो निपातभाजः, ७.३२.१० पैजवनस्य दानस्तुतिः, ७.१०४.८ इन्द्रासोमौ, ८.६.३० अग्निर्वैश्वानरः (इति शाकपूणि-मुद्गलौ), ८.१७.१४[१–२] वास्तोष्पतिः, ८.३३.१९ दानवी इन्द्रमब्रवीत्, ८.४६.४–५

(अग्रिमे पृष्ठे)

१.३२; १.३३; १.५१-५७; १.६१-६३; १.८०-८४; १.१००-१०४; १.१२९.१-५; ७-११; १.१३०-१३१; १.१३२.१-५; ६^{२}; १.१३३; १.१३५.४-८; १.१३९.६; १.१४२.१३; १.१६७.१; १.१६९; १.१७०; १.१७३-१७८; २.११-२२; २.३०.१-५; ७; ८^{२}; १०; २.४१.१०-१२; ३.३०-३२; ३.३३.६-७; ३.३४-५२; ३.५३.२-१४; २१-२४; ४.१६; ४.१७; ४.१९-२२; ४.२३.१-७; ११; ४.२४; ४ २५; ४.२९; ४.३०.१-८; १२-२४; ४.३१; ४.३२.१-२२; ५.२९.१-८; ९^{२}; १०-१५; ५.३१.१-७; ८$^{१-२}$; १०-१३; ५.३२-३९; ५.४०.१-४; ६.१७-२०; ६.२१.१-८; १०; १२; ६.२२-२६; ६.२७.१-७; ६.२९-४४; ६.४५.१-३०; ६.४६; ६.४७.६-१९; २०^{४}; २१; ३१$^{२.४}$; ७.१८.१-२१; ७.१९-३२; ७.५५.२-८; ७.९७.१; ७.९८.१-६; ७.१०४.८; १६; १९-२२; २४; ८.१.१-२९; ८.२.१-४०; ८.३.१-२०; ८.४.१-१४; ८.६.१-४५; ८.१२-१७; ८.२१.१-१६; ८.२४.१-२७; ८.३२-३४; ८.३६; ८.३७; ८ ४५.२-४२; ८.४६.१-२०; २९-३१; ३३; ८.४९-५३; ८.५४.१-२; ५-८; ८.६१; ८.६२; ८.६३.१-११; ८.६४-६६; ८.६८.१-१३; ८.६९.१-१०; १३-१८; ८.७०; ८.७६-७८; ८.८०.१-९; ८.८१; ८.८२; ८.८८-९२; ८.९३.१-३३; ८.९५; ८.९६.१-१३; ८.९७-९९; ८.१००.१-९; १२; १०.८.७-९; १०.२२; १०.२३; १०.२४.१-३; १०.२७; १०.२८.१; ३-५; ७; ९; ११; १०.२९; १०.३३.२; ३; १०.३८; १०.४२-४४; १०.५४; १०.५५; १०.६०.५; १०.७३; १०.७४; १०.८९.१-४; ६-१६; १०.९९; १०.१०३.१-३; ५-११; १०.१०४; १०.१०५; १०.१११-११३; १०.११६; १०.१२०; १०.१२४.९; १०.१३१.१-३; ६; ७; १०.१३३; १०.१३४; १०.१३८; १०.१४४; १०.१४७; १० १४८; १०.१५२; १०.१५३; १०.१६०; १०.१६१; १०.१६७.१; २; ४; १०.१७१; १०.१७९; १०.१८०

इन्द्रः अग्निश्च[1] १.२१; १.१०८; १.१०९; १.१३९.९; ३.१२; ३.२५.४; ५.२७.६; ५.८६; ६.५९; ६.६०; ७.९३; ७.९४; ८.३८; ८.४०; ८.४५.१

इन्द्रः अदितिर्वामदेवश्च । दृश्यताम्–संवादः

इन्द्रः इन्द्राणी वृषाकपिश्च १०.८६

इन्द्रः इन्द्रासोमौ वा[2] ४.२८

इन्द्रः उशना वा[3] ५.२९.९^{१}; ५.३१.८^{४}

इन्द्रः उषाश्च[4] ४.३०.९-११

इन्द्रः ऋणञ्चयश्च ५.३०

इन्द्रः ऋतदेवो वा ४.२३.८-१०

इन्द्रः ऋतवश्च १.१५.१-५

(गतपृष्ठात्)

मित्रोऽर्यमा मरुतश्च, ८.६५.१० देवाः (इति भागुरिः), १०-१२ विश्वे देवाः (इति यास्कः), ८ १००.८ सुपर्णः, ९ वज्रः, १०.२७ १५ मरुतः, १६ वज्रः, १७$^{१-२}$ अग्निरिन्द्रश्च सोमश्च, १७$^{३-४}$ पर्जन्यावायू, १८ अग्निः, १९ सूर्यः, २०-२१ इन्द्रो वज्रश्च, २२ इन्द्रस्य धनुः, २३ पर्जन्योऽनिलो भास्करश्च, २३^{४} अनिलो भास्करश्च, २४ इन्द्रः सूर्यो वा, १०.४४.११$^{१-२}$ बृहस्पतिः, १०.५५.५ सूर्याचन्द्रमसौ, १०.६०.५ ऐक्ष्वाकोः स्तुतिः, १०.१२०.६ आप्त्यां निपातभाजः, १०.१२४.९$^{१-३}$ सोमः, ९^{४} इन्द्रः, १०.१६१ इन्द्राग्नी (इति यास्कः), लिङ्गोक्तदेवतम् (इत्येके)–बृहद्दे.

१. १.१३९.९ अथवा ऋषिः ऋषीनात्मानं वा स्तौति । इन्द्राग्नी निपातभाजौ, ८.४५ इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.

२. इन्द्रासोमौ–बृहद्दे.

३. ५.३१.८^{४} उशनाः–बृहद्दे.

४. ४.३० उषा मध्यमा च (शाकटायनः), ४.३०.२४ भगः पूषा अर्यमा च–बृहद्दे.

इन्द्रः ऋभवश्च[1] ३.६०.५–७; ८.९३.३४
इन्द्रः कपिञ्जलरूपी २.४२; २.४३
इन्द्रः कुत्सश्च ५.३१.९
इन्द्रः कुत्सो वा ५.३१.८[3]
इन्द्रः गावो वा ६.२८.२; ८[4]
इन्द्रः त्वष्टा वा २.३१.२; ३
इन्द्रः द्यावापृथिव्यौ वा १०.५९.१०[1]
इन्द्रः द्रुघणो वा[2] १०.१०२
इन्द्रः नभश्च २.३६.५
इन्द्रः पर्जन्यात्मा अग्निश्च। दृश्यताम्–त्वष्टा अग्निश्च
इन्द्रः पर्वतश्च[3] १.१३२.६[1]; ३.५३.१
इन्द्रः पूषा च ६.५७
इन्द्रः पूषा वा[4] ८.४.१५–१८
इन्द्रः बृहस्पतिश्च[5] ४.४९; ४.५०.१०; ११; ७.९७.१०; ७.९८.७; ८.९६.१५
इन्द्रः ब्रह्मणस्पतिः सोमश्च १.१८.४
इन्द्रः ब्रह्मणस्पतिश्च २.२४.१२; ७.९३.३; ९
इन्द्रः मधुश्च २.३६.१
इन्द्रः मरुतश्च १.६.५; ७
इन्द्रः मरुतो वा १०.१०३.१३
इन्द्रः लिङ्गोक्तदेवता वा १०.१६७.३
इन्द्रः वरुणश्च १.१७; ३.६२.१–३; ४.४१; ४.४२.७–१०; ६.६८; ७.८२–८५; ८.५९
इन्द्रः वामदेवो वा[6] ४.२६.१–३
इन्द्रः वायुश्च १.२.४–६; १.२३.२; ३; २.४१.३; ४.४६.२–७; ४.४७.२–४; ७.९०.५–७; ७.९१.२; ४–७; ७.९२.२
इन्द्रः विश्वे देवा वा[7] १.१२१
इन्द्रः विष्णुश्च १.१५५.१–३; ६.६९; ७.९९.४–६
इन्द्रः श्येनो वा[8] ४.२७.५
इन्द्राणी इन्द्रश्च वृषाकपिश्च १०.८६
इन्द्राणी गुङ्गुः सिनीवाली राका सरस्वती वरुणानी च २.३२.८
इन्द्राणी वरुणानी अग्नायी च[9] १.२२.१२
इन्द्राग्नी ४.३२.२३–२४
इन्द्रासोमौ २.३०.६; ६.७२; १०.८९.५
इन्द्रासोमौ इन्द्रो वा ४.२८
इन्द्रासोमौ रक्षोहणौ ७.१०४.१–७; १५; २५
इन्द्रो मरुत्वान्[10] १.२३.७–९; १.१६५; १.१७१.३–७
इन्द्रो वैकुण्ठः १०.४७–५०
इळः १.१३.४; १.४२.४; १.१८८.३; २.३.३; ३.४.३; ५.५.३; ७.२.३; ९.५.३; १०.७०.३; १०.११०.३
इळा। दृश्यताम्–देव्यः तिस्रः
इषवः[11] ६.७५.११–१२; १५–१६
इषुधिः ६.७५.५

उ

उपनिषत्। दृश्यन्ताम्–अप्तृणसूर्याः, गर्भस्राविण्यु°, प्रस्वापिन्य°, रोगघ्न°, सपत्नीबाधनम्।
उपमश्रवा मित्रातिथिपुत्रः १०.३३.६–९
उपाध्यायस्तुतिः ३.२६.९
उर्वशी १०.९५.१; ३; ६; ८–१०; १२; १४; १७

---

१. ८.९३.३४ ऋभवः–बृहद्दे.
२. द्रुघण इन्द्रो वा (इति यास्कः), विश्वे देवाः (इति शौनकः)–बृहद्दे.
३. इन्द्रापर्वतौ–बृहद्दे.
४. ८.४.१५–१६ इन्द्रः, १७–१८ पूषा (इति गालवः)–बृहद्दे.
५. ७.९८.७ इन्द्रः, ८.९६.१३–१५ इन्द्रो मरुतो बृहस्पतिश्च। इन्द्रः (इति शौनकः), इन्द्राबृहस्पती (ऐ. ब्रा)–बृहद्दे.
६. 'आद्याभिस्तिसृभिरिन्द्रमिवात्मानमृषिस्तुष्टावेन्द्रो वात्मानम्' इति सर्वानुक्रमसूत्रम्। अहमित्यात्मसंस्तावः–बृहद्दे.
७. इन्द्रः। स्वरसामसु विश्वे देवाः–बृहद्दे.
८. ४.२७.१–५ श्येनस्तुतिः–बृहद्दे.
९. देवपत्न्य इन्द्राणी वरुणानी अग्नायी च–बृहद्दे.
१०. १.१६५ मारुतैन्द्रस्तु संवादः। १; २; ४; ६; ८; १०–१५ मरुतः, ३; ५; ७; ९ इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.
११. ६.७५.११ इषुः, १२ कवचः, १५[1] दिग्ध इषुः, १५[2] अयोमुखी, १५[3,4] वारुणमन्त्रम्, १६ धनुर्मुक्त इषुः–बृहद्दे.

उलूखलम् १.२८.५; ६
उलूखलमुसले १.२८.७; ८
उशनाः । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्र उशना वा
उषाः[१] १.३०.२०–२२; १.४८; १.४९; १.९२.१–१५; १.११३.१[१.२]; ९–२०; १.१२३; १.१२४; ३.५५.१; ३.६१; ४.५१; ५.७९; ५.८०; ६.६४; ६.६५; ७.४१.७; ७.७५–८१; १०.१७२
उषाः अग्निरश्विनौ च १.४४.१; २
उषाः आदित्याश्च ८.४७.१४–१८
उषाः इन्द्रश्च ४.३०.९–११
उषाः रात्रिश्च १.११३.१[१.४]
उषाः सूर्यप्रभा वा[२] ८.१०१.१३
उषासानक्ता[३] १.१३.७; १.१४२.७; १.१८८.६; २.३.६; ३.४.६; ५.५.६; ७.२.६; ९.५.६; १०.७०.६; १०.११०.६

ऋ

ऋक्षाश्वमेधौ (दानस्तुतिः) ८.६८.१४–१९
ऋणंचयः इन्द्रश्च ५.३०
ऋतदेव इन्द्रो वा ४.२३.८–१०
ऋतवः १.१५; २.३६; २.३७
ऋतवः अग्निर्वा ३.२७.१
ऋतवः अश्विनौ च । दृश्यताम्–अश्विनौ ऋतवश्च
ऋतवः इन्द्रश्च । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्रः ऋतवश्च
ऋतवः त्वष्टा च । दृश्यताम्–त्वष्टा ऋतवश्च
ऋतवः द्रविणोदाश्च । दृश्यताम्–द्रविणोदाः ऋतवश्च
ऋतवः मरुतश्च । दृश्यताम्–मरुतः ऋतवश्च
ऋतवः मित्रावरुणौ च । दृश्यताम्–मित्रावरुणौ ऋतवश्च
ऋत्विजोऽग्निश्च ३.२९.५
ऋत्विजो विश्वे देवा वा ८.५८.१; १०.१०१
ऋभव इन्द्रश्च ३.६०.५–७; ८.९३.३४
ऋभवः[४] १.२०; १.११०; १.१११; १.१६१; ३.६०.१–४; ४.३३–३७; ७.४८.१–३; १०.१७६.१
ऋभवो विश्वे देवा वा ७.४८.४

ओ

ओषधयः १०.९७

औ

औपसः । दृश्यताम्–अग्निः अग्निरौपसो वा

क

कः[५] १.२४.१; १०.१२१
कपिञ्जलरूपी इन्द्रः २.४२; २.४२
कपोतोपहतौ प्रायश्चित्तम्[६] १०.१६५
कवच–सोम–वरुणाः ६.७५.१८
कशुश्चैद्यः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.५.३७[२]–३९
कानीतः । दृश्यताम्–पृथुश्रवाः
कालः संवत्सरात्मा १.१६४.४८
कुत्स इन्द्रश्च ५.३१.९
कुत्स इन्द्रो वा ५.३१.८[३]
कुरुङ्गः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.४.१९–२१
कुरुश्रवणत्रासदस्यवः (दानस्तुतिः) १०.३३.४; ५
कृषिः १०.३४
केशिनः (अग्निसूर्यवायवः) १०.१३६
कौरयाणः । दृश्यताम्–पाकस्थामा
क्षेत्रपतिः ४.५७.१–३

ग

गङ्गादिनद्यः ७.५०.४
गर्भसंस्रावे प्रायश्चित्तम्[७] १०.१६२
गर्भस्राविण्युपनिषत् १.१०१.१; ५.७८.५–९
गर्भार्थाशीः १०.१८४
गाव आपो वा । दृश्यताम्–आपः गावो वा
गाव इन्द्रो वा[८] ६.२८.२; ८[४]
गावः ६.२८.१; ३–७; ८[१–३]; १०.१६९

---

१. १.११३ रात्र्युषसौ, ७.४१.७ दृष्टृभ्य आशीर्वा, ७.७६.१ मध्यमः (अग्निः)–बृहद्दे.
२. उषाश्चन्द्रसूर्ययोः प्रभा वा–बृहद्दे.
३. १.१३.७ नक्तोषासा–बृहद्दे.
४. ३.६०.३–४ इन्द्रो निपाती–बृहद्दे.
५. १०.१२१ प्रजापतिः–बृहद्दे.
६. कपोतः–बृहद्दे.
७. स्रवतां गर्भाणामनुमन्त्रणम्। अग्नी रक्षोहा–बृहद्दे.
८. इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.

गावः वाग्निर्वा सूर्यो वा आपो वा घृतं वा ४.५८

गुङ्गुः । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्राणी गुङ्गुः

गौः ८.१०१.१५; १६

ग्रावाणः[१] ७.१०४.१७; १०.७६; १०.९४; १०.१७५

घ

घृतम् । दृश्यताम्–गावः वाग्निर्वा

च

चन्द्रमाः[२] १०.८५.१९

चर्मप्रशंसा १.२८.९

चायमानः । दृश्यताम्–अभ्यावर्ती

चित्रः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.२१.१७; १८

चैद्यः । दृश्यताम्–कशुः

च्छिन्नयूपस्य मूलभूतः स्थाणुः ३.८.११

ज

जातवेदाः । दृश्यताम्–अग्निः अग्निर्जातवेदा वा

ज्ञानम् १०.७१

ज्या ६.७५.३

त

तक्षा । दृश्यताम्–बृबुः

तनूनपात् १.१३.२; १.१४२.२; १.१८८.२; ३.४.२; ९.५.२; १०.११०.२

तरन्तमहिषी शसीयसी ५.६१.५–८

तरन्तो वैददश्विः ५.६१.१०

तार्क्ष्यः १०.१७८

तिरिन्दिरः पार्शव्यः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.६.४६–४८

तिस्रः । दृश्यताम्–देव्यः तिस्रः

तृणपाणिकं पृश्निसूक्तम् ६.४८

तृणम् । दृश्यताम्–अप्तृणसूर्याः १.१९१

त्रसदस्युः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.१९.३६; ३७

त्रसदस्युः पौरुकुत्स्यः[३] ४.४२.१–६

त्रासदस्यवः । दृश्यताम्–कुरुश्रवणः

त्वष्टा १.१३.१०; १.१५.३; १.१४२.१०; १.१८८.९; २.३.९; ३.४.९; ५.५.९; ७.२.९; ९.५.९; १०.१८.६; १०.७०.९; १०.११०.९

त्वष्टा अग्निश्च अथवा अग्निः इन्द्रः प्रजापतिर्वा सोमो च ३.५५.१७–२२

त्वष्टा इन्द्रो वा २.३२.२; ३

त्वष्टा ऋतवश्च १.१५.३

त्वष्टा शुक्रश्च २.३६.३

द

दक्षिणा तद्दातारो यजमाना वा[४] १०.१०७

दक्षिणा ब्रह्मणस्पतिश्च १.१८.५

दधिक्राः ४.३८.२–१०; ४.३९; ४.४०.१–४; ७.४४.२–५

दंपती ८.३१.५–९

दंपत्योराशिषः[५] ८.३१.१०–१८

दानस्तुतिः[६] १.१२५; ६.२७.८; ६.४७.२२–२५; ७.१८.२२–२५; ८.१.३०–३३; ८.२.४१–४२; ८.३.२१–२४; ८.४.१९–२१; ८.५.३७[२]–३९; ८.६.४६–४८; ८.१९.३६; ३७; ८.२१.१७; १८; ८.२४.२८–३०; ८.४६.२१–२४; ८.५५; ८.५६.१–४; ८.६८.१४.–१९; ८.७४.१३–१५; १०.३३.४; ५; १०.६२.८–११

दाल्भ्यः । दृश्यताम्–रथवीतिः

दिशः ३.५५.१६

दुःस्वप्ननाशनम् १.१२०.१२; १०.१६४

---

१. १०.९४ ग्रावा–बृहद्दे.

२. १०.८५.१९[१-२] सूर्यः, १९[३-४] चन्द्रमाः–बृहद्दे.

३. ४.४२ इन्द्रावरुणौ–बृहद्दे, 'षळाद्या आत्मस्तवः' इति सर्वानुक्रमसूत्रम्।

४. प्राजापत्या दक्षिणा दक्षिणादातार इत्येके, ८–११ भोजाः–बृहद्दे.

५. ८.३१.१० आशीः, ११–१२ पूषा, १३ मित्रार्यमवरुणाः, १४ अग्निः, १५–१८ यज्वा–बृहद्दे.

६. ८.२४.२८–३० उषाः, ८.६८.१४ ऋतवः, १५–१९ ऋक्षाश्वमेधयोर्दानस्तुतिः, ८.७४.१३–१४ ऋषेरात्मस्तुतिः श्रुतर्वणः दानस्तुतिश्च, १५ परुष्णी–बृहद्दे.

---

१. १.२७.१३ विश्वे देवाः, ८.८०.१० विश्वे देवाः, १०.७२ विश्वे देवाः, २[१–२] बृहस्पतिः, १०.८५.१७ विश्वे देवाः, १०.९८.१–३ बृहस्पतिः, ४–७ देवाः, ८–१२ अग्निः–बृहद्दे.

२. १.१३.९ तिस्रो देव्यः–बृहद्दे.

३. इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे । द्यावापृथिव्यौ इन्द्रश्च–सायणभाष्यम् ।

४. हविर्धाने–बृहद्दे.

५ द्यावाभूमी पृश्निर्वा–बृहद्दे । सर्वानु (६.४८) टिप्पणी द्रष्टव्या ।

६. अन्नम्–बृहद्दे.

७. नराशंसः–बृहद्दे.

८. १०.५९.४[१–३] सोमः, ४[४] निर्ऋतिः–बृहद्दे.

९. १०.६३.१५ मरुतः–बृहद्दे.

१०. ८.१०१.१४[१–२] अग्निः, १४[३] सूर्यः, १४[४] मध्यमोऽग्निः (ऐ. आ.)–बृहद्दे.

पाकस्थामा कौरयाणः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.३.२१-२४
पाराशर्यः (पारशर्यः)। दृश्यताम्-तिरिन्दिरः
पावमान्यध्येतृस्तुतिः ९.६७.३१; ३२
पितरः १०.१५
पितरौ लिङ्गोक्तदेवता वा १०.१४.७-९
पितृमेधः[१] १०.१८.७-१३
पितृमेधः प्रजापतिर्वा[२] १०.१८.१४
पुरीष्या अग्नयः ३.२२
पुरुमीळ्हो वैददश्विः ५.६१.९
पुरुषः १०.९०
पुरूरवा ऐळः १०.९५.२; ४; ५; ७; ११; १३; १५; १६; १८
पूषा[३] १.२३.१३-१५; १.४२; १.१३८; ३.६२.७-९; ६.४८.१६-१९; ६.५३-५६; ६.५८; १०.१७.३-६; १०.२६
पूषा सोमोऽदितिश्च २.४०.६[२]
पूषा इन्द्रश्च ६.५७
पूषा इन्द्रो वा ८.४.१५-१८
पूषा सोमश्च। दृश्यताम्-सोमः पूषा च
पूषा सोमो वा। दृश्यताम्-सोमः पवमानः
पृथिवी[४] १.२२.१५; ५.८४
पृथिवी द्यौः मित्रो वरुणोऽदितिः सिन्धुश्च, अश्वताभिः १.९४.१६[३-४]
पृथिव्यन्तरिक्षे[१] ७.१०४.२३[२]
पृथुश्रवाः कानीतः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.४६.२१-२४
पृश्निर्मरुतो द्यावाभूमी वा ६.४८.२२
पृश्निसूक्तम् (तृणपाणिकम्) ६.४८
पैजवनः। दृश्यताम्-सुदाः
पौलोमी। दृश्यताम्-शची
प्रचेतसौ। दृश्यताम्-होतारौ
प्रजापतिः। दृश्यताम्-हरिश्चन्द्रः
प्रजापतिः पितृमेधो वा १०.१८.१४
प्रतोदः[६] ६.७५.१३
प्रस्कण्वः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.५५; ८.५६.१-४
प्रस्तोकः सार्ञ्जयः[७] (दानस्तुतिः) ६.४७.२२-२५
प्रस्वापिन्य उपनिषद् ७.५५.२-८
प्रायश्चित्तम्। दृश्येताम्-'गर्भसंस्रावो' 'कपोतोपहतौ'

ब

बर्हिः १.१३.५; १.१४२.५; १.१८८.४; २.३.४; ३.४.४; ५.५.४; ७.२.४; ९.५.४; १०.७०.४; १०.११०.४
बुध्न्योऽहिः ७.३४.१७
बृबुस्तक्षा ६.४५.३१-३३
बृहस्पतिः[८] १.१३९.१०; १.१९०; २.२३.२-४; ६-८; १०; १२-१६; १८; २.३०.९; ३.६२.४-६; ४.५०.१-९; ६.४७.२०[३]; ६.७३; ७.९७.२; ४-८; १०.६७; १०.६८; १०.१०३.४; १०.१८२
बृहस्पतिरिन्द्रश्च ४.४९; ४.५०.१०; ११; ७.९७.१०; ८.९६.१५
ब्रह्म अग्निर्वा ९.६६.७; ८
ब्रह्मणस्पतिः १.१८.१-३; १.४०; २.२३.१; ५; ९; ११; १७; १९; २.२४.१-११; १३-१६; २.२५; २.२६; १०.१५५.२; ३
ब्रह्मणस्पतिरिन्द्रः सोमश्च १.१८.४
ब्रह्मणस्पतिरिन्द्रश्च। दृश्यताम्-इन्द्रः ब्रह्मणस्पतिश्च
ब्रह्मणस्पतिर्दक्षिणा च १.१८.५
ब्रह्म देवाश्च ६.७५.१९

भ

भगः ७.४१.२-६
भगः सविता वा[९] १.२४.५; ७.३८.६[२]

---

१. १०.१८.७-९ मृत्युः, १०-१३ पृथिवी--बृहद्दे.
२. आशिषः--बृहद्दे.
३. १.२३.१३-१५ पूषा आघृणिः, ६.५५.२ [illegible] ...१७.३[१-२] पूषा, [illegible] पूषा अग्निश्च [illegible] अग्निः--बृहद्दे
४. ५.८४ पृथिवी ओषधीमाता--बृहद्दे.
५. आत्मन आशीः--बृहद्दे.
६. कशा--बृहद्दे.
७. अभ्यावर्तिनः सार्ञ्जयस्य च दानस्तुतिः--बृहद्दे.
८. ४.५०.७-९ पुरोधातुः कर्मशंसा, १०.६७.७[३-४] ब्रह्मणस्पतिः--बृहद्दे.
९. ७.३८.६[२] भगः--बृहद्दे.

१. १.१२६.६; ७ जायापत्योः संप्रवादः–बृहद्दे.

२. १०.१२९ परमेष्ठी । भाववृत्तम्–बृहद्दे.

३. जीवावृत्तिः सुबन्धोर्मनसः स्तवो वा–बृहद्दे.

४. ३.२६.४–६ 'तृचौ वैश्वानरीयमारुतौ'–सर्वानु. षड्गुरुशिष्यमते द्वितीयतृचस्य मारुतोऽग्निर्देवता । ५.५६.८रोदसी,५.५७.१रुद्राः,५.८७ मरुतः । विष्णुर्निपातभाक्, ६.४८.११–१३ मरुतः, १४–१५मरुत आदित्या विश्वे देवा वा, ८.९६.१३–१५इन्द्रो मरुतः बृहस्पतिश्च । इन्द्रः (इति शौनकः), इन्द्राबृहस्पती (ऐ.ब्रा.)–बृहद्दे.

५. सप्तममन्त्रस्य तृतीयपाद इन्द्रामरुद्देवताकः–बृहद्दे.

६. ६.४८.११–१३ मरुतः, १४–१५ मरुत आदित्या विश्वे देवा वा–बृहद्दे.

७. सूर्यो मायाभेदो वा । १०.१७७.२ वाक् (इति शौनकः)–बृहद्दे.

८. १.१५२.६ अदितिरग्निर्वा । अदितिरेवाग्निरिति शौनकः, ७.६०.५ अर्यमा मित्रावरुणौ च, ८.२५.१०–२१ विश्वे देवाः, २२–२४ वरोर्दानस्तुतिः, ८.१०१.५[1-3] अर्यमा च–बृहद्दे.

९. मित्रावरुणौ रुद्रो विश्वे देवाश्च–बृहद्दे.

---

१. १०.१८३.१ पुत्रकामस्याशीः; २ पुत्रकामाया आशीः; ३ ऋषेरात्मस्तवः-बृहद्दे.

२. १०.१२४.५ वरुणः, ६ सोमः, ७-८ वरुणः-बृहद्दे.

३. १०.१४.१-५ यमो मध्यमः, १०.१३५ द्युस्थानो यमः-बृहद्दे.

४. विश्वे देवाः-बृहद्दे.

५. ६.४७.२६[1] भावसूक्तम्, ६.७५.८ आयुधागारम्-बृहद्दे.

६. राज्ञोऽभिषिक्तायानुमन्त्रणे-बृहद्दे.

७. २.३३.११ ऋषिर्मृगमस्तौत्, ७.५९.१२ त्र्यम्बकः-बृहद्दे.

८. ५.३.३ मरुतो रुद्रो विष्णुश्च-औफ्रेक्ट् ऋ. २ पृ. ४७७.

९. दृश्यतां टिप्पणी 'भावयव्यः'

१०. लव आत्मानं तुष्टाव-सर्वानु.

११. ६.७५.१० रणदेवताः, ६.७५.१७ युद्धादिः, १८ कवचस्य बध्यतः स्तुतिः, १९ युयुत्सुः, १९[4] आत्मन आशिषः-बृहद्दे.

१२. १०.१४.७-९ प्रेताशिषः-बृहद्दे.

वरुणः इन्द्रश्च । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्रः वरुणश्च

वरुणः मित्रश्च । दृश्यताम्–मित्रावरुणौ

वरुणः मित्रोऽर्यमा च १.४१.१–३; ७–९

वरुणः सोमः कवचश्च ६.७५.१८

वरुणानी । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्राणी वरुणानी अग्नायी च

वर्म[१] ६.७५.१

वसिष्ठः[२] ७.३३.१०–१४; ७.१०४.१२[१] (वसिष्ठस्य आत्मन आशीः)

वसिष्ठपुत्राः[२] ७.३३.१–९

वसुक्रः १०.२८.२; ६; ८; १०; १२

वाक् १.१६४.४२[१]; १.१६४.४५; ८.१००.१०; ११

वाक् ससर्परी[३] ३.५३.१५; १६

वागाम्भृणी[४] १०.१२५

वाजिनः ७.३८.७; ८

वामदेव इन्द्रो वा । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्रः वामदेवो वा

वामदेवेन्द्रादितयः । दृश्यताम्–संवादः

वायुः १.२.१–३; १.२३.१; १.१३४; १.१३५.१–३; ९; २.४१.१; २; ४.४६.१; ४.४७.१; ४.४८; ७.९०.१–४; ७.९१.१; ३; ७.९२.१; ३–५; ८.२६.२०–२५; ८.४६.२५–२८; ३२; ८.१०१.९; १०; १०.१६८; १०.१८६

वाय्वग्निसूर्याः १.१६४.४४; १०.१३६

वायुरिन्द्रश्च । दृश्यताम्–इन्द्रः वायुश्च

वास्तोष्पतिः ७.५४; ७.५५.१

विभिन्दुः (दानस्तुतिः) ८.२.४१; ४२

विवाहमन्त्रा आशिषश्च[५] १०.८५.२०–२८

विश्वकर्मा १०.८१–८२

विश्वामित्रः ३.३३.४; ८–१०

विश्वामित्रोपाध्यायः ३.२६.९

विश्वामित्राऽग्निर्वा[६] ३.२६.७; ८

विश्वावसुर्देवगन्धर्वः[७] (आत्मानमस्तौत्) १०.१३९.४–६

विश्वे देवाः[८] १.३.७–९; १.१४; १.२३.१०–१२; १.८९; १.९०; १.१०५–१०७; १.१२२; १.१३९.१; ११; १.१६४.१–४१; १.१८६; २.२९; २.३१; २.४१.१३–१५; ३.२०.१–५; ३.५४–५७; ४.५५; ५.२६.९; ५.४१; ५.४२.१–१०; १२–१८; ५.४३–४५; ५.४६.१–६; ५.४७–५१; ६.२१.९; ११; ६.४९–५२; ७.३४.१–१५; १८–२५; ७.३५–३७; ७.३९; ७.४०; ७.४२; ७.४३; ७.५०.३; ८.२५.१०–१२; ८.२७–३०; ८.५४.३;

१. योद्धा वर्मी–बृहद्दे.

२. ७.३३ वसिष्ठागस्त्ययोः तनयैः सह इन्द्रेण संवादः–बृहद्दे.

३. वाक्–बृहद्दे.

४. वाक्–बृहद्दे । 'वागाम्भृणी तुष्टावात्मानम'–सर्वानु.

५. १०.८५.२० सूर्या, २१–२२ गन्धर्वो विश्वावसुः, २३ दंपती, २४–२८ वधूः–बृहद्दे.

६. 'द्वृच आत्मस्तुतिर्वा'–सर्वानु.

७. इन्द्रसूर्यौ निपातिनौ–बृहद्दे.

८. १.८९.१; २; ८; ९ देवाः, १.१३९.११ देवाः, ५.४१.१९ इळा, ५.४२.३ सविता (शौनकः), ७–९ बृहस्पतिः, १० मरुतः, १४ इळस्पतिः (शाकपूणिः), पर्जन्याग्नी (गालवः), पूषा (यास्कः), इन्द्रः (शौनकः), वैश्वानरः (भागुरिः), १५ मरुतः, १८ अश्विनौ, ५.४३.३ वायुः, ४ सोमः, ५ इन्द्रः, ६ अग्निः, ७ घर्मः, ८ अश्विनौ, ९ वायुः पूषा च, १०[१–२] अग्निः, १०[३–४] दिवौकसः, ११ वाङ्मध्यमा, १२ बृहस्पतिः, ५.४४.१ सोमो देवा इन्द्रः प्रजापतिर्वा, ४ वायुः, ८ आदित्याः, ५.५१.५ वायुः, ४; ६; ७ इन्द्रवायू, ६.५१.१–२ सूर्यः, ६.५२.१६ अग्नीपर्जन्यौ, ८.२५.१०–२१ विश्वे देवाः, ८.५४.३–४ बहुदैवतः प्रगाथः, ८.९९.११[१] इन्द्रोऽग्निर्विश्वे देवाश्च, ८.८३ देवाः, १०.३६.१२–१४ सविता (इत्येके), १४ सविता (शौनकयास्कगालवाः), १०.६२.७ अङ्गिरसां स्तुतिः, १०.६४.५ अदितिः, १०.६६.१४–१५ वाङ्मध्यमा मनुश्च, १०.९३.१४–१५ राज्ञां दानस्तुतिः, १०.११४ एकेषां मते देवाः; इन्द्रः; छन्दांसि; अग्निर्मध्यमश्च, १०.१५७ विश्वैर्देवैरादित्यैर्मरुद्भिश्च सहेन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.

---

१. विश्वे देवाः–बृहद्दे.

२. १०.६२.१–७ अङ्गिरसां स्तुतिः–बृहद्दे.

३. १०.१०१ ऋत्विक्स्तुतिः–बृहद्दे.

४. वृषाकपिः–बृहद्दे.

५. पौलोमी स्वान् गुणान् सपत्नीनां च शंसति–बृहद्दे.

६. ४.५७.८[१] कृषिः, ८[२] कृषिजीवा मनुष्याः, ८[३] पर्जन्यः, ८[४] धनम् । अथवा सर्वमिदं सूक्तं कृषिदेवताकम्–बृहद्दे.

७. भाववृत्तमौपनिषदं सूक्तम् । १–५ सपत्न्यपनोदिकाः, ६ पतिसंवननी–बृहद्दे.

८. २.३०.८[१] वाङ्मध्यमा–बृहद्दे.

सविता[१] १.२२.५–८; १.२४.३; ___ ४; १.३५.२–११; २.३८; ३.६२.१०–१२; ४.५३; ४.५४; ५.८१; ५.८२; ६.७१; ७.३८.१–६[१]; ७.४५; १०.१३९.१–३; १०.१४९

सविताग्निर्मित्रावरुणौ रात्री च १.३५.१

सविताग्निर्वा ९.६७.२५

सविताग्निश्च अथवाग्निः ९.६७.२६

सविता भगो वा[२] १.२४.५; ७.३८.६[२]

ससर्परी वाक् । दृश्यताम्–वाक् ससर्परी

साध्याः १.१६४.५०

सारथिः ६.७५.६[१]

साञ्जयः । दृश्यताम्–प्रस्तोकः

सार्पराज्ञी सूर्यो वा[३] १०.१८९

सावर्णिः (दानस्तुतिः) १०.६२.८–११

साहदेव्यः सोमकः ४.१५.७–८

सिनीवाली२.३२.६;७; दृश्यताम्–इन्द्राणी गुङ्गुः

सिन्धुः पृथिवी द्यौर्मित्रो वरुणोऽदितिश्च, अथवाग्निः १.९४.१६[३–४]

सीता ४.५७.६; ७

सुदाः पैजवनः (दानस्तुतिः) ७.१८.२२–२५

सुबन्धुजीवाह्वानम्[४] १०.६०.७–११

सुबन्धोर्लब्धसंज्ञस्य स्पर्शनम् १०.६०.१२

सूर्यः[५] १.५०; १.११५; १.१६४.४६; ४७; ४.४०.५; ५.४०.५; ७.६०.१; ७.६२.१–३; ७.६३.१–५[१]; ७.६६.१४–१६; ८.१०१.११; १२; १०.३७; १०.१३९.१–३; १०.१५८; १०.१७०

सूर्यः अग्निरनिलश्च ८.१८.९

सूर्यः अग्निर्वायुश्च १.१६४.४४; १०.१३६

सूर्यः अग्निश्च ८.५६.५

सूर्यः अप्तृणे च १.१९१

सूर्यः निर्ऋतिश्च १०.५९.४

सूर्यः पर्जन्याग्नी वा १.१६४.५१

सूर्यः वाग्निर्वा । दृश्यताम्–अग्निर्वा सूर्यो वा

सूर्यः वैश्वानरश्च[६] १०.८८

सूर्यः सरस्वान् वा १.१६४.५२

सूर्यः सार्पराज्ञी वा १०.१८९

सूर्यप्रभा उषा वा ८.१०७.१३

सूर्या[७] १०.८५.३२–४७

सूर्याविवाहः[८] १०.८५.६–१६

सोमः[९] १.४३.७–९; १.९१; १.१६४.४३[२]; ३.६२.१३–१५; ६.४७.१–५; ७.१०४.९; १२; १३; ८.४८; ८.७९; १०.२५; १०.८५.१–५

सोमः[१०] (पवमानः) ९.१–४; ९.६–६५; ९.६६.१–१८; २२–३०; ९.६७.१–९; १३–२२; २८–३०; ९.६८–११४

सोमः अग्निश्च १.९३; १०.१९.१[२]

सोमः अधिषवणचर्म वा १.२८.९

सोमः अर्कश्च १०.८५.१८

सोमः आपो वा १०.१७.११–१३

---

१. ५.८२.४ दुःस्वप्ननाशिनी, ७.३८.१[३–४]; ५[३] अहिः–बृहद्दे.

२. ७.३८.६[२] भगः–बृहद्दे.

३. सार्पराज्या आत्मस्तवः । सूर्य इत्येके । वागिति मुद्गलशाकपूणिशाकटायनाः–बृहद्दे.

४. १०.६०.७ सुबन्धुजीवाह्वानम्, ८–१२ 'सूक्तशेषं जगुश्चास्य चेतसो धारणाय ते'–बृहद्दे.

५. १.५०.६ द्युभक्तिर्वरुणः, ४.४०.५ अग्निर्वायुः सूर्यश्च । सूर्य इत्यैतरेयके, ७.६६.१४–१६ तिस्रः सौर्यः आशीः, १०.३७.६ निपातिन्यो देवताः, ११–१२ विश्वे देवाः–बृहद्दे.

६. अयोऽमयः–बृहद्दे.

७. १०.८५.३२–३३ परिपन्थिनः, ३४ वधूवासः प्रतिगृह्णन्, ३५ भाववृत्तिः, ३६ धनाशिषः, ३७ संयोगाशिषः, ३८–४७ दंपतीभ्यामाशिषः–बृहद्दे.

८. १०.८५.६–१३ सूर्यायै भाववृत्तम्, १४–१५ अश्विनौ, १६ सूर्यः–बृहद्दे.

९. ६.४७.१–५ सोमः । अथवा इन्द्रः प्रधानः सोमो निपातभाक्, १०.८५.१ सत्यसूर्यर्तसोमैः सह सूर्या, २–४ सोमः, ५ चन्द्रमाः–बृहद्दे.

१०. ९.६७.२९ अग्निः, ९.७३ अग्नो रक्षोहा, ९.८३ घर्मसंस्तवः, ९.८७.३[२] ऋभुः, ९.११२ इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.

---

१. पूष्णा सह पवमानः–बृहद्दे.

२. २.४०.६ सोमापूषणौ अदितिश्च–बृहद्दे.

३. इन्द्रः–बृहद्दे.

४. अधिषवणचर्म सोमो वा–बृहद्दे.

५. हस्तघ्नाणाम्–बृहद्दे.

६. दैव्यौ होतारौ–बृहद्दे.

INDEX

अनुक्रमणिका

मुद्रक : क्वालिटी ऑफसेट, नवीन शाहदरा, दिल्ली-32

About the Translators

Swami Satya Prakash Saraswati
A renowned Vedic scholar, a prolific writer who took to sanyas after having served meritoriously as head of the Chemistry Department of Allahabad University. He brings to bear scientific temper to his spiritual writings.

Shri Satyakam Vidyalankar
A profound Vedic scholar having a number of books about the Vedas to his credit, a veteran editor of Hindi Dailies like Arjun, Navyug etc. and celebrated journals like Dharmyug and Navneet, was also a poet of great merit.

THE FOUR VEDAS

COMPLETE TRANSLATION IN ENGLISH
(A SET OF 22 VOLUMES)

Translated by
Swami Satya Prakash Saraswati &
Satyakam Vidyalankar

Ved Mantras in Sanskrit with transliteration followed by translation in easily understandable modern English Printed by offset with beautiful binding
More than 10,000 pages
Being offered at cost price

Rig Veda 12 Volumes (Rs. 1100)
Atharva Veda 5 Volumes (Rs. 400)
Sama Veda 2 Volumes (Rs. 200)
Yajur Veda 3 Volumes (Rs. 300)

Complete set of Four Vedas priced at Rs 2000 only (22 volumes)

Outstation orders will be supplied against bank draft of Rs. 2300
(Rs. 2000 + Rs. 300 for packing & forwarding)

Published by
D.A.V. Publication Division
(VED PRATISHTHAN वेद प्रतिष्ठान)
Arya Samaj Building, UP Block
Pitampura, Delhi - 110034

ISBN 978-81-89492-19-9
9788189492205